NYLAND FAMILY SEPARATED IN FLOOD

Cornelius Nyland, formerly of this city, and Grand Haven, and once candidate for sheriff who is now located in Hamilton, Ohio, had a very narrow escape from the flood, according to letters received from the family in this city. Mr. Nyland is in charge of a large tannery at Hamilton and last Tuesday morning he went down to the plant as usual. The Miami river was high but did not look dangerous at the time. At shortly after ten o'clock in the forenoon the flood rushed in and the water began rising rapidly over the first floor of the tannery. Mr. Nyland and thirty men who were on the first floor at the time, were driven to the upper story where they were roomed until the next day.

Hardly had the men reached the floors above, when the terrific force of the water crashed in the lower story and the structure seemed about to fall into the wreckage. Mr. Nyland on the upper floor, and expecting the worst at any time, Mr. Nyland saw wreckage sweep past. Household furniture, horses and everything to be imagined went past in the flood.

As the water began to recede on the second day, Mr. Nyland and his men succeeded in making their escape from the tannery and reached high ground. Immediately Mr. Nyland started toward the school on the same side of the river, where his daughter, Miss Mayme Nyland, was teaching. He located her and found that she also had had an experience. Miss Nyland with the other teachers and pupils had been warned in time of the rush of water and all had left the school house and taken to the hills nearby in time to prevent any serious suffering. All were safely housed when Mr. Nyland found his daughter. Their home, however, is on the opposite side of the river from the tannery and the school and the father and daughter were unable to either reach home or get word of their safety to the anxious ones until the flood receded. The home stands on high ground, and little anxiety was felt for the safety of Mrs. Nyland and Dorothy who were home alone. The only worry they felt concerning them was the anxiety they must be suffering for the father and daughter.

The Nyland family moved into the house they are now occupying in Hamilton about a year ago. Formerly they occupied a residence near the tannery, and while he was roomed at this plant during the worst of the flood, Mr. Nyland saw his former home swept away and destroyed. About that time he felt pretty thankful that his family was safely housed away from the flood district.

Mrs. Nyland is a daughter of Holland's first banker, and is a sister to Mrs. C. Verschure, Jacob John, Lane and Marinus Van Putten of this city.

COUNCIL HAD A SMOKER LAST NIGHT

A smoker in the form of low stacks and soot was the main point under discussion in last night's Council meeting. It appears that the Donnelly Kelley Glass Factory stack is creating some trouble in the vicinity of the factory, making every Monday a black Monday as well as a blue wash day. Ald. King suggested that the company be compelled to raise its stack ten feet. Alderman Harrington asked them to rather appoint a committee to investigate first and then take action. He said that the stacks in our city meant the places where our labor was employed and the city be sure of its ground before compelling the owners to make expensive changes.

Business men ask that they be given a Board Room in the City Hall to be used once a month. Same was referred to the Building Committee. Alderman King asked that the labor unions also be granted a room in which to hold meetings. The Council turned down King's motion on the grounds that if the unions were granted the privilege, every lodge and organization in the city could ask for the same privilege.

Alderman Van Drezer was there with the goods on street signs. It requires 483 signs to "sign over" the city and they have been ordered at 22 cents per sign. The signs are lettered with three inch white letters and have a blue background. The signs will be placed in brackets on every street corner and placed on city poles. There are but few places where there are not city poles on the corners, but where there is no convenient place for the sign an iron pole will be installed.

Owing to the fact that there will be nine ballots to vote Monday, an extra inspector was added to act at each polling place. Alderman Dyke made this motion. The inspectors elected are as follows: First ward Frank Van Ry; Second Ward Frank Bieve; Third Ward Wm. Westveer; Fourth Ward Edward Vanden Berg; Fifth Ward

IMPORTANT

If you wish to vote next Monday and have moved from one ward to another, or have moved from out of town to this city, be sure and register this week Saturday. The place designated for registration can be found on Page 3 of this issue.

INSTRUCTION BALLOTS ON LAST PAGE

On the last page we print all the local ballots, in order that our voters may be able to familiarize themselves with them, owing to the fact that the party positions on the city ballots are changed and because there will be six other state ballots to be voted on. We do not give the instruction ballots on State and County issues but only those pertaining to our city in which our voters are more directly interested.

CLARE HOFFMAN OF GRAND JURY FAME

Fame Nearly Parishes on Hunting Trip

Allegan Gazette—Messrs. Osmun, Owen, Kelley, Montague Castell and Clara Hoffman passed the first of the week hunting ducks on the Daily bayou and the outing ended Wednesday when the latter two gentlemen had an experience that nearly cost them their lives. Messrs. Hoffman and Castell left the other members of the party Wednesday morning and went in a canoe up the bayou from the club house. Castell took a position in a tree surrounded by decoys and Hoffman paddled farther up the bayou. The weather was severe and the wind rain, and snow blew across the marsh with chilling strength. An hour or so after Castell left Hoffman he heard the later shout for help and went as fast as he could through the dense marsh in the direction of the call. It was a long, exhausting fight but he finally got to Hoffman. The latter's canoe had capsized and he had been struggling in the water a long time before he made Castell hear. He was just able to drag him self out of the bayou by means of a willow limb, and when the men met both were dazed from exhaustion and cold. Castell finally got himself and his companion across the bayou and into a log hut. There he rested a few moments and then started for help. He was barely able to reach the Bryant farm-house and tell them that Hoffman was in the shack, when he fell. One of the men went to the shack and got Hoffman while Mrs. Bryant poured hot ginger down Castell's throat. Both were revived sufficiently after a few hours and were able to be brought to their homes that night. Fortunately Dr. Osmun was in the party and saved them the attention their condition needed. He was called to the Bryant house soon after the exhausted men reached there. Both Dr. Castell and Mr. Hoffman were able to be in their office the following day but both plainly showed the effects of the experience. The description of Dr. Castell's trip across the bayou on his hands and knees on a slippery, submerged log, as cold and chilled as he was, and of his work to get himself and Hoffman who was dazed, back across, furnishes intensely, sufficient for anyone.

HUMMER SUES INSURANCE COM- PANY FOR $10,000 FOR LOSS OF EYE.

George P. Hummer of Holland, prominent western Michigan Democrat and furniture manufacturer, has started suit in circuit court against the Midland Casualty company for $10,000 damages. Hummer alleges he lost an eye by accident while insured in the company and was never remunerated for his policy.

Mr. Hummer's eye was lost owing to the fact that a cork from an acid bottle was accidentally placed in the bottle containing eye lotion.

JUSTICES ORGANIZE

The justices of the peace of Ottawa county met Thursday in Justice Dickinson's office at the court house at Grand Haven. Because of the fact that many of the rural districts were engaged in other work, the attendance was not as large as it had been hoped. A temporary organization was affected with Charles N. Dickinson as temporary chairman and secretary. Addresses were made by Daniel S. Wachs of this city and Fred T. Miles of Holland. The following were present: Fred T. Miles of Holland, Fred G. Bethke, Grand Haven, R. F. D. 3; George Maierhauser, Grand Haven, R. F. D. 4; D. J. TeRoller, Holland; David S. Way, Allendale; Earl C. Smith, Nunica; William A. Brown,

DIVISION OF WARD IN TWO PRE- CINCTS MAKES THIS NECESSARY.

Each Voter Must Be Registered In His Own Precinct; Registration Day Saturday.

Unless the people who live in the 5th ward pay some special attention this spring there will doubtless be a number who will find themselves disfranchised next Monday. The council since the last regular registration and election has divided the ward into two precincts, and this means that every man in that ward has to be re-registered before he can vote. Some re-registered before the primary election for road commissioners in March, but the number who voted then was very small. All who were not registered then will have to do so next Saturday, if they wish to vote next Monday.

The dividing line between the two precincts in the ward is River street extended. The first district includes all houses east of numbers 35 and 36 west inclusive on any east and west street. The second district begins with numbers 37 and 38 west on the east and west streets, and include these numbers.

The thing for every voter in the 5th ward to do is to take a careful look at the polling lists that have been posted throughout the city. If his name appears on the list of voters who are registered in the precinct in which he lives, he need not worry. But if not he will have to be registered Saturday in order to be able to vote.

It is always the safe thing to do for every voter to take a look at the registration lists, but this is especially necessary this year for the 5th warders.

The polling place for the first precinct will be the regular polling place of the ward and the voters of the second precinct will vote in the Van Raalte avenue school house.

Prof. and Mrs. J. E. Kuizenga and daughter spent yesterday in Grand Rapids.

ZEELAND

Plans for the new residence, drawn by Thomas Benjamin & Son, architects for Dr. George Baert formerly of Zeeland to be built on Madison avenue between Pleasant and Logan, in Grand Rapids are now completed and in the hands of contractors for bids. The house is brick veneered, both stories, with the rough face brown-Turkestan brick laid in raked joints, and the roof will have green stained shingles, all wood frames and trimmings being in cream color. The interior is on the center hall type, with living room and solarium on one side and library and dining room on the other, with kitchen to the rear.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Smith, residing near Zeeland, celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage. There were many relatives and friends present. On the 28th day of March, 1888, Mr. and Mrs. Smith were united in marriage. The first few years of their married life were spent in the eastern part of Allendale township. Later they moved to Bass River where they resided about 15 years. Some eight years ago they moved to their present home.

The groom to be has been a resident of Zeeland for several months while the bride to be is from Litchville, N. D.

Because of the unfavorable weather conditions last Sunday evening a great many people were unable to attend the Easter services at the 2nd New Reformed church at Zeeland and numerous requests have come to have the choir repeat the cantata rendered at that time. In view of the great calamity that has befallen Dayton and other cities in Ohio and Indiana by flood and fire the choir will repeat this cantata "The Resurrection Hope" with few changes on next Monday evening, March 31, at the church. A special offering will be taken for the benefit of the flood sufferers.

They expect to raise about a thousand dollars in that city.

SEVERAL HOLLAND MEN SENT TO PRISON BY JUDGE JUDGE CROSS

Sentence is Pronounced Soon After Conviction by the Jury; Mandamus Case Also Heard

Saturday Judge Cross took the time to sentence six prisoners who were awaiting disposal. Fred Richmond who was convicted of the charge of indecent exposure was sentenced to Ionia reformatory for a term of not less than six months nor more than one year. Charles Deul and Leonard Cramer charged with breaking and entering a barn were also sent to Ionia, Deul for from one year to five and Cramer for from one year eight months to five years. Albert Schakelaar and Jacob Been convicted of breaking an entering a boathouse in this city were sent to Ionia for from one to five years each. John Vander Sloot who pleaded guilty to burglarizing houses in Grand Haven and Robinson township goes to Ionia for from one to ten years. Vander Sloot, it will be remembered was captured because R. A. Knox, the interurban conductor, had a good memory and remembered that Vander Sloot had ridden to Muskegon Heights on his car last fall. In all cases Judge Cross recommended the minimum term.

Another important feature at Saturday's session of the circuit court was the presentation of the argument in the mandamus case of Willis F. Buck against the Ottawa County board of canvassers. The board was present and Walter I. Little presented the arguments in favor of setting aside the fifteen per cent clause in the primary election law and the certification of Mr. Buck's name to the election commissioners. Mr. Little in his argument read Judge McDonald's decision declaring that the law was unconstitutional. Louis H. Osterhaus appeared for the board of canvassers.

The case was submitted to Judge Cross who will give his decision later as to whether a mandamus shall issue requiring the board of county canvassers to certify Mr. Buck's name to a place on the ticket.

HIS BILL OF COMPLAINT IS DISMISSED AND HE IS ASSESSED THE COSTS

Judge Cross Monday rendered a decision in the case of William Last as administrator for Nellie Last vs. C. F. Hubbard. Some time ago Mr. Last filed a bill asking for an accounting of the Hubbard concern, claiming that Nellie Last, deceased, had been a co-partner with Hubbard. The firm of Diekema, Kollen & Ten Cate defended Hubbard and the case was argued in the January term of court.

In his decision Judge Cross denies the bill for an accounting and declared that Wm. Last was the real partner in the co-partnership. The decision says that there was no evidence that Nellie Last was a partner. The decision further goes on to say that "her name appears in the articles of association as a mere subterfuge and for a fraudulent purpose. Equity will not recognize such a contract and will not enforce its terms. A decree may be prepared dismissing the bill of complaint of Wm. Last with costs against Last."

Placed on Republican Ticket for Constable in Place of K. Burma.

Klaas Burma who was nominated as candidate for constable in the 5th ward on the Republican ticket at the caucus Friday night has withdrawn from the race, saying he did not have time to fulfill the duties of a constable. Herman Beekman has been nominated by the city ticket to take his place. Mr. Beekman is at present deputy Sheriff of Ottawa county and claims that he can easily take I believe was not so great as the water spreading in a broader valley was not so violent. Here the valley care of the constable job in connection with his other duties. He has had much experience in this line of work and is being boomed by his friends as a sure winner.

MRS. F. O. GRANNISS RECEIVES LETTER FROM MRS. C. C. COMER IN COLUMBUS

Tells of the Terrible Experiences of the People in Stricken Cities.

The following letter is from Mrs. C. C. Comer of Columbus, O., to her sister, Mrs. F. O. Grannis. As Mrs. Comer has visited in Holland and has a number of friends here these may be interested in reading her graphic account of the flood:

Sunday March 30, '13

My dear Sister:—

Although you have doubtless been reading even exaggerated accounts of the terrible calamity which has visited our city and state, I feel sure you have not worried directly about any of us, knowing that we are all out of any possible region of high water.

The conditions are something horrible and even then, we who are out of it and even the worry of it, have no conception of it.

On Tuesday morning Grace and I went to the consecration of the new bishop of Southern Ohio, the Rev. T. I. Reese and altho we knew the rain was excessive we did not realize its full extent. Six and a half inches of rain fell in 48 hours and 5.51 inches of this fell in 36 hours. This is a veritable cloud burst. Many could not get into the city for the service as the cars stopped running at 9 a. m. Many who reached the city for that purpose could not get to the church—so there were many empty seats. During the services the rain dashed loudly against window panes and bright flashes of lightning were followed by tremendous reports of thunder, but all this served to make the beautiful service more impressive. After the service we went to lunch with Nan and then down to see the high water. The Board, State, Town and Wound Street Bridges were all washed away and the streets looked like so many canals. Just west of the river on State street we watched a factory and house burn. With no water thrown on them the burned like so much tinder and made a very spectacular fire. Later I had to walk home as no cars could run, the power house being under water. This also cut off city lights—the streets are still dark—and as the water works were inundated there was no water for two days except what we had in our tanks. All of this was exciting, but the real horror came when we commenced to hear of those directly effected. The spilling of water over the river banks would not have been so terrible but the river levee broke letting a wall of water 10 or 12 feet high rush through the west side completely demolishing everything in its path. Houses were picked up and carried off like so many cigar boxes and on some of those streets not one house remains. The people had no time to get away, but ran in many cases to the roofs where some were rescued after long exposure and some were tilted off into the water. One family of mother, father and six children were washed to a big tree where they clung for 24 hours. The baby was washed out of the mother's arms—the mother finally fell from cold and exposure and a boy died from exposure after being rescued. Mr. Burlington our neighbor, had a son living over there. He with his wife and four children were marooned in their home, on the second floor for two days and a half without food, water, light or heat. Fortunately their house was strong enough to resist the current and bumps of floating houses and debris. Their experience is that of many. All the bridges were washed out except Rich street and Fifth avenue. Then to cap the climax on Thursday afternoon some fool person created a panic by racing down High street yelling that the dam had broken. A patrol wagon with police men yelling this in megaphone went down High street. General pandemonium ensued. Clerks left the stores without hats or wraps and crowded to the state house dome and tall buildings. Altho the water even if the dam would break, would not reach to High street they did not stop to realize this. Nan and Mrs. Game were coming out here for the night as the cars were not running and this was in walking distance. When they arrived—having walked from 3rd and State, they exclaimed "Oh the dam has broken, telephone quick to Clara and Lowell to come here." I said "What damage did it do?" "Oh, it will flood everything—

telephone quick to Clara." "Why,

Goodness, Nan," I said "the water would be down to Circleville by this time."

I think the only reason the flood seemed worse in Dayton than here was that it was the best residence and business section that was effected. The real demolishing of homes effected by the break in the levee was comparatively narrow and that made destruction worse. More horrors are yet to come as the lowland around the cemetery where most of the debris is lodged is still too wet to hunt for bodies of missing. Sixty-two bodies have been identified so far.

All business and social life here is at a standstill—everybody is devoting time and money to the sufferers. I gave my name as willing to shelter a family with children but they have not sent anyone. We heard from Aunt Etta as doubtless you did. I had not been worried about them in Dayton knowing that they were on high ground and as the first alarming conditions developed at night I felt sure Sherman would not go to the office Tuesday a. m. and thus be cut off from his family.

DEMOCRATS NOMINATE FORMER CHIEF OF POLICE AS THEIR STANDARD BEARER.

Wm. O. Van Eyck in Speech Praises Mayor Bosch in His Stand On the Gas Question.

By a unanimous vote of the convention and by acclamation, Fred Kamferbeek was Tuesday chosen as the democratic nominee for mayor. The nominating speech was made by former Mayor Henry Brusse. "I wish to nominate a man," said Mr. Brusse, "who is mighty with the pen. He is a printer by trade and he is therefore a good composer." Mr. Brusse went on to tell of the official career of Mr. Kamferbeek, how he had held office in Holland since 1900, first as city marshal and later as chief of police. Mr. Brusse said Mr. Kamferbeek had served the city well and was well qualified for the office of mayor. "He has ability," continued the speaker, "intelligence and faithfulness. He is one of the biggest men in town—weighs 280 pounds, and if nominated I feel sure he will carry the city."

In accepting the nomination Mr. Kamferbeek said he wished to do three things if elected,—give all a square deal, with equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

Wm. O. Van Eyck was chairman of the convention and in opening the meeting he made a little speech "Two years ago," he said "the democrats did certain things that were wrong. I freely admit it, and we got it in the neck. One of the most important features of any administration is economy, but it takes time for a city official to get on to the ropes so that he can give his best services in this line. But economy is the issue that is at stake in this campaign. I have no fault to find with the handling of the gas question by the present administration. Mayor Bosch has handled this question as well as I or anyone could have done it and he deserves commendation, for this. That is not where we democrats must make our fight. We must stand for a campaign of public economy; that is the big question."

The office of city clerk was left blank as a tribute to the work of Richard Overweg, the republican nominee. The office of Justice of the place was also left blank. The total vote of the caucus was 136.

Following is the democratic ticket: Mayor—Fred Kamferbeek

Clerk—Blank;
City Treasurer—H. H. Habermann;
Supervisor (1st Dist.)—H. Van Tongeren;

Supervisor (2nd dist.)—H. Van Ry.

Aldermen
First Ward—John Dykema;
Second Ward—L. Vanden Berg;
Third Ward—M. Van Putten;
Fourth Ward—John C. Fisher;
Fifth Ward—Peter Damstra.

Constables
First Ward—Peter Smith;
Second Ward—Simon De Groot;
Third Ward—Peter Staketee;
Fourth Ward—Oliver Deto;
Fifth Ward—Wm. Dalman.

Louis Vanden Berg, who was nominated by the democrats as a candidate for alderman from the second ward, has refused to accept the nomination, and consequently the ticket will be blank in that ward. The Republicans also left the ticket blank, so that it will be a fight between the Socialist candidate, Alderman Vernon F. King and the Progressive candidate, John Vanden Berg.

MEMBER OF FAIR DIRECTORS ROYAL THEATER TO HELP TO GIVES PLANS AND AIMS OF ASSOCIATION

Big Chance of Losing Fair Altogether If the Present Plan Fails to Carry.

One of the directors of the South Ottawa and West Allegan Fair association gave the following interview in regard to the proposed purchase by the city of the old fair grounds for the sum of $10,000.

"There seems to be some misunderstanding among some as to what the fair association proposes to do. There seems to be an idea that the association is trying to unload the old property at an exorbitant price. We don't claim that the old fair grounds is worth $10,000 and we never made that claim. But as stated at the time, the fair association is up against a problem that must be solved. The buildings on the present site are in a decayed condition and must be rebuilt and enlarged. The present directors, realizing that there is a strong sentiment against the present location, hesitate to put large expense upon the present site and whereas another much more desirable location was offered them, the directors thought that was an opportunity to make a change.

"The association cannot, however, make the desired change without outside help. Believing that the city of Holland is vitally interested in maintaining the present fair, the directors decided to ask them to give this amount for the site, which can be used for cemetery purposes later on. Thus it will be possible to get the new grounds and have something left over for buildings, etc.

"The site which has been looked at with greatest favor is what is called the Berghuis farm, directly opposite the town hall—about 30 acres of nice high ground, very level. The interurban line runs along the north of it and Eighth street along the south. The people from the extreme western part of the city can thus reach it by paying a five cent fare and the citizens from the central and eastern part of the city can reach it in an easy five minute walk.

"These grounds will cost between $6,000 and $7,000. To build a new track will cost between $1000 and $1500. The association has an indebtedness of about $2200 so that the $10,000 which the city is asked to pay for the present location will just about give the new site clear without buildings. The association will have to raise money by other means to put up the buildings, the fence, etc.

"It is on these new grounds that the association proposes to build the new base ball diamond and municipal athletic park.

"I also desire very much to impress the public with this fact, namely that the fair association is not an incorporated organization, and that not any man or set of men is in the least benefitted by the sale of the grounds. Anybody can join the association and become an active member by paying one dollar for a year's membership and can have full vote and voice in all matters pertaining to the association, which is wholly a people's organization.

"If this proposition is voted down it will be up to the association to decide whether they wish to try to raise the money to rebuild on the present site or to decide not to hold any more fairs in this city. Either decision, in my estimation, would be very unfortunate as it would be a good many years before there would be another opportunity to get the fair away from the present location. On the other hand, if no fair is held this year and we decide to discontinue, some other part of the county will undoubtedly take up the proposition at once and the chance to hold a fair in Holland will be gone for good."

DAY; P. M. TO TRANS-PORT SUPPLIES FREE

Manager Himebaug of the Royal theater has decided to put on a benefit performance for the flood sufferers in Ohio and Indiana. The performance will be given today from two to five o'clock in the afternoon and from seven to ten in the evening. There will be an exceptionally good bill of moving pictures and the patrons can see the show and at the same time contribute to the relief fund.

The admission to this benefit performance will be 25 cents. Special tickets for the occasion have been printed and these will be on sale at all the drug stores in the city as well as at the box office.

Mayor Bosch, chairman of the committee that is collecting funds, will co-operate with the theater management in this work. He will have a representative of the city at the box office to receive all money collected in this way. Every cent secured will be turned over to the proper authorities, the theater management to do all the work, put on the show, etc., entirely free of charge. Those who do not care to attend the performance can still donate by buying a ticket, and he can be sure that every penny of his 25 cents will be devoted to relief work.

The Pere Marquette railroad has assured the Relief Committee that the company will transport to the scene of the flood any provisions that may be collected. This transportation will be free of charge.

HENRY BILKERT AND NICK SICHTERMAN WALK TO KALAMAZOO

Henry Bilkert and Nick Sichterman, two Hope College students, set out Friday morning on a walking tour from Holland to Kalamazoo. Mr. Bilkert's home is in Kalamazoo and the two boys, who room together, decided they would hike home instead of taking the train in the conventional way. They expected to make the trip in two stages. Friday's schedule included the trip from Holland to Allegan. There they spent the night, and then bright and early Saturday morning they left Allegan for Kalamazoo, the second day's trip. The journey is about 50 miles. They followed the Pere Marquette track to Allegan and the Lake Shore line from Allegan to Kalamazoo.

MEN WHO ROBBED BOAT HOUSE MAY BE SENT BACK TO THE NETHERLANDS

Jacob Been, charged with burglary of a boat house in Holland, was convicted by the jury in circuit court. The jurors took an hour to deliberate over the evidence in the case and brought in a verdict of conviction. Dan F. Pagelsen was appointed by the court to defend the prisoner and he made a hard fight for his client. Immediately after the Been case was concluded the case against Albert Shakelaar, alleged to be an accomplice, of Been, was begun and a special venire was summoned from the city to hear the evidence. D. F. Pagelsen was also appointed to defend Shakelaar. Both defendants were unable to speak English and County Clerk Glerum acted as the interpreter when the defendants took the stand in their own behalf.

Mr. Shakelaar was also speedily found guilty by the jury. There were many witnesses from Holland and the cases of the two men consumed considerable time.

Judge Cross has not yet pronounced sentence. There was some talk at the court house Friday that steps might be taken for the deportation of Been and Shakelaar. Both are Hollanders who have not yet become citizens and they may be sent back to the Netherlands.

KNICKERBOCKER MANAGER HOPES TO TURN OVER LARGE SUM TO RELIEF COMMITTEE

Manager Simon has fixed upon Friday evening as the benefit night for the flood sufferers in Ohio and Indiana. Holland's two theaters intend to collect a big sum for the victims. On Thursday evening the Royal will give a benefit performance and on the next evening the Knickerbocker will do the same thing. Mr. Simon will turn over all the money collected, with the exception of the bare amount needed to pay the players, to the relief committee of Holland. The price of the seats will be 25, 35 and 50c.

If the Knickerbocker should be filled Friday night the amount that could be turned over to the committee would be a rather handsome one. The flood sufferers will need assistance for several weeks to come, and the Holland theaters are helping in the work of collecting funds. It is a worthy cause and doubtless the

Dr. Bell's Antiseptic Salve

Good for all Skin Diseases

Tonight April 3, at seven forty-five p. m. the chorus of the 14th Street Christian Reformed church will render a sacred cantata "Ruth" by Alfred R. Gaul. The work of the chorus is under the direction of Egbert H. Boerof, Grand Rapids. Everybody is welcome.

It has been repeatedly said by some that a prosperous uptodate city needs a saloon for the sake of its "business interests," that the closing of the saloons would hurt a city's development, depreciate the value of its prosperity and drive away prospective enterprise.

From the knowledge we have of conditions in saloon-ridden cities and in those delivered from the bane and burden of the open saloon, and from statistics founded upon the data of the U. S. Government census, an authority which is not intentionally partial to the license system, we were confident that the prosperity of communities did not depend upon the open saloon; but the friends of the saloon insisted upon the assertion.

To these oft repeated assertions which were evidently intended to frighten, discourage or intimidate, a committee of business men made a partial canvass of our city and secured a statement signed for publication by a number of representative business men, which is found elsewhere in this issue.

The names found there are by no means the only ones who desire to see the saloon remain closed. It is a noble and courageous testimony; may it carry an inspiring message to many a community, similarly endangered by the incubus or the menace of the saloon, giving them renewed assurance that a city's interests and business can thrive without the saloon.

Then consider how much more attractive a saloonless city is to the average parent, desirous of building a safe and happy home for childhood and youth.

And, let us also remember that no amount of high license can compensate for the moral and financial loss sure to follow the open saloon.

WHEN MAN IS TAUGHT HUMILITY

This is an age when, as never before, man rejoices in his strength—in his mastery of the world about him. And he has reasons for his pride.

He need fear no other living creature, for he has made unto himself weapons with which he may overcome them all. He pierces mountains and links oceans. He spans the floods and harnesses their power. He tears the thunderbolt from the heavens and compels it to bear his messages over lands and under seas and through the viewless air. His inventions outrun the deer, dive with the fishes in the waters and soar with the birds above the clouds.

Is not Man in very deed the Lord of Creation?

Then there comes a day when a black cloud appears on the horizon and sweeps down upon his town and cities. And the hovels of the poor and the mansions of the rich, with the palaces of trade and the temples of worship, and toppled in impartial ruin. Their tenants are fortunate if the very devices with which man has caged the light of the sun and made it to shine for him at midnight add not to the perils of tempest the horrors of fire.

Or when after heavier snows than usual come heavier rains and a hotter sun. And all the floods are out, though sands are homeless and hundreds drown in their homes like trapped rats. The very works with which man has imagined that he has restrained and controlled the waters but add to his dangers, his sufferings and his slaughter.

And man can do little or nothing to arrest the destruction. He can but try to save his bare life, wait until the elemental forces of which he vainly boasted the mastery have finished their sport with him and his works, and then bury his dead, house his homeless and painfully rebuild what has been swept down and tossed away.

Is not Man in very deed the sport and mockery of creation?

At such times Man, if he read aright the lesson of fear, of suffering and of death, learns humility. Whether his faith be only in the Laws of Nature or look through and beyond these to Nature's God, he learns how infinitely feeble, with all its potencies is his strength compared with the overruling Force about and above him, and how limited his mind, with all its achievements, compared with the Infinite Mind that gives laws to all the Boundless Universe through Unending Time.

STEAD AND SCOTT

England is busy with a discussion in which those who believe in communication with the spirits of the dead are on the defensive. The discussion arose from the question:

Why did not the spirit of WILLIAM T. STEAD send word of the death of Captain ROBERT F. SCOTT?

Everybody knows that Mr. STEAD, who went down with the Titanic, was a firm believer in this spirit communication and that he had promised that after his own death he would communicate with this world through mediums.

Now, the antarctic tragedy happened several months before Mr. Stead's death. And those who do not believe in spirit communication are asking the believers why Stead in spirit land did not let this world know about Scott's death.

Of course it is a discussion that gets nowhere. But the question is one that never loses interest.

While waiting impatiently for the highway commissioner to repair that mud hole, washout or other bad place in the highway, wouldn't it be a good idea to take a few hours off and repair it yourself? If every farmer spent a few hours occasionally working on the road our highways would soon show a decided improvement. Let us not only talk good roads—let us work bad roads!

Can't something be done to check the ravages of the germ that causes so many people to become obsessed of the mania for reforming every body and everything—or rather from paying more attention to other people's business than to their own?

Whenever a flag of truce appears in Mexico some needy native immediately appropriates it for wearing apparel.

Every ending is also a beginning. When a man sees his finish, it usually gives him quite a start.

Dr. A. F. Sherman, aged 58, died early Saturday in the U. B. A. Hospital in Grand Rapids. Dr. Sherman came to this city about 12 years ago and has had a very good medical practice here.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon promptly at 1:30 services were held at the house of the Rev F. O. Granis officiating. At their conclusion De Molai Commandry No. 5, R. C. took charge and conducted the services. At Pilgrim Home Cemetery where interment took place. Unity Lodge F. & A. M. of this city, together with members of the De Witt Clinton Consistory and Saladin Shrine acted as an honorary escort. Dr. Sherman being a member of all these bodies.

In the death of Dr. Sherman a great loss has come upon many of our citizens of all ages and stations. The last twelve years of his life have been spent in Holland where his skill as a physician, his loyalty as a friend, his faith as a Brother Mason have endeared him to many. Previous to locating here, Dr. Sherman practiced in Massachusetts. He was graduated from Boston University School of Medicine in 1877. Dr. Sherman was born at Lowell, Mass., on February 16, 1854.

About sixty Knight Templars from Holland and Grand Rapids met at the corner of Central avenue and 8th street Tuesday and marched from there to Dr. Sherman's home to attend his funeral. Their uniforms were very attractive and a large crowd gathered to see them march.

WHOLESALE DEALERS DECLARE

THERE WAS NO PLAN OF MONOPOLY

Claim Changes in Ordinance Were Not Made by Them But By People Who Wanted Change

We have told the people that we would make no campaign because it was not to the best interests of our city to stir up bitterness, but in order to set ourselves aright, we ask for a little more space to reply to statements that have been made and published under the name of "Committee on Literature" unsigned. In this article they publish parts of a proposed ordinance governing the retail selling of liquor; and these portions of the ordinance have put the matter in such a light that it appears as though the wholesalers were trying to establish a monopoly. In the first place there was no ordinance at all, but simply the suggestion of one. Secondly, it is true, fewer saloons were suggested. This was done because the drys have been fighting for less liquor or none at all, while several of the conservative wets requested fewer and some suggested even less than mentioned with a higher license. They figured that with a higher license and the restrictions put upon the retailers, there would be no necessity for so many.

The places where retailers could locate were also suggested in order to satisfy those who claim that the business hurts trade in stores located in their immediate vicinity. Several business men, aldermen and conservative voters expressed themselves as being favorable only to certain localities and few places.

All the suggestions in the proposed ordinance were made not by us but by persons not in the business and by people who wanted to see a change. Furthermore the person who secured the names told every man who signed the petition to read the ordinance carefully. He said that it was a suggested ordinance drawn up as strictly as it possibly could be. While some read the document before signing, in 9 cases out of 10 the reply of the signer was "We don't care what it is; we want a change. Anything is better than this."

Let us call your attention to page four, second column of the Sentinel Thursday, April 1. Here the opposition talks of the 22 saloons that we will get in our city. On page eight, column two, we are told that the wholesalers are trying to monopolize the business.

Voters, we are lucky if we monopolize a little of the air we breathe in this town. We have been driven from pillar to post. The thought of us having a monopoly is preposterous and the drys know it.

We have been singled out and our opponents seem blind to far worse condition in the city that need correcting, evils that are going on right under their very noses.

Our town has been the laughing stock of the state, with all our exploiting through the state press; our farmers from Jamestown, West Olive, Salem, Drenthe, Overisel and other country districts, give us a wide berth. Grand Haven and Grand Rapids are good enough for them. There is not even a rest room for the farmers' wives here or a toilet for the farmer. Our boys were to have had a Y. M. C. A. but instead of that, their only playground has been taken away. All this is inconsistent. The stranger and transient, leave our city with a knock for it. These are hard things to say about our town, but nevertheless, they are the truth.

There is an element in this city that wish us to remain the size of Adrian, Ypsilanti, Albion, etc. Are you going to let them?

But don't think, Mr. Voter, that if an ordinance is drawn up to regulate us, we will be consulted in the matter.

We are not struggling for a monopoly, but merely to hold what little property we have left. The buildings we went in debt for would be practically worthless as a source of income considering the many empty buildings already on Eighth and River streets.

Comparative Digestibility of Food

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The relative percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with
Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

100 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with
phosphate powder:

68¾ Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with
alum powder:

67¾ Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them.

Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.

WHAT YOU SAW IN THIS PAPER THIRTY FIVE YEARS AGO

Severe fighting is again reported in South Africa and the pleasant announcement that the war "was practically at an end" has had to be revised and corrected. The latest news is said to be "most serious," a powerful coffee chief having taken the field in Transvaal, the recently annexed Boer republic. That coffee chief will get a thrashing in time no doubt; but it is exceedingly unpleasant for John Bull to be annoyed with these small disturbances just now when he needs all his forces and all his courage for a demonstration against the Cosacks.

A few minutes before 12:00 on Wednesday a car load of cedar posts on the freight train coming in from the north caught fire from a spark from the engine, and the wind blowing hard from the South fanned it into a blaze. Conductor Church immediately uncoupled the car and bringing it to the depot as fast as safety would permit under the water tank and extinguished the fire under a deluge of water. The whole thing was done as neatly as tho' the depot hands had been drilled in that particular business.

Next comes an excellent silver tilting water set, consisting of pitcher, slop bowl and goblets, very massive and of the newest design out. This is on exhibition at Stevenson's jewelry store. VAN PUTTEN—WESTERHOF

Last Wednesday occurred the wedding of Miss Jeannette Van Putten to Andrew Westerhof at their pretty new home on S. Central Ave. In the afternoon at half past two the ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Van Hoogen, a large number of relatives being present. The bride was becomingly attired in dark brown. The corner of the room in which the bride and bride groom stood during the ceremony was handsomely decorated with flowers and smilax, which met in a graceful arch, following the outline of the bay window. Mr. Kouw was best man and Miss Maud Van Putten bridesmaid.

In the afternoon a reception was given to the older people, the young folks meeting in the evening. Elaborate lunch was served at both occasions. A large number of handsome and substantial presents were received. Only the relatives and a few intimate friends were invited. The relation of the newly wedded pair is a large one and counts some of the most popular people in the city. The out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. C. Nyland of Grand Haven; Miss Mannie Vinck of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Geo. Ver Weij of Muskegon.

REPUBLICANS HOLD A HARMONIOUS CAUCUS FRIDAY NIGHT No Contests On For Any Position and But Little Excitement Shown.

A short, but harmonious caucus was held by the Republicans in the court room of the city hall Friday and Mayor Nicodemus Bosch was unanimously re-nominated as the republican candidate for mayor. There was not a single fight on for any of the positions and, probably for that reason there was little excitement. All but the constables were nominated by acclamation and there was no opposition to any of the candidates. Consequently the caucus was all over within about three quarters of an hour, in marked contrast to the caucus of last year, when there were several contests on.

Henry Geerlings was chosen chairman of the meeting and Arthur Van Duren secretary. Before opening the meeting to nominations Mr. Geerlings gave a short talk in which he urged each individual present to go to work immediately after the caucus and start to boost for the ticket named. He urged all not to depend on committees or organizations but to go to work individually and speak a good word for the candidates whenever possible. He declared the party needs the kind of enthusiasm that is contagious. There is no need, he said, to abuse the candidates of any other party; but simply put in strong licks for the men of the republican ticket.

A. Keppel, John Van Tatenhove, G. Cook and Al Van Duren were appointed tellers.

In making the nominating speech for Nicodemus Bosch for mayor, Att. Fred T. Miles said that the business of the city during the past term had been conducted in an honest, efficient and businesslike way, and that he would like to see that this state of affairs be continued. To this end, he said, he moved that the name of Mr. Nicodemus Bosch be placed in nomination. No other name was proposed and Mr. Bosch therefore was nominated by acclamation, by a unanimous vote.

Being called upon for a speech, Mr. Bosch simply said, "My administration the past year is an open record that all can see, and there is no need for me to reiterate it here. If elected, I promise to pursue the same course the coming year as in the past, without fear or favor, regardless of party politics."

Most of the candidates nominated said a few words of appreciation. Following is the ticket.

Mayor—Nicodemus Bosch;
City Clerk—Richard Overweg;
City Treasurer—H. G. VandenBrink;
Justice—Att. Thos. N. Robinson.
Supervisor—1st Dist.—G. J. Kooyers;

Another of the Holland boys who have made good is Ray Herrick. Not many years ago his friends will remember he was an apprentice in the Western Machine Tool Works in this city. He worked there for some time and has lately secured a much better position with the Packard Motor Car Company of Detroit where he is at present employed.

COULD NOT PAY $100 FINE AND SO IS COMPELLED TO RE- MAIN IN JAIL

John Penne, who has served his 90 days in the county jail at Grand Haven for contributing to the delinquency of Eva Woods, must serve another 90 days. The sentence imposed on Penne by Justice Robinson on December eleven, when he was convicted, was 90 days in the jail and a $100 fine. When his jail sentence had expired however, Penne was unable to pay his fine and so he is compelled to remain at Grand Haven for another three months.

Chalmers Miller, who was charged with the same offense as Penne, but who estranged his bonds, has not been heard of since by the local authorities. The warrant against him however remains in force indefinitely and will be served any time when Miller comes back to the state.

ALL AMENDMENTS TO CHARTER COMMISSION PASSED MONDAY NIGHT.

Voters to Be Furnished With Copies of the Changes; Election Day Fixed On.

The charter revision commission Monday completed its labors and held their final active meeting. The commission will meet again in two weeks for the purpose of making arrangements for the special election and to make other plans. But the actual work of the commission was ended Monday night.

Monday two measures were passed. One pertaining to the matter of cemetery lots. This has been explained before in this paper. The other question discussed was the recall of city officials. This also was passed.

After taking up these two measures the commission passed all the measures passed on tentatively during the past year. They took a final vote on all the measures and passed them by a unanimous vote.

The charter commission has instructed City Attorney Van Duren to get all the amendments in proper shape for the printer. When this work is done enough copies of the amendments will be printed to furnish one to each voter in the city of Holland. The copies will be distributed along the houses so that no one will lack the opportunity to study all the provisions at leisure.

When the special election will be held is still much of a question, but the date will be fixed upon very soon. Before that time the newspapers in the city will print a good deal of information in regard to the changes so that every voter may be well informed before he casts his vote either for or against the revised charter.

PASTORS OF HOLLAND CHURCHES ES PASS RESOLUTIONS AGAINST THEIR RETURN.

Fellow Citizens:—

We, the undersigned, pastors of the various churches of Holland, consider it our duty to declare publicly what our conviction and attitude are with respect to the saloon issue of the coming election in April.

We are convinced that it would be a very deplorable change in case the saloon were again legalized in our town. That the present conditions, without the saloon, can be improved upon, no one will deny; that they are ideal not one of us will maintain; but we would consider it a great inconsistency and a very reproachable act if we as a Christian community would vote to introduce the saloon again, as an institution producing nothing but evil and misery. Whatever our stand may be in regard to the use of intoxicants as such, no one who knows what the saloon is as an institution in its real character and in its far-reaching baneful influence upon the individual and the family, society and state, will as a Christian gentleman feel at liberty to vote for the open saloon.

This saloon question is not an ecclesiastical matter but one that pertains to the general welfare of the community especially, socially and politically. It is not a matter of denominational affiliation, but one of general public morality and decency.

We therefore, call upon all loyal patriotic citizens who seek the glory of God, love civic righteousness and are interested in the real welfare of their neighbors to cast a vote against the saloon.

(Signed) E. J. Tuuk; H. J. Veldman; R. L. Haan; August F. Bruske; P. A. J. Bouma, Wm. De Groot; P. A. Hokestra; P. E. Whitman, F. O. Gran-niss, H. J. Kuiper; J. Van Peursem, M. J. Badder.

YOUNG WOMAN'S BAND OF 1ST REFORMED CHURCH PASSES RESOLUTIONS

The Young Woman's Band of the First Reformed church of Holland wishes to go on record against the return of the open saloon to our fair city for the following reasons:

First, because it would not remove a single condition which may not be ideal at the present time, but only add to them in numberless ways.

Secondly, because it would be a backward step such as no city, but especially not such a big city as Holland could well take without suffering irreparable harm.

Thirdly, because it would make every person voting for the return of such an institution responsible also before God for the evils wrought by them.

Fourthly, because while we would not be willing to see our sons frequent such places we dare not ask that sacrifice of other mothers' either.

For these and other reasons we would respectfully urge upon our husbands and fathers and brothers and friends to vote no on this important question at the coming election.

In a section of Washington where there are a number of hotels and cheap restaurants, one enterprising concern has displayed in great illuminated letters, "Open All Night." Next to it was a restaurant bearing with equal prominence the legend: "We Never Close."

Third in order was a Chinese laundry in a little, low-framed, tumble-down hovel, and upon the front of this building was the sign, in great, scrawling letters: "Me wakee, too."

TICKET CHOSEN MONDAY BY THE PROGRESSIVES AS THEIR STANDARD BEARER.

Enthusiastic Caucus is Held and a Full City Ticket Put into the Field.

Although he arose and declared that he could not accept the nomination, after the Progressive Monday had informally chosen him as their standard bearer, Ed Vaupell was again chosen as the candidate for mayor on the formal ballot. On the informal ballot he received 146 votes and on the formal ballot 145, having lost only one because of his refusal to accept. Mr. Vaupell did not again get up and hence it was assumed that he would accept the nomination thus forced upon him.

There was plenty of enthusiasm at the Progressive caucus Monday night. The court room of the city hall was well filled and the total vote on the informal ballot for mayor was 184. On the formal ballot for mayor the total vote was 164. E. P. Stephan received 11 votes the first time and 17 the second. There were a number of others who received a few votes.

The meeting opened with a song by the Progressive quartet and they were compelled to respond to an encore. Simon Bos president of the Progressive organization introduced H. P. MacDowell of Massachusetts who delivered a short address on Progressivism. He declared the real issue was "Shall the people rule?" He gave the usual stereotyped speech about fraud at Chicago convention and made the unqualified charge that the Republican Party is the party of fraud. The police graft in New York, the white slave traffic and a number of other evils he laid at the door of the democratic and Republican parties. He also explained to the Hollanders here how much this country owes to the Netherlands, and he mentioned the fact that he, MacDowell, was a personal friend of Mr. Roosevelt. He said the Progressive party stood for laws against child labor, for the minimum wage, for the eight hour law, for old age pensions. He took a rap at military pensions, declaring that many receive them who never smelled powder.

Simon Kelyn was chosen chairman of the evening and he made an eloquent address. When he finished the applause was so boisterous that he was compelled to respond to an encore; and in his second speech he outdid himself. The tellers appointed were Peter Van Dornen, J. C. Brown, J. De Koeper, W. Lawrence and Peter Schoon. A committee was appointed consisting of M. A. Sooy, Benj. Wiersma and Wm. Arendshorst to draw up a city platform. This platform was read and adopted by the convention.

Following is the ticket nominated by the Progressives:

Bert Bowman, freshman student at Kalamazoo College, is home to spend a few days with his relatives here during the spring vacation. Mr. Bowman has made a remarkable record in oratory at Kalamazoo college, winning the local contest there, though only a freshman, and later taking 4th place in the state contest at Adrian. When a student in Holland High school he also excelled in oratory. Mr. Bowman will probably try again next year in the oratorical contest at Kalamazoo.

Spring Lake Girl and Companions Waited Hours for Rescue Young Men Gave Up Lives in Effort to Save

Details of the drowning of Miss Ella Rysdorp of Spring Lake well known in Holland and the two young university students at Ann Arbor Sunday night are being made known through the dispatches from Ann Arbor which describe the tragedy in graphic language. The story of the death of the young people who struggled so bravely for life in the terrible current of the Hudson for several hours is a story of heroism and suffering and courage not often recited.

No matter what the details of the tragedy might be, the burden could not be made easier to bear for the bereaved parents and the sisters over in Spring Lake. Among her friends also there is overwhelming sorrow and even the little children whom she has been teaching in school this year, heard the story of Miss Rysdorp's death with tears streaming down their cheeks. The hundreds of friends are stunned with sorrow, and since the news of the tragedy, they have been anxiously waiting for further news of her fate.

Two men students and a former woman student at the university were drowned as the result of a canoe accident on the Hudson river late Sunday night and another woman student owes her life to the heroism of one of the victims.

The dead are: Miss Ella Rysdorp, a teacher at Spring Lake, Mich. Arthur Crandall, freshman, of Brockton N. Y., and Henry Bacon, sophomore of Pontiac.

Miss Jane Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hicks, 269 Meadow Brook avenue, Detroit was rescued.

For three and half hours Miss Hicks stood under the new Barton power house, washed there by the whirlpool below the dam, in water up to her shoulders, screaming for help.

Bacon started to swim out for help and his life was snuffed out.

Suddenly there was silence. Miss Rysdorp had been unable to hold on longer and without a word she, too, had sunk.

Then help came, and as it came Crandall sank and Miss Hicks alone remained.

Yesterday afternoon the four young people went up the river to canoe. About 7 o'clock they decided to return. They carried their canoe along the footpath beside the dam.

They attempted to put out again but their canoe had been launched in two swift a current and they were shot into the whirlpool. Their canoe was crushed like an egg shell and they were battling in the icy current for their lives.

They were carried under the Barton power house, where they stood bruised and all but frozen and screamed for help.

Finally fearful that they would perish from the cold Bacon started to swim out for help. He failed to reach the shore. Miss Rysdorp was the next to go.

It was about 11 o'clock when Operator Yost chanced to go to the first floor of the power house and heard their cries.

He opened a trap and looked into the pitchy darkness. Grabbing a lantern and a rope he rushed back to them.

Crandall tied the rope about Miss Hicks' waist and she was pulled to safety. Yost let the rope down to Crandall, but it dangled untouched. He called. There was no answer. Crandall's strength has lasted only long enough to insure his companion's rescue.

Miss Hicks was rushed to the home or the power plant superintendent where she still remains.

The sheriff's force was called to the scene and worked all night to recover the bodies. The water was shut off until Tuesday morning.

The awful current had interfered with the search. It is believed the bodies have been sucked up under the dam.

Bacon, it became known Tuesday was engaged to marry Miss Rysdorp who was the second to go.

This is the story Miss Hicks told her physician:

"We came down about 6 o'clock last night. We carried the canoe down the Fish stream and put it in the tailrace below the power house. Then we all got in, but currents upset the canoe.

The back suction carried us down under the wall and we said good-bye to each other, but in a minute more we felt ourselves carried up again and cast upon a ledge, directly under the power plant. Some say we got to our feet and there we stood in over four feet of water and cried for help.

Giving up hope of rescue, Mr. Bacon swam off in an effort to get help but was washed back onto the ledge nearly dead from exhaustion. He could not sink under the power plant, for while the surface water seemed fairly placed the conflicting current underneath, caused by the turbines in the plant, would toss us up, just as fast as the other current would carry us down.

Finally Mr. Bacon crawled along the ledge till he reached a ladder and climbing the ladder, he dove, attempting to get beneath the current and make his way to the open water. He never came up again—not once."

Miss Hicks tells how they slapped and patted each other under the water and did everything they could to keep warm. Then Miss Rysdorp slipped into the water and was gone before the eyes of the two who were

"We felt we could not stand it many minutes longer," said Miss Hicks, "and so we bade good-bye and a short prayer for our souls and the friends we were leaving behind."

Help came when they were about to slip off the ledge from cold and exhaustion.

PUBLIC PULSE

Dear Editor:—Kindly give the following, space in your valuable paper.

The liquor question has been so thoroughly threshed over from all viewpoints thru the press and from the platform that most of us are familiar with its every detail. But in Holland the question has ceased to be a moral one, judging from the attitude taken by some of the "drys."

The moral issue was lost sight of when they were unwilling to have the proposition submitted "liquor or no liquor." Their theory in so many words—is liquor in wholesale but not in retail. This does not mean that they condone liquor but simply that they fear the people and for that reason it was not submitted on its merits morally.

The forty odd drinking places along River and Eighth Streets spoken of by the wholesalers in their article in this paper, is a surprise to me, although I knew of several along the lake and river fronts, and in the residence districts, where young men and girls congregated. This led to a personal investigation and I found that the statement has not been over drawn. Such conditions certainly should not exist in Holland and if any one believes these places do not exist; it is the easiest thing in the world to go on a personal investigation tour as I have done.

It seems to me that the liquor question resolves itself in 1 or 2 things either the abolition of liquor altogether (which I understand is the intention of the wholesalers if Holland goes dry and if they do not do it the alderman will do it for them) or the regulations of it under proper restriction. The best version I can offer is an editorial clipped from the Grand Rapids Press, which covers the situation in Holland to a T. It is published by Mr. Booth who is the proprietor of the Press and is well known throughout the state as a temperance man, having appeared at Hope and other colleges speaking on kindred subjects.

Defeat of Prohibition.
Those who believe and hope for true temperance should be glad that the proposal to submit the prohibition issue to the voters of the state failed to carry the house of representatives. Such a measure, if it passed, could be enacted only by a country vote large enough to wipe out the adverse majorities inevitable in most of the cities. The consequence would be that in these cities a law for which there was no supporting public sentiment would be in force. The natural result would be a widespread ignoring, either secretly or openly, of this law. In such an atmosphere drunkenness, worse because it is under cover, flourishes. Thus, inconsistent as it may superficially seem, it yet is possible for those who are fighting the drink habit to feel that the right thing has been done when this bill was defeated.

A far better way to combat the evil is by enforcing whenever and where ever possible rigid and constant regulation on saloons, clubs and liquor dealers generally. Instead of any of their privileges being extended they should be curtailed. Licenses should be made high and all secrecy removed from the operation of such places. It should be made easy for the authorities to enter and inspect them at any time. Closing hours should be made to mean exactly what they say. The practice of "posting" drunks should be more universally resorted to by wives and other relatives suffering from the weakness of certain men and saloonkeepers selling to such victims of the habit should be given a punishment sufficient to discourage a repetition of the offense. Selling to minors, either in a saloon or a club, should automatically draw a prison sentence without the option of a fine. Legal obstructions to convictions for violations of the excise laws should be removed.

It is by such methods as this that the evils of the liquor traffic can best be met. If the people of any community earnestly and sincerely desire to fight drink they can find more efficacious ways by which to do it than by prohibition.

Where is liquor more under cover than in Holland, covered by the editorials? It seems to me that we have lost ground instead of gaining it and if that is the case we have lost both morally and financially. Our taxes have been raised from $18 a thousand to $24 a thousand in the last 6 years. We have lost in license money enough to nearly pay for our City Hall.

We could have paved three streets the length of Twelfth street. We could have paid for two-thirds of our new public high school. We could have built two gymnasiums for our boys and girls and thrown in a ball park.

All this we have lost from a direct tax point of view. Indirectly we have lost through the fact that a large percentage of farmers steer clear of Holland and deal elsewhere. I know because I deal with farmers. The money class of resorters do not come here the way they used to, either.

All in all, the city does not seem to be the same it was six years ago. Then you heard of no bankruptcies and business men pulled together, but within the last four or five years 11 failures have occurred and several business men have quietly retired.

If good has come from the present status of the liquor question well and good, but it does not seem that way to me. As the Grand Rapids Press says: "strict regulation is more effective" and with the ordinance such as we have in Holland punishing minors as well as the dealers, for violations, and running the liquor stores—so to speak—like other stores, the regulation should be easier than at present when one does not know where the liquor is taken or who drinks it. This is because it is under cover.

And as before stated if anyone can show me that this condition is an improvement in liquor conditions, the sacrifice is well merited.

EMPLOYEES OF WESTERN MACHINE TOOL WORKS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY OF CHANGE.
Tuesday the employees of the Western Machine Tool Works held a little informal celebration in honor of the fact that it was the first anniversary of the nine hour system in that plant. The ten hour basis was changed to the nine hour basis on April 1, 1912.
"We would not go back to the old system any more than the men would," said Mr. Bosch and Mr. Boda the employers. "The men have shown increased interest in the work and they have made the success of the firm their own concern. The system has been an unqualified success."
