Holland To Have Night Baseball And Football

RIVERVIEW PARK IS TO BE MADE LIGHT AS DAY

Aldermen Show Very Fine Spirit In Advancing Part of the Money

Alderman George Damson has not lost a bit of that outdoor sporting fervor even if he has become a austere city father. He brought up a proposal that Riverview Park be lighted in such a manner that baseball, football and kindred games can be played after dark. He pointed out that this is becoming very popular in the larger cities and that lighting up Riverview Park would allow men in the shops and factories to attend the night games and add materially to their recreational advantages. He believes it would be very popular with all citizens.

He stated that the matter was so well thought of that a group of citizens had advanced $2,000 as a beginning of a lighted recreation park. This money is now available. Mr. Damsen stated how

He stated that the city would be paid back on the basis of 20% derived from the receipts of the games, and that this amount would be the first to be taken out and that the city's advance would be the first obligation to be paid, even before the $9,000.

the $2,000 advanced by half dozen public-spirited citizens. These men were so positive that such an undertaking would not only bring fine recreation to a class who could not get away very well in the daytime but it would pay

The city would receive besides the 20%, 5% more, which it now gets from the receipts of games played during the daytime. The ruling was in vogue all last season.

It will be an easy matter to install a lighted field with Holland

Rev. Paul McLean of Hope College also spoke on the matter in the interest of Hope College. He stated that for football stadium ceived larger revenues. But, on the second best day, which was on Friday, and the gate receipts on that day were not nearly as large. Hoff felt that night games under floodlights would bring a larger attendance and greater revenues. Hoff stated that he had received information from forty different cities and in these he found that the sale had advanced at least 40%. He made a plea for more wholesome recreation, which he felt was conducive to good citizenship.

Mayor Geerlings came out for a night recreational field. He said it would be a wonderful thing for young men and women where wholesome sports could be conveniently attended and he said would certainly be more beneficial than spending their time in other places not so elevating. He stated that basket ball in the winter and a skating pond, when ice is available, were positive proof that young folk and adults avail themselves in large numbers during the evening when they were not working.

Cecil White, who was also present, ent, stated that Holland was so fixed that a park of that kind would be easy to install and he felt that it would be a boon to the rank and file who found it difficult to commence in the afternoon. He stated that other men present had gone over the ground thoroughly and that

Andrew Klomparsen, John A. Endshorst and others spoke in behalf of this new innovation. The matter was then put up to a vote and all the aldermen enthusiastically voted "Yes," except the retiring alderman.

There is no doubt that the City of Holland will get its money back within a short time if the patronage of basketball game crowds will also be reflected in field sports.

ed gentlemen from Benton Harbor came here for a baseball game with the Holland Independents and brought their own flood light system, hoisted on trucks. Each team had a tower with a flood light, and there was a separate truck with dynamo generating the electricity. The baseball park at that time was filled to capacity, partly because of the curiosity of a game of that sort at such a time, and beside the "Holy Rollers" always prove an attraction. The "Holy Rollers," when they left Holland, pulled the lighting system with them and

It is understood that despite these cumbersome handicaps, the "Rollers" made money and the certainly were satisfied here. In comparison with our current right next door, such a flood light idea at our Riverview Park ought to made to view under a much more economical set-up. Anyway, Holland's baseball and football fields will soon be available night and day, which will again make Holland an outstanding city, together with Tulips, resorts, and different attractions that have brought this community considerable publicity abroad.

McLEANS ON WAY HOME

Sears R. McLean and family are returning from California where they made this

They were this winter, at San Diego. They are now on their way home, going at easy stages, seeing the country. They expect to arrive here by May 15 and will go to their summer home at Castle Park.

Important Farm Meetings
Thru-out Ottawa Co.

The county committee of the soil conservation program report continued progress in establishment of farm bases for the 1937 program. These bases will be out by mail very shortly, enabling farmers to know beforehand just what possibilities he has in this program.

A series of thirteen meetings have been scheduled by L. R. Arnold, agricultural agent, for discussion of the 1937 rulings. Mr. Arnold and the county committee, consisting of Glen Taylor, C. L. McNitt, and Sam Rymer, will meet farmers at these meetings and every farmer should attend in order to understand the 1937 provisions. These educational meetings will be followed closely by all-day sessions in township halls in all parts of the county so farmers will have a chance to appear to discuss his individual farm. He can determine at once just how the program fits his conditions. Mr. Arnold urges farmers to cooperate in all ways in giving information. This will cut down costs very much.

The educational series is scheduled as follows:

An Organization Built Upon An Ideal

We have, during the past several years, built an organization, which:

- FIRST—Studies the practical side of commercial egg production,
- SECOND—Studies the technical problems of both production and marketing and has developed a national reputation for its QUALITY EGGS,
- THIRD—Has developed feed formulas in conjunction with our State College for economical growth and production—inferior feed will keep your chickens alive, but only the BEST will make profitable production possible during periods of readjustment such as the present times when commodity prices are out of balance.

• FEEDS can be compounded theoretically on paper to appear good, but confidence can be placed only in those that are the product of long-time research and practical experience by unbiased authorities, and are prepared by a firm whose reliability is beyond question.

- FOUR—Has developed facilities for economic distribution of these feeds, thus effecting great savings to the industry. No one knows better the advantages of large scale operation than the people who buy our feed.

- IS OWNED, OPERATED and CONTROLLED by its patrons.

CHANGES ARE MADE IN POLICE SALARIES, WHY "LAY-OFFS" OCCURRED

A resolution passed by members of the police and fire commissioners on Jan. 13, 1936, to make deductions from salaries during time off for sickness to become effective Jan. 1 of that year, was enforced at a meeting of the commissioners, Monday afternoon. The matter of allowing full salary for Pete Bontekoe, member of Holland's police force, who returned to duty after being absent for five days due to ill health, brought forth considerable discussion at the meeting because of the previous resolution. Immediately after, a vote had been taken to enforce the resolution, in this case. Commissioner Huizenga placed a motion on the floor which was passed in which he proposed that the matter of sick leaves and paid vacations for members of the police and fire department be referred to the personnel committee in an effort to bring about the granting of sick leaves with pay for officers of these two departments. Instructions were that a report be made at a later meeting.

Mayor Henry Geerlings who was a visitor of the board went on record as favoring the sick leave proposal.

The application of Charles Peter Kammeraad, 22, 224 W. 17th St., as a member of the Holland police department, was received by the board and ordered placed on file.

All board members were present along with Police Chief VanRy, Fire Chief C. Blom, Jr., and City Clerk Oscar Peterson. Members of the board are Henry Ketel, Cornelius Huizenga, Andrew Hyma, Fred Kamferbeek and John Donnelly.

Tom Robinson Guides Fish Game Banquet

The room was rapidly filling with tobacco smoke, the Holland High School basketball team, which was the guest of the Club, and which had "licked" Benton Harbor once, twice, and had dumped it out of the state tournament, was introduced by Rex Chapman, Coach, and "a real leader of the boys."

Mr. Chapman thanked the Club for its invitation to the squad, and introduced the following members of the "fighting Dutch" aggregation: Captain James Grissen, member of the all-state second team; Carl Van Dort, "Curly" Cunningham, Kenneth Vandenberg, "Pug" Hon, Dan Essenburg, August Van Eerden, Don Moody, Martin Bekken, Don Janninga, Bill Tappan, Kenneth Deur, and managers Clifford Lighthart and Edward Slaght.

Mr. Moody, head of the high school athletic department, "Jerry" Breen, football coach, and coaches Eddie Damson and Fred Weiss, were also introduced.

The Tulip City Four, composed of Jack Bos, Rein Visscher, Kelly Trapp, and Jerry Houting, accompanied on the piano by Girard Hanchett, next presented several vocal selections, which were well received.

Toastmaster Robinson continued his program and stating that he always kept the best to the last, began to introduce members of the Benton Harbor Club. Billy Olds, Dr. G. W. Wilcox, Moss Goldbaum, who asserted that a "gentle is a man who buys everything at retail," "Buck" Taylor, Joe Carver, and John Munger, president of the Berrien County Sports Club, all from Benton Harbor, were introduced to the "gang." Ernie Bauer, also of Benton Harbor, and past president of that Club, characterized the Holland Club as "the only club in Michigan outstanding in every form of conservation."

Sheriff Charlie Miller, from the Berrien County city, also responded.

Claude Lydell, Superintendent of the Comstock Park Hatchery; Frank Denner of Kalamazoo, district superintendent; and Veme Winey, and Harry Plotts, conservation officers from Kalamazoo and Allegan, respectively; Bill Hale, tower man at Allegan; John Kroff of Grand Rapids; and the latter of whom was awarded a thunder of applause were next presented, as were George Wells, president of the Izaak Walton League of Grand Rapids, Allen W. Church, Frank Hamilton, and Earl Sroat, from the same city.

Dr. William Tappan presented the report of the Pointer and Setter Club. "A year ago this club was instituted. It is still small," he began, "but we like it to be." Explaining the duties of the club, Dr. Tappan continued with giving a summary of the field trials in which some 29 dogs participated from Grand Haven, Spring Lake, Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Grandville, Zeeland, and other cities. The "buy-a-pheasant" campaign was explained, and certain pests were described in conclusion.

Dr. Tappan stressed one thing, namely, the planting of birds, and also the killing of predatory animals and birds, such as crows, owls, fox, coyote and the roving house cat. Prizes will be given to the boys for killing such predatory destroyers. He stated, however, "there is one predatory animal who has legs like you, hands like you and looks like you, but he is not like you. He is constantly violating the law in and out of season. I would call him inhuman. Your conservation officer can't look after all these things and, therefore, I urge every member of this club to be a self-appointed officer who will bring evidence against the 'spongers' on our natural resources."

Dr. Tappan's remarks brought a rousing round of applause and his speech received the compliments of the able toastmaster, Thomas N. Robinson, who by the way, interspersed his introductions with timely repartee. It must be remembered that Tom is one of the founders of the Holland Fish and Game Club.

Ben East, of the Grand Rapids Press staff, gave the main address of the evening. Mr. East related many experiences in his travels to various parts of the United States and Canada, illustrating his points with numerous fishing and hunting stories. "I know of no club in Michigan," Mr. East stated, "which has matched the accomplishments of the Holland Club. The biggest job of your club is not the rearing of fish in your ponds, but the protection, preservation, and perpetuation of an intelligent conservation program in your state." Mr. East's ready humor brought numerous laughs from the responsive audience.

The Tulip City Four again responded with a few vocal selections, which were well received. Each individual on John (Yocum) Woldring's team was awarded a tie for setting a record of 216 tickets.

Mayor Geerlings suggested the matter be left to a committee which would include the City Attorney.

The Chamber of Commerce asked that two clusters of piles be driven in front of Kollen Park dock to accommodate the cutter Escanaba, which will land here and tie up at that dock during the week of the Tulip celebration. The ship will be open to the public certain hours each day, and the crew will take part in the different parades. The United States Government demands that clusters be put in front of the dock so the boat will not scrape against the dock proper. Besides the clusters a long runway will be made connecting up the dock and the boat for the convenience of the sightseers. The expense will be approximately $200. The council left it to the Harbor Board and the Ways and Means Committee to go into the matter.

Alderman Art Drinkwater complained that there was not enough light in Kollen Park. He understood that arrangements for more light were made last year—that it was altogether too dark in one of Holland's finest parks. He was informed that lights were being installed now.

The pound master, Mr. Kole, went on a rampage because he was not paid a salary for the last three weeks. Some months ago Kole was relieved of his work until a place was found to slaughter dogs, far removed from the residential district. Complaints then came in that dogs were shot and had their throats cut in a garage in the midst of where many people live, especially school children. Mr. Kole was not blamed but the council was, the contention being that an isolated place should be found to do this work. For some reason Kole felt that he was again retained and that he had three weeks' pay coming. The aldermen could not see it that way and the bill is held up for further investigation. The Ways and Means Committee has power to act in the matter.

The Globe Construction Co., of Kalamazoo, which holds the contract to improve Van Raalte Ave., from 20th St. north to Ninth St., and Lake St., between Eighth and Ninth St., filed a letter with the council in which they requested permission to set up their batching bin for concrete work at the north end of Dock St. The matter was referred to the street committee.

Letters from Dr. O. Vander Velde and G. J. Bosch in which those two property owners asked the city to take action to vacate the dead end of 25th St. and order the street closed permanently at its intersection with Lawndale court, were read to the council and then referred to the street committee.

In their petitions, the two property owners wrote that they planned construction of new homes and that the closing of the street would determine the size of the residences. City Attorney Elbert Parsons reminded the council members of the fact that public hearings would have to be held.

The oaths of office for Peter Huyser, fifth ward alderman, and Abel Smeenge, member of the board of public works, were filed with the council and accepted. Bond of Charles Dulyea and William Steketee as local constables were accepted by the council in motions presented and adopted.

The council voted to grant permission to the board of public works for the purchase of three 150 Kv-a transformers to take care of the additional electrical load at the Hart & Cooley plant. The estimated cost of the transformers is $1,908.12.

Following the reading of a letter by City Clerk Oscar Peterson from the Charles R. Sligh Furniture Co., in which this company asked for the extension of a storm sewer approximately 200 feet west on 12th St. to take care of the water off of the roof of the company's new addition, the matter was referred to the sewer committee and City Engineer Jacob Zuidema upon a motion presented by Ald. Neil DeCook, which gained a favorable vote.

Grand Haven Child Is Killed by Auto

Grand Haven's record of more than two years running without a traffic fatality, for which it has received two citations from the National Safety council, was broken Friday night with the death of Richard Yuk, 5.

The youngster son of Mr. and Mrs. John Yuk, was struck Friday afternoon by a car as he was returning home from kindergarten. The car was operated by Nelson Botbyl, 19, who was turning north on Seventh St., at the corner of Franklin. The driver, who was not held, said the child darted into his path. He died Friday evening in Hattson hospital, where Botbyl and a companion, Donald Nuville, 17, took him.

Funeral services were held Monday at the VanZantwick funeral home, with burial in Lake Forest cemetery, Grand Haven.

MAATMAN-POLL MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED

Miss Lillian Maatman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Maatman of Virginia Park, and Harvey Poll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Poll of Hamilton were united in marriage at 10 o'clock, Monday morning, in the minister's study in the Central Park Reformed church.

The Rev. F. J. Van Dyk, pastor of the church, conducted the double ring ceremony. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Poll.

Mr. and Mrs. Poll will make their home on Reed Ave., east of this city. Mr. Poll is employed at the Holland Celery Planter company.

Death Takes Richard Huizenga While in His Car

Richard Huizenga, mail carrier of Grand Haven 16 years and a veteran of the Spanish-American war, was found dead while at the wheel of his automobile near Griffin St. and Penney Ave., Grand Haven, by William Warner, a nearby resident. Dr. W. B. Bloemendal, coroner, said death was due to a heart attack. Mr. Huizenga and his family had returned from Coopersville, where they had dinner with a daughter, Mrs. Lisle Kirkbride.

Mr. Huizenga, who was 59 years old, was in good health and had taken a two-day leave from his job as mail carrier. He was well known in veteran's circles, being a member of Sherman S. Dickinson Camp, United Spanish War Veterans. He was an active member of Grand Haven Lodge No. 1200, B.P.O.E. Mr. Huizenga resided in Grand Haven practically his entire life, coming here when four years old from the Netherlands, where he was born May 14, 1877.

The funeral was held Tuesday with Capt. C. G. Swart, chaplain at Soldiers' Home, Grand Rapids, officiating. It was a military rite.

Gary Kienstra who underwent an operation in a Chicago hospital several weeks ago has returned to his home on West 15th St.

Spring Here; Wild Flowers Raise Curtain

DROUTH, OVER-PICKING AND DRAINAGE TO GROWING
WILDFLOWER SCARCITY

By Albert Stoll, Jr.
(Detroit News)

Springtime is wildflower time and at no other season of the year is the outdoors quite so attractive. Life returns to the sleeping landscape. The warming rays of the sun awaken the dormant trees, the passive bulbs and resting seeds. It is the beginning of the time for us to satisfy ourselves, and as Ruskin says, "to teach men how to be satisfied, it is necessary to fully understand the art of joy and humble life... the life of domestic affection and domestic peace, full of the sensitiveness to all elements of costliness and kind pleasure; therefore chiefly to the loveliness of the natural world."

How simple it is for you who dwell in our cities, towns or villages, to enjoy the numerous pleasures nature holds; to find, to have and to feel this "costless" and "kind" pleasure Ruskin speaks of; to get out; into the open, the field, the woods, the roadways, the banks of the stream; with the clouds floating lazily above, and seek and find the blossoming wild flowers that need no seeding by man; that need not the care of the weeding we give our city gardens; that bring forth their leaves and blooms each season without our aid.

There are as many, if not more, wild flowers within your reach as there are varieties of flowers the modern florists show.

In splendor, in beauty, in fragrance and in color, they far outmatch those raised by man.

In April the open woods and hill-sides unfold to you what search, the Trailing Arbutus with its waxy deep green leaves and d'fragrant pink blossoms at the end of each vine; the shy Wintergreen with its shiny leaf and bright red berry that we so eagerly pick and eat as one of nature's tonic; the spring beauty with long, deep green leaves and delicate five petaled pin flowers; Solomon's Seal, growing from one to three feet tall with clusters of flowers at the base of each leaf; the Trillium some call wild lilies, and they are easy to distinguish with their three large leaves below a three petaled bloom of white, or pink or red.

In the Swamps
And then the Violets, most common of all our wild flowers. This family is a large one. We have the Arrow Leaved, the Bird-foot, the Canada, the Dog, the Dog-tooth, the Downy Yellow, the Family, the Lanced-leaved, the Marsh, the Pale, the Round-leaved and the White; all found in Michigan. At this time also comes the Adder Tongue, with its brown spotted, slender green leaves and white or yellow bell-shaped flowers; the Hepatica with

G. A. R. VETERAN IS 93 YEARS OLD; FEELS FINE

Joos Ver Planke, last living member of Weatherwax Post of the GAR of Grand Haven, was 93 years old on April Fool's day. He is still fooling father time. Mr. Ver Planke spent the winter in California with relatives. His son, Anthony Ver Planke, prominent Spring Lake business man, expects Mr. Ver Planke to return within a few weeks. He has not missed a Memorial Day observance in Grand Haven in many years. Mr. Ver Planke is in excellent health and upon arrival here each year walks about calling on his friends. Mr. Ver Planke was elected from Holland for sheriff more than 50 years ago. He was the first Democratic sheriff to be elected in Ottawa county.

His flower appearing before its leaf, one of our earliest visitors; the May Apple, or Mandrake, with its fragrant white blossom in the crutch of its two leaves, which later develop into what is known as the wild Lemon, a tasty, sour wild food; the early Meadow Rue with its abundance of clustered flowers; the little Blueets, sometimes called Quaker Lilies of Innocence, with its tall slender stems terminating in a four petaled white or lilac blossom.

These are among the earliest of our wild flowers and as the season advances we find in the same pastures Blue Eyed Grasses, the Wild Carnations, Bouncing Bet, the Buttercups, Wild Columbine, Dutchman's Breeches, the Swamp Rose, the Blue Lupin, Evening Primrose, Star Flower, Butterfly weed, the wild Phlox and hundreds of others.

Let us traverse the marshy or swamp pastures. Here we find the Jack-in-the-Pulpit, or Indian Turnip. We all know who he is with his attractive gown and surplice and d' pungent, peppery, bulbous root; the Marsh Marigold with its yellow blossoms and great green leaves; the Skunk Cabbage with its unpleasant odor and little hood-shaped trap at its base, set for insects; the Golden Club with its yellow flower and green leaves that float the water; the Wild Ginger with its peppery odor and maroon blossom at the base of its leaves; the Bloodroot, the most delicate and dainty of our boggy plants, with pure white blossoms and a root that when you break really bleeds; the Lady Slippers and Moccasin flowers, our Wild Orchids, the most beautiful of them all; the Iris, so common to the water's edge, with its deep purple bloom; the Pitcher Plant, with its trumpet shaped leaves and dark red blooms, and the ferns in great variety, unfurling their fronds even before the sun has had the opportunity to melt the swamp ice and its mossy bed. There are hundreds of wild flowers in addition to these that are yours merely for the searching.

But in searching them out pick them sparingly, for many have suffered at the hands of the ruthless harvester. In fact so much so that those interested in the preservation of our wild flowers feel that the time is opportune to forbid picking certain varieties through the enactment of a wildflower law. In this group will be found the Arbutus, Lady Slippers, Bittersweet, Fringed Gentian, Trilliums and all Orchids. Some states have laws of this nature and they have gone far in perpetuating many of the rarer of the wildflowers.

G. J. Deur, 82, Reports Buds in Excellent Condition

Fruit growers can breathe easier. Good crops of nearly all kinds of fruit are in prospect.

Gerrit J. Deur, 82-year-old Holland orchardist, says so. And he ought to know as he has been forecasting fruit crop prospects for the last 30 years with surprising accuracy.

After examining buds in his plantings, Deur reports they still are dormant and have suffered no ill effects of the mild, open winter with several sudden changes in temperature. He said peach buds, which are the most susceptible to winter injury, are in excellent condition.

FENNIVILLE ACCIDENT VICTIM DIES SATURDAY

William H. Whitebeck, 53, injured in an accident near Cooper on U.S.-131 a week ago, died Saturday in Grise Hospital at Plainwell without regaining consciousness sufficiently to tell how his fatal injuries were suffered.

He was found beside his car where it had run off a curve near Cooper. No one witnessed the accident as far as officers have been able to determine. He is believed to have fallen asleep.

Until recently, Mr. Whitebeck was a state inspector of small fruits. He was a member of Damascus lodge, F. and A. M.

Surviving him are the widow, Beatie; a son, John, and a daughter, Margaret at home.

Masonic rites were held at the home Tuesday. Interment was in Fennville cemetery.

Starts Action at Holland in Strange Crash

Police Chief Frank Van Ry Saturday began action in regard to the "three-cushion billiards" accident on U.S.-131 that damaged two cars, a house, trees and a water hydrant Thursday night.

A warrant was issued for arrest of Henry Hilbrink of Holland on a charge of failing to obey a stop sign, pending investigation on a reckless driving count.

The strange affair started when Martin VanderBie, local fireman, driving on U.S.-131 to answer an alarm, was struck by a car driven by Hilbrink, causing the VanderBie car to jump the curb, sever a fire hydrant and crash into the home of Mrs. H. Brink with such force as to wreck part of the foundation and shift the frame structure about three inches on the cement blocks. VanderBie was hurled into the back seat of his car and the motor shifted into reverse so that the car backed away between two trees and came to rest about 50 feet away.

Hilbrink's car jumped the curb, broke off a shade tree and stopped. Except for a cut on Hilbrink's head and shock, the drivers escaped uninjured.

Zeeland Clubs Hold First Annual Banquet

To the tune of "Old McDonald Had a Farm," 113 members of the Zeeland Federated 4-H clubs sang their way into the hearts of their sponsors at the first annual banquet held in the Second Reformed church of Zeeland. The federation is composed of 10 clubs.

Sponsors are Fred Kist and A. C. VandenBosch of the Zeeland banks and Clarence Jalving, representing Holland banks; exchange clubs of the county, represented by Prof. A. E. Lampen of Hope college; Rotary clubs, represented by Leon Moody of Holland and Dick Boonstra of Zeeland; the Lake Shore Sugar Co., represented by field men, Titus VanHalsma, Marinus Leenhouts and John Kemme; and the Smith Agricultural Chemical Co., represented by Dick Miles, vice president.

Miles and John H. Kelly, field manager of the Lake Shore Sugar Co., were introduced as the "dads" of the federation. They originated sugar beet club work in the county. Several boys and girls described their trips to national and international events.

F. Earl Haas, district club agent for Ottawa, Kent, Berrien and Allegan counties, presented certificates and awards to members who completed projects. He said 16 different projects were completed in 1936 and there were 58 per cent more club members than two years ago. County Farm Agent L. R. Arnold and Home Demonstration Agent Mrs. Grace VanderKolk outlined work for the coming year.

A Grand Haven National Guard Came to Holland

FAZAKERLY, A FORMER HOLLAND BUSINESS MAN, ALSO PROMOTOR JOHN BREMER RETIRES FROM COMPANY

(Grand Haven Tribune)

Two well known men in this locality, H. Austin Lucas of this city and Lieut. Frank Fazakerly, Spring Lake, have received promotions in the 126th infantry, National Guard, to which they have been attached, along with others in the reassignments of the infantry as announced a few days ago by Col. William Hase, regimental commander.

First Lieut. Lucas has been promoted to a captaincy and assigned to Company D at Holland, replacing Capt. John Bremer, who requested transfer to the reserve list made effective April 1.

Second Lieut. Franklin Fazakerly was relieved of the assignment to Company G, Muskegon, and promoted to first lieutenant and will assume command of Headquarters company, 2nd battalion, at Muskegon, a place made vacant by the transfer of Capt. Lucas, who has been in command of this company for several years.

Capt. Lucas has had many years of military experience, dating from the time he joined the National Guard in Illinois. He went overseas in the World war and attended the U. S. Army candidates school at LaVallone, France, and came out of it with the rank of second lieutenant at the close of the war. He came back and permitted his reserve commission to lapse.

Several years later he was reaccepted as a reserve officer and assigned to duty with the 126th infantry and later he was transferred to the National Guard as a first lieutenant, and was appointed in command of Headquarters company, 2nd battalion, at Muskegon.

During the riot duty at Flint he was appointed intelligence officer of the regiment. Inspection of his company P to 2 d e a l officers gave the company a very high rank and drew attention to the efficiency of Capt. Lucas. He is known among army men as a strict disciplinarian, well schooled in tactics and with a very popular officer, it is said.

Lived Here Many Years
Capt. Lucas has lived in Grand Haven for many years. He has been a representative of the George B. Carpenter company for some time and has as his territory Michigan, Indiana and Ohio.

Lieut. Fazakerly was a member of G Company, 32nd Michigan, during the World war. When G company was broken up he and 141 men were transferred with the men of Company P to 2 d e a l 126th infantry, and he served through the war under this division. After the war he returned to this country and went into business in Holland on Central Ave., and rose to second lieutenant in Company D.

On moving to Muskegon he was transferred as a second lieutenant to Company G, 126th, where he has served since. Company G is commanded by Capt. Howard Pellegrom of this city and the transfer of Lieut. Fazakerly makes a vacancy among the officers in that company.

Lieut. Fazakerly lives in Spring Lake. He is a foreman at the Eagle-Ottawa Leather company.

Resignation of Capt. John Bremer, 485 College Ave., Holland, as commanding officer of Company D, 126th infantry, Michigan National Guard, was officially announced Thursday through receipt of an order from the adjutant general's office in Lansing.

The Sin of Adam and Eve-Genesis 3:1-15

Henry Geertlings

We have here a beautiful garden story with a man and woman in it. It is well and engagingly told. It sets forth so much truth that we know that we cannot exhaust it. Let it be said that it is a very wonderful story of man and his relation to the world in which he has been asked to live, a suggestive story of the record of his soul. It begins with him in a very primitive state. He has no experience. He is childlike in the innocence of his outlook upon his world. He has not achieved any character by means of discipline, the discipline of contact with his world and the making of decisions. He is a piece of white paper unwritten upon. He is a babe in the woods. He is a child in the kindergarten. He is starting out in lovely surroundings which have possibilities of good and evil. He is told what he may do and what he may not do. If he does this all will be well and he will go on in a happy state. If he does the other things he will bring trouble upon himself. He may know something that he did not know before, but sorrow and pain will come with the knowledge he thus gains. So we have a story of how a man and a woman, his companion, acted in the presence of temptations for good and possibilities for evil. Let us get some lessons from the story.

Let us note, first of all, that while this couple were innocent of their world and untired in it, yet they were placed in it as responsible beings. They had the privilege of choice. They were self-determining creatures. While they were told that they may and may not, yet they were not compelled to follow any particular direction or to make any specific choice. The responsibility of doing was all theirs and the responsibility of bringing consequences to them was all theirs. When one comes to think of it one is really terrified before the fact of self-determination. While it is a blessing and brings blessings and no one would want to live without such a right and power, yet it can and does get one into such tragic consequences. But still one would rather be able to say "Yes" and "No" than to be driven by some unseen and uncontrollable forces to undesired ends. We want to be masters of our souls. We want to be in the saddle guiding the fast-running steed of our own spirits. Who wants to be a machine driven by a cruel and relentless fate? Who wants to be so fixed and set in the beginning as that he can go only in one direction even if that direction were always towards the good. At the risk of slipping and detouring from the right and the good way we prefer to choose the way. We prefer to pay the high price of choice in a world of good and evil.

Let us see, in the next place, that the solicitation to choose the evil, or the wrong thing, comes to us with great craftiness. The serpent stands for subtlety. He is sly, sinous and creeping. So temptation comes upon us. It comes with subtle suggestions, harmless appearances and with arguments whose dangers are hidden. Temptation puts its best foot foremost. It puts beauty on the outside and conceals its ugliness. It takes advantage of your innocence and inexperience. It seeks to convince you that things are not as bad as they seem. It tries to instill into you the spirit "Who's afraid?" It argues that dangers have been very much overemphasized. It assumes a superior wisdom to the wisdom of God and the ages. It gets you into trouble and then runs away and leaves you to your fate while it laughs at your humiliation and discomfort.

Let us observe, too, that temptation takes advantage of your curiosity and love of adventure. We want to see what is behind curtains. We want to see what we cannot see and we should not see. We want to taste what we should not taste and we want to go where we should not go. We are determined that we shall not miss anything. If we are going to live in this world we are determined that we are going to see all that is to be seen and that we are going to try everything that is to be tried—at least we will try it once.

We chafe under the advice of stopping to consider the consequences and the dangers. We do not like keep-off-the-grass signs. We resent no-trespassing-her notices. Who has a right to prevent us? That is our attitude. Of course everyone knows that curiosity and adventure are real powers in the soul of man, but they are powers for evil as well as for good. There are necessarily forbidden areas of life and we must recognize them. It is by seeing the fruit of the forbidden tree and yet not eating it that we grow stronger. It is by restraining our curiosity and by checking our adventurous spirit and using them only for the high tasks of life that we grow a great manhood and a beautiful womanhood. We grow or go backward in a world of choices. We should not rebel against the prohibited, for it is but a school of discipline in which we learn to exert our best selves.
