NORTH AMERICAN SOLD—The S.S. North American (left) which has had Holland for its winter berth since 1924, has been sold and is slated to leave Holland around May 1, perhaps for the last time. The S.S. South American, flagship of the Chicago, Duluth and Georgian Bay Line, will continue to sail on seven-day cruises this summer. The North American has been sold to the Canadian Holiday Steamship Co. of Erie and will sail on daily excursions this summer on Lake Erie. (Sentinel photo)

Georgian Bay Line Sells Ship

The S. S. North American, luxury cruise ship which was berthed in Holland during winters since 1924, will leave Holland around the first of May, probably for the last time.

The Chicago, Duluth and Georgian Bay Transit Co. has sold the ship to the Canadian Holiday Steamship Co. of Erie, Pa., and it will sail on daily excursions between Erie and several Canadian cities on the Canadian shore of Lake Erie.

E. J. Goebel, president of the Georgian Bay Co., said the S. S. South American will continue to sail on complete seven-day, 2,000-mile cruises between Buffalo, N. Y., and Duluth, Minn., with stops at Cleveland, Detroit, Mackinac Island, Munising and Houghton as well as Duluth. At any one of these ports passengers may board the ship for the complete seven-day trip.

Last November, Georgian Bay stockholders considered liquidating the company and selling the ships, but the offer of an unidentified Florida corporation was rejected, and plans were then made to operate the South American but to keep the North American in the berth all year.

The South American will leave Holland April 29 for Manitowish, Wis., for repairs and mechanical checkups and on May 16 will leave Chicago for a return trip to Holland for Tulip Time.

The two luxury ships have been berthed at the Montello Park docks in Holland since 1924. They previously had been berthed at Saugatuck, and after their departure the Saugatuck harbor no longer was dredged for use by larger boats.

The South American, flagship of the line was built in 1914 and the North American in 1913. The South American, 321 feet long, had a capacity for 450 passengers and the North American, slightly smaller, could accommodate 400. The South American was nearly destroyed by fire Sept. 9, 1924. Fourteen years later it received major damage when it ran aground in the Straits of Mackinac.

For several years, the Georgian Bay Line also operated the S. S. Alabama which lay idle at the local docks for many years until it was sold for scrap less than two years ago. The Alabama was built in 1910 for 279 passengers. The hulk of the Alabama remains at Brewer's docks.

Heavy Vote Expected All Over Ottawa County on April 1

GRAND HAVEN—A large vote is predicted in Ottawa county next Monday as the new constitution question is drawing a lot of interest, local officials reported. A great number of absent voter ballots has been requested at Holland and Grand Haven, 125 at Grand Haven.

Important in North Ottawa county is the special election in part of Spring Lake township, where voters in a mile square area, including the village of Ferrysburg, will vote on incorporation of the area as a fifth class city.

Ferrysburg voters turned down a similar proposition in 1956 and indicated again in 1960 that they wanted to remain unincorporated.

On Jan. 26 the Board of Supervisors approved the April 1 election, after a legal hassle developed at the October session of the board. The proponents of a plan to annex the Holiday Hills area to Grand Haven blocked the planned vote for a time when they questioned the validity of the Ferrysburg incorporation petitions.

If voters reject the incorporation proposal April 1 the supervisors then will be able to set the election date for the Holiday Hills annexation to Grand Haven. Ferrysburg voters also are to vote April 1 on a nine-member Charter Commission. Fourteen men are candidates for the nine places.

Grand Haven city is having a lively election April 1 for city offices. Councilman William Creason, former mayor, is unopposed for mayor. He will succeed Mayor Glenn W. Eaton, Jr. Creason is giving up his councilman's post, which must be filled, along with the council chair held by Virgil Quebbeman. There are two vacancies on the council, sought by Quebbeman, Richard Nehring and David Pushaw, all four-year terms.

Four vacancies must be filled on the Board of Light and Power. Donald Dykhouse, Jim Ledinsky and Arno Wheeler seek two six-year terms and Martin Erickson, Charles Gomery and Brice Maddox seek two four-year terms. Dykhouse, Ledinsky and Erickson are incumbents.

On the county level, there are seven contests for vacancies for supervisory positions. Gerald De Windt defeated Neal Andre, supervisor in Georgetown Township, in the primary but it has been reported Andre will oppose De Windt on slips.

There are contests for supervisors in both Hudsonville and Zeeland cities. Willard Claver, supervisor from Zeeland, is opposed by John Stephenson, a former supervisor, and Herman Vande Bunte, from Hudsonville, is opposed by Raymond Vander Laan, former president of old Hudsonville village.

Three men seek the office of supervisor in Robinson Township: Anthony Wolf, Jr., is opposed by Case Szopinski, a former supervisor, and William Fischer, Albert Walcott of Wright is retiring and his place is being sought by George Kensil and Lawrence Hansen, both of Marne.

In Port Sheldon, Edmond Meason, incumbent, is opposed by Horace Troost; Supervisor Ervin Hecksel of Crocker is opposed by Frank Butler; William J. Kennedy of Allendale is retiring and seeking his post are John L. Van Huizen and Albert Sall.

John Hassold, for 30 years a supervisor from Chester Township, in the extreme northeast corner of Ottawa, is retiring, and Marlin J. Sheridan has been elected to that vacancy. Chester will vote on one extra mill for two years for fire protection.

Here are the slates in the south Ottawa area:

Tennis Team Opens Play At Vanderbilt

Hope College's tennis team leaves Friday for its second annual southern trip with matches slated in Tennessee, Florida and Indiana.

The trip is being held during Hope's annual spring vacation. Dr. Lawrence Green is the tennis coach and the Flying Dutchmen are expected to have their best team in history.

But the defending MIAA champions will experience difficulty in the south against strong competition. Green said his team has been working out daily since mid-February in the Holland Army but the lack of outdoor drills is expected to hurt.

Green hoped to have brief outdoor workouts this week before the team departs. Hope opens the season at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., Saturday and on Monday and Tuesday, April 1-2, the Dutchmen will play Florida State in Tallahassee, Fla.

Other matches are April 3, Florida at Gainesville, Fla., April 4, Rollins at Winter Park, Fla., April 5, Davidson at Daytona Beach, Fla., and April 6, Stetson at Deland, Fla.

Hope concludes the trip with a match against Indiana University on April 8 in Bloomington, Ind. The regular season opens April 16 at Grand Rapids Junior College followed with the home opener against Wheaton, April 20. Wheaton is a new tennis for this season.

Three of last year's MIAA championship team are back along with some promising freshmen.

Captain and senior Norm Hess, the MIAA singles champ, leads the returnees along with ex-Holland Christian senior Arlyn Lamping, the MIAA fourth flight champion and junior Harvey (Bud) Hoffman.

Leading the freshmen are Byron (Butch) Hopman of Muskegon, LMCA singles champion last season and the runnerup in the state Class A tournament, and Lance Stell, the Chicago public league singles champion in 1961.

Rounding out the squad are freshman Jeff Jorgenson of Montville, N. J., who is expected to be No. 6 man, junior Jim Korf of Grand Rapids and sophomore Jim Riemersma of Alma.

When the Flying Dutchmen meet Florida April 3, friendships will be renewed between Jorgenson and Jim Tym, Florida's No. 1 player. The two live across the street from each other in Montville, N. J.

Hope had a 13-3 dual meet mark last season and were 5-0 in the MIAA. At the MIAA Field Day, the Dutchmen finished second and tied Kalamazoo College for the title.

Highlighting the season was Hope's win over Kalamazoo which smashed a consecutive string of 15 straight league victories.

The regular season schedule: April 16, at Grand Rapids JC; April 20, Wheaton; April 24, Albion; April 27, at Alma; April 30, at Olivet; May 4, Adrian; May 11, Kalamazoo; May 14, at Calvin and May 17-18, Field Day, at Calvin.

Store Closing Law Upheld In Ottawa

Board of Supervisors Lack Two Votes for Two-Thirds Majority

GRAND HAVEN — Efforts to exempt Ottawa county from the controversial weekend store closing law, effective today, failed Wednesday at a special meeting of the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisors voted 20 to 11 to exempt the law, but the vote lacked the necessary two-thirds majority to carry. The vote followed a 1½-hour hearing in the court room where some 50 visitors had gathered in addition to the 31 board members. All supervisors were present with the exception of William Koop of Holland who is a patient in Holland Hospital following a fall last week.

Prosecutor James W. Bussard said today that the board, if it wishes, can take another vote at the April session, but said that another hearing must be announced.

Opposition to exempting the bill in Ottawa county came from three ministers of Seventh Day Adventists churches in Western Michigan.

Motion to exempt the county from the new law was made by Gordon Cunningham, Holland city attorney, who objected to the 177 forbidden items and the 188 permitted items in the bill which calls for restricting certain retail sales in stores on succeeding Saturdays and Sundays.

The 11 members who voted "no" on the motion were William Kennedy, Allendale; Neal Andre, Georgetown township; James Brower, Holland township; John Tigelaar, Jamestown; Herman Windemuller, Park; Gerrit Bottema, Spring Lake; Martin Geerlings, Zeeland township; Henry Van Noord and Herman Vande Bunte of Hudsonville City, and Willard Claver, Zeeland City.

The 20 who voted "yes" were Louis Vollink, Blendon; John Hassold, Chester township; Ervin Hecksel, Crocker; Clarence Reenders, Grand Haven township; Lester Veldheer, Olive township; Robert L. Murray, Coopersville; E.R. Meason, Port Sheldon; Tony Wolf, Robinson township; H. C. Slaughter, Lamont; A. J. Walcott, Marne; R. L. Cook, Howard W. Fant, George Wessel, J. N. Poel, and R. V. Terrill, Holland; Mayor Nelson Bosman, Lawrence Wade, Edwin De Haan and Gordon Cunningham, Holland, and G. J. Van Hoven of Zeeland City.

Cleanup Week Set Next Week

City Manager Herb Holt today designated next week as Cleanup Week in Holland. During that week, residents are urged to clean up their yards and rake such debris to the curb, leaving it in the curb strip.

Starting Monday, April 8, city trucks will make the rounds collecting the debris. On that day, residents are instructed to rake the yard debris into the curb for easier pickup.

Cleanup Week this year coincides with spring vacation in Holland.

The pickup following week will follow the pattern of last year with city trucks making only one trip down each street. Therefore it is most important that yard cleanup be completed by April 8. This once-a-year service by the city is for lawn rakings only. No rubbish may be included. The entire city will be covered.

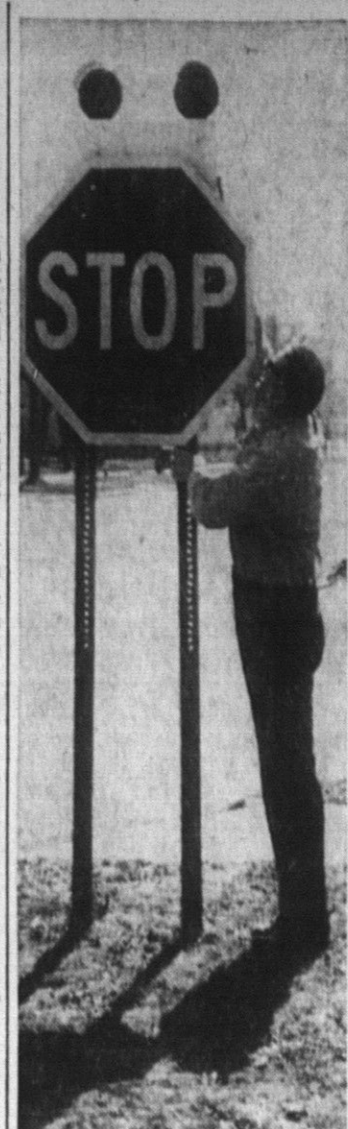

The city also provides leaf pickup in the fall.

Cleanup Week in Holland is usually the signal for local residents to get their yards in order for Tulip Time which falls this year May 15 through 18.

The production was given again Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the school cafeteria. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. Gene Rucker directed the production with Mrs. Rucker as musical director.

West Ottawa Adopts New Pay Schedule

West Ottawa school district has adopted a teachers salary schedule for 1963-64 calling for a range of $4,500 to $6,450 covering a span of 12 years. The schedule roughly is $100 more than the present schedule which ranged from $4,400 to $6,250 in 12 years. Increments of $150 to $200 a year are much the same as in the present schedule.

The schedule was accepted by West Ottawa teachers Tuesday afternoon following a presentation by Burrell De Young, chairman of the teachers salary committee, and Supt. Lloyd Van Raalte. It previously had been approved by the Board of Education Monday.

In addition to the schedule, teachers with master's degrees receive $300 annually and those who have permanent certificates plus 20 hours of advanced study receive $100 a year.

De Young told the teachers Tuesday: "This is a good salary schedule and it is a fair schedule in that it provides incentive to teachers to improve their qualifications and remain with the district. Compared with surrounding districts, it is a low schedule but it is considered fair within the framework of the district's ability to pay."

Supt. Van Raalte said the increases plus eight new teachers next year accounts for an additional $61,000 in the teaching budget. He said classroom teachers account for 86 per cent of the total budget which is expected this year to run about $1,200,000. Final budget determinations will be made in July. The district has been voting 4.5 mills for special operating.

The Holland salary schedule runs $4,500 to $7,300, but salaries will be frozen at the current year's figures, and teachers have requested that the board offer contracts to new teachers at $4,300. The higher steps of the Holland schedule require a master's degree.

Exciting Program Outlined For Grand Valley College

Plans for developing a 770-acre site on M-50 about 2½ miles east of Allendale for the new Grand Valley State College were outlined by Dr. James H. Zumberge, college president, and his staff at a "Grand Valley College Night" in the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday night. More than 150 persons attended.

The need for more higher educational facilities in view of population growth plus the fact that the percentage attending college these days is mounting, is one of the prime reasons for a new college in Western Michigan, Dr. Zumberge said.

Presenting color slides, Dr. Zumberge said first buildings already are under construction with a modern motif of verticle columns of precast concrete. Plans call for development in clusters of buildings, with emphasis on the individual student. Eventually, there will be dormitories but meanwhile homes are being lined up in the locality to board students not within commuting distance. Dormitories are slated by 1965.

The schedule calls for the freshman class to open Sept. 26 and to move up one class each year so that a four-year curriculum will be in operation by 1977. Modern buildings will incorporate many student carrels with the latest in audio-visual aids and language laboratories.

Tuition has been set at $270 a year for three terms, or $90 a quarter for a summer session of same length as other terms. This figure is slightly below Michigan State, University of Michigan or Wayne University and slightly above Western Michigan University, Dr. Zumberge said.

H. Weldon Frase, director of admissions, said 220 have applied for the first class and 180 have been accepted to date representing 51 different high schools. In general, students come from as far north as Manistee, south as Sturgis and east as Alma.

Frase said the new students are a good cross section ranging in academic achievement from straight A to C average, and the interests run from class officers, future teachers, dramatics, music, Scouts, sports. One applicant expressed interest in scuba diving and another in sky diving (parachuting to a target).

George T. Potter, assistant to the president for academic affairs, said plans call for a broad liberal arts program, the first year to cover a wide range of subjects and the succeeding three years geared to more specialized study such as teaching, science, social sciences, and the like. He said the work has been most interesting and challenging, particularly in filling some 20 instructors' positions the first year.

George K. Hundley, assistant to the president for student affairs, said affairs outside the classroom will largely be established by the students themselves, but he expected these extracurricular interests would cover journalism and school publications, fine arts, perhaps religious activities and other interests for well rounded development of the individual student. He said the collegiate center provided by Seidman Foundation would aid in counseling, health service, placement bureau, book store, transportation, food service and scholarships.

Sports certainly will not be neglected, although it is expected emphasis the first few years would be of the intramural variety with intercollegiate competition later. Interest already has been shown in a rowing team to work out on Grand River.

Dr. Zumberge said shaping a new college has been a challenging, revealing and most wonderful experience, but the audience was not to conclude everything was easy. He said the construction program was slightly behind at present and record snow deposits have given way to many varieties of mud. Yet, he was confident, facilities would be ready for the first class in September.

He said raising $1,000,000 locally plus some $300,000 for the site which runs 1½ miles along Grand River perhaps was the greatest unifying factor in developing the new college.

He was introduced by Dr. John Hollenbach, acting president of Hope College. Coffee was served by members of the Woman's Literary Club.

All records and equipment were moved from the old chapter house at 1 West 10th St. to the new quarters at 89 West 11th St., the former Don Winter home.

Transactions for the purchase have been cleared, but Red Cross officials ran into some delays in liquidating stock from the J. Edgar Lee estate which is financing the purchase. Feature Holland Girls on '63 Map

LANSING—A color photo of six Holland girls dressed in traditional Dutch costumes and standing in a bed of tulips is one of six pictures on the cover of the 1963 Official Michigan Highway Map, the State Highway Department reported today.

The 1963 map, which has back-to-back covers similar to last year's map, is expected to be off the press and available for distribution late next week.

People who have seen proofs of the new map say it has the most colorful cover of any map ever produced by the State Highway Department.

The picture of the six girls is at the bottom center of the horizontal cover along with four other photos.

The other photos include a picture of Michigan's Capitol Building, a scenic shoreline drive in the Upper Peninsula's Keweenaw peninsula, a red-cottoned sentry standing beside a cannon in front of historic Fort Michilimackinac at Mackinaw City and Presque Isle Falls near Ironwood.

The picture of the Capitol Building was also used on the 1962 map cover. All of the other photos were taken by Morris Strahl of the Michigan Tourist Council.

More Car Tabs Stolen in March

A license plate and tab on a car owned by John Diekema, of 410 East Eighth St., was reported stolen to Holland police, Friday. This is about the fourth or fifth taken from cars in this area this month.

Police said the number of plates and, this year, tabs, stolen off cars normally increase at this time of the year when license plates must be replaced.

There is almost no way to prevent license plates and tabs from being stolen, police said, except by welding the plates to the car. Plates may be found again, but it is almost impossible to re-locate license tabs because of the "micro-sized" serial numbers.

Plates and tabs may be replaced for a fee of $2.25 if the car owner takes his car title, registration and any plates or tabs which weren't taken to the license

A woman reported to Holland police Friday that her clothes were taken from a laundromat at 17th St. and Cleveland Ave., while she had them in a dryer. Sena Looman, of 487 West 20th St., said the clothing was mostly white clothes, towels and a few colored things.

Dave Risselada ... most valuable

Junior Ruiz ... co-captain

Don Heeringa ... co-captain

College senior, made the announcements and presented letter awards at the event attended by more than 75 persons. Blevins purchased a permanent trophy and the most valuable senior will have his name engraved on the trophy each year.

Risselada and Ruiz were co-captains of this year's team. Wrestling team members voted on the most valuable and co-captains.

Dr. Lawrence Green, head of the Hope College physical education department, spoke to the group. He said wrestling had more values in the development of physical fitness than any other sport because it builds up strength, endurance and flexibility.

He noted that a survey showed that wrestlers had more strength 20 years later than other athletes and challenged the wrestlers to "keep the strength once you have developed it."

He hoped the boys had learned from wrestling "how to have fun, a love for exercise and how to lose graciously and to accept victory." Dr. Green illustrated winning and losing with stories about Ray Ritsema, one of Hope's all-time basketball players.

We have noted of late that there is an unusually large number of bad checks that are being presented for cashing at various retail establishments. We wonder if the people who are issuing these bad checks really are aware of the serious offense this is.

More and more people in business are finding that it is necessary to refuse to cash checks unless the people have the proper identification as well as papers that identify their signature.

Recently a kick-off dinner was held in Detroit to launch a campaign under the direction of the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Detroit, of which 1,130 firms are now members. The campaign hoped to increase the membership to 2,500. This would bring to the treasury the necessary money to help with the work of protecting the business man against unethical competition and the customer against fraud.

We quote some of the budgets listed in the story for other cities. Detroit $125,000 a year. By way of comparison, Cleveland Bureau 1,400 members, $165,000. St. Louis, 2,000 members, $180,000. Both cities are smaller than Detroit.

"Time," says the Bureau, "is of the essence. There are signs now that advertising and selling standards in the Detroit area are starting to slip."

The Bureau thinks that it is important to the customer, but it is not a whit less important to the ethical business man. Not only does he find himself bucking unprincipled competitors; as abuses grow, the pressure for further governmental regulations of business rises, and you'll find few business men who don't prefer voluntarily policing to government intervention.

We think that we the people must more and more check every transaction to see that we are giving the best value we can. This can apply to all walks of life. "Honesty is the best policy." This is and can be the same today as it was many years ago. The people who are issuing bad checks and checks with insufficient funds should think it over carefully. Sooner or later they will be caught. Credit is a fine thing but honesty in business, we think, pays off big. Recently we listened to a man who, while he did not say the customer was always right, believed in giving everyone a fair deal. It has paid off for him and millions of other people.

If it was good for him he thought it was good for others.

Preparation for Christ's Coming
Mark 13:24-37
By C. P. Dame

All evangelical Christians believe in the Second Coming of Jesus. There are differences of opinion regarding this coming and unfortunately some believers have caused divisions in the church on this account. It is too bad that some Christians do not have the power to discern between the cardinal and marginal doctrines of Christianity.

This lesson tells us to make preparation for the second coming of the Lord. We will have our hands full if we do that properly.

I. The Lord Jesus will come again.

While Jesus and the disciples were leaving the temple, the disciples talked about the splendor and beauty of the buildings. To these country-bred disciples Jesus said, "There shall not be left here one stone upon another, which shall not be thrown down."

These words caused four of the disciples to ask Jesus, "Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign when these things are all about to be accomplished?" The Lord's memorable discourse followed in which two events are interwoven - the destruction of Jerusalem and the return.

The Lord spoke of the violent commotion that would take place in nature.

The Old Testament prophet gave similar descriptions in reference to the day of the Lord. Jesus came to this earth in a humble manner but His return will be different - He will return "coming in the clouds with great power and glory."

At His birth angels sang but when He returns He will send "His angels and shall gather together His elect from the four winds, from the uttermost part of heaven."

People will see Him coming and the words of Zech. 12:10, "they shall look on Him whom they pierced" will be fulfilled. The Lord knows His own and He will see to it that they are gathered together.

II. The Lord's return is unknown.

Jerusalem was destroyed by the Roman army in the year 70 A. D. following the rebellion of the Jews. The city and the surrounding country was reduced to a hideous desert. This is a matter of history. The words of Jesus regarding Jerusalem were fulfilled.

What about the Lord's return? In spite of the words of Jesus, "But of that day and that hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels, which are in heaven, neither the Son, but the Father," some people persist in setting dates.

William Miller, an Adventist, said the world would end between March 31, 1843 and Oct. 22, 1844 but it did not happen.

Recall the words, "After a long time the Lord of that servant cometh." Jesus gave us no date.

III. Christians are called upon to be watchful.

Speculation is out of order but expectation is in place. We are to watch and pray.

Jesus compared Himself to a man who planned a trip who before leaving gave responsibilities to his servants and ordered the porter, to watch.

What does it mean to watch?

It involves doing our daily work whatever that may be to the best of our ability all the time. The Lord may come any time - let us be busy and ready when He comes.

Holland High Assured Of Spring Sports Teams

A spring sports program was assured at Holland High School today with the announcement that $1,972.71 was made on the district basketball tournament staged in the Holland fieldhouse, March 5-9.

Athletic director Joe Moran reported this money will cover the salaries of the coaches for the baseball, tennis, track and golf teams plus paying for the supplies and traveling involved by the four spring sports teams.

Simultaneous to the announcement, that Holland would have spring sports, came the joint announcement from the Big Dutch Boosters Club that a check for $500 was turned over Friday to the treasurer of the Holland public schools for the athletic fund to be used for the purchase of athletic equipment.

Dick De Witt, president of the Big Dutch Boosters Club, Moran and Harvey Buter, athletic representative on the board of education, made the announcement.

Since the Big Dutch Boosters will not have to use money to run the spring sports program, they can now concentrate efforts on football equipment, Buter said. Part of the $500 came from the sale of IPTAY (1 Pay $12 a Year) tickets and the rest from donations and money-raising projects.

The Boosters also announced they will assist in the selling of tickets for the football and basketball games next season but the money will go directly into the athletic department. A definite individual reserve seat program will be established and football and basketball tickets will be sold separately. Last season, through IPTAY, tickets for the two sports were purchased together.

Funds from the Big Dutch Booster Club projects will go into a fund and this will be used for fireworks, assisting the high school publicity club in decorations, meals for athletes, extra equipment and boosters for the football team. The Boosters are planning a meeting this spring of parents of athletes and other interested persons.

Buter reported the Holland athletic program was self-supporting this year and operated through receipts.

A total of 7,874 persons paid to watch four Class B district basketball games with the paid attendance listed at 701 (Tuesday), 2,435 (Wednesday), 2,281 (Thursday) and 2,457 (Saturday).

The gross was $6,039.25, Moran said and the state received $3,097.01. Expenses totaled $799.53 and the five competing schools got a total of $200.

MIAA Observes 75th Birthday

MARSHALL - William Reed, Big Ten commissioner, spoke to more than 200 persons Monday at a luncheon in Schuler's Restaurant commemorating the 75th anniversary of the MIAA.

The dinner was hosted by Win Schuler, MIAA commissioner, and included in the group were college presidents, faculty representatives, athletic directors and coaches of the MIAA schools along with members of the press, special guests and members of the Marshall service clubs.

Similar introductions were made by Bob Gillis of Adrian; Elkin Isaac of Albion; Charles Skinner of Alma; Barney Steen of Calvin, Sherrill Cleland of Kalamazoo and Gene Anderson of Olivet.

He felt sports were the showcase for the reflection of educational assistance in the Big Ten. Reed noted the problem of the commercial and education values of sports in the Big Ten.

Reed said sports was the point of contact of the public and the school. He felt others could learn from an athletic program and that a well-conducted athletic program will have acceptance.

Congratulating the MIAA on its diamond jubilee, Reed noted the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association was older than the Big Ten. He said the Western Conference was 68 years old.

Isaac, Albion athletic director, summed up the MIAA's position on sports and said the MIAA athletes "play for the competitive love of the game and for a competitive experience." His feelings were echoed by the others of the MIAA group.

Hudsonville Unity Stopped in Finals

River Rouge Wins, 59-49 For B Crown

LANSING — Hudsonville Unity Christian's basketball team made a determined try here Saturday to win the Class B state championship but fell before strong River Rouge, 59-49 before 12,313 persons in the Jensen fieldhouse.

Unity surprised most of the crowd as they stayed with the powerful Panthers throughout the game. Coach Lofton Greene of River Rouge summed up Unity's effort after the game when he said "we weren't able to run them like we expected."

River Rouge, in winning 25 straight games this season after losing the season's opener to Class A Highland Park, has succeeded in running over all of its opponents late in the game.

The Panthers, with a glue-like press, did manage to pull in front by 12 points twice in the game, one time early in the third quarter and the second time in the closing seconds, 59-47.

But after River Rouge held the 12-point lead in the third period, the Crusaders, led by six straight points by guard Jerry Terpstra, pulled within six, 38-32 at the end of three periods.

The Crusaders came within two, 38-36 as the fourth quarter opened on baskets by Lee Dykema and Bill Peuler. But River Rouge countered on a layup by Larry Brazon and the Panthers led by four.

Brazon was the key player in the game. With four minutes left, Brazon hit a layup and a free throw. This three-point play opened River Rouge's margin from a shaky four points to 48-41.

The winners scored 21 points in the fourth quarter as 6'5" Willie Betts, 6'4" Brazon and Boice Bowman combined to keep the Panthers in front. Unity trailed 17 in the last period.

The score was tied 10-10 at the quarter as Fred Hudson of River Rouge tied the score on a free throw. River Rouge grabbed control of the boards in the second half and pushed to the six-point, 25-19 halftime lead.

River Rouge then opened up in the third period and pushed to its first 12-point spread, 38-26 before Unity began its comeback.

Both teams had trouble hitting from the floor and Unity sank only 28 per cent on 18 baskets in 54 attempts. The Panthers were also off their usual pace and made 23 baskets in 69 tries for 53 per cent.

At the free throw line, the winners made 13 of 22 and Unity hit 13 of 17 including four straight by 6'3" center Doug Oostendorp, four of five by Dykema and five of seven by Terpstra.

Terpstra led the losers with 15 points while Dykema and Oostendorp each had 12 and Peuler had 10. Dunson did a strong defensive job on Peuler, who scored 29 in the semis against Flushing.

Dunson led the winners with 16 points while Brazon had 15 and Betts contributed 13. It was River Rouge's third straight state title and the Panthers ended with a 25-1 record while Unity was 24-2.

Oostendorp and Dunson each had 14 rebounds while Betts picked 12 and 5'11" Terpstra grabbed 10. Betts, a junior, became the third player in prep history to start on three state title teams.

The Unity team was met in Grandville on its return Saturday afternoon and a motorcade escorted the team to the Unity gym where a reception was held.

Coach Andy Ten Harmse said commenting on the game, "I knew we wouldn't fold, we have been in tight games before, and it might have been different if we had been hitting." "We hope to be back in the finals again next year," Ten Harmse added.

The teams might well be since both clubs have four junior starters. They were ranked No. 1 and 2 in the state this season.

It was the fourth championship in five years for River Rouge and the sixth in 10 years for Greene. Only Grand Haven and St. Joseph have won six titles. Greene used only five players in the game.

STARR MONUMENT—Leo Jungblut of 353 College Ave., finishes the first stage of a monument of Floyd Starr, the founder and president of the Starr Commonwealth for Boys in Adrian. This

★★★ Sculptor Makes Statue Of Boys' School Founder

Come to America, Theodore urged his brother, Leo Jungblut, who lived in Utrecht, the Netherlands, nine years ago. Come to America where there are good business opportunities.

Today, Leo Jungblut is busy at 353 College Ave., Holland, Mich., applying a plaster cast to a clay monument, which eventually will be cast in bronze. The monument, which will have cost over $10,000 when completed, is a seven-foot high statue of Floyd Starr, the founder and president of the Starr Commonwealth for Boys in Adrian, where the monument will be placed when completed.

Of course, success in America did not come that easily to Jungblut, who was a sculptor, mostly of religious themes, as was his father and grandfather, when he came to America with his wife, Francina. They settled in Holland, where Leo's brother, Theodore, was working as a carver for Baker Furniture.

Jungblut had made the decision to leave the Netherlands, he said, because the requests for religious statues and reliefs there were not as numerous as before the war. Many of the churches and cathedrals in Europe had been destroyed.

As a result, there was no great demand anymore for wooden reliefs of the Last Supper, for Christ on the cross, or marble or stone statues of the Virgin Mary and the Christ child.

And Jungblut found no improvement in America, at first, in the number of requests for religious sculptures, he said. Cheap plaster statues made in mass production were widely used in churches.

He was slightly appalled, Jungblut said, that people would accept cheap imitations from an assembly line and not a real piece of art sculptured from marble or rare wood and of which there was only one of its kind.

It was because of this acceptance of a cheap quality of art that business did not at first prove to be better in America for Jungblut; there was no great demand for a sculptor's more expensive, single copy of a piece of art.

And he knew almost no one in this country except his brother's family. In the Netherlands, he was known by almost everyone, he said.

Then, with despair, he was almost ready to return to the Netherlands, four or five years ago. He was unable to stimulate interest in original sculpture here, he said. And then he became acquainted with Ray W. Herrick, and Jungblut's brother, Theodore's belief that America was a land of opportunity, became true.

Herrick, a multi-millionaire philanthropist from Tecumseh, who had donated a new public library to Holland and the Hazel Forney Herrick art center at the new Holland high school, began keeping Jungblut busy with requests for sculptures he donated to churches.

Herrick made requests for gigantic 13-foot wide three-dimensional wall reliefs of the Last Supper, and Jungblut complied, making each an original and different from previous ones he had made and different than other artists' conceptions.

Herrick made requests for reliefs of the Christ on the cross, and for seals of the Reformed Church of America, all of which he also donated to various churches.

And then Herrick made the last request for the seven-foot high statue of Floyd Starr, which will eventually be located at the Starr Commonwealth for Boys in Adrian. Herrick thought a monument should be erected to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the founding of the school, Jungblut said.

Starr, who once said, "There is no such thing as a bad boy," is considered a pioneer in social service work. He established the Starr Commonwealth for Boys in 1913 to provide a home, education and guidance for underprivileged and delinquent boys.

Over 10,000 boys have stayed at the school, 90 per cent of whom have left as good citizens, according to Jungblut.

Jungblut says he hopes to have the monument completed by Oct. 6, the celebration of the 50th anniversary.

He created most of the facial features on the Starr monument from photographs. Starr did, however, make a couple of sittings for the finishing touches, Jungblut said. When completed, the statue will be cast in bronze either here in the United States or in Europe.

Jungblut is presently applying a plaster cast, which he calls the "negative" statue, over the model made of clay. The clay, which is internally supported by wood and burlap, will be removed from the "negative," and replaced by plaster. The bronze will be cast from the plaster monument.

Jungblut says he applies a thin coating of pink plaster to the inside of the plaster "negative" cast, which acts as a divider between the plaster statue and its plaster cast. He then has only to chip away on the "negative" cast down to the pink.

Jungblut has also made a bust of Herrick, which is on display at the Herrick Public Library. A monument of Herrick is also located in Tecumseh, by Jungblut. Both these and a marble bust of Thomas Jefferson located in the Jefferson school, were made without Herrick's support.

Grand Haven Board Lists Tax Formula

GRAND HAVEN—A formula to compute the amount of additional taxes home owners would pay, should the $3,400,000 school building bond issue pass in the enlarged Grand Haven district election May 7, was furnished Friday by a Citizens Committee appointed by the Board of Education.

A dynamic growth in the number of school children in the district, which extends along the east shore of Lake Michigan in North Ottawa, from Ferrysburg on the north to Port Sheldon on the south, has caused a shortage of classrooms. In the past 12 years the enrollment has increased 90.7 per cent, according to figures released by the Board of Education.

A $3,400,000 building program is proposed, with about $300,000 coming from insurance money received soon after the Jan. 28 fire that destroyed Central school.

The Board is asking the taxpayers (property owners only) to authorize the district to issue up to $3,400,000 worth of bonds to pay for a new Junior High School, two new grade schools and additions to several other buildings.

The average priced home is assessed at $4,800 and the owner of the home would find less than $20 added to his annual tax bill. A formula has been prepared, which each home owner can use to compute his own tax.

The taxpayers are asked to look on their last tax statements for the valuation and multiply it by the following figures: Grand Haven City .00495; Grand Haven Township .00544; Ferrysburg .00540; Connell district in Port Sheldon .00749; Robinson Township .00666.

As an example, if a voter owns a home in Robinson, and his valuation is set at $3,000, he would pay $3,000 x .00666, or $19.98, the additional tax for the building program.

Judge Coleman Speaks to Group On Delinquency

"The work in schools and homes of preventing juvenile delinquency is of vast importance," Judge Mary Coleman, probate and juvenile judge of Calhoun County told members of A.A.U.W. at their March meeting Thursday evening in the Juliana Room at Durfee Hall.

Emphasizing the importance of standards for children, Judge Coleman pointed out that too much freedom is as bad as too little. She also feels that more must be done to keep children in school.

"Four out of every ten children who start school do not finish high school, and the need for unskilled labor is decreasing yearly." She also stressed that more help is needed for emotionally disturbed and mentally ill children. Waiting lists for help of these types are long, she said. A brisk question and answer period followed her speech.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Edward Lindgren and her committee.

At the April meeting, Dr. Edward Savage of the Hope College faculty will tell the members about the dramatic movement called "The Theater of the Absurd." After his introduction members will be treated to a Hope College student production of a representative play entitled, "The Bald Soprano," by Ionesco.

Purpose of the session was to coordinate the national legislative effort for states and to call on individual representatives to present views on current legislation, particularly House Bill 12 which would provide grants to construction college schools of nursing. The association also is interested in promoting Medicare, MacKinnon said.

The local man also visited medical centers at Columbia University and Presbyterian Hospital in New York, Johns Hopkins in Baltimore and the new Holy Cross hospital in Silver Spring, Md.

Holland Enjoys Spring Weather

And suddenly, it was spring... A weekend of mild weather almost completely transformed Holland.

Bare ground was seen for the first time since Dec. 5. Crocuses burst into bloom only feet away from piles of snow. Robins and other birds rediscovered the joy of spring time and local residents sported shirt sleeves outdoors the first time in more than three months.

Convertibles with tops down were the order of the day Saturday and Sunday, and the motoring public moved into high gear. Streets and highways were crowded Sunday. Eighth St. at 11 p.m. Saturday was considerably busier than it had been at noon.

Golfing enthusiasts were seen at Legion Memorial Park Sunday but a good share of the golf course is under water ruling out any golf.

Tulip shoots were reported in several localities, and John Koopman reported a rosebud in his garden at 37 East 17th St. Thomas Nelson reported crocuses in bloom Saturday afternoon at his home at 856 South Shore Dr.

Spring hats and other spring finery made appearances Sunday

Large Crowd Cheers Hope's Unusual Play

A highlight of the Hope College Fine Arts Festival during the weekend was the Luigi Pirandello play, "Six Characters in Search of an Author," presented to an audience of over 500 in the auditorium of Holland High School.

A play for intellectuals, the 1921 drama was a sharp criticism of the theatre, the playwright contending that "real life" cannot be dramatized by mere actors or contained within the mechanics of staging.

The shift from Little Theatre on the fourth floor of the Science building on Hope campus to the spacious stage of the new high school auditorium provided a new dimension for Palette and Masque players. The broad stage, at least five times larger than the home stage, dispelled the intimate feeling usually experienced in the Little Theatre, and it seemed at first that some actors had trouble projecting to a large audience. But this was quickly corrected, and as the play unfolded most of the cast of 20 remained on stage.

In this treatise on Reality and Illusion, Nancy Rees stood out in her role as the unforgiving stepdaughter, with strong support from Virginia Mortensen as the mother, Paul Ransford as the father, Graham Lampert as the director of the company, and Charles Menning as the son, cast in the role of angry young man.

The play, grim in plot and dramatic in presentation, nevertheless contained many bits of humor to relieve the tension of an unhappy story. While a good share of the large audience professed not to understand it fully, the presentation received the rapt attention and loud applause, and Director Dave Karsten is once more to be commended for delving into a new phase of theatre, a challenge to cast and audience alike.
