Levy Would Be $23.17 Per $1,000

City Council unveiled its proposed budget for the year 1966-67 at a regular meeting Wednesday calling for a total tax levy of $1,130,162.08, an increase of $206,163.65 over last year's levy of $923,998.43.

This figure would increase the tax rate about $3.54 per $1,000 assessed valuation, but $2.65 of the increase results from the sale of the $1.9 million sanitary sewer bonds which voters approved in April, 1965, to extend services to Holland Heights and the Lakeview area.

The general fund rate is up about 76 cents per $1,000 and the library fund about 12.6 cents, totaling less than 1 mill increase.

Assessed valuation is up this year $1696,632 for a total of $48,776,217, compared with $47,079,585 last year.

Total debt retirement listed in the budget this year is $226,000 or $133,000 more than last year's total of $93,000. This covers obligations on Civic Center, the 1955 hospital bond issue and the two sanitary sewer issues, part of the sewer obligation financed through the sewer service charge. Civic Center debt service this year is $40,000. This issue will be paid up next year with another $40,000 payment.

At the time the second sewer issue was approved in April, 1965, the voters were informed taxes would amount to 2 1/2 mills. The measure carried 3,493 to 1,809.

In a meeting with press representatives after the Council meeting, City Manager Herb Holt said salaries for city employees will be increased an average 10 per cent July 1, compared with a five per cent increase last year. This followed a study by the personnel officer of salaries in the area and surrounding cities, seeking to keep city pay consistent with pay in the area.

Some new programs are included in the new budget. One is the establishment of a Department of Juvenile Affairs as recommended by the Jaycees following a complete survey. The budget earmarks $25,000 for the year's program hiring two trained social workers and a secretary operating out of City Hall.

Plans call for putting the office in quarters currently occupied by the city auditor and moving the city auditor's office to the conference room area on the third floor. The new program is contingent upon Council's passing an ordinance for child protection services with emphasis on prevention rather than correction.

Another new service would be an additional person for the Department of Environmental Health as a housing inspector to enforce the existing housing code on a routine and systematic fashion in an attempt to reverse the trend of deterioration of housing in the older sections of the city.

Total general fund expenditures in the new budget list $1,800,319.26 compared with last year's total of $1,628,320.80. Among the revenues is $300,000 from the Board of Public Works as the city's share of electrical utility profits.

There are separate budgets for the Board of Public Works, Holland Hospital and Windmill Island, all of which operate on their own funds. The $3 million bond issue for the proposed new hospital addition is financed through hospital revenues and is not reflected in the debt service in the city budget.

The Library Board also has its own budget, but its share of city support is reflected in the general fund budget.

Other changes call for a truck with an aerial tower and bucket for the Park Department to replace tree climbing. The conveyance, taller than the bucket truck of the Board of Public Works, will be convenient in tree trimming and in the elm tree removal program.

Nine new cruisers, eight of them replacements, are listed for the police department. There is no entry for a new police station since Council is awaiting a report on a space utilization study. A new police station likely would involve a bond issue.

The city assessor's office is continuing its reappraisals on residential property in an effort to equalize assessments between properties in old and new sections of the city.

Four scheduled elections are an outlay of $9,850 which includes one more voting machine. There were no elections this year.

A summary of the proposed

Hope Group Views Poverty Situation

Eleven Hope College students were in New York City during the spring recess to get a firsthand view of a poverty situation and the causes behind it as well as to see what church and social organizations are doing to alleviate the problems.

The students spent the week in East New York co-sponsored by the college and the Board of North American Missions of the Reformed Church in America.

Discussions were held with the Rev. Malcolm Evans and Jack Jenner, who were in charge of arranging the stay, with the Rev. Don De Young of Elmendorf Reformed Church in Harlem, Alex Efthim, coordinator of Mobilization for Youth, Miss Ellie Ludvigsen, social worker for New York City Youth Board; and other ministers and youth workers.

One of the activities was assisting with the distribution of leaflets to publicize a rally in memory of a father of 10 children, who had been murdered by three teenage dope addicts.

One of the results of the rally was that of sending proposals to fight poverty in East New York's stricken ghettos.

Participating were Margie Hildebrand, Sheboygan, Wis.; Joyce Hickel, Gary, Ind.; Hans Vogelaar, Rochester, N.Y.; Linda DenBesten, So. Holland, Ill.; Shirley Lawrence, Cincinnati, Ohio; Adrian Slikkers, South Haven; Jean Schretonboer, Long Beach, Calif.; Nate Bowles, Newark, N.J.; Doug Rozendal, San Francisco, Calif.; Marty Howell, Rochester, N.Y.; Wes Michaelson, Park Ridge, Ill.; and Miss Beula Kampen, faculty advisor.

A 16-year old Grand Rapids juvenile who was also involved was referred to Kent County authorities, and released to his parents.

Ottawa sheriff's deputies said the boys entered a cottage on Lakeshore Dr. owned by Mrs. Lowell Palmer of Grand Rapids without Mrs. Palmer's permission. They entered the building by removing a pane of glass in a window on the north side of the cottage.

Ottawa sheriff's deputies arrested the youths after a deputy while on patrol made a check of the license number of a car in the driveway of the cottage. The registration of the car and the name of the owner of the cottage did not match, and the deputy checked and found the youths inside the cottage.

Funds Needed For Sewers

Holland may have to seek federal funds or float a half-million dollar bond issue if proposed sanitary sewers are to be completed here, City Council was informed Wednesday night.

The Board of Public Works revealed that it had rejected three bids on the northeast sewer because figures were far above the estimated cost. This is part of the program financed by the $1.9 million bond issue of April, 1965.

The board said it would study all aspects of the case in an effort to reach a solution, but felt additional funds either from new bond issues or from federal aid would be the only answer.

A wide range of items was covered by City Council at its regular meeting Wednesday night in City Hall.

By a vote of 7 to 1, Council approved a beer-wine and SDM license for Ottogun Inn Inc., with Councilman Eugene Vande Vusse dissenting. Action was taken following a report by City Manager Herb Holt in which communications from the sanitarian and police chief indicated no objections. The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has requested Council action on the request a few weeks ago.

Councilman Richard W. Smith brought up the question of prohibiting Sunday sales and at the close of the meeting, Council passed a simple resolution drafted by City Attorney Gordon Cunningham prohibiting such Sunday sales.

Cunningham had explained that Sunday sales are prohibited in Ottawa county but not in Allegan county. Since Ottogun Inn will be constructed just south of 32nd St. on US-31 bypass in Allegan county, the measure could be resolved by either a resolution or an ordinance.

Councilman Bertal Slagh said David Van Omen, one of the backers of Ottogun Inn (Holiday Inn) had indicated the operators did not plan to operate a bar on Sunday.

Council also approved a request from John L. Morgan for transfer of ownership of the 1965 tavern and SDM licenses with dance permit at Sea-Way Bar at 100 West Seventh St. from Irwin D. Atman. Request for action had come from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

Council granted licenses to Holland Tulip Time Festival Inc. for the following entertainment: Windmills of Holland, Shrine Band Show, Band Festival, Tulip Time Varieties, baton twirling contest, flower show, Heritage of the Homeland, and movies.

County Sets New Record For Budget

GRAND HAVEN — The Ottawa county Board of Supervisors Wednesday adopted a record budget of $1,536,485.91 for 1967, which is over $100,000 more than the 1966 budget of $1,430,480 adopted last October for 1966.

The new budget may be pared down at the official budget session next October since the total will depend on millage allocated for county operations by the allocation board which started its annual meetings last Monday. The board will seek 4.1 mills from the allocation board.

Several changes in the budget were made Wednesday. The board added $60,000 for county roads and increased the civil defense budget from $13,365 to $17,265.

The 1967 budget lists a tentative overall 6 per cent boost in salaries for employees, plus $15,000 for a new equalization department listing a salary scale for director of $8,506 to $10,000. Applications are being received for the new position to be filled by Jan. 1.

The board transferred $46,614.28 of surplus funds from the general fund derived from fees in county offices. The sum will go to the building improvements fund. Also transferred from fees was $22,771.24 for the child foster care fund of probate court. This represents the 1965 deficit.

The board approved expenditure of $24 a month for piped-in music service for the new county building to be played on the intercom system.

The board set May 24 as date for an election in Coopersville and part of Polkton township for incorporating that area into a home rule city. Petitions had been filed with the board March 10.

The board voted to hang the large picture of Dr. A. C. Van Raalte of Holland, and Rix Robinson and William M. Ferry of Grand Haven in the large meeting room on the first floor of the county building and to give it to the Tri-Cities Historical Society when it has room for it in a museum.

A request for a $5,000 storage room adjacent to the jail was referred to the improvements committee.

On recommendation of the road committee, the board voted to lease seven acres of land from Spring Lake village near the new bridge on M-104 for 25 years. The area will be improved over a three-year period, and a cleanup is planned in 1967.

'Jane Eyre' Challenges Christian High Cast

A good performance of a wordy drama was given by the Holland Christian High School seniors Thursday night as they presented "Jane Eyre" in the Holland High School auditorium. A crowd of 600 saw the show which was directed by Marinus Pott.

Jane Eyre, a young girl who becomes the governess of Adele Varnes, ward of Edward Rochester. She falls in love with Rochester but runs away from him and his estate, Thornfield Hall, when it is revealed that Rochester has a wife who is living, but insane. Jane goes to work for Diana Rivers and her brother St. John. She agrees to marry St. John to travel and get the excitement she desires when she insists she hears Rochester calling her and runs back to him. She finds his wife was killed in a fire, leaving Rochester blind, but free to marry her.

A basic set was used for the interiors of Thornfield Hall and the Rivers' house, with the fireplace and various props being changed to change the atmosphere of the houses.

Linda Schrottenboer played Jane Eyre to the hilt, showing the spunk of the young girl and she was not afraid to run the gamut of emotions which were needed for a realistic portrayal. She used a slight English accent which came out nicely in some of her more forceful scenes.

Miss Schrottenboer varied the tempo of the scenes and was especially effective in a scene in which Rochester's wife is brought onstage.

Edward Rochester, played by Gary Smith, was a mild-tempered man who could not bring himself to accept Jane as a servant, but rather desired her for a wife. Although he handled himself well onstage, as did the entire cast, at times he did not attain the feeling of closeness which Rochester had for Jane. He made his part come more to life as the blind master of Thornfield.

Betty Vreeman appeared as the housekeeper, Mrs. Fairfax. Her most effective scene was in the third act when she told of the fire which destroyed the mysterious west wing of the house. Carol Dyke as the mischievous Adele employed a French accent, giving life to her part.

Diana Rivers, although a small role, was played well by Carla Gebben, who used good judgment when speaking of the problems the Rivers family had, and not allowing it to turn into a self-pitying part.

COUNTY DREAM PARK PLAN — A "dream forest park" for Ottawa County received encouragement from the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors this week when they voted unanimously to have the county road commission explore the possibility of securing federal funds to help develop the $724,700 project. The arboretum would be at Hager Park in Hudsonville. The architect's drawing shows the Study Center in the middle of the sketch with amphitheatre to the left and raised topographical map of the United States at upper right. At upper left is astronomy observatory. The park would be the first of its kind in the nation and would contain greenhouses, farm yard, meeting rooms, band shell, astronomy center, classrooms, baseball diamond, all trees native to the county, hiking trails, gardens, picnic area and ample parking. The park area is located two miles north of Hudsonville at Bauer and 28th. Titus Hager of Grand Rapids donated 55 acres to the county and offered another 25 acres of land adjacent to the park if something extra could be developed. The plan was drawn up and Hager, who was thrilled at the idea, suggested placing a sign containing the first verse of Psalm 19 at the entrance of the park. "The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament showeth His handiwork."

DUTCH ELM DISEASE AND SPRAYING

Over the country there are thousands upon thousands of dead elm trees.

We in the city of Holland are in the process of doing some spraying of city trees. We have received some questions about the kind of product that the city is using.

We have been told that the product we are using is much cheaper than some others. We do not feel we can judge concerning this program. We had three elm trees that it was necessary to remove because of the Dutch Elm disease.

We have received this bit of information from the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Efforts to limit the spread of Dutch elm disease have been greatly assisted by the cooperation of thousands of Michigan citizens in removing infected trees, according to Director B. Dale Ball of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

During the past twelve months, more than 20,000 tree owners have received notices that they had infected trees to remove. Director Ball said, "Only a handful failed to comply promptly," he added. The department's Plant Industry Division is charged with state-wide enforcement of the Dutch elm disease regulation.

Many communities with a serious Dutch elm disease problem have established control areas. Disease treatment is in accordance with recommendations of plant scientists at Michigan State University. By regulation, owners of dead elms in these control areas are served a removal notice by the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Unhealthy trees are tested at the department's laboratory. If proven to have Dutch elm disease, a similar removal notice is served.

"Only a few dozen of the more than 20,000 who received notices have had to be reminded of their responsibility via a warrant," said C. A. Boyer, chief of the department Plant Industry Division, "and the action has been 100 per cent effective. The few court cases have resulted in removal of the infected trees."

We wonder just how long it will take to remove all of the diseased and dead trees over the state. We hope that spraying will save the elms that are still living in our area.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, April 24
Jeroboam Misuses Religion
I Kings 12:25-33; 13:33-34
By C. P. Dame

Most politicians like to keep their jobs. Many years ago, an ambitious man, named Jeroboam became the first king of a new nation. As soon as he got to be king he planned how to retain the throne. In doing this he hurt himself, his family and his nation.

1. Selfish leadership is costly. Israel had rebelled against the house of David. Only two tribes remained loyal. Jeroboam knew that the temple in Jerusalem was a drawing card and that the people over whom he ruled would go to Jerusalem to worship and eventually return to their former loyalty. He took steps to prevent this.

The new king established two places of worship, one in Dan in the north, one in the south in Bethel. In these chapels he placed golden calves which represented God, and urged the people to worship there. It was a violation of God's law to have worship in any place but that which was appointed by God.

Making golden calves to represent God was a transgression of the second commandment. In addition the king made priests from the common people who were not of the sons of Levi. This was wrong. And besides all of this the king changed the date of the Feast of the Tabernacles, which was a harvest feast. The king made all these changes with one goal in mind—to keep the people loyal to him. How selfish he was!

2. Backsliding usually is gradual. The people yielded to the sin of compromise. Churches are tempted today to accept compromises. Jeroboam accepted a worldly policy. Today churches are told that by striving for bigness they will become a power — therefore merge and form a big organization. The decline of the new nation began when Jeroboam introduced radical changes in Israel's religion and that is why he has become known as the man "who did sin, and who made Israel to sin" by leading a nation away from the God who had revealed Himself to the nation.

Prominent people who have positions in life exert an influence upon others either for good or for evil. In the church, a pastor, a Sunday School teacher, an elder or a lay leader touch the lives of others and hence add or subtract from these lives. Jeroboam tampered with the true religion.

Today there are spiritual leaders who are tampering with historic Christianity. This is a grievous responsibility of spiritual leaders. God holds them responsible for their ministries. Some people still lead others to sin, and some inspire others to consecrated Christian living.

Today there are Jeroboams at work. Some tamper with the Bible. They substitute their own notions and ideas and theories for the revealed truth. Lovers of the holy faith should be on guard and resist compromise, worldly policies and dangerous changes.

The second speaker, Miss Mae Mast is kept busy at the Takum Christian Hospital where they have from 700 to 800 outpatients. Besides this, there are 140 patients in the hospital. From a total of 11,000 population in 1950 it has grown to 200,000. Because of their constant moving, people in this area have lost a sense of God's reality, and have also lost a sense of fellowship with each other.

Allegan Resists Merger Plan Of Welfare, Social Aid Units

ALLEGAN—It's an even-money bet that Allegan county will retain an unmerged social welfare department and Bureau of Social Aid right down to the July 1, 1967, statutory deadline.

In the latest of several appearances before the board of supervisors here last week, representatives of the State Department of Social Services apparently failed to convince board members of the advantages of merging the county welfare department with the state-operated Bureau of Social Aid before the integration is required by law next year.

Robert Toot, field representative of the state department, told supervisors that Allegan county is among a dwindling number which have thus far refused to effect the merger on a voluntary basis.

"Bait" for the voluntary merger is increased state and federal contributions to local welfare costs but, as one Allegan county supervisor pointed out, "we're still so old-fashioned that we believe federal and state tax dollars come out of our pockets just like county tax dollars."

An informal survey of supervisors indicated that most favored "retaining local control of the welfare department as long as we can under the law."

Toot told the board that administrative costs of the merged department would be paid 15 per cent by the county and 85 per cent by the state. On the basis of the merger plan prepared by the state for the county, this would be a savings to the county in administrative salaries of approximately $4,000 a year. Total salaries for the integrated department would be $119,767 of which nearly $101,000 would come from state and federal sources.

Toot indicated that federal contributions to the program would actually result in a savings for the state as well, since the state's costs for operating the Bureau of Social Aid now are $14,000 a year greater than they would be under a merger.

He said virtually all of the present employees of the county welfare department would qualify for civil service jobs with the merged department.

Robert Hileski, present director of the county department, has qualified for the post of office manager under the merger plan. Toot also said there are eight candidates for the top administrative post which, he said, would be filled by the county board of social welfare. Oliver C. White, present director of the Bureau of Social Aid, is among the candidates.

The table of organization for the integrated department also calls for two supervisors, a field staff of 11 public welfare workers, six typists and one accounting clerk, plus an office manager.

Questioned by board members, Toot admitted the merged departments would have two more employees than at present when they are operating separately. He also agreed that the increase would be in office personnel, not in the field staff where, he admitted, additional workers are badly needed.

Toot said that it had been informally agreed to allow Hileski to "moonlight" for one day a week as administrator of the county medical care facility, under the merger plan, would remain under the direct control of the county.

The welfare department's first quarterly report for this year showed direct relief costs at lowest point in many years. Disbursements during the first three months totaled less than $50,000, with nearly half of that amount going for nursing home care for indigents. Cash relief during the period totaled only $80.

Okay Bigger Phone Area In Zeeland

The Michigan Public Service Commission has authorized Michigan Bell Telephone Co. to enlarge the base rate area of its Zeeland exchange in Ottawa County and to offer better grades of service in place of the present two-party business service and four-party residence service.

The present Zeeland base rate area will be enlarged by adding about 1½ miles in areas situated immediately around the present base rate area.

"Residential growth in these areas has developed to the point where it is in the public interest to provide urban classes of telephone service without the application of rural zone charges," Peter B. Spivak, chairman of the commission, said in announcing the MSPC decision.

Customers with urban classes of service in the base rate area addition and in outlying rural territory will experience a total reduction of $2,091 in monthly charges because of the elimination of rural zone charges. Rural customers in the area being added to the base rate area will be upgraded to two-party service at no increase in rates.

At the same time, the offering of one-party business service to replace two-party business service, and the offering of one-party and two-party residence service in place of four-party service will increase rates slightly for present two-party business and four-party residence customers. Total increase for these customers will be $1,512. Overall effect will be an annual decrease of $579.

Zeeland Council Approves Budget

ZEELAND—City Council Monday approved a proposed city budget of $258,933.62 for 1966-67 which is $8,866.38 lower than this year's budget.

A final budget will be approved at the May 2 council meeting following a public hearing on the proposed budget. The hearing will be held at 7 p.m. A copy of the proposed budget is available for residents to read at the city clerk's office in City Hall.

Budget Officer Leon Van Harn said the budget is lower this year because of lower estimated surpluses this year. In 1965 there was a surplus of about $35,000 while the estimated surplus this year will be about $5,000.

The total to be collected through city taxes is $131,771.25. This is a $16,991.40 increase over the amount collected this year, but there will be no increase in taxes, Van Harn said.

The increase will be made up for by the increase of $835,350 in assessed valuation this year. Much of the increase in valuation came from the four newly annexed areas of the city. The assessed valuation for 1966 is $3,784,750.

The tax level remains at the 15-mill level again this year.

The rest of the budget will be provided for from state revenues and the surplus. The total is $127,162.37, Van Harn said.

Major decreases in the proposed budget are in the street department fund down $14,700 to a total of $82,656.21, and in the City Hall budget which is down $2,550 to a total of $10,575.

The budget for the police department is up $4,400 to a total of $35,412, and the elections budget is up $1265.00 to a total of $2,515.

The council also approved replacing two engines in the city's power plant as recommended by the Board of Public Works. One 250-kilowatt engine will be replaced with a remanufactured unit capable of producing 1,360 kilowatts. Another 250-kilowatt engine will be replaced with a new 250-kilowatt unit capable of running on either gas or oil. The present unit runs only on gas. The total cost for the replacement of the two engines is $175,500. The money will come from existing electric utility funds.

In other action: Councilmen Edward Nagelkirk and Howard Stephenson elected April 4 were sworn in by City Attorney Hannes Meyers, Jr. They replace councilmen Henry Lokers and John Smallegan who did not run for reelection.

Calvin Faber was reelected as mayor pro tem. Mayor Frank Hoogland was reappointed to the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors.

The council approved the installation of three mercury vapor street lights. The lights will be installed at Roosevelt Ave. and Jefferson St., Roosevelt Ave. and Woodward St., and Roosevelt Ave. and Colonial St. The city and Holland Township will each pay half the cost of installing the lights.

Vocational School Seen for County

GRAND HAVEN — Recommendations leading to a central school for technical vocational training on the high school level were approved at a dinner meeting in the new Junior High School Monday night attended by 95 persons from the area representing Boards of Education and school administrators.

The recommendations were outlined in an extensive technical-vocational survey carried on not only in Ottawa county but also in Hamilton and Fennville districts.

The program calls for immediate appointment of an advisory committee and hiring a full time administrator to direct planning and building and develop curriculum offerings. The committee also would recommend a site for such a central training school.

Based on a one-mill tax levy, the area involved could provide $370,000 a year. The area has 107,000 inhabitants with 35,000 children enrolled in public and non-public schools through the 12th grade.

The curriculum would be geared to high school youths preparing for employment and those who need more training, adults who already are employed but need more training, persons with handicaps who need special programs, and adults who wish to upgrade their training for promotion.

The committee will study costs and equipment for the center, generally in terms of accommodating 1,000 students on a part-time basis.

The survey was prepared by Donald Gebraad who heads the cooperative program in Holland and Gene Roth who heads the program in Grand Haven. The survey was carried on by federal funds under the Vocational Act of 1963.

A tour of the new building followed. The meeting was sponsored by the Ottawa County Intermediate school district.

C.J. Smith Is Elected Mayor For Allegan

Council contributions during Mailla's term of office include the modernization and extension of airport facilities amounting to a virtually new airport for Allegan, extensive water and sewer surveys, construction of a new $100,000 fire hall and marked progress toward downtown redevelopment with designation of assessment district and purchase of certain downtown properties needed for the renewal project.
