ANOTHER SCHOOL ELECTION ON THE NORTHSIDE

FRIDAY EVENING HAS BEEN SET FOR BEECHWOOD SCHOOL PROJECT

The voters in the Beechwood school district are still casting about to find out what kind of a school they should have on the northside.

It is understood that the latest project to be presented to the people by the school board, is an eight room school costing $80,000, either to be connected to the old school, or to turn the old school into a community building.

This is rather a change from the first project when a proposition of $127,000 was brought upon two different occasions.

The first vote was practically a tie, and when the vote was taken again the proposal was overwhelmingly defeated, and now the school board will try again Friday night.

ART TEACHER'S WORK MADE VERY PRACTICAL

Maroon and Orange--Interesting things have been accomplished by the art department at Junior high school. Mrs. Krum's classes have made some books to be used while on a trip or as an autograph book. The different names of the books are: Camping days, Memories, Our Trip, Snap Book. There are also little booklets displaying different scenes of life. They are: The Spanish Dancer, made by Pearl Van Dyke and Katharine Vander Blom; Japanese Festival by Henrietta Gebben; Dutch Scene by Amanda Oosting; "We're in the Navy Now" by Helen Raffenaud, Ruth Johnson and Audrey Desike. These articles were all made by Junior high students and are very worth while.

LOOK OUT FOR DRY ORANGES SAYS HEALTH BOARD

CITY INSPECTOR IS ADVISED TO WATCH CITRUS FRUIT SHIPMENTS

Henry Bosch, City Food Inspector, Told To Inspect Closely

City food inspector, Henry S. Bosch, has received strict orders relative to the inspecting of oranges and citrus fruit generally as these arrive and are sold in Holland and the reasons why are set forth in a communication from the United States department of agriculture bureau of chemistry. Among other things the department says as follows:

As a result of low temperatures in the State of Florida, occurring on January 11th, 12th and 15th, 1927, much of the citrus fruit, viz. oranges, tangerines and grapefruit, then ripe or ripening on the trees, was frosted, and such of the citrus fruit which was frosted has now become more or less dry.

The drying in citrus fruit which occurs as a result of freezing begins at the stem and proceeds progressively until, in extreme cases, the fruit becomes entirely dry.

Since citrus fruit which has lost a material percentage of its juice is essentially worthless, the sale of such fruit to the public constitutes fraud, and the Bureau of Chemistry, enforcing the Federal Food and Drugs Act, is now intensively engaged in preventing the distribution of such fruit to the public, fifty cars having already been seized.

By concerted action on the part of all Federal, State and city food officials within the next few weeks will serve to correct the situation, since the shippers who are 'taking a chance' will not be allowed to market their product.

The communication was first sent from Washington to the department of agriculture at Lansing and from there on to Mr. Bosch and other food inspectors through the state.

He will also be glad to answer any questions in regard to the best type or types of district such as ours.

GIVE TOBACCO BACK TO INMATES OF INFIRMARY

VAN SCHELVEN'S PLACE ON POOR COMMISSION FILED BY SUPERVISORS NEXT TERM

Ottawa May Build Smoking Room At the County Poor-house

The board of supervisors of Ottawa county took the ban off the smoking restrictions of the county infirmary late yesterday afternoon and instructed the poor commissioners to allow the inmates to have their pipes, cigars and tobacco in whatever form they want it.

J. J. Belt, a member of the commission, was present and presented his report of the inspectors to the board but took no part in the discussion.

More than an hour was devoted to this subject which, due to publicity, has attracted interest in many parts of the county. The board even went so far as to suggest that they buy the tobacco and, if not possible to secure smoking rooms in the present structure, they should appropriate money to build an outbuilding.

The ban was placed about three years ago. It was said by the commission that the inmates were well satisfied to give up the "filthy weed" if provided with new suits and some candy. The suits are long since worn out and the candy gone, and but for the agitation recently carried on the poor old men would remain without the solace of their pipes.

Restrictions as to house and smoking in bed were suggested to the commissioners.

Gerrit Van Schelven, who died last week in Holland, was a member of the county poor commission. His place will be filled at the next meeting of the board held in June.

OSCAR PETERSON IS SWORN IN AS THE NEW CITY CLERK

Holland once more has an elected city clerk. Oscar Peterson was sworn in by City Attorney McBride at the meeting of the common council on Wednesday night. This was done ahead of the appointed time because the city needs the services of a legally sworn clerk. The position has been held by Helen Klomprens since the departure of Richard Overway but today Mr. Peterson is on the job legally, as he has been informally for about a week.

The duty of giving to posterity the heritage of living streams, forests and wild life was stressed by Mr. Jewell, and financial needs to carry out proposed plans were outlined by Mr. George.

ALDERMEN ARE AGAINST INDIANA TAX SYSTEM

The ways and means committee of the council offered a resolution to the council Wednesday night, condemning the Indiana tax plan for Michigan cities. The resolution, which reads as follows, was adopted unanimously:

"Whereas, The City of Holland has received a communication from the Michigan League of Municipalities advising that there is a movement on foot to bring before the Michigan Legislature the so-called Indiana Tax plan; and

"Whereas, If such plan should be made a law in Michigan it would in effect take away from the Municipalities the powers of their own appropriations and expenditures and place these powers into the hands of designing politicians and people who would not have any direct interest in the welfare of the Cities of Michigan; and

"Whereas, The City of Holland has because of the patriotism and loyalty of its citizens enjoyed a very prosperous and happy future under the present plan of promoting its improvements and meeting its obligations; therefore be it

"Resolved: That the Common Council of the City of Holland do unalterably oppose the adoption of this so-called Indiana Tax Plan; and be it further

"Resolved: That these resolutions be spread at length upon the minutes of the common council and that a copy be transmitted to the Michigan League of Michigan Municipalities."

TO EXPERIMENT WITH NEW TYPE CATCH BASINS

THREE OF THEM TO BE USED IN STREET PAVING THIS YEAR

The common council Wednesday night decided to try out three of the new type sanitary catch basins on 13th street. This will be done as an experiment with a view of using more later on if these three prove satisfactory.

Alderman McLean tried to have them introduced all along 13th St. as property owners had asked for them. But the city engineer asserted that the conditions on one side of the street were not favorable for them. Mr. McLean thereupon withdrew his request.

Mayor Kammeraad tried to have the new basins used along at least half of the street, since they had been recommended by the board of health as a sanitary measure, but the formal report of the streets and crosswalks committee was adopted.

The contract for manhole covers was awarded to the Burke Engineering company of this city.

PROPOSAL FAILS FOR CHANGING OF CLASSIFICATION

COUNCIL VOTES NOT ADOPT RECOMMENDATION OF ZONING BOARD

Property Owners Speak For and Against Proposed Change

A proposal to change eighty feet of the block between 16th and 17th street east of River avenue from a residence to a business classification was rejected by the common council Wednesday night by a vote of ten to 12. The two voting to change the classification were Hyma and McLean.

Attorney D. Ten Cate, representing the Nash Sales and Service company, made a plea for the change of the north half of the property. Attorney T. N. Robinson, representing himself as the owner of the south half of the street, where he has lived for the past 14 years, also made a plea for the change.

It was pointed out that the north half has been business property for 25 years and will remain such although it is not in the business classification. Mr. Robinson pointed out that the section is spoiled for residence purposes but cannot be sold to advantage because of the classification. He pointed out that River avenue was in reality a business street, that the block between 15 and 16 had been converted into a business classification and that the day would come when the whole street from end to end would be in that classification.

A number of citizens of that section presented a protest against the change signed by 26 property owners. A number of these gave talks against the proposal. Among them were: Postma, Mr. Kramer, and Mr. Mokma.

The proposal was discussed in great detail by both parties in the controversy, the property owners of that section declaring that the change would detract from the property and the other side pointing out that the section normally belongs in the commercial classification.

Ald Dykstra moved that the recommendation of the zoning board be adopted and this passed by a ten to two vote.

COUNCIL UPSETS ACTION OF THE APPEAL BOARD

AS RESULT BUILDING NEARLY COMPLETED IS IN ARRESTED STATE

Aldermen Vote Seven To Five To Reverse The Action of the Board

The common council and the appeal board of the zoning commission came into direct conflict Wednesday night when the council reversed a ruling of the board. Peter Hieminga had been erecting an addition to his oil station and rug cleaning establishment on the 17th street. The people of the neighborhood objected and took their objections to the zoning board and later to the council. The erection of the addition was temporarily halted until a ruling could be made.

The zoning board held that Hieminga had complied in every way with the ordinance and that the zoning board had no recourse but to let him go ahead, subject of course to the final action of the common council.

The question resulted in considerable battle, spirited but friendly, between City Attorney McBride and Attorney Arthur Van Duren of the zoning board. McBride held that an ordinance had not been complied with, and that the section of the ordinance was read and warmly discussed in the course of the debate.

Ald. McLean made a report for the appeal committee that had been charged with investigating this matter and he moved that the decision of the zoning board should be upheld. The question resulted in considerable battle, spirited but friendly, between City Attorney McBride and Attorney Arthur Van Duren of the zoning board. McBride held that an ordinance had not been complied with, and that the section of the ordinance was read and warmly discussed in the course of the debate.

HOLLAND FACTORY WINS ITS CASE IN CIRCUIT COURT

The W. F. Dunn Manufacturing company of Holland was the winner in a suit for $2173 brought in circuit court against Seth Nibbelink, formerly of Holland and now of Miami, Fla. The case occupied the attention of the circuit court for over two days. On Friday noon the jury brought in a verdict in 20 minutes, giving the Dunn Manufacturing company a judgment for the full amount, as well as the costs.

The case attracted a great deal of attention and the court room for two days looked more like a cement block laboratory than a court room. Tiles of all sorts were on hand to show to the jury as exhibits. G. J. Dieken and D. Ten Cate handled the case for the Dunn Manufacturing company, while Fred T. Miles appeared for Nibbelink.

In September, 1928, the Knight Construction company of Miami, Fla., purchased a machine from the Dunn company for manufacturing Duntile, the price being $5,350. Since the Knight people were strangers to the Dunn company, Mr. Nibbelink gave a written guarantee for the Knight people. The latter made a payment on the machine but left a balance of $2173, for which amount the Dunn company sued the guarantor, Mr. Nibbelink.

Mr. Nibbelink's defense was on two counts: that the guarantee which he had signed did not apply to this particular machine but to a smaller one that the Knight people had intended to buy for $3,850, and that the machine sold to the Knight people was unfit for the work for which it was intended.

The Dunn company claimed that the guarantee did apply to the machine in question, and that the machine did good work but the Dunn company used faulty material. As a result, they claimed, the blocks manufactured by the Knight company did not stand up.

The jury gave a judgment for the full amount plus interest and costs.

The young married women's class of Trinity Reformed church, taught by Mr. J. W. Oonk, enjoyed a pot-luck supper Friday evening in the church parlors, the culmination of a very successful drive for new members. A very enjoyable program was rendered consisting of the following numbers: devotionals, Mr. J. W. Oonk and Mrs. E. Bos; piano solo, "The Old Refrain," by Krieger, Mrs. Beldina Houting; book review, "Opinions of a Cheerful Yankee," by Irving Bacheller, Mrs. W. J. Olive; vocal solo, "To a Hill Top," by Ralph Cox, Mrs. C. Trapp; playlet, "Answering the Telephone," vocal solo, Miss Beatrice Johnson. Games and games furnished the balance of the evening's program. Eighty-five were present at the meeting.

The Hope college women's league held their recent meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. G. J. Dregman. After the business meeting the following officers were elected: president, Mrs. S. C. Netting; first vice president, Mrs. G. J. Dieken; second vice president, Mrs. Wabershuis; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. D. Bote. A social hour was enjoyed and dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

FAIRBANKS CLAN HOLDS MEETING AT OLD HOME

A very delightful evening was enjoyed by the Fairbanks relatives at Old Wing Mission Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Fairbanks, Saturday evening. It was under the auspices of the Fairbanks group of the women's foreign missionary society of the M. E. church. There were 47 present.

Mr. Austin Fairbanks introduced the speakers and spoke of the building of the Old Wing Mission house in 1845, for Mr. Geo. N. Smith, the missionary to the Indians. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fairbanks and Mr. L. H. Fairbanks told of old times, giving little glimpses of old customs. Clarence Fairbanks told of the "Fairbanks Boys," and Mrs. Adah Fairbanks Dantker read a paper on the "Fairbanks Girls," which was written by Mrs. Edith Fairbanks Baumgartel, who could not be present. Mrs. Austin Fairbanks told of the "In-laws," or the addition to the family. Mr. Eugene Fairbanks read an original poem on the Fairbanks family; Mrs. Eugene Fairbanks read a very unique paper on "The Family Tree." Dr. Willet, pastor of the M. E. church, spoke on "The Ideal Family." He pictured an ideal family and told how the members ought to feel toward each other.

Mrs. Thomas Olinger, president of the W. F. M. S. of the M. E. church, spoke on the work of the Fairbanks group in that society. Music was furnished by Mrs. Edna Fairbanks Painter and Miss Eva Fairbanks, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fairbanks sang some songs with banjo accompaniment.

After the program lunch was served. Those present were the families of I. H. Fairbanks, Chas. Fairbanks, W. C. Vanden Berg, Alva Fairbanks, Eugene Fairbanks, Clair Bekhina, Mr. and Mrs. John Fairbanks and sister, Clarence Fairbanks and family, Mr. Ralph Gunn and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dantker, Mrs. Edna Fairbanks Painter and Miss Eva Fairbanks of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. John Fassen of Indianapolis, Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Wood and little Lovella McClellan of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Clara Lowing of Jensen, Dr. and Mrs. Willet and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Olinger. The company all felt that they had spent a very pleasant and profitable evening and agreed that the Fairbanks family ought to have such gatherings often.

Rev. J. A. De Bruyn, former pastor of the Central A. M. church, passed away on the 3rd of March at Nieuwedijk, The Netherlands, at the home of his oldest son, Rev. H. De Bruyn.

Rev. Mr. De Bruyn reached the age of eighty years and eight months. He will be remembered by the older citizens here. Word of his death was received by his niece, Dena Kuiper, of this city.

LEGION TO STAGE FOURTH OF JULY FESTIVAL HERE

The next big community entertainment to be staged by the Willard G. Leenhouts post, American Legion, is to be held on the fourth of July. The Legion, which is famous for its community entertainments, is hard at work making plans to give the people of Ottawa and Allegan counties a fourth of July such as they have not had for years.

The details of the plans have not yet been arranged and a vast amount of work must be done to work out the general idea. But one thing has been decided on, to hold the celebration on the fair grounds. As was the case with the recent carnival, the Legion aims to raise some funds with which to carry on its community welfare work and an admission charge will be made, but the officers of the Legion assure the public that no one will be held up. The price will be very reasonable. The Legion always gives more than value received in its various entertainments, and it is certain that this will again be the case on the fourth of July.

It is announced that many surprises are in store for the public on the fourth. The committees are now at work arranging the program. It will include some very spectacular features, if the ideas that have been suggested can be translated into fact, as the committee members confidently expect will be possible. As soon as definite arrangements have been completed for the various acts that will fill up the day's program, public announcement will be made so that the people will know what they can expect.

The show to be put on by the Legion is announced so far in advance so that people of this section will have an opportunity to shape their plans accordingly. It will not be necessary to go away from town this year to spend fourth of July appropriately. The Legion will provide at a nominal price all the entertainment anyone requires.

Rev. Thomas E. Weimers of Hope college has issued the call for the annual session of the particular synod of Chicago, one of the western branches of the Reformed church in America, to convene in Holland May 4.

The Chicago synod represents the churches of Chicago, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, and Holland, Michigan, and Wisconsin, which together number approximately 14,550 families, 130 churches and 103 pastors, Michigan alone numbers 72 churches, representing more than 20,000 communicant members. The synod was organized in 1886.

Rev. T. W. Mullenburg of South Holland will deliver the synodical sermon as retiring president at the evening session and Rev. Albertus Pieters of Western Theological seminary will deliver an address. About 50 delegates will attend the synod, which will be held in Winant's chapel on Hope's campus.

On Monday, April 25, Homer Roddehever will render a concert in the Carnegie gymnasium. The nature of the concert is not known but wherever he appears he fills the auditoriums to capacity.

Homer Roddehever is recognized from coast to coast as the best singer of gospel hymns, having sung for the leading record companies of this country. He was connected with Billy Sunday in his evangelistic campaigns, since 1926, always taking charge of the song service. He also plays trombone and no doubt will give several selections in Holland's concert.

Grand Rapids Herald—A $1,200,000 gas corporation has been organized by George H. Waring of Grand Rapids, nationally known gas engineer, to serve Rosario, Argentina, a city of 400,000 population and known as the Chicago of South America because of its prominence as a meat packing center.

Mr. Waring, who returned from Europe last week where he went to finance the corporation following some time spent in Argentina, is a director, chairman of the board and president of the corporation now being formed. E. P. Davis, manager of the Holland Gas company of Holland, Mich., has been made general manager and will leave for South America next month.

Rosario formerly had gas service provided by a French company. The difficulty in obtaining coal during the war and the lack of finances caused its abandonment. Although American or English coal will be used because of the lack of this fuel in eastern South America, it can be laid down at Rosario for approximately $3.50 per long ton.

All stock in the company has been subscribed. The franchise specifies that the plant be in operation within two years.

Mr. Waring, formerly gas engineer for the American Public Utilities company, at one time a vice president of the company and a past president of the Michigan Gas association, will continue to practice his profession here. He will maintain his home in Grand Rapids, making an annual trip to South America to inspect the property.

America is getting the bulk of the foreign trade of Argentina in many lines, according to Mr. Waring. Crops were good there this season, but prices are slightly under last year.

Mrs. C. G. Loase, 81, one of Sparta's most prominent women, died here Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. B. Rich, 25 East 7th street, with whom she and her husband spent the winter. Burial took place Tuesday at Greenville, following services in Faber's chapel.

Mr. and Mrs. Loase were married in 1887 at Sparta. She had five daughters, Mrs. E. B. Rich, Mrs. O. Green, Mrs. C. Shultz, Mrs. E. Green, and Mrs. E. Green. The children are: Mrs. Rich, Mrs. C. Ewing, Grand Rapids, and E. R. Loase, Harvey, Ill.

Mrs. Loase was born in New York state in 1846. She had lived in Greenville and Sparta most of her life. She had been one of the leading church workers in Sparta.

600 CAN EAT 340 POUNDS OF FISH

The men in charge of the fish banquet at the Masonic temple Friday evening can in a measure furnish information as to how many pounds of fish are required for a spread given to 600 guests. Porch Bros., proprietors of the Grand Haven fishing fleet, were guests at the banquet and volunteered the information that 340 pounds of lake trout were served by them to the Masonic temple, and there wasn't a fish left after the meal.

COUNTY BODY BRINGS FIVE NEW SOLONS

Five new faces will appear Tuesday at the next meeting of the board of supervisors of Ottawa County due to the recent election Jacob Elenbaas and Henry Rook of Zeeland city will be replaced by M. C. VerHage, the new mayor of the city, and Cornelius Rosenraad, who defeated L. Lamer on elips. Rosenraad beat him three to one.

Holland township had the biggest scrap in years with a total vote of over 700. Of this number Albert Hyma received 328 over John Y. Rutenga with 327. Hulsenga has been a supervisor for 27 years. He was displaced by a man with a majority of 71 votes.

In Georgetown, Roy Lowing defeated T. B. Curtis 225 to 180. Fred Taylor, has been elected through ill health to resign and his place will be filled by an appointment by the township board. Mr. Gordon has been a member of the board for 16 years.

In Grand Haven Township Geo. Mairhauser was opposed by George C. Bork. Mairhauser won by 19 votes. The remaining supervisors were unopposed and are as follows: James Clitick, Chas. Robert L. Johnson, Blenden; Boefel Dragt, Allen; David M. Cline, Spring Lake; Gratus Lubber, Zeeland; Township; Fred Graham, Robinson; Abram Any, Port Sheldon; Henry A. Marshall, Polkton; George E. After one of the stormiest periods ever passed through by a school district in Fillmore township, calm weather seems to have returned and harmony has been restored. The battle over the erection of a new school on the banners of those who favored the new building.

A committee has been appointed, composed of the members of the school board and two citizens, Ben L. Lommen and John Heider, Sr., to make an inspection of various school buildings in districts in this section to gain ideas for the coming building plan. This committee made its rounds Thursday, visiting a number of rural schools in Ottawa and Allegan. The members are prepared to report on their findings as soon as the next meeting of the tax-payers takes place next Tuesday night.

At that meeting financial arrangements will be made for the new building. The district appropriated $1,000 for the building fund last year. The plan is to bond the district for $5,000 additional. This total of $6,000 will probably not pay for the new building, but whatever expenditures are incurred over and above that sum will be taken care of by liquid notes. That is the plan to be brought up for consideration next Tuesday night.

The battle over the question of new school or no new school grew so hot at a meeting this week that one of the tax payers arose at the meeting and requested the resignation of one of the members of the board. The board members stood up and asked for reasons for such a request. This led to a spirited discussion and finally the request was withdrawn.

Charges were made of extravagance in the proposed building, but it was pointed out that the building plans are determined by the state department of education. That body has to give its OK and it establishes the minimum requirements for a new school building.

The warring factions seem to have buried the hatchet and the indications are that they will now work together to the new building.

Henry Dekker, aged 73, died Tuesday evening at his home at 228 West 11th street after an illness of about eight weeks. He was born in the Netherlands and came to this country in 1872. He has been an employee of the Donnelly-Kelly Glass company for the past 20 years.

The deceased is survived by his wife and five children: Mrs. Herman Johnson, Bert, and Mrs. Mamie Hill of Holland, Mrs. Wm Gunner of Howell, and Henry of Cincinnati; also by one sister, Mrs. J. Vanden Heuvel of Holland. The funeral will be held Friday at 1:30 at the home (private), and at two o'clock at the Wesleyan Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Visser officiating.

On Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the W. L. C. hall, Dr. S. B. DeFree will speak at the meeting of the W. L. C. on the subject, "The Menace of Habit-Forming Drugs." Dr. DeFree has recently settled in Holland as a practicing physician. He has had many years of experience in Iowa and will be able to give much valuable and interesting information on his subject. Members are asked to note the change in time. From now on the meetings will begin at 2:30.

Fred Graham of Robinson township Tuesday afternoon was chosen chairman of the Board of Supervisors for the coming year as the county solons opened their organization meeting of the regular April session shortly after 2 p. m.

Chairman Graham got 15 votes out of the 27 cast with C. W. Nibbelink of Holland getting eight and four other members getting the scattering single vote. Hugh Little was the only absent member.

George Ruth of Tallmadge township, George Heneveld of Park township and Simon Kiera and Edward Vandenburgh of Holland were the elected, whose installation will be held on April 28th. There was a large attendance. A luncheon was served. The officers elected are: Peter Bover, dictator; Wm. Zielow, vice dictator; Henry Workman, preside; Ora Green, secretary; C. Shultz, treasurer; trustees—three years, H. G. Yarn; two years, N. Dry; one year, J. De Maat.

LANDWEHR TO BE A SPEAKER AT A RESORT MEETING

That the Hartman bill for the advertising of Michigan has created statewide interest in putting Michigan on the map as "The Playground of a Nation" in capital letters is additionally manifested in the importance of the Michigan Frontiers and Tourist conference has assumed in all the programs of the various state associations. The conference this year will be held in Grand Rapids on Thursday and Friday, April 28th and 29th.

The program includes a lengthy range of subjects, Harry N. Burhans will speak on "Recreation as a Commodity." Mr. Burhans is executive secretary of the Denver (Colorado) tourists bureau and with the long experience of Colorado, in the marketing of recreation, will bring to the conference something for Michigan to think about.

Bert Williams, the publisher of the "Wisconsin Land O' Lakes Magazine," will try to bring out some of the things the developers of our resorts have overlooked. "The Growing Recreational Industry" is to be his subject. As his magazine has been a potent factor in the development of Wisconsin's Land O'Lakes and Mr. Williams is a past president of the Wisconsin Land O'Lakes association, the members of Michigan associations are interested in what he will have to say.

Landscape architecture and town planning will be discussed by Mr. A. D. Taylor of Cleveland, Ohio, the title of his talk being "Our Obligations to Develop Waterfront and Recreational Locations." Mr. Taylor is a landscape architect of national reputation and has had a finger in much of the town and city planning of the country.

So far the program of the conference schedules an imposing total of nine papers and promises to crowd the two days of its sessions with pertinent material. Among the speakers promised are A. H. Landwehr of the Holland Furnace Company; G. F. Healy of Flint and Walter Palmer, John Emery, Frank Heath and Carroll F. Sweet, all of Grand Rapids. Mr. John Emery's paper, "The Permanent Summer Home," will be one of the feature talks, as it will open up the subject of a building and loan organization for the financing of summer home cottages. Michigan is sorely in need of something that will aid

Holland men are in great demand to judge rhetorical contests and debates. Friday night there were many debates throughout the state and the names of the following judges of this city appear: In the Rockwood-Lakeview-Belding contest Miss Martha Gibson, Professor H. E. Hinkamp, Prof. Egbert Winter, all of Hope College, were judges. At the Grand Haven-Zeeland contest Prof. Erwin J. Lubbers of Hope College was one of the judges. A score or more of schools held contests in different parts of the state Friday evening.

Ottawa county gave the metropolitan district amendment a majority of 684 votes in a total expression of 6,552 citizens.

Every city precinct went for it, aggregating a majority of 1,341 votes for the measure. The tally was 2,482 yes and 1,141 no.

Only six townships returned favorable majorities and two of those precincts decided by a single vote and another by four. Why the ruralities should oppose the measure which does not affect them but helps cities has never been explained.

The townships together gave 657 majority against the proposal their totals being 1,136 yes to 1,793 no. The county totals were 3,618 yes and 2,934 no.

Many Holland listeners on the radio undoubtedly tune in on WEMC every morning at 8:05, for the morning worship hour. They had the opportunity of hearing one of Holland's sons, Leslie Smith, sing two selections Wednesday morning as part of the program dedicated to Holland. They had another opportunity Friday morning to listen to another of Holland's products, Alfred Gordon, who gave the morning talk at that time. At the present time Holland has 5 students at E. M. C.

The pupils of the Christian schools will render a miscellaneous program, Thursday evening at 7:45 in the auditorium of the Christian high school. A special number on the program will be a cantata, "Light From the Tomb," by a chorus of high school girls. The musical numbers will be directed by Mrs. C. Wabeke, who has charge of the teaching of music in the schools.

The program is as follows: Invocation; Chorus, Junior high boys; Holland Maids, Twenty girls; reading, Grace Holkeboer; duet, Bertha Wabeke and Ed. F. C. Bolt, assistant cashier of the People's Savings bank, Grand Haven, has been made cashier succeeding John Hofma, who recently resigned. He has been assistant cashier for eight years.

A pretty wedding took place at the Woman's Literary club rooms Thursday evening when Miss Henrietta Bol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bol and Mr. Hollis Northuis of Zeeland, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Northuis, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. P. Dams, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, in the presence of a hundred and fifty relatives and friends.

Shortly after 6 o'clock Miss Rosalind Vander Wal took her place at the altar and while Lohengrin's Wedding March was played the bride and groom were joined by a white arch banked with sweet peas, palms and ferns. The double-ring ceremony was used.

The bride was gowned in beautiful shell pink georgette crepe trimmed with silver lace and ribbon and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and carnation. She was attended by Miss Betty De Fouw who was dressed in orchid georgette. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Elmer Northuis. Little Edith Bol of Grand Haven strewn the path with flowers, while James Bol, also of Grand Haven, was ring bearer.

After congratulations, a two-course luncheon was served. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by the young couple. They will make their home in Holland.

At the last business meeting of the Holland Teachers' club, Mr. Chapman gave an interesting account of the advantages of the Virginia teachers' retirement fund law. A resolution was passed to be sent to the Michigan state federation of teachers' clubs supporting amendments to the present law in Michigan.

A spring banquet was planned which is to be held in junior high school, April 30. Dr. J. C. Willits is to be the speaker for the evening, and Mr. Hinge the toastmaster.

April 15 has been set for the opening of bids for the building of the Pere Marquette station which is to be erected in Grand Haven some time during the summer. Several Grand Haven contractors have placed their bids with the engineer and await with interest the comparison of the figures. The following Gr. Haven men filed their bids recently: Jonker and Emory, C. M. Blackwell, Spring Lake; August Odmark, Spring Lake, and J. Van Dongen.

For a time it was decided to move the location of the station to property owned by the Pere Marquette across from the present site. Later this was found impractical due to spurs and sidings and the decision to keep the station on the present site was made.

Bids were taken last fall but due to a revision of the basement plans calling for extra piling new bids were necessary. The site of this depot was at one time but a big marsh and in the spring a veritable lake.

The cost of the new structure will be $25,000 and it will be an addition to the city that will be much appreciated by the traveling public and Gr. Haven citizens. The station will be completed some time this summer.

Pere Marquette officials were in Holland a few days ago consulting with Holland contractors who had also submitted bids.

The Late G. Van Schelven Portrayed By Three Speakers As Loyal To His City, To His Country and To God

Sunday afternoon was ideal with beautiful sunshine and budding spring. A better day for the memorial services planned in honor of the late Gerrit Van Schelven could not have been chosen.

At shortly before 3 o'clock, members of the different organizations with which Mr. Van Schelven was identified gathered at the city hall and from there marched to Hope church where seats had been reserved.

There were only two boys in blue present out of three remaining in the local post, namely, Mat Nutter and John Wise. The Spanish War Veterans, the Woman's Relief Corps, the American Legion, the Legion Auxiliary, many boy scouts, the mayor and common council, the different boards of the city, including those upon which Mr. Van Schelven had served for a number of years, the police department, and, last of all, the entire postal department of the city of Holland were present.

From all appearances practically every man who served under Mr. Van Schelven while he was postmaster for 18 years was found in the line of march, headed by the present postmaster, Ed Westover.

Hope church was well filled when the pastor, Thos. W. Davidson, D. D., opened the services. After a short prayer closing with the Lord's prayer, said in unison by the congregation, the memorial services opened with singing hymn number 600, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," led by the choir, in which the congregation joined.

Dr. Davidson fittingly introduced the speakers as they appeared upon the program, entreating words of praise relating to the late official of the church in whose memory the services were being held.

The first speaker was former senator William Alden Smith.

Mr. Smith, speaking in an emotional tone, paid high tribute to Mr. Van Schelven, whom he was intimately acquainted with. "It is very seldom," said the speaker, "that people gather on such an occasion to honor a beloved citizen and could Mr. Van Schelven have been told of this meeting he would have blushed as he truly was essentially a modest man. Although he was modest, he always was ready to give his opinion on a familiar question, no matter how sharp the controversy. The merry twinkle in his eye lights me on my pathway here today," said Mr. Smith as he spoke of Mr. Van Schelven's humor. "His spirit of comradeship, gentleness and giving made him the ideal soldier that he was."

"He never plumed himself and although I gave him positions of great responsibility, he never asked for anything and never failed in a crucial test to meet a situation squarely."

In speaking of the splendid soldier qualities of Mr. Van Schelven, Mr. Smith said, "When I formerly came to speak in Holland, the front rows were filled with Civil war veterans and up to a few days ago there were but four left and now Van is gone."

Using the illustration of the Dead Sea, which though it is 40 miles long, 10 miles wide, and 50 feet deep, in some places, and receives 20 million gallons of fresh water every year from the Jordan river, yet remains rank and worthless simply because it gives off nothing, Mr. Smith said, "Mr. Van Schelven was great because he gave more than he received. He was always cheerful, ready and willing and I cannot think of him as dead. We cannot pay him tribute as we should."

Closing his impressive address in a dramatic way, Mr. Smith stepped to attention and said, "Old veteran of the Civil war, comrade of many trying and many happy times, I salute you, veteran, with my affectionate regard and highest esteem."

After Mr. Smith had concluded his eulogy, Mrs. John E. Telling most beautifully rendered Mr. Van Schelven's favorite hymn, "Open the Gates to the Temple," by Mrs. Knapp.

Dr. Davidson introduced G. J. Diekema as the man who knew Mr. Van Schelven more intimately than any one living in this city today, aside from his immediate relatives. Mr. Diekema said:

"On a cold November morning of 84 years ago the life of G. Van Schelven began in far-away Holland over the sea, and it ended amid sunshine and warm zephyrs on a budding spring day in Holland, America, surrounded by wife and loved ones."

"That pilgrimage of our beloved citizen is wonderful to follow. Always active, even to his dying day his faculties were not impaired. Van never carried the face of a beloved mother in his memory for she had passed on at his infancy."

"His bringing up was not surrounded with home influences but with the influences which a Dutch boarding school affords."

"But Van Schelven came from a superior ancestry. His father was a minister of the gospel in the Netherlands, as were his two brothers. With this heritage, at the age of nine, Mr. Van Schelven came to America. He had had no schooling. The doors of colleges and institutions of learning had never been opened to him, but his keen intellect and his constant application of himself to home study and much reading and, above all, the hard knocks that he received in the American school of experience made him a man of broad vision, of keen intellect, and an able writer."

"He soon became the editor of Holland's secular and religious press. He filled his library with good books and was a constant newspaper reader. By dint of hard work and much reading he became one of Holland's most learned men; in fact, was considered Holland's historian."

"Mr. Van Schelven had a retentive memory. It was a memory that could not and would not forget, and at least one debt Holland owes Van Schelven and that is that because of this man the history of Holland has been taught to generations that followed and the history of Holland has been preserved for generations still to come."

"Van being one of the old pioneers, was conversant with the trials and struggles of the old pioneer fathers who came here under the leadership of Van Rensselaer. Mr. Van Schelven knew and felt every fibre of his being that the history of Holland was a glorious history. So unusual in fact that his archives have not been delved into by writers who have no connection in the least with this community but have become intensely interested because of this quaint history. "Van has preserved all this for us, our children and our children's children; surely we owe him much."

"Mr. Van Schelven was a man of high moral principles. There is not a moral stain on his record, he was a man of high ideals."

"Mr. Van Schelven was a man of independent thought. He could not be deterred, if by obeying such orders he was doing something counter to his principles and convictions."

"Van loved justice. He believed in fair play and he followed the golden rule. Van Schelven was the youngest old man I have ever known, he kept young by associating with the young. Although the span of life allotted to him far exceeds the average, his mind had never grown old."

"As men advance in age, we too often see them living in the past. Mr. Van Schelven never lived in the past. He considered the past as water that had gone over the dam. He was always much concerned with the problems having to do with this city, state and nation, and the future outcome of our well being was ever in his mind."

"If there is one curse on earth greater than another it is selfishness. Van could never be made of selfishness. He never accumulated great wealth but was always ready to help and was always standing at attention like a good soldier ready to serve."

"At any great functions in our city generally was made a speaker, and soon became the president too, for serving."

"For work was his middle name, especially where his city was concerned. His unalloyed patriotism and Americanism was shown when the angel of death was at his door, ready to summon him. But even with these few fleeting moments remaining to him, he still felt it his duty to cast his last ballot for his city and nation. For an honest man, at least, he was still an American citizen and an hour later he passed to the great beyond. From such citizenship we might all take an example."

"Religiously Van Schelven was a steadfast Christian, standing squarely upon the rock of faith. Here, too, lessons might be drawn. As he judged, justly, we are to judge justly as he did. Let us judge our fellow man as we would be judged."

"Van Schelven remained young in thought, in deed, in action, because he remained in the stream of things. He worked constantly. He was active like other great men. He enjoyed his work and that kept his heart and mind young."

"Van felt that he was his brother's keeper. He aided his fellows. He gave his fellows a chance. He dealt justly by them, when the occasion for justice presented itself."

"Van Schelven is not dead, he is living among the stars. He no doubt for the first time has come face to face with that beloved mother."

"Van Schelven still lives on earth in the words that he has left behind."

"Van felt that he was his brother's keeper. He aided his fellows. He gave his fellows a chance. He dealt justly by them, when the occasion for justice presented itself."

"Following Mr. Diekema's discourse the quartette sang "Star of Peace to Wanderers", Bradbury, quartette: Mrs. Arthur Vischer, Mrs. H. L. Dunwoody, Mr. Martin Dykema, Mr. Willis A. Diekema."

Speaking by request more particularly on the religious aspects of the life of Mr. Van Schelven, Dr. Kulzenga said:

"The purpose of Mr. Van Schelven's life may probably be summarized in the words of Joshua, the great general of Israel, who said at a public meeting near the end of his life, 'Choose ye this day whom ye will serve; but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.' There were four aspects of the life of Joshua which have their counterpart in the life of Mr. Van Schelven. Joshua began his life in his young manhood in the achievements of an heroic age, he took up the task of that age to carry it forward, he embodied in his own life the inspiring motives of that heroic age, and he desired above all the privilege of bequeathing the inspiration of that age as his heritage for the coming generations."

"Mr. Van Schelven began his life under the inspiration of an heroic age. It is not too much to assert that the days of the settlement of this colony were heroic days under the guidance of heroic men. Future historians will see what happened here in true perspective. They will discover that the same principles which made Scotland and the Netherlands great in the days of the Reformation, that the same principles which made memorable the Pilgrim fathers of New England were the same principles that dominated the men who came here in '47. Here was the same willingness to suffer exile or die for conviction, here was the same noble love of God showing itself in zeal for the service of man, here was a broad conception of community welfare, here was the same burning love of one's land. These other great are older, have had a longer time to influence humanity, they are to be on a larger scale. Yet the fruits of this settlement here in '47 have already produced fruits that are on a larger scale. But even this movement was on smaller scale it was the same in principle and the same in its type of heroism."

"Providence brought Mr. Van Schelven here in such season that he began his life in the midst of that heroism, while its great figure is still to be known, and while the very air seems alive with their deeds and words and spirit. He lived in it, and absorbed it."

"Mr. Van Schelven carried forward the task in lively appreciation of that hero age. Of his appreciation of that hero age there can be no doubt. Never did a man make a more zealous effort to preserve for posterity the monuments of a period of history. He collected every manuscript he could procure, so that what he gathered amounts to a library to which all generations will turn for the information. Could there ever be better evidence of his regard to the time of the fathers? Yet he gave even better evidence. He volunteered in the civil war and played his part, because he believed that the principles of religion and patriotism together called him to the task. And even better than that did he do. When the war was over he lost no time, he fought his battles over again, but took on the new battles of the new day to preserve and improve the community and the land he had fought for. He stood for the church, for the school, for equal opportunities for all, for just self-government and the cause of human welfare, and in such a way that very evidently the secret of his public activity was the religion of his heart, and the religion of his heart blossomed out in a noble life. Where shall we find better appreciation of the religious conviction and the sense of public duty which have always marked the Pilgrim?"

"Mr. Van Schelven incarnated the inspiration of the heroic age in his own life. As little as he was given to boasting of his own part in the war, so little was he given of exhibiting his religious sentiments and convictions, for him the deed was the utterance of his heart. Yet now and again we caught glimpses into his heart which revealed to us how wide and long were the vistas of his own inner life. What scrupulous punctiliousness he brought to the performance of every duty in the house of God. Here was a man who for years ushered to the glory of God with his singing, jubilation and prayer, and he was glad. Here was a deacon who took up the collection and handled church moneys as one who worshiped God. Now and again, since he was generally the first to shake the preacher's hand after the service, he manifested by his moving face and moistened eye how deep was his response to the gospel of the blessed Son of God. He had the faith of the heroic age, and it made him dependable and strong in an age which called for the harder, simpler heroism of humdrum tasks."

"Mr. Van Schelven desired to bequeath to posterity the inspiration of that hero age. He was ever so zealous in the effort to found records, societies, institutions, and monuments to recall the high principles of the past. He was leader in all such movements and plans. But he had in it only one aim, he desired that the faith in God and devotion to duty which had marked the past might become the strength of the coming generations. He had no illusions as to the things must change. But this he also knew, that whatever the changes, if the new generations would not hold fast to the Lord God of their fathers, then the days of the great republic would soon be ended. Hence his life was one burning desire to transmit that faith to the generations to come. And so we summarize our Van Schelven, as Joshua summarized his own life and his own bequest to posterity: 'Choose ye this day whom ye will serve; but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.'"

The officers of O. E. S. No. 40 completely surprised their patron, A. A. Van Duren, at his home on E. 14th St. Wednesday evening. About thirty members, composed of officers and their better halves, took possession of his home about 7:30.

For a while it looked as if the surprise would be on the guests. After vainly telephoning to several places to locate Mr. Van Duren, they finally called on the service of the chief of police and found him and sent him speeding home. Here he was greeted quite noisily. After the hubbub ceased, tables and cards were produced and a few merry hours spent in playing 500. Mrs. Diekema received the "ladies" prize, Mr. James Hoover the men's.

Mr. Van Duren is rounding out his eighteenth year as patron of Star of Bethlehem No. 40 and has always been a member of the lodge. The officers of the order in appreciation of this fact Mrs. Nelle Stanaway, worthy matron, presented to Mr. Van Duren a beautiful painting entitled "Diana's Pool," a gift from the officers, which he thanked his guests for this token of friendship and asserted that the work of the chapter always gave him unbounded pleasure.

A delicious lunch of chicken salad, wafers, pickles, cake and coffee, brought by the guests, was served. Among those present was the chapter's chaplain, Catherine Van Duren, who is slowly convalescing from a recent auto accident. Although still quite weak she hopes to be out in a few weeks.

The Knapp The shop has equipped what amounts to a traveling tire shop. It consists of a large orange colored truck equipped with a compressed air machine with which tires can be pumped up anywhere along the roadside with the same ease as in the shop. It is also equipped with the tubes and the machinery for mending and putting them on cars. By means of this truck the company can give the autoist practically the same service anywhere that he could get in town.

Volunteering his time at no cost to the school, Mr. G. Buis, the well known upholsterer who has conducted his business at east 14th street for many years, came to junior high Monday and taught a class of boys taking the woodshop course, how to upholster a window-bench of their own making. Mr. Buis does this each year and because of his knowledge of the task he quickly teaches the boys how to put in the webbing, fasten the springs, pack in the padding and tack down the leather, making a neat job of the bench.

The boys make the benches as a regular part of the course, joining and caning them themselves. Mr. Buis tells them just what materials are needed for the upholstering part of the job and the boys can purchase these from Mr. Buis at a saving. Mr. Buis gives the class a chance to witness the whole process. The next problem in the course is to make a two-color inlay frame for a picture of the class at their work.

Mr. Elje Scheerhorn, aged 77, died Wednesday evening at eight o'clock at his home at 112 East 14th street. Mr. Scheerhorn was one of the best known tailors in Holland. He was born in the Netherlands and came to America 43 years ago, all of which time he has been a resident of Holland. He worked for the late J. W. Bosman for many years, later for J. R. Ruyter. For many years he occupied the famous "skyscraper" near the Strand Theatre.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Louis Mireas of Fremont, Mrs. Benjamin Wyvenen of Cawker City, Kansas, four sons, Simon, Benjamin, Henry and Fred; also 21 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

A suit for $10,000 has been started in the federal court at Grand Rapids by William Thompson, of Port Wayne, Ind., against Fred Bertsch, of Holland. The suit is the result of an automobile accident on M-11 near Mone Lake the night of Oct. 22, 1926. Several were injured.

Mr. Bertsch tried to pass a truck going in the same direction and discovered the Thompson car coming from the opposite direction. In trying to avoid a collision Mr. Thompson's truck struck the truck and then the Bertsch car.

George LaForge of Three Oaks, and Mr. Thompson were thrown to the pavement, and Mr. Thompson hurt his head. Mr. LaForge had his collar bone broken. Mr. LaForge and child were injured and so was Mrs. Thompson, another passenger in the car. Frank Versaw, of Three Oaks, escaped injury.

Mr. Thompson in his suit says his $2,000 automobile was ruined—Muskegon Chronicle.

She is survived by her husband, three children: Mrs. Roy Ashley of Holland, Mrs. Marshall Irving of Waterbury, Conn., and Peter Hietje of Holland; also by one brother, Joseph Vork of Holland.

Floyd Ames, 21, of Grandville, the only one of five persons to survive the crash on M-51 at the Davis crossing two weeks ago Sunday, has informed his physician that his father, William T. Ames, who was killed in the crash, was driving the light sedan, and not his cousin, Florence Ames, 17, as has been previously testified.

Floyd, who suffered a fractured skull and other injuries, is conscious for short periods, but remains in a serious condition and in a state of coma most of the time.

The Star of Bethlehem chapter No. 40 held their annual meeting Thursday evening. All the committees gave good reports and the treasurer's report was especially good. Two very important questions were decided. The chapter decided to pay the first $1000 on the principle of the indebtedness of the temple. The question of placing new carpets on the lodge room floors was discussed. This will cost approximately $1200. Of this amount the Star of Bethlehem will assume $600, the rest to be paid by the other three organizations that meet there.

A record was made in the election of their officers, just 21 minutes of time being consumed. The following officers were elected by separate ballots: Mrs. Cora Hoffman, worthy matron; Mrs. Grace Barnum, associate matron; Mrs. Iva White, conductress; Mrs. Claudia Thompson, associate conductress; Mrs. Gretchen Daily, secretary; Mrs. Edna Bertsch, treasurer; also 3 delegates to the grand chapter in October. Installation will take place April 28.

The civic co-operation committee of the Holland Teachers' club, by permission of Sup't. E. E. Peil, is planning a children's "Good Friday" service to be held at the Third Reformed church on Friday, at 3 p. m. The children from grades three, four, five, and six will reach the church at three o'clock and line up at the doors designated below, the sixth grade leading each line of march and carrying a cross. Teachers will take charge of the line formation, but ushers will seat the children in the church. The sixth grades will again lead the lines in the recessional. The program is as follows: processional, "Onward Christian Soldiers," Miss Sanford, chorus, "There is a Green Hill," stills grades, Bible lesson, Rev. J. C. Willis, D. D. hymn, "Alas and Did My Savior Bleed," all; talk, Prof. Irwin Lubbers, of Hope college; prayer, Rev. Edward Tanis, recessional, "The Son of God."

The club hopes all children in the grades named will attend the service with their teachers.

The largest tuberculosis clinic held at Grand Haven in two years was held at the court house under the direction of Dr. William Van of Grand Rapids. Twenty-one patients were examined in four hours, two being turned away.

COLORED MAN DIDN'T KNOW GAME LAWS

The secret agents of the Holland Game & Fish Protective association Thursday caught an old colored man with two large black bass. They were bea- ties, it is said.

The old boy didn't know the game law, or the fact that black bass cannot be caught for some time yet. The members of the club therefore did not arrest him but pointed out where he had made his mistake.

The fish caught in Black lake were sent to Holland hospital and old Rastus was glad that the loss of the fish was his only punishment.

FARMERS NEAR FENNVILLE TO DECIDE TIME QUESTION

The farmers who use Fennville as a trading center are to determine whether the village is to have day-light saving time during the summer. A petition for fast time was presented to the village council Monday evening, but after consideration it was agreed that the residents of the rural community should be heard.

The poll of the farmers will be taken for the next 10 days.

IS BACK AFTER SERIOUS ILLNESS OF EIGHT WEEKS

Mrs. G. J. Van Duren, who was injured in an automobile accident about eight weeks ago when her back was badly wrenched, is out again. Mrs. Van Duren, beginning next Monday, will spend an hour a day in the Red Cross office in the city hall, from eleven to twelve in the forenoon, to help service men who wish to convert government insurance, for which the time limit expires on July second. The week following she hopes to be able to give full time to her office work again.

Mrs. Van Duren has had an unusual run of bad luck the past year. First she submitted to an eye operation. Then she broke her arm which laid her up for several weeks, and about eight weeks ago came the accident that confined her to her home for many weeks during part of which time she was unconscious. Though still weak, Mrs. Van Duren can be out again and she hopes to get back to her former vigor.

IS CHOSEN AS VALEDICTORIAN OF HER CLASS

Attaining an average of 95.59 for her years of high school work, Miss Evangeline Horning has been selected to represent the senior class of '27 as valedictorian at the graduation exercises this June. Miss Horning had a close rival in Miss Genevieve Dykhus, who won the honor of salutatorian with an average of 92.32, being but 27 lower than the valedictorian. These were, besides the two mentioned, Miss Evelyn Heffron with 94.36, Miss Barbara Zook 94.27, and Miss Geneva Dogger with 93.96. TALKS ON UNION OF RELIGION AND EDUCATION

The Froebel P-T club met Tuesday and listened to a very interesting and instructive program. Mrs. Brumback gave two musical readings and Mr. De Pree two piano selections. Mr. Harry Hager of Hope college spoke on "Education and Religion." He said among other things that education go hand in hand and that education without religion would not be complete. His talk was very educational. Mr. Wm. Arendshorst, the new president, presided.

DECORATION OF HOMES THEME OF SPEAKER

At the weekly meeting of the Woman's Literary club Tuesday afternoon Mrs. William Vanderberg had charge of the music. Mr. Harvey Fairbanks, violinist, accompanied by Mr. Gerard Hanchett, played Mendelssohn's Concerto in E Minor. This was very enthusiastically received and appreciated.

The exhibit of etchings belonging to the Chicago Society of Etchers was very attractive and caused much favorable comment. It is due to Miss Goldsmith's efforts that the exhibit was originally brought to Holland and hung in the Junior high school. Mrs. Henry Winter, chairman of the fine arts committee of the Women's Literary club, saw in this an opportunity to give a fine background for the talk on art and it was through her efforts that the pictures were brought to the literary club.

Mrs. Edward L. McCollin of Detroit was the speaker and gave an interesting talk on "Art Principles in Home Decoration." Mrs. McCollin writes art press, not only in the Detroit Free Press but also in many magazines. "Two human emotions are necessary absolute sincerity, co-related with absolute truthfulness," she said, and "a room must bear the stamp of personality." By means of vivid word pictures, Mrs. McCollin gave descriptions of various rooms for people of different dispositions and gave suggestions as to where to purchase some of the articles needed. According to Mrs. McCollin the decoration of a room must be arranged in regard to color, mass, lines, center of interest and meaning, and she explained in detail how to accomplish this. Also, a room was described which was not artistically arranged in regard to mass and color and she told how to do it over so as to make it appear more pleasing. The talk was highly educational and was enjoyed by all.

In his preliminary talk before the opening of the program of the chamber of commerce banquet Tuesday night in the Masonic temple, President Con De Pree announced the good news that a fine new industry has been landed by Holland by the Lawrence Paper Box Company and that it will move its organization to this city in the near future.

The concern is the Lawrence Paper Box Company of Chicago, conductor in that city for many years by the Lawrence brothers, noted manufacturers in their line. The members of the firm were present at the meeting Tuesday night. They wanted to get in touch with the chamber of commerce of this city as soon as possible.

The Lawrence Paper Box company has been operating in Chicago for many years. It is highly rated and is desirable in every way as an addition to Holland's industrial life.

Arthur Landaul of Grand Haven has just completed an exceptionally fine ship's model, which is now being exhibited in the window of Will Boon's jewelry store. The model is an exact duplicate of the "Half Moon" in which Henry Hudson sailed up the Hudson river in 1609. The rigging and fine detail of the boat are beautifully done, even to the small pulleys carefully carved from wood.—Grand Haven Tribune.

The stone work on the new addition to the Grand Haven Post Office is now being put up and fine progress, due to the splendid weather, is being made. Contractor Lundberg is especially interested in this locality as he at one time lived in Spring Lake and his father sailed on the well known old ship, the "Hunter Savage".

Grand Haven bonds, which sold so advantageously some time ago when bids were opened by the city fathers, have been disposed of by the purchasing bond house although they have not yet been delivered. One of the local banks desiring to get some for a client here was informed the entire issue had been purchased already in advance of delivery.—Grand Haven Tribune.

George Bohringer has been on the sicklist but is again on the road to recovery.

The town line road west from the village has been closed. The road is being graded and gravelled. It is expected that the work will not be finished until the end of the summer. When this is finished similar work will be done on the Hamilton-Overleel road. With these roads improved, there should be little difficulty to reach Holland as this will open three excellent roads to that city.

The large chorus of the Sixth Reformed church of Holland, under the leadership of John Vandenburg, will give an Easter cantata in the First Reformed church in the near future. This chorus has been dated in several places and a real treat for the Hamilton folks is promised. Further particulars will be given next week.
