Voting Machines Prove Popular In Spring Election

Incumbent Officers
Returned to Office;
Total Vote Is Light

For the most part, Holland voters seemed well pleased with voting machines in the spring election Monday, and election inspectors were enthusiastic about the smooth way voting functioned, even though the vote was light and the election itself attracted a minor ripple of attention.

A total of 1,339 persons visited the polls during the hours 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Report from the first ward came to the city hall at 8:10 p.m. and the last ward at 8:29 p.m.

Holland favored the proposal to spend up to $5,000 for plans for a recreational center 730-568. The measure passed in all wards.

All officers on Monday's ballot were re-elected, polling the following vote: Harry Harrington, mayor, 1,238; Jay H. Den Herder, associate municipal judge, 1,217; LaVern Rudolph, alderman second ward, 1,154; John Beltman, alderman fourth ward, 1,181; Robert Visscher, alderman sixth ward, 1,180.

The recreational building issue vote by wards follows:

Ward	Yes	No
1	68	56
2	135	105
3	102	92
4	145	110
5	145	100
6	134	105
	730	568

Holland city has been allocated 16 machines by Ottawa county for use for one year. Two voting machines were set up in each ward Tuesday.

Grand Haven (Special)—Bert Singlering and Jacob Toxopeus were elected aldermen of Grand Haven at the city election Monday. Singlering polled 730 votes and Toxopeus 803 votes. Other candidates were John Cassmier, 616, and John A. Schultz, 608. Retiring Alderman Claude Ver Duin was elected mayor succeeding Martin Boon who did not seek re-election.

Western Union Tie-Up Continues At Holland Office

Telephone service was curtailed in Holland Monday as local employees joined workers of 250 exchanges in Michigan in a strike for wage increases.

Local telephone service was not affected since Holland has a straight dial service, but only emergency long distance calls were being handled, according to A. G. Sall, local telephone company manager.

Employees in a supervisory capacity, not associated with CIO communication workers, were handling what long distance calls they were able to handle.

The Western Union telegraph office in Holland remained closed Monday. A sign in the window informed persons that the company was on strike and was not operating. The Western Union strike has been in effect since Thursday.

The business office at the telephone company operated as usual. Persons attempting to place a long distance call here were greeted with the recorded words: "This is a recording. We are sorry that because of a strike there is a delay in answering your call. If you have an urgent call, please dial 115."

Supervisors had no difficulty in getting through to Grand Rapids and Chicago since both have the direct dialing system through the local office. Calls to other exchanges had some delays, because nearly all exchanges were short-handed and being operated by supervisors.

Meanwhile, picketing employees were thankful for sunshine and mild temperatures.

Cappon Is Speaker As 180 Men Meet

A trip through memory lane in Holland sports was conducted by Franklin C. (Cappy) Cappon Tuesday night for 180 members and guests at the annual Holland Lions club basketball banquet.

The former Holland high and University of Michigan star athlete took the crowd back through "the old days" in Holland athletics—when Carnegie gym was the best fieldhouse in the state, when the old Michigan Central league played baseball on the boarded-in diamond on 19th St., and when football was just coming into its own as a major sport on the Holland front.

But Cappy got serious, too, as he spoke directly to the members of the Hope college, Holland Christian and Holland high basketball squads.

"There are some basic principles that we're gradually losing sight of in America," Cappon said, "but we still have them in athletics. When you come out for an athletic team, your race, creed or color makes no difference. Nobody asks you who you know or how much money you've got. The athletic field is one place where the merit system still takes precedence over the seniority system."

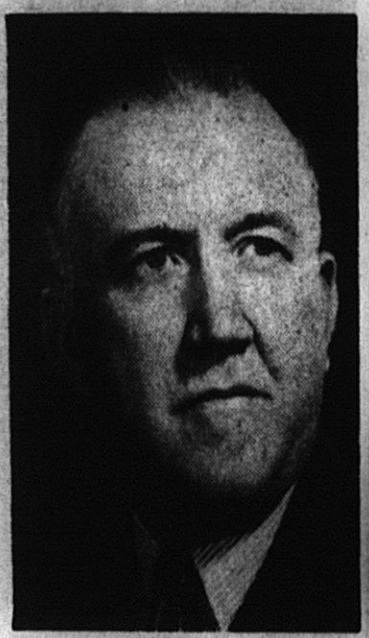

Cappon insisted that athletics and schoolwork do go together, especially if athletics are kept in proper proportion to the scholastic picture.

Referring to the great success the three teams had in basketball this season, Cappon commented that "no town in Michigan can be prouder collectively of its basketball teams."

Cappon also had a word of consolation for both Holland high and Holland Christian, whose tournament hopes were dashed in the final stages of the state meet. "You have to take the bitter with the sweet. That's athletics. It's better to learn it now than later on in life."

Three men in the Holland sports scene were singled out for special recognition by the Princeton cage coach, Jack Schouten, veteraned Hope coach "who has really done a lot for kids in this town": Charles (Cubby) Drew, Cappon's high school coach "who started carrying athletics to a high plane at the high school"; and Milton L. (Bud) Hinga, Hope athletic director who followed Drew at Holland high and later on at Hope.

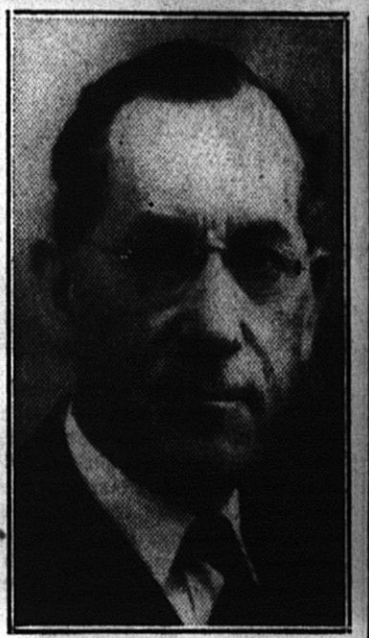

"Holland owes a great deal to these three men," Cappon commented.

Hudsonville Youth Killed When Car Crashes Into Tree

Accident Discovered
By Nearby Resident
En Route to Work

Ronald John Zeeff, 19, route 1, Hudsonville, was killed early this morning when the car he was driving rammed into a tree on 56th St., near Polk St. in Georgetown township. The accident occurred one mile west of Bauer and one mile south.

Officers said he apparently fell asleep while driving. The accident was discovered by Ralph Galineau, 5828 Polk St., route 1, Hudsonville, as he was en route to work in Grand Rapids at 6 a.m. As he came upon the scene he saw the car "wrapped around the tree" and the body half in and half out of the car on the driver's side.

Coroner Gilbert Vande Water, who was called, said the youth died instantly and ruled death was caused by a skull fracture and multiple injuries. Vande Water said the youth's watch had stopped at 2:55 a.m.

The front end of the 1941 model car was wrapped around the big elm tree, the motor was driven through the floor boards by the impact, both front fenders were torn off and the windshield was shattered.

The accident occurred directly across the road from the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ross who told Vande Water they "heard a noise sometime after midnight but didn't pay too much attention because noises were not too unusual at that time of night."

The youth had called his parents earlier in the evening and told them not to expect him home right away because he was having trouble with his car and was going to Holland to have it fixed.

Deputies Al Hillbrand of Hudsonville and Peter Meeuwse of Zeeland along with state police Trooper Lars Syverson of Grand Haven, investigated. Vande Water also was called to the scene.

The youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zeeff. He was employed at the Gramman Box Co. in Hudsonville.

The body was taken to the Vander Laan funeral home in Hudsonville.

Council Asking $325 an Acre for New M-21 Route

New Budget Discussed Informally; Aldermen
Canvassed Spring Vote

In an advanced session continued from last week, Common Council Wednesday night canvassed the vote of Monday's spring election, discussed informally the proposed budget for the city now under consideration, and disposed of several other bits of business which came up in the meantime.

On recommendation of City Manager Harold C. McClintock, Council approved plans to negotiate with the Michigan highway department for the sale of city-owned property east of the city for a highway right-of-way on the basis of the purchase price in 1926 of $325 an acre. At the council meeting last week, the state had offered $200.

McClintock explained that the city had purchased the property in 1928 in recommendation of the park and cemetery board, but that the property had never been used or dedicated for cemetery purposes. Therefore, it would not require a public vote to dispose of the property. The property had been used as an airport for a time, and throughout the years provided top dirt for local parks. The entire 80 acres had cost the city $25,000, and the middle 40 acres had been purchased at a price of $325 an acre. It is through the middle section that the new limited access divided highway is routed.

Council felt the state should consider new negotiations on the basis of the original price, yet wants to be co-operative so that the heavy truck traffic can be routed around the city as soon as possible.

City Manager McClintock also reported on switching operations of the railroad on spurs throughout the city, after complaints were registered last week. He said the switch engines have a crew member serve as flagman at all important crossings and that engines also are equipped with air whistles and air brakes for safety. Alderman A. A. Nienhuis of the first ward who introduced the subject last week said everything was satisfactory.

The official canvass of the vote produced no changes in previous announcements. The issue to allocate $5,000 for plans for a recreational building passed 730-568. Officers elected are Harry Harrington, mayor; Jay H. Den Herder, associate municipal judge; LaVern Rudolph, John Beltman and Robert Visscher, aldermen.

City Attorney O. S. Cross announced that the hearing on the John J. Cappon will in Probate Court has been adjourned until May 13. The city was slated to receive $25,000 for a monument in Centennial park, but the residue of the state amounted to about $6,000. There also were other bequests to be considered.

Council granted permission to the Military Order of the Purple Heart, Inc. to stage an exhibit of modern and antique firearms sometime this year, subject to approval of the city manager and police department.

In a special ceremony, Mayor Harry Harrington presented certificates to Aldermen A. W. Hertel, Robert Notier and Lloyd Matman whose terms of office expire this month. The three were not eligible for re-election under the new charter. Presentation of certificates to outgoing councilmen is becoming an annual feature.

Council chambers were bright with color through azalea plants which Park Supt. Dick Smallenburgh placed there to welcome back to Holland Mayor Harrington and Mrs. Harrington. The mayor added further color by presenting all council members and the press some oranges he had brought back from Florida.

Mayor Harrington appointed John Gallen as one of Holland's representatives on the county Board of Supervisors until Jan. 1, 1953. Thereafter, the term will be four years.

All aldermen were present. Mayor pro tem Robert Notier gave the invocation.

The case started in court Monday morning and was adjourned at 2 p.m. to reconvene Tuesday to a defense witness, Arlene Shoemaker, Hope college student, on the stand. Miss Shoemaker, who was in the vicinity at the time of the accident, had returned to Holland Monday night from spring vacation.

Dutch Costume Exchange Set

Get those Dutch costumes in order any day now.

The Newcomers' club is making plans to operate a costume exchange here soon to be conducted on the same lines as in previous years.

No location has been selected and Tulip Time officials are looking for a place which is centrally located.

Mrs. E. J. Pelletier is chairman of the costume exchange committee, assisted by Mrs. Max Congdon, Mrs. Herbert Childress, Mrs. Will J. Scott and Mrs. Edna Kline.

Actually, the term costume exchange is a misnomer. Costumes are not "exchanged" as such. Rather, each person taking a costume to the center establishes a price and the Newcomers' club takes care of the transactions.

The Newcomers' club has been active in Tulip Time festivities for several years, operating the costume exchange, participating in street scrubbing, marching in parades, outfitting their children in costumes, and aiding in other ways.

Child Guidance Group Studies Sex Education

Topic for discussion at the fifth meeting in the Child Guidance series was "Sex Education." The meeting was held in Longfellow school gymnasium Monday night with Mrs. Mary Weaver, consultant from the educational division of the state Department of Mental Health, in charge of the discussion.

Mrs. Weaver emphasized in her talk that sex education involves more than merely a talk with a child. The attitudes of the parents toward the child, toward each other and themselves from the time the child is born has a direct bearing upon the child's reactions toward sex, she said. Parents who accept their own roles as fathers and mothers cheerfully, who accept the child lovingly and joyfully and who regard their own bodies and their functions as normal and matter-of-fact, reflect these attitudes upon their children. Feelings and emotions are caught, not taught, she said.

Mrs. Weaver said that many ask if too much sex information at an early age is dangerous. Evidence from actual records point to the contrary, she said; experimentation is usually a result of curiosity.

In answering the question "How do you keep young children from talking about sex with children of the neighborhood?" Mrs. Weaver suggested that this subject should be grouped along with other "strictly family" matters which are not discussed outside the home. Sex should not be pointed out separately as a taboo subject, however.

Children should be taught about sex a little at a time, as they ask questions from babyhood up. Mrs. Weaver emphasized that the child who has been given responsibility and is allowed to make decisions for himself at an early age is best prepared to make good decisions on sex and other adolescent problems.

A movie, "Human Growth," was shown to the group. The film, often used for junior high school groups, was discussed as to its possibility as a visual aid in this community.

Next Monday at 8 p.m. a panel discussion on "A Code for Teen-Agers," will be featured with George Lumsden as moderator and Mrs. Clarence Wagner, Donald Crawford, Earl Borlace, the Rev. James Barr, Miss Gladys Wiskamp and Mrs. H. K. Alexander on the panel.

Christian Netmen Begin Practices Under New Coach

Seven veterans along with six new hopefuls turned out for opening tennis practice at Holland Christian high school Monday afternoon. The Maroons will play a 12-match schedule in addition to tournament play, Clare Pott, new net coach, said today.

Returning letter winners are Dave Schreur and Ken Volkema, both juniors; Roger Boer, Rich Ribbens and Bill Prins, seniors; Rich Sharda and Jim Teerman both sophomores.

Others vying for a berth are seniors Jack Borr, Jim Kok and Frank Beltman; junior Carl Holkeboer and freshmen Norm Lokker and Paul Dykema.

The Maroon coach said, "With the exception of a few spots, all positions are wide open." Schreur, Sharda and Ribbens are sure of positions with several others holding the inside track for singles or doubles spots. It is expected that all of the boys will be kept on the squad with several alternating in various meets.

Most of the new boys have had experience either in school or city play. One bright spot is the appearance of Lokker and Dykema, both ninth graders with a great deal of city and statewide competition.

Complete schedule follows: April 18—Grand Rapids Christian, here; April 22—Zeeland, here; April 25—Grand Haven, here; April 28—Muskegon Heights, here; May 2—Wyoming Park, there; May 5—Allegan, here; May 8—Grand Haven, here; May 12—Allegan, there; May 13—Wyoming Park, here; May 16—Grand Rapids Christian, there; May 19—Zeeland, there; May 21—Muskegon Heights, there; May 23, 24—Regionals.

Miss Jennie Brower conducted the devotional service after which Mrs. O. Winstrom sang "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" and "The Holy City." She was accompanied by Mr. Edward De Pree.

Ex-GI Presents Flag He Captured to City

A wartime Netherlands flag may soon be flying over Holland again.

Only this time it will be Holland, Michigan.

The Netherlands flag with a House of Orange pennant was brought to Holland about route. A Chicago soldier, Sgt. John L. Henderson, saved the two flags from destruction during the liberation of Haarlem early in 1945.

According to Sgt. Henderson, his unit was slowly fighting its way through Haarlem's streets when he came upon a Nazi soldier. The Nazi had hauled down the flag and was setting fire to them. Sgt. Henderson killed the Nazi and carefully packed the flags away in his duffle bag.

It was many months later, up on Henderson's return to the U.S.A., before he remembered the flags again. Deciding the best place for the flags was Holland, Henderson presented the flags to the Chamber of Commerce here.

The two flags have been offered for use in welcoming ceremonies for Queen Juliana's visit next week. After the Queen's visit the flags will be given to the Netherlands Museum as part of the museum's permanent collection.

New Prep League Plans Continued At St. Joe Talks

A new high school conference involving Holland continued to simmer today following a five-school meeting Monday night at St. Joseph.

The five schools currently laying the groundwork for a new league—Holland, Grand Haven, Niles, Benton Harbor and St. Joseph—decided to go as far as possible toward a new conference in the matter of scheduling each other.

"Most of us play one another now," commented Joe Moran, Holland athletic director who was present at the meeting.

St. Joe and Benton Harbor don't meet in football and basketball, but do play in other sports. Rabid spectator interest that gets out of hand is cited as the reason for this non-scheduling. The two schools decided to let that matter ride for a couple of years.

Holland, currently meeting four of the schools regularly on the football field, Monday night began negotiations to play Niles in the grid sport in 1955 and 1956. This will mark the first rivalry with Niles for Holland.

The next meeting of the schools will be held in September, at which time scheduling problems will be brought up again.

At the September meeting, four other schools will be invited to be present. These new interested parties invited will be Muskegon Heights, Portage, Buchanan and Dowagiac. All have backers among the five schools forming the core of the new league negotiations.

Moran indicated he was pleased with the course of events Monday night, and that the possibilities of the new league within the next few years are brighter than they have been in the past.

Main purpose of the meeting was distribution of the $6,456.43, including $60 contributed after the meeting, too late to be included in the reported amount. This sum will provide a year's care for 196 lepers after expenses and special grants are deducted. Last year 179 lepers were cared for.

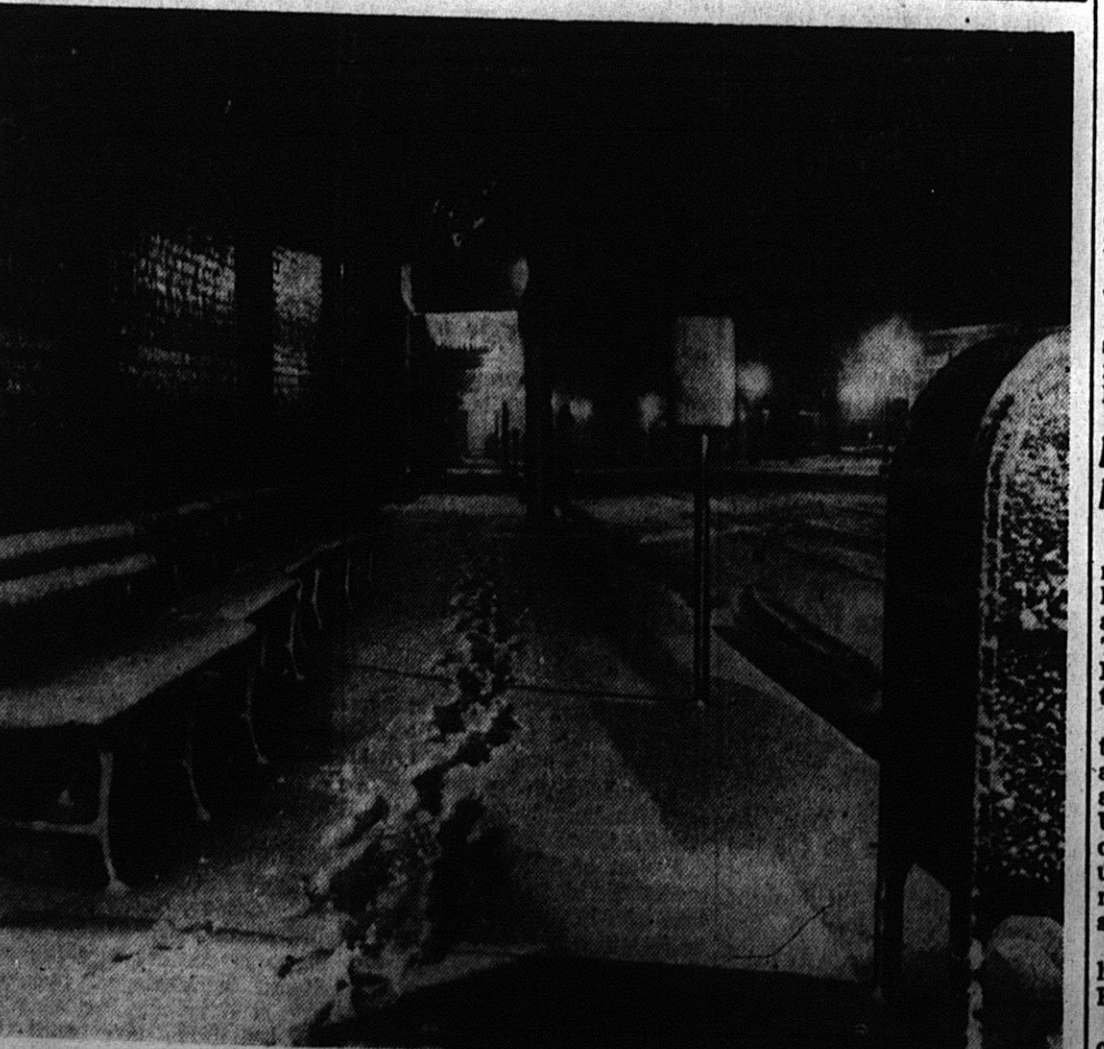

In other business, Mrs. D. Vander Meer reported on the children's meeting in Hope chapel March 30, when $275.57 was collected. Mrs. Al Knipe read a letter from Dr. C. J. Staffacher and a letter written by lepers at the Tellis leper colony expressing gratitude for the federation's continuous support of the colony.

Chix Net Squad Faces Big Task Of Rebuilding

Zeeland (Special)—Graduation losses among his variety net team have forced a vast rebuilding job upon the shoulders of Zeeland high school tennis coach Ray Lokers as the Chix netters prepare for the 1952 season.

Zeeland had a 7-1 record last year, but lost Vern Gebben and Jack Koie in singles and Roger Winkles in doubles.

Glenn De Pree, number two singles man last season, likely will advance to the number one spot. Milt Lubbers, Bill Tibbitts, Jack De Pree and George Schipper all are being groomed for doubles competition.

Due to the Chix' entrance in the Ken-New-Wa league this spring and the uncertainty of a league tennis schedule, the Zeeland list of games has not been posted yet. League schools which have indicated they will field a tennis squad are Cedar Springs, Comstock Park, Sparta and Coopersville.

Other opponents tentatively lined up for Zeeland will be Holland Christian, Godwin Heights, Otsego and Allegan.

League matches will be decided on a new basis this year. There will be three events per match—two singles and one doubles—and the match winner will be determined by the team taking most of the events, as usual.

But the league championship will go to the school that has garnered the most points during the season and not necessarily the most matches won. A team will receive one point for each event won in match play, so it would be possible for a team which has lost one or more matches to finish ahead of a squad that has won all its matches.

He's Been Around World, And Lived in Australia

Springtime dreamers thinking of travel should look to their laurels.

Twenty-six year-old Pat Nordhof set a travel record few will equal. He recently returned from a round the world trip lasting 17 months.

Pat's trip reads like a travel folder. He left the west coast via Pan American clipper stopping off in Hawaii for two days. From there he continued on to Australia, his home for the next 15 months, with brief stops at Canton, Fiji Islands and New Caledonia.

Keeping track of the time of day proved rather confusing to Pat. Flying west the plane crosses several time belts losing an hour each time. Crossing the international date line a complete day is lost.

"Trying to keep what day it was straight proved trouble enough without worrying about the hour of the day," Pat said.

Arriving in Sydney, located on the east coast, Pat used trains and cars to visit Melbourne, Adelaide, Kalgoorlie and Perth. Perth, west coast town is approximately 2694 miles from Sydney. Visits to these cities and others were made over a 15 month period.

To keep Pat's financial picture stable he held a variety of jobs ranging from interior decorating, farming to work in a General Motors factory.

Travel in Australia was easy but sometimes a little boring, Pat said. He explained that one stretch of railroad extends more than 300 miles in practically a straight line.

"That was a little monotonous. You'd go to sleep at night, wake the next morning and think you hadn't moved at all because the country looked exactly the same," Pat said.

Parent-Teachers Club Hears Walter W. Scott

Walter W. Scott, superintendent of Holland schools, spoke Thursday evening at a meeting of the Waukazoo Parent-Teachers club. The meeting, held at the school, was in charge of Mrs. T. Van Hattma, who also accompanied group singing.

Scott talked on the four things teachers are trying to teach their students: They are to learn to live together; learn about the world in which they live; learn about economics; and learn the way to good living.

F. Dainning led devotions and

The large number of rabbits and kangaroos cause the Australian people quite a bit of trouble. He said that all areas where crops are grown or cattle graze must be fenced. Pat felt the fencing problem could get pretty expensive since the 650 acre farm he worked on was considered small.

Food prices in Australia are considerably cheaper than in America.

"A dinner of steak and eggs, salad, dessert, and coffee would cost about 45 cents in American money," Pat said.

A query about the Australian girls brought a middle of the road comment.

"The girls there are like American women," Pat said, "and they dress quite like the women in California."

One thing Pat found quite similar to Michigan was the great amount of beach areas. Some beaches stretching for over 90 miles along the ocean. All pure white sand.

Pat said he found the people very friendly and they look with favor upon the United States. He said that when conversation turned to politics the people generally agreed "Roosevelt was a great man."

He said the Aussies like the Americans and the way "The Yanks get things done."

Pat's return to the United States completed his round the world voyage.

Starting from Australia's west coast port of Perth he took a ship to London with stops at Ceylon, Aden, Port Said, Naples, Marseille, Gibraltar and London.

The trip to London took 30 days. Pat continued by boat from London to New York.

Pat's future plans are indefinite. He said he was glad to be back home in Holland.

Holland Fish and Game Club Sets Plans for 1952 Membership Drive

The Holland Fish and Game club—the oldest organization of its kind in Michigan—is conducting its annual membership drive on a different basis this year than during the past few seasons.

Usually the big drive is topped off with the annual Fish and Game club banquet. But in 1952 the membership "bonus" will be a movie and lecture program April 22, entitled "Alaska Wildlife," featuring big game and fishing on the Kenai peninsula in Alaska, with close-ups of game fish, mammoth bears, white mountain sheep and goats, bull moose and other wild animals.

During the summer months, in addition to the wildlife movie feature, the Fish and Game club is planning a mammoth picnic to be held on the club's property east of Holland for all members. The local sportsmen's group has long been an advocate of progressive and safe methods in conservation, hunting and fishing.

Years ago the club pioneered in the plan of planting fish and game in certain areas, but gave up the practice when conservation studies by the state department turned thumbs down on the idea. Other promotions have included forestry methods and tree planting for natural conservation.

The club also sponsors several activities directed at youth to allow the younger set the opportunity to learn safe and effective methods of hunting, fishing and conservation.

During the past year, in addition to regular activities, the club has sponsored a number of worthwhile projects.

An eight-week series of lectures by representatives of the Michigan Conservation department this past winter was sponsored jointly by the Fish and Game club and the Holland Board of Education. Total attendance at these meetings was about 1,800 persons.

The club also financed two rifle training classes for high school students with volunteer supervision by the Holland Rifle club.

The club grounds, on M-21 between Holland and Zeeland, again were maintained for the use of the public for picnics and other outings.

Following a favorite subject, the club prevented closing of two public roads giving access to Lake Macatawa, and succeeded, with assistance of the township supervisors, in opening a new road to the water's edge at Chippewa Point.

And club officers assure the public that the organization will continue vigorously these and other worthwhile efforts.

South Haven (Special)—The body of a man washed ashore near South Haven Sunday has been identified as that of Lloyd Horton, 23, of Pentwater, who was drowned March 4 after a fishing tug accident near Saugatuck, state police reported today.

Horton was drowned when the fishing tug was broken to pieces by a heavy sea while returning to Saugatuck after a morning of fishing. The tragedy occurred near the Saugatuck oval. Coast Guardsmen searched for Horton's body for several days before ceasing operations.

Clyde Cross, 46, of Charlevoix, owner of the tug, Alice, which overturned, also was aboard the ill-fated craft at the time of the accident. Cross reached safety by walking over ice floes to the nearby shoreline.

Positive identification of the youth's body was made by his father, Jack Horton, who was summoned Sunday night from his Pentwater home.

EATING WITHOUT WORKING

Most people haven't caught up with the newest presidential candidate yet, but they will soon. He will become known without delay
because he is making bigger and better promises to the voters than the wildest New Dealers or Fair
Dealers have ever ventured to do.

His name is Herbert C. Hol-dridge and he hails from Detroit. In filing for the Democratic primary in California he built his candidacy on the simple pledge that if nominated and elected he would see to it that "everyone
would be guaranteed a minimum wage of $5,000."

In other words, he is assuring the voters that they can eat without working. Or it amounts to about that. Make certain that everybody holding down a job will get $5,000 and you can be sure that so little work would be done
that the national income would not justify paying $500 per head. And that is not saying that the masses
of workers are more unreliable
than others. It simply is in accordance with human nature to take it easy if you can.

This newest lunatic fringe presidential candidate knows very well
that neither he nor anyone else could pay a minimum of $5,000 to "everyone" unless the American people as a whole earned that much. But that never stops such people. They know very well that a lot of people can be persuaded to believe anything. They also know that the more you promise
the more likely you are to be believed.

In fact, it is rather surprising
that this freak candidate is so modest in his promises. After all, promises don't cost anything and while you are about it you might as well make your promises big enough. Someone is sure to come around who will go Holdridge one better. For instance, promise a minimum of $5,000 and complete tax exemption. Wouldn't that be a honey as a vote catcher? But it is just as easy as the new candidate's platform.

The trouble is that no one has yet invented a way of making money without working for it. Here and there a graffer may succeed
in this, but generally speaking the rule enforced by old man economist himself is, "You don't eat if you don't work." Windy promises have kept a good many windy politicians in office for quite a spell,
but the average man has to keep his nose pretty close to the well known grindstone if he wants to eat three square meals a day.
This becomes more evident every day as our elected officials allow
our tax money waste to continue.

Wage Board Approves
Hikes at Local Plant

Detroit — The Michigan Wage Stabilization board has approved a six-cents an hour wage increase for non-incentive employees of Hart and Cooley Manufacturing Co.
of Holland, according to M. S.
Ryder, regional WSB chairman.
Ryder in announcing the WSB approval today said the increase is retroactive to Oct. 2, 1951, and affects 57 of the firm's 351 employees.

Basis for the decision was WSB
regulation 17 which permits
approved wage boosts to correct
bona fide inequities.
The petition asking wage board approval of the increase, filed jointly by officials of the company and representatives of lodge
No. 1418, International Association of Machinists (AFL), state
the increase also would help establish a more equitable relationship between incentive and non-incentive employees.

Thomas and the Risen Lord
John 11:14-16; 14:1-6; 20:24-29
By Henry Geerlings

Thomas provides an interesting
study in contrasts—fear and loyalty, perplexity and frankness, incredulity and confession. While his shortcomings stand out from the narrative, we must not be prejudiced against Thomas, but must acknowledge those good qualities which doubtless did not escape the attention of the Master.

Our Scripture passages tell us that we know about Thomas. We have no record of his life before he became a disciple, or of his call. The only personal fact we can gather is that he was a twin.
His name means just that.

The incident of John 11 provides our first insight into his character. Our Lord had left Jerusalem because of an attempt on his life and had retired to Bethabara beyond Jordan, about sixty miles from the Holy City.
There He received news of the sickness of Lazarus. That He did not immediately respond to this news by going to Bethany occasioned no surprise to His disciples. They knew their Master would expose Himself to further attack by the Jewish leaders if He ventured as near Jerusalem
as Bethany. Hence, when after two days He announced His intention of going to Bethany, the disciples were alarmed for His safety.

Christ's answer to their protests disclosed that He felt Himself in full command of the situation and no fear of the consequences. He then made it plain to them that Lazarus was dead, but that this did not change His determination to make the journey. Whereupon Thomas suggested that they go with Him and die. Was this an utterance of despair or the decision of a brave and loyal heart? If we had heard the tone of Thomas' voice we might know for a certainty. In our lack of certain knowledge, we are probably right
to suppose that his words reflected a little of both.

John 14 needs to be read with the closing verses of the previous chapter. Peter was puzzled by our Lord's statement that He was going where Peter could not follow. So Jesus told him plainly that His destination was the Father's house. Certainly as His in-imate friends for the past nearly three years they should have known that He was bound for heaven and that because He would go there they also would follow. But sorrow and fear had robbed them of spiritual perception and speaking doubtless for the rest, Thomas said that they did not know where He was going.
He was full of understanding perhaps but he was honest and Jesus honored his honesty in a wonderful reply, "I am the way,
the truth and the life."

The third of our Scripture passages takes us beyond Calvary to the resurrection. Thomas was not with the eleven on that Easter night when Jesus appeared to them. Their report seemed impossible to him and he declared his unwillingness to believe unless he could furnish his own tests. When a week later the Master appeared again with Thomas this time
present, that disciple fell at His feet exclaiming, "My Lord and my God." Even his practical mind was satisfied.

Our Lord did not rebuke Thomas for demanding proof. He did however pronounce a blessing
upon those who would believe
without the opportunity Thomas had.

Two things distressed the minds of the disciples—His own references to His approaching death,
and the evident increase in the opposition toward Him. Twice the same day attempts were made on His life, and it must have been
with much relief that the disciples left Jerusalem with their Leader for the safety of Bethabara. They would have been happy to stay there indefinitely, and when Jesus expressed His determination to return to Bethany they were alarmed, and said so. When it became apparent to them that His mind was made up, Thomas spoke up. He could see nothing but disaster as a consequence of returning to the Jerusalem
area, but if Jesus was going He would not go alone. Thomas at least was ready to go with Him.
The best thing to do with doubts
and problems is to draw them out into the light of day. There is no shame in having a doubt, so long as we do not hang on to it after all the evidence has been given which should dispel it. Doubts suppressed and unexpressed are dangerous. Fearlessly faced they soon disappear. The wisest thing of all to do with doubts is tell them to Jesus.

17-Year-Old Anrehended
While Driving Stolen Car

Grand Haven (Special)—Seventeen-year-old Walter Ardis King, of 1312 Columbus, who was released from Southern Michigan prison at Jackson in February, is in trouble again.

He was taken into custody at 10:09 p.m. Tuesday by city police while in possession of a car reported stolen from John Swiftney
at 726 Clinton St.

A 14-year-old companion who was not involved in the theft of the car was with King at the time.
King is being held in the county jail awaiting disposition.
Last June 11 he was placed on probation for three years on a breaking and entering charge. On July 9 he pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawfully driving away
an automobile and was sentenced to serve nine months to five years.

D. J. Dedel, local carver, (below), did his work well when he made the royal cradle for Princess Juliana back in 1909, for Juliana, now Queen of the Netherlands, has been using the cradle for all of her children. This picture taken about 12 years ago shows former Queen Wilhelmina at left holding Princess Beatrix, Prince Bernhard's mother, Princess Von Lippe-Biesterfeld at right. In the cradle is Princess Irene.

Local Man Carved Cradle
For Dutch Royal Family

When Her Majesty Queen Jul-
iana comes to Holland April 16,
her visit will hold special significance for 83-year-old Dirk J. Dedel who carved the royal cradle when the Dutch princess was born in 1909.

It was a memorable day when Dedel, a master carver and designer who was graduated from the Academy of Fine Arts in the Hague, received the royal assignment.

And during the two months it took to complete the intricate carving, Queen Mother Emma often visited Dedel's shop. She often sat on his work bench and assumed a "folksy" attitude as
the work progressed, he recalled.

He must have done his work
well because Juliana has used the cradle for all her children.

Dedel's part in the cradle drama first came to light here last month when his wife took some of the cradle sketches and some Dutch clippings to the hobby show in the Netherlands Museum. They were on display there in a glass
case for a full week.

Dedel (pronounced De-dell)
still pursues his career of carving at Baker Furniture, Inc., where he has been employed ever since he came to Holland in 1936.

He was born in the Hague and for many years worked at Mut-ter's Furniture Co., which says is still in business. It was while he was employed there that the order for the royal cradle came.
Later he pursued his skill in Amsterdam, London and Paris before coming to the United States in 1913. He lived in Philadelphia,
New York and Chicago before coming to Holland. While in New York he spent two years on carvings for the mansion of the president of the Woolworth Co. in the early 1920's.

Dedel was taken ill a few weeks ago, but is recovering. At present he is looking forward to his sixth trip back to the Netherlands to visit a brother and sister living in the Hague. He said he is having trouble getting travel accommodations which would take him directly to the Netherlands.

At present he and Mrs. Dedel live quietly in their comfortable apartment at 18 East 12th St. Not a home whittler, he does all his carving at his bench at Baker's.
His diversions at home are smoking his curved Dutch pipe and sitting in his favorite easy chair.

A bit-overwhelmed by attention given him over something that happened 43 years ago, Dedel found it difficult to remember the little folksy details reporters dearly love to ferret out.

"What else can I think of?" he mused. "Oh yes, I got a medal
from the academy for some of my models years ago. I think some of them are still in museums in the Hague." It came as quite an afterthought.

Allegan Pioneer's
Funeral Rites Set

Allegan (Special)—Funeral services will be held Friday at 10 a.m.
in the Gordon funeral residence
for Charles W. Kellogg, former Allegan resident, who died Friday
morning at his home in Lakeland, Fla.

The Rev. Richard Ford, Congregational pastor, will officiate and burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Since 1941, Kellogg and his wife,
the former Katherine Murphy,
have been year-around residents of Lakeland. Prior to that they spent winter months there and summer
in their home in Allegan.

Kellogg was born in 1871 in Ovid, Mich. He apprenticed himself as a printer in Bancroft and later joined the staff of the Charlotte Republican. From there he came to Allegan, was first foreman and later proprietor of the Allegan
Journal which was to become The News.

From then until his retirement
in 1934, Kellogg was associated with newspaper and type foundry
work around the country.

Survivors include the wife; a son, Harold, of Lamont; and a sister, Mrs. May Stone of Fenton.

Bitten by Dog

Grand Haven (Special)—Charlene Stehouwer, 10-year-old daughter of Melvin Stehouwer of Lamont, was bitten on the right
forearm and left leg by a dog
while riding a bicycle on the sidewalk about 6 p.m. The dog, a boxer purchased by Mrs. Francis Sturgeon about a week ago, had broken loose and run away. The child was treated by a Coopersville physician and was released. The dog was given shots for rabies
and will remain under observation for 10 days. State police investigated.

Postal Receipts Down

Postal receipts for March decreased 15 per cent from March a year ago, Postmaster Harry Kramer said today. Receipts for March, 1952, totaled $35,236, or $6,227 under receipts of $41,463 a year ago. Postal receipts for the quarter ending March 31 decreased 5.18 per cent. They totaled $99,380, or $5,431 less than the first 1951
quarter total of $104,811. The decrease was due mainly because of an extra large mailing of circular material last year.

Uramkin to Seek
Post of Sheriff

Allegan (Special)—Michael J.
Uramkin this week became the first Allegan county candidate to announce intentions to seek nomination in the Sept. 9 primary election.

Uramkin is a candidate for the Republican nomination for sheriff. He was a close contender for that nomination in the 1950 primary and said his showing in that election "inspired me to run again."

He served as Allegan county's
"flying deputy" under Sheriff L.
A. Johnson for two years, giving the county the distinction of having the only airborne deputy sheriff in the state.

He is a veteran of World War
II, serving four years as a pilot
in the Air Force. His one year
overseas was spent in China,
Burma and India.

At present he owns and operates a dairy farm in Trowbridge
township, manages the Allegan
airport and is commanding officer
in the newly organized Allegan
squadron of the Civil Air Patrol.

He is 39, married and the father of two children.

It is this "permanent site" that prompted the following letter to The Sentinel:

To the Editor:
I have a cottage near Holland and
am much interested in the town.
Enclosed find a letter to the 32-bell unit was exhibited
here at the 1950 International Trade Fair. It was set up at the end of Navy pier and the music
was wonderful over the water.

In my opinion Holland should
(1) make every effort to get the big set being presented or (2) buy the 32-bell unit if unsuccessful.

It could be set up either in the park or at the beach on Lake Michigan.

It is played like a piano and has a wide variety of tunes. It would be perfect for the Klompen dances.

Will you please contact some of the local people in Holland Furnace Co., Baker Furniture, etc.?

I would be glad to come over and tell what little I know about them in order to get the project started.

Club Hears Talk On Delinquency

Juvenile delinquency was the subject of a talk by Capt. C. Stoppels, head of the juvenile and women's division of the Grand Rapids police department, before the Kiwanis club Monday night at the Warm Friend Tavern.

Stoppels emphasized the importance of correcting children before they become involved in more serious crimes, pointing out that 95 per cent of the inmates of Jackson prison and other penal institutions started with juvenile records.

"In 85 per cent of the cases of delinquency," Stoppels said, "we find it is due to lack of supervision, discipline, guidance and training, and love and affection on the part of the parents."

The Grand Rapids officer pointed out that broken homes where parents have been divorced is the principal cause of juvenile delinquency.

Stoppels emphasized the importance of religious training to prevent delinquency saying, "We hardly ever get a boy or girl involved in a serious offense who attends church and Sunday school regularly."

"In a discussion period which followed his talk, Stoppels deplored the use of cigarettes by children and told about the harm to youth both physically and mentally through habitual use. He also pointed out that merchants selling cigarettes to children under the age of 21 years could be prosecuted for violation of the state law."

Stoppels concluded his talk by emphasizing the importance of public co-operation with authorities and social agencies in combating juvenile delinquency.

Russell Tague was program chairman. President Jack Plewes presided at the meeting. The invocation was given by Harold Oosting.

Hoffman Gives Praise to Reuther For Ousting Reds

By Rep. Clare E. Hoffman

March 15, 1952 the administrative board of the International UAW-CIO took over management of Ford local 600, which has more than 40,000 dues-paying members, and fired five of its officers. They were fired, said the board, because they had used the local "to advance the interests of the Communist party at the expense of the Ford workers." This action immediately followed the exposure of the Communist membership of these officials by a congressional sub-committee.

It is a pleasure to join my distinguished colleague from Pennsylvania, Mr. Walter, who, on the 17th, complimented—and I quote: "That greater leader and labor statesman, Walter Reuther, for the courageous action he took in attempting to rid local 600 of the Communist influence which unquestionably dominated that union."

Reuther and those who acted with him in this purge of the Reds have been highly praised for their action.

For years the CIO News, the Daily Worker, left-wing radio announcers, columnists and some editors have falsely characterized my legislative activities as being anti-labor and Red-baiting. So now, when the tide has turned, it seems proper to note the fact that 14 years and nine months ago, from the well of the House, I condemned and named Communists and others who were attempting to take over labor organizations.

In January of 1934, a Senate document, compiled under John L. Lewis' supervision, entitled, "Attempt by Communists to Seize American Labor Movement," named and described a designated group as "fakers, repudiated leaders, traitors to the unions, opportunists, and purveyors of every falsehood, slander and deception."

In 1938, Lewis' Mine Journal said the group "was doing its dirtiest to capture the United Mine Workers and transform this splendid union into a Communist organization."

Lewis knew all that when he left the AFL, fathered the CIO and later, in '37, under the protection of Gov. Frank Murphy, used the Communists' to call and carry on the sit-down strikes in Michigan.

During those strikes, the CIO—and Walter Reuther was then a member—and its Communist allies deliberately followed a planned program of seizing factories, destroying personal property, beating individuals, defying peace officers, disregarding the law, ignoring court orders and the rules of common decency.

President Roosevelt had warned, "If communism breaks in America, it will be in the Detroit area where it will first manifest itself." And Gov. Murphy said, "Communism is not coming, it is here."

On the 1st day of June, 1937, it was my privilege to call the attention of the House, not only to the unlawful activities of the CIO under Lewis, who had Reuther's assistance, but to name some Communists and left-wingers—more than 40 in all—who either were furthering or had prepared the ground for the sit-down strikes—Communist infiltration into labor unions.

For the last nine years, on the wall of my office in Washington, have hung six photographs showing five CIO pickets, two of them Communists, beating a defenseless worker. At that time, Lee Pressman, an admitted Communist, was general counsel of the CIO and presumably directed its activities.

Can it be said that Walter Reuther, an intelligent man, who had worked in Russia, was ignorant of the fact that the CIO in the sit-down strikes was using Communists and their methods?

Just why, while our men are being shot and killed in Korea in their effort to contain communism, those safe here in America should be praised for throwing Communists out of a position where they might lessen production for defense, is a little difficult to understand.

But let us not be critical. Converts are always welcome. St. Luke wrote:

"... That likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons, who need no repentance."

So, again, assuming that Walter Reuther and his associates did not know the CIO has been harboring Communists, let us all commend them for now kicking Communists out of local 600. Let us all express the hope that those who seek, as do the Communists, to overthrow this Government by force, who contend that "there is no God", that "ministers and priests are hypocrites", that "religion is a fraud", may be exposed, removed from all positions, both in labor organizations and government, which gave them power or opportunity to spread communism.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Koster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dirk Vander Yacht of 550 Pinecrest Dr., became the bride of Floyd Koster on Friday, March 28, in Beechwood Reformed church. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Koster of route 1.

The Rev. John Benes read the double ring ceremony at 8 p.m. before a setting of palms, ferns and double candelabra. Bouquets of white snapdragons and white tulips accented the setting. White satin bows and ferns marked the pews.

Miss Rachel Koster, sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid and Patty Vander Yacht, sister of the bride, was the flower girl. Dick Geenen assisted the groom as best man. Billy Streuter was bearer and ushers were Elmer De Jongh and Leon Vander Yacht, brother of the bride.

The bride chose a ballerina-length gown of white nylon embroidered net over a white satin hooded skirt. The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice and long sleeves that came to points at the wrists. Tiny satin and net buttons extended down the back of the dress. Her fingertip-length veil was held in place by a hat of white net over satin and lilies-of-the-valley. She carried a white Bible centered with a lavender orchid. White streamers dotted with white rose buds extended from the center of the Bible. Her only jewelry was a three strand pearl choker.

Miss Koster wore a ballerina-length yellow gown of lace and net over a satin slip. Her headpiece was of yellow net with small flowers and a half veil. She wore a three strand pearl necklace, a gift of the bride and groom. Her bouquet was of white carnations with streamers of hyacinths. The flower girl's gown was of white nylon net and lace over a white satin hooded skirt. She wore a matching head piece and nylon lace fingerless mitts. She carried a white satin and net flower basket with white rose petals. Her jewelry included a pink necklace and bracelet, also a gift of the bride and groom.

Warren Plaggemars, soloist, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" preceding the ceremony, accompanied by Miss Kay Cnossen. Miss Cnossen also played a 15-minute prelude.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for 120 guests. Waitresses were Miss Eleanor Geerlings, Miss Mary Ann Vander Yacht, Miss Carolyn Koster and Miss Donna Mast.

Out-of-town guests were from Allegan, Grand Rapids, Zeeland, Muskegon and Port Huron.

After the reception the couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls. For the trip, Mrs. Koster wore a brown and white checked suit with white and brown accessories and a yellow shorty coat. The couple is now at home at route 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Koster have lived in Holland all their lives and both are graduates of Holland high school. The groom is employed as a farmer.

Holland Classis Women Stage Spring Conference

The Women's Missionary union of the Holland classis met for its spring conference in Bethel Reformed church Friday. Mrs. James Wayer, president of the union, presided at both morning and afternoon sessions.

Devotions in the morning were conducted by Miss Jean Nienhuis, former missionary to China, followed by a stewardship presentation by Mrs. Henry Van Dyke and Mrs. Henry De Pree.

The nominating committee report was given by Mrs. Lester J. Kuyper. The treasurer's annual report showed a grand total of gifts for missions during the year of $20,608, about $4,000 more than last year. The missionary home report showed that $1,580 had been contributed for the refurbishing of the homes at 174 West 15th St. now occupied by the Rev. Gordon Van Wyk family and at East 13th St. occupied by the Rev. William Angus family.

Main feature of the morning session was a panel discussion led by Mrs. Jacob Prins on the theme, "Looking at Ourselves." Participants were Mrs. Kenneth De Pree who spoke on the baby roll, Mrs. George Schutmaat on the missionary homes, Mrs. Henry Kuit on literature, Mrs. Henry Van Dyke on spiritual life, Mrs. John Kobes on missionary activities, Mrs. Garrett Vander Borgh on foreign missions, Mrs. I. J. Lubbers on domestic missions and Mrs. James Wayer on getting behind the budget.

Noontime prayers were led by Mrs. Christian Walvoord and Mrs. Dick Vander Meer.

The church was filled for the afternoon session which started with devotions by Mrs. Gordon Van Wyk, missionary to China. The president welcomed three new societies which joined the union, the Fellowship guild of Sixth, Holland, the Benheim Young Women's League and the Christian Fellowship of the North Blendon church. Mrs. Wayer announced the union of the department of women's work of the Board of Foreign Missions and the Board of Domestic Missions which becomes effective in May.

Zwemer and told of his joy in returning 60 years later to see the results accomplished in that time. Dr. Zwemer and Dr. James Cantine were founders of the Arabian mission in 1887.

Miss Dalenberg described conditions in Arabia today and showed the effect of the discovery of oil and the spirit of nationalism upon the people in Arabia today, and the difficulties it creates in missionary endeavor.

The closing prayer was offered by the Rev. C. Reynen, pastor of the host church.

The fall conference will be held Oct. 8 in Central Park Reformed church.

VOLLEYS FROM AMBUSH

The pending visit of Queen Juliana of the Netherlands to Holland recalls fond—yet somewhat painful—memories for Andrew Plantinga of 276 West 16th St. Plantinga, who now is retired at the age of 72, was living in his native Netherlands at the time of the Queen's birth.

He was a carpenter at the time in Garip, province of Friesland. Naturally, the entire country, including Garip, was anxiously awaiting the expected arrival of a new prince or princess at the palace.

Now a special duty of Plantinga in the town of Garip was to raise the flag on the tower of the Reformed church there. This was done on special occasions—such as national holidays, special celebrations and, of course, the birth of royalty. There was only one other church in the town, and a flag was displayed on that tower, too, on these special occasions. It wasn't too long before a sort of friendly rivalry existed between the flag raisers as to who would be the first to hoist the banner when the occasion demanded.

As the birthday approached, excitement heightened. A rumor reached Garip that the baby was born. So Plantinga rushed to the church and hoisted the flag—only to lower it again when it was discovered the rumor was false.

Two days later, April 30, 1909, the waited word came by telegram andd Plantinga took off for the church. He was so excited and rushed so fast that he sprained his ankle and had to crawl to the tower to triumphantly raise the flag.

Yes,—he beat the other flag raiser—but then had to literally crawl home with a painful ankle. The same evening, there was a prayer meeting in the church for the Queen and her new daughter. Plantinga never did get to see the princess until she visited here in 1941.

Mr. and Mrs. Plantinga left the Netherlands in 1913—four years after the flag adventure. They first lived in Passaic, N. J., then Sheldon, Iowa, before moving to Holland. They have three children, two born in the Netherlands.

Plantinga includes this favorite experience among all his treasured memories of life in the Netherlands. But he'll tell you one thing. He still thinks a lot of the Netherlands, but that country must take second place—for his love for the United States comes first.

Geerlings Wins Point for Holland On Harbor Bill

Lansing (Special) — Senator Clyde Geerlings won an important victory for his home district in the state senate Tuesday.

It came about when a bill to provide for inspection and licensing of rented watercraft advanced for final vote. Geerlings had introduced an amendment to the bill Monday night that would exempt municipalities which have established their own inspection regulations.

When he introduced the amendment Monday, it failed to pass by two votes. Geerlings immediately demanded a roll call vote. Then the entire matter was put over until Tuesday's session.

Before the vote Geerlings had a chance to talk on the senate floor.

"There will be a lot of disgruntled Dutchmen over in Holland, Holland township and Park township if this amendment fails to pass," Geerlings said. "And I don't blame them. Here's a group that recognized a need for safety legislation long before the legislature thought of it."

"It's an insult to any community that is trying to do a good job with home rule if the state forces it to pay the sheriff's department 50 cents when experienced boatmen are doing the job for nothing."

Geerlings explained the Holland Port of Authority set-up in full before yielding the floor to get on with the roll call vote.

The amendment passed by a whopping 28-2 vote and the entire bill now goes back to the house.

The house accepted senate amendments to the bill and cleared the way for presentation of the measure to the governor.

Pitchers Control Holland-Zeeland Scrimmage Play

Zeeland high school came out on the long end of a 3-0 score in a scrimmage session with Holland high Tuesday afternoon at the 19th St. baseball diamond.

Pitching predominated in the seven-inning warm-up, with Glenn Schrotenboer and Del Komejan combining for Zeeland to limit Holland to four hits, and Jerry Victor, Terry Burns and George Pierson allowing the winning Chix only three.

But a streak of wildness by Burns allowed Coach Bob Hoover's charges to score all three runs and tack away the victory in the fifth frame on only one safety.

In addition to the pitching, both Hoover and Holland Coach Ned Stuitts were pleased by the general all-around fielding performances of the two clubs.

Alden Klomprens garnered two of Holland's safeties, while Bob Van Dyke clubbed a double. Rog Van Ommen collected a three-bagger for Zeeland.

Stuitts used a starting lineup that included Ron Boeve behind the plate, Klomprens at first, Ed Bredeweg at second, Dick Plagenhoef at third and Van Dyke at third. In the starting outfield were Dick Lipchick, Jack Kemper and Gordon Hulst.

For Zeeland, Lee Wierama and Dave Vander Meulen worked behind the plate. The infield had John Vanden Bosch at first, Howard Geerlings at second, Terry Kraai at short and Bob Berens at third. Seeing outfield duty were Van Ommen, Ron Weatherly, Jim Wyngarden and Junior Raterink.

GRANDSTANDING...

By Dick Millman

Although Franklin C. (Cappy) Cappon talked at length about "the old days" in sports and sprinkled his statements with many familiar names from the Holland business and professional picture of today, in his talk at the Lions club basketball banquet Tuesday night, he commented that the oldtimers couldn't stand up with today's athletic teams if taken bodily from their own period.

And he had several reasons all lined up, too. Today's boys are bigger than they used to be, Cappon said, and their training is more extensive. And then, any game you name is more complex today than it was 30 or 40 years ago. Today's teams, he concluded, would outclass those of yesterday, although it is almost impossible to compare them.

"But give some of the oldtimers the training that today's boys get, and they'd give you a good chase," he added.

The only place you can compare today with yesterday is in individual records, Cappon feels. And today's athletes have broken almost all existing individual records formerly held by the oldtimers.

"Maybe its orange juice or vitamins or something," he commented.

Cappon has been coaching at Princeton university since 1938, with the exception of three years in the Navy. His Tiger basketball squad has won the Ivy league crown in two of the last three years, including the past season, when Cappon's boys compiled a 16-9 won-lost record, plus two losses in the NCAA tournament.

"Those stories you hear about 'Cappy' Cappon adds with a smile, 'are mostly baloney.' (His feats at both Holland high and Michigan are almost legendary.) 'It's just like gossip, and grows from one person to another. The stories get better as the years go by."

"I just happened to come along when Holland was gaining in athletics," he added. There was an upsurge in high school athletics when I was playing, and I happened to be riding on top of it. That's all."

But you can still find plenty of folks who will argue with you, Cappy.

Cappon finds no difference in the style of ball played in the Midwest and the East. He regularly brings his Princeton team on a tour of the Midwest, including stops at Michigan and Michigan State.

"But 15 or 20 years ago, there was quite a difference in interpretation of the rules," he said. "Blocking and screening were called differently in the two sections. And styles were mixed up, too. But not today. Styles of play are different, of course, just as they are in two high schools in Michigan within 20 miles of each other. That's the fascinating thing about basketball. You don't see the same game every night."

Cappy also commented briefly on a statement by Al Dorow, Michigan State quarterback, who contended that Princeton All-American Dick Kazmaier wouldn't even be able to make the varsity at State. Dorow made such a claim last winter.

"He was just talking," Cappon said with a laugh. "Kazmaier could make anybody's club if used in the right place—tailback in the single wing."

The Recreation department-sponsored B softball league, which made its debut in Holland last summer, is making plans for a bigger and better season this year.

Norm Japiga again will serve as "commissioner" of the league, and expects the number of teams to about double from last year's six entries.

Commissioner Japiga plans a meeting of all interested teams or players in the near future, and in the meantime is asking possible entries to get lined up so they will be ready to go when the season begins.

Although no sponsor is needed for a team in the B league, the Recreation department likes it better if the team is sponsored.

Last season the teams played on only one night per week at twilight, but this season with more teams to handle the league will expand its playing time to include possibly some night games. Thursday night was left open by the City Softball league at the Third St. field for this reason.

The Recreation league works in co-operation with the city league, and is not in direct competition for either players or fans. In fact, many of last year's stars in the B league likely will move up to the city league this season.

In the recent South Haven gold medal invitational basketball tournament, several Holland players received individual honors.

Duane Rosendahl of Washington Square made the first all-tourney team, while Gene Nyenhuis of Pete's place won a spot on the second squad. Ken Van Regenmortel and Dick Nieuwsma, also on the Pete's roster, were named to the third all-tourney team.

In addition, Rosendahl was picked as the top offensive player, and Ken Schipper of Fox Jewelers received a special "medal of merit."

Bob Quiring, basketball and baseball coach at Kalamazoo Central, again this summer will run a summer sports school at Long Lake near Kalamazoo. On his "faculty" will be Bill Stuijbergen, three-sport Kazoo star... John Darnton, former coach and athletic director at Adrian college, will be manager of the Adrian entry in the National Industrial Softball league this summer... Dick Wragg, a physical education major at Western Michigan college, will act as baseball coach at Paw Paw this spring, thus returning to his alma mater... Olivet college has a track schedule this spring for the first time since the war. Olivet also has limited schedules in baseball, golf and tennis. Hope college is listed only on the baseball slate... For the second year in a row, Bruce Greene was picked as the outstanding player on the Saugatuck basketball squad. John Mueller was picked as the outstanding reserve player... Ernest R. Kirkman has resigned as athletic director at Kalamazoo college to take a similar position at Portage high school. Coach Dob Grow is the only man left on the K-college coaching staff... Kalamazoo Central high school has won 48 of its last 50 baseball games during the past five years.

Eight added events have been tacked onto the Holland high school spring sports slate since original schedules were announced last week.

Highlights of the new events will be a night baseball game at Riverview park between Holland high and Holland Christian. This will mark the first time in several years the two diamond squads have met on an official basis, and also will be the first night high school game in recent memory.

The contest will wind up the local prep season and will be played late in May. The definite date has not been set, but is tentatively lined up for May 27—a Tuesday night. The two local high school teams will also play an earlier afternoon contest.

Holland high also will meet Fennville at Fennville on May 16 in a baseball game, and has slated scrimmage contests against Zeeland at Zeeland on April 8 and at Grand Rapids Creston on April 15.

The Dutch tennis team has a tentative match set against Wyoming Park for this spring, but the date has not been agreed upon definitely as yet.

And finally, the Holland high golf squad has two matches against Grand Haven to be added to the schedule on a home and home basis. Negotiations are underway to set the dates for these matches.

Hope college's baseball squad also is angling for another game this spring. Olivet will be the foe at Riverview park if the date can be arranged, in return for a Hope diamond trip to Olivet this spring.

Niles Lumber team, which eliminated two Holland teams from the South Haven invitational tournament, had no trouble walking off with the title Wednesday night against Parchment 88-58. Ray Steffen, former Michigan State star and now cage coach at Buchanan, rifled in 39 points for the winners.

Niles had defeated Allen Radio and Washington Square from Holland along the way to the finals, and Parchment dropped Pete's Place in the semi-finals.

What undoubtedly will be the last basketball game of the present season in Holland has finally been scheduled.

Bob hasn't settled on a specialty as yet, but is one of 28 aspirants for the Mountaineer track squad. Western's first meet is April 27.

While attending Holland high school, Tasma concentrated on baseball during the spring sports season so didn't compete in high school track here.

Young Calvinists Have Final Meet

The Holland-Zeeland Young Calvinist league held its last meeting of the current season Monday evening in Graafschap Christian Reformed church with the Rev. Oliver Breen in charge, replacing the president who is ill.

Rev. Breen opened with prayer and Scripture reading after which Gerald Mannes led group singing. Roll call showed 141 men present with Central Avenue taking top attendance honors with 20 men present followed by Graafschap and Drenthe with 18 and 17, respectively.

Special music was furnished by a male quartet of the Graafschap church. The quartet included Andrew Blystra, Gerald Mannes, Don Blaauw and Justin Meiste. The group sang "Jesus Paid It All" and "This World Is Not My Home." Blystra also sang a song titled "Calvary Covers It All." Don Baker was accompanist.

A movie titled "Kenji, Co. Ses Home" was shown depicting the struggle a young Japanese war veteran had making his choice between a Christian democracy or communism, upon arriving home to find his parents and home completely destroyed by the atomic blast.

Dutch to Revert To Orange During Juliana's Visit

Wear an orange flower or orange ribbon when Queen Juliana comes to Holland April 16.

This suggestion made by Mrs. George E. Kollen of Holland has been warmly endorsed by the committee in charge of the Queen's reception here. Wearing orange is in keeping with a custom in the Netherlands in which orange pennants are flown and streamers used on occasions involving the royal house such as birthdays, anniversaries and the like. It is the official color of the Royal House of Orange.

Mrs. Kollen suggested people wear an orange flower or perhaps a daffodil, or fashion small rosettes out of orange ribbon attached to orange streamers. Wearing of the orange will add further color to the reception which already plans to have elementary school children wear Dutch costumes and carry Dutch flags, plus a bicycle escort of two or three decorated bicycles ridden by Junior high students in Dutch costumes.

For the convenience of persons living in outlying areas interested in attending the informal reception for Queen Juliana at 4:15 p.m. in Hope Memorial chapel, application blanks for tickets today were placed in the Graafschap grocery store, Frericks grocery store in North Holland, Hamilton Co-Op office in Hamilton and Gemmen's IGA store in Overisel.

Applications in Holland are available in the city clerk's office in City Hall, DeLoof's drug store in Washington square, Van's drug store at 24th and State, Smith's drug store at 16th and Central, Chamber of Commerce office, First National bank and Peoples State bank.

Applications may be turned in at the clerk's office in City Hall or addressed to Western Michigan Ticket committee in care of the city clerk. Applications must be turned in not later than Friday.

Barial Tuesday

Grand Haven (Special) — Stephen Lee Porter, four-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Porter, 33 Eastern Ave., Grand Haven, died at home Tuesday. He was born in Municipal hospital Nov. 21, 1951. Surviving are the parents; a sister, Sharlene Marie; two brothers, Russell Ronald and Kenneth James; the grandparents, Mrs. Margaret Porter of Sault Ste. Marie and Mrs. Dora Sheldon of Ferrysburg.

Central Avenue church, the oldest Christian Reformed church in the city, will soon be replaced with a modern new structure of gothic design. Fronting on Centennial Park, the white frame church with its tall spire has long been an outstanding landmark. The new church will also have a spire of approximately the same height.

New Church to Replace Old Historic Landmark

For many years a drastic remodeling of the church building was contemplated, but in May of 1950 it was decided by an overwhelming majority to abandon this plan and build a new church.

An historic landmark of Holland city is slated to be torn down soon.

Central Avenue Christian Reformed church which was erected in 1868 and enlarged in 1895, the same year the tower was built, will be replaced by a modern new structure of gothic design.

Wrecking operations will start Monday, April 21.

Since the present edifice has served the congregation many years as a place of worship and much sentiment has become associated with this house of worship, a special service of commemoration and thanksgiving was held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. church. Plans were drawn up for a beautiful gothic structure, but because of government restrictions execution of plans was delayed. But last month a government permit was obtained and since that time preparations have gone forward for an early start on the new building.

Of special interest to all local persons is the announcement that the new building will have a spire about the same height of the present church. The spire was always the church's outstanding feature.

During construction of the present tower in 1895, a severe windstorm did considerable damage and builders had to start all over again. On July 28, 1949, the steeple was hit by lightning with most damage confined to the interior.

13-Year-Old Girl Killed on Bicycle Near Her Home

Jenison (Special) — Investigation continued Tuesday into the death of a 13-year-old girl bicyclist on Baldwin St., here Monday evening between 6:30 and 6:45 p.m.
