Stewardess on Dutch Vessel Finds Holland Is Next Best City to Home

Miss Margaret Breevaart (left) is interviewed by Miss Beatrice Fortney, Sentinel reporter.

Miss Margaret Breevaart, who has not been in her home in Soest, The Netherlands, since she left as a stewardess on a Dutch boat in the autumn of 1939, is spending a vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Estie, 27 West 19th St., following her return from Ottawa, Canada, where she visited Princess Juliana and her children, the Princesses Beatrix, Irene and Margriet Francisca.

Miss Breevaart was born in Mynsheerendland, The Netherlands, and her family, including her father and mother and several brothers and sisters, are still in The Netherlands. She last heard from them about six months ago.

She left The Netherlands in the autumn of 1939 as a stewardess aboard a Dutch passenger ship, intending to be on the boat several months and then to return and spend Christmas with her parents. War broke out in Europe, however, and the boat was unable to reach The Netherlands. When war was declared in Holland in May, 1940, she was with her ship in America and it was impossible to make the return trip.

Shortly after this she submitted to a major operation and spent two months recuperating in Costa Rica. When she returned to her ship she learned that her fiancé, who was an engineer in the Netherlands East Indies, had died. Before the war she had planned, upon completion of her trip, to join him there and after spending a short time with him they planned to return to The Netherlands to make their home. She also has a brother who was working in the Indies for the government. Upon declaration of war he joined the Netherlands army.

Her father, before his retirement to Soest, was an important official in Zeist, situated just a few miles from the palace, and had, on many occasions, visited with Prince Hendrick, husband of Queen Wilhelmina, and others of the royal family.

Miss Breevaart, who speaks English, French, German, Italian and Spanish, as well as Dutch, went to school for 14 years in Zeist, and later was taught at home by her brother, at the present time a teacher in The Netherlands. She came of a large family and one of her brothers speaks 12 different languages.

When Miss Breevaart's boat docked at an American port (which she was prevented from identifying by censorship rules) she heard from a friend of the Rev. D. H. Walters in Holland and, since she had several weeks vacation coming to her, she wrote him and asked him if he knew any Dutch home where she could stay for a few weeks. He immediately contacted Mr. and Mrs. Estie, both of whom are originally from The Netherlands. Miss Breevaart arrived at their home April 1.

After she arrived in Holland she discovered that a nephew of hers, Henry Groeneveld, and another relative by marriage, Dick Versendahl, both resided in Holland. She knew they lived somewhere in Michigan, but was not aware that they made their home in Holland.

Tuesday, April 13, she received a telegram from the Princess Juliana, who had heard she was in America, asking her to come and visit her. She left Holland Thursday and arrived in Montreal Saturday. After spending the night in the Windsor hotel, Montreal, the hotel in which the king and queen of England stayed on their recent visit to Canada, she reached Ottawa Sunday morning and spent the morning with the princess and her children.

Before leaving Holland, Miss Breevaart had bought a small gift for each of the children and the princess was so pleased to have them receive something from Holland, the city where "the people were so friendly." The princess said she well remembers her visit in Holland in May, 1941, and was glad Miss Breevaart could spend some time here.

She spent all of Sunday morning with the princess, whom she described as being very friendly and democratic, and saw and talked with Princesses Beatrix and Irene who were playing in the snow outside the house. She also saw Princess Margriet Francisca, whom she said looked just like Beatrix did when she was a baby. (Beatrix was born when Miss Breevaart was still in The Netherlands, and she saw her at that time.)

Miss Breevaart, although she loves her work on the sea and admires the courage of the Dutch sailors, said it "seems good to be in a family again and in a city which reminds me so much of cities in The Netherlands."

After the war she plans to go back to The Netherlands to be with her parents, but she expressed the hope that sometime before then she will be able to return to Holland and see the tulips, of which she has heard so much. She said she liked all Americans, and the Hollanders especially, and thanked them and the Esties for making her stay in Holland so pleasant.

3 Youths Charged In Chicken Theft

Fowls for Party on Stove When Officers
Arrive; High Bond Set

Grand Haven, April 22 (Special)—A group of young people were cheated out of a chicken dinner Saturday night when three young men were taken into custody by Sheriff William Boeve and Hilbert De Kleine, deputy sheriff of Jamestown township. The three were Robert De Young, 18, Dick Kuiper, Jr., 22, and Howard Nyenhuis, 18, all of Jamestown township.

The trio was arraigned before Justice George V. Hoffer on Monday on a charge of breaking and entering in the night time. Each waived examination and was bound over to the May term of circuit court under bond of $1,000 each.

The alleged offense took place about 11 p.m. Friday when they allegedly took four chickens out of the coop of John Meyers, also of Jamestown township. Meyers, who keeps an accurate account of the chickens he has, overheard a conversation that there was to be a party for De Young and Nyenhuis who are expected to leave soon for the armed services and on Saturday morning Meyers discovered that the latch on the door of his chicken coop was not in the same position it had been when he locked the door Friday night. Meyers then counted his chickens and discovered four were missing.

The officers went to the home of Bert Van Klompberg in Jamestown township about 7 p.m. Saturday where the chickens were cooking. The chickens, in their containers, were taken out of the stove by the officers and returned to Mr. Meyers. Mrs. Van Klompberg is a sister of Kuiper and she was to serve the dinner for the party.

Several girls from Grand Rapids and the vicinity of Jamestown as well as several other boys were invited.

For Posting of Names
To Safety Committee

A committee of common council today had under consideration a communication signed jointly by Chief of Police Jacob Van Hoff and Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith which was presented to council Wednesday night recommending the setting up of a so-called "black list of citizens of this community who in the judgement of the police department and municipal court are not to be trusted with the use of intoxicating liquors."

The recommendation was presented at a time when 11 applications to renew licenses to sell beer and light wines were submitted.

The police department and municipal court recommend that such a list be posted in all places where intoxicating liquor is sold both for consumption on the premises and to take out. Holland High Nine Will Open Season Against Fennville

Thirty Aspirants Are Working Out Daily for Contest Next Friday

Baseball, America's national sport, shares the spotlight with track at Holland high as about 30 men hold daily practices in preparation for the first game Friday, April 23, when the local boys will tangle with Fennville here. Games will be played in River-view park.

Practice was begun a week ago under Coach Carl Van Lente and Assistant Coach Fred Weiss. Most of the practices have been held on the 19th St. diamond.

Following the opening game with Fennville, Holland will meet Muskegon here May 4. Local sluggers will hit the road to play Muskegon Heights there May 11 and Grand Haven here May 13. On May 14 they will appear in a return engagement at Fennville and will travel to the county seat for another tussle with Grand Haven May 20.

May 25 Holland and Kalamazoo will meet each other half way at a game at Allegan. Remaining games on the schedule will be played at Muskegon May 28 and with the team from Muskegon Heights on the local field June 4.

Outfielders reporting include Bob Kuipers, Jim Knoll, Don Reimink, Don Sova, Stille and Jack Vanden Berg. Holding down infield positions are Alex Humbert and Harv Hoekje. Louie Borgman and Norman Piersma are second basemen while Frank Bagliardi and Ernie Meusen vie for shortstop.

At third base are Bob Fortney and Roy Stokes. Behind the plate Harv Busscher, Walt Hudzik and Don Van Ry are working out as catchers. Moundsters reporting for duty include Bernard Kool, Bob Nienhuis, Ernest Victor and Harold Vande Bunte.

Fortney, Meusen, Don Ver Beek, Borgman, Hoekje, Vande Bunte, Nienhuis, Busscher, Don Hulst and Kool are veterans reporting this year and the remaining men are rookies.

Baseball at Hope college is still in the initial stages. Twenty-five men were present at the first meeting Tuesday with Coach Jack Schouten.

With the exception of Russ DeVette and Dick Higgs, veterans of last year's team, all reporting are new. Schouten hopes to interest enough men in the sport so that games may be played between opposing Hope teams. Games with other colleges are "out" due to transportation difficulties, but Hope men may meet some teams near home.

Although spring sports at the college have been greatly curtailed, interfraternity and intersorority softball will again be part of the program.

Interfraternity track will also be featured. Dick Higgs and Bill Slocombe are back, but the majority of last year's track men are now in the service. If an MIAA track meet is held there is the possibility that several Hope men will participate.

Spring sports at the college are designed this year mainly for recreation for those who desire to participate in the fun with little thought to interschool competition.

Bergen Family Is Active in Service

That the family of Dr. J. Tallmadge Bergen of Minneapolis, Minn., former pastor of Hope Reformed church here, is doing its part in the armed forces is shown by the fact that three sons are serving the army as commissioned officers, two in the chaplains' corps.

Major Willis Bergen, chaplain to the Northwest Service Command, United States army, served as a sergeant in the first world war. After peace was declared he was sent to Cambridge university in England as an American soldier student. He did not graduate although at the end of his course he was given "the Cambridge Card" making him a permanent Cambridge student. He was graduated from the San Anselmo Presbyterian seminary with a B.D. degree.

He was appointed minister of Piedmont Presbyterian church, Portland, a post he held for 20 years, until the treacherous Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. He volunteered immediately for active service and was posted to the Northwest Service Command.

His two brothers in the service are Major Hansen Bergen of the Chaplain's corps and Capt. Tallmadge Bergen, intelligence officer of the Pampa Air field, Texas. The latter was born in Holland Jan. 25, 1904.

Dr. Bergen himself holds a captain's commission in the Organized Reserve and was sworn in and fingerprinted last December for possible emergency call. His rank is captain. He was a first lieutenant in the air service in 1918 serving in intelligence.

Major Willis Bergen who was the subject of a feature story earlier this month in an Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, newspaper was born in Holland April 28, 1897, in what is generally known as the Keppel home just east of the Netherlands Museum, formerly the city hospital.

Another son of Dr. Bergen, Cornelius Bergen, maintains his home in Holland at 29 East 14th St. although he holds a position in Detroit.

WAR

... and your call to Cousin Bill

Cousin Bill lives in another state. You don't see him often, and it would be a pleasant thing to call him up on his birthday and wish him many happy returns... IF we weren't fighting a war!

In ordinary times, Michigan Bell would gladly help you send that message, but today long distance lines are crowded with a vastly increased load of war-created traffic. And new lines and equipment can't be added, because the necessary materials have gone to the fighting front.

So send your greetings to Cousin Bill by mail — and to aid in winning the war, please —

Do not make any long distance call unless it is extremely urgent.

Especially avoid calls to people outside of Michigan.

Keep all calls — local or long distance — as brief as you can.

YOU'VE DONE YOUR MY-NOW DO YOUR BEST! BUY MORE WAR BONDS!

TIME DOES ODD THINGS

The recent reawakening of interest in Thomas Jefferson because of the dedication of the new memorial in Washington
shows once more what odd pranks time plays. The party at present in power claims Jefferson as its founder and inspiration, just as the Republicans claim Lincoln for their own. But if he were to return to the scenes of his labors Jefferson could hardly be expected to see any connection between the principles on which he built his life and the principles of the party that lays claim to him; and in the same way, it is doubtful if Lincoln would be able to discover much correspondence between his political philosophy and the philosophy of the present Republican party.

In the case of Jefferson the contrast between him and the party members of today who profess his name is startling and somewhat painful. If there was any fundamental principle Jefferson clung to more tenaciously
than any other, it was the idea that government is best that governs least. Quote that to the government in Washington today and see what happens. Almost the most fundamental idea of the present administration is that control from the center of government is the greatest good. The American people are being regimented to a degree that would have filled the soul of Jefferson with horror. Add that not merely as a wartime policy. True, the regimentation has been greatly speeded up, and of course necessarily so, since the coming of war, but even before 1939 we had been subjected to a complication of controls from the seat of government that is almost completely destructive of the ideals of Jefferson.

In line with this fundamental Jeffersonian idea, our third president pinned his faith to local self-government. Some central control was necessary if the United States was to function as a nation and not as a group of separate states. As a single illustration, foreign relations could not be handled by the individual states but must be the business of the central government. But Jefferson believed deeply and passionately in leaving everything to the states that could safely be left to them. Our government at Washington today follows the practice of taking over from the states everything it can lay its hands on. Even the education of our children is becoming increasingly a service controlled from a central office in Washington.

The point here advanced is not that that is necessarily wrong;
merely that the Democratic party's Jefferson worship is largely lip service. But then, much of Republican Lincoln worship is just as definitely mere lip service.
Time does odd things to politics.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Physically, intellectually, and spiritually, Sunday is essential to human welfare. Bodily health is the basis of our activities, and cannot be maintained if the energies are depleted by continuous strain. Nor can intellectual vigor be maintained if the exercise of the mind is monotonous and excessive. But man is more than a physical and intellectual being.
Worship lifts the mind out of the dust of the world for six days it has toiled. Body, mind, and spirit are refreshed by the reverent atmosphere and the hallowed exercises of the house of God. Why not accept the invitation and go to church next Sunday?

Sunday School Lesson

The Risen Lord
John 20:1-17

By Henry Geerlings

The second article of the Creed
tells us of the crucifixion, death and burial of Jesus Christ, of His rising again on the third day and His ascension later into heaven.
Today we greet the joyful Easter day with its reminder that of the magnificent miracle which assures us that we have here a living Lord. Jesus truly died and actually was buried. That He left the tomb not by outside help but by His own power and that His being alive again was witnessed by those who knew Him well, is what we learn from the closing chapters of Matthew, Mark and Luke.

The dawn of the first day of the week came. Some women were on their way to the tomb before it was daylight. They wanted to bring spices they had prepared for use in honoring the body of Jesus. John centers his account around Mary Magdalene, though she was not alone as we learn from the other records. The tomb had been closed by a heavy stone which was rolled before the door. There was some worry about how they could roll back the stone and be able to enter the tomb.

To Mary's amazement when she was near enough to see the tomb
she found that the stone had been rolled away. Her first thought was that the grave had been tampered with and that the body of Jesus had been stolen. Her immediate impulse was to report the fact to Simon Peter and the other disciple, designated as the one Jesus loved. Her running to him shows her excitement and her zeal to let them know. Maybe she thought that they would do something to recover the removed body of Jesus. All she could say was that some people had taken the body away and that the women
did not know where they had laid it. She had not been near the tomb. She had not seen that the body was gone. She jumped to her own conclusion. At least this seems to be the case in John's account.

Peter and John were surprised.
They were unable to understand what had taken place. But they were eager to investigate for themselves. They ran to the tomb to examine it. They wanted to be sure that the report of Mary was true. Maybe they thought that she was mistaken. John arrived first, being younger and the faster runner. He did not enter the tomb but stooped to look in and what he saw was evidence that the body was gone.
Peter came up and entered the tomb and surveyed what its state was. He noted particularly the location of the different cloths that had been used in preparing the body for burial. John followed Peter into the tomb. Together they saw and their conclusion was that the report of Mary was true.
The tomb was open and empty.
The body of Jesus had been removed, but how and by whom and why and where it had been taken were unknown to them. It had not come to their minds that Jesus was alive. They believed Mary's report for they had proof that the body was gone. But it was with saddened hearts that the left the tomb for they did not yet know the scripture that He must rise again from the dead.
What could they do? Apparently nothing. So they went back to their own home.

Mary must have returned to the tomb. She seemed to want to be near the spot where she was sure the body of Jesus had been. Her heart was heavy and she wept. She went near enough to stoop down and look into the open tomb. What she saw startled her. Two angels in white were there. They spoke to her, sympathetically asking why she wept.
She answered and her words revealed her anxiety about the body of Jesus. As if feeling it was useless to tarry there, or out of fear from what she had seen, Mary turned to go. She saw Jesus standing close by, but did not know Him. Why should she?
It was farthest from her mind that Jesus could be alive and standing near the tomb. He spoke to her as the angels had, and asking why she wept. Her reply to Him was proof that she hoped that He was the keeper of the garden and had taken the body away. She made a wild offer. She would take the body of Jesus away if the gardener would tell her where he had put it. Then Jesus spoke her name. His voice was familiar. She knew Him and addressed Him as her Teacher.
She saw Jesus, at first not knowing Him and then knowing Him.
She loved and knew that He was alive.

Holland In 1912

A real estate deal that will be of interest to the people of this city was completed when Judge Everitt of Waukazo and Chicago
sold Point Superior to Mr. Golds of Chicago, began a story in the Friday, Dec. 20, issue of the Holland Daily Sentinel, published in 1912. The money consideration in the deal is said to be $4,500. The transfer of the property is, however, only part of the story. The contract has been let for one of the finest summer homes around here and work will doubtless be begun very soon. It is said that the place will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000.

Dr. F. J. Schouten celebrated

sary today. There was no formal celebration of the event but the Schouten home was open all day
to the friends of the veteran physician who desired to come and wish him many happy returns of the day.

How well the poor department

touch with the situation is shown by the announcement of one of the men that there are just 90
families in the city who will need help this Christmas, began a story in the Saturday, December

2,000 or more families in the city will have to donate each a little to supply the 90 needy ones.

the local public schools will have the Monday, Dec. 23, issue. The same thing is true of most of the

Rotarians Hear State Senator

State Rep. Nelson Miles addressed the Rotary club Thursday at its regular luncheon meeting in the Warm Friend tavern on
"The 1943 Legislative Session."

"Although the legislative session that has just closed was probably the shortest in the history of Michigan, some very important business was conducted, contrary to the opinion of many people and newspapers," said Mr. Miles.

One of the most publicized bills was the one that changed the time of the state to Central War time. While there was some opposition to this bill, the legislature found that it would be more advantageous to make the change, he explained.

Mr. Miles stated that the resolution that was passed in regard to raising the stipend of members of the legislature from three to five dollars a day aroused considerable agitation, but the people will be able to vote on this matter in the fall.

In connection with the considerable talk that has been circulating about the legislature un-balancing the budget, Mr. Miles said that even though more money was appropriated, the balance of the budget still would be maintained.

Four new directors were elected, including Ralph W. Blanchard, Duncan H. Weaver, C. Neal Stekette, Jr., and Marion de Velder.
The Rev. W. J. Hilbert of Zeel-

America also was present.

Chaplain Poling Dies As a Hero

Word has been received that Chaplain Clarke V. Poling, son of Dr. Daniel A. Poling, widely known Christian Endeavor leader, went down with the City of Flint when that steamer carrying troops along the north Atlantic route was torpedoed by a Nazi submarine.

Chaplain Poling, who, up to the time of his enlistment, was the minister of the First Reformed church of Schenectady, N. Y., together with three other chaplains, who were also on board the City of Flint, gave their life preservers to four members of the crew after the torpedoing of the vessel.

The last seen of the chaplains, according to the testimony of Daniel O'Keefe, a 19-year-old merchant marine, and a survivor of the sinking, was "the four of them standing on the deck together praying. Then our lifeboat drifted out of sight."

The news that his son was missing came to Dr. Poling just as he was about to board a plane for his world trip in the interests of Christian Endeavor. Characteristic of the senior Poling, there was no delay of the trip.

Chaplain Poling attended Hope college for two years between 1929 and 1931 and according to local records was a "good" student. He attended Hope college at a time when his father, then pastor of

Began Here Over Three Years Ago

The Ver Lee Funeral home, 106 West 16th St., is Holland's newest funeral home. It was organized in October, 1939, by John G. Ver Lee, formerly of the Zaagman Funeral home in Grand Rapids.

The business has complete facilities to handle all funeral and emergency calls. "We have been successful above our expectations," said Mr. Ver Lee, owner and manager of the home, in expressing his thanks for past patronage and his wish to continue to serve the citizens of Holland in the future.

We say it again, "The best way to break a bad habit is to drop it."

New York led all states in gasoline tax revenues in 1940 with $73,055,000, followed in order by Pennsylvania, California, Ohio, Texas and Illinois.

Final Tribute Is Paid Late Captain At Funeral Rites

Flag at Half Mast at Cemetery, Military Salute, Taps Given

Final tribute was paid here to Capt. Herbert E. Chapman, 23, airplane crash victim, at impressive funeral services Thursday afternoon in Hope Reformed church which were followed by military rites in charge of the American Legion post in Pilgrim Home cemetery.

In the church, the flag-draped metal casket was surrounded by floral tributes, among them one piece in the form of an American flag presented by Harrington school.

First Lieut. Lee Garner of Camp Pickett, Va., close friend of the deceased who served as official government escort, stood guard at the head of the casket until the service was begun. Lieut. Garner whose home is in Clio, Mich., attended Michigan State college with the late captain and served in the same company with him since the two entered service after their graduation from college in 1941.

Mrs. W. Curtis Snow provided organ music and Robert Cavanaugh of the Hope college music faculty sang "No Night There."

Legionnaires consisting of a firing squad and color guard and beavers formed an honor guard as the casket preceded by the Rev. Marion de Velder and Chaplain Harry Kramer and followed by Lieut. Garner was taken from the church. A police escort headed the procession to the cemetery.

Military ritual was observed at the graveside rites. The cemetery flag stood at half-mast until the service was completed and then raised to full mast. At the grave, the six pall bearers faced west, the firing squad faced north, Rev. de Velder and Chaplain Kramer stood at the head of the casket, Lieut. Garner and a bugler nearby and another bugler at a distance for echo taps.

Following prayer by Rev. de Velder, Chaplain Kramer read the Legion committal service after which the firing squad gave a military salute of three rounds. Taps and echo taps completed the rites.

Rev. de Velder who delivered the funeral sermon in the church Sunday 17 through 21, which tells the story of the young man who saved Jesus what he must do to inherit eternal life... ending with the words, "Then Jesus beholding him loved him."

"To know Herbert Chapman in any way was to love him," Rev. de Velder said. "It is young men like Herbert Chapman who represent the best of this country at its best." Rev. de Velder spoke of Chapman's versatility and tremendous promise and quoted Lieut. Garner as saying Chapman was the most promising officer in the camp.

Rev. de Velder commented on the loss to the family and friends but added that one of the mysteries of life is that "though people may leave us they live on in our memories and in our hearts." He added, "Some people may regard this tragedy as the will of God in attempting to answer the unanswerable question 'Why?' It is true we live in the framework of the will of God, but when something goes wrong in the natural law of life, we cannot ask to be immune. We must go on without bitterness and cynicism. God stands by with strength and grace."

"As a people, we should renew our dedication to what Herbert Chapman stood for and died for, and may we be worthy of the sacrifice of him and other young men in the service who are willing to lay down their lives," he concluded.

Randall C. Bosch and Edward Dawson served as ushers at the church service. Donald Ithman and Dale Vanden Brink, Holland high school students wearing band uniforms, played the taps at the grave.

Chapman's body which was placed in a hermetically sealed casket, was not seen in Holland. Promoted to the rank of captain early this month, Chapman was killed in an airplane crash Sunday in Virginia with a fellow officer, Lieut. Charles Buffington of Glenwood, Ia., who was piloting the plane. Chapman's first question during his few minutes of consciousness after the crash was in regard to the pilot, Lieut. Buffington was killed instantly but Capt. Chapman lived about three hours.

Hope church placed its first gold star on its service plaque for Capt. Chapman Thursday morning.

Local Missionary Union Praised by Mrs. Wayer

"This may well prove to be the biggest project ever carried through by a classical missionary union," declared Mrs. James Wayer of Racine, Wis., vice-president of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions for the particular synod of Chicago of the Reformed church in America, as she examined the 10,552 items in the exhibit of garments and supplies contributed by the societies of the Holland missionary union within the current year.

Mrs. Wayer commended the vision and planning of Mrs. P. E. Hinkamp, for many years classical committee member of the woman's board, and of her helpers, Mrs. Edith Walvoord, Mrs. Theodore Boot, Mrs. William Hietje, Mrs. S. C. Nettinga, and Miss Jeanette Westervelt. She congratulated also the women of the 28 churches, in that every society connected with the union had contributed to the Sewing Guild project.

After the supplies had been sorted, tabulated, and packed by Andrew Stoketee, Theodore Boot, and the women of the First Reformed church, it was found that several items exceeded the quotas set for this community. There were 320 washcloths, 363 bath towels, 419 pillow cases, 198 full-size sheets, 243 draw sheets, 158 operating sheets, 109 aprons and 57 gowns, to name only a few of the items in the 35 categories listed.

The only items quoted as lacking in entirety were 25 cans of tape and 500 lbs. of absorbent cotton. Extras not asked for included 18 crib quilts, 6 cotton blankets, 94 children's dresses, 53 kimono, 891 rolled bandages, 316 eye bandages, 300 eye pads, and many other small items.

Besides the supplies, whose value was appraised at $700, the societies gave $52.31 to cover transportation charges to their destination at Knox Memorial hospital in Mount Ararat, where the girls are due to arrive by Christmas time. An element of risk is recognized, but "not a single shipment has failed to arrive on the mission field throughout these months of the war," writes Miss Mina Hennink of New York City, chairman of the sewing guild work for the woman's board of missions, who had been in Holland on Sept. 4, 1942, to inaugurate the local project.

The committee in charge has a chart, showing the gifts of the various societies, ready for display at the fall conference of the missionary union, and will prepare a similar chart to show quotas desired for next year.

Waac Recruiter Will Be In Holland Twice a Month

Lieut. Gladys M. Durrant, recruiting officer of the women's auxiliary army corps working out of the Muskegon office, was in Holland Thursday to make arrangements to open an auxiliary recruiting branch here. Lieut. Durrant will spend every other Thursday in Holland and will be at a desk in the OCO office in the Chamber of Commerce building. She will return here April 29 to interview girls and women who are interested in the Waac.

In the meantime, those who desire information about the women's corps may get in touch with Mrs. Charles R. Sligh, Jr., chairman of the local civilian committee, or Mrs. J. C. Rhee, a member of the contact committee.

Lieut. Durrant listed qualifications for joining the Waac. Age requirements are 21 through 44 and women may be married but must have no dependents under 14. Married Waacs whose husbands are in service still get the monthly allotment regardless of what branch of service the husband is in.

Applicants must pass physical and mental tests and must provide proof of citizenship (birth certificate).

The whole purpose of the Waac is to take the place of soldiers who may then enter active duty. Chances for promotion are great as the corps is young, Lieut. Durrant said. Waacs receive the same ratings and pay as soldiers. They start with a basic pay of $50 a month and as non-coms may receive as high as $138 a month, plus clothing, food, medical and dental care.

Every auxiliary (the equivalent of a private in the army) has an opportunity to become an officer as all officers are chosen from the ranks. After basic training, the auxiliary may enter schools in one of five different branches including radio, cooks and bakers.

Administrative, motor corps and aero-photography school: After training is completed, the Waac is appointed to some camp.

Lieut. Durrant said officers arrived recently in England to pave the way for the arrival of several thousand Waacs who are expected shortly. Numerous Waacs are serving in Africa under Gen. Eisenhower, she added. Overseas service is optional, but nine out of ten recruits sign for it.

"The demand for recruits is great—far greater than the supply," Lieut. Durrant said in pointing out that girls and women who enter the service are doing a great service for their country. The Waac offers opportunity for new friends and travel plus valuable training which can be used later in new professions.

Lieut. Durrant who hails from Oregon enlisted with the Waac Oct. 30, 1942, and after her basic training and administrative work, entered officers' school in Des Moines and was graduated Jan. 30. Her assignment in the Muskegon office is her first job and she is establishing branches in Ludington, Manistee, Grand Haven and Holland. The Muskegon office is under Lieut. Col. Archie B. Whitlow, commanding officer of the Kalamazoo induction station. Other officers in this district are maintained in Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo and Marquette.

Local girls who have already joined the Waac include Alyda De Wilde, North Shore drive; Esther K. Henneman, 204 East Eighth St.; Berdina Kloparsen, route 5; Wilhelmina Kars, 61 West 15th St.; Genevieve Mrok, 9 River Ave.; Hazel Steggerda, route 5; Catherine Van Meurs, route 3, and Hazel Ver Hey, 36 East 26th St.

Any club or organization desiring a speaker to explain the get in touch with Mrs. Sligh and Waac program is requested to arrangements will be made.

Holland High Track Meet Is Success Despite Cold
A sharp wind and cold weather failed to cool the spirits of Holland high school trackmeets who blew the lid off the 1943 track season with an opening inter-collegiate meet on the 22nd St. field Friday afternoon. Only two events, the high jump and the relay, were canceled because of the cold. They are scheduled to be run off Monday.

Official timing was not recorded but all events were slowed up generally due to cold weather. However, all trackmen participated in the initial meet and showed signs of making pretty fair names for themselves during the remainder of the season. Coach Malcolm Mackay served as starter and judge for the events.

Verne Rowan, senior, was first place man in the 120-yard hurdles and was followed by Bill Sligh, senior, in second place and Paul Boerigter, sophomore, who came in third.

In the 440 Jim Lamb, junior, outran his opponents to take first. Ray Slotman, senior, came in second and was followed by Warren Van Kampen, sophomore, in third place.

The 220-yard low hurdles were won by Marvin Jalving's first as he walked away with first. Bob Koop came in second and Earl Borr was third.

Senior Chester Alofs was top man in the 220 with Keith Bakes, sophomore, taking second and Billy Postma, a ninth grader, taking third.

The 880-yard run was topped by Robert Folkert, senior, in first place while Jason Krikke, junior, came in second and Eugene King, senior, took third.

Mayor Points to City's Wartime Responsibilities

Democracy Begins at Home, Geerlings Says in Annual Message

Mayor Henry Geerlings delivered the following annual message at common council's meeting Wednesday night:

Members of the Common Council and Citizens of Holland—

This is a time for daring thinking, and daring planning, and daring action. We are living in a day that is trying the souls of men. If ever there was a time for greatness, it is now. We are engaged in total war—total as to the world's surface, total as to population, total as to civilization itself. This is not merely a defensive war to beat back the Japs and the Nazis. It is true that actual conflict started through aggression by our enemies. But the import of this struggle is far greater. Two years ago Adolf Hitler said that there are two civilizations—his and the democratic; that they cannot exist in the same world; that one of them must crack. He was right. But it must be the Nazi world. It is only when we see this war as a revolution that we comprehend its staggering implications.

The right to think and speak our minds freely, the right to worship God as we choose, the right to be free men—these rights we thought were to be taken for granted. They are ridiculed by our enemies as weaknesses. In the Atlantic Charter the freedom from want was added. Opposed to all these we have the Gestapo, the arbitrary control of man by a ruthless barbarian state. Loss of this war would mean that democracy would perish to history for generations, yes for centuries to come. At stake in this war is everything that has made us America, everything that we live for, and are willing, thank God, to die for.

We won the last war, but we lost the peace. This time we must not break faith, either with those who lie in Flanders fields, or those who lie in the cause of civilization on the battlefields throughout the world. Nor must we break faith with the millions who will live, or the generations who will come after us, and whose destiny we hold. As the President has said this generation has a rendezvous with destiny. Probably never before in recorded time has each moment, yes each single moment, held more future history.

As municipal officials we have a special responsibility in war for democracy. For democracy begins at home, in our cities and towns. That is where we learn to use and enjoy our freedom and to practice self government. That is where we see it face to face. That is where we make it what it is. In the strength of our local government lies the future of our country. Democracy is a people's government, and the city is closest to the people. That means that you and I are closest to the people.

We are very fortunate to be living in a day and in an age which is dynamic; which is significant; which is the vital part of a tremendous destiny. The Chinese define the word crisis as being a dangerous opportunity. This definition applies to you and to me and every citizen. If we fail, we go back to the dark ages, all of us. If we win, as I believe we will, there will be stability and plenty and happiness for every individual. That is worth working and fighting for. The Chinese say other things worth repeating. They have a prayer, Oh God, save and protect this church, beginning with me. I take it that if 130 million people would change the words a little and say Oh God, save and preserve our country and the world of which I am a part, beginning with me.

War brings in its wake a disruption of the social life and traditions of any nation. It reaches into and disrupts the normal family life of nearly every household of the country. The Secretary of War has estimated that by the end of this year nine million men will be under arms. This means that many married men and probably some heads of families will be taken from their homes for service on the fighting front. In addition, our greatly expanded production program has resulted in wholesale shifts of population to new industrial centers. Both of these movements tend to break up the basic unit of our social system—the family.

Along with this weakening of family relationships is the tendency of morality and decency to crumble and disintegrate. Newspapers have recently reflected this trend in their stories of murder, robbery, violence and attack. Crime has taken an unusual increase. Thus we are at the present moment facing a serious threat to the principles of common decency which have been the backbone of our social system. It falls to our lot as community leaders to meet this problem and to overcome it in the same way that we are meeting and solving our production and manpower problems.

We all owe a double debt to the fighting men of America. We must keep our soldiers, sailors and marines supplied with adequate amounts of the materials of war, but we must also preserve the dignity and integrity of the family life of this nation. Our most valuable weapon is combating this problem lie in the churches, and in the social service agencies in our community. I am urging you and all our citizens therefore to support our churches in every possible way and those organizations which are fighting the battles of the home front. It will be a hollow victory for our soldiers and sailors and aircraft men and our coast guards if the way of life which they are fighting for to protect from the dictator nations has been destroyed by civilian negligence and indifference at home.

We are facing a serious and heavy obligation in the coming months. On our ability and ingenuity as community leaders we carry a large part of the responsibility for the safety and well-being of the lives of our young Americans. But I am confident that we all will give unstintingly of our time and energy to give the cooperation and weapons we must have to rid the world of oppression and fear.

Some day there will come an end to this world conflagration. The end may come suddenly, perhaps overnight just as it ended twenty-five years ago. There will be hundreds of workers employed in the manufacture of arms. A thousand men have left our city to enlist in the armed forces. We hope and pray that they may all return from the battle field. Is there any person rash enough to say that we must give no consideration to these men? The secretary of the Chamber of Commerce in a recent article in our local paper laid strong emphasis on the fact that we ought to make our plans now if we are to avert chaos.

Now planning does not mean that we have only one fixed scheme that can be followed. Planning means that we weigh all the possibilities and that we have provided a series of alternatives that will fit alternative situations. Some cities are going to look pretty sick when the war is over and will be faced with the problem of what we are going to do to maintain our present high level of prosperity. Can it be done through industrial conversion? I fervently pray that we can, but I think that some time must elapse before industry can reconvert to peacetime products. From time to time many projects have been discussed but as yet we have no definite program. There ought to be some concerted action. Some people have the notion that we should appeal to the Federal Government for aid. But that will be another WPA horse dressed up in a new blanket. This is simply another dole and when the boys come back from this war they do not want that. What they want is a chance to work.

As I see it it is a pretty good idea to keep power in the hands of the elected representatives of the people; where abuses of that power can be corrected at the polls. Maybe out of the confusion and abuses and red tape and waste and unwarranted interference with legitimate business and we have learned the value of local self government. Communities can control their affairs through the ballot box while it is difficult for a community to make its protest felt nationally. What is happening in rationing and price control is what we can expect when local self government is more and more curtailed and matters are more and more centralized in Washington. There are some who believe that counties and cities should pass out of existence and the whole country be run from Washington.

I can think of no greater catastrophe for the happiness and welfare of the people than to have local governments disappear. We would be entirely at the mercy of a far-off, impersonal, unselected, rambling, bureaucratic monstrosity in Washington which already wastes the time and money and destroys the democracy of the people. I have been quite alarmed during the past ten years at the ease with which we have allowed local authority to slip away from us in order to grasp some of the financial aid that the Federal Government extends.

After this war is over we ought to insist on a return of all the relinquished rights and a broader interpretation of the home rule prerogative that local affairs can be operated most economically, in true democratic fashion by properly elected and chosen public officials. Whenever the government steps into the picture, socialization will be the order of the day. We will lose our personal liberties. The only way to guarantee progress is to sustain free enterprise. We must preserve the right of men to forge ahead, to make new discoveries, to build new industries and expand payrolls. Failure to recognize these fundamental truths will result in servitude.

In the stress and the strain of an all-out struggle of total war, we are constantly looking, and properly so, with great concern toward the fighting front, and to hear our rightful praise and recognition upon those who have distinguished themselves in the actual fire of combat. It is fitting and necessary that we should do this. For the sacrifices which those gallant fighting men are making in this great struggle are far above our poor power to repay or emulate. But very often in our great concern over the ebb and flow of the battle line, we are prone to forget our tireless and patriotic soldiers on the home front, the thousands of men and women who comprise the civilian effort behind the war, and who devote untold hours of conscientious effort to their jobs—jobs which are the backbone of our civilian and military machinery, jobs which are the fundamental essentials of a full and unimpeded national war effort. I refer to those who comprise our selective service, our production, our civilian defense organization, and our rationing board.

In our city the civilian program has worked out splendidly. The work has been organized under numerous subcommittees. Provision is made for medical assistance, rescue groups, demolition squads, a warning system, regulation of lighting, restrictions, transportation, roads, electric and gas services, water supply, telephone, telegraph, and radio services. The auxiliary police, the auxiliary firemen and the air raid wardens are ready for any emergency.

Our citizens have responded 100 per cent. The work is all voluntary. They are giving everything they have to this work even their sons and daughters are giving everything they have in the military forces. The women, too, have been very active. The block leaders and consumer interest committees did a city-wide job. A weekly clothing clinic has been maintained where suggestions are given for remodeling clothes. They have assisted the Red Cross in filling clinics in surgical dressings, home nursing and staff assistants. They have been very helpful in arranging war bond booths at the theatres and the banks. They have assisted in the WAAC enrollment drive.

Posters and literature were placed in stores and public places and enlistments have been handled at the civilian defense office. Grocers have been contacted and supplied with leaflets which they have passed out to customers to aid in home salvage. Over a thousand certificates have been mailed to the families of Holland boys who are in the service. A word of appreciation is due the schools and the teachers who have given of their time and effort to pass out ration cards.

We are grateful to the boys and girls who have materially aided us in the various drives. In every one outstanding work has been done. All the drives have been very successful.

We are in the midst of a war bond drive. We are going to over-subscribe our quota. The sacrifices that are needed to win the war are apparent. The Treasury's appeals to buy war bonds, the government's pleas to conserve gas and rubber, the economies required to avoid inflation, the necessity of rationing many essential commodities—all these have become vital in our minds. Necessity has awakened us, not only to the size of the task before us, but to the fact that our future as a nation is at stake; and in characteristic fashion we are responding. This is the glory of democracy; that a man may vote as he will, speak as he will, vote as he will, and worship God in his own way; and in this hour of peril the greatest good of all is the strongest prompting of his heart.

For some reason, which seems without reason, each war brings its moral breakdown among the youth. More and more children tend to become delinquent. During the past year of the juveniles under 17 years sixteen are listed as larceny cases, 4 as delinquents and 3 furnishing liquor to minors. Parents seem to have gotten away from the biblical conception of stewardship. The home has become a weak spot in American life. The neglect of parental duty in the training of children has in a large measure brought about the breakdown of an untold number of homes. We ought to guard our homes. They need more attention than they have received in recent years. Breakers are ahead for our nation if we, for the sake of resisting a foreign foe, neglect our moral and spiritual defenses against the enemy within the gate.

It is very important that the churches of today should have something to say what kind of a world order we ought to have. They ought to act right now and not wait until this madness has run its course. It is the stern duty of the religious forces to insist that America write upon its war banners those ideals which activated its founders. Only if these forces have the courage and the intelligence to insist that America keep its purpose clean and clear, will religious values be enabled to play an active role in building the new world.

In closing may I urge every one not to relax our vigilance. There is more than one reason why Hitler might gamble on raiding American cities. It would lift the sagging morale of the German people, and second and more important to us, would be the military significance resulting from a raid which might cripple Michigan's war industries. There should not be the least apathy or scoffing by any Michigan resident that an air raid is impossible here. Michigan experts agree that it is entirely possible, and that should the bombers come Michigan would be a target. It can happen here and we must be ready.

I would not do my full duty if I failed to acknowledge the outstanding services of the members of our several boards. They have given unstintingly of their time. They deserve our praise. They are entitled to more consideration than they sometimes receive. We take a great many things for granted. We have reason to congratulate ourselves that this city has such a splendid working force who are giving their very best. I doubt if there is a community where there are so many loyal men and women who can be called upon to contribute to the well-being of our city.

A year ago five new aldermen took office. They took their responsibility seriously. The work was new to them but they quickly learned what was involved. They have measured up to their responsibility. There has been no shirking on their part. They have rendered splendid service. Tonight two of our group are retiring. We greatly appreciate the interest they have taken in their work. The council has had a busy year. Important decisions had to be made. Dr. Bruce Raymond and Mr. B. J. Arendshorst have made many sacrifices. They are busy men but they were always ready to give of their time, and their services have been valuable. They have worked hand in hand with us and in all our deliberations we have endeavored to give our city a wholesome administration. We have all benefited by their counsel.

Our genial city attorney, Mr. Clarence A. Lokker has been impartial in all decisions. He was ready at all times to give us the advice we needed. Time and time again knotty problems called for solutions and he gave us the solution. He is a man who does things, sees the opportunity for work, and not only begins a task, but completes it, no matter what the toll involved, or the pain, or the sacrifice.

I am deeply grateful to the Sentinel for their willingness to serve. Mr. French and Mr. Butler have been more than generous in their attitude toward the Defense Council. There have been a great many drives during the year. They have all been successful. The responses to these drives have revealed the unselfishness on the part of our citizens. On many occasions the appeals were lengthy but they were always placed in their entirety. Tonight we are entering upon another term of service. To the newly elected city attorney and the aldermen we extend our congratulations. It is only by cooperation that we will be able to render the best service.

Very cordially,
HENRY GEERLINGS

Dronkers, Who Survived Sinking of Carrier Lexington, Visiting Holland

Ensign Cornie Dronkers, who has served more than 28 years in the U. S. navy and who was aboard the Lexington when that aircraft carrier was sunk in the Coral sea battle last May 7 and who has since been attached to one of the new aircraft carriers, arrived in Holland Tuesday night to spend a few days with his mother, Mrs. John Dronkers, 10 West 18th St., and other relatives.

Absent from Holland for the past 17 years, Ensign Dronkers found the city greatly changed. He even thought an interurban still operated out of Holland, advising his relatives here that they would not need to meet him in Grand Rapids as he would come here by trolley.

In the Coral sea battle, Ensign Dronkers suffered wounds and spent three months in a hospital. For this he has been recommended for the Order of the Purple Heart.

He holds the following medals in addition to the forthcoming Order of the Purple Heart: Mexican Medal for services with the U. S. naval forces in Mexico; Victory Medal with four stars for service in World War I; Defense Medal with star for overseas service in the present war; American Medal for service in the present war; Asiatic Medal with four stars for four engagements with Japanese naval and air forces in the southwest Pacific including the attack on Lae and Salamaua, Tulagi, battle of Bougainville and the Coral sea battle; Atlantic Medal for recent service in the submarine zone of the Atlantic, and Good Conduct Medal with four stars for meritorious naval service.

He recently made the acquaintance of another Holland man on board the new carrier, Lieut. (jg) Mayo Hadden, Jr.

During his visit here, Ensign Dronkers will reside at the home of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Spriggs To Roller, 184 East Fifth St.

Ensign Dronkers who left Holland 28 years ago to join the navy was among the 92 per cent of the Lexington's personnel rescued when the 33,000-ton craft was sunk. It was the Lexington which Lieut. Edward O'Hare was helping defend when he alone shot down five of 18 Japanese bombers which were attacking the craft.

Dronkers joined the navy when he was 19 years old just after he had been graduated from Holland high school and a Grand Rapids business college.

He was a warrant officer in the supply corps and has been recommended for a full lieutenant's rank. Having sailed many thousands of miles and been in most all the countries there are to visit, Ensign Dronkers feels more at home in a foreign country than in his own.

Besides Mrs. To Roller, he has four other sisters in Holland, Mrs. John Slighter, Mrs. John A. Overway, Mrs. John Nyland and Mrs. Al Bouwman.

THE 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

Winner Take All!

There is one stark and simple fact about war which you had better get straight . . . and quickly, too
THERE IS NO SECOND PLACE IN A WAR—IT'S EITHER WIN OR LOSE!

This war is being fought for tremendous stakes . . .

...for your life and your liberty.

...for your church and your children.

...for your freedom and your future.

And it's WINNER TAKE ALL. Don't forget that for a minute.

The winner will dictate whether tomorrow you shall be a free citizen of a free world, or a helpless serf to a "master race."

The winner will dictate whether you shall live and prosper under the Four Freedoms, or toil hopelessly in the darkness of a "New Order."

The winner will dictate . . . because the winner takes all.

The winner takes all. All you own, all you hold dear.

The winner is being decided right now . . . today . . . this very minute . . . on battlefields all over the world. Will you stand idly by . . . or throw all your weight on our side?

The weight of mighty tanks and planes. The weight of thousands of guns and millions of shells. The weight of billions of dollars . . . 13 billions which your country asks you to lend during this Drive.

Your country wants to borrow every idle dollar you have—every dollar except what you need for the barest necessities of life.

You'll have to give up some luxury or comfort which was dear to your heart. You'll have to postpone some pleasure which you had been eagerly anticipating.

But what of it?

Your sons and brothers and husbands are dying out there . . . fighting your fight. Surely it is no sacrifice to lend your dollars while they are giving their lives.

They need your help. They need the weapons your money can buy. If one of the War Loan volunteers calls on you . . . greet him with open pocket-book. Remember, Uncle Sam's goal is 13 billion dollars in April.

Don't wait to be asked. Go to your nearest bank, investment dealer, broker, Post Office or issuing agency and lay your money on the line. Remember, it's an investment you're making—an investment that pays a good return and insures a happier future for you and your loved ones.

So lend up to the limit.

You'll sleep better for it.
