Nicholson in City For Convention Of State Gideons

Will Conduct Opening Meeting Tonight in Warm Friend Tavern

J. H. Nicholson of Denver, Colo., only survivor of the three men who founded Gideons International, arrived in Holland Wednesday after fulfilling 63 speaking engagements throughout the state. Nicholson, who is "83 years young" was resting today, but tonight will conduct the opening meeting of the four-day state Gideon convention in the Warm Friend tavern. The first session will be in the form of an old-fashioned Gideon campfire meeting.

Convention guests were arriving in Holland this afternoon and the attendance is expected to reach its peak Saturday afternoon. The event will conclude with a large public mass meeting Sunday at 2:20 p.m. in Holland high school where 11,000 army testaments will be dedicated.

The convention theme is "Victory Through the Cross." In commenting on the theme, Rendert H. Muller, local convention chairman, said today: "As we read history we see that nations prosper when God is given His rightful place. When we forget Him, we decline. In the days of Gideon 300 men with God could defeat any and all enemies and so we Christian men in these days know that the great need of America is the Lord Jesus."

The special theme Friday will be "Evangelism." An open air meeting will be conducted at the west entrance of the hotel Friday night and similar meetings will be held in Saugatuck and Fennville conducted by the Gideons. The open air service will be followed by a gospel meeting in the City mission.

Mr. Nicholson will preach at the evening worship of the Immanuel church Sunday in the armory.

Youth Is Drowned As Auto Plunges Off Bridge at G.H.

Companion Jumps to Safety, Tries to Save
Victim From River

Grand Haven, April 16 (Special)—Clare Jubell, 18, Muskegon, was drowned at about 10:30 p.m. Monday when a convertible roadster he was driving jumped a barrier at the south end of the large swing bridge on US-31 here and plunged off the end of the opened bridge into Grand river.

With him was Thomas Hartman, 19, Muskegon, who leaped to safety as the car crashed into the river. The two had been bowling at The Barn.

After jumping the bridge barrier, the car continued for at least 200 feet, after passing several cars which were waiting for the bridge to close, and then plunged off the end of the bridge.

Hartman stated that after the car jumped the barrier, he immediately opened the door and leaped to the concrete.

Hartman removed almost all his clothing and dove into the water, a distance of about 50 feet. He got hold of Jubell and, although they were only 25 feet from some piles in the water, it seemed as though they "could make no headway," although Hartman did hold Jubell afloat for sometime.

Jubell complained of having a cut on his head and asked "where is the boat," while Hartman was calling to the tug, the Robert Johnston, which was towing a scow of the Construction Aggregates Co. up the river and for which the bridge had swung open.

Hartman said the tug had thrown its light on the two boys but that it continued on through the bridge, cut itself loose from the scow, turned around and picked him up. He was hanging onto the piles under the bridge.

He does not remember how Jubell who could swim got loose from him. The coast guard, in command of Capt. Carl E. Howell, accompanied by four men, arrived in their motor surfboat after receiving a call about 11:30 p.m. to search for the body which was found in about five minutes some 400 feet from where the accident occurred.

Guardians said Jubell had a bad cut above his left eye and a bad bump on the back of his head. The crew used artificial respiration and the pulmotor. The body was taken to Municipal hospital where continued efforts were used to revive him but they proved futile.

Jubell was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jubell and had been employed at the Continental Motors Co. Hartman, son of Mrs. Flora Hartman, is employed at the Sealed Power Co.

Jubell, who weighed 220 pounds, fell into 20 feet of water. His watch stopped at 10:41 and the bridge tender said he struck the water about 10:35. The body was brought to shore about 11:50 p.m.

Attack Survivor Overstays Leave

But Seaman Is Said to Have Left Here to See Immigration Officials

Gerhard A. Looibach, 38-year-old engineer in the Dutch merchant navy, was arrested April 11 in Flint by U. S. immigration authorities after admitting he overstayed his shore leave "because I was afraid of going through another torpedoing," according to a United Press dispatch.

However, indications here were that Looibach went to Flint to confer with immigration officials and was not trying to remain in this country illegally.

Looibach was identified here as having spent a week of his shore leave in Holland, having arrived April 2. He told The News his experiences during the 11 days he was in a lifeboat in the Atlantic ocean after his ship had been sunk March 5 by an enemy submarine. He and his companions were picked up March 16 by a U. S. vessel.

During an interview, he requested that his name be omitted from the story and he declined to have his picture taken, classifying it as "sissy and womanish" for a man to have his picture "in the paper."

Upon landing in New York, he was given a shore leave and came to Holland where he made several acquaintances. When arrested in Flint, he said he was looking for a job in a war plant, United Press said. Looibach will be granted a deportation hearing.

C. Woldring, route 6, Holland, at whose home Looibach roomed during his visit here, said the seaman left Holland Thursday morning for Flint to confer with immigration authorities regarding a permit that would allow him to work in this country.

Mr. Woldring said Looibach told him that he did not wish to enter the country illegally. A telegram for Mr. Looibach from his employer, calling him back to work, was received at the Woldring home Thursday afternoon and was forwarded to him in Flint, Mr. Woldring said.

To Use 'Mocking Bird' as Raid Warning in Holland

The "mocking bird" whistle, which was the subject of much discussion sometime ago when Holland firemen found the new compressed air siren inadequate in summoning them to fire alarms, is to become part of the city's civilian defense program.

In a communication filed Wednesday night with common council, the board of public works advised that the fire whistle would be used for warnings in event of bomb and gas attacks, "unless objections are brought in."

Motion to use the "mocking bird" whistle for air raid or other emergency purposes was made by Ald. Ben Steffens, was supported by Ald. Bernard Arendse and was adopted.

In his annual message, Mayor Henry Geerlings said blackout preparations here will be in full swing soon.

"The program will include plans for the shading of automobile headlights and the control of traffic under blackout conditions; the darkening of public and private buildings and the control of crowds suddenly and unexpectedly thrown into darkness; the blackout of the city's industrial plants; the dimming of all street lights," he said. "In the emergency of a threatened or actual raid, the air raid warning corps will be swung into action, utilizing a patrol system to inform the public what to do."

Board in Favor Of Slower Time Over Michigan

Petitions Urge Change
To Former Schedule
In Ottawa County

Grand Haven, April 16 (Special)—Although the Ottawa board of supervisors favors central war time, any change from eastern brought about through regular channels.

Such was the stand of the board Wednesday afternoon when it adopted a resolution expressing itself as "being in favor of returning the state to central war time for the duration of the war at least" and asking that "the change in time be brought about in the regular channels."

Copies of the resolution are to be sent to state representatives and senators who serve this area. Similar recommendations have been adopted in Kent and Van Buren counties.

The board has no legal right to change the time in the county, it was said, and its action was designed to reveal its attitude to state officials.

The resolution, presented in a substitute motion by Clarence A. Lokker, Holland city attorney and seconded by Peter H. Van Ark, Holland city assessor, followed presentation by County Agent L. R. Arnold of petitions signed by more than 3,400 county residents who asked the board to place Ottawa county on its former time schedule.

Gerrit Elzinga of Hudsonville, secretary of the Ottawa County Farm bureau; Louis Nemire of Marne, representing the state board of directors of the Farm union of western Michigan; and George Roberts of Jenison, secretary of the Sand Hill Farm union, made personal appeals for the time change, declaring eastern war time places farmers at a disadvantage.

Council Names Meengs to Police And Fire Board

Ignores Commission's Request That Galien Be Selected for Vacancy

Disregarding a recommendation from the board of police and fire commissioners, common council Wednesday night elected William J. Meengs, 148 East 24th St., to serve out the unexpired term of Herman Prins who resigned because he will be ineligible to serve when he moves soon to the North side.

Voting by ballot, council's vote was 10 to 2 in favor of Meengs over John Galien, 276 West 25th St., former justice of peace. Only one ballot was taken in the voting in which Ald. George Damsen and Bernard De Pree served as tellers.

Upon learning of Prins' contemplated resignation Monday, four members of the board, Chairman John F. Donnelly, James Borr, Prins and Fred Kamferbeek, signed a communication in which they urged the appointment of Galien.

Prins, formal resignation was presented to council Wednesday night and was accepted upon motion of Ald. Bruce Raymond, seconded by Damsen. The police and fire board's recommendation was ordered placed on file.

Meengs' nomination by Ald. Bertal Slagh was the only one made from the floor.

Meengs today said he planned to accept council's appointment. He was an unsuccessful candidate for sixth ward alderman this year, having won the nomination along with John R. Emmick in the spring primary Feb. 16 but lost the April election by a few votes to Emmick.

For the past eight years, he has operated a gasoline filling station at 16th St. and River Ave. He was born and reared in Holland and was graduated from Hope prep school. He is married and has two children, William John, Jr., and Margo.

A charter member of the Holland Junior Chamber of Commerce, Meengs has served as a director and former president of that organization.

The board has no legal right to change the time in the county, it was said, and its action was designed to reveal its attitude to state officials.

The resolution, presented in a substitute motion by Clarence A. Lokker, Holland city attorney and seconded by Peter H. Van Ark, Holland city assessor, followed presentation by County Agent L. R. ## Will Leave Kulangsu, Come to America With Consul and His Staff

Dr. W. J. Van Kersen, former district secretary for the board of foreign missions, Reformed Church in America, said yesterday that the board has received a cablegram from China stating that "the Rev. E. W. Koeppe, whose family is in Holland, the Rev. H. J. Voskuil, Miss Geraldine Smiles of Oostburg, Wis., Mrs. W. R. Angus and children of Grand Rapids and Mrs. William Vander Meer and children have been permitted by the Japanese to come to America with the United States consul and his staff.

This group is a part of the 29 Americans who were interned by the Japanese on the island of Kulangsu. Word of the capture was received in Holland last January.

No information was included as to whether the group already was en route to America. As the cable did not mention Dr. Henry Poppen or the Rev. H. M. Veen-schoten, it was concluded that they are remaining at Kulangsu.

It is expected that Rev. Koeppe will come to Holland as soon as he arrives in America. His wife and three children, Roger, Owen and Ruth, are living at 82 East 13th St. The Koepes were married in the summer of 1919 and went to China that fall. For many years they were stationed at Tengan, Fukien province, about 20 miles inland from Amoy. For the past four years they were on Kulangsu. Mrs. Koeppe and the children came to America almost a year ago and came to Holland last September. Rev. Koeppe had his last furlough eight years ago.

Kulangsu was taken over by the Japanese Dec. 7 or 8 although news of the capture was not received here until January. Reports varied concerning the freedom of the group. First reports stated the missionaries were held captive in Poai hospital, a Japanese institution on the island.

Later reports said the group was given the liberty of the island and still later reports said protection was guaranteed only if missionaries remained in the compound.

Rev. Voskuil likely will go east where Mrs. Voskuil is staying and Miss Smiles is expected to go to Oostburg. Mrs. Angus and her children probably will go to Grand Rapids. It was not known where Mrs. Vander Meer and her children will go. Rev. Vander Meer was up country in Free China when Kulangsu was captured and at present is continuing his work there.

Mayors Named In Defense Plan

Grand Haven, April 16 (Special)—At today's forenoon session of the board of supervisors, a resolution to maintain the present welfare setup in Ottawa county, instead of making any changes as provided by the law in combining the social aid with the welfare department, was adopted.

Also adopted was a recommendation of the finance and budget committee that the mayors of the three cities of the county be placed in control of expenditure of a $1,000 appropriation for county civilian defense. The mayors will report at the board's next meeting on further recommendations.

A contract, dated March 9, 1942, between Park township and Ottawa county was approved. This contract provides for the complete release of the Park township airport to the county for the duration of the war or at such shorter period of time as the county may desire to keep it and when the emergency ceases that the airport be returned to Park township in the same condition as it was when taken over by the county.

City Attorney Clarence A. Lokker of Holland stated that Hope college has applied for and expects to receive an appropriation from the federal government to enable it to establish a regular pilot training program at the airport. He said the school has an airplane for ground training and some of the individuals at the school have indicated their desire to join the civilian air patrol.

This contract gives the county, through its airport committee, complete control of the airport. Nicholas Hoffman is airport manager and arrangements are being made for guards. The contract states that the airport will not be used on Sunday for commercial flying.

Maynard Mohr moved that the airport committee, appointed to study this matter, consisting of Charles Lowing, Lokker and George Heneveld, be named as the airport committee for this year, which motion carried.

Frank Garbrecht of Port Sheldon asked that his district be given authority to sub-lease certain pieces of property to various schools for restoration purposes, the request being granted.

Mayor's Annual Message Cites War's Influence

Points Out That Labor And Housing Situation Will Require Attention

Mayor Henry Geerlings, in his annual message to common council Wednesday, pointed to the war's influence upon Holland. He said:

Members of the Common Council and Citizens of Holland:

As we enter another term of service may I express my deep appreciation to the aldermen, the city officials and the members of the several boards for their willing cooperation, their kindly spirit, and the keen interest in civic affairs. It will be impossible in a brief message to go into detail about our activities. The past year has not been spectacular but we have been constructive. Strong foundations have been laid by those who have gone before and we will do well to continue to build upon them.

There are two things which I believe might be emphasized. The first is the angle from which the citizen sees his city government. There ought to be a person-to-person contacts with city officials. This is the most important of all ways in which public relations between the citizen and his local government can be made effective.

It is worth while to be community government-conscious. Everywhere the story is the same: the better the citizen understands what his city is doing and why, the more adequately he is informed through day-to-day as well as through special demonstrations, the more likely he is to support sound legislative policies and administrative practices. From the policeman on the beat to the mayor and the city officials, the opportunity is equal to the responsibility for making the citizen friendly toward his government by being friendly toward him. We are all partners in the conduct of public affairs.

And the second fact that needs emphasis is the duty of every voter to vote when occasion requires. One of the chief dangers to every community lies in the fact that so many of our citizens do not take the time to go to the polls to vote. No more important duty rests upon the citizen. The great problem of government by the people depends for its wise solution upon the fidelity with which this service is performed. I realize there are those to whom a primary or an election is of little moment. To those who appreciate the value of government by the people, who know that here, in the first instance at least, the policy of such a government, whether it be city or state or nation, is to be settled, who appreciate the dignity of American citizenship, to those the primary and the polls are sacred places, and the service they render there are as important as any rendered on the battle field or in the halls of Congress.

The war has come to us. Our country, along with the British Empire and other free nations of this troubled world, is now in a state of war against a threat to our ideas of freedom and our way of life. In the bewildering kaleidoscope of the moment a group of men and women realized the need of the organization of a City Council of Defense and immediate steps were taken to put the city on a war-time basis and to mobilize and coordinate all its defense activities. For three and a half months now extensive preparations in defense have been made. There has been a whole-hearted response.

When the announcement was made that we were about to enroll volunteers for service, 5,000 men and women expressed a willingness to render every assistance. Along with fire and police protection there have been organized auxiliaries of both Police and Fire Departments. The auxiliaries are composed of volunteers who are trained for specific duties. The Emergency Medical Division is well prepared for any wartime emergency. Instruction in first aid has been given to large groups. The Board of Public Works is in charge of the demolition and clearance crew, the road repair crews and the decontamination squads. The Bell Telephone and the Holland Gas Companies are rendering efficient service. The Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls are doing a splendid job. The Red Cross is under very able management and has responded and will continue to respond to every call. Blackout preparations will be in full swing very soon. The program will include plans for the shading of automobile headlights and the control of traffic under blackout conditions; the darkening of public and private buildings and the control of crowds suddenly and unexpectedly thrown into darkness; the blackout of the city's industrial plants; the dimming of all street lights. In the emergency of a threatened or actual air raid, the air-raid warning corps will be swung into action utilizing a patrol system to inform the public what to do. Fire sirens will be used as signals.

Among the problems that will require solution in the days and months ahead are one or two that will demand our serious consideration. One is the labor situation. The majority of our industries will be facing a labor shortage. From present indications Ottawa, Allegan and Kent counties will be able to furnish a thousand men. It is estimated that we will need another thousand by September next. A volunteer group will make a house to house canvass for the purpose of finding out how many employables can be counted on. As men are drawn away from industry to the armed forces an increasing number of women will be needed to take their places in the arsenals of democracy. Calls have already gone out from various industries in a large number of cities. To make the transition efficient and to prevent social and economic dislocations adequate planning and training are essential. The Civilian Defense Council and the Chamber of Commerce can play a vital part in selecting the new volunteers. We should get on with the job now. Plans should be drafted; training programs established in cooperation with the schools and college and with industry; effective home and nursery aid should be programmed. If this is done before the demand becomes acute we shall be planning our civilian defense more effectively and our support of the armed forces more surely.

A second problem is the housing. It is very probable that in the next few months employables will be coming into this city and something will have to be done to house these people. All needless building will be halted. This action was taken because war requirements have created a shortage of materials. All construction that is not essential, directly or indirectly, to the successful prosecution to the war, and which involves the use of labor, material or equipment urgently needed in the war effort, will be deferred for the duration of the emergency. This being the case it will necessitate the solving a different problem for the Chamber of Commerce.

The story of the response of the American schools to a crisis constitutes one of the glorious chapters in the history of American education. The Board of Education has opened a Vocational Training School. The response has been unusual. A definite program has been set up. A large number of lathes and drill presses have been placed and under able supervision promises to fill a great need in our city. Vocational schools everywhere almost overnight have shifted into a defense training program. In less than a year the number of men and women trained for wartime industries has exceeded a million. This has been accomplished in addition to carrying on the regular school program. This is an accomplishment without parallel in the history of our American education. Adult vocational education will increase in scope and effectiveness. Work experience, which has always been a part of any good vocational program, will in all probability become a part of the experience of all youth during his school years. I am sure that our community will cooperate with the Board in this enterprise. For a long time to come after the war public works will undoubtedly absorb the skill and attention of large numbers of our young workers. Similarly for a long time the army and navy and air force will attract young men into lifetime careers in those arms of government service. Many of our boys are not academically inclined and this will give them a splendid opportunity to equip themselves for usefulness in the years that are ahead.

Nothing can take the place of a healthy, progressive and aggressive people. Possibly the greatest needs of our day are alertness, courage, initiative and vigor. There must be health in order that these qualities may become prominent in the life and thinking of an individual. Physical and mental health are both essential and we want natural health rather than artificial. Natural health comes from having the right environment conducive to health. Sometimes we shall become wise enough to study the great periods of the history of the world, and the great men and women of these periods, and we shall go back to find out what was the environment and the physical and mental health of those who became such mountain peaks in the life of their nation.

The defense program committee has rendered valuable service. They have made us war bond conscious. The benefits from a widespread acceptance of this savings plan are obvious. The most immediate advantage to result would be the tendency to act as a deterrent on inflation. It will offset the growing discrepancy between purchasing power and shortage in consumers goods. Then too this savings program is concerned with the post-emergency period. It will safeguard the future against severe economic dislocation. When it is all over wages and costs are bound to seek a more normal level. And not only will the man with money in savings be less inclined to feel the economic shoe pinching, but the money he will have to spend then will serve to break any sharp decline in purchasing power and consequent economic depression.

Some months ago the Board of Supervisors purchased an additional 530 feet frontage to the south of Tunnel Park. The time is fast approaching when scarcely a foot of lake frontage will not be actually occupied by private owners. The development of Michigan as a resort state has increased the value of this frontage to a large degree and it is an exceedingly good investment. Playgrounds have become a necessity in the life of the American people. With an eye to that fact the county authorities have provided lake shore space where people can play without trespassing on private property.

With more people at work under the impetus of national defense, more vehicles are using the city streets and more pedestrians are crossing these streets. Regardless of whether the major part of one's daily travel is accomplished by automobile or bus, part of each trip must be made on foot. That is where the greatest danger lies. Pedestrians are the victims in about 70 per cent of the fatal accidents that occur in city streets. In all, some 13,000 pedestrians were killed in the United States last year. If that number of soldiers had been killed by accident there would be a public outcry. The death of so many pedestrians is accepted almost with indifference. What makes the matter worse is that the growing volume of both pedestrian and vehicular traffic seems virtually certain to result in a still greater number of pedestrian accidents unless vigorous steps are taken to remedy the situation.

In closing I would like to emphasize the need of morale. In these days of tension we ought to forget ourselves. In so doing we will cast out our fears and worries. This is war-time and our country needs the help of all of us. As I am so in my country. National morale is built up from the countless moral victories of every loyal citizen. By strengthening the home front we strengthen the moral and spiritual front in our own lives. A nation's strongest line of defense is the character of her citizens. Material and physical defenses will avail little unless a people strong in spirit stands behind America. A country rich in faith is rich in everything. The key to steadiness and inner strength is to have confidence in God and to accept direction from him. The call to every citizen is to listen to the Spirit, and listening obeys. There is a higher power and whatever happens on this earth will be weighed in the scales of eternal justice. As I see it, the greatest need of the world today is the consciousness of the presence of God in the soul of man. Through church, through home, through school, through environmental conditions we ought to lift our souls into a consciousness of oneness with the Eternal.

This will be a busy year for all of us. Our citizens will look to us for guidance and direction in civic affairs. We may not fall them. Let us spread faith, confidence and cheerfulness. These are as contagious as fear, depression and grumbling. Five of our group are retiring tonight. You have been faithful and loyal. Your work is appreciated. You have served willingly. You have given considerable of your time and your strength.

After all that makes life worth living. To the five aldermen who are taking their places for the first time we welcome you. You will soon discover that we are just the ordinary run of men. When we all fill our niche to the best of our ability we shall have the inner satisfaction that we have done our part in the upbuilding of our city. A wise man has said, "I said to the man who stood at the gate of the years, 'Give me light that I may tread safely into the unknown.' And he replied, 'Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than light and safer than the shown way.'"

'Goats' to Forego Holland Conclave

War Effort Will Keep Furnace Salesmen at Home; to Get Bonds

Of their own accord, the salesmen and branch managers of the Holland Furnace Co. who earned the right through their 1941 sales records to participate in their annual Conclave, highlighted by a Great Lakes cruise, have voted to forego the much coveted event this year. In accordance with their wishes, the fund set aside for this frolic will be used for the purchase of war bonds to be distributed among those eligible for the conclave award.

Although these men had worked especially hard during the year to qualify for the big event, they expressed themselves as feeling that neither they nor the company could properly give over the time for the holiday celebration under present emergency conditions.

The event, known among the Holland Furnace organization as the "Goat Conclave," has in recent years been timed to coincide with Holland's Tulip festival during May. The men, gathered here from coast to coast entered into the spirit of the festival, donned Dutch costumes and wooden shoes, and actively participated in the parades and other festivities. Climax of the frolic was a chartered Great Lakes cruise. To merit this high spot of the year, definite sales quotas had to be met so that the event has always been a well-earned recognition of high achievement.

In commenting on the voluntary action of these men, P. T. Cheff, general manager, stated that it was indicative of the fine spirit prevailing amongst the branch organizations from coast to coast. In this and many other ways they have shown their determination to make any personal sacrifices that will help them and the company to concentrate upon the Holland Furnace war production and home defense programs. Cheff further stated that the war bond distribution was in no sense a monetary valuation placed upon the annual conclave, but an acknowledgment of the patriotism exemplified by the men in foregoing the pleasure of their much-deserved frolic.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

FROM an increasing number of sources comes confirmation that the kitchen front is vital to our wartime effort. Latest factory reports show that wartime-installed "snack bars" to feed workers in-between meals give workers quick energy, increase output, as well as helps hold down accident rates. The "snack bars" in factories have been placed on a scientific basis, and are designed to give the energy which might be missed in regular meals.

But in the home, the same quiet energy for daily routines can be given the family with proper selection of foods that make up the family meals.

Nutritious, properly balanced meals aren't hard to arrange at this time of the year, when markets overflow with flawless vanda. Beef and lamb continue to be the best meat buys this week. Small size roasting chickens are a special in the East.

Vegetables continue to show lower price tickets. Price drops are recorded for asparagus, green beans, brussels sprouts, leek and Boston lettuce, mushrooms.

Based on the best buys of the current week, here are three balanced menus at different price levels prepared by Marion Rouse Budd, of the Kitchen.

Conference for Alumni Teachers Held in City

Hope college officials today acclaimed a success the first alumni-teacher conference which met on the campus for a two-day session, Friday and Saturday. Sponsored by the local college with the assistance of the Michigan Cooperative Study of Teacher Education, the meet attracted many Hope alumni who have teaching positions in the state and also critic teachers and members of the college faculty directly interested in teacher training.

The idea of the conference started with the alumni who in a large part planned and conducted it. Many helpful suggestions were made by alumni teachers for the improvement of the teacher training program and steps were initiated for the betterment of campus-field relationships.

A banquet in Hope Reformed church Friday evening opened the conference. Attending the affair were 100 educators. Supt. Clarence W. Lubbers of Plainwell was toastmaster and Dr. Wynand Wiehens, college president, welcomed guests. The main address of the evening was delivered by Dr. David N. Trout, dean of students at Central College of Education, Mt. Pleasant. He was introduced by Gerrit Muiyken, science teacher in the Mt. Pleasant high school and critic teacher at Central College of Education.

Conference leaders, group chairmen, and secretaries, meeting Saturday morning arranged the day's schedule which began with four group meetings at 9 a.m. The administrators met under the chairmanship of Supt. Cornelius Mulder of Blissfield with Supt.

ARMY CALLS COLSON

Major Colson resumed his position as manager of the state liquor store here Jan. 15.

LAND OF THE FREE —TO SERVE!

ON A THOUSAND fronts our women are enrolled in the task of winning the war.

Today Mrs. America is doing double duty! In every city, town and hamlet her busy fingers are knitting for the boys in Service. Her boundless energies are devoted to the Red Cross, the Nurse's Aid and countless other activities. Right now, as part of our Victory program, more women are working in factories than ever before.

For every housewife, whether she's stitching parachutes or doing war work at home, there still remains the all-important job of protecting her family's well-being at a time when the nation's high health standards and morale must be maintained.

So whatever her war efforts, she is still on the job in 30,000,000 kitchens providing for the health and happiness of her family!

In the dual role of wife and citizen, Mrs. America has a valuable ally in the House of Heinz and other makers of quality prepared foods. Since the famous 57 Varieties are ready to serve, they save time every day... lessen her work in the kitchen... provide more hours to give her country!

It is because American women are so free in their homes that they are able to serve their country so well today.

For there's spare time in every Heinz ready-to-serve food on the grocer's shelves today!

It would take hours to duplicate Heinz foods, that are ready to serve in a few minutes. In addition, preparation time is eliminated—fuel and shopping effort saved!

For instance, soup-making in the home takes an average of 4 hours. For many years, Heinz Soups have saved all but a few minutes of this time. Similarly, baked beans require a day and a half for preparation... but ever since Heinz Oven-Baked Beans were introduced, only heating before serving has been necessary. And Heinz Jellies and Relishes eliminate tedious days of household canning every year.

So Heinz foods are saving and will continue to save millions of kitchen hours for the women of America—precious hours that can be devoted to the needs of the nation!

Prepared in the small-batch, old-fashioned way, Heinz foods are ready to help you keep right on setting the finest table in the world. Heinz Tomato Ketchup, Chili Sauce and Tomato Juice are rich in the homespun flavors America has always loved. The same is true of Heinz Pickles, Relishes, Steamed Puddings and Jellies—Apple Butter and Peanut Butter. Heinz Baby Foods—like all the 57 Varieties—are made of the highest-quality ingredients the land affords.

And because we have been working constantly on the development of new methods, new products and new packages, women everywhere can continue to depend on us for many delicious, time-saving foods their families need and want!

For more than 73 years nourishing Heinz foods have graced the tables of America. Today they mean more than flavorful, nutritious eating. They also represent a ready source of the vital extra hours your country asks of you now.

AMERICAN JUSTICE

Out in Seattle a Japanese attorney, born in this country and resident here all his life, was placed on trial on the charge of espionage. His name is Kenji Ito, and it looks as if that name, together with the man's oriental physiognomy, was the cause of his trouble. On the west coast prejudice against the Japanese is naturally great, and things being as they are, it is not strange that this American-born attorney should be the object of suspicion.

All that is to be expected, and many other American-born Japanese are in for a similar fate. The important thing in this case is not that Mr. Ito was taken into custody but that he was given a fair trial. And after a jury had given careful attention to all the charges that could be brought against the defendant, it brought in a verdict of "not guilty on all counts."

As long as American juries,
made up of average citizens of average communities, can calmly consider the evidence in a case of this kind, there is no reason to feel pessimistic about the American brand of justice. In cases such as this the unlucky defendant has all the normal prejudices of a community against him. But if juries can stand out against those prejudices, not too much injustice
will be done as a result of war hysteria.

Those citizens of alien descent,
particularly on our west coast,
are in an unfortunate situation.
There seems no reason to doubt that many of them are as loyal to the United States as citizens whose skins are white. In some cases in fact their enthusiasm for America surpasses that of the people who set up to be their judges. But their most innocent acts are likely to be misunderstood. Their only safeguard is the average common sense fairness of average American people. While that holds out there is no great need for alarm.

That they will continue to be under suspicion is of course inevitable. Thousands of them were born in America and they can't help being Americans. But their nationality will continue to direct suspicions against them. Many injustices will be done, but nothing else is to be expected, in view of the fact that the American people must be on the alert
against a ruthless enemy.

But there is a vast difference
between alertness and hysteria, and the treatment given Mr. Ito proves that even on the west coast hysteria has not taken hold of the American people. American justice is still a reality, even in the midst of war. We are not so sure about other parts of the world.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Roger Babson says, "Only the Golden Rule will save this character—not a rule of gold. A character standard is far more important than even a gold standard. The success of all economic systems is still dependent upon both righteous leaders and righteous people. In the last analysis, our national future depends upon our national character—that is,
whether it is spiritually or materially minded."

The church helps people become spiritually minded. Why not accept the invitation and go to church next Sunday?

Growing Tension With False
Leaders—Luke 11:37-48, 52-54

By Henry Geerlings

Long before the time of Christ,
a class of professional interpreters of the Law of Judaism had attained wide recognition. These were commonly known as scribes, because their initial duty was to make perfect copies of the text
without changing a jot or a tittle.
The development of Judaism gave additional functions to the scribes.
Since they were compelled to study the law with care, they soon were looked upon as the only persons with sufficient knowledge to explain the meaning and purpose of the sacred writings. The lawyer was often employed as a teacher in the synagogue school where he expounded the lessons read in the meetings of the congregations and rendered public decisions on civil and religious questions.

As time went on, these lawyers
produced a large body of advice concerning the proper and precise observance of the Law. Frequently the writer Law was not sufficiently specific to meet the more complicated problems of life in the Palestine of a later
day. The Law, required, for example, that the seventh day
should be kept holy, but it did not specify exactly how far one might travel on the Sabbath or what things might be classed as works of necessity. It was the business of the scribe, by careful study of scriptural texts and faithful rehearsal of the teaching of his predecessors, to find the answer of every practical ethical problem that might present itself to his own generation. These oral decisions were often received with almost as much reverence as was accorded the Law itself.

The Jews had only two main meals during the day. The first of these was eaten about ten or eleven o'clock in the forenoon.
The second was the evening meal
and was begun about sundown.

The meal mentioned in Luke 11:37 is the one just before midday. It is clear that several guests or friends of the host were present. Jesus probably anticipated this situation and considered it an opportunity to face his opponents. Beyond doubt the Pharisees wanted Jesus to eat with them so they could observe him
at close range and discover habits and words of his which could make him unpopular among the common people. They very shortly found what they were after, for our Lord began to eat without having first washed his hands.
This does not refer to a lack of physical cleanliness, but to his disregard of the ceremonial washing which the Pharisees practiced.

The Pharisees poured water over their cups and platters to insulate them against contamination from unrighteous hands or unclean food. The act was purely an external one. That was the trouble with the Pharisees. They looked only on the surface. With respect to religion, they imagined that the appearance of devotion was sufficient, that the condition of the mind and heart of him who prescribed symbolical
act of religion did not matter.

Jesus sternly denounced the Pharisees for thinking that they were fulfilling the law of righteousness by washing their pots
while their minds were busy with plans to take their neighbor's property, or were agitated by hate.
He insisted that inward virtue is as important as outward respectability.

The Mosaic code prescribed that one-tenth of all agricultural products should be given to the Lord for the support of the religious institution. So absolutist were the Pharisees in their desire to keep to the letter of the Law that they even counted out the Lord's share of the few leaves of garden herbs they used to garnish or flavor their food. Yet while they were so careful with these trivial things they had no conception of the basic principles of human action which come from an objective understanding of divine purpose. With burning candor, Jesus points out the obnoxious nature of the person whose religion is confined to a false scrupulousness. He likes to be applauded, to be told he is upholding the true way, to have his name read with titles attached, to sit on the speakers' platform at conventions
and rallies, to be photographed with dignitaries and notables. He not only likes these things, but he deliberately seeks them, for His conception of religion is such that he thinks such forms are the chief end of man.

1933 from Minnesota where he operated a livestock farm west of Minneapolis and a meat market in Minneapolis. During this time he gained much knowledge of food, valuable to him now as a restaurant operator.

He believes there will be definite changes in beef and pork production in the near future. The changes to take place will include the amount of time farm animals will be kept in feeding lots. This time will be shortened, resulting in leaner meat and elimination of the extra finish (fat) on the marketable meats. This will save time and waste.

The Mary Jane has been located at 198 River Ave., since November, 1940 when it moved into a completely remodeled building.

Finger Painting Originator Will Be Here April 16

Ruth Faison Shaw to Give Demonstration in Washington Gym

Miss Ruth Faison Shaw, who originated finger paint and introduced it to modern education, will give a demonstration and lecture in Washington school gymnasium, April 16, at 4 p.m.

This lecture of special benefit to both teacher and parents, explains that finger-paint is a primitive, simple and direct medium for free artistic expression. First originated for the child, it has grown beyond that age limitation, and is found equally useful through the grades and in high school and college. Adults are using finger-paint for artistic and commercial purposes.

The functions of their medium may be divided into the following classifications: educational, artistic, therapeutic and recreational. As a medium of therapy, finger-paint is being used extensively in guidance, psychoanalysis, occupational therapy, sight-saving and other branches of work for the mentally and physically handicapped. In camps, scout work, playgrounds, and similar activities finger-paint has entered the recreational field.

Finger-painting is an experience in discovery. It is a medium that gives color and form to thoughts for which children often know no words.

Miss Shaw is an artist, and a teacher. Her first teaching experience was with the children in the mountains of North Carolina. She served in the Y.M.C.A. canteens overseas during the World War, first in France, and after the Armistice, in Constantinople. It was here that she searched for the pure earth colors and a safe base for finger paints.

Later her experience in teaching in a private school in Rome hailed her as a pioneer in the Progressive Education movement of whose existence she had hardly been aware.

After being recognized in France and Italy as an artist, teacher and lecturer she returned to America to devote her whole time to spreading the gospel of creative teaching by writing, lecturing and consultation.

Survey of Labor Is Started Here

A door-to-door survey of available labor resources of Holland and vicinity started Monday and will continue through April 25 to bolster the war effort.

The survey, intended to create a reservoir of men and women for work in the war plants and farms of the community, will be conducted by the women's auxiliaries of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

They will have a short, simple form bearing questions to be answered by every member of each household here. Answers to the questions may prove the solution to the anticipated shortage of labor for farms and factories, according to Mayor Henry Geerlings who is supporting the project.

"When Michigan's war production program swings into full stride, our state and our local community will be faced with a drastic and critical shortage of labor to fill available jobs," Mayor Geerlings, head of Holland's defense council, said. "The same situation will be true with our farmers who may well face the prospect of not being able to bring in their crops unless labor is located to help them with the other essential farm activities."

Information obtained in the survey will be turned over to the local United States employment service office where it will be used to meet the labor needs of the community.

All members of a household will be asked to indicate their skills and whether they would be willing to participate in the war effort, either as a war factory worker or as a farm assistant.

"This is a war fought by whole populations and all of us, male and female, adults and children, must contribute to the winning of the war," the mayor said. "We can do this now by making known either our abilities or skills, or our willingness to work at whatever task may be necessary to produce victory."

Leading Psychologists Address Two Groups

Dr. Garry Cleveland Myers, newspaper columnist and editor-in-chief of Children's Activities magazine, and Mrs. Myers, associate editor, prominent in the field of parent-child relationships, appeared before two groups in Holland Thursday, and presented their popular "dialogue" programs.

Dr. and Mrs. Myers were guests of the Child Study group in the Woman's Literary club in the afternoon, and at night were speakers at the final meeting of the Washington school Parent-Teacher association at which many guests were present from various P. T. A.'s of the city.

Dr. Myers opened the discussion in Washington school on "Our Children in These Times," and in a delightfully informal manner carried on a discussion with Mrs. Myers about the psychological needs of the child in this period of stress and uncertainty.

The emotional atmosphere of adult life is sensed by even small children, it was brought out, and control in the family is the most important element in their training. Emphasis on religious training was stressed, as "this brings poise and serenity," they said.

Causes of the lack of serenity in modern households were listed as too much hurry, too many outside activities, too much radio. There should be a greater emphasis on good food, sleep and rest; reduction of confusion, cultivation of a sense of humor, expression of affection and the building of fine personal relationships.

It has been estimated that more than 50 per cent of the families in America eat their meals to the accompaniment of the radio, said the speakers in condemning this practice.

It is the responsibility of the parents for getting their children home at a reasonable hour. The average American parents are neglecting the proper control of their children, said Dr. and Mrs. Myers, and suggested that Parent-Teacher groups get together to decide on a few sensible standards.

Dr. and Mrs. Myers answered questions put to them by the audience which numbered about 200. Mrs. Kenneth De Pree, president of the Washington Parent-Teacher association, presided. Patriotic songs were led by Miss Marian Shackson with Mrs. R. A. Howlett, Jr. at the piano. Devotions were conducted by Dr. George Mennenga of Western seminary.

In an election of officers, Mrs. C. M. Beerthuis was elected president; R. A. Howlett, Jr., vice-president; Mrs. Theodore Carter, secretary; and Albert Schaafsma, treasurer. Randall Bosch was chairman of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Clarence J. Becker was in charge of the Child Study group meeting at the Woman's club in the afternoon. About 50 attended the informal meeting, when Dr. and Mrs. Myers discussed "Home Education for Character and Citizenship." Many questions were presented by mothers attending the meeting, which were discussed and answered by the speakers.

Mrs. James K. Ward was elected chairman of the study group for next year.

Council Meets To Canvass Vote

Election of Bert A. Gebben to the board of public works, John Bontekoe, second ward alderman, Gordon Streur as fourth ward alderman and John R. Emmick as sixth ward alderman was made official Thursday night by common council when it met in special session, according to charter provision, to canvass Monday's vote.

Upon motion of Ald. Frank Smith, seconded by Ald. Bertal H. Slagh, Mayor Henry Geerlings appointed Slagh, Ald. Ben Stefens and Herman Mool as the special committee to canvass the vote.

After the committee had reported, the election tally was accepted upon motion of Slagh and seconded by Smith. Then followed adoption of a resolution declaring the candidates elected to office.

An "off the record" inquiry was made by one of the aldermen as to the recent election of Bernard De Pree as third ward alderman. The alderman pointed out that De Pree's name appeared on the nominating petition and ballot as "Bernard De Pree" but that he was registered in the poll book as "J. Bernard De Pree" and the error was not noted until De Pree voted Monday. He felt this technicality might be contested in the future when some important matter is brought before council which would require De Pree's vote.

Council took no action in the matter. However, Jay H. Den Herder, acting city attorney in the absence of City Attorney Clarence A. Lokker, said today there is a "legal technicality" involved but that in this small city, every one was acquainted with De Pree.

THEY KNOW EMERGENCIES

THE men and women of this company are accustomed to emergencies. For storm, flood and fire are foes that strike without warning. Of necessity, our people always are organized on an emergency basis.

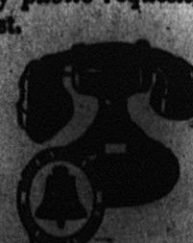

Whatever war may bring, the experience gained in such emergencies by this telephone army will prove invaluable in maintaining the country's communication network.

Material shortages and war conservation orders make it impossible in some instances to supply telephone service as in the past. While every permissible effort will be made to satisfy public requests, war demands come first.

Group Organizes To Speed Holland Defense Building

Home Shortage by End Of Year Expected as Employment Climbs

The housing and residential committee of the Holland Chamber of Commerce held a preliminary meeting Monday night with a number of local building contractors and lumber dealers to consider the problem of how to start new home building in Holland under the defense housing priority rating which was approved recently for Holland and vicinity by President Roosevelt.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce committee are Ruben Nyhuis, Lester Essenburg, D. Bolhuis, John Van Dyke and James H. Klomparsen.

To get immediate action, it was decided to organize and the following officers were elected: Mr. Bolhuis of Bolhuis Lumber and Manufacturing Co., president; Mr. Van Dyke of Van Dyke and Volkens, contractors, vice-president; Nick Brouwer of Quality Mill and Lumber Co., secretary; Jack Bos of the Holland Lumber and Supply Co., treasurer; Mr. Essenburg, director.

With the large development of industries that are preparing to make war materials which will give employment to more than 1,500 persons here, the housing situation is expected to be acute by the end of the year. The group said residents must build new homes or the government will step in and do so as was the case in Muskegon.

This is not desirable, the Chamber of Commerce points out, as it means that the federal government sends in contractors, men and materials to do this work in a hurry, constructing a lot of buildings which are not a credit to the city or satisfactory to tenants.

It was unanimously agreed that Holland should build houses and that another meeting of all building contractors, carpenters, plumbers, painters, electricians and bankers should be called soon to further consider the proposition. This meeting will be arranged as soon as housing applications are received from Washington.

$50,000 for one 90-millimeter anti-aircraft gun sounds like a lot of money, doesn't it? But this type gun is a real "plane-crusher" — one shell from it can smash a half-million dollar Jap bomber quicker than you can count a fly.

THIS ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUN COSTS $50,000

YOUR HOUSE may not be a military target, but bombs don't stop to inquire. Bombs don't ask your name or the names of your children, either. In this war, as in no other in history, we are all targets. Black-outs merge soldiers and civilians alike. "War is hell" . . . for all of us. And it is costly . . . for all of us.

Take the anti-aircraft guns that must be counted on to protect your home, your family. Did you know that just one costs $50,000? Just one—and we need 20,000 at once . . . for the fighting front as well as the home front. Who's going to pay the bill? Not only for the guns, but for the tanks and ships and planes our boys must have to smash the Axis?

Who? Why all of us, . . . you and I and the man next door. Because we are all in this war, and because blood and tears and sweat don't mean a thing if they do not come from everybody. Everybody must put every dime and dollar he can spare into Bonds and Stamps, even if it means going without something else . . . remembering that we are apt to go without everything, unless we win. Here is one sure way to turn your patriotism into action and to help win this war—go to your local bank, post office, or other official agency for Bonds now!

Remember you can start buying Bonds by buying Stamps for as little as 10c and that you get a $25.00 Bond (maturity value) for only $18.75.

Help win the war with the money you save—
