County To Loan Funds To Polkton

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa County Commissioners, after considerable discussion Tuesday, agreed to loan $8,910 to Polkton township for removal of dead cattle from a farm and gave $9,000 to the Department of Social Services for a sheltered workshop such as Kandu Industries.

Commissioners agreed to loan Polkton township the $8,910 which was the cost to remove 219 dead cattle and bury them at a site near Kalkaska. The cattle on the farm of Gerald Woltjer near Coopersville were alleged to have been contaminated with PBB and Woltjer shot the animals to death.

A show cause hearing in Circuit Court last week declared them a public health hazard, enabling the township and county to become responsible for their removal.

The loan was made with the agreement that the township would pay the county back and it was speculated that the township might have to recover its money through a tax sale of the property.

Commissioners were told Woltjer is already three years behind in property taxes and collection of the loan could take three more years under the delinquent tax laws.

Commissioners agreed the actions taken by the sheriff's department and township in removing the cattle were necessary but wondered whether the township could have obtained the funding from sources other than the county.

County finance chairman Eunice Bareman said townships were forbidden to borrow money from private sources.

Sheriff Bernard Grysen said early estimates of the cost of removal and burial of the 219 head ranged to $18,000 but said the estimate was trimmed to the actual cost of $8,910 because private haulers were used and the Farm Bureau, which leases the Kalkaska burial site from the state, charged only $5,000. Deputies used $350 in overtime pay.

Amid charges of "laundering" funds, commissioners voted eight to three to amend the Department of Social Services budget with an additional $9,000 and "suggested" the added funds be used for a "sheltered workshop."

Commissioners had attempted to direct the funds to Kandu Industries in Holland and Grand Haven, which sought the funds for a matching grant from the State Department of Social Services which administers federal grant monies, but were told use of revenue sharing funds for a match with other federal funds were illegal.

A way around was to increase the county's Social Services budget by $9,000 and suggest it be used for a sheltered workshop with no direction.

Commissioner Raymond Vander Laan charged the action was "clearly a subterfuge. You all know where the money is going and if we can't include that fact for the use, then I cannot vote for it."

Vander Laan and commissioners John Langeland and Herbert Wybenga voted against the motion.

Later Vander Laan asked that Kandu provide commissioners with a financial statement since the organization was operating with an $82,000 grant from the Mental Health Department and CETA funds and now funds from the Department of Social Services, all of which amounted to public monies.

The funds from interest on revenue sharing monies, when applied to a matching grant, will be used to subsidize 45 clients at Kandu.

Erosion Is Seen Solved Grand Haven

GRAND HAVEN — The U.S. Corps of Engineers apparently is licking the beach erosion problem at the north end of Grand Haven State Park on Lake Michigan.

Col. James Hays, district engineer, and Ross Kittleman, in charge of the Grand Haven depot, called for a press conference aboard the hopper dredge, Hains, Monday and took a group of newsmen on a cruise on the lake to demonstrate the department's "beach nourishing" program.

The annual project started last week and will continue until April 19, when the Hains leaves for an annual dredging stint at Holland Harbor.

Unpolluted dredgings from outside the Grand Haven pier are sucked into the big dredge and deposited on the Grand Haven beach. One official said about 30,000 square yards of white beach sand will have been deposited by the time the 1976 dredging project at the local harbor is completed.

Hays said the program is a three-way program, between his department, Grand Haven City Council and the Michigan DNR.

City dozers are shoving the sand down to the water's edge, where the wave action is removing the sand south, building up the beach around the Ranney well system.

The project is working out satisfactorily, Kittleman said, because the Bil Mar beach building, threatened with destruction two years ago by cakes of ice, now is protected by a wider beach. This feature was clearly viewed from the deck of the Hains, as it took the newsmen for a sweep out into the lake. The nourishing program started in 1972 after rising lake water had uncovered much of the water intake system serving Grand Haven city from the Ranney Collectors at the park.

Under the flood control act of 1946, the corps is authorized to take action to construct emergency bank protection work to prevent flood damage to public structures. In May of 1972, the local city council took action to request aid from the corps through a resolution and since that time, up to last week, annual projects have resulted in placing of 100,000 cubic yards of material at the beach.

In 1972 alone, 35,220 cubic yards of clean sand were deposited on the beach, saving the exposed pipeline on the beach which is part of the Ranney system. The Ranney system provides two-thirds of the city's drinking water.

Other areas may benefit by the plan, said the Colonel.

Two Arraigned For Entering a Home

JENISON — Daniel Robrahn, and Randall Lee Nylaan, both 17 and from Jenison, demanded examination in Grand Haven District court Monday to charges of breaking into a residence. Neither furnished $500 bond and each was held in the Ottawa County jail.

Ottawa County deputies said Ron Holiday returned home Sunday at 9:55 a.m. to find someone had entered his home. The two youths and a juvenile were taken into custody. The juvenile was referred to probate court.

Restocking of Lake Macatawa and Lake Michigan with game fish moved ahead Tuesday when an estimated 12,000 rainbow trout were planted in the channel at Holland State Park by the Department of Natural Resources.

In addition an estimated 50 pounds of white bass were planted in Lake Macatawa while others were placed in ponds at the Holland Fish and Game Club for breeding.

Conservation officer James Bowerman said brown trout and lake trout were expected to be planted in Lake Michigan later this spring.

The fish plantings are part of a five-year program to bring game fishing back in Lake Macatawa after attempts the past two years to kill off carp and shad fish in the lake.

Bowerman said the fish kill attempts appeared to be successful but added the carp and shad fish will return but it was hoped the game fish could multiply and keep the shad fish growth down.

An additional fish kill was planned later this year in the area of Windmill Island but no dates were set, Bowerman said.

The rainbows planted Tuesday were six inches long and Bowerman said they were expected to reach catchable size within one year and full size in two years. They were reared at the Wolf Lake hatchery.

Bowerman said 80 per cent of the rainbow were expected to survive.

The white bass, Bowerman said, was an experiment and he hoped they would reproduce and survive in Lake Macatawa. More plantings of game fish are expected in Lake Macatawa in the next several years.

Funds for the fish plantings are from the sale of fishing licenses.

Other rainbows were planted at Saugatuck and in the Grand Haven area.

M-21 Mishap In Jenison Kills Woman

JENISON — Mary Jo Patchin, 41, of Grand Rapids, was killed Monday in a car-train collision at a crossing on School St. near M-21.

Ottawa County deputies said her car was westbound on M-21 and turned right onto School St. when struck by the 61-car Chessie System freight train at 10:04 a.m. today. She was pronounced dead at the scene.

Deputies said the car was dragged 866 feet along the tracks before coming to rest. It was the sixth traffic fatality of 1976 compared to four reported a year ago.

Meijer Markets Tests for PBB

GRAND RAPIDS — Meijer Super Markets, Inc., today said traces of PBB were not acceptable in any product sold by Meijer and steps have been taken to eliminate sources of supplies containing PBB.

Meijer officials said tests performed by suppliers and the Michigan Department of Agriculture show that the milk sold in the stores contained no traces of PBB during the past year.

Suppliers have been and will continue to be required to submit written proof that products sold to Meijer contain no PBB. In addition periodic independent testing will be increased on dairy products, meat and eggs.

BATTLE BLAZE — Firemen attempt to contain flames that burned out a three or four story cottage in the Macatawa Hills Saturday. The wood frame residence of Charles G. Halbeisen, 2426 Moksaba Trail, was burned out with a loss estimated at $75,000. No injuries were reported and firemen from Graafschap, Park township and Holland city prevented flames from damaging other cottages and homes in the area. The cause of the fire was not determined. Firemen using booster pumps forced water through 2½ inch lines from Lake Macatawa near Jesiek's up Moksaba Trail to the top of the hill and the fire scene. (Sentinel photo by Mark Copier)

Fire Burns Out Four-Story Cottage

Macatawa Home Ruined

Firemen using booster pumps to bring Lake Macatawa water to the top of the Macatawa Hills, battled a fire that burned out a large residence on Moksaba Trail Saturday afternoon and prevented the spread to other cottages and homes in the hills.

Ruined was the three or four story residence of Charles G. Halbeisen, 2426 Moksaba Trail with a loss estimated by Graafschap fire chief Clarence Elders at between $60,000 and $75,000.

Elders said the fire was reported at 11:45 a.m. Saturday and was believed to have started in the southeast corner of the basement where a furnace, hot water heater and electric pump were located. The cause of the fire was not determined.

Elders said the Halbeisens were away at the time and a neighbor reported hearing a window break and spotted flames in the basement area. Elders said flames raced into the upper floors of the wood frame building and burned out the interior rooms but flames did not break through the roof of the main section.

Graafschap firemen were assisted by units from Park township and Holland City.

A 2½ inch line was put down Moksaba Trail to Lake Macatawa at the bottom of the hill where a pumper truck was located at Jesiek's and forced water to a booster pumper halfway up the hill which pumped it to the top and the fire scene. Elders said the 2½ inch line fed other pumps at the top of the hill and a 1,000 gallon tank.

The structure was located west of what is known as Perry's Circle and was referred to as the Carousel Cottage, Elders said.

It was the first major cottage fire in the Macatawa Hills in recent years, Elders said. He credited assistance from Park and Holland fire departments and lack of strong winds with being able to contain the fire to the damaged cottage.

Little damage was reported to other structures in the area. Firemen remained at the scene about four hours.

No injuries were reported but the Halbeisens said today the family cat perished in the fire. Spectators were crowding the narrow roads leading to the hill top today and creating traffic difficulties. One of the family's bicycles was reported missing today.

West Ottawa Turns Down Millage

Voters in the West Ottawa School District narrowly defeated a 20.4 millage request by a vote of 1,170 no to 944 yes for a total of 2,114.

There are approximately 8,900 registered voters in the district. School officials said the millage vote and subsequent proposals would probably be discussed at the next regular monthly meeting of the West Ottawa Board of Education slated Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The board had requested the operating millage for two years with the levy equaling the 1974 tax base.

Fuentes was bound to Circuit Court following his preliminary examination in District Court Wednesday and was released on bond.

Holland police said the seven-month old child was taken to Holland Hospital Dec. 15 with head injuries and transferred to Blodgett Memorial Hospital in Grand Rapids where she died Dec. 19.

Following investigation police said they obtained a warrant charging Fuentes with manslaughter in the child's death. Police allege Fuentes dropped the infant on the floor of the home. Fuentes had said the infant fell from his arms while he was attempting to quiet her.

Arrest Clears Area Break-Ins

Douglas Paul Streur, 19, of 147 South 160th Ave., demanded examination in District Court Monday to charges of breaking into the Speak Easy restaurant, 2320 Ottawa Beach Rd., and was released on $1,000 bond.

Streur was arrested Sunday after the break-in was reported and Ottawa County and Holland police detectives said his arrest cleared up at least seven other break-ins in Holland, four in the county and two in Saugatuck - Douglas area.

Ottawa County detectives said $25 in cash was missing from the Speak Easy break-in where entry was gained by breaking in a side door.

Holland police said his arrest cleared break-ins reported at The Office Tavern, Sherri's Coffees, North End Tavern, Frank's service station at 17th St., and Ottawa Ave., Immanuel Baptist church and the Central Wesleyan church.

Truck Collides With
Unit Along I-196;
Virtually Disintegrates

FENNVILLE — One person was killed and 13 others injured when their motor home and a semi-trailer truck collided along I-196 a mile north of M-89 Sunday at 1:30 a.m. and virtually disintegrated, Allegan County deputies said.

Wreckage of the motor home was strewn along an estimated 100 feet of the southbound expressway and was taken away in pieces in a pickup truck after the accident.

The dead and injured were returning to the St. Joseph area after spending an evening in the Holland area square dancing, authorities said.

Killed was Annette Bird, 36, of St. Joseph. Deputies said her body was found beneath some of the motor home wreckage.

Injured and admitted to Holland Hospital and listed in "fair" condition were Nancy Vander Veen, 39, of St. Joseph, wife of the driver of the motor home, and Doris Waldo, 52, of Benton Harbor.

Admitted to Holland Hospital and listed in "good" condition today were Glennis Copeland, 43, of Coloma; Irwin Copeland, 46, Coloma; Veda Kelly, 55, Coloma; and Pamela Jones, 25, of St. Joseph.

Treated in Holland Hospital and released were Richard Vanderveen, 43, of St. Joseph, driver of the motor home and James Bird, 37, of St. Joseph, husband of the dead woman.

Treated in Douglas Community Hospital and released were Walter Ishmael, 41, of Coloma, owner of the motor home; his wife, Betty, 43; Alan Drees, 24, of St. Joseph, and his wife, Jennifer, 24, and Leland Kelly, 50, of Coloma. Ishmael is a square dance caller.

The truck driver, Freddy Padgett, 32, of Elmira, was not reported injured.

Allegan county deputies said both vehicles were southbound on I-196 when the semi apparently attempted to pass the motor home. The motor home apparently crossed the centerline as the truck approached and was clipped by the truck, deputies said.

The motor home and truck cab veered to the right and rolled off the right side of the roadway. The truck was empty. Deputies said the motor home rolled over, spilling the occupants and breaking apart. Some of the victims were found under the wreckage.

"It looked like a bomb exploded in the thing," said Allegan County Deputy Ken Giles.

Ambulances from Holland, Saugatuck and South Haven brought the injured to hospitals. The Holland fire department rescue unit assisted as did police from Saugatuck, Douglas, Holland and deputies from Ottawa County and Allegan County and State Police from South Haven.

Fire units from Fennville stood by the scene.

Traffic along southbound I-196 was diverted around the accident scene.

Deputies said the semi trailer truck was from the Kitchen Farms and was enroute to Nebraska for a load of irrigation equipment.

SCATTERED WRECKAGE — Debris from a motor home that broke apart following a collision early Sunday with a semi-trailer truck is scattered along the shoulder of southbound I-196 north of M-89 in Allegan County. One person was killed and 13 others in the motor home were injured. Allegan county deputies said the vehicle virtually disintegrated and some of the injured were buried beneath the wreckage. The injured were taken to hospitals in Holland and Douglas. All were from the St. Joseph area and were returning in the motor home from an evening of square dancing in the Holland area. OARC Group Finishes Fund Raising Project

Students at the Ottawa Area Center in connection with the Ottawa Association for Retarded Citizens have reached the final stage in a project whose main goal is building self-sufficiency in retarded adults at the center.

Rather than spend time on useless "make-work" projects, the idea was conceived for the students to use the wood working facilities at the Ottawa Area Center for the production of a marketable product. An assembly line was set up for manufacture of wooden shoe pins and key chains. Orders were taken from area tourist attractions and necessary skills were learned.

Materials for the novelties were donated by area industries and service organizations. Ms. Patricia Woodall, Assistant Director of the Ottawa Association for Retarded Citizens said the wood was donated by Baker Furniture and Zeeland Wood Turning Works. Ms. Woodall also reported the funds for purchase of metal fittings were given by the Junior Welfare League and the Holland Emblem Club.

According to Ms. Woodall, orders were received from Dutch Village and Windmill Island for 1,500 items, each. Meijer's Thrifty Acres and Teerman's Gift Shop purchased smaller amounts.

Money received through this project is used to give learning experiences to retarded adults enrolled at the Ottawa Area Center to enable them to become as productive and self-sufficient as possible. Students are taken on shopping trips to teach them to handle money and purchase necessities. Trips to restaurants, museums, libraries and other shopping excursions enable these people to become part of the normal world and to live as much on their own as possible.

Frank Beyer, teacher at the center; and his assistant, Mrs. Alta Zmuda; are pleased with the progress shown since the beginning of this project. They are looking forward to the creation of similar fund raising teaching experiences for their students.

Sources Of Power Under Study

Future sources of electrical power concerned the Board of Public Works at its regular meeting Monday and steps were taken to assure a continuing supply of energy for customers.

The BPW approved the hiring of R. W. Beck to conduct negotiations with Consumers Power Co. regarding purchase of power supplies from a new power plant under construction at Bay City.

"We still hope for joint participation," said BPW general manager Frank C. Whitney. "But that depends on the state legislature."

The legislature is expected to act on legislation that would allow municipal power plants to purchase interest in power plants of Consumers such as the Kern plant at Bay City or the Campbell plant at Port Sheldon.

But Whitney said the concept rests with legislative action and the outcome of an anti-nuclear vote in California banning construction of atomic power plants.

If the joint venture plans fall through, Whitney said the BPW may have to build its own 50 megawatt plant and recommended a combined cycle plant which could be in operation in four or five years.

Whitney said he could begin a site study plan if the BPW desired.

"But I feel we are tied to the joint participation. We have all our eggs in one basket but I believe it is the right basket," Whitney told the BPW.

Meanwhile the BPW approved a planning proposal for the Fifth St. power plant and recommended $3,000 to hire Gordon M. Buitendorp Associates, Inc., to study the facility and develop long range plans for the power plant.

Contract talks were to open today with the PW and Local 586 representing BPW employees and an addition to the water treatment plant was expected to be completed by April 21, Whitney reported.

NAMES FOR THE HEADLINES

Except when the White House occupant has a manageably
brief monicker, headline writers indulge in a kind of shorthand
in announcing presidential news.
Sometimes it's a nickname;
often initials are employed.
During the Eisenhower years,
the head writers liked Ike. At other times they made good use of FDR, HST, JFK and LBJ.
All these made it comparatively easy to solve the headline artist's recurrent problem: too much to say, too little space to say it.

What of the current galaxy of presidential hopefuls? If Ford gets in again it will be duck soup (can anyone recall a head referring to GRF?). But consider some of those yearning
for the Democratic nomination:
Carter, Jackson, Udall, Humphrey. To a man, they offer intriguing possibilities.

No problem about Humphrey, of course; for years he's been referred to as either Hubert or HHH. And there's not a really long name in the lot, when you come right down to
it. Still, one must consider another element.

What headline writer under deadline pressure could forever resist, say: Mo Seeks Basketball Subsidy, or Scoop Urges More Israel Aid, or perhaps Jimmy Declares National Peanut Butter Week? Whoever wins, the headline fellows will have little problem — except that of not yielding to temptation too often.

County Takes Small Step On Buildings

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa
County Commissioners Wednesday moved cautiously toward expanding facilities in Holland and Hudsonville for the Social Services department, Community Mental Health and the Health Department.

The improvement committee,
on a 4 to 2 vote, recommended
the county provide added space
for human services in county-owned buildings and proposed an architect be hired to develop preliminary plans for an addition to the Branch Building at Holland and a new building in Hudsonville.

But Grand Haven real estate
businessman James Brummel told commissioners the Social Services department, under new state statutes, has the right to contract for office space with private sources and the county may be spending money for planning buildings that may or may not be used by the Social Services department.

Commissioners have been aware of the state decision to seek its own office space for county Social Service departments and commissioner William Kennedy read a letter indicating the state department of Social Services was no longer interested in several offices in the county, but favored a central location.

Kennedy suggested the planning be "very tentative" and that the architectural information be submitted to the state for comparison of building costs.

"If the state is still interested in having the county build the buildings then the county could continue with construction," he added.

Commissioners agreed to allocate up to $7,500 for preliminary planning for buildings in Holland and Hudsonville with Gordon M.
Buitendorp and Associates of Holland doing the work. Commissioner Marilyn Sherwood voted against the motion because she said she wanted a consultant to determine proper sites for the buildings first.

Commissioners have set aside $450,000 for a building in Holland and $300,000 for a building in Hudsonville. The funds would come from revenue sharing.

Spending of up to $14,000 for improvements to Community Haven at Eastmanville was approved. The funds are to come from revenue sharing monies.

Priorities Set For Programs

GRAND HAVEN — Priorities for an overall economic development program in Ottawa County were accepted by Ottawa County Commissioners
Tuesday and the West Michigan Shoreline Regional Development Commission was designated as the planning agency.
Among the five top priority items were two projects in the Holland-Zeeland area.

Given "A" or top ratings
were expansion of sewer facilities in the Zeeland industrial park area at a cost of $850,000
and sanitary interceptor sewers, pumping station and force
main in River Ave. of Holland township at a cost of $850,000.
Both projects were recommended for 1971.

Receiving a "B" rating for 1978 concrete elliptical pipe and construction of manholes for the Holland township drain enclosure at a cost of $127,200.

Placed in the "C" ratings was reconstruction and paving of Quincy St. with provision for fire hydrants in Holland township at a cost of $113,200.

Commissioners adopted resolutions setting up a tax revolving fund for payments to schools and municipalities of the 1975
allocations in full and the collection of delinquent 1975 taxes.

The county is to borrow $1,850,000 for the revolving fund and the bonds are to be repaid with delinquent taxes collected by the county treasurer's office. Such a program was begun a few years ago.

Commissioners agreed to develop a purchase agreement for 8½ acres of land for expansion of the North Shore park at Ferryburg for $15,000 and to obtain an option for the property.

But commissioners were warned by the Grand Haven Beach Association, which opposes the proposed addition to the county park, that a suit
might be filed against the proposed expansion.

Permission was granted the sheriff's department's mounted division to use county owned land north of Pigeon Creek Park
in Olive township for summer training for one year.

Commissioners approved
$2,700 from revenue sharing funds as the county's one-third share in the cost of building a control dam and other devices to maintain water levels in Crookery Lake. The township and the Department of Natural Resources will share the remaining two-thirds.

The county's malpractice insurance carrier for 1975 asked for an additional $14,000 in premiums after it revealed the number of county employees

250 at Spring Meet Hear Missionaries to Japan

Mrs. Glenn Bruggers and Mrs. Russel Norden, representing a combined total of 40 years of mission service in Japan, were featured speakers at the 43rd annual Spring Missionary Conference of Holland Classical Union Thursday at Central Park Reformed Church.

Breakfast marked the opening of the conference, with Mrs. Darrell Franken, president, welcoming 250 women.

Miss Lois Marsilje, recently returned from Scudder Memorial Hospital in Renpet, India, read devotions and commented briefly on Christian Responsibility and mission in the world today. "This Love Is Mine" was sung by Mrs. Lois Sal and Mrs. Nancy Van Kampen, with Mrs. Mary Lou Van Heest accompanying.

Mrs. Bruggers and Mrs. Russel Norden presented their program in dialogue form with Mrs. Franken. Covering a range of topics from mission work preparation and personal family life to the background of religion in Japan and the role of women, they revealed the joys and frustrations of a missionary.

Sources of greatest frustrations, they said, are being called "foreigner" and lacking ability to communicate adequately with the people — there are 1,850 Japanese characters.

Recounting religion in Japan from the 1500 until 1941, the speakers explained a law forbidding any religion with less than a designated number of adherents. This caused formation of the United Church of Christ composed of many denominations. The Japanese attitude toward religion is pluralistic; their loyalty is first to their country and emperor, second to family, and third to

Federal Grant Will Finance Photologging

Holland has been awarded a federal grant from the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning for a highway safety project which will inventory all traffic signs located along the city's 120 miles of streets.

The primary goal of the project is to record the location and condition of every traffic sign in the city. Upon completion of the inventory, the city will be eligible for up to 90 per cent of the cost, from the federal government, of upgrading and replacing signs which do not conform to State and local codes.

The "photologging" will be conducted by David Perkins, an engineer with the project contractor, Goodell, Grivas & Associates of Southfield. Beginning April 12, Perkins will photograph both sides of each street, using a standard 35-mm movie camera mounted inside the windshield of a small van. This segment of the program is expected to take approximately two weeks or less.

When photologging is complete, the pictures will be reviewed and the information fed into a computer detailing the type of sign, location, height, expected life and whether it conforms with State codes. The computerized system can then be used by the engineer's office for appropriate, orderly sign installation. In addition, the film will be reviewed by the police department to pinpoint accident locations and provide increased safety for both motorists and pedestrians at problem intersections.

The cost of the program is estimated at $19,000, with the Federal Highway Administration responsible for 70 per cent of the expense. As soon as the project is completed, application will be made for federal funding to cover replacement costs.

Large Audience Cheers Kooiker Piano Recital

by Cornelia Van Voort

A large responsive audience was highly entertained at a Bicentennial piano recital by Anthony Kooiker of the Hope College School of Music Saturday night in Dimment Memorial Chapel.

Demonstrating brilliant technical skill, Dr. Kooiker chose compositions of American composers, John Cage, Edward MacDowell, Walter Hartley, Howard Swanson, Samuel Barber and Arthur Farwell, and for good measure, two Europeans, Mozart (because every American pianist wants to play Mozart) and Claude Debussy (just in case a few listeners might be disturbed by the contemporary John Cage selections).

The Cage "Amores" for piano and percussion proved a most interesting departure from the usual classical selections, providing a great conversation piece, if not a sensation.

For these numbers, Kooiker had one of the two grand pianos on stage rigged with screws, bolts, nuts and strips of rubber, producing exotic sounds (maybe weird) which contrary to expectation were quiet rather than strident. And it was just a bit incongruous to have Dr. Kooiker, elegant in white tie and tails, take his place before three

Electronic Bell Office To Operate

A $2.2 million electronic central office at Quincy St. and 152nd Ave. goes into operation Saturday and Michigan Bell Telephone says numbers of some customers living north of Holland will be changed.

Before May 7, some 3,000 customers will have new numbers in the 399 exchange, Robert J. Hammond, Bell's local manager said.

Customers affected will be in the 335, 392 and 396 exchanges generally living north of Riley St. The transfer to the new 399 exchange will occur on a day-by-day and number-by-number basis.

All new phone numbers will be in the 1976 Holland-Zeeland directories to be delivered beginning May 7 and intercept service will be provided.

Customers in the 399 exchange will have available Custom Calling and Touch-Tone service including call waiting, call forwarding, three way calling and speed calling.

The Holland area system is the 62nd such electronic system Michigan Bell has installed in the state and others are planned this year.
