Elementary Languages Are Assessed

Visiting Educators Say Local Program Outstanding in U.S.

An appraisal of the foreign language program in Holland public schools by two University of Michigan educators Thursday and Friday has prompted new insights and challenges in the five-year-old experiment which may set new standards for cultural achievement in regular school curriculum.

Without qualification, both Dr. Vincent Scania and Dr. Otto Graf of the U of M romance language department agreed that Holland's program begun as an experiment five years ago by Dr. Ernest Ellert is definitely the most advanced of any in the country, particularly in the continuity displayed.

But with decisions to be made now for integrating the program into the four-year high school program, a careful appraisal is necessary as to the worthwhile aspects of the program, the costs, the time involved and the extent. For practical purposes, it was generally agreed that continued classes in German and Spanish, the two languages now offered in elementary schools, should be fitted into the high school program, and leave Latin and French for those students who have had no training in elementary language classes. This could possibly allow a gifted child interested in linguistics to take two languages. Consideration also was given to a special evening class for gifted children.

The present program teaches German or Spanish in each of the five elementary schools starting with the fourth grade. In general, this does not mean sacrifices in other subjects, but rather is a challenge for the more able students. As the program progresses into the fifth and sixth grades, a general weeding out is made, and the children who do not continue the language study usually devote the time to other more pressing subjects.

Arrangements already have been made for making German available in the ninth grade next September for the 20-odd students who "survived" the course in the experimental class in Longfellow school and continued for five years.

German classes in elementary schools are taught by Mrs. Alice Klompars and Spanish classes by Miss Betty Watson. They were present at a final meeting with the two university educators Friday night in Thomas Jefferson School along with school principals, school board members, administrators and faculty members of the high school language department.

Dr. Scania pointed to the possibility of seven periods in the junior high day instead of the present six, and felt more and shorter sessions with foreign languages in the elementary schools would be desirable.

As the program progresses, the possibility of an in-service training program among teachers to develop materials and coordinate efforts as well as emphasizing languages in the guidance program was suggested as a strong aid. The possibility of double track programs for beginners and advanced students is somewhat dependent on class enrollments.

Miss Esther Kooyers, principal of Longfellow school, presided at Friday night's session. Delegations from other cities interested in starting foreign language programs in elementary schools have been visiting Holland the past year on an average of once a week.

Cleanup Week Starts Monday

Cleanup week in Holland will be observed next week, coinciding with spring vacation, City Engineer Lavern Serne announced today.

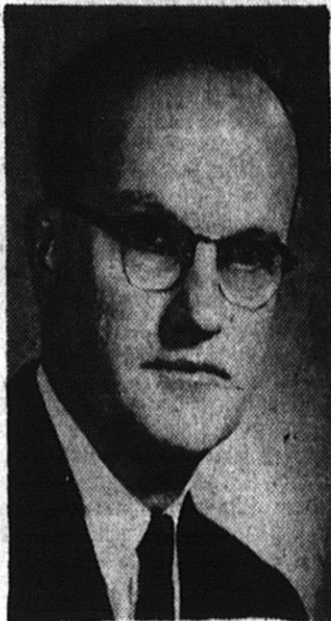

During that week only, city trucks will pick up lawn rakings (no rubbish or ashes, please) which have been deposited at city curbs. Holland always observed cleanup week well in advance of Tulip Time so that local residents may get their lawns and spring plantings in order.

Since cleanup week coincides with spring vacation and possibly spring house cleaning, it is expected busy mothers will assign plenty of tasks to husky sons on vacation.

Chase by Police Ends In Fine and Sentence

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Ignacio Bueno Guerrero, Jr., 19, route 3, Holland, was arraigned on two counts before Justice Lawrence De Witt Monday following a chase by state police on old US-31 Sunday in which Guerrero drove 70 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone, cutting in and out of traffic and forcing two cars off the highway.

On a reckless driving charge, he was assessed $75 fine, $4.90 costs and must serve 10 days in jail. For having no operator's license, he paid $20 fine and $4.30 costs. Guerrero came from Texas two years ago. He claimed he was too busy to produce a license.

Dr. Lester J. Kuyper

Educator Gets Leave to Study In Jerusalem

Dr. Lester J. Kuyper, professor of Old Testament at Western Theological Seminary, has been granted a leave of absence for the coming school year of 1958-59. He plans to spend the fall semester in Jerusalem at the American School of Oriental Research where he also will serve as an honorary lecturer.

While there, Dr. Kuyper plans to make field trips to various sites presently under excavation and to participate in some of the archeological activity conducted by the American school. He also will spend some time in the examination and study of the famed Dead Sea Scroll materials.

During the spring semester next year, he will travel to the Netherlands to serve as guest lecturer in Old Testament studies in the theological schools of various Dutch universities under the direction of Dr. Henry Berkhof, head of the Theological School at Driebergen. Under a new policy of exchange-lectureships recently inaugurated by the board of trustees of the seminary, Western Seminary will receive as an exchange lecturer from the Netherlands, Dr. H. De Vos, professor of ethics at Groningen University.

Through this exchange-lectureship it is hoped to cultivate the spiritual and theological ties between the Reformed Church in America and the Reformed Churches of the Netherlands.

During Dr. Kuyper's absence, the seminary board of trustees has engaged Dr. Sylvio Scorzo as a teaching substitute. Dr. Scorzo graduated from Western Seminary in 1953 and received his doctorate degree in Old Testament studies from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1956. The past year he taught at the Theological School of Lancaster, Pa., and presently he is serving a pastorate at Loysburg, Pa.

Bank Planned For Hamilton

HAMILTON (Special) — A branch of the Zeeland State Bank will be opened in Hamilton it was announced today by the Michigan State Banking Department.

The state department said an investigation showed the need for the expansion. Permission was also granted by the Federal Reserve Board this week.

President A. C. VandenBosch of the Zeeland bank said the new branch probably will be completed in six months. Plans are presently being drawn and construction will start as soon as a definite site has been selected.

The bank has options on several sites and it is expected that the final choice will be between a location on Washington St. or one on M-40. Hamilton has been without banking facilities for 25 years.

The new facility will have three or four teller windows and will be manned by three persons. An encircling driveway is planned and drive-in service may be offered later.

Firemen Handle Two Grass Fires in County

The Holland Township Fire Department Wednesday was called to extinguish two grass fires in succession. Fire Marshal Andrew Westbroek reported no damage from either fire.

The first came at 12:45 and was located on Douglas Ave., just west of North River Ave. The blaze was under control within half an hour, and firemen were then called to 120th Ave. just south of North Holland Church. About 15 acres of tall grass burned before the fire was out, Westbroek said.

Firemen of Holland and surrounding areas and the Ottawa County Sheriff's Department request persons to be especially careful with fire, since the fields are very dry. Fire Marshal Westbroek said permits must be obtained for any other than domestic trash fires.

Beechwood Favors Ninth Grade Setup

Election Set April 8; Reorganization Need Strongly Emphasized

Residents of Beechwood school district voted overwhelmingly Monday night in favor of providing ninth grade facilities in the district to which other school districts in the area might send their ninth graders on a tuition basis for one year only.

Monday's vote was considered a guidance vote for the Beechwood School board which met immediately after the public meeting and set Tuesday, April 8, as date for election under state law. Although the district is concerned only with ninth grade facilities for one year, the official issue on the April 8 ballot will read: "Shall the school district, fourth class No. 22, Ottawa County in Michigan, establish and operate a high school in said district?"

More than 200 persons attended Monday's information meeting and the vote was virtually unanimous. Only one dissenting vote was noted.

The report of the committee studying the ninth grade program was given in a 50-minute presentation by Beechwood Supt. Lloyd Van Raalte. The seven-page report was made available to all present.

Throughout the presentation, Van Raalte emphasized again and again the need for a reorganization program — one that should be accomplished within the year, if possible. He also made it clear that the committee was taking no stand on any political annexation, but is committed to some form of reorganization for the several school districts involved.

To date, Beechwood district has received word from the following districts which agree to send ninth grade students next September: Pine Creek, North Holland, Ventura, Lakewood, Federal, West Creek, East Creek, Waverly, Waukazoo, Harlem and Robert. Together with Beechwood, this makes 12 districts. West Olive has informed Beechwood it will not be sending its ninth graders there next September but wants to be included in the reorganization study.

Beechwood district was selected since it is the most logical one to operate the ninth grade. However, the committee said the program will demand the cooperation and assistance of all districts concerned and is not to be considered as Beechwood Junior High but must be continually thought of in terms of a suburban school's ninth grade program in which responsibility is shared to the legal limit.

The estimated 138 ninth graders in districts involved would be housed in five class rooms in the Howard Avenue building. The fifth grade and part of the fourth grade would be housed in three class rooms in Beechwood Church. Lower elementary grades, including part of the fourth grade, would be in the new Lakewood Blvd. building.

Van Raalte felt that Beechwood could operate its program next year under the six-mile voted operating program which is presently in existence. If more funds amount would not exceed seven mills.

In arranging a program for a new ninth grade, the committee has recommended courses in English and citizenship (required) with electives in general science, general mathematics, algebra and business training. Van Raalte explained that there are many variables in setting up a new program and the committee aimed to keep the program within the current finances.

He explained some of the complicated setups on state aid, tuition, tax rates, special voted millage, outstanding debt, equalized valuation, and the complicated procedure for school consolidation under state law.

The committee also recommends that home economics and general shop be offered for those students who would benefit most from a partial non-academic program. Physical education should be included as part of the regular program, plus instrumental music and glee clubs, a program of athletics, and a hot lunch program. For the year involved, transportation should be the responsibility of the sending districts.

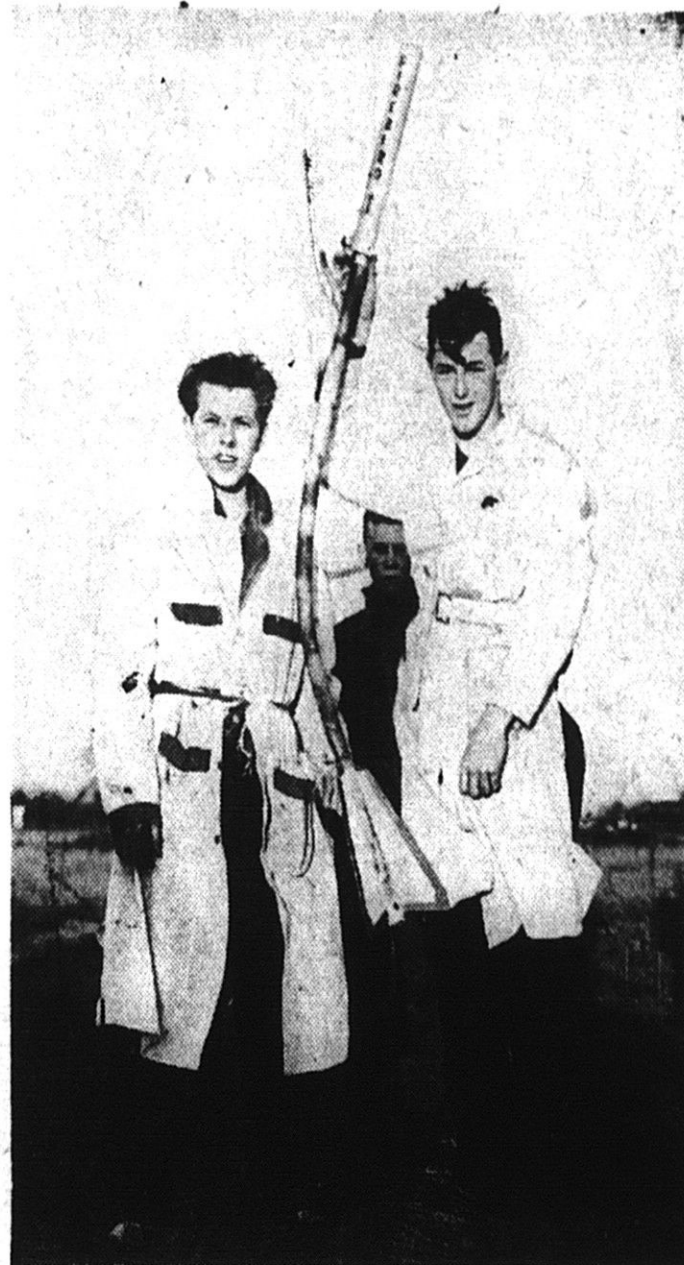

Serving on the committee are Edward Roberts, Herbert Maatman, Lloyd Van Raalte, B. F. French and Gerrit M. Van Kampen.

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Authorities today continued their search for a 1956 light blue car belonging to the Ottawa County sheriff's Department which has been missing since Monday.

Formerly a deputy's car, it has not been used for the last two months since the new cruisers were delivered.

Trio Arraigned In Grand Haven

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Three young Coopersville men pleaded guilty to charges of simple larceny Monday before Justice Lawrence De Witt and each was sentenced to pay $10 fine and $4.90 costs.

The men, Harold Starks, 19, Theodore Day, 22, and Jerry Baukamp, 18, were arrested by Zeeland police early Sunday morning for running a stop sign. When questioned about gasoline fumes, the three admitted siphoning gas from two trucks in Coopersville and were turned over to state police for further questioning.

In addition to the fine, Starks was held for violation of probation and will probably be brought into Circuit Court April 1 as a probation violator. He was placed on probation last June 7 for two years on a nighttime breaking and entering charge.

Girl Fights Police When Questioned

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — A 17-year-old Agnew girl who gave state police a hard time when they questioned her walking along US-31 at 2:10 a.m. Wednesday ended up paying fine and costs of $9.30 in Grand Haven Municipal Court on a disorderly charge.

Events started when officers stopped Sandra Lucille Dodge, 17, route 2, Agnew, walking along the highway toward Holland. She refused to give her name or any information why she was out that time of the night. She ended up by kicking and biting the officers as they put the spirited 115-pound girl into the cruiser.

The girl finally was identified when her father called police. He said he and Sandra and her brother had had an argument and both children took off on foot. Whereabouts of the brother was not determined.

Clarify New Boating Laws

Holland Coast Guard Station Commander BM-1 Walter Sears reported Wednesday that under the new Coast Guard regulations covering boats for hire, motorboat owners may exchange their operator's licenses for new ones without an examination until June 1, 1958.

Applicants should apply by mail to the Marine Inspecting Officer at the Ludington Coast Guard Station, Sears said.

The license boat operators now hold is good until June 1, 1959, Sears stated, but if applicants wait until then to renew their licenses, they will have to take a new examination.

Sears also said the Holland station has a limited number of applications for inspection of small passenger vessels, required by federal law. The completed forms must be sent to the Marine Inspector at Ludington, who will return an acknowledgement designating a time for inspection.

This acknowledgement must be retained on the vessel until it is inspected, Sears said.

The new regulations, along with problems concerning personnel, law enforcement and public relations were discussed Tuesday at a meeting in Ludington.

Equalized Valuation Up For Ottawa

State Tax Commission Program Gives Biggest Boosts to Townships

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Six representatives of the State Tax Commission met with the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors at a special meeting Monday afternoon to review state equalized assessments for 1958.

The new state equalized figure for Ottawa county stands at $239,395,415 or approximately $51,000,000 over the previous equalized figure of $187,780,000.

But while townships had their equalized values boosted 27.49 percent, Holland city's equalized valuation was boosted only 3.9 percent. Holland's boost was less than $2,000,000, from $49,667,453 to $51,667,735. Holland's assessed valuation is $32,494,115.

Holland township's boost was much greater, from $19,320,870 to $33,206,479. With an assessed valuation of $10,769,575, this means that 1 mill on equalized valuation actually means more than 3 mills on assessed.

Park township was boosted from $10,728,491 equalized to $14,715,310. The assessed valuation is $6,470,950.

Perhaps the greatest boost is in Spring Lake township in which the equalized valuation was boosted from $13,436,787 to $21,785,043. The assessed valuation is $6,338,925.

The State Tax Commission report was released after two years of study in Ottawa county involving 1,486 man days from November, 1955, through Nov. 15, 1957. Cost of this project listed field work at $43,300; office work, $1,700; compiling data, $45,000. The study involved 39,395 pieces of real property and 3,417 assessments in personal property.

Present from the tax commission were Sheldon Markle, director of field administration; Harold Benzer, district supervisor; Tom Dunn, Robert Cornell, Lester Scott and Eugene Hall, appraisers.

Under the new equalized figures, Holland city will share 21 1/2 percent in the county equalized total instead of 26 1/2 percent.

State equalized figures for other units in the county follow, listing old and new figures: Zeeland city, $9,338,656 and $11,071,737; Grand Haven city, $35,792,727 and $38,207,061; Olive, $2,174,230 and $3,360,925; Port Sheldon, $1,650,905 and $2,207,802; Zeeland township, $4,726,479 and $5,706,325.

In other business, Road Commission Engineer Hank Stafseth offered to provide supervision for township welfare programs involving clearing brush on roads and possibly in some park development. Stafseth said he had been approached by several supervisors seeking work for people on welfare. The program could begin immediately, he said.

There was considerable discussion on government-owned property in Port Sheldon township. The Holland Beagle Club has applied to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Forest Service, to retain the land along Copper Smith Creek for recreation possibilities. The county is interested in some areas for county park use.

The board adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

6 Schools Included On Squad

Four repeaters from last season's all-area basketball team head the list of 10 selected by The Sentinel sports department to compose the third annual all-area honor team.

Seniors Warren Otte and Cal Klaasen of Holland Christian and Zeeland seniors Dave Van Peursem and Max De Jonge, all selections as juniors, again made the all-star team. Hudsonville's Ron Vander Molen, also an all-area football pick, is the other senior on the club.

Juniors make up the rest of the club and judging from their ability this year they may all be heard from again next season. Jim Hulst of Holland Christian, Ted Walters and Jim Overbeek of Holland, Bob Brackenridge of Saugatuck and Denny Morse of Fennville will all be back for another season.

Otte, 6'4" and with his long arms, had good hook and jump shots. He has also picked off many rebounds. Otte scored 294 points in 24 games to lead the club.

Klaasen, 6'3", was Christian's rugged man and operated best on the defensive boards. He also hit consistently with a one-hander from the side. He made 205 points in 24 games to lead the club.

De Jonge, 6'1", set a new Zeeland two-year scoring mark of 534 points and made 277 this season. He also favored a jump shot.

Van Peursem, 5'11", was the hot-shot guard for the Chix who hit in double figures most every game to finish in the runner-up spot in Zeeland's scoring. Both De Jonge and Van Peursem were all-conference selections.

Hulst, 6'3", ill during the tournament, was second high for the Maroons in scoring and was toughest from the side. He also displayed strong defensive ability. Hulst scored 231 points in 20 games.

Walters, 6'1", will play a big part in Holland's attempt to return to the winning side of the ledger next season. Walters, showing a lot of improvement through the season, scored 191 points to top the Dutch.

His back court partner, Jim Overbeek, the smallest man on the Dutch team at 5'7", showed good ball handling and outcourt shooting especially in the late stages of the season. He made 123 points.

Brackenridge, 6' set an all-time Saugatuck scoring record of 419 points and led the Al-Van League scorers with 284 points. A junior, with many shots, Brackenridge will be out to break his own scoring marks next season. He received honorable mention last season.

Vander Molen, 5'10", was Hudsonville's playmaking guard and team leader. Coach Ken Bauman regarded Vander Molen as his most valuable. He frequently was on the end of the Eagles' fast break and had a 13-point game average.

Morse, 5'8", was Fennville's floor general and took up where his brother, Mickey, an all-area selection last year, left off. Like Mickey, Denny guided the Fennville attack and put plays into operation from his guard spot.

Honorable mention went to Jim Meurer and Dan Bos of Holland Christian; Wayne Tanis and Wayne Schout of Zeeland; Chuck Schoppe of Saugatuck; Jack Hoezee of Hudsonville and Gary Gibbons of Holland.

Floods Prevent Matt Wilson's Journey to Victoria Falls

By Matthew Wilson

Now on Sunday we are in Bulawayo, The Place of the Killing, where former King of the Matabele slaughtered his enemies. It is said that he killed for the delight in doing it! This afternoon we drove to the grave of Cecil Rhodes at Matapos, atop a lonely stone hill which he had selected as his burial place and named it the Hill of a Thousand Views. Besides Rhodes, who did so much for Africa and later for education with the Rhodes Scholarships, his friend and able military leader Jamison, and Allen Wilson and party slain by Matabele natives are buried in this rock. After a considerable climb of about a mile, I finally reached the top and the rewarding views were worth the climb. The first Premier, Sir Charles Coghlan, is also buried here and may well be related to Anne who was a Coghlan before a Wilson.

We now find ourselves in a quagmire due to the unprecedented floods all through this area. The Victoria Falls are flooded higher than ever in history and the many rivers tributary to it are overflowing the bridges as much as nine feet so that our road to the Falls is closed at present. We are lucky to have reached as close as 300 miles!

If we cannot be driven in we will fly in tomorrow afternoon and then fly to Lusaka two days later in hopes of meeting our courier and car there to continue to the Belgian Congo. His roads may be flooded as well so no one knows what will be the outcome of our trip. Since hotel reservations all the way to Nairobi are arranged for and are hard to get, a day late could upset our entire schedule. However, we will see what comes up tomorrow and hope for the best. It is all part of travel in strange lands and this continent qualifies as one of the strangest in our travels.

Our quagmire was well resolved the next morning when it was verified that the road between Bulawayo and Victoria Falls was closed. Our Courier left for Lusaka hoping that he might get through and meet us there although the high water reports were not good. As a result we flew to the Falls and had a sensational view of them as we came in, as the pilot was kind enough to fly over them two times so that passengers on each side could see them. Landing at the Livingston Airport we were whisked the 15 miles to the famous Victoria Falls Hotel in a Volkswagen station wagon. This hotel is well managed and its rooms are comfortable with better food than usual.

From the long veranda we could see the top of the Falls with the mist blowing here and there up to 2,000 feet above the Falls. We wonder what David Livingstone's thoughts must have been when he first saw them in 1855, the first white man ever to have seen this amazing handiwork of nature. He exclaimed, "Scenes so lovely must have been gazed upon by angels in their flight." We are fortunate to have seen them when the Zambezi River was at an all time record high, with an estimated volume of over 80,000,000 gallons of water flowing over the falls per minute. The Falls are 1,860 yards including islands which today were all under water, with the greatest fall being 355 feet and the mean fall is 304 feet whereas Niagara is only 170 feet. We have now seen the world's three largest known waterfalls and each has its own distinctiveness and beauty.

Owing to the water being about 12 feet higher than normal we could not take the boat trip to Kandahar Island, which usually is populated by monkeys who steal anything they can get from tourists. The poor monkeys have all been drowned and washed away now.

Many nearby roads are flooded so we had to take a launch from near Livingstone where the water did not run as fast as near the hotel. We went up the river for about five miles and were amazed to see all of the islands, including the one where Livingstone first camped completely under water and the tops of trees sticking out of the water.

One afternoon we spent in Livingstone which is a nice modern small city and has a wonderful museum depicting the life and customs of the various tribes and an extremely good section on Anthropology, but the finest thing there was the section devoted to the intrepid missionary and doctor, David Livingstone. His medical instruments, astronomical recordings, botanical studies, account books, clothes and even a list showing the meanings of various words in six or seven native dialects. He was a truly great man as well as explorer. He gave his life for the natives and was instrumental in starting the elimination of the cruel African slave trade.

When he was found by H. M. Stanley, sent out as a publicity stunt by the New York Herald, the classic understatement of all time, "Dr. Livingstone, I presume!" was said at their meeting. The doctor refused to return with him and remained with his natives for seven years more when he died of malaria at the age of 59 years. The natives loved him and when his death became known in England, his heart was buried in Africa and the natives bore his body wrapped in bark to the sea coast where it was carried by ship to England. Now resting in Westminster Abbey one reveres this great humanitarian, physician and scholar who had been honored by many scientific societies during his life.

We flew to Lusaka in North Rhodesia and were enchanted with the very modern Hotel Ridgeway off in the midst of nowhere in deep Africa. We ran into two firsts in our journeys in the dark continent, first a no tipping rule and you could not force tips on the personnel and second when we asked for ice they sent up a bucket of it. Usually it was measured out as if it was gold. We were extremely happy to find our courier waiting for us at the airport. He had managed to get through but said he had had about 400 miles of hard rain and extremely slippery mud roads to contend with.

So, we found out what so-called good roads in North Rhodesia and the Belgian Congo are. We drove 225 miles to the copper mining town of Ndola, North Rhodesia over dirt roads which, for the most part well graded, but in wet weather can be quagmires. Since there is no frost the road bed is very shallow and as a result soon turns into mud. We drove through some rain so we know just how slippery they can be. In fact, although South Africa has the best roads, no roads compare with ours and many we have been on are similar to our old dirt country roads before the advent of motor cars, with deep ruts, high crowns and deep ditches on each side to carry off the water. Noel, our courier and driver tells us that we have not seen any really bad roads yet!

The natives usually hold out two hands if you give them anything and this is not a sign of greed but rather to show respect for what they receive. Old men take off their hats as we pass them. They are proud people and do not like to be called boy. They copy white ideas and if you should see them listening to you talk they are not eavesdropping but simply trying to learn English words. Or if they come up and window shop along side of you, it is simply copying what the white man does.

Since towns, and as a result, hotels and restaurants are few and far between, we have enjoyed picnic lunches on several occasions and we have liked it better than the usual full course hotel lunches. At one place we stopped where we were surrounded by pickaninies whose big eyes watched our every

Bud Hinga Gives Challenge To Local Basketball Players

Milton (Bud) Hinga, Hope College dean of students, gave basketball players from Holland High, Holland Christian and Hope College a three-point program to be a well-rounded athlete at the annual Lions Club banquet Tuesday night at the American Legion Memorial Park clubhouse.

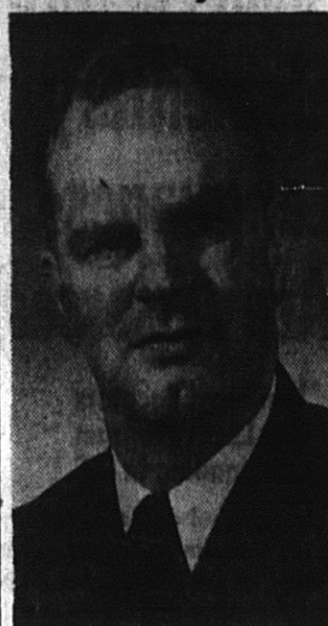

Hinga, coach at Holland High for eight years and at Hope for 17 before stepping down in 1948, said "all boys should think of athletics as part of an overall program and the ultimate of athletics is to turn out fine men."

In outlining the program, Hinga said "an athlete must be a good scholar and not pick the easy way out." He asked the group how many different doors (subject fields) they could open and he warned them not to eliminate a field too early.

"Develop self-relationship with other people," Hinga said, and learn to get along with "other faiths, other colors and your coaches." "You can't have liberty unless you give some," Hinga said. "An athlete should have a deep moral sense of right and wrong," Hinga said. "As athletes they are looked up to by the youngsters and they have a responsibility to these children."

Hinga concluded his talk by telling the group that "you will be as good an athlete as you alone can do it." Prior to his talk he told several anecdotes about his coaching experiences.

More than 100 persons attended the dinner, sponsored by the Lions Club. Master of ceremonies Al

Prof. Fried Gives Lecture At University

ANN ARBOR—Final objective of the Communist government in East Germany is not to destroy the Protestant church, but rather to reduce it to the same status which the orthodox church occupies in Russia, Paul G. Fried, associate professor of history at Hope College, said Friday.

He spoke before the history and political science section of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters meeting at the University of Michigan.

Prof. Fried said that Protestant leaders in Eastern Germany are well aware of the position which the Communist government would like to assign to the church, but for the most part, they are confident that their church will not become a museum or be pushed into a "well-fenced-in Ghetto."

This was not always the case, he indicated.

"After the initial period of reconstruction, which ended about 1948, the Communist rulers were eager to reduce and eliminate the influence of the church as much as possible, even while the East German constitution guarantees religious freedom and freedom of worship."

"Thus, the pressure of the totalitarian state against the church became increasingly obvious. Avoiding an all-out war against Protestantism, the Communists concentrated their efforts on the institutional foundations of the church and on religious activities of young people."

This they did by seizing members of a Protestant youth association of high school and university students, expelling them from schools, arresting and imprisoning them.

Prof. Fried explained that the United Protestant Church counts some 40 million Protestants from both sides of the Iron Curtain in its membership. This is 80 percent of the population of East Germany, he said.

Sophomore Ray Ritsema received the Randall C. Bosch of Holland most valuable player award as the top basketball player in the MIAA and junior Paul Benes was chosen by his teammates to captain the 1958-59 Hope basketball team in highlights of the annual team banquet held Monday night in the Juliana Room of Durfee Hall.

Bosch presented Ritsema with a diamond-studded basketball. He has been giving these awards for several years to the best football and basketball player in the MIAA. The Mommence, Ill., athlete is the first Hope player to win the award since Ron Bos was honored in 1953.

In presenting the award, Bosch said "he was particularly pleased to be able to present the award to a Hope player."

Coach Russ De Vette announced Benes would lead the Dutch next season. He complimented the Grand Rapids junior for his play and paid tribute to his "great showing" against Wheaton in the NCAA regional tournament.

De Vette, talking about the MIAA championship, said "we finished the season going up. Our play against Wheaton in the second half, both offensively and defensively, was our best of the season and now we must start next season where we left off."

De Vette introduced varsity members and Coach Gordon Brewer introduced members of the Hope JV team. Team captains Dwayne Teusink and Doug Japina presented De Vette, Brewer and trainer Dr. Larry Green with personal gifts.

The Hope varsity also received circular thermometers with "MIAA champs" engraved on them from Herman Laug, Coopersville businessman and master of ceremonies.

Ken Weller, former Hope assistant football coach and presently working on his doctorate at the University of Michigan, spoke to the group on "So You Won a Championship — So What?"

Weller spoke of the value of intercollegiate athletics, told of some of the extras received from it and warned of certain concepts, such as entertainment, that can get out of line in such a program.

"I feel that a school should proceed with its basic policy of objectives for an athletic program and those which contribute to the basic objective of the school and entertainment should be incidental. At Hope, the athletic program has been kept foremost in the program and I am thankful for the program, and to see the basketball team be successful without sacrificing principles," Weller said.

Several visiting prep coaches introduced some of their basketball players. The coaches were introduced by Dean M. L. (Bud) Hinga. College president Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers complimented the team and the coaches.

Hope student Harley Brown sang two selections accompanied by Edna Hollander. The Rev. Glenn Bruggers gave the invocation and Dr. Robert Cavanaugh led in the singing of the Alma Mater hymn.

Church Joins Zeeland Classis

FENNIVILLE (Special) — In an impressive service last Thursday evening, the Fennville Immanuel Church was organized and received into the fellowship of the Zeeland Classis of the Reformed Church in America. The move long anticipated by the congregation was the culmination of much cooperative planning and united effort.

The service was in charge of the Classical Committee. The chairman, the Rev. G. Aalberts, who presided, was introduced by Gerrit Dykman, Missionary Pastor of the church. After the invocation, the Rev. Norman Van Heukelom of Hamilton led the congregation in devotions. An appropriate solo, "God Leads Us Along," was sung by the Rev. Edward Vining of Dunningville.

The main inspirational sermon was given by the Rev. John Den Ouden, member of the committee and pastor of the First Reformed Church of Zeeland. In addressing the capacity audience he spoke on 1 John 3:8. The Rev. Pau. Alderink of Jamestown gave the charge to the newly organized congregation and emphasized the importance of working together which had made possible eventual organization.

Many members were received by transfer, and by profession and re-affirmation of their faith. Following the declaration of now being organized, there was the prayer of dedication by the Rev. A. Rynbrandt of Maplewood.

Neighboring churches expressed their interest and well-wishes through greetings, flowers and gifts. This special service was closed with prayer and fitting recognitions by Mr. Dykman, who will continue his ministry among the new congregation, numbering 120 souls.

KEEP DOGS ON PREMISES — Dog owners in Holland and surrounding areas are asked to cooperate in keeping their dogs on their own premises. Both state law and city and township ordinances require that dogs be under control at all times, and dog wardens will be particularly watchful in the near future, with laws in soggy condition, gardens being planted and the tulip beds in need of protection. A license on the dog is not a license to let him run loose, according to Richard Bell, Ottawa County Animal Control Warden, above, and owners of dogs that are picked up are liable to a fine.

NOT A CANDIDATE

For the very reason that he is not a candidate for Governor, President John A. Hannah of MSU may be the very best material for that important job. It would be a pleasant relief to have someone occupy this office who had not pulled wires for it. A drafted candidate for the governorship of Michigan is such a rare thing that it is doubtful if there has been one in the present century in either party.
But it is refreshing to learn that there is at least one major educator in America who thinks that his job in education is more important than a political office. Hannah expressed himself as follows on that subject:

"A President of a university can do more good in his job than he can by running for public office.
I have publicly said this for the past ten years."

That is in sharp contrast to the attitudes of many other top-level politico-educational figures. Nine times out of ten, would be politicians have used education's prestige to win political preferment for themselves; they were politicians first, educators merely as a means to an end.

Early in the century Woodrow Wilson, who in all fairness it should be said was genuinely an educator before he was bitten by the political bug, used the presidency of Princeton to get elected to the governorship of New Jersey, and later to the presidency of the United States.

Much more noticeable was the case of Harold Stassen. He was a politician born to the cloth. But to gain national prestige for political advancement, he became president of the University of Pennsylvania; the regents of that institution no doubt named him to the office for advertising advantages.
Of much the same sort of thing was the career in education of General Eisenhower before he became President. His presidency of Columbia University was obviously a career stopgap for political purposes and not even the greatest admirer of the President can very well miss the point.
Columbia University was, in the minds of many, used by him and his backers for political reasons.

American education is slowly waking up to the fact that it is trailing behind education in some other countries. One reason is that it has allowed itself to be used, that it has not really believed the truth of the Hannah statement that
"a president of a university can
do more good in his job than he
can by running for public office."

The continued increase in our population and the high cost of building makes more problems for our educators and interested people. Much of the cost of unnecessary space in our new buildings and buildings in the planning stage will need to be cut. Our tax dollars will not reach. Many people wonder just why our great seats of learning cannot take a cut. Politics are ever with us. They are costly even in education.

Both Drivers Slightly Injured in Collision

Both drivers were slightly injured in a two-car collision Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the corner of 16th
St. and Lincoln Ave.

Miss Marcia Walters, 18, route
2, Hudsonville, was treated at Holland Hospital for a bruise on the head and released. The other driver, Henry M. Nelson Jr., 35, of Lansing, received a cut lip.

Nelson was ticketed by Holland
police for failure to yield the right of way. Officers estimated the damage to Nelson's 1955 model and Miss Walters' 1914 model at $250 each.

The Sacraments (Ordinances)
of the Church
Rom. 6:3-4; 1 Cor. 10:14-22
by C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Church of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.)

In the Christian Church there are differences of opinion. The members do not all think alike about the sacraments. It is good therefore to consider occasionally what we believe about the sacraments which the Christian Church observes.

I. A few remarks about the sacraments are always in order. The word "sacrament" is not in the Bible. There are other words which we use in our religious conversations which are not mentioned in the Bible such as the word "trinity". The word sacrament comes from Roman sources. The oath of allegiance taken by Roman soldiers was called a sacrament. Sacraments are signs and seals of God's saving grace or to use the words of the Episcopal Book of Common prayer, a sacrament is "an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace given unto us; ordained by Christ himself . . .". The Roman Catholic Church says that there are seven sacraments: baptism, confirmation, penance, eucharist, extreme unction, holy orders, matrimony. Protestants believe that there are only two sacraments — baptism and the Lord's Supper — for these are the only two which Christ has instituted.

It is also taught by Protestants that there is no special efficacy in the elements of the sacraments.
The water used in baptism does not wash away sin or bring about regeneration and the eating of the bread at the communion table does not necessarily fill our hearts with divine grace — this only the Holy Spirit can do. The sacraments are means of grace but not means of salvation. Through the administration of the sacraments the gospel is proclaimed making its appeal to the eye while the preaching appeals to the ear.

II. Baptism links a believer to Jesus Christ. There are three modes of baptism — by immersion, by sprinkling, and by pouring. Some denominations believe that immersion is the biblical way while others teach that the mode of baptism is immaterial, and so they permit the use of any mode.
About ninety percent of all Christians believe in infant baptism but a minority say that adult baptism is according to the Bible. In churches where adult baptism is practiced the children are often publicly dedicated.

The baptism of a believer signifies his union with Christ. Paul often wrote about three facts concerning Christ—his death, his burial, and his resurrection. According to the teaching of Paul baptism is the re-living of these three vital events in the life of Christ. In his baptism a Christian shares in the death of Christ, dies with him to sin, is buried with him and rises with him to newness of life. The adult who is baptized signifies thereby that he has identified himself with Christ and that he has broken with sin. When a child is baptized the Christian parents promise to rear the child in the Christian faith and by the baptism affirm that the child belongs to the Lord. Consecrated Christian parents teach their baptized children that they belong to the Lord and should confess him when they come to years of discretion.

III. The Lord's Supper strengthens the faith. Baptism is administered but once, the Lord's Supper is observed many times and in various ways in Christian Churches. This holy sacrament points believers to the atoning death of Christ — this the Lord wanted his followers to remember.
The Lord instituted this sacrament to strengthen the faith of his followers. At the Lord's table believers reveal their unity. When Christians pass the bread and wine to each other they show that they are priests of God and members of one spiritual body and they dedicate themselves again to the Salvator who died for them. The command to keep this sacrament is often disobeyed by church members to their own spiritual hurt.

Both drivers were slightly injured in a two-car collision Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the corner of 16th
St. and Lincoln Ave.

Miss Marcia Walters, 18, route
2, Hudsonville, was treated at Holland Hospital for a bruise on the head and released. The other driver, Henry M. Nelson Jr., 35, of Lansing, received a cut lip.

Nelson was ticketed by Holland
police for failure to yield the right of way. Officers estimated
the damage to Nelson's 1955 model
and Miss Walters' 1914 model at

Grass Fire Reported

Holland city firemen Monday at 4:45 p.m. were called to put out a grass fire on West 30th St. near South Side Christian School. The fire was extinguished by neighborhood youngsters before firemen arrived.

SIGNS DAMAGED—Derk Doornbos, sign foreman of the Ottawa County Road Commission, holds a sign with his hand put through a hole which was apparently made with an axe.
Damaged signs are generally caused by either shot gun or rifle shots. The Road Commission estimates that it costs the taxpayers about $3,000 per year for replacement of mutilated road and street signs. There is a standing reward of $100 to any person who gives information which leads to the successful prosecution of a violator damaging any road signs.

Publisher Has Exciting Time
In Trying to Land Sailfish

By Phil Rich

The day was clear, cloudless and hot. The sea calm, with only a ripple, plus the usual great swells. The motor chugged along at good speed. It takes about an hour to get out. So by 9:30 we were skipping out mullet for "sails". At ten there was a swirl in the water as one made a pass at the bait. He must have followed along. A half minute later, he grabbed the bait of "Choochoo" — our driver, guide and friend.
Maybe "Choochoo" got excited and pulled too quick — anyhow he had the fish on. He rose — as most sails do I've seen — and made a mighty jump. It's a thrilling thing to see nine feet of fish in the air. Then after a brief struggle he was off — gone. I think it was this same fish that we had on about three times. But poor "Choochoo" couldn't set the hook.

We were both sad that we had no fish to show and no film made.
I can't spell "Choochoo's" last name all the time. Besides this is a nickname he gets — from some U.S. citizens he admitted after I'd called him that. But our disappointment didn't last long.
The sail hits as a rule within sight. If you're looking, i.e. Of course looking at the glaring sea — even with dark glasses — hour after hour — might bore some.
Others just fall asleep — lulled by the waves. But with a fisherman, there is always that exciting strike. I've seen them take the bait numerous times, by sneaking up behind it. Only the long bill sticks out of the water as he grabs for the mullet.

Sometimes they hit the decoy.
Usually, they will follow along and hit again — if hungry. The sail doesn't have such a large mouth or big teeth like say a shark.
So watch and you may see. We did many times.

My first sail yanked the line from the outrigger at just 10. He was hungry and took off. Down here our boys didn't wait and let the sail swallow the bait the way I've had others do. But on this one they didn't need it. They speeded the motor a minute, the reel sang as the sail was hooked. I played the fish for a time to make sure he was going to stay. After he appeared in a long sliding skid — not a real jump — and finally got squared away the fun started.

Then, in order to get the jump movies I wanted. I handed the rod to Choochoo, who gave battle.

The fish went down deep. He was coaxed back. He jumped and car-vorted. I kept urging Choochoo to bring him up and he, plus one of the boys worked at it. Both of us in the torrid heat were getting soaked, water running from us like off the eaves of a house. Just about the fifth jump I noticed the camera was dead — no sound — not running. So I ran into the galley, tore it open and discovered that the film in some manner had jammed. About a third the way through the insert had slipped out of the take — up reel — a thing I never have had happen in these many years. But there it was. I fixed it, ran back. Took a few more shots. But no one can tell whether there is a foot of good stuff. We both could have cried in our "beards". But we didn't.
"Let's get another", said Choochoo.

We had told the boys that we didn't want the fish. Just as soon as they were boated to turn them loose. But they clubbed the first one and proudly loaded same. I don't know the reason: whether they sell the meat; whether they wanted to show off their prowess.
People do eat sailfish. And I've seen them cutting off steaks down here.

Well, we had other strikes, but again Choochoo hooked, one and had it on for several jumps and that one, took, pulled off.
About eleven thirty I connected with a nice sail. After a short play Choochoo took the line and started to play the fish while I ground out some movies. One of the boatmen had taken Choochoo's reel and was pulling the bait in when a whopping 45 pound dolphin hit it. The dolphin walked on top on his tail, too. I hope were up in the air together. And then as someone landed the dolphin, we looked down to see another nine foot sail right at the boat — acting hungry — like fish do when feeding in pairs or schools.

So there we sat at 12 p.m. with two sails aboard and a dolphin.
We were on the ropes — especially Choochoo. But he was too disappointed to quit, which I wanted to do. So we fished on until 2 with no more fish, and docked at 3 p.m. But I did see and get some footage I imagine on an unhooked skipping sail. He was near the boat and just jump-happy. I had the camera near and must have half a dozen or more shots of his capers.

SCOUTING IN ACTION—The theme of the 1958 Scout Circus is typified by this group of Cub Scouts as they rehearse their act for the Circus which will be presented in Civic Center, April 11 and 12. Gymnastics are an important part of the physical fitness program of Scouting. Making the base of the pyramid are left to right: Paul Prins, Richard Boven and Steven Steketee. In the second row are John Vrieling and Jeffery Padnos and Vicky McBride is the peak. The Cubs are one of six teams from Pack 55 of Longfellow School, who will participate in the circus.

Sportsmen
Get Answers
To Questions

Ottawa county conservation officer Harold Bowditch dropped in The Sentinel Monday and passed along some answers to questions that have been popping up among Holland sportsmen.

Dogs may be trained on game birds or animals between the hours of sunrise to sunset until April 15, Bowditch reported.

There will be no early spring rainbow trout fishing, Bowditch said, because of the decrease in the trout population.

All non-trout streams in Ottawa County will be open to the use of spears and bow and arrow for the taking of carp, suckers, redhorse, mullet, dog fish and gar pike with or without artificial light from April 1 to May 31.

Bowditch also listed trout streams in Ottawa county. They include: Kooyens Creek, Little Pigeon Creek, Big Pigeon Creek and tributaries from 120th Ave., downstream to the highway bridge on Lake Shore Dr., Richardson
Creek, Stearns Creek and Ten
Creek, Stearns Creek and Ten

That part of Big Pigeon Creek classified as a trout stream is also open to the taking of those species of fish on which the season is not closed, Bowditch said.
As an example he listed pike.

The conservation officer indicated that all lakes and non-trout streams in Ottawa County are open to the taking of carp, dog-fish and garpike with a spear or bow and arrow with or without artificial light from May 1 to Aug. 15.

Dip nets may be used in all non-trout streams in Ottawa County from April 1 to May 31 for the taking of suckers, mullet, smelt, carp, dogfish and garpike.

Club Stages
Ham Shoot

A big two-day ham and merchandise shoot, staged by the Tulip City Rod and Gun Club, will be held Friday and Saturday at the club grounds located on Riley St., a mile west of Pine Creek.
Friday's hours are from 6 to 11:30 p.m. while Saturday's action runs from 1 to 11:30 p.m.

Shot guns and rifles may be used. The events include a trap shoot for shot guns only and an individual shoot for high score, string shoot and mystery ball shoot. A .22 caliber sporting rifle, seven pounds and under, with no slings and open iron sights only will be used in this event.

A competitive shoot, using .22 caliber rifle, no slings on a 100 foot range and each man getting five shots is also planned. There will be 10 men on a line and the highest score wins. This event is divided into three divisions. .22 caliber sporting rifles, seven pounds and under, open iron sights only; .22 caliber rifles, any weight, peep sights only and .22 caliber rifles, any weight with telescopic sights).

A special event will be held Saturday from 1 to 6 p.m. for deer rifles, 30-30 caliber and up with no slings. It is a competitive shoot, off hand only, with 100 yard range.
Each man will be given five shots and the highest score wins. Ten men will be on the line at once and open sights, peep sights and telescopic sights will be used.

Contestants must furnish their own guns and shells with hunting loads only. Lunch will be served by the women's auxiliary of the Club in the clubhouse.

Science Fair
To Be Friday

The science department of the Holland Christian High School will put on a Science Fair, Friday in their own school building. The Fair will start at 7:30 p.m. and run continuously until 9 p.m.

It will feature three 25-minute programs put on by each department simultaneously. These programs will demonstrate natural and man-made scientific phenomena which occur in each of the three branches of science.

While these programs are going on those students who have special individual projects will have a chance to display them. These projects cover a large field, astronomy, germ cultures, cloud chambers, and many others.
This Science Fair is termed a "science achievement day" and gives students who have worked on their own up and above the normal course of study, extra recognition. The Fair is expected to stimulate the interest of young people in science and to instruct people scientifically. Its purpose is to give a practical knowledge of scientific phenomenon.

The teachers who have made this program possible are John De Vries, physics; George Visser, chemistry; Marvin Poppema and Arthur Wyman, biology.

Refreshments will be served throughout the evening in the gymnasium of the school with the proceeds going to pay for expenses

Kiwanis Hears
FBI Agent

Monday night's meeting of the Holland Kiwanis Club was held in the Tulip Room, of the Warm Friend Tavern, attended by 37 members and 14 guests to hear Robert Cooper, agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation from the Detroit office.

Mr. Cooper's opening remarks concerned the many humorous letters received at the Detroit office. He also pointed out the differences of the Secret Service, Internal Revenue, and Bureau of Narcotics Agencies as contrast to the role of the FBI which devotes its energies to investigation.

Investigations of primary interest are concerned with the Selective Service Law, Smokey Bear Law, White Slave Act, bank robberies, car theft (interstate), deserter cases, and theft of government property. In the latter case, forgery of checks are involved.

Over one million checks are forged annually in the United States with Grand Rapids having a monthly loss of $4,000. Cooper concluded his talk with a few comments on juvenile delinquency stating that in 1957, there were 500,000 arrests in the U. S. of people under 18 of which half were 15 or younger; that 42 per cent of all crimes in the U. S. were committed by youths 18 or under; and that 62 per cent of all car thefts were attributed to this same group.

Virginia Sale Delights
Woman's Club Audience

A delightful series of character sketches entertained the members of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon when Virginia Sale took out of her bag of show tricks four studies in character.

In the first sketch she portrayed a woman and her son on a train trip from one small town to another with typical midwestern nasal dialect. The bus trip taken by a Texas ranch cook showed Miss Sale's versatility in handling the language and mannerisms of the Texans.

Members of the audience who had been to St. Petersburg, Fla., were delighted with the "green bench" scene. Even those who have never been there enjoyed the gabby style of patter.

High spot of the entire afternoon was Miss Sale's portrayal of an old fashioned school teacher. Her effortless change to the costume and the rapid transition to the era were remarkable. Using names of members of the audience and using her audience as part of the sketch endeared her to the entire group.

As sort of an encore, demanded by the group, Miss Sale was a charming old lady, who knew Abraham Lincoln. She left her audience with a warm feeling about those who entertain via the medium of sketches by one woman.

Mrs. Clarence Becker announced that the board had sent a wire to Sen. Pat McNamara urging him to vote for control of billboards on the highways. She also read the revisions for the constitution, read previously four weeks ago, which the club voted unanimously to accept.

Next week is the final meeting of the season for the club and the program is, as usual, to be a special one presented by the Junior Welfare League. A desert-tea will honor past presidents. The time is 1:30 p.m.

NICE CATCH — George R. Averill, (left) editor and publisher of the Birmingham Eccentric and Philip T. Rich, editor and publisher of the Midland Daily News, pose with a catch of big sailfish. The scene is the Club de Pesca (Fisherman's Club) at Acapulco, Mexico. These sailfish were hooked nine to 10 miles out in the Pacific. This is virtually tropical area. "Great place for sails," says Rich.

Midland Publisher Hooks Huge Sailfish Off Acapulco

By Phil Rich

Acapulco, Mexico — (Club de Pesca) — This hotbed of cliff-dwellers, modern style, is, among other things, one of the best known sailfish spots along this part of the Pacific. Most anyone who can get out for a day or two, when they are biting (now), can haul them in. Only thing about it is that it's getting more and more expensive. Also, for economy sake it's necessary to fish with some kind of a party.

But more of this angle later. Know ye now that I got out. To my own amazement I hooked and landed two of the big fish — one nine feet, two; the other nine, six... say the "boys". They said they'd "about" 95 to 97 pounds, but didn't bother to weigh same. (Anyhow see picture.)

The captain of the Shark (English translation) had two cabin boys along on this 26 foot hotel-owned boat. (One always has at least one assistant down here, which is all right to enlarge employment, but two seems like profiteering in siestas... but you pay in pesos.)

The call was for an 8:30 start so we got up at 7, ate a hearty breakfast, and were off on the dot. Breakfast down here is really something. At this hotel they bring in a big tray. It's a colossal load. I counted seven kinds of fruit on one morning. It will have for example, oranges, tangerines, watermelons, apples, bananas, cantaloupe, papayas.

When one first gets here, he orders his usual breakfast. A juice, maybe, then either eggs, bacon and eggs or sausage and eggs or pancakes. Then he sees a little covered dish. Here he finds a dozen kinds of sweet rolls — and are they delicious. But lo and behold, he just finishes the juice and bango — in comes the fruit dish. It's all prepared. It's sliced or cut and ready to eat. So he starts on that. By the time he gets to the eggs he has a "heavy high waist."

If I've learned anything after three trips down this way it is: glide into your meals gradually until you find out what the menu means. In the case above mentioned, I'm sticking with fruits alone plus some coffee (an extra spoon of "powdered" added on the side) and one wee curly sweet roll. A plenty.

The trip out on your floating-fish-platform is better than a tour of the town. The hotel here is a good looking place, although small by comparison with some of the others. You pass some fancy architecture both in the hotels and in apartments and private cottages and places. I say it's better than a tour. Yes, but take the tour, too. There is a lot of beauty built into these play spots.

Of course, where you build a house, even small, up on top of a mountain a couple of hundred feet high or more and full of big and small rocks and then cut and build a road to it — it takes peanuts. Labor may be cheaper, but it requires a long time and "many assistants" to get things done — any style.

But beauty they have! It's simply gorgeous — both as to location and arrangement. They do have perfect weather every day now. They do have the marvelous mountains with huge and many shaped boulders and odd shaped rocks. They do have the Pacific — blue as can be all the time. Exotic birds and colorful animals. They have some variety in architecture — heavily flavored with Spanish or pure Mexican perhaps Aztec. Above all they have wond-

The Grand Banks consist of a shallow section of ocean off Newfoundland, where the cold Labrador Current meets the warm Gulf Stream. The waters provide conditions favorable to the growth of plankton, and make a rich oceanic pasture for fish. Fishermen have been filling their ships with cod from the banks for 450 years.

County Makes Good Use of Child Clinic

A recently published annual report of the Muskegon Area Child Guidance Clinic for the year 1957 shows 182 cases were serviced in Ottawa County entailing 1,423 interviews during that year. This represents 25.59 per cent of the total services rendered in the six counties included in the Muskegon Area.

Of the 182 cases in Ottawa County during 1957, 72 were from Holland, 11 from Zeeland, 68 from the Tri-City Area (Grand Haven, Spring Lake, and Ferrysburg), and 31 from outlying areas in the county.

Most of the work in Ottawa County is done by Mrs. Ruth Van Duren who spends 2½ days a week in Holland and two days in Grand Haven. Maynard Van Lente, director of the Muskegon Area Child Guidance Clinic and Mister Arthur Krakiewicz alternate spending a day a week in Holland besides. People living in the northern part of the county are interviewed in Grand Haven; those from the southern part in the clinic's new Holland headquarters made possible by the generosity of Mrs. Mildred Campbell and the cooperation of the Greater Holland Community Foundation.

The children referred to the clinic range in age from less than a year to 18. Referrals are made by parents or relatives, schools, doctors, courts, clergy and various social agencies, with parents, school and courts leading. The work of the clinic emphasizes treatment of children with symptoms indicating beginnings of mental and emotional disturbance as a preventive measure before the cases have reached more serious and damaging stages.

Local people who were members of the clinic's Board of Directors in 1957 are: V. R. Boersma, M. D., Mayo Hadden, Otto Vander Velde M. D., L. A. Wade, Russell Welch, of Holland, and Ray Brummel, Zeeland.

The clinic partially supported by the Michigan Department of Mental Health which in 1957 supplied $29,142.18 of the $67,678.99 budget. All other funds are raised and contributed by the counties and communities served. The Holland Community Chest provided $4,100 last year.

WTAS, The Anchor Station serving the Hope College campus, recently contracted to receive the United Press news service.

The addition was another step in the expansion of a rapidly-growing little station built by the students themselves, "according to NARTB specifications," the rules laid down by the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters.

The station, 610 on the radio dial can be heard only on the campus, since it is carried only by the college electrical circuit. The programming, naturally, is tailored to the collegiate taste.

The station was started last year in a dormitory room by a few students who now form the nucleus of the 50-student staff. This year, the college donated funds and four rooms in the basement of Kollen Hall, and the expansion program began in earnest.

The students have contracted with three of the major recording companies to receive first issues of their new albums at a very advantageous rate. WTAS has been connected by direct wire to WHTC and in the future may switch programs with them.

Facilities are now being set up to broadcast live from any spot on the campus. In addition, the station carries such features as an hour-long "Music for Thought" program by Dr. Walter Hartley of the music department, who has been called one of the outstanding music composers of America.

The station is on the air from 6:30 a.m. to 7:45 a.m., when they knock off for classes. Broadcasting is resumed at 4 p.m. and continued through midnight. Interspersed with the music are several daily news broadcasts, and on weekends that station is on the air from 10 to 1 a.m.

Mother of 4 Wins Free Day In Hospital

An interesting side feature to "Women's Day" in Holland Thursday which netted over $500 for the hospital auxiliary, was a contest for "A free day in the Hospital, Sick or Well."

Entering the lucky coupon was Mrs. Burdett Vander Kolk, 443 Howard Ave., mother of four children, who filled out a slip while shopping in Alexanders.

"It's the first time I ever won anything," Mrs. Vander Kolk said. Since the offer is good throughout 1958, she probably will take advantage of it this spring since her physician has slated a tonsillectomy for her.

Even without surgery, a day in the hospital could be a wonderful prize for Mrs. Vander Kolk. The four children in her lively household list twin boys, 6½ years old, an eight-year-old daughter and a 22-month-old daughter.

The drawing was staged in the hospital coffee shop Friday with Mrs. Imelda Dailey, third floor head nurse, drawing the slip in the presence of two shop hostesses, Mrs. Richard Speet and Mrs. Edgar Lindgren, and assorted customers.

The "day in the hospital" contest was arranged, half in jest and half in earnest, and provided an interesting lift in the proceedings of "Women's Day" in which 12 local merchants cooperated. Contests of this sort have been staged in other cities, with similar interesting results.

TIM FOX WITH 'MERCURIUS' — Hopes for a successful rocket launching were high as this picture was taken just prior to the firing Monday evening on a farm near Gibson's Corners, south of Holland. When finally ignited, the rocket flared fiercely, but did not leave the launcher. Tim Fox, 16, (above) maker of the 'Mercurius', believes that heat froze the rocket's clips to the steel launching rails. (Sentinel photo)

Homemade Rocket Fails To Rise in Monday Test

Another Holland High School amateur scientist failed Monday evening in an attempt to launch a homemade rocket.

The seven-pound, 27-inch rocket, powered by a mixture of powdered alum, sulphur and saltpeter, was entirely made by Timothy Fox, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Fox, 788 Myrtle Ave.

The firing, from a farm near Gibson's Corners, south of Holland, was delayed till around 7 p.m. by technical difficulties and a milling crowd of nearly a hundred that repeatedly knocked down guy wires on the launcher and otherwise impeded operations.

The rocket failed to fire when the electrical switch was thrown. A tissue paper fuse was hastily made up to be lighted with a match, but that too burned out without igniting the rocket.

Then a spectator offered a length of dynamite fuse. It was rammed in the tail and lit, and the people ran for cover as the fuse sparked brightly.

The dynamite also failed to fire the "Mercurius." In desperation, a flare, or fuse was produced, set afire and placed under the rocket.

A roar sounded from the base of the rocket and a brilliant ball of blue and white flame swallowed up the rocket and launcher. But when the smoke cleared away, "Mercurius" remained.

Tim theorized that the heat had "frozen" the rocket's clips to the steel launching rails, preventing it from rising.

Allegan County deputies supervised the operation, but warned that they will no longer be able to sanction these tests. In the future, they said, permission will have to be granted by the County Board of Supervisors.

Teamwork Aids Polio Victim

A local doctor, the Holland Police Department, the Ottawa County Sheriff's Department, Grand Rapids Police, a local trucking company and the Holland Board of Public Works Sunday combined forces in a dramatic and successful attempt to get a local victim of paralytic polio to the hospital in time for treatment.

The story began shortly after noon when Mrs. John Cooper, of 47 East 19th St., who has lived over ten years in an iron lung, suddenly required hospitalization and drugs not available in Holland.

Dr. William Winter and the Holland police swung into action. The needed drugs were located at a drug store in Grand Rapids, and the Grand Rapids police were contacted to get them and take them as far as Grandville.

Ottawa County Deputy Peter Meuwisen, who lives in Jenison, was detailed to pick up the drugs at Grandville and rush them to Holland.

Meanwhile, the Citizen's Transfer Co. offered the use of a moving van and the Board of Public Works contributed a portable, eight-watt generator. The van and the generator were backed up to the Cooper's front porch.

Len Steketee and Gil Tors of the Holland police, Mr. Cooper and several neighbors helped carry the patient and the iron lung out into the truck. An extension cord kept the machine running until it could be plugged into the generator, "without missing a beat."

At the hospital, another extension cord arrangement carried the iron lung safely from the van into the hospital. So well-timed was the operation that the drugs were waiting when the van arrived.

Chix Cagers Should Be Tough Despite Loss of Four Seniors

Zeeland's basketball team has maintained a winning record during the past two years, including two straight Kenewa League championships, and despite the loss of four of the biggest reasons for it, Coach Paul Van Dort believes he has a good nucleus to shoot for his third straight league title next season.

Van Dort won his second title this season with a perfect 10-0 mark. Last season, his first as varsity coach, he won the Kenewa crown with a 9-1 record. Three years ago, his final season as reserve coach, he compiled a similar 9-1 record and walked off with Kenewa reserve title.

The four biggest reasons have been his quartet of top players, Max De Jonge, Dave Van Peursem, Wayne Tanis and Merle Berens, who are seniors. During the three years under Van Dort this group won 28 of 30 league games and the three championships. Van Peursem and De Jonge were named to the all-conference first team and Berens and Tanis received honorable mention.

De Jonge, in the last two years, set a new two-year individual scoring mark. The bespectacled team captain fired 534 points, including 277 this season, to break the 506 mark set three years ago by Carl Wissink.

De Jonge made 110 baskets in 243 attempts for 45.4 per cent, best among the regulars. He was also tops in foul shooting with 59 of 77 for 76.7 per cent. Van Peursem was second in scoring with 262 points. Tanis popped 118 points and Berens, 116 for fifth and sixth spots on the club.

A couple of juniors, who make Van Dort's job seem somewhat easier, held down third and fourth. Wayne Schout, 6' 3" regular center, had 151 points and Jack Van Dort, who took over as a regular when Berens sprained his ankle late in the season, tallied 136 points. Van Dort, 6' 2 1/2" forward, had the best shooting percentage on the team with 50 of 107 for 46.7 per cent. Schout was given a second team berth on the all-conference team.

Zeeland scored 1,163 points for an average of 64.8 per game and the foes made 875 points for 48.6 a contest. The Chix compiled a 14-4 overall mark. The losses were to Holland Christian twice, Caledonia and North Muskegon, each by one point.

Schout led the Chix in rebounding with 186 while De Jonge was second with 139 and Van Dort third with 120.

Other scorers on the club included: Marv Feenstra, 19 in the last few games; Ron Van Haisma, 8; Jim Van Dam, 13; Bob Brower, 8 in tournaments, Keith Hubbell, 10; Harv Feenstra and Craig Hubbell, 8 and Gary Carley, 6.

Feenstra, 6' 2" rugged forward, will be back next year along with Brower, also 6' 2" and the leading pointmaker on the reserves this season.

Other juniors, who will be back as seniors, are the Hubbells, Van Dam, and Gary Carley, all 5' 6". Up from the reserves will be 6' 6" bill Damstra, 5' 8" Bill Hanson, 6' 3" Harve Ten Broke and 6' 2" John Roe.

IT'S REALLY SPRING — Local pessimists may look for snow clouds behind the blue skies and balmy breezes currently favoring Holland, but there is no doubt among the younger set. Their kites, marbles and ball games attest their faith that spring is really here. Three of them were found recently absorbed in a game of marbles at the Van Raalte school playground. Holland Residents Happily Turn to Thoughts of Spring

Spring is here at last! Anyone who joined the gay parade of cars down Eighth St. Sunday afternoon or got out for a breath of fresh Spring air by walking the dog around the block, will joyously testify that Old Man Winter has departed from Holland.

Hundreds of cars swarmed the downtown streets and drivers in a holiday mood greeted friends with the honking of car horns. Naturally, a few enthusiastic souls put down their convertible tops to take the fullest advantage of the first warm Sunday of the year. Many of the cars were sparkling clean from the wash jobs they underwent Saturday when the mercury rose to 45 degrees.

Holland housewives enjoyed the 51-degree weather Sunday by strolling down city streets with baby carriages, and one little girl was seen accompanying her mother with her own tiny doll carriage.

Holland State Park was a popular spot of hikers and amateur photographers who took a last look at the icebergs on Lake Michigan, which stand as a reminder of the blustery weather Holland experienced several weeks ago.

Clare Broad, park manager, reported that about 4,000 persons entered the park Sunday, and the total on Saturday was 800. He said there were even a few fishermen and picnickers at the park over the weekend.

Camp Fire Groups Display Phases of Program in Windows

The Holland Area Council of Camp Fire Girls has been busy decorating store windows in observance of the 48th Birthday of Camp Fire. The residents of the Holland area will notice the displays that have been made by the girls, and installed by the girls, with adult supervision.

Each display shows some phase or project of the Camp Fire program. Mrs. Harry Frissel was chairman of the display for Jefferson school, that may be seen in Brouwer's window.

The Blue Birds of Lakewood school chose the national Birthday theme of "Meet the People" for their display at Michigan Tile. Mrs. John Percival and Mrs. James Hayward were co-chairmen for Lakewood.

Mrs. Bertal Slagh's Camp Fire group from Lincoln School has depicted the seven crafts of Camp Fire for their display in the window of R. J. Rutgers. Their dolls dressed as Camp Fire girls show the crafts of Homemaking, Business, Frontiers, Outdoor Sports and Games, Creative Arts and Citizenship.

The Sixth Grade Camp Fire groups of Longfellow school under the leadership of Mrs. Roy Klompars, Mrs. Loren Howard, Mrs. Dick Nicholson and Mrs. Floyd Fitts have a display at Fris with dolls dressed as Camp Fire girls and Indians along with photos of the "Meet the People" project.

Mrs. Kenneth Maltinsky's group of Lakeview School using pipe cleaner figures, shows application of the Camp Fire Law in Du Mez' window.

Mrs. Bernard Mazurek acted as chairman for the Maplewood School whose display is in the window of Paul's Pharmacy.

The Pine Creek School group has a display of Crafts, Memory books and Camp Fire boleros in the window of Bob's Sports. Mrs. Charles Atwood and Mrs. Lawrence Culver were chairmen for Pine Creek.

The Blue Bird and Camp Fire girls of Federal School have an exhibit of hand craft and pictures in the Record Shop. Mrs. John Larson and Mrs. George Tuberger were chairmen.

Mrs. John Hudzik acted as chairman for all of the groups at St. Francis de Sales School. They have an outstanding display in the window of Meyers.

The Blue Bird and Camp Fire groups took part in making the attractive exhibit of Washington School to be seen at VanderMaat's window, at Washington Square. Mrs. Cal Nordhoff acted as chairman.

Three mannequins are dressed in the Camp Fire, Blue Bird and Horizon costumes in Sears window. And the prize winning decorated boxes from the Elementary School Birthday Party will be on display in the window of the Chamber of Commerce in the Warm Friend Tavern.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester De Ridder have been chairmen for the entire window display project for Birthday Week.

Governor's Visit Assured For Tulip Time

Gov. G. Mennen Williams will be in Holland on opening day of Tulip Time this year on May 14.

Tulip Time Manager Sipp H. Houtman was informed Monday that Michigan's governor has accepted his invitation to Tulip Time, something he had done every year since first becoming governor in 1949.

The governor's message was just a brief acknowledgment of his invitation and did not indicate what time he would arrive or whether he would bring Mrs. Williams or any other members of his family. As in previous years, Ernest C. Brooks will serve as the governor's host, but the governor probably will be entertained this year in the Warm Friend Tavern instead of the Brooks home.

It is expected that the governor will bring with him the wooden shoes he received on his first visit here. Every year, he faithfully has brought his wooden shoes. The Tulip Time committee provides a Dutch costume each year for the scrubbing ceremony.
