Works Board Has Highest Net Profit In History of City

A net profit of $275,687.91, the largest in its 51 years of operation, has been recorded for 1944 by the board of public works, according to the annual report submitted to common council Wednesday night.

This represents an increase of $23,594.31 over the $252,093.60 reported for 1943.

Of the total net income, $239,269.71 was earned by the electric department and $45,418.20 by the water department.

Total operating revenue amounted to $252,334.11, half of which or $126,164.05 may be requisitioned by common council, according to city charter. Already $70,000 was turned over to the city last Feb. 19. The city's share is $6,702.25 more than the $119,461.50 last year. The balance of the 50 per cent allowed the city will be available whenever needed.

Of the total operating revenue, $213,008.23 was earned by the electric department and $39,325.88 by the water department.

Total contributions to the city since 1923 including the $70,000 made last month has been $1,612,246.54. In addition, city and school taxes paid for the year amounted to $16,972.70 and offices in the city hall were rented at an annual cost of $1,500.

The depreciation reserve which is still less than the actual plant depreciation is now $609,536.99 for the electric department and $315,687.89 for the water department. This amount is mostly invested in government bonds and treasury notes which can readily be converted to cash when needed for replacement or expansion work.

Outstanding interest in 1944 was the large increase in maximum 15-minute demand for the electric system. The peak of 8400 kw. which occurred Nov. 28 was a 20 per cent increase over the peak of 7000 kw. in 1943 and was not expected until late in 1945. This increase in maximum demand was not accompanied by a corresponding increase in average load which increased only 10.4 per cent or in the total kilowatt hours which increased 10.7 per cent.

The kilowatt hour output in 1944 totaled 31,467,000 compared with 28,423,382 in 1943.

Shot in Arm By Unseen Jap, Gets Furlough Home

Zeeland, April 5 — Pfc. Simon Disselkoen, 23, Zeeland, wounded in the left arm by an unseen Japanese on Leyte island in the Philippines, is on a 21-day convalescent furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Disselkoen, 41 Garfield Ave.

He is a veteran of heavy fighting on Guam and Leyte islands in the Pacific. On Guam he was with the famous 77th division which landed with two marine divisions to conquer the island in a record-breaking 30 days. The 77th recently landed on the tiny islands below Okinawa, 350 miles from Japan's home islands.

After the battles on Guam, where he served as a machine gunner, Disselkoen landed on Leyte island and although he hit the island on D-day plus 30 he was soon to hit it from the other side, Ormoc Bay, in a second D-day for the Yank troops on the island.

It was during the second week of action after landing in Ormoc Bay that Disselkoen was wounded.

He was advancing about 50 yards ahead of the main body of Yanks on patrol and caught a Japanese bullet in the elbow of his left arm. The bullet lodged in his arm and it was removed by a doctor on the island a short time later.

As to the Japs—Disselkoen said they were good fighters and always kept themselves well covered when the Americans advanced. But he added they were somewhat helpless when not under direct command of some officer. "They are slow thinkers," he said "and once we came upon a group of about 500 of them apparently uncommanded in a small village on Leyte."

"Some tried to fight and some to commit suicide but we killed most of them while they huddled around the village huts not knowing what to do. They were very weak from starvation, I guess, and I remember one in particular who tried to drive a bayonet into his stomach and kill himself but didn't have the strength to push it in. We captured him."

Disselkoen was born and attended high school in Corsica, South Dakota. He moved to Zeeland with his parents in 1938 and was inducted from Zeeland Oct. 8, 1942.

Property Owners in Favor of Tannery Lot
For Postwar Building

By a "straw" vote of nearly 3 to 1, Holland property owners in Monday's election gave the municipal recreation committee the "go ahead" signal to complete plans for a recreation building and favored the tannery property as a site for the proposed postwar project.

Voters favoring the project totaled 1,625 and those opposing it were 597. The tannery site received 938 votes; the site near the 21st St. tennis courts, 634; and other sites, 18.

Monday's voting climaxed a vigorous drive carried on by city leaders since the committee's decision March 19 to hold the advisory vote.

Preference of the tannery site also brought a fulfillment of a long fight for that site for civic purposes started by former Ald. Casey Kalkman. Mainly through efforts of Kalkman, the issue was submitted again and again to common council and finally was voted down in a city election Nov. 8, 1938. Nearly three years later it passed and the property was purchased for a total consideration of $10,487.76.

Construction of a municipal building on the tannery lot would entail more expense than at some other locations, since soil conditions would require additional piling. According to expressions of the voters, however, the city prefers a downtown location for the building.

Numerous civic and patriotic organizations endorsed the project the past week. School students also added their bit in influencing the vote.

The vote by wards:

Local Hurlers Report to Pro Teams

Clarence Van Wieren

Local hurlers, former players with Benny Batema's Holland Flying Dutchmen team, Al Bronkhurst, 29, and Clarence "Lefty" Van Wieren, 27, reported for spring training with professional baseball teams last week.

Bronkhurst, seven years in the minor leagues, has reported to the Chicago Cubs at French Lick, Ind., and Van Wieren has reported to Davenport, N. C., where the Nashville outfit of the Southern association is training. Van Wieren has signed a contract with the Nashville team as a direct result of a tryout with the Chicago Cubs last summer.

Bronkhurst has not been signed by the Cubs because he has been having trouble with his pitching arm for two years but if it looks like his arm is returning to its old form the Cubs will probably sign him.

Van Wieren won 14 games and lost 3 with the Dutchmen last season.

Plans have been made by the classical committee women of the Women's Missionary union of the Reformed churches in Holland for the ingathering and exhibit of articles made by the missionary societies throughout the year for the Knox Memorial hospital in Muscat, Arabia. The exhibit will be held in Hope Reformed church Friday, April 13, at 2 p.m.

The inspirational address will be given by Rev. Walter de Veld, recently returned from China. Preceding the address, a worship service titled "The Burden of Arabia," and written by Miss Hanna G. Hoekje, will be presented by members of the Women's Mission auxiliary of Third Reformed church. The chorus will be trained by Miss Henrietta Warnshuis who will preside at the organ.

Mrs. Peter Veltman will sing "Christ for Arabia," the words written by an early missionary. Rev. Peter Zwemer, who gave his life for that field. The melody is "The Bedouin Love Song" by Ciro Pignatti.

An offering will be taken for the expenses of sending the articles to the Muscat hospital. Heading the project is Mrs. W. J. Hillmer of Zeeland, secretary of missionary activities, with Mrs. John R. Mulder, president of the union, presiding.

Local Yank One Of First on Rhine

Pfc. Francis H. Wilbur, 28, 689 Central Ave., will remember Cologne, Germany, for a long time because it was there that he took his first crack at acting, and it was there he received the distinction of being the first Yank of the 415th infantry regiment (Tumblerwolf) to reach the Rhine river.

His company, F, had jumped off at 6:45 a.m. The way led through the rubble streets and snipers' bullets fired from ruined houses, slag piles and cellars. In the shadow of the ancient cathedral, the company began the attack on the railroad bend in the heart of the old city. A little later, Pfc. Wilbur, patrolling in advance of the main body of his company reached the river that Hitler had told his people the Allies would never reach.

As for acting, Wilbur's company chose the ruined opera house in Cologne for a command post and holed up there for the night.

In the opera house, blasted and blackened by Allied bombs, the boys put on a show in which Wilbur was one of the performers.

One war correspondent wrote about the show: "There was no plot to the 'doughboy opera.' It just grew — like a dandelion patch."

"The dressing room corridor was the stage. There was no lack of music. There were seven pianos all going at once."

Pfc. Wilbur was born in Vernon Center, Minn., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Brad Wilbur. He attended high school in Minnesota and moved to Holland with his sister, Mrs. Andrew Vander Yacht, shortly after the war started. His wife, the former Miss Marie Dannenburg is of Holland.

That is the record of Pfc. Ernest Wehrmeyer, 21, Purple Heart holder, who is spending a 14-day convalescent furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wehrmeyer, 10 West Sixth St.

Wehrmeyer who entered service March 30, 1944, arrived overseas last August. He spent only one day in England and went directly to France. Assigned as a replacement, he joined his outfit in the third armored division in Belgium and fought through the battle of Aachen.

Fifteen days after joining his unit, he received a slight wound on his right hand and about a week later was wounded slightly on his left thumb. About 10 days later he happened to be in the wrong spot and was hit again. By what he doesn't know, but his lips were burning and 10 teeth were chipped. He was treated by field medics all three times.

But on Nov. 7 he really caught it at Stolberg, Germany, where a German 88 exploded about 15 to 20 feet from him and he was blown a few feet into the air. He "blacked out" for three or four days and awoke in a hospital in Germany. From there he went to a hospital in Belgium, then five hospitals in France and two in England before arriving in the United States March 4. He was home for two week-ends before being granted this 14-day furlough. He will report back to Vaughn General hospital the latter part of next week.

The Wehrmeyer family is well represented in the armed forces. Ernest's brother, Henry, was killed in action Dec. 9, 1942, in New Guinea. A sister, Alice, who has enlisted in the medical corps of the Wac, expects to report for training this week at Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga.

Wehrmeyer was born in Iowa and came to Holland about six years ago. He went through the 11th grade of Holland High school.

Retiring Supervisor Is Still Busy

Frank Garbrecht, although retiring as supervisor from Port Sheldon township, will still be busy as manager of the west Ottawa soil conservation district which is doing a tremendous job in reclaiming worthless land in the county.

Succeeding Garbrecht on the board of supervisors will be T. G. Chelcan, an unopposed candidate for the office in today's township election for the office Jacob Bloemers, also unopposed, will succeed Chelcan as township clerk.

Giving too much other work and ill health as his reasons for retiring after 11 years of service on the board, Garbrecht said he felt a younger man could fill the position better.

Garbrecht, supervisor since 1934, held office as highway commissioner for four years, road overseer for 21 years and member of the

THE QUEEN'S RETURN

When she returned to the liberated part of the Netherlands recently Queen Wilhelmina was received with wild enthusiasm by her people. Processions were formed, flags were unfurled, arches of welcome were erected. Dressed in their shabby best the simple people of liberated Holland did all they could to show their enthusiasm. There was in their welcome a note that was very near to worship.

To the rationalistic mind that may appear fantastically extravagant. Such a person remembers that Queen Wilhelmina, worthy and high-minded and patriotic though she may be, is after all just a woman, no better than thousands of her subjects who almost kiss the ground she walks on. Those subjects bore the brunt of hunger and tyranny and Nazi brutality during the past five years, while the queen lived in personal security in London. That was not to her discredit, but the fact remains that the subjects who worship her are, as persons, fully as worthy of worship.

If they were worshipping the queen as a woman—a 63 year old woman with her normal share of faults and weaknesses—they would hardly be showing the intelligence we have a right to expect from a people so heroic as the Dutch.
The fact is that in their fantastically enthusiastic welcome they were not worshipping a woman but an idea. The queen stands for Dutch sovereignty, in their hearts and minds. The queen is the symbol of five centuries of Dutch freedom, with all that that involves. In welcoming her person back to the Netherlands those people were welcoming the return of the reign of Dutch law and the era of Dutch freedom.

Most people have a hard time making an abstract idea seem real until they have incarnated it in a person. For the Dutch the queen is that person when they try to grasp the idea of their own freedom and their own nationality.
For the past five years they have been confused by all sorts of political cross-currents. Even now, as was shown in the recent cabinet shakeup, they hardly know what to tie to the queen stands above parties; she remains the symbol of Dutch nationality whether the Gerbrandy government is in power or is replaced by another. She represents historical continuity to them; she is the Netherlands in so far as a country can be incarnated in a person.

The enthusiasm of the Dutch people was not surprising. In welcoming the queen as a person they were welcoming their own country back to Dutch soil.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

The fact of the resurrection opens for us great privileges, but we should also remember that it also lays upon us great responsibilities. In our personal life of devotion, we should always try to keep alive the sense of the Lord's presence. And we should exert our influence as church members to see that the first day of the week, which marks our Lord's return from the grave, is reverently kept. Secularization is the persistent enemy of true Christian faith.
Our Lord's resurrection was the disclosure of the superiority and triumph of things spiritual over things material.—Douglas

Why not accept the invitation and go to church next Sunday?

The Book and the Faith—Psalm 145:10-19; II Corinthians 3:1-8
By Henry Geerlings

The Bible is a unit. It was not always so. It grew little by little.
Everyone knows there are actually 66 books of various sizes in it.
These were written at different times over a period of some 14 centuries. They were written by many authors, some of whom were poor, some rich, some kings, some peasants, some learned, some un-learned. These many books were brought together because it was seen that they told the same story of God's love and Christ's redemption. There is a connecting thread running through them all.

The Bible is a divine-human book. It had God and man as its authors. It is a mistake to imagine that the human authors knew nothing, thought nothing, did nothing during the process. They were more than amanuenses. God used all they knew, all they experienced and all they could find out. During all this process they were under the influence of the Holy Spirit, who brought all things to their remembrance, and guided them into the truth.

But if they could interview friends for facts about God and His ways of working they were expected to do so, and if they could get additional light by studying manuscripts and ransacking libraries they were expected to do that. They cooperated actively with God in producing the one book of the ages. The Bible reflects the personalities and peculiarities of its authors, but it is none the less fully inspired of God.
He permitted nothing to enter that was not the truth and did not serve his purpose.

The one and only theme of the Bible is religion. It claims to deal with the truth of God completely and conclusively. Whatever of literature, history, science and psychology it handles is incidental to its main purpose. These are summoned as supports of the main structure. We speak of the Bible as literature, but it is that and nothing more. It is words removed from God's purpose. It has some amazingly wise things to say about science, but it makes no claim to say any final word on that subject. It offers us the most illuminating study of the human mind ever penned, but if it had ended there it would have failed of attaining its objective. The Bible is a religious book. We go to it for light on spiritual problems. We seek its guidance in the realm where all other volumes disappoint us.

The Bible proves its claim to first place in our lives by the way it works. It effects a change in the soul, turning it from wrong to right. It is our textbook in the sphere of religion, leading us from ignorance to wisdom. One of its fruits is joy; another is the eye enlightened to distinguish evil from good; another is an appreciation of the unchanging and eternal nature of truth; and still another is its quality of justice and impartiality. Indeed, it may be doubted if we are quite able to admire the divine character and claim of the scriptures until we see what it can do with these lives of ours.

Its unquestioned evidence must be found upon the level to which it can lift mankind.
The Bible must be taught as is any other branch of knowledge.
Timothy's mother and grandmother observed this law. They did not wait until he grew up. They did not trust to any accidental or fortuitous forces that might come along and sweep him into the kingdom. They planted the truth in his youthful soul. They sowed the good seed before the tares got a start. That is the way God normally works. Darkness does not have much of a chance in a room that is flooded with light. It seems to have pleased God to put the promotion of truth on an educational basis. Learn, know, search, understand, are Bible words that convey to us God's method. We learn of Him by learning His word.
We get acquainted with him by getting acquainted with his word.

Now if we would understand the Bible we must come to it with a mind that is willing to obey. If we are eager to do His will we shall know His teaching. The holy scriptures were never given to satisfy the intellectual curiosity of men.
It is a truth we cannot gain say that the harboring of conscious sin draws a veil over our faces when we come to interpret the Bible.
We cannot understand the man with whom we are out of sympathy. Sympathy with God's plan, a heart that welcomes His truth, hands and feet that are willing and eager to do His will, these are keys that release the meaning of the Book. It is amazing how little the Bible has for us while we insist on doing about as we please.
Again it is amazing how much it has for us when we come to it with clean hands and a pure heart.

For a long time Fire Marshall Blom has been agitating the purchase by the city of an auto fire truck, but this will no longer be necessary after this because the Fire Marshall received one yesterday for a Christmas present, according to a story in the Friday, Dec. 26, issue of the Holland Del-ly Sentinel published in 1913. Yesterday while the chief was enjoying himself at a social gathering of relatives, Santa's gift arrived.
It was a perfectly equipped automobile fire truck. Nothing was lacking. The hose was there and all the apparatus that is used by the fire boys in fighting a fire.
Nothing had been forgotten. The only trouble with it was that —It was only about six inches long.

Yesterday a family reunion was held at the home of the Misses Maude and Henrietta Zwemer in honor of the Rev. Samuel S. Zwermer of Cairo, Egypt and Miss Nellie Zwemer of Amoy, China who are visiting in this city. For the first time in many years nearly all of this family of pioneer settlers were able to gather together to celebrate Christmas and the occasion was a joyous one.

Trinity church was filled to the doors last evening when a chorus of 45 voices rendered the sacred cantata "The Everlasting Light" by Ira B. Wilson. The cantata was given under the direction of Herman Cook.

Although Zeeland's charter has no provision for a referendum nevertheless something like a referendum is to be applied in the case of the question: "Picture Show or No Picture Show. For some year past repeated attempts have been made by picture show people to secure a license to open a motion picture theatre in that city but always without success. Recently the request was repeated by James A. Demsey of Grand Rapids and when the council hesitated because they were not convinced that the sentiment of the people was in favor of such a theatre Demsey offered to canvass the people themselves.
The work is being done the present week.

The Cappon Bertach Leather Co. remembered each of its some 350 employees with a crisp one dollar bill as a Christmas present. The management of the De Pree Chemical Co. presented each of the men employed there with a large turkey and a box of cigars while the girls were given a box of candy and a turkey. Many of the other factories passed the cigars and bon bonns.

For the second time in the past four years, Hope college has been honored by having one of its former students receive the Rhodes Scholarship, began a story in the Saturday, Dec. 27 issue. This noon a meeting of the committee at Ann Arbor the scholarship for this year was awarded to Hessel E. Yntema, son of Prof. and Mrs.
D. B. Yntema. The news of the success of the former Hope college student was doubly welcome to his family here. It came on the 25th anniversary of the marriage of the young man's parents and many relatives were gathered at the Yntema home.

The quarterly meeting of the officers and teachers of the First Reformed church was held last School convention last July at Zurich, Switzerland and visit some of the mission fields, gave a graphic description of the places visited and told in an interesting way about the great convention.

As soon as the board of county road commissioners agree to put in three miles of improved road somewhere between Olive Center and the Zeeland road on the road that leads north and south through North Holland, the farmers along that stretch of highway will agree to grade the road for the 12 miles from Olive Center to Holland, according to a story in the Monday Dec. 29 issue.
This offer on the part of many of the farmers living along that road comes as a result of a suggestion made through the Sentinel, which last week printed a detailed story of what the farmers along the Borelio road were doing along this line.

George Root has accepted a po-

Holland was again the scene of a holdup Saturday night when Tony Dogger was held up at the point of a gun by a masked man on Columbia Ave. While he was passing a dark part of the street, Dogger was suddenly confronted by a masked man with a big black gun and he was politely asked to hold up his hands. The robber then went through his pockets but got only one dollar in money and a few articles of little value.

Dec. 23 at Lynchburg.

County Will Have At Least Three New Supervisors

Holland city and Ottawa county went Republican about 3 to 1 or better in the state election Monday. At least 5,167 votes were cast throughout the county, Holland city, with 2,733 according to more than half of the total.

Returns were not complete on the township elections, but from indications at noon, there will be at least three new supervisors at the next session of the board. In Port Sheldon township, T. G. Chellean, former township clerk, will replace Frank Garbrecht. Garbrecht who served as supervisor for 11 years did not seek reelection. William Koop of Holland, by virtue of his election as city assessor, will replace Peter H. Van Ark on the board. Simon De Boer of Holland defeated incumbent Herman Van Tongeren in the city primaries last February.

Republican majorities of 3 to 1 prevailed in most precincts, but the Democrats had a slight edge in the Grand Haven fourth ward. In eight precincts, the margin was about 7 or 8 to 1. Two precincts gave the Republicans a slight edge. Out of 31 votes cast in Park township precinct No. 1, 30 went generally to the Republicans and one to the Democrats, although Caball polled five.

Township and city clerks turned in their reports on the state ballot to County Clerk William Wilds in Grand Haven this morning and the canvassing board met at 11 a.m. Members are Gerrit Yntema, Peter Damstra and J. W. Scott.

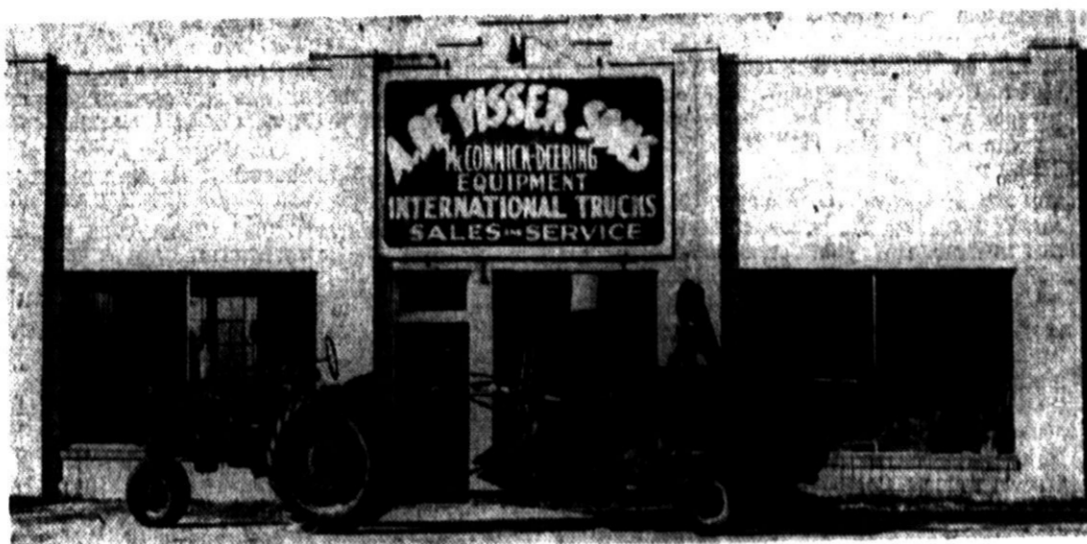

Republicans apparently gave little concern to the Democratic candidacy of an Ottawa resident for the state board of agriculture. The candidate, George Caball, Zeeland poultryman, carried only one of Ottawa's 30 precincts. Even in his home town, he trailed, 136 to 246 for Melville McPherson, GOP incumbent. However, the results showed that a number of Republicans did split their tickets in favor of Caball as his running mate, Frank Wiegand, received only 61 votes in Zeeland. And in Holland Caball received 826 votes to Wiegand's 627. County-wide, Caball received 1,591 votes and Wiegand got 1,230.

But the county total for McPherson was 3,748 and for his running mate, Forest Akers, it was 3,528. Holland gave McPherson 1,788 and Akers, 1,674.

The only majority for Caball was the Democratic fourth ward, Grand Haven, which gave 32 votes each to Caball and Wiegand, 29 to Akers and 28 to McPherson.

Laketown Township
Laketown township in Allegan county had no opposition and no formal candidates for one of the places on the board of review, for highway commissioner and constables. Relected were James Boyce, supervisor; Herman Tien, clerk; John Henry Scholten and Benjamin Beckfort, justices of the peace; and Alfred Scholten, board of review. Elected by a "write-in" vote were Ben Huist, board of review; Cornelius Zeedyk, highway commissioner; and Peter Van Klavren, constable.

Allendale Township
Unopposed winners in the Allendale township election in Ottawa county were Justin Zylstra, supervisor; John H. Gemmen,

SERVES LOCAL FARMERS

A. De Visser Sons, the International Harvester Dealer, built the above plant and started service facilities to farmers in the fall of 1940, and during the past several years much modern machinery has been installed for servicing all types of farm machinery, dairy equipment, refrigeration, motor trucks, etc.

The nation realizes the great task that confronts the farmers today. More food must be produced with less help and equipment than in the pre-war years, and the farmers have done a wonderful job. Four million people have been taken from the farms and still the harvest came in.

The farmers, and city people as well, realize that without the help of modern farm equipment, they could not have produced the crops necessary to sustain the war effort. Hundreds of people, old and young, put in many extra hours to produce crops, and without the help of farm machinery this could not have been accomplished. This marvelous job is a great tribute to our farmers.

Mr. De Visser advises that only through that fine spirit of cooperation on the part of the farmers, have we been able to keep farm tractors and other farm machinery going through this critical period. The cooperation of farmers is asked in placing orders for repair parts and service far in advance to permit them to schedule this work through their shop.

Port Sheldon
All nominees on the township ballot were elected including T. G. Chellean as supervisor who will succeed Frank Garbrecht who did not seek election. Others include Jacob Bloemers, clerk; Bert Beckman, treasurer; Dumont Cole, highway commissioner; Henry Elbel and William Van Dragt, justices of the peace; Adolph Hoecker and Herman Lange, board of review; Herman Lange, George Maierhauser, H. Van Eyk and Charles Shippek, constables.

There was no opposition in Holland, Zeeland, Robinson and Polk townships.

Constables elected in Holland township were Adrian Veele, Peter Schaap, Marvin Smith and Bernard Veneklasen.

Lievensse Will Remain on Bond Speaker's Bureau
Frank M. Lievensse, who has resigned as city bond chairman after nearly four years of service, has said he will continue to serve on the speaker's bureau of the state committee, following a request from Walter J. Wade, executive manager of the U. S. treasury war finance committee for Michigan.

In the letter in which Lievensse's resignation was accepted with "sincere regrets," Wade said, "We had always considered that you would be with us for the duration. You have served in this capacity in a most conscientious and capable manner, especially in the early days of the program when you effectively made the payroll savings program workable and successful."

O. W. Lowry will succeed Lievensse as city chairman.

Those who oppose God may use all their wit and power, but will be overthrown at last.

Fine Fabrics Are Cleaned at Ideal

The Ideal Dry Cleaners, 148 College Ave., owned and operated by Herman Beukema and Robert Vasscher, cleans spring clothes in the most delicate shades and also cleans curtains, quilts, furs, upholstery and winter clothing.

The importance of cleaning and pressing of clothing of all kinds to conserve and permit longer wear of garments is stressed by the firm. In these times it is also essential to be sure that only best chemicals are used in the cleaning business.

Only the highest quality cleaning fluid with an oil base is used which gives garments a much softer finish. Not all cleaning establishments can use such a fluid however, because only the larger plants have the facilities to remove the odor left by this preparation.

The Ideal Cleaner trucks and drivers maintain an efficient and prompt service at all times. Call 2465 for prompt pick up and delivery service.

Clothing Drive to Start on April 23

C. Neal Steketee and Willard C. Wichers, local co-chairmen for the United National Clothing Collection drive, headed nationally by Henry J. Kaiser, have arranged a meeting for all committee chairmen to be held Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers of the city hall. The drive will be held here April 23 through 28.

The co-chairmen who were appointed by Mayor Elmer J. Schepers at the request of Kaiser said today that the work of perfecting the organization is nearing completion. Used clothing for the needy overseas will be collected in a house-to-house canvass with all materials gravitating to the armory where garments will be sorted, packed and shipped out immediately.

In addition to the committee chairmen already appointed, several organizations such as the service clubs, American Legion, Junior Welfare League and the Women's Literary club which have appointed committees for war services will send representatives to the meeting Friday. Other organizations such as P.T.A.s, Ladies Aids, patriotic organizations and lodges who are interested in cooperating in the drive also are requested to send representatives.

Does City Want Airport? Now Is the Time to Act

The great and outstanding question facing Holland's people today is: "Does Holland want an airport?"

"If so, NOW is the time to act!" So says the Holland Chamber of Commerce which contends that air transportation of today and tomorrow will emerge from the war two or three decades ahead of the normal rate of growth.

Many of the boys who come back home after the war will be experienced aviators, both as pilots and ground engineers in the upkeep and repair of planes, according to the Chamber of Commerce which states that far superior planes, better facilities and service, the last word in airports, wider public support, more eagerness to travel by air, more reasons for travel, air-mail, air express, more effective safety devices all are a part of future air expansion.

The Chamber continues: "The airlines are 'on top' of all these developments. They are ordering the finest planes for post-war use, taking full advantage of all scientific advancements in aviation achieved during the war; planning to expand fivefold; providing more speed, more comfort, more economy."

"Air transportation is going to give employment to thousands of men and women. The future of this new method of transportation is so colossal that it is beyond the imagination of the human mind."

"Far-sighted cities of the United States are building large airports to take advantage of the stupendous development of aerial transportation that is now being prepared for the postwar days. The Air Transport association of America, composed of 21 airlines, is formulating a program that makes one gasp in the contemplation of the project."

"Those cities that have vision and are alert, showing their faith by constructing good airports, will receive first consideration by this gigantic association in their establishment of permanent airlines."

"Our federal government, which fully realizes the importance of airline transportation, has appropriated millions of dollars in the development of the project. Those cities, which are ready and show a willingness to meet the government requirements, can and will be greatly benefited."

"Holland has frequently been overcautious in the development of civic welfare."

"The building of our first public water works system was vigorously opposed."

"It took three elections to build our first sewer system."

"The paving of our streets was only obtained after a bitter struggle, and, at our first hearings, there were those who shed crocodile tears, saying that it would confiscate their property as they could not pay the taxes."

"The placing of boulevard lights on our main streets, when put to a vote of the people was voted down."

"The building of Riverview park was accomplished only by stratagem."

"Who would want to dispense with any one of these improvements today?"

"Does Holland want an airport? Now is the time to act."

Warns About Sufficient Postage on Gov't Mail

Postmaster Harry Kramer today called attention to the fact that a considerable amount of matter addressed to various branches of the federal government throughout the country is being mailed with insufficient postage and is refused by such branches because they have no funds to pay the postage due.

Mailers are advised, therefore, to affix proper postage to all matter addressed for delivery to the various government branches. Where mail is refused, it is sent to the return address and if the sender desires to have the matter again sent to the addressee, it will be necessary to prepay postage anew, and enclose the matter in a new envelope or wrapper.

HOW WE DID IN '44

MICHIGAN BELL REPORTS MORE BUSINESS—LESS PROFIT

With Michigan's mines and farms, factories and shipyards, delivering more and more war goods, the use of our services in 1944 was greater than ever. All essential telephone needs were met. We served more people than ever; and generally we served them well.

However, despite our best efforts, an increasing number of applicants waited for telephones to be installed. And some long distance calls were delayed. On the financial side, earnings continued to be lower than before the war. Our primary aim was, and is, to do everything possible to hasten victory.

(COMPARISONS BELOW ARE FOR 1939, EUROPE'S FIRST WAR YEAR, AND 1944, OUR THIRD WAR YEAR)

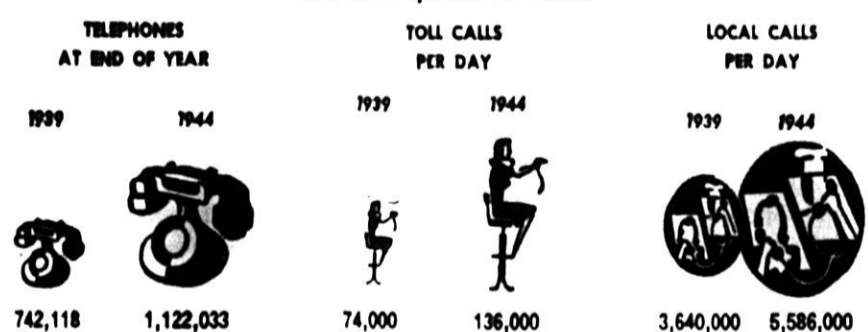

WE THE PEOPLE OF MICHIGAN BELL

NUMBER OF EMPLOYEES

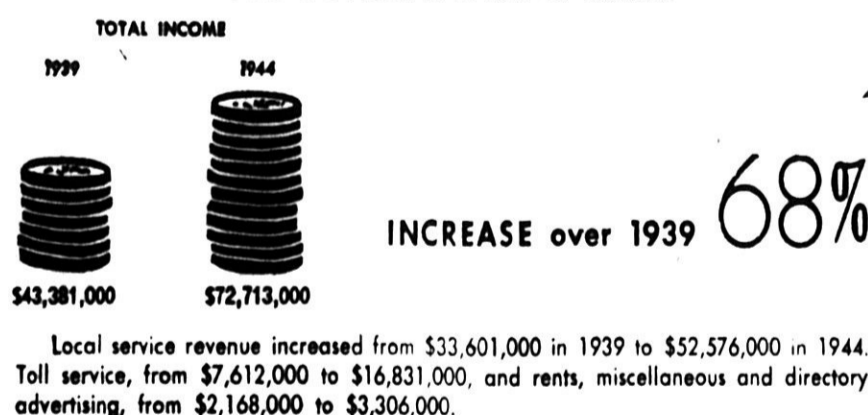

At the end of 1944 we had more than 7 men in uniform for every 10 still on company jobs. In 1941, there were 278 Michigan Bell men in uniform, in 1942—1,757, in 1943—2,595 and in 1944—2,715. And 97 women were in the Services at the end of 1944.

WE HAD QUITE A YEAR

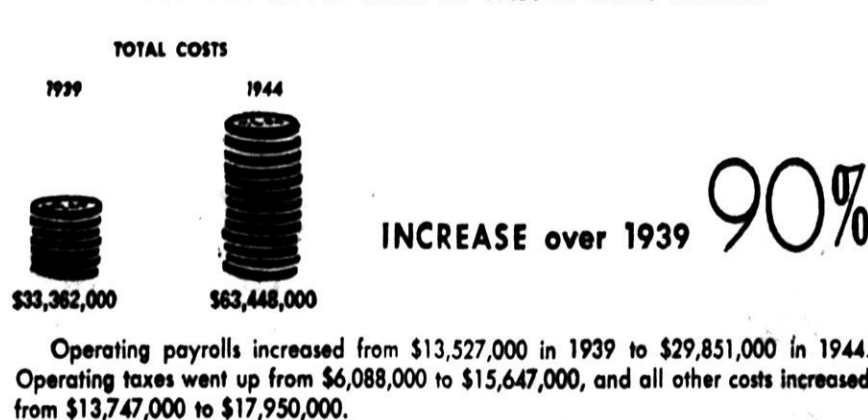

Investment in buildings, wires, central office and other plant equipment was $192,731,000 at the end of 1939. At the end of 1944 it was $243,383,000—an increase of 26%. But the record-breaking volume of business loaded the system to capacity.

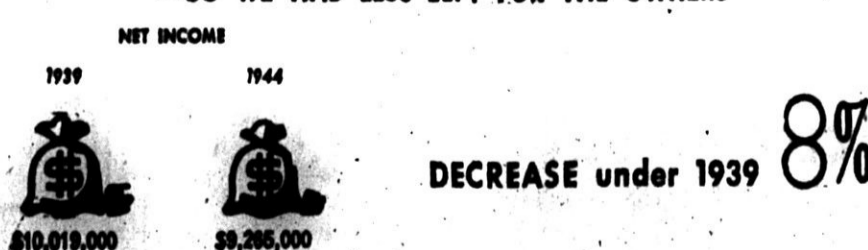

—AND WE TOOK IN A LOT OF MONEY

—BUT OUR COSTS WENT UP FASTER THAN INCOME

—SO WE HAD LESS LEFT FOR THE OWNERS

OUT OF NET INCOME CAME

—SO WE PAID LOWER DIVIDENDS TO STOCKHOLDERS

WE GAVE PRETTY GOOD SERVICE

Except that we could not install telephones for all who applied, we gave reasonably good service. Almost nine out of ten long distance connections were completed while customers remained on the line. Most telephones were trouble-free all year and 95% of all cases of trouble were fixed the day reported.

—AND WE SCRAPED THE BARREL TO SERVE AS MANY AS POSSIBLE

In the 5 years since war broke out in Europe, we added as many telephones as in the previous 18 years. This used up virtually all our spare facilities. Because of war shortages, we could not begin to get all the things we needed. Old switchboards, instruments and wire were pressed back into use to provide service for as many as possible.

—BUT WE DIDN'T HAVE ENOUGH TO GO AROUND

Despite our best efforts, 7 out of every 100 long distance calls were delayed in 1944 by shortage of lines. And at the end of the year, nearly 98,000 applications for service were held for facilities. All essential orders were filled promptly. The other orders we could fill were installed under a government priority plan, as present users gave up service. It takes more than telephones to remedy the situation. We need buildings, wire, cable, switchboards, and time to install them.

—SO WE'RE GOING TO DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT.

The only relief from our present situation is a general enlargement of our telephone system. Assuming good business conditions will prevail for several years following the reconversion period, we foresee a construction program costing as much as $120,000,000 in the first five years after the war.

Such a program would enable us to clear up our backlog of orders . . . to keep pace with increasing needs . . . to resume conversion of manually operated offices to dial operation . . . to resume the extension of rural service . . . and to assure the people of Michigan the benefits of the latest technical developments in communication. This program will mean jobs for our returning veterans and for many others as well.

—AND WE'LL NEED MONEY FROM INVESTORS

In obtaining the large amounts of money needed for expansion, we rely on the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to sell its securities to investors country-wide. Attractiveness of A. T. & T. securities depends on Bell System earnings, so the public interest Michigan Bell must do its part to maintain satisfactory System earnings. Currently the System's earnings rate is one-third lower than the average of other industries; and Michigan Bell's is still less—about half that of other industries.

The furnishing of good telephone service depends on earnings sufficient to pay a fair return on the money invested in the business. Any whittling of already inadequate earnings would further weaken our ability to meet expected postwar needs of Michigan.

In Paris Hospital With Head Wound

Pvt. George J. Steggerda

Pvt. George J. Steggerda, 23, known here as "Pink" Steggerda, is recovering in a Paris hospital from a head wound received in Germany around the middle of March when a mortar shell burst a short distance from the jeep he was driving, according to a letter dated March 21 received by his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Steggerda, all of whom reside at 294 East 13th St.

The soldier who was transferred to a reconnaissance company March 11 from a half-track unit also wrote that a serviceman in the rear of the jeep had been wounded in five places when the shell exploded. He said he had a hole in his own helmet as large as a half dollar and a few holes through his collar. He was flown to Paris.

This will mark the second separation from his brother, Pvt. Robert L. Steggerda, Robert, known as "Bud," received a flesh wound in the hip Jan. 9. He returned to his brother's company March 3 and a week later they were both transferred to reconnaissance.

The two brothers have been together since they were inducted last April 25. They landed in France Dec. 23, 1944, and were assigned to the 1st division of Patton's 3rd army. They both received citations for the battle of Bastogne.

Another brother, Kenneth, also with Patton's 3rd army, finally met Pink in Luxembourg Jan. 13, just four days after Bud was wounded and sent to France. It was their first meeting in 19 months and since then they saw each other eight or nine times. Ken, however, did not meet Bud.

Bud and Pink are with the 10th armored infantry battalion and Ken is a mail carrier and telephone operator with headquarters ordinance.

Falls in Nearest Hole as Shells Hit

When the shells start dropping around you in New Guinea you head for the nearest fox-hole and if it happens to be a hole where your company throws the garbage its just your tough luck, but it's better than any place on level ground.

That's what happened to Corp. Harry Glatz, 30, of the Red Arrow division when fighting in New Guinea. A Jap light artillery piece opened up on his unit and he and several other boys started heading for the nearest hole. It turned out to be a garbage hole. The boys got out as fast as they got in when the shelling stopped a short time later.

Corp. Glatz, now home on a 21-day rotation furlough, says emphatically, "I'm darn glad to be back." His brother, Pfc. Gerrit, who left with him with Co. D in the fall of 1940, is still in the Pacific—on Luzon island in the Philippines.

Corp. Glatz wears the presidential unit citation, the combat infantryman's badge and three campaign ribbons with two major engagement stars.

After training in the United States, he went to New Guinea where he crossed the Owen-Stanley mountains on foot and fought in the Sanananda campaign until he was stricken with malaria. Since that time he has had 15 attacks of the fever and spent considerable time in a hospital in Australia. He will be assigned to new duty at Miami Beach, Fla., upon completion of his furlough.

He has another brother, Pvt. Al, serving in the army at Scott Field, Ill. He is the son of Albert Glatz, Sr., 195 East Ninth St.

Organize to Back Prisoner Camp

Grand Haven, April 5 — Fruit growers of Kent, Ottawa and Muskegon counties, interested in the early establishment of a war prisoner camp, have organized into a group known as the Tri-County Farm Labor association. A prisoner-of-war camp must be sponsored by an organized association.

A total of 66 growers signed up as members of the new association. This group must incorporate under state laws before it can sponsor the camp. The group guarantees to meet some of the initial costs in setting up a camp.

Growers of this area had a camp set up in 1944 and without prisoner labor much fruit would have been lost. Last year the camp was limited to 250 workers but requests now indicate that during the peach season there will be 450 or more prisoners on hand to harvest. The growers are requesting the camp to open about July 1.

Officers of the new association are John Frelck, Sparta, president; Otto Klenk, Sparta, vice-president; Claude Van Covering, Muskegon, secretary and Paul Steinhardt, treasurer. The executive committee consists of Kenneth Bol, Roy Lowing, Gregor Heitz and Ed Robinette.
