Holland Saves Paying Cash For New Truck

BUYS SEAGRAVES EQUIP-
MENT FOR $13,522.50 NET

At a regular meeting of the common council held in the city hall last night the members voted to buy a Seagraves fire and ladder truck for the Holland fire department at a price of $14,550, less 5% commission, for each within 60 days, which means that the net price of the truck will be $13,522.50.

There were other trucks from reliable companies in the number of bids at both the last meeting and this one, but it seems that the board, and especially the firemen, wanted a Seagraves truck. The reason for the action was that the board of police and fire commissioners and the members of the fire department were agreed that the Seagraves truck would fill their desires to the fullest extent.

The Holland fire department has had equipment from practically every equipment manufacturer who participated in the different negotiations at different times. The very first horse-drawn truck was a Seagraves. The first motor and pumper was an American-LaFrance, and that has done duty for more than two score years and is still in action.

Before the matter finally came to a vote, Ald. Henry Ketel, who acted as chairman of the committee of the common council to investigate trucks, stated that he went to one of the plants in Wisconsin, and in viewing the Seagraves truck in several different cities where these are used, he found the trucks he saw had excellent reputations. He particularly saw the Peter Pirsch truck in action, and also saw the Seagraves truck and stated there was a great deal of similarity between the two trucks, and that the companies have the same enviable reputation throughout the country as to their fire apparatus. He made no recommendations.

Following the report of Ald. Ketel, Ald. Kalkman immediately made the motion to buy the Seagraves equipment, and was supported by Ald. Albert Kleis, and the putting of the motion caused considerable discussion for some time, and in the discussion several of the firemen who were in the audience were asked to voice their opinions. This was done by Captain Brandt and Andrew Klomprens, and Commissioner Herman Prins, and it appeared from their discussion that they desired the Seagraves equipment.

Ald. Edward Brouwer then made a substitute motion that the matter be referred back to the board of police and fire commissioners, giving them the power to act, since the matter of the fire and ladder truck was started there.

City Attorney Clarence Lokker then arose and stated that he thought the department should be given the equipment which they wanted, and that the matter should not be referred to the board again, but action should be taken by the council immediately if they felt that the Seagraves equipment was the one practical and desired.

Mr. Brouwer's motion, supported by Ald. Prins, was then withdrawn.

After an "aye" and "nay" vote on the matter, all the aldermen voted "aye" with the exception of Ald. Martin Oudemool. He stated that his vote was in favor of the taxpayer, who after all, had to pay the bill.

It was understood that the Peter Pirsch was lower in price than the Seagraves truck. The firemen and police and fire commissioners all along felt they wanted the truck that was purchased for the reason that it served their purpose best as far as Holland was concerned.

With exception of the lighting equipment, the company's bid covers all specified equipment. It is the plan to buy this separately.

Overall length of the truck is 38 feet, 9 inches; its overall width, seven feet, 10 inches; overall height, seven feet, eight inches; weight, 15,300 pounds without hose or men. The company offers a one-year guarantee.

The purchase will include a 100-gallon booster tank and 150 feet of three-fourth inch hose, an aerial ladder pipe; 200 feet of ladders, ranging from 50-foot extension ladders to 14-foot wall ladders, axes, lanterns, crow bars, wall picks, water extinguishers, pike poles, shovels, pitchforks, flasher light, wire cutter and tin roof cutter.

Mission Union To Hear From War Torn China

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL MEETING PROMISES TO BE MOST INTERESTING; WILL BE HELD IN CENTRAL AVENUE CHURCH

Speakers Will Represent Various Fields; New Mission Director Also on Program

The fourteenth annual spring meeting of the Women's Missionary Union of the Christian Reformed Churches of Holland, Zeeland and vicinity is to be held on Thursday of next week, April 27, in the Central Avenue Christian Reformed church of this city, with meetings in the afternoon and evening as has been the case in former years. The Union includes in its membership at the present time, thirty-six societies from twenty-six churches of this vicinity, two new churches joining with in recent months, namely the Pine Creek and Allendale Christian Reformed churches. This continued growth of the Union bespeaks the keen interest felt in the Union's activity.

The meeting to be held next Thursday promises to be one of exceptional interest with inspirational and informative addresses, and music, both instrumental and vocal. Stated as speakers for the program are the following: Dr. J. C. De Koerne, who will make his first appearance as mission director for the denomination. Mr. De Koerne recently took over the work as director of missions in place of Dr. Henry Beets who occupied this position so ably for a number of years. Dr. De Koerne will appear on both the afternoon and evening programs. Mrs. Henry Poppen, who until very recently was on the mission field in China together with her husband who is still there, will have a great many experiences to tell in connection with her work in the Orient, as these relate to the war. Miss Ida Fenema of Rehoboth, representing the Indian field and Rev. S. G. Bronsema, of the Faith, Prayer and Tract League will make up the remainder of the speaking program. The musical program also is an exceptionally fine one. Included are instrumental duets, by Miss Hazel Anne Oelen, organist, and Mr. Clarence Vogelzang, both of this city, and a vocal duet by the Rev. Dick H. Walters, pastor of the local Central Ave. Chr. Ref. church, and the Rev. Ralph Heynen of the Niekerk Chr. Ref. church.

Another feature of the meet is the supper hour. A large number of the ladies come and "make a day of it" as one would say, coming to the afternoon meeting, carrying their lunch with them, and staying for the evening program. Coffee is to be served by the entertaining churches. The speaker at the supper hour will be Miss W. Burman of Holland. Miss Burman until recently was a worker on the Indian field and will tell of the work there as she came into contact with it.

The afternoon program begins at 2 o'clock and the evening program at 7:30 p. m. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

A people's caucus is called to meet at the Roost store on the corner of Ninth and River Streets. Note: This was when ballots were voted with slips, and the one who had the most slips on the ballot was the elected candidate. That was long before the Australian system of balloting such as we have now.

Fire alarm on Wednesday was an unwelcome sound. It was the occasion of the burning of one of the chimneys of the Germania House on Eighth St., and the wind was terrific, and there was danger of other wooden buildings in the vicinity being burned. It also broke up a congregational meeting in the First Reformed church that had come to hear Rev. N. M. Steffens of Zeeland. Note: The Germania House was a three-story wooden structure with a basement where the bar was located. It was run by a German by the name of Koningsberg. It was on the site of the Vander Veen building, now occupied by Yonker's Drug Store. There was a large vacant lot to the east, enclosed by a high board fence, which also was used for a billboard where Mrs. Koningsberg, a very fine woman, had her flowers and vegetable garden.

The tug Fannie Schriver has been thoroughly overhauled and will start regular trips between Saugatuck and Holland. She will make connections with the R. C. Britain of Chicago. J. N. Upham is the captain.

Much brick is being sent out of town from the Roost-Klaassen brickyard. A few weeks ago we stated that this brickyard was located in the hill sloping down to the Donnelly-Kelly Glass Co.

The schooner Wollen and the Plunger both left this harbor with a cargo of lumber. They were towed out by the tugboat Twilight. These were sailing vessels and the Wollen was three-masted, Plunger, a two-mast, Jan Borgman was the captain of the Wollen, and many of the Borgmans are still living in Holland, including Joe Borgman of the Model Laundry, Miss Anna Borgman of Tenth and Pine, Mrs. Sena Kuite, living on the opposite corner.

Fillmore election was non-partisan. The results of the election were as follows: Supervisor, Germ W. Mokema; Clerk, P. Volmarie; Treasurer, G. Garvelink; Justice, H. J. Klomprens; Commissioner of Highway, G. De Wit; Superintendent of Schools, J. F. Zwemmer; School Inspector, J. W. Garvelink. The Republican state ticket had 65 majority.

Mr. Busquet of Zeeland requests us to mention that there will be a market day at Zeeland, on Wednesday, May 7. It was also announced that there will be one at Drenthe on April 30. Note: These market days turned out to be drunken brawls in every city where they were held. Holland had many such market days, and one town marshal had to cope with all the scraps put up between the "city broods" and the young farmers. The city follows simply because prime for a fight. Farmers did come to show their cattle and other products which were lined along Main St., and there was plenty of "horse-jockeying" going on; however, the disgust for market day really brought about the organization of "The South Ottawa and Allegan Agricultural Association," which, of course, meant the Holland Fair, first located on what is now known as Kollen Park, extending south to Sixteenth St., and many years ago it was moved to East Sixteenth St. It was discontinued some eight years ago, and is now being turned into a new Pilgrim Home cemetery.

CORA VANDE WATER SPEAKS ON JUVENILE DELINQUENCY AT GRAND HAVEN

Judge Cora Vande Water, Ottawa county juvenile judge, addressed a joint meeting of the American Legion and Auxiliary of Grand Haven on juvenile delinquency and Dr. Ralph Ten Have of the Ottawa county health unit, showed moving pictures and gave a talk on venereal diseases. After the speaking program, Beverly Fisher tap danced and Dale Melnoct sang.

It was announced that the Legion is sending Rodney Hale as its representative to the Wolverine Boys State in East Lansing in June. The Elks lodge is sending Edwin A. Weavers and Kenneth Daane and the Eagles, Robert Fletcher of Ferrysburg. The Sport Lake Ex-Service Men's club is to send a boy but he has not been selected.

LIONS HEAR HOLLAND CREDIT MAN

At the regular meeting of the Zeeland Lions club at the city hall Monday evening, members heard Philip Vicari, manager of the Holland Merchants Service Bureau and a member of Holland Lions club, who explained how through the growth of the credit system through the United States the formation of credit bureaus in the principal cities in the United States came into being in the early 20's and how through interchange of information between cities, an active record of men's credit is kept.

Mr. Vicari also explained that when a person comes from one city to another, credit information follows him so that in his new location his credit experience will be in the hands of the credit bureau in that city and if the experience has been good no difficulty will be experienced in obtaining normal credit. Mr. Vicari explained how each city cooperates with the other in apprehending violators and people who have evaded payment on their bills.

Delegates were appointed to the convention of District 11, to be held in Grand Rapids May 8 and 9. Past president A. C. Vanden Bosch and Secretary K. J. Folkertsma were appointed to represent the Zeeland club.

Robins Are Here, Other Birds on Way

NORTHERN NESTING SITES WAIT ANNUAL MIGRATION OF BIRDS

America's greatest travelers—the birds—are coming back from the South. Geese, ducks and swans already are here, together with the meadowlarks, robins, red-winged blackbirds and bluebirds. The great host of migrant fliers, however, will arrive mainly during April, arousing our wonder at the spectacle of migration.

According to the tourist registers of the birds, kept by the United States Bureau of Biological Survey, the migrants return with surprising regularity. These tourist registers actually are banding stations, where volunteers place numbers on the legs of birds that are caught in feeding traps, or record of the numbers of birds which already have bands on their legs. The weather, however, has little or nothing to do with the arrival of the birds. It seems to be hereditary instinct which determines the movement of the migrants. If bluebirds arrive on April 10 in your neighborhood, chances are they will arrive on the same day this year.

Geese Move Slowly

There are a few birds which migrate gradually, following the spring northward. Perhaps the Canadian goose is most typical of this behavior. Only a few birds migrate in this fashion. The great majority do exactly the opposite. They remain in their winter homes until spring is far advanced. Then they take wing, and in rapid flight proceed northward much more rapidly than spring itself, often arriving in the northern nesting grounds ahead of the warm season.

As in the fall, the spring flight takes place mostly at night, during the early hours of the evening and toward daylight in the morning. During the day, the birds feed and rest. By evening, they have fully recuperated and are able to continue their flight.

Days which migrate during the daytime are strong-winged fliers, such as ducks and geese, loons, cranes, gulls, pelicans, hawks, swallows, night hawks and swifts. At the height of the spring migration warblers, thrushes, sparrows and flycatchers often travel together. Such mixed migration, however, is far from the rule. Night hawks, crows, waxwings, bobolinks and kingbirds travel in separate companies.

The calendar of arrivals for lower Michigan during April includes the following species:

Some Sparrows Coming

April 1 to 10: Great blue heron, night heron, osprey, purple finch, sparrow, vesper sparrow, Savannah sparrow, chipping sparrow, true tree swallow, myrtle warbler, hermit thrush.

April 10 to 20: Bittern, green heron, rail, sparrow, barn swallow, palm warbler, pine warbler, water thrush and kinglets.

April 20 to 30: Sororal, sandpiper, whippoorwill, chimney swift, flycatcher, pewee, chickadee, sparrow martin, cliff swallow, bank swallow, rough-winged swallow, black and white warbler, black-throated green warbler, ovenbird, catbird, brown thrasher, house wren, wood thrush.

The great wave of insect-eaters, including the warblers, will not arrive until May. By that time, some of the early nesting species already will have hatched their first broods and other species will be busy building their nests.

Greatest Problem We Are Facing is the Youth; Believes Home is the Basic Place for its Solution

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL AND CITIZENS OF HOLLAND

Nearly a century ago a band of pioneers—small in numbers, but rich in courage and zeal to win a homeland—settled in these parts. From those stirring wilderness-conquering days footprints of men and women embued with a never-fading determination have left their imprints along the trail to 1939. Their names and deeds have been emblazoned on the pages of history to tell of the roles they played so well in the building of a new domain. Today the heritage left by the trail blazers is in the keeping of their descendants and the descendants of the men and women who later threw in their lot with those who preceded them. These men and women have zealously preserved the pioneering spirit—kept burning brightly the flame so well lighted.

Culture as exemplified in institutions of higher learning, college, secondary and public schools, is at high ebb. Progress in education has gone on apace year after year. The pioneers made the acquisition of learning and culture one of their earliest aims and despite innumerable hardships and the problem of eking out an existence persevered in their resolve that the education of their children should not be overlooked. They built for future generations. Bit by bit they added to our educational programs and facilities. Their unquenchable spirit permitted no faltering in the determination to go ever forward in education. Their descendants picked up the torch and carried it on to light a path of cultural accomplishments that is continually widening to a broad highway.

Much has been accomplished in the year that is gone. We have gone forward in every way. The outstanding project of the year was the proposal of a new power plant. The Board of Public Works has had this matter under advisement for a long time. The present plant is practically obsolete. It has served our purpose well. After much study and thought the Board came to the conclusion that it would be to the city's advantage to consider the construction of an entirely new modern and efficient power plant rather than to continue adding to the present plant. There was much to be gained in efficiency, due to modern methods of electric generation, by increasing the pressure and total temperature of steam. The spending of a million and a half dollars seems a very large amount but it seems to me there can be no objection so long as the tax levy is not increased. The Federal Government is donating 45% of the cost. This is an outright grant. There are no strings tied to it. The council has not been swept off its feet by a bond issue for different projects like many other cities. We have avoided erecting buildings of various kinds at $50,000, $75,000 and $55,000 local. In the case of the new power plant no bond issue was involved. If we did not accept the Federal grant some other city would and it was unanimously agreed that Holland should avail itself of the opportunity to secure this out and out grant.

When we consider the contributions turned over to the city by this Board during the past fifteen years it reaches astounding figures. Including the erection of our hospital the total is more than a million dollars, an average of approximately twenty-one thousand dollars, or $5,892.41 per month. This is equivalent to an average reduction in the tax rate of five dollars per thousand per year. Actual taxes paid to the city for this period are $307,598.00. The Electric and Water plants are entirely paid for.

Ald. Steffens moved that the maintenance of the wooden shoe signs at the city entrance be given to the board of public works for the ensuing year. Approved.

Ald. Huyser moved that cleanup week, a week for the people to clean up their lawns and to have the city haul away the refuse, be established from April 24-29. The motion was supported by Ald. Smith and unanimously approved.

Ald. Huyser moved that the city clerk be authorized to request that the highway department close US-31 and highway 21 to traffic during the Tulip Time parades. Approved.

Claims of $6,891.81 were approved.

Ald. Drinkwater announced that the time was ripe to attack the problem of a new floor in engine house No. 1. Engineer Zuidema estimated that the cost of removing the old floor and building a new concrete floor would be $400. Ald. Drinkwater moved that an advertisement be made for bids and that they should be in May 3. Approved.

Ald. Prins moved that the tavern license of Andrew Leenhouts be renewed. Approved.

Attorney Lokker, Clerk Peterson, and Aldermen Kleis, Mooi, Drinkwater, Vandenberg, Steffens and Raymond were sworn into office.

Ald. Kleis smoked his first cigarette for the year 1939 when the courtesy was offered by Ald. Prins. (Laughter)

A report from the board of police and fire commissioners in which they recommended that there be no parking on Eighth Street between River and College Avenues and on River Avenue between Seventh and Ninth Streets was filed.

Henry Vander Schel was appointed harbor master on the recommendation of the harbor board and on the motion of Ald. Kalkman his appointment was approved by the common council.

Mr. Vander Schel has taken a deep interest in harbor work for a great many years. He has especially interested himself in Kollen Park and the docks there, and was

All rules of order of the previous council will be retained in this year's body. The motions were made by Ald. Steffens and approved unanimously.

E. P. Stephan, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, announced that the Michigan Trust Co. has served notice that The Netherlands museum must be removed from the old Masonic temple before May 1, as the building will be dismantled if it is not sold. It was moved by Ald. Prins and supported by Ald. Mooi that the matter be referred to the civic improvement committee acting in conjunction with the civic committee of the chamber of commerce. Approved.

Ald. Menken inquired as to what had happened to the proposition to build a dog pound for the city. Ald. Prins moved that the matter be referred to the building committee. Approved.

Good Plowmen Can Beat Borer

Heavier than usual infestations of corn borers in Michigan fields last fall offer more profit than just pride in good plowing this spring. Even if the season seems late, a hurried and careless job of plowing would be a mistake, says C. B. Dibble, extension specialist in insect control, Michigan State College.

Borers, winter in unused portions of the corn plant, such as stubble. Destruction in plowing by complete covering of these winter quarters of the borers will accomplish considerable in reducing the high population of the pests.

Few borers survive when stalk material in the fields and the manure in piles and feedlots is carefully plowed under and kept covered. Harrowing and fitting should be done in such a way that these stalks are not brought back to the surface.

Borers are not killed in surface trash. In fact this material will protect those that escape from buried material. When the pests emerge as moths the winged insect will fly away to lay sufficient eggs for 300 to 500 new borers to attack 1939 crops, Dibble warns.

June 1 is the date set by Dibble when plowing ought to be completed to destroy the borers which have wintered in the fields.

MAY 1 LAST DAY TO SIGN "FARM PLAN" UNDER AAA

Ottawa county farmers have until May 1 to express their intentions to participate in the 1939 AAA program by completing and signing their individual farm plans, Glenn E. Taylor, chairman of the Ottawa County Agricultural Conservation Association, announced this week.

Through April 15, 1939, community committees had called on 4,725 farmers in the county, and of these, 3,698 had signed their farm plans, indicating that they intend to participate in the 1939 farm program. Last year approximately 2,800 Ottawa county farmers cooperated with the conservation program.

Mr. Taylor urges all farmers who plan to participate in the 1939 farm program to see their local AAA committee and complete their farm plans as soon as possible. No farm inspection for the purpose of determining performance and payments will be made on farms for which farm plans are not executed by May 1, 1939. It will be impossible to obtain payment on farms for which no performance inspection has been requested by the first of May.

Rural District Would Like More Fire ProtectionNIGHT PARKING PROBLEMS STILL FACE POLICE BOARD

At a regular meeting of the board of police and fire commissioners, the members decided to recommend to common council that there be "no parking" rules between 8 and 11 p. m. on Sunday evenings. There is always a congestion of traffic on Eighth Street and River Avenue at that time, and the police department said they were unable to do anything about the matter. The streets included would be Eighth St. between College and River Avenues, and River Avenue between Seventh and Ninth Streets.

Mayor Henry Geerlings asked that the matter be suspended for two weeks, awaiting further investigation by the traffic committee, but this was overruled by the board. Mr. John Donnelly, chairman, said the only way to get any action in the matter would be to submit the matter to the council. He also stated that if the council committee wished to meet with the board, such a meeting could be arranged.

Chief Antles told the board that young folk from neighboring communities come downtown after the church services. There is a veritable mob, causing traffic congestions at the main intersections, and taking up all the parking spaces. He cited one incident of a car that one of the officers saw being driven around the block on Eighth, River, Ninth and Central several dozen times one Sunday evening. He also said that three Sunday evenings there were congestions at College and Eighth and at Central and Eighth because of the traffic light at River and Eighth.

City Clerk Oscar Peterson said that one-hour parking was allowed between 8 a. m. and 9 p. m. daily, and if this were enforced on Sunday evening also, some of the long-time parking would be stopped. In a conversation with the chief after the meeting, he also showed him the following section of the city's traffic ordinance, which might refrain cars from going into the intersection with the light when barred by other vehicles:

"No vehicle shall be allowed to remain upon or be driven through any highway so as to block or obstruct the said highway."

In response, the chief said he would ask city attorney Lokker for an interpretation of this clause.

Chairman John Donnelly expressed the opinion that something be done immediately, and when confronted with the mayor's request for delaying the matter a couple weeks, he was the one to suggest entire elimination of Sunday night parking on the streets in question. The motion was made by Andrew Hyman, seconded by Fred Kamferbeek, and was carried. Mr. Donnelly also reminded the board that the problem has confronted the officers for two years, and is not a recent problem.

City Clerk Peterson stated that the board would have to draw up a resolution and he would present it to council. Chairman Donnelly appointed Mr. Hyman to draw up the resolution. On being confronted with the expense that would have to be incurred by changing the downtown traffic signs, Mr. Donnelly said, "If this plan doesn't work, something else should be tried."

The question of what to do about resorters who came downtown on Sunday evening, was raised by Chief Antles and that is another problem that will have to be solved.

Another problem the board dealt with was the Saturday night parking downtown, brought up by James Borr, newly-elected commissioner on the board. He said those who wish to park for a short time in order to make purchases can find no parking place because some folk come downtown early and keep their cars parked there all evening. He did not desire to have the board eliminate all traffic from Eighth St., but suggested that parking lots be found. Also the enforcement of the one-hour parking would help solve the problem to some extent because the chalk marks could be seen by the lights from the stores.

Chairman Donnelly replied that the board had attempted to have parking lots, and had even thought of the tannery lot, but this was farther from the downtown district than most motorists care to walk. The matter of white arrow lights for traffic signals to be used in connection with permitting left turns at intersections was brought up by Commissioner Hyman and referred to the traffic committee for further investigation.

The question of Fillmore township was again brought to the foreground by Fire Chief Cornelius Blom, who reminded the board that a delegation from that vicinity had asked the local board for fire protection, and had been willing to guarantee payment of any alarms answered in their district. The chief felt that something should be done before a serious fire broke out.

Mr. Hyman stated that possibly this community might want to be admitted within the corporate limits, but this was considered doubtful because then they would have to pay city taxes, and by the same token would receive city improvements.

Mayor Geerlings felt that Fillmore township should be interested enough in their protection to do as other townships have done to the extent of paying similar fire protection. Other localities contribute. Since Holland is put to considerable expense making runs to the country with expensive equipment, it is entitled to remuneration. According to Chief Blom, arrangements have not been made with Fillmore township; however, an agreement exists with Holland and Park townships. Undoubtedly, if the committee who called on Chief Blom makes similar arrangements, Fillmore township will also receive the same fire protection, although this matter would finally have to come to the board. There are many instances that can be cited that severe losses in rural districts have been prevented by the timely arrival of the Holland fire department.

Fighter on a Fly Rod

Rainbow trout have been planted in many states, not only, but have been successfully imported into New Zealand. Away from its native waters, the mountain streams of California, the rainbow reaches its maximum weight of 25 pounds and more. It is a savage fighter when hooked, and, unlike the brook trout, is likely to leap again and again out of water. Rainbows spawn in streams, in the spring, but prefer big bodies of fresh water when they are full grown. With the brown trout of Europe, the rainbow has displaced the brook trout, a more delicate fish, in many hard-fish waters. Fred Everett painted the rainbow trout for the 1939 Wildlife Week poster stamps, distributed by the National Wildlife Federation.

NEXT YEAR'S LICENSE TO BE BLACK AND SILVER

License plates for the year 1940 will be black numerals on a silver aluminum background. The silver aluminum paint used will bondarize the metal of the plate and the plate will not be subject to chipping as with the enamel now in use, making the new license plates more durable; also this color background will tend to eliminate reflections and minimize glare.

Commercial Fishermen Oppose Bills

Two Measures Now in Legislature Protested Unanimously; Capt. Ver Duin to Head Association

The Lake Michigan Commercial Fishermen's association meeting at the courthouse in Grand Haven, through unanimous resolution protested two proposed bills in the present legislature: to give the conservation commission the right to limit the number of fish caught by commercial fishermen and to license operators to only two ports.

Opposition was also voiced against extension of the whitefish and trout season from 45 days to two months which is a measure supported by fishermen from around Frankfort. The group favored a bill to allow the conservation commission the right to draft commercial fishing laws that would be uniform with laws of surrounding states.

Support was also given to a plan to organize the several fishermen's associations in the state into one strong group with officers of the various organizations as members of an executive board, the officers to be chosen from among them. The purpose of the new group would be to watch proposed legislation and to appear in Lansing as a stronger lobby than the several groups now offer.

Elect Capt. VerDuin
Capt. William VerDuin, dean of the Grand Haven commercial fishermen, was elected president of the association which was reorganized last night. Chris Jensen, South Haven, was elected vice-president and Claude VerDuin, also of Grand Haven, was elected secretary and treasurer.

The executive board members are Floyd Mollhagen, St. Joseph; Chris Jensen, South Haven; George Sewers, Saugatuck; William Ver Duin, Grand Haven; Paul Jansen, Muskegon; Floyd Grover, White Lake, and Cecil Stover, Pentwater. The by-laws will be changed to allow for the annual meeting to be held at Grand Haven each year and with other meetings to be called at the discretion of the president.

Much interest was manifest in discussion of all proposed legislation and support was given to the idea that the commercial fishermen must unite to watch their interests in regard to proposed new laws or changes in present ones.

In opposing the present bill it was pointed out that senate bill 239 was not practical and that no limit should be placed on the number or amount of fish that can be caught during the year. The group was not in favor of limiting fishermen to two ports which would prevent "gypsy fishing," as it was felt the bill was not clearly written and might get the operators into difficulties. Many of the members are, however, opposed to the idea that fishermen can go from port to port to fish at any time the catches are reported good.

There were about 35 operators from ports along the east shore of Lake Michigan from St. Joseph to Pentwater. The organization extends from the Indiana line to Ludington.

In opposing the extension of the trout and whitefish season, the members felt the present limit of 45 days was best adapted to this locality and imposed no hardship on fishing as the fishermen in the northern section claim.

The program for the remainder of the year for Hamilton school, according to Charles B. White, principal, is as follows: Sophomore class play, "Mamma's Baby Boy," May 4 and 5; Players' banquet, May 12; Literary club banquet, May 16; high school picnic, May 19; Baccalaureate exercises, May 21; high school examinations, May 22 and 23; high school graduation exercises, May 26; school picnic, May 29; Memorial day program, May 30; Don Morgenstern won the original theme contest of the sophomore class, using as his theme, "A Railway Lunch Room Between Trains."

The board of public works has, and the public soon will have, an accurate idea of how the city's new power plant at the east end of Lake Macatawa will appear. A four by six foot photograph of the new power plant was presented the board Monday by the associate engineers, Giffels and Valet of Detroit. While now on display at the board of public works office in the city hall, it is planned to move it to another location where it may be viewed by the public.

NOTHING NEW IN TWO-HEADED CALF

A two-headed calf, the first such freak that Dr. S. A. Bradshaw of Cass City, Mich., has seen in his 31 years as a veterinarian, was born recently at the George Smith farm near Shabbona. The two heads were perfect in every detail and the body was normal except for the front legs, which had developed only as far as the first joint. The calf died a few hours after birth. There is nothing new about that. Wm. Blom, on River ave., has a two-headed calf in his pool room. It was in the family at least 40 years and, of course, it is stuffed otherwise it would be a two-headed cow by this time.

Danzig, Brower Finds, is Mostly German People

GIVES INTERESTING REVIEW OF HOW A FRIEND SHOWED HIM THE TOWN

By Dr. A. J. Brower

We finally left Russia from Leningrad, its largest and most historical seaport. Our ship took us almost lengthwise across the Baltic along the shores of several of the small countries that formerly were a part of Russia, such as Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and East Prussia on to Danzig.

Many forts and naval bases of various types were observed. A Russian pilot took us out to sea until we were out of their waters. We met various gunboats and warships. At one time seven large battleships of Germany, all in single file, full steam ahead, with German airplanes flying overhead and around our ship, for the purpose of policing I suppose.

Danzig was established as a Free State by the Treaty of Versailles as a reward for Poland. In fact, this is the only outlet that Poland has to the sea. In peace and war it is under protection of the League of Nations, which guarantees its independence. The city has an area of 729 square miles, together with its outlying districts. Small as this Free State is, it is large in comparison with some other independent states such as Monaco in France, which has only an area of 370 acres—little more than one-half a square mile. Monaco is a beautiful peninsula jutting into the Mediterranean Sea. This is the place where the former King Edward of the vast British Empire and his bride, the former Mrs. Wally Simpson, spent part of their honeymoon. Here is where the world's most famous gambling place (Monte Carlo) is located. Here is the only country where no taxes are levied against the residents. All taxes are paid by this gambling house.

In 1928 I had the pleasure to see and meet the above King, who was then the Prince of Wales. He came aboard our ship as it lay anchored in the bay. He was very popular and had no ego or high-hat personality. I was there about the time the famous actress from America broke the banks at this place playing the tables. A whole lot is, and can go on, on such a small domain—a good sized farm a trifle larger than the one I was raised on.

Danzig is within the Polish customs area. Today it has a population of a quarter of a million and 95% are Germans. The territory of this Free State contains five administrative districts of which Danzig and Lappo are the most important, which I shall describe. It is absolutely independent in legislation, law, appointment of officials, etc. It possesses its own constitution. Poland has charge always of the administration of foreign affairs but in every case according to the expressed wish of the Danzig senate. These two have a common economic duty with the same laws regarding import and export customs dues. The railways are operated by Poland, as the territory of Danzig is too small to operate, finance and maintain their own. The harbor is controlled by five Danzig and five Polish members under the direction of the League of Nations.

Before I go farther I want to mention that I am very grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Lundgreen of 94 East 14th St., of Holland, Mich. In Stockholm, Sweden, I received my first mail and amongst it was a letter from the above parties advising me that they had arranged for me with a native of Danzig, and a former schoolmate of Mr. Lundgreen, to act as my guide while I sojourned in Danzig. I certainly appreciated that very much and I really believe that none other of our party had a better time and saw more of this place than I did, and all this through the kindness and thoughtfulness of the said Lundgreens and the splendid hospitality of this able guide.

After we anchored at sea a few miles from Danzig, we were taken ashore by a big native tender, that took us all at one time. When I was coming down the gangway I noticed someone had his eyes riveted on me and before I could speak he asked me if I was (he called me by name) and to prove that he was looking for me he showed me a copy of a Holland newspaper and my picture was in it. All this so pleasantly surprised me. This party was Harold Schultz, a native of Danzig. He was very enthusiastic to show me his country and its most interesting places, and here is where I purchased some amber, for this is where it can be bought right and they have the real genuine amber, and my friend was an expert at this trade. We certainly had a very swell time but so busy that we also had a sweating time. We walked and perspired so freely that we even took time to wash and bathe in the Baltic Sea and the situation was a pleasing, exhilarating necessity.

The excursion tender took us from our ship lying at anchor off Lappo across the Bay of Danzig, past the seaside resorts of Glettkan and Brosen to Neufahrwasser, the Port of Danzig. (More to follow next week.)

Sligh, Jr., was largely attended, with three orchestras playing for the dancing, Saturday evening. Mrs. O. W. Lowry and her committee were in charge of the nautical decorations, and an interesting feature which drew the attention of most of the guests was a miniature replica of the new clubhouse that is being constructed on Lake Macatawa. Large numbers of guests were present from Grand Rapids, Grand Haven, Spring Lake and other West Michigan cities, and several dinner parties were given in the main dining room of the Tavern before the dance.

Mr. Meserole knows the age of the robin because his father banded 100 birds 43 years ago. The robin in question, which is so tame that it eats from people's hands, was born a few weeks before it was banded. According to Philip J. Campion, London scientist, who X-rayed the object found on the Kraft farm, the interior shows clearly that it was once a living animal.

free of bonded indebtedness and the Board will continue to pay the city 50% of the net operating revenues. The citizens may well be proud of such a wonderful record. I regret very much that in the recent campaign a reflection upon the activities of the Board. The recommendations of the Board are presented to the Council at its regular meetings and are published together with the proceedings of the Council in our local papers, and besides, all meetings are open to the public, and anyone can attend any meeting at any time, and can be heard at any time. The members of this Board deserve our appreciation for the services they voluntarily render. They are careful, painstaking and very efficient. They are entitled to our confidence. Their efforts have been successful. This is evidenced by the results obtained.

We may point with considerable pride to our public parks. They are an important factor in the development of community life. The two tennis courts and the shuffle board are providing genuine enjoyment for men, women and children. The baseball diamond has been well patronized during the summer months. Hundreds of people have enjoyed the game. The playground commission has been very active during the year and are deserving of much praise. The park board makes a point of maintaining the parks in excellent condition.

In addition to looking after our parks this same board has charge of the cemeteries. It has been a matter of common knowledge for some time that a larger cemetery was a necessity. Practically all the land available in Pilgrim Home cemetery has been taken. A five-acre plot across the way was secured and in the course of time this will make an ideal cemetery. Part of the property has already been platted, laid out and beautified. The new section represents an annual expenditure of approximately $10,000.00 for three years. A large part of the work was done by WPA labor. An additional $10,000.00 was granted the board for the ensuing year to continue the work. The board, however, was very anxious to complete the project and the council readily consented to borrow another $10,000.00 on its next year's appropriations so that the entire entrance could be constructed without delay. Several plots have already been disposed of so that in the course of a few years the entire outlay will have been repaid.

At a recent meeting of the Hospital board the matter of inexpensive hospital care on a group basis was discussed. The provision for hospital care to fit the pocketbooks of the people groups and of other employees of small salaries and wages is being made by medical and dental societies join in a non-profit, civic enterprise to furnish hospital service on a subscription basis to these groups. The employees can join as individuals or in groups. In the case of groups whenever a certain percentage of the workers of a group, such as school teachers of a single school, factory workers in a single factory, city hall employees, have indicated their willingness to be enrolled are entitled to membership. The system provides for the payment of a regular installment into a common fund that is used for hospital service when required. In all cases there is no inton, who has been confined to his home several weeks following a hip fracture, was in charge of services in First Reformed church again last Sunday, which added much joy to the Easter services. The senior choir rendered special Easter music.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Koning entertained Easter Sunday the latter's sister, Mrs. Bessie Tisdale, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haven and baby of Douglas and Mrs. E. L. Spry.

She was on the debating team last year, was in the Glee club three years, and was class president and president of the Home Economics club her sophomore year. Marion, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fisher, is a member of the Dramatics club and took part in the junior and senior plays. She was a member of the Glee club her first two years, an officer of the Home Economics club and a member of the debating team last year.

interference with the services of the family doctor or dentist, since the subscriber is free to choose his own physician or surgeon or dentist. Rates range from 40 cents to a dollar a month, the average being about 75 cents. In many cities this plan is giving splendid satisfaction. I don't know if the plan is workable in a city of our size. It is worth considering.

That time-worn but appropriate phrase "Accidents can be prevented" which for years served as a standby in safety campaigns, is at last coming into its own. Many groups are responsible for the impressive gains made in highway safety during the past twelve months. Motor vehicle administrators, police, educators, safety councils all share in the glory, and no one can deny that their contributions to the cause have been far-reaching. The drastic reduction in the traffic toll cannot be attributed to decrease in travel, since mileage figures show only a very small drop while fatality decreases were proportionately much larger. The drivers of automobiles have played a great part in the safety movement. This does not mean that all drivers have responded to the safety appeals. Many are still out of line. At the same time the safe driver, who is in the majority, is more insistent than ever on cooperating. He has realized his individual responsibility which, more than all the legislative mandates in the world, will be the main factor in a continual reduction in casualties. The pedestrian has some responsibility also. It is estimated that two thirds of all the people killed in traffic accidents in urban areas are pedestrians. It has been a custom to place all the blame on the motorist. Of course, the motorist is to blame for some of the accidents but many of them are the fault of the pedestrian. Before crossing a street intersection it is the part of good judgment to wait a moment. Most of us are always in a hurry and we often take a chance. But it is dangerous. The general disregard of safe practices in walking habits and the lack of obedience to traffic regulations is in most cases the cause of accidents. It will only be through the united cooperation and efforts of local officials with the public that the pedestrian will be safe. The present situation is a real challenge to each and every individual interested in safety on our streets and highways.

One of the outstanding events of the year will be the Michigan State Christian Endeavor convention which will convene in this city in the month of June. If there ever was a time when the maintenance of Christian idealism in the hearts of youth seemed a paramount necessity it is now. The cross materialism which has enveloped so great an area of the world and so many peoples calls for strong counteraction by the spiritual forces. This enthusiastic group emphasizes very strongly the Christian virtues in personal and civic life and in the church and the home. Those who keep in constant touch with this movement are impressed with the value of this great society in the broad outlook which it gives to youth in its training for leadership and in its stress on the positive side of character development. Such organizations as this are not only desirable but also necessary for the development of the kind of leadership the nation must have if it is not to stray from its humanitarian and religious traditions. The observance once a year of the anniversary of this movement's beginnings is an occasion which may be a reminder not only to its membership but also to the public at large that a continuing assurance that force and greed will not rule the ruling elements in the world and that the Christian ideal will remain a living and vital reality.

The Chamber of Commerce is to be commended for contributing $250.00 out of their funds to the Michigan Tourist Association for the purpose of advertising our city. Through an accurate check it is found that Michigan now has a tourist business exceeding that of either Florida and California. Over $300,000,000 is being spent annually in this state by persons seeking recreation. Approximately 85 per cent of the visitors travel in automobiles. By stimulating advertising the annual income in Michigan from the tourist and resort business can be increased to an average of $1,000,000 a day. The money spent for food, shelter, gasoline, merchandise and other things reaches a staggering sum. Our tourist business is on the increase. Thousands upon thousands of persons are attracted to the oval. An added feature this year will be the Macatawa Yacht Club. Already numerous activities have been scheduled for the coming season. It is planned to have the formal opening on the week end of July 4, the official opening of the 1939 resort season. It is expected that some 60 yachts will be here. There are possibilities in sight that the custom of Venetian Night, which was carried on here many years ago might be revived. Prospects for a large increase in harbor tonnage are very bright. Carried out under federal government contract the widening and deepening of the local harbor has been accomplished at an estimated cost of $125,000. It is predicted that several commercial firms will establish headquarters here to receive freight shipments by water as a result of harbor improvements. No observing person can be blind to the trials of the younger generation. They are going to carry on what we have started. They are going to sit where we are sitting and when we are gone they will assume control of our cities, states and nation. They are going to move in and take over our prisons, churches and schools, universities and corporations. Our reputation and our future are in their hands. The fate of humanity is largely up to them. It will be the task of the older generation to assist this new race into the old world and out of the process there ought to come a better world. Out of the twenty million persons in this country between sixteen and twenty-five, five million are out of school and out of work. Many of them would like to continue their education but can't afford it. Most of them still walk the streets looking for employment. Because youth is out of school and out of jobs, youth crime and delinquency are on the rise. Youth health is undermined. Thousands of young people have taken to the road to avoid the misery of their homes. Youth cannot afford to marry. There seems to be no future for them. Lacking opportunity they become maladjusted, feel inferior, and lost that most prized of American virtues—initiative. During the past year there were 30 juvenile delinquent cases in Ottawa County, 27 boys and 3 girls. Eleven came from this city all of whom were boys. Since January of this year, 23 boys under the age of 18 were brought to police headquarters for wilfully breaking windows, taking carts belonging to other people, fighting, molesting passers by at the railway station, using indecent language, running away from home and shooting rifles in the city. As I am writing this message five more boys have been apprehended. As citizens the youth problem is our problem. If this country's greatness is to be preserved, our youth must continue to be reared in the American tradition of self-reliance, self-respect, and personal responsibility. It is up to the community as a whole to solve this problem. The youth of today have been born into a world of chaos and insecurity. They have grown up and there is no place for them. They have been forced to become idlers. They have spent years in school and there is no market for their skill. But this world is not of their making. If the existing conditions are to be swept away the world must be changed.

Where is the remedy? I am becoming more and more convinced that the solution of the youth is in the hands of parents. The home is in decline. This is evident to everybody who knows what a good home is, and who pauses to investigate present-day situations. The home as an institution is fighting for its life. There are those who frankly say that parental authority is gone, and that youth does pretty much as it pleases, that the injunctions of parents no longer carry any weight. There is some truth in these words. But who is to blame? Parents blame the young people. They say that there is a lack of respect for superiors that they insist on having their freedom, that they are out to have a good time. Now it will not do to say that the young people of today are any worse than young people of preceding generations. That has been said in every age. All across the centuries they have been charged with ignoring their superiors, lowering the moral standards and becoming a law unto themselves. As I see it, the church and the school are doing their part but we are placing all the responsibility upon these forces. The interests of the home are higher than the interests of the church and school. The home is the center. If religion is not given first place in the home the future is not very bright. The present generation must be trained in the home else the young people will meet the responsibilities of life weakly.

There is another problem which will tax our ingenuity. That is the welfare situation. As far as I am aware there has been no suffering among our families. There has been food and raiment and shelter. We have given aid. The churches have given us wonderful cooperation. I cannot emphasize that too strongly. They have been extremely helpful. There has been no overlapping. The Salvation Army and the City Mission have been of great assistance. I am deeply interested in the passage of House Bill 365 and Senate Bill 247, which carry provisions for local control, state matching of local funds. The provisions of these bills give for the first time opportunity for 104 cities and villages holding top ranking positions in their county's urban population to name two of the county welfare board. This would balance two municipal agents with the county board of supervisors' two, the state welfare agency naming the fifth. This formula gives 68 major cities and villages in that number of counties the naming of two members exclusively in their counties, provided the municipality has at least half of the county's urban population. In 23 other counties, the largest municipalities each would have one member of the five on the welfare board, for together they would represent major urban interests. If this bill passes, Holland City would have two members on the county welfare board. At the present time we have no representative. Since our municipality has more than half of the county's urban population we will be entitled to two.

There has been considerable activity on the part of the Chamber of Commerce. A successful drive has been launched. Our people have shown a marked interest in this organization. The chamber has an enthusiastic membership and much enthusiasm is bound to result in the months that are before us. A Junior Chamber has been organized and they, too, are making great plans. The several service clubs have functioned effectively. The chest drive was a success and the council of social agencies is doing a splendid job.

Just a word about our financial situation. That is always interesting to the taxpayer. We have operated on a pay-as-you-go basis. At the close of the fiscal year there was a balance of twenty thousand dollars. Our bonded indebtedness is decreasing annually and it will not be long before we will be entirely out of debt.

In closing I want to say that I deeply appreciate the splendid cooperation you have given me. Our sessions have been harmonious. We have worked for the best interests of the city we love. Unhappily we have gone forward. Three of our number will retire tonight. We will miss their good judgment. They have devoted much time and talent to city affairs and they deserve not only our appreciation but the appreciation of the public as well. We cordially welcome the three new aldermen. I trust that our relationship may be pleasant and that we will labor together loyally and zealously to give our municipality the best possible administration.

Cordially Yours,

HENRY GEERLINGS.

Gravel Boat Sails For Indiana Harbor

The S. S. Paisley, in winter quarter at the Construction Aggregate company dock in Ferrysburg, left on the first trip of the season in command of Capt. B. M. Crocker.

The ship had a load of about 6,000 tons of gravel shipped by the Construction company, to Indiana Harbor. This is the beginning of a season which extends to about the middle of November and prospects are that the company will ship approximately 1,500,000 tons this year.

The first scow loads of gravel were brought down from Bass river this week. Lights in the big plant this week, as the gravel is sorted and poured into ships and trucks indicated to the public that the big gravel company is again underway after being closed down since November. The crew was employed during the winter in making repairs and in shipping gravel by truck and rail from the tons of gravel put into storage during the fall.

Besides the Paisley the Construction company has several other large boats under charter and many others come in through the season operated by other companies all of which adds heavy tonnage to the local harbor activities.

DISTRICT HI-Y OFFICERS HOLD MEETING

Seventy-two Hi-Y officers and leaders of Ottawa, Allegan, Muskegon, Kent, and Ionia counties met in the assembly room of Holland high school on Monday of this week for the purpose of planning a program for the coming year. The meeting proved a great success and those present left the gathering with a renewed energy and new ideas as leaders in their particular group. Principal J. J. Riemersma had charge of the devotion at the afternoon meeting with Merrill Enyart of Detroit leading the general forum discussion.

Following the afternoon meeting the guests gathered in the Junior high cafeteria for a banquet, served by the senior cafeteria class under the supervision of Miss Lavina Cappon. The decorations included rosebuds and souvenirs in the way of miniature wooden shoes. Presiding at the banquet was Dick Moody, president of the local organization, who introduced John Pohn, Holland high school mayor as toastmaster. Music consisted of several selections by the Hope college male quartet, with Kenneth R. Osborne accompanying and vocal solos by Mr. Jack Bos. Especially impressive was the "United for Service Circle" formed as all stood in meditation about the banquet tables. Mr. Bos singing, meanwhile, "This Is My Task."

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. Wm. Van't Hof, pastor of Third Ref. church, who advised the young folks to stick to the job that they have peacefully and thoroughly. He used as an illustration the postage stamp.

Motion pictures in life at the Hi-Y camp Hay O Wena at Charlevoix were also shown.

At the close of the meeting newly elected officers were initiated at a candle-light service.

The program committee were Dick Moody and Robert Holleman, with Bob Heasley, Murray Snow, and Jerry Miller in charge of decorations.

Miss Beatrice Hagen's group was in charge of the exercises. Shirley Shaw presided and Evelyn Lampen conducted devotions. A trumpet trio composed of Bob DeVries, Bob Scheerhorn, and Marvin J. Overway and accompanied by Alvin Schutmaat, played "The Three Trumpeters" and "Deep in a Dream." Ruth and Edith Lindsay, accompanied by Ruth Gunn, sang, "I Still Love to Kiss You Goodnight" and "You're the Only Star in My Blue Heaven."

Announcement of the prize winners was made by Principal J. J. Riemersma.

Paul Wins Recognition for Gentile Christians—Acts 15:23-29; Galatians 2:1, 2, 9.

Henry Geerlings

We have a great deal of respect for the man who has a deep and stirring enthusiasm for the extension of the kingdom of God. We must admire his moving desire to make converts to the gospel of Jesus and his activity in doing this, but we have no patience with the man who insists upon making everybody else think as he thinks and who devotes himself to the task of converting others to his way of religion and life. The man who has the only how and way of religion is more of an enemy of religion than a friend. The man who thinks he has discovered and laid hold upon the ultimate of religion has not yet learned the real beginnings of religion. But in all generations there are those who have the only way of life and nobody can get into the better life save by their way.

We have to do with this kind of people in our lesson today. Certain men who were very sure of themselves and their own view of Christianity found their way to An-

to insist that circumcision is necessary to salvation. Strange, is it not, that they should think it necessary to go to Antioch at all to upset things. The church in this city was doing exceedingly well. Paul and Barnabas had just returned from a great mission and brought a heartening report of their work. The kingdom was expanding. Souls were being born anew. The church was getting a hold in the faraway places. The world was getting to hear about Jesus. He was being preached successfully. Then what was wrong? Why the necessity of the visiting brethren from Jerusalem? Well, there was nothing wrong and there was no necessity save in the minds of the men who took it upon themselves to make the visit. The necessity was entirely in their minds. What was going on in Antioch and other places in the world where the missionaries had had a success was not according to the views of the men of Jerusalem who knew just what is safe religion and how it should be practiced. Your views are not my views—that is where a lot of the trouble in the world lies. That little word "my" is a very serious and troublesome word in our relationships. We are touchy about it. My faith ought to be your faith and it is not then there is something wrong with you. And it becomes my duty to make my faith your faith. And if this conviction is deep in me then I am not going to give you any peace until I have made every possible effort to make my faith your faith; that is, make you think as I think and believe as I believe. And I will be zealous about this task in proportion to the quirks and useless appendages I have to my religion. The sectarian is usually the man who is emphasizing what is dead or should be dead.

Now, Moses was a great man, but not all that Moses and not all that Moses appointed was of everlasting value. What Moses aimed at was fulfilled in Christ. Moses was none the less because Jesus was greater. Why cling to Moses when the Gentile had all the value of Moses and infinitely more in Jesus? Moses had his day. It was Jesus' day now. Moses gave the steps. Jesus was the temple to which the steps led.

Is it not strange how some people can make much ado about nothing? The visiting men from Jerusalem made real trouble in the Antioch church. But the brethren there came to a wise decision. They concluded to send a committee to the mother church in Jerusalem to learn the thought of the brethren there as to this question of the necessity of circumcision in order to salvation and some mental pain they thought their way through to a wise end. They decided in favor of the Gentiles. Circumcision was not necessary. They were not to be tied to the dead past. But they were to be careful about some things that would give offense. Just good common sense—that was the decision about the matter. They were Spirit-guided, but that did not keep them from having and using plain, sensible thinking in coming to a conclusion.

ZEELAND

Last week Thursday evening Miss Marian Barense, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Barense, and John Hirdes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hirdes of Beaverdam, exchanged vows at the Zeeland City Hall before a group of 200 relatives and friends, with the Rev. J. Douglas of Hudsonville officiating. The ceremony took place before an arch of yellow and white flowers, bunched on each side with palms and baskets of roses and ferns. Miss Marian Ohlman, cousin of the bride, played the wedding march as the bridal party assembled, and Miss Katherine Bolhuis sang "What God Has Promised You." The bride's gown was white lace over a satin slip, fashioned on princess lines, with satin buttons down the front. Her bouquet was of roses, sweet peas, and calla lilies. Miss Jennie Hirdes, sister of the groom, wearing a blue teal gown and carrying a mixed bouquet, and Ralph Essenberg, attended the couple. Ushers were Robert Barense and Arnold Huyser. After the ceremony, the following program was given: "God Leads Us Along," by the Bolhuis quartet of Hudsonville; "Leaning on the Arms of Jesus," by Janet Haming and Katherine Bolhuis; a talk by Gerrit Huyser, uncle of the bride; another selection, "He is Mine," by the quartet; "He's Coming Again," by Harold and Gerrit Bolhuis; "No Roses Without Thorns," by Misses Haming and Bolhuis. After a brief talk by the Rev. Douglas, and prayer was offered, a two-course luncheon was served. Waitresses were the Misses Marian Ohlman, Ida Elzinga, Ethel and Frances Veldman, Thelma and Maxine Hop, Carrie Steghuis, Alma Bowman, Mildred

Scholten, Katherine Bolhuis, and Janet Haming. Mrs. Lester Ohlman, Mrs. Fred Kokke, and Mrs. G. Schrottenboer were caterers. The newly wed couple will reside on the Deave Bekius homestead in Beaverdam. The Zeeland common council has set May 2 and 3 as annual cleanup days. Zeeland's annual baby chick and egg show is to be held May 9 to 12, and several of Zeeland and vicinity's pretty young ladies are competing for the honors as Queen of the show. The queen will be named in a popularity contest. The plan for the 1939 Chick and Egg show and nearings completion and from indications this will be the largest and best exhibition ever held in Zeeland. The first day will be taken up entirely with judging and placing of entries. The annual banquet will be spread for an attendance of about 300 with plenty of good food and entertainment that will include music by a band and by the Ladies Literary club chorus. Two men of prominence will deliver addresses, one of whom will be in charge of the queen crowning ceremony. On Wednesday a group of entertainers from Fort Wayne, Ind., will provide entertainment. The judges of both the egg and chick show divisions will complete their judging on this day, when the winners will be announced. Thursday will bring eleven performers to Zeeland. On Friday afternoon the prize winning chicks will be sold to the highest bidder. This event has drawn purchasers from far and near in the past on account of the high class stock. If possible the show will be held in the Recreation building on Main St. to provide more floor space for the exhibitors. Since the discontinuance of all other shows in the state, the local exhibition has grown to the proportions that more space has become a necessity.
