Several Streams In Ottawa Area Open as of Today

The opening of spear and dip net fishing today is expected to draw large numbers of fishermen to lakes and streams in Ottawa County.

The season on spearing, with or without artificial lights, which closes May 31, is open on carp, suckers, redear, mullet, dog and garpike.

All streams except the following are open: Davis Creek, Kooyers Creek, Ten Hagen Creek, Little Pigeon River, Richardson's Creek, Stearns' Creek, and Big Pigeon River and tributaries west of schoolhouse bridge located on 116th Ave. in Sec 3, Olive Township.

Upstream, east of the schoolhouse bridge on the Big Pigeon River is classified as a non-trout stream and open to spearing.

The taking of suckers, mullet, smelt, carp, dogfish and garpike by dip nets is also open until May 31. Dip nets of cloth netting not exceeding nine (9) feet square may be used. No northern pike may be taken in dip nets.

Smelt may be taken using hand nets, not exceeding five feet in circumference, with or without handles, from streams tributary to the Great Lakes for a distance of one half mile above the mouth in both Ottawa and Allegan counties.

The use of seines to take smelt either in the tributary streams or along the shores of the Great Lakes is prohibited.

A special season has been set up to run from May 1 to May 31 and from July 15 to Aug. 15 to allow use of spears and bow and arrow on selected waters for taking carp, dogfish and garpike.

Artificial lights may also be used. Lakes open are Cranberry in Wright Township; Lake Macatawa in Park and Holland Townships; and Spring Lake in Spring Lake Township.

The Big Pigeon River is open to hook and line fishing throughout the year for taking any species of fish on which the season is not closed. All other trout streams in the county remain closed to hook and line fishing until the opening of trout season April 24.

Steel Unwinds Along Highway

Steel was scattered over a wide area Wednesday night on US-31 near the big curve, south of Holland, when a trailer carrying two coils of steel flipped on its side.

The two coils, one weighing 17,000 pounds and the other 10,000 pounds, broke loose from steel bands and went unwinding down the highway.

One coil stretched for nearly 180 feet down the south side of US-31. The second snaked across the highway and along a ditch on the north side.

The driver, Richard McCormick, 32, of Gary, Ind., said the tongue holding the rear trailer broke as he rounded the curve heading toward Holland.

The tractor and first trailer carrying an additional 23,000 pounds of steel remained upright. Wreckers managed to set the tipped trailer on its wheels but were unable to wind or lift the uncoiled metal.

The steel was still scattered alongside the road late this morning. Allegan Deputies Earle Tellman and Andy Vander Vliet investigated.

Pilot, Passenger Unhurt in Crash

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Two men escaped with only minor scratches Friday evening when their small single-engine airplane crashed into some trees east of Grand Haven.

Pilot Albert Alman, instructor at Grand Haven Air Park, and Clifford Anderson of Muskegon, owner of the plane, crashed while attempting to land in a field near Holiday Inn restaurant on the River road during the blinding snowstorm at about 6 p.m. The landing gear of the plane caught on a tree and catapulted from end to end. The plane was demolished.

Alman has been a pilot for 27 years, without an accident. City police were removing the wreckage this morning.

Council Okays Stage Lighting For Civic Center

Stage Curtain Talk
Awaits Next Meeting;
Hospital Deal Delayed

At an adjourned meeting which lasted two hours and 20 minutes, City Council approved contracts for certain lighting equipment for Civic Center, but deferred until the next meeting April 7 the matter of stage curtains and the township issue of rate equalization and deficit sharing for Holland Hospital.

Council approved a contract with Metropolitan Scenic Studio of Omaha, Neb., for portable footlights, floor pockets and border lights at a cost of $582.45, and with A. R. Keeler Co. of Ferndale for a dinner panel for $1,675.

For further changes with contractors, Council approved placing 26 ring balls at the base of the balcony at a cost of $152 plus $797.50 for wiring for stage lighting. No action was taken on a sound system.

The matter of stage curtains was postponed until next meeting and in the meantime more samples and information will be obtained.

The hospital agreement involves rate equalization and deficit sharing between Holland city and the three adjoining townships, Holland, Park and Fillmore. The agreement provides that the rate differential will be abolished and the townships will share in hospital costs through their contingent funds. The subject will be fully discussed at the next meeting of Council when it is expected representatives of the Hospital Board will be present. One difficulty concerns the difference in fiscal years for the city and the townships.

In other business, Council agreed to extend the option agreement with the General Electric Company until May 1. Originally, the option for city-owned property on East 16th St. for the proposed new G.E. plant was scheduled to expire April 2.

Council granted permission to Peter Kalkman to move a house from 187 East 11th St. to 353 Columbia Ave., on the condition he move the house across Lincoln school yard to 10th St. and then onto Columbia Ave., thereby eliminating the necessity of extra tree trimming.

Mayor Pro Tem Laverne Rudolph presided at the meeting. Councilwoman Bernice Bishop was absent.

Holland State Park
Second in Attendance
LANSING Mich.—Michigan's 57 state parks and recreation areas have attracted 350,000 visitors since Jan. 1, the Conservation Department said Tuesday.

"Some park managers report bumper-to-bumper traffic on weekends," the report said.

Grand Haven, with 52,000 visitors so far, leads in attendance, followed by Holland with 48,000, and Waterloo and Highland recreation areas with 35,000 each.

An unexpected snowfall Wednesday night amounted to only about an inch, but it was enough to boost the season's snowfall over the 100-inch mark. It also rounded out 224 inches of snow in Holland for the month of March, the heaviest March snowfall in many years.

Snowfall so far this season totals 100.7 inches, according to records compiled by Charles Steketee, chief weather observer at Hope College. Snowfall amounted to 7.1 inches in November, 18.3 inches in December, 38.1 inches in January, 14.7 inches in February, and 22.5 inches in March.

Fortunately, most of the snow disappeared within a few days, but while it lasted the street department put in a busier-than-usual season. The 1953-54 season had more than its share of icy roads, and sanders were unusually busy with the sand-and-chloride program.

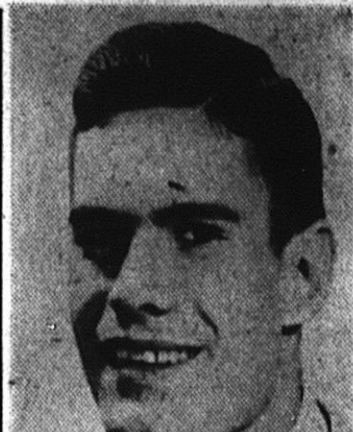

All in all, Holland had more severe weather during March than during February. The average temperature during March was 33.7 degrees or 1.7 degrees under normal for the month. The February temperature was 35 degrees or 8.8 degrees above normal.

Heavy snowfall, plus a heavy rainfall which resulted in floods last week accounted for a total precipitation of 4.18 inches for the month. This was 1.89 inches above normal. March precipitation in other years amounted 1.76 inches in 1953, 2.71 inches in 1952, 2.17 inches in 1951 and 2.24 inches in 1950. Snowfall amounted to 5.9 inches in 1953, nine inches in 1952, 3.7 inches in 1951 and 12.9 inches in 1950.

Greatest depth of snow on the ground during March was eight inches, compared with two inches in 1953, 3.5 inches in 1952, trace in 1951 and seven inches in 1950. Largest amount of snowfall in a 24-hour period was eight inches in 1954, 3.4 inches in 1953, 1.4 inches in 1951 and five inches in 1950.

Average temperature for March was 33.7 degrees, compared with 38.1 in 1953, 34 in 1952, 35.9 in 1951, 31.4 in 1950. Maximum was 66, compared with 74 in 1953, 68 in 1952, 61 in 1951 and 61 in 1950. Minimum was 10 degrees, compared with 12 in 1953, 13 in 1952, 16 in 1951 and 8 in 1950. Average maximum was 40.8, compared with 45.4 in 1953, 41.1 in 1952, 43.6 in 1951 and 39 in 1950. Average minimum was 26.6, compared with 30.7 in 1953, 28.6 in 1952, 28.1 in 1951 and 23.7 in 1950.

In reviewing the winter season in Holland, it is significant that at no time has the temperature descended to zero. Lowest temperature recorded this season was 4 above, occurring in January. Other minimums were 20 in November, 13 in December, and 7 in February.

Police Arrest Six
After Beer Party
Six persons, including two 16-year-old minors, have been rounded up by police following a party involving intoxicants in a Holland home Friday night.

Police said more than 15 persons, nearly all under 21, attended the party. Four were arrested on warrants ranging from furnishing liquor to minors to contributing to the delinquency of minors by encouraging them to drink.

The two 16-year-old boys were cited to Probate Court with a recommendation they be removed from their homes. If the court follows the recommendation the two could be sent to a boys correction home.

David Bronson, 17, of 585 West 23rd St. Tuesday was found guilty by Municipal Court Judge Cornelius Vander Meulen on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors. He had previously pleaded guilty to having beer in possession in his car. Bronson will return Friday for sentencing.

Mary Lou Groendal, 21, of 344 Lincoln Ave., pleaded not guilty to contributing to the delinquency of minors and trial was set for April 6.

Two others were charged with selling the beer to the minors. Alvin Looman, 34, of 1116 Ottawa Beach Rd., and Bob Nash, 19, of 25 Madison Place, both entered not guilty pleas. Trial was set for April 1 at 2 p.m.

Zeeland Considers Extensive Tax Cut

Holland Jaycees Plan Teenager Road-e-o Contest

Preliminary plans to conduct a Teenage Road-e-o driving contest have been made by Holland Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Designed to create good driving habits among the teen-age set and to select the community's most skillful young driver, the Road-e-o elimination will include a written examination and skill test involving driving through prescribed exercises such as parking, smooth stopping and others. No date or site for the tests have yet been determined by local Jaycees.

Local winner in this nation-wide Jaycee contest will be eligible to compete in the state Road-e-o June 5 in Lansing. State winners compete for $3,100 in scholarships in a national contest Aug. 10-14 in Washington, D.C.

Les Deridder, local Jaycee president, announced subcommittee have been organized under general chairmanship of Safety Chairman Ed Nyland. "By emphasizing rules of the road and skills needed for safe driving, we intend to give local youths a chance to prove that some of America's best drivers are teenagers," Deridder said.

The Jaycee project is widely acclaimed by law enforcement, safety and school authorities as a positive program to encourage expert driving by teenagers.

Applications and eligibility rules for the Road-e-o will be available to teenagers at Holland and Christian High Schools when school reconvenes next week.

15 Girls Cited
To Probate Court
Fifteen girls, ranging in age from 13 to 15, have been cited to Probate Court as a result of shoplifting activities in downtown Holland stores during the last few months.

Police wound up their questioning of the girls last week and began preparing individual reports after conferring with school authorities.

The recommendations of local officials range from warnings, to unofficial supervision, official probation to removal from the home. Probate Court will now make its investigation of each girl, her past activities and home life before acting on each case separately. The court could then warn the girls, impose probation, or order some to be confined in correction homes, if they see fit.

Police said the girls had admitted taking items ranging from lipsticks, scarfs, jackets, to diamond rings. The majority of goods have been recovered including the rings. Two rings were found in a Tampa, Fla., pawn shop and one was found on a girl in Holland.

SGT. CARL KAMHOUT

Sergeant Retires At Grand Haven State Police Post

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Sgt. Carl Kamhout, 48, commanding officer of the local Michigan State Police post, today announced his retirement, effective April 12. He has been with the local post since 1950.

He was born in Grand Haven and was graduated from Grand Haven High School in 1925. As an eighth grader, he played football for the first time because he already had played football for four years.

After high school he attended Western Michigan College in Kalamazoo, and also played football. He went to recruit school in 1929 for six weeks. He was first assigned as a trooper to Bay City where he spent 2 1/2 years. He spent a year at West Branch, six years in Jonesville, six months in Reed City and six months at Lansing headquarters where in December, 1939, he was promoted to corporal.

His first command was the Clinton post 20 miles south of Ann Arbor where he was stationed for two years. He was promoted to sergeant in September, 1942, and had command of Keego Harbor near Pontiac for two years and White Pigeon for six years before fulfilling his ambition of returning to his home town in 1950. He arrived here Jan. 20, 1950, allowing his eldest son to play his senior year with the high school football team. The son, Pat, now a dental student at the University of Michigan, proved to be an outstanding player. He also plays football at the University.

The Kamhouts also have another son, Chris, at home.

The retiring sergeant holds two citations, one for bravery after rescuing a 12-year-old boy out of an empty railroad car gas tank at Bay City in 1930, and one for meritorious service when he picked up a man for armed robbery and murder in Fairview, Mich., in 1932. Two men were involved in the latter case. One was shot and the other got away was caught by Kamhout. Last year during the Flint tornado disaster he was credited with turning in two police officers who were rifling ruined homes.

Kamhout is taking a position as car salesman at the Thieleman Auto Co. in Grand Haven.

Ottawa Draft Quota
For May Set at 15
LANSING — Ottawa County must furnish 15 men and Allegan County 8 men for the May draft quota, according to figures released Tuesday by state selective service headquarters.

Michigan will draft 880, lowest monthly quota so far this year. Col. Arthur A. Holmes, state draft chief, said the May quota represents a decrease of 51 men from April when 931 men will be inducted.

Holmes said the May call will be most men 20 years of age or older and about half of those taken will be volunteers. Draft boards are permitted to accept volunteers 17 years of age or older who want to fill their two-year service obligation, Holmes said.

Council Rejects Platts
ZEELAND (Special) — At a special meeting Wednesday Common Council temporarily rejected the addition of the Ver Plank and Westbroek platts to the city. The platts were not quite in order for acceptance and it is expected they will be approved at the next meeting.

'Meteor' Departs
The tanker "Meteor," second vessel to enter Holland Harbor this year, left its dock Wednesday after arriving late Tuesday night.

One-Third Slash Considered in Proposed Budget

Would Make Sewers
A Utility; Discuss
Comprehensive Budget

ZEELAND (Special) — Zeeland property tax bills would be one-third less next year if a change in sewer disposal financing taken under consideration at a special meeting of council Wednesday night is approved.

The proposed change was one of two sweeping proposals submitted to council by Mayor Robert S. De Bruyn. The other, calling for a receiving fund for all city monies, was essentially a bookkeeping change.

Objective of the new sewer utility plan is to better equalize the burden. At present, the city budget calls for $16,737 for sewer maintenance. This represents about a third of the budget.

But city officials point out that actually certain large industries are contributing up to 60 per cent of the volume. Thus they feel residential taxpayers are being unfairly taxed for support of the disposal plant.

Under the new plan, sewer rental charges would be based on water usage in the off-sprinkling season. According to reports from other cities, the sewer rental charge then paid by taxpayers would be substantially less than they presently pay for the service through taxes.

The proposal to establish a central receiving fund for all monies on hand from each department results in technically the "largest" budget in the city's history.

Actually, however, the change only keeps an accurate record of funds received from fines, sales tax, highway taxes and similar outside revenues. The amount of money being spent by the city remains the same under this budget, but a more complete account is made.

"Under the old system it appeared to the casual observer that the city was being operated largely on tax monies because most other revenues didn't appear in the budget. Actually outside revenues are more than tax levies," the report stated.

The new budget brings bookkeeping procedures more closely in conformity with the new charter and better insures budget control.

Included in the proposed $134,225 budget are special funds for some city departments. They were:

Streets — a larger fund than in previous years, largely because west end streets are in bad condition. Paving is impractical until the roads settle, and thus grading and dust treatment costs will be high. New streets and sidewalks are being considered, and snow removal costs have been unusually low in recent years. $5,000 plus interest will also come from the street department to pay toward the balance the city owes on storm sewer construction.

Parks — Consideration of installing heating facilities and inside toilet facilities at the city park so building may be used throughout entire year.

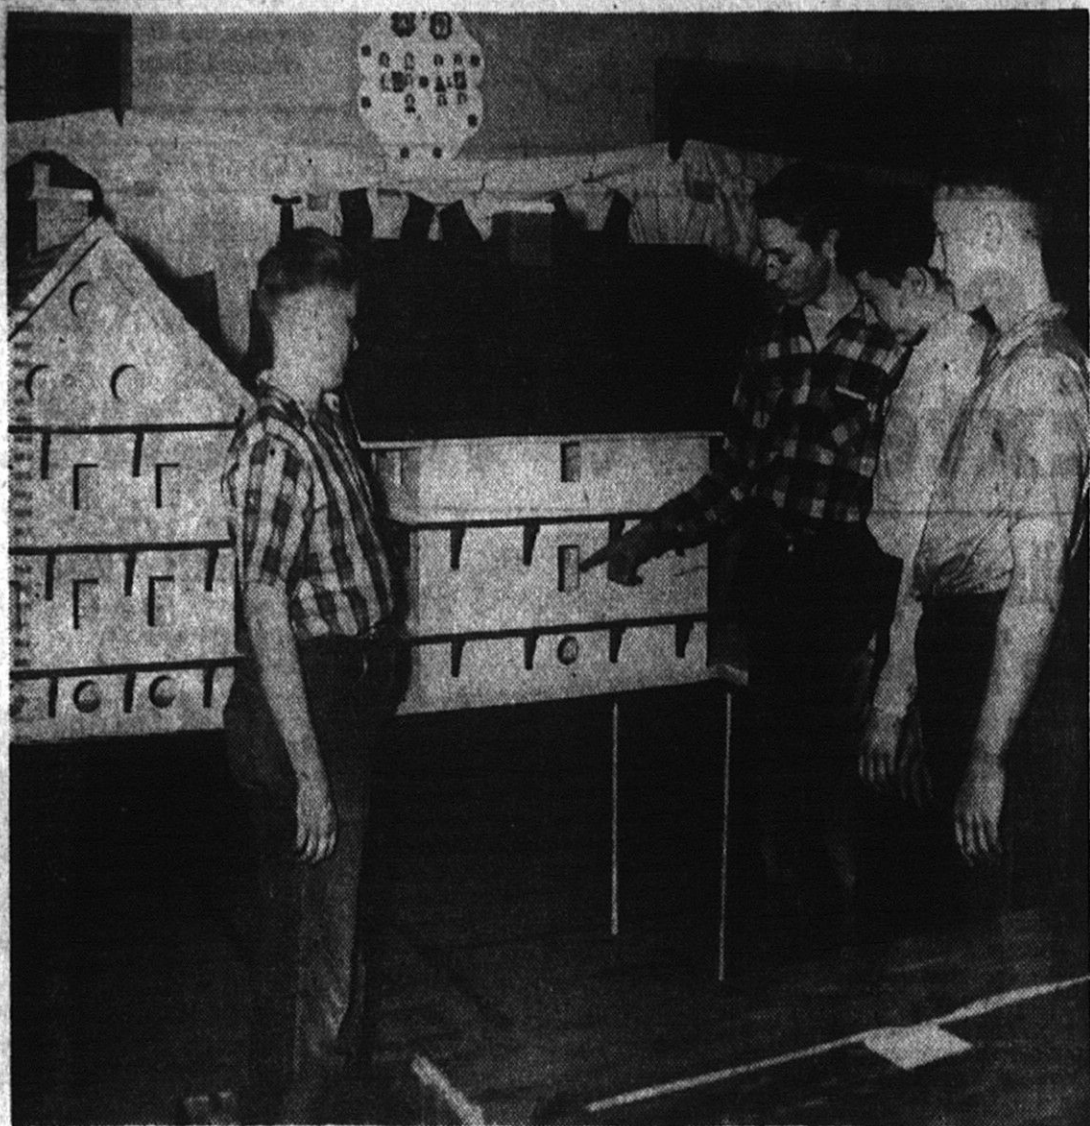

Fire — provisions for a two-way radio in the fire truck, half of which cost will be paid by civilian defense. Also includes $3,000 toward a truck which must be purchased in two or three years.

Industrial — Zeeland hasn't grown industrially the past few years, and positive promotion steps are needed.

Cemetery — Since establishment of perpetual care at the cemetery, funds paid in have not been separated from the general fund. To date $13,960 has been paid in, and Council proposes setting up a non-reverting perpetual care fund. Interest from this fund would be used to furnish the care.

A public budget hearing will be held in the council chambers in City Hall at 7 p.m. on April 19. A copy of the proposed budget is on file at the City Clerk's office and is open to the public.

Three Speakers Slated to Appear At April 5 Fete

Plans for the second annual Holland Christian Basketball banquet to be held Monday, April 5, were nearing completion today with only a few more details to be arranged. The banquet and program is scheduled at Christian High gym at 6:30 p.m.

Last year when the event was inaugurated, the banquet was sponsored by the high school athletic committee. However, this year the banquet is being staged by Christian High cage fans. The fans' committee, which has functioned since the close of the state tournament, has George Schreier as chairman. Schreier said he expects, from early indications, that the ticket sales will be brisk, especially since many fans want to turn out to honor the Christian first and second teams which fared so well this season.

Instead of procuring one outstanding speaker for the night, the committee has received acceptances from three well-known cage figures in the Holland area. The three are Barney Steen and John Tuls of Calvin college and Herman (Fuzz) Van Faasen, also of Grand Rapids. All are expected to reminisce briefly.

Both Tuls and Van Faasen are former Christian High cage mentors while Steen has just completed his first season as head coach at Calvin college. Steen is a Calvin graduate and received his master's degree in physical education at Columbia University. He hails from the East and was formerly coach at Eastern Academy in Paterson, N.J.

Tuls, a cousin of present Coach Art Tuls, turned out great teams at Christian. A great believer in setup, precision basketball, Tuls consistently had Holland Christian teams in Lansing for state tournament play. Although he never won the state crown at Christian, he has had clubs lose in the finals, semis and quarter finals.

Van Faasen is perhaps one of the greatest cage athletes ever turned out at Holland Christian and Calvin college. A speedster in his day, Van Faasen was hailed as one of the finest performers in Michigan college basketball. He coached one year at Christian before going into business in Grand Rapids.

League Seeking Ottawa Rum Ban

The Ottawa County Christian League will circulate petitions to place a proposal on the Nov. 4 ballot prohibiting the sale of all alcoholic beverages in Ottawa county, it was decided at a meeting Thursday night in Central Avenue Christian Reformed Church. About 100 attended.

DRIVING IN THE RAIN

We have often wondered why people do not turn on their car lights even though the state law reads in part:

(a) Every vehicle upon a highway within this state at any time from a half hour after sunset to a half hour before sunrise and at any other time when there is not sufficient light to render clearly discernible persons and vehicles on the highway at a distance of 500 feet ahead shall display lighted lamps and illuminating devices as hereinafter respectively required for different classes of vehicles, subject to exceptions with respect to parked vehicles.

The reason that we are calling this to your attention is that law enforcement officers, Insurance Companies, National Safety Councils and, in fact, all people realize that poor visibility causes a large part of the accidents on our highways.

Clip this out and paste it above the windshield in your automobile where drivers can see it. We are printing it in ten point type so that you will be able to read it without too much trouble. The National Safety Council's slogan is, "Drive carefully—the life you save may be your own."

Prince-Zwiep Rites Read In Central Avenue Church

In a lovely spring wedding Saturday afternoon, Miss Elsa D. Zwiep, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Zwiep, 1789 South Shore Dr., became the bride of Edgar D. Prince, son of Mrs. Peter Prince, 73 West 17th St. The Rev. William Haverkamp read the double ring ceremony in Central Avenue Christian Reformed Church with a floral arch of American Beauty and white snapdragons as a background.

Other decorations in the church were bouquets of American Beauty and white snapdragons, potted white hyacinths and candelabra. Pews were marked with aisle candelabra and flowers.

Miss Allene Huijenga played the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Andrew Broekema, of Ann Arbor, when he sang "O Perfect Love," "Ich Liebe Dich," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a chintilly lace gown over satin with tulle panel insets in the skirt and featuring a chapel length train and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. Seed pearls gathered the scallops at the scoop neckline. Her Juliet cap of lace over satin held in place the fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a Vanda bouquet of happiness roses and white hyacinths. The bride's mother made her gown.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Wayne Dornbush, sister of the groom, as matron of honor, Mrs. Clair Zwiep and Miss Marion Windemuller as bridesmaids and Claudia Pott, cousin of bride, flower girl.

The attendants wore ballerina-length gowns styled similar to bride's of white eyelet over American Beauty taffeta with matching picture hats of eyelet trimmed with baby roses around the crown. They carried American Beauty parasols filled with flowers and ivy streamers. The flower girl carried a basket of rose petals.

Lyle Prince served his brother as best man. Clair Zwiep, brother of the bride, and Stan Yonker were ushers.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. John Marcus were master and mistress of ceremonies. Serving at the punch bowl were Miss Kathy Baas and Kenneth Olthoff. Misses Marjorie and Frances Pott poured. In charge of the gift room were Misses Laurie Hohl and Hanna Lenters. Misses Joan Hart and Ruth Klingenberg assisted about the rooms.

Mr. Broekema sang two solos "If I Could Tell You" and "Through the Years."

Out-of-town guests were present from Chicago, Ann Arbor, Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Battle Creek and New Jersey.

The bride was graduated from Holland Christian High and will receive a degree from Calvin College in June. She is teaching at Longfellow School. Mr. Prince is a University of Michigan graduate and is a salesman for Vandenberg Buick.

For their northern wedding trip, the new Mrs. Prince wore a gray wool suit with red and black accessories and a red camellia corsage.

The couple will be at home at 32 West 17th St. after April 5. Pre-nuptial showers were given for the bride by Mrs. Dornbush, Misses Marjorie and Frances Pott and Miss Lenters.

GOLD IN DUTCH SEA WATER

Scientists have long tried to find a way to convert the gold that is known to be an ingredient of sea water into cash. Up until now they have been stopped because the cost is far too great. The gold is there all right, but they have been content to leave it where it is.

News comes from Amsterdam that Dutch scientists are finding an indirect way to get the gold out of sea water. Those scientists blatantly ignore the metal itself and are going after potassium fertilizer, which is also an ingredient of the thing that Holland has most of. If they can extract enough fertilizer, which they can sell at a profit to the farmers of the Netherlands, they will have far more gold than they could obtain directly.

A pilot plant that extracts potassium fertilizer from sea water has gone into operation at IJmuiden, near Amsterdam. Norwegian scientists are associated with Dutch chemists in the project, and the plan is to provide fertilizer to both countries. Norway, like Holland, has unlimited sea water. If this results in unlimited fertilizer the agriculture of both countries could be revolutionized, and that would mean a revolution in the economies of those two peoples.

The new plant is expected to provide 1,600 tons of fertilizer the first year. Later, when other plants have gone into operation, it is expected that this figure will be multiplied many fold. Last year Holland had to import 160,000 tons of fertilizer. If that tonnage could be supplied locally, the saving in freight rates alone would be enormous, to say nothing of many other savings.

Extracting fertilizer gold from sea water is not a wild romantic dream. The Dutch are not given to imaginative vaporings; they are a highly practical people, and their scientists do not as a rule go off on wild goose chases. The plant that has already gone into production is likely to be the beginning of a "New Deal" in the Dutch fertilizer industry, and hence in the agricultural prosperity of the Netherlands.

While some other countries in Europe are sitting on their hands crying over their hard lot and looking to the American tax payers to bail them out, the Dutch are doggedly going ahead hoeing their own row and pulling their own load. The Dutch people may be less romantic than, say, the French or the Italians but they deserve the respect of all those who believe that self-reliance is still the great virtue that it has always been.

Sunday School
Lesson

April 4, 1954
Our Lord's Intercessory Prayer
John 17:9-23
by Henry Geerlings

Our lesson title today really limits us to one aspect of the subject of prayer. The same can be said also of the chapter from which our Scripture lesson is taken. That chapter records for us the prayer of Jesus for His disciples. Other elements enter into it but that is the chief one.

Emphasis should be given to the subject of intercession. All of us will admit that too little of this element of prayer marks our petitions. We are quite as selfish in our praying as we are in anything else we undertake. We little appreciate what intercessory prayer may do for others and it is quite true that we fail to appreciate what it does for the person who offers such a prayer.

If one were to let his eye run through the gospels with some degree of care he would soon discover that there is nothing selfish about them. Least of all dare prayer be selfish. It quickly becomes that when we use it to promote, our own intercessor to bring down on ourselves primarily the good favor of God. The basic element in intercession is selflessness. But that is negative. The positive side of it is found in the desire for the well being of others.
Now this attitude is true to the genius of the gospel. It must then characterize our prayer life. Jesus prayed for Himself but did not forget others.

We are individuals to be sure but there is also a close relationship between us and others. This very fact makes prayer an inclusive thing. We cannot pray for ourselves when that prayer aims to impoverish others. True prayer insists that we shall have others in mind, that we shall definitely seek to advance their interests and above all to bring them into fellowship with Him whom we have to know. All this becomes clear when we remind ourselves of the solidarity of the human race. There may be differences of color, of language, of habits, and of much besides, but over all of this and through all of this we are forced to recognize the oneness of mankind.

One portion of the human family cannot rise to higher levels without lifting the other portion with it. The reverse of this is true also.

We ought to practice prayer. We may understand all about the privilege and the possibility of prayer, but that knowledge benefits us little unless we practice prayer. One of the evidences of the church's understanding of the fact is to be found in the bulk of the literature she has caused to be created and distributed. There are available not only books about prayer, but also books of prayer.
Of course the Christian will not limit his acquaintance with and his use of prayers to such literature. He will increasingly formulate his own prayers, so as to give expression to his appreciation of human needs and to intercede with God when and where grace and help are required.

It may be assumed that the theories we hold on the practice of prayer is something quite personal and very close. All of us can testify how easy it is for us to ask God, when the time of prayer comes to release us from the obligation. Such a request may grow out of a number of conditions. The continuous and persistent practice of prayer must be continually impressed upon Christian people.

What we have already said has somewhat to do with prayer in general, and yet it does serve to focus our attention upon the opportunity which praying for others involves. It is a sad commentary upon the life of anyone who finds it difficult to intercede for others beyond his family and acquaintances. Our Christianity from start to finish possesses the outward look. Jesus was only demonstrating in this prayer of His what He was emphasizing through His entire ministry.

He came into the world to serve others, to pray for them, to live for them and to die for them. It is easy for us to let our thoughts during the period of prayer, include only those who are near to us; but our Christianity is really tested when we ask ourselves to what extent it interests us in others beyond our relatives and acquaintances and gives us a desire to seek the welfare of all mankind.

Red Cross Gifts Reach
$27,441 in Fund Drive

Red Cross gifts in Ottawa County today stood at $27,441.63 or $8,248.37 short of the county goal of $35,690, and Red Cross leaders again urged all volunteers working on the fund campaign to complete their calls and report to their captains or to Red Cross headquarters at 6 East Eighth St.

Persons who have not been contacted are asked to send their contributions to the local office.
Services of the Red Cross in terms of national disaster are well established. The local blood program and the summer swimming program are well known locally, but little is generally known of the home service program.

During 1953, the home service department served 1,848 persons, of whom 654 were active servicemen, 728 veterans and 466 civilians. There were 143 cases involving verification of leave and extension of leave, and 208 cases reporting for military and veterans administration. Services with veterans claims which include applications for government benefits took 234 calls, and counseling services were given 526 cases.

The home service group also serves as the link between the service men and their family at home. These emergencies often involve night calls and telegrams, and three members of the group are authorized to deal with night calls. They are Mrs. A. E. Hildebrand, Mrs. Lester Pool and Mrs.
Gerald Stielstra. Occasionally
some calls are handled by Mrs.
Katherine Van Duren, the executive secretary.

There were 543 cases involving general information to servicemen and their families, also involving veterans and civilians. There were 30 occasions in which the county office provided services for other Red Cross chapters in the United States and other agencies. Other service calls totaled 360.

On financial assistance, the office processed 34 cases of those in active service to the extent of $1,360.35, and 64 veteran cases for $2,041.85.

As a public service, the office also registers 18-year-olds for selective service.

Cameraman Shows Films
Of Adventurous Travels

Excellent color photography and a brisk, humorous narrative provided Woman's Literary Club members with an interesting program Tuesday afternoon when Jerry Joswick told them of his background as a combat photographer and showed his films on a trip to Lower California.

Leading up to his adventure South of the Border, he told the group how all through World War II he and Col. John Craig ran into the most spectacular events including North Africa, assignment on D-Day, a parachute landing in Germany and filming of an air raid on the Ploesti oil fields.

After each hectic assignment, Joswick was promised and given a "ticket back to the States" and each time he was recalled to do some special job by Col. Craig.

Crowning dangerous assignment was his task to film the A-bomb test at Bikini in 1946. He and Col.
Craig were strapped to the plane near the bomb bay doors to take motion pictures of the historic bomb being dropped.

While on a well-earned vacation in Puerto Rico, Joswick received a long distance call from Craig in Los Angeles who asked if he would like to go trout fishing. Knowing that this was no ordinary fishing trip, Joswick took a plane back to his home where a station wagon had been ordered in his name. He met Craig on the coast and with another adventurer, Lee Hanson, they took off on the trip.

With the station wagon and a jeep, christened "Fuzzy Focus," the trio started on the 2,000-mile trip to Baja (Lower) California.
Traveling on the oldest road in the United States, which was really only a trail, they filmed bull fights, the candle tree on the 28th parallel and stretches of desert almost impassable by cars. They learned to use oil drum lids as traction and took days to cover small distances, sometimes going only 10 to 12 miles a day.

Reaching the coast, the trio boarded a fishing boat and caught a marlin, shark, and other fish, while they took remarkable underwater pictures. The final adventure was on Tiburón Island, where they photographed the primitive Seris Indians. They sent gifts of food in advance of their landing after learning that the Seris were cannibalistic.

Joswick told his audience that several of his films will be used as movie shorts and a forthcoming issue of National Geographic will contain the story of the trip. The speaker was introduced by Mrs.
Bruce Van Leuwen, club president.

Final meeting of the year will be a dessert at 1:30 p.m. next week when annual reports will be made. Junior Welfare League will present the program.

Mrs. Alvin Bos, program chairman, requested that the questionnaire at the back of the year book be filled out and returned at the next meeting or sent to her.

Annual Leper Meeting
Attracts Large Crowd

Third Reformed Church was filled Wednesday afternoon for the 35th annual praise service of the Federation of Women's Societies in the interest of leprosy missions.
Mrs. Peter Slenk presided.

The Rev. Charles E. Fuller, professor of Rural Bible College in Columbia, Mo., who previously had served among lepers in Rhodesia for 13 years, spoke on "Why the Lepers Live in Hope."

"Lepers used to be known as the living dead, but in our missionary camps they have learned to have hope and have learned the reality of salvation. Those who have learned to have hope and have learned the reality of salvation. Those who have never had friends are now in a family;
those who never had love are loved; those who never had help are now aided; those who never had a future now have God; those who never had a home now have a heavenly home."

Rev. Fuller returned home a few years ago after 13 years in the leper colony because of ill health. In 1952 he returned for six months for anthropological research. He said there is now one white patient in the Teles camp among the 200 colored lepers. She had gone to the missionary camp voluntarily from a government leper camp.

The local federation started modestly about 35 years ago under the tutelage of the late Christine Van Raalte Gilmore who wanted women to have a project of their own as the town was growing larger and denominations and churches were getting further apart. Five churches started the program and today there are 59 churches of all denominations in the area participating in the project.

The first year, local women raised $1,400 to purchase a tract of land for a leper mission camp near Inhambane, Portuguese East Africa. Dr. C. J. Stauffacher, now nearing retirement, has been the local federation's representative there all these years.

Dr. A. C. Van Raalte Gilmore, son of the federation founder, was able to attend Wednesday's leper meeting. He spent considerable time in the hospital of late and was able to attend the meeting in his wheel chair.

The day's offering for leper work amounted to $806. Collected so far during the year was $5,616 for a total to date of $6,222. Total for all of last year was $6,903.

Mrs. E. Ten Clay took charge of devotions. Mrs. A. Knipe read greetings from Dr. C. J. Stauffacher and Mrs. George Damsen gave the offertory prayer. Miss Mildred Schuppert was organist.

An Easter cantata, "The Glory of the Cross," will be given at Zeeland elementary school Sunday evening by the combined Intermediate Girls Choirs of Faith
Reformed and First Reformed
Churches of Zeeland. Mrs. John Boeve is director and Miss C.
Hillebrand, accompanist. The same program will be given Sunday evening, April 11, in First Reformed Church of Zeeland.

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

In books as in theaters, a look behind the scenes is usually highly prized by people who are blessed with a fair share of curiosity. Life is a far more dramatic play than a production behind the footlights, and a look behind the curtains of life is usually a privilege.

The diaries of Joseph C. Grew, which are now available to the general reader in two big volumes, represent such a glimpse of what has been going on behind the scenes of America's political life during the past half century. All of it is now history, but this is history with the bark off, and this is history with the heart on.

The diaries appear under the title of "The Turbulent Years." The sub-title is more descriptive as well as more specific: "A Diplomatic Record of Forty Years, 1904-1945."

Much of the contents of these thousand pages or so were at one time strictly "classified," a good deal of it even "top-secret." While Ambassador Grew wrote up the entries at the end of each day's work in the American diplomatic service, he kept most of it under lock and key. If the material had become public at the time the entries were made, the disclosure might have caused revolutions and they would have had other political consequences not very pleasant to contemplate.

Mr. Grew, who was serving as our ambassador to Japan at the time when the militarists of that country made their sneak attack at Pearl Harbor, got his first job in the diplomatic service from Theodore Roosevelt. Although he was a Republican in politics, he served many years under Democratic administrations than under those of his own party. He was largely responsible for taking the diplomatic service out of politics.

The most interesting sections of the diaries deal with the dramatic events of the two world wars. In both cases Mr. Grew was in the thick of things, pulling strings behind the global puppet show.

When the first World War broke out, he was second in command in Germany. Because, before our entry, he tried sincerely to translate our avowed doctrine of neutrality into action, he was reviled far and wide as a pro-German. The record of what was really going on behind the scenes in Berlin may astonish some readers who have not corrected their war-time impressions with genuine historical research.

During the first two years of the war we here in America got all our information via England, and since England had an ax to grind and was pulling strings to get us in, it is easy to see how authentic much of that information was. At the time we could not look behind the scenes as we can now; if we had been able to do that history would almost certainly have been different.

That goes also for the glimpses behind the scenes during the ten years or so that Mr. Grew served as our ambassador to Japan, ending with the Pearl Harbor attack. There has been some opportunity to get at the real facts since the close of the war, but the Grew diaries give American readers the chance to learn just how the explosion developed behind the scenes in day by day entries.

Many citizens will of course ignore such a record. Our entry into the second World War, as into the first, has become a myth that is all black or all white. Mr. Grew is as patriotic as any American but in his diaries he was writing facts not myths. To minds that are not wholly naive facts are usually far more interesting than legends.

ROOFING-SIDING-EAVE TROUGH—WAREHOUSE, 20 EAST SIXTH ST.

Wind Vs. Roofs Mooi's Problem

What did the wind do to your good roof? How does your roof look after last week's wind storm? Are your shingles blown up or blown off? How many times has this happened before? Do you know there is a remedy for this disturbing situation? Mooi roofing company has the solution!

If your roof is an old one and you are considering a new one, be sure to consider the facts about the Ruberoid Tite-On lock shingles before you make your purchase. This shingle is especially designed to withstand winds of hurricane velocity. And it's good looking too! But maybe your roof is practically new but it is of the type that is subject to wind trouble. The answer to your problem is Ruberoid Shingle Grip—a new adhesive which when placed under the tabs of your present shingles makes the roof impervious to winds.

Suggestions like these come from the firm with 50 years of experience in solving roofing problems in Holland and vicinity. Your roofing problems are new to you, but similar problems have doubtless been faced many times in the past by the Mooi Roofing Co.

The company invites you to compare this record of service, prestige, experience, responsibility, dependability and size with any other—then put your confidence in your request for their advice on your roofing, siding or eave trough problems. Call 3826 for an appointment.

Mental Health Problems Aired At Local Meeting

Hope to Establish Council to Serve Holland and Vicinity

Miss Irene Waryas of the State Department of Mental Health met with school and lay leaders of the Holland area Wednesday at Lincoln School to discuss problems of mental health in the area.

Miss Waryas is representative of the educational division for the western half of Michigan and is interested in providing educational programs which will aid in understanding mental health and life adjustment problems for both children and adults.

The meeting was a planning session which, it is hoped, will establish a Mental Health Council for this area. George Lumsden, director of Adult Education and Community Service for the Holland Public Schools, served as chairman and offered school facilities and staff services for the promotion of such an activity.

The study of mental health and child guidance was begun several years ago in Holland throughout the Adult Education program and was discontinued last year because of personnel shortages in the state department. Local lay leaders have maintained interest and are now ready to launch further study of the problems and to arouse the interest of people in the area. Residents of Ottawa County are beginning to reckon with the problems of adjustment.

Maintaining support for such a program and planning educational progress in the field evolved as two purposes of the newly formed group. Further study of the needs of the community and developments of mental health facilities will be part of the planning and organizing of the council.

Attending the planning session were Mrs. Robert Horner, Mrs. Andries Steketee, Mrs. Henry Rottshafer, Mrs. Edward De Herder, Mrs. William De Roo, Mrs. Andrew Smeenge, Mrs. G. E. Stephens, Mrs. Clifford Marcus, A. J. Buchanan, John Van Beek, Earl Borlace, J. R. Wilson, G. Lumsden, and Miss Waryas.

Representatives of business, education, church and social groups will be contacted for expansion of the planning group. The committee has set April 14 as the next date for meeting and will consider the type of organization, purpose of organization and programs to be established.

Flames Damage Tractor Supplies In Store on M-21

Fire of undetermined origin this morning destroyed part of the $7,000 to $9,000 worth of tractor parts and supplies and inflicted considerable damage to the partially constructed Keizer International Equipment Co., on 112th Ave., just off M-21 between Holland and Zeeland.

The merchandise was not covered by insurance. However, the building was covered by insurance according to Gerrit Keizer of Grand Rapids, owner.

Keizer told Holland township Fire Marshal Andrew Westenbroek that he came to the store early this morning and lit the salamander and later left to get some gas. He returned and saw the fire and firemen at the scene. The fire was not near the salamander.

Apparently the fire started in the rear of the store and flames spread rapidly to bins which were used to store parts and supplies. They also leaped to the heavy structural timbers overhead.

Intense heat blistered way up the front of the store and scorched two new tractors on display in the show room.

Firemen hauled one tractor out. They broke down the doors to gain entrance. Heat from the flames shattered two large windows in the display room. Steam rising from water poured on the fire mixed with the smoke.

The fire started about 7:40 a.m. and the No. 3 pumper from Zeeland and the No. 2 tanker from Hart and Cooley answered the alarm.

HOLLAND TOWNSHIP FIRE MARSHAL ANDREW WESTENBROEK and Deputy Nelson Lucas inspect damage to the Keizer International Implement Store early today. Flames, starting in the rear of the store behind the bins, ate through the overhead timbers and partitions and destroyed a large portion of an estimated $7,000 to $9,000 worth of parts. The interior of the store was an eerie sight as the sun filtered through the smoke mixed with steam rising in the cold from the hot timbers. A layer of steam snaked across the floor much as fog rising from a swamp. Westenbroek said it was fortunate cans of thinner stored on the shelves did not explode from the heat. Many of them were scorched. (Sentinel photo)

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — A second postponement was granted in Municipal Court Wednesday to G. Palmer Seeley, 53, and Roland G. Kennedy, 42, both of Grand Rapids, who were charged with conspiracy to defraud the state in acquiring land for highway purposes for the Michigan Highway Department. The new hearing was set for April 14 at 10 a.m.

Municipal Judge Louis H. Osterhaus granted the two-week delay on motion of Perry Maynard, a representative of the attorney general's department. Maynard, who previously had investigated several land deals for the new M-21 in Ottawa county, informed the court that Seeley, ousted chief of the right-of-way division, was being represented by Attorney Adrian Verspoor of Grand Rapids and Kennedy, formerly Seeley's assistant, was being represented by Attorney Newell Donnelly of Big Rapids.

Maynard said Verspoor had contacted him Friday, Monday and Tuesday requesting a delay in view of the fact that a two-week postponement would evoke no great hardship.

Prosecutor James E. Bussard consented to the postponement but not out of deference to the defendants. "I was ready to go ahead with the preliminary hearing today," he told Judge Osterhaus, "but my case is not completely prepared because I do not have available certain documents from the state, and it will require a little more time to acquire them."

Neither Seeley or Kennedy, nor their attorneys, were present.

In granting the delay, Judge Osterhaus said he was fully aware of difficulties in processing such a case. He said it takes considerable time and it is not unusual nor out of order to request a postponement.

But he added that once such a hearing is started it should continue until the end, and therefore set aside two days, April 14 and 15, for the hearing. Bonds for the two men were continued.

The two men were specifically charged with defrauding Louis De Kraker of Hudsonville and his brother, Joseph of Holland, of $300 each on land deals for improving M-21 near Hudsonville.

Seeley has been charged with conspiracy to defraud the state in Ottawa, Muskegon and Allegan counties. He failed to appear for a hearing in Allegan Tuesday. An examination in Muskegon County has been rescheduled to April 5.

Complaints against Seeley and Kennedy were filed by Prosecutor Bussard several weeks ago after Attorney General Frank Millard virtually ordered the Muskegon and Ottawa prosecutors to proceed with the cases "or the state would take over."

Bussard said at the time that he would of necessity have to proceed slowly since he would be dependent upon state officials for certain documentary evidence such as contracts, cancelled checks and agreements, that would be necessary in such a case.

At that time he cited the functions of the county prosecutor's office. "When we receive complaints, we investigate, and when we find evidence, we prosecute."

SPRING WAS BARELY NINE DAYS OLD when winter, refusing to give up, dumped 8½ inches of snow on Holl d Monday. Motorists, who had enjoyed driving Sunday under sunny skies, were dismayed when they awoke Monday morning to find their cars covered with snow. Driving was anything but a pleasure Monday and today as the snow melted to ice the streets and sidewalks. Motorists heading east on Eighth St. near River Ave. were greeted by snow covered cars and swirling snowflakes pretty much as this driver saw through his windshield.

Spring Just a Laugh In Area Again Today

Miss Lulu D. Ervin

Maybe the calendar says spring is here, but that's about the only sign of that season around these here parts today.

Snow measuring 8½ inches has fallen in the Holland area since Sunday night and during the night the temperature nosedived to a chilly 10 degrees above zero.

Another of the same is predicted tonight. The weatherman sees fair and cold with a low of 10 in the suburbs and 16 in the city. Wednesday's forecast is for increasing cloudiness and cold and snow beginning by nightfall. A high of 32 is forecast Wednesday. At 11 a.m. today it was 30.

State highway department officials said they should have all slippery sections in Southern Michigan sanded by noon — trunklines that is.

At Detroit at least two deaths were blamed on the unexpected snow. George Black, 33, slipped on an icy sidewalk and died of a fractured skull. John S. Rakocz, 44, Warren township, collapsed and died after sweeping snow.

Carlton V. Ellerly, 67, retired factory foreman, died of heart failure at his Alhlon home after shoveling snow.

The storm hit all of Lower Michigan south of an east-west line running through Gladwin. It was mostly clear in other areas.

The snowstorm left 16 inches of new snow and four persons dead at Rochester, N.Y. Six persons died at Buffalo, N.Y., when that city was buried under 13 inches of snow. Most of the deaths were caused by over-exertion in fighting the storm.

The storm also left up to nine inches of snow in Vermont and central Maine, paralyzed Chicago traffic with 7.7 inches, piled up eight inches in much of Iowa, six inches in South Dakota and an even foot at Wayne, Neb.

Here's some typical highs and lows recorded in Michigan and elsewhere: Alpena, 25-14; Battle Creek, 33-4; Cadillac, 24-6; Chicago, 35-19; Detroit, 40-19; Fort Worth, 82-41; Grand Rapids, 32-1; Houghton, 22-14; Lansing, 32-6; Los Angeles, 59-52; Marquette, 23-14; Miami, 78-74; New York, 67-35; Phoenix, 76-49, and Sault Ste. Marie, 23-2.

The road between the Euphrates and the Nile rivers is believed to be the oldest in the world.

As standard equipment, new cars for 1953 carry an average of more than 30 light bulbs.

De Pree Relates Work of Gideons

D. J. DePree of Herman Miller Furniture Company was speaker at a regular meeting of Holland Exchange Club Monday at the Warm Friend Tavern. DePree spoke on the work of the Gideons.

He was International president of that organization for some time and could give first hand information.

The Gideons are business men dedicated to the work of bringing the Bible to as many people as possible. Their chief motivation is the conviction that the Bible has the cure for most of the world's sorrow and suffering because it has the only cure for sin. They see in it a great potentiality which is able to change the course of life either for man or for nations.

There are 16,000 Gideons in this country and 3,000 more in foreign lands. Each member has a quota of 25 Bibles to place each year. They are placed in hotels, motels and hospitals, given to nurses at capping time, to men in the armed forces, and to boys and girls in the public schools. The work is being carried on in England, South Africa, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Japan and Mexico.

Exchange John Hagans presided at the meeting and Ren Muller introduced the speaker. One item of business was the approval of members on the proposal to finance installation of a public address system in the new Civic Center.

Volleyballs

Twenty-four hours after floods in the eastern part of the city, everything was back to normal. A placid little stream which a day before was a raging torrent was once again just a babbling brook, and the water wasn't even muddy.

Mute evidence of the damage caused Thursday when the stream overflowed 18th St. remained in the form of a huge gaping hole in the foundation of Merle Tubergan home.

And perhaps Marvin Baas will remember the incident for a long time. His car was pretty well submerged in his flooded garage underneath his home across from the Tubergan home. He was philosophical, and perhaps humorous, when he said, "It wasn't bad. The water's only up to the seat."

The Frank E. De Weese home just east of the creek escaped damage, but their fireplace in the sunken garden on the creek bank had only the chimney protruding from the flood. On other years for lesser floods, they always chained their picnic table down so that it wouldn't be carried away. This year, they forgot, and the first thing they noticed Thursday morning was the table floating toward the culvert. They managed to chain it and secure it before it went under the bridge.

American Legion Club, which always looks down from its perch on floods every spring, had that privilege again this week. This time, however, the raging waters seemed more destructive than usual, and the club road leaving from Paw Paw drive appeared to be badly undermined.

From the other side of the world, we learn that a Macatawa Park summer resident was the only person to remember flowers for St. Patrick's grave on St. Patrick's day March 17.

When Mrs. Winifred Sorling of Springfield, Ill., a local summer resident, visited Downpatrick in North Ireland last year, she arranged with a florist there to put flowers on the grave on March 17.

It was a floral tribute of white and gold lilies and daffodils. The event was duly noted in the Ireland press and by the wire services.

There was quite a round of laughter at the Holland High basketball bust at Longfellow school last Tuesday when Joyce Alverson was introducing the cheerleaders. When she came to Margo Munro, she said "Marilyn Monroe." Wow!

The bust, which is in the form of a smorgasbord, is sponsored by the parents of the basketball players.

Refreshing note here this week: A subscriber, who did not identify herself, called just to tell us she had the nicest Sentinel carrier she ever had. There was no particular reason, but the carrier is so nice and cheerful that she just thought she ought to tell us about it.

It wasn't even Brotherhood week. That was about a month ago.

From Jake Borgman, local dog catcher, comes this farmer's hint:

If pigs have fleas (and they often do) dig a hole in the ground, fill it with water and throw in a half gallon of kerosene. The pigs will bathe themselves voluntarily and get rid of the fleas.

In a program sent here from Mayor Harrington, now vacationing in Phoenix, we got a good layout of the 1954 Phoenix rodeo parade which was staged March 18. It had seven divisions and about 30 bands.

But, as the mayor added, "All kinds of horses, plenty of bands, but NO TULIPS!"

Daffynitions from Pontiac Press:

Thrift: A wonderful virtue, especially in ancestors.

Power steering: What the back seat drivers try to take over.

Girdle: The difference between facts and figures.

Reprieve: What you think of on the way home.

Old maid: A person with nobody to blame when things go wrong.

Lie detector: An ancient device made from a man's rib.

We like the statement printed on the back of a driver's license in a southern state: "Drive as if you had a guardian angel over one shoulder and a traffic officer over the other."

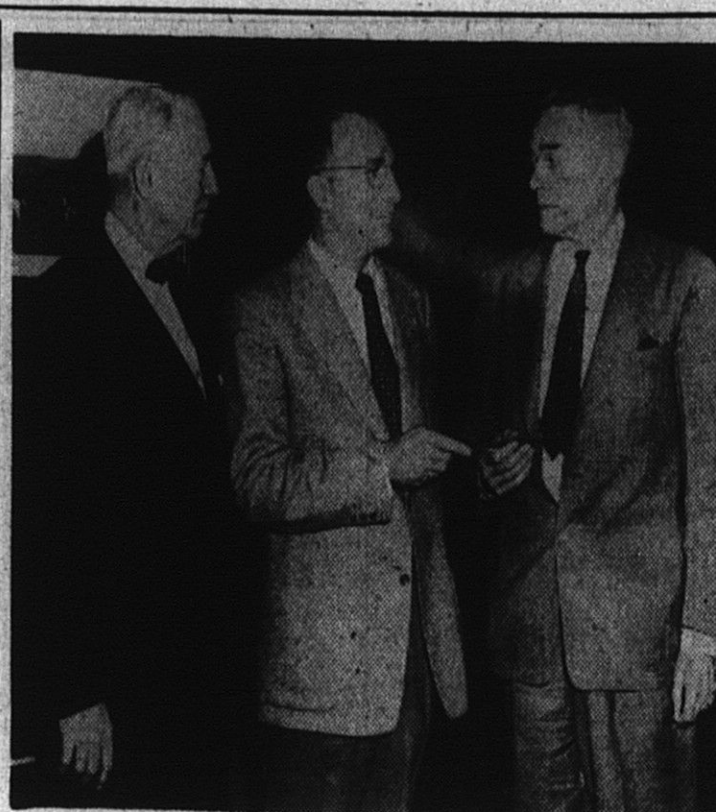

Laff for the day:

A bumptious playwright who had a new show opening sent a couple of tickets for the first night to the mayor of the city with a note suggesting that the chief executive could bring a friend "if he had one."

The mayor returned the tickets with a courteous letter stating that previous engagements made it impossible for him to see the show the opening night, but he would purchase two tickets for the second performance—if there was one.

IT WAS A HAPPY MOMENT when James Lugers (center), fund campaign chairman for the Ottawa County Red Cross chapter, accepted a check for $5,615 from Holland's Single Solicitation Plan, a program whereby periodic deductions are made for employees in participating organizations for several charities including Red Cross. The contributions are matched by management. Left to right are Joseph C. Rhea, SSP president; Lugers, and Mayo A. Hadden, SSP secretary-treasurer. Red Cross gifts to date in the county total $24,447.15, with a little more than $11,000 to go to meet the quota. Lugers urged all volunteers to complete their calls and make their reports. Persons who have not been contacted are asked to send their gifts to Red Cross headquarters at 6 East Eighth St. (Sentinel photo)

Holland In 1917

(Following is the 587th in the series of articles taken from news of the Holland Daily Sentinel published more than 35 years ago.)

Friday night a public meeting will be held in the City Hall conducted under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce which every good citizen should attend. One project coming is a drive for funds to be used for a YMCA for the soldiers at Camp Custer. Another matter is the war camp community recreation of America under supervision of the War Department. This news story appeared in the Wednesday, Oct. 31, issue of the Holland Daily Sentinel in 1917.

The steamer is pounding to pieces fast on the rocky Lake Michigan storm between Glen Arbor and Point Onida, having gone ashore driven by the 60 mile gale late Monday night.
