Always Looking to The Public Welfare

While we have Stores over a wide expansion of country, we do not hope to do all the business. Quite in the opposite.

While we strive to do a profitable business, we aim to develop ideals in business generally through our own practices that will bring about a more economical distribution of merchandise.

Any step toward attaining a condition where the public is enabled to enjoy the lowest possible prices on goods of strictly reliable quality will have our fullest support.

To that end we are working diligently with manufacturers and transportation interests as well as directing our own operations so that waste (which means cost) may be eliminated.

REV. MARTIN SEES A WONDERFUL HOLLAND

SUGGESTS THAT WE BEGIN TO CO-OPERATE WITH OUR NEIGHBORS

Rev. Martin, pastor of the Third Reformed church sprung a surprise at the Exchange club luncheon when he introduced a resolution having to do with the community life of our neighbors as this relates to future Holland.

Mr. Martin pictured the coming Holland as a mammoth community with the head of the bay the center of activity with long arms extending westward around Macatawa bay to Lake Michigan, then even branching out northward and southward.

Mr. Martin stated that these prognostications might be well in the future, however it was time to begin to co-operate with our neighbors. Montello Park, Central Park, Beechwood and so on, for these densely populated districts would soon enter into the scheme of things, would be part of Holland, and their welfare and their community life are of great importance to Holland's future welfare. He said that Holland has a unique history. Its social, religious and community life are ideal and with the proper concurrence this could be so in neighborly co-operation.

Mr. Martin then presented the following resolution which was unanimously adopted by the members of the Exchange club:

"Resolved, that the subject of the common interest of all the communities on Black Lake with one another and with the city of Holland and particularly their common interests in respect to future developments and relations, be referred to the Chamber of Commerce."

City Attorney McBride arose before the resolution was passed and stated that he was very much pleased that Rev. Martin was so thoughtful in bringing up this question. He stated that annexing added territory especially to the west is a matter already being discussed and Mr. McBride then told the members present how to go about annexation proceedings by ballot.

The communities who would join Holland according to Mr. McBride, have a great deal to say in the matter.

CANNERS AND GROWERS FAIL IN PRICE PARLEY

A conference of western Michigan canners and fruit growers at the Hotel Pentland, Grand Rapids, yesterday afternoon failed to result in an agreement as to prices for fruits delivered at canning plants this year. In view of the uncertainty of fruit prospects and the condition of the canned goods market, the present time is not considered advisable for such an agreement. The Michigan Canners' association and the Michigan Fruit Growers, Inc., held separate conferences followed by a joint meeting.

TO SET OUT BLUEBERRY PLANTS IN MUSKOGON

A large shipment of Whitesbog blueberry plants from New Jersey has been received by the Fruitvale Resort company, a large portion of which will be planted in the company's property in Blue Lake township.

Agricultural Agent Carl H. Knopf announced the company has offered to distribute a portion of the shipment to farmers of the county at cost. Anyone desiring to try out the new berry is asked to call at Mr. Knopf's office.

LOCAL

Achievement day, a day set aside for exhibition of work accomplished by the Girls' Garment clubs of Muskegon county during the past winter, will be held May 26 and 27. Agriculture Agent Knopf announced today.

Chief Van Ry again has the stalls for parking autos on River ave., and Eighth street painted white. The turtles at street intersections about the city have also been whitewashed. Dr. R. M. De Haan of the Western Theological seminary will occupy the pulpit of the Fourth Reformed church of this city Sunday all day. In the morning and evening he will preach in English and in the afternoon in the Dutch language.

Miss Ellen A. Creswell, 77 years old, for nearly 35 years a teacher in the Grand Rapids public schools, died Wednesday at the residence at 603 Locust st., East Grand Rapids, which she had occupied jointly with a friend, Miss Ada E. Lockwood. Miss Creswell is well known among the educators of Holland.

Tonight the Star of Bethlehem No. 40 O. E. S. will hold installation exercises at the Masonic Temple. The evening's doings will start off with a pot luck supper followed by a program of music and readings after which the installation will take place.

The management of Warm Friends Tavern believes in home enterprise, as the different Holland furniture factories are unloading furniture daily at the new hotel. This is a spirit that should be emulated by others, for it means the growth of Holland.

Evangelistic meetings are being held at the Wesleyan Methodist church, corner Pine and 17th st., with evangelist A. B. Hotchkiss and son of Miltonvale, Kansas as the special workers. A good degree of interest is being shown in the meetings thus far and a large number welcomed the evangelists upon their first appearance here. The special meetings will be held for two weeks with services each evening at 7:30. The public is cordially invited.

STORY OF PEER GYNT IS NOW SET TO MUSIC

WILL BE INTERPRETED BY MISS SUSANA HAMELINK AT TRINITY TOMORROW EVENING

The story of Peer Gynt, short, dramatic, and stirring, which is taking the public with an undying and increasing interest, will be put to music here Friday evening at Trinity church.

The story is only half told however in words, the other half being told by music. The entire suite of four pieces, depicting the life of a young lad, was written by the Norwegian composer Grieg, for Ibsen's drama. Those who have read the fascinating drama will be interested in getting Grieg's interpretation of the story. Miss Hamelink will be at the organ.

The story tells of Peer Gynt, the son of a poor widow, Ase. Peer Gynt is filled with wild and fantastic dreams of his own future glory. His mother who knows his wild ways, is the only one who believes in him. Peer Gynt goes uninvited to a wedding and carries off the bride to the mountain heights, where he tells her that her hair is not as golden as the little peasant girl he danced with at the wedding. Deserting the bride the next morning, he wanders about over the mountain side and finds himself at night in the hall of the mountain king. Here, surrounded by imps and elves he woos the king's daughter, but upon their love being discovered, he is tortured by the imps and left to die on the side of the mountain. Here he is found by Solvejg, the peasant girl spoken of before. She has left her home to follow Peer Gynt. Together they build a hut and live in happiness until once more the imps and elves appear to torture Peer Gynt. He deserts Solvejg and returns to his mother, whom he finds upon her death-bed. During his many adventures in foreign countries, he steals a horse and garments of a prophet and travels thru the desert where he meets a beautiful maiden, Anitra, who so charms him with dancing that he gives her all his gold and jewels. His thoughts go back to Solvejg and he decides to go back to his native land. After many years adventures and shipwreck, he at last finds the hut of Solvejg and her patiently waiting for him. He sinks down exhausted but in peace and dies.

The opening number, "Morning Mood" gives a charming tone picture of the first rays of dawn up to the bursting full view of the glorious sun.

"In the Hall of the Mountain King" shows the imps and spirits in full cry after Peer Gynt. This selection is typically Norwegian in character with the constant repetition of theme. The theme is descriptive of the mountain imps circling about and jeering at Peer Gynt. The final crash represents the destruction of the Hall.

"Ase's Death" well depicts the lonely and forlorn old mother, deserted by her son.

In "Anitra's Dance" one sees the fascinating sprite of the desert who charms Peer Gynt with her graceful dancing.

TREES

Joyce Kilmer

I think that I shall never see

A poem lovely as a tree

A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed

Against the earth's sweet-flowing breast;

A tree that looks to God all day

And lifts her leafy arms to pray.

A tree that may in summer wear

A nest of robins in her hair;

Upon whose bosom snow has lain;

Who intimately lives with rain.

Poems are made by fools like me,

But only God can make a tree.

The Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed church choral society, under the direction of John Vander Ark, will give a scripture cantata, "Faith Triumphant, or the Healing of Naaman" in that church Thursday evening. The cantata was written by H. Butterworth and Dr. George F. Root and is described as a fine dramatic production. The cantata will begin at 7:45 and the public is cordially invited.

The Fourteenth Street church chorus is composed of 65 voices and it has given many musical entertainments that have always attracted large audiences. Miss Dora Wentzel will be the pianist and Johanna Boersma the organist. The soloists are: Queen of Sheba, Theda Dobbin and Zera Vrieling, sopranos; wife of Naaman, Mrs. P. Lievense and Mrs. P. Prins, mezzo sopranos; Hebrew maid, Gertrude Wanrooy, contralto; Hebrew prophet, C. W. Dornbos and P. Dalman, tenors; Naaman, Dr. R. M. De Haan, bass; interpreting quartet—Elizabeth Van Iwaarden, soprano, Sena Grevenpoed, alto; Albert Van Dyke, tenor; Henry Zoet, bass.

NOW ITS THE GASOLINE BOOTLEGGERS IN MICHIGAN

STATE AND U. S. JOIN TO PREVENT CAR LOADS FROM COMING INTO THE STATE

The railroads of Michigan have agreed to assist in the suppression of bootlegging in gasoline.

Shortly after the two-cent gasoline tax bill went into effect last January reports reached the Secretary of State, who is charged with the duty of collecting the tax that certain small independent dealers were receiving occasional single carlots of gasoline and selling it without paying the tax. At the rate that these violations started, the gasoline bootleggers would have defrauded the state out of about $300,000 annually, according to information reaching the Secretary of State's office.

Railroad authorities informed the state authorities that inasmuch as all gasoline coming into Michigan is interstate traffic, and the interstate commerce commission rules forbid the opening by railroads of their transportation records except to commission officials, they did not see how they could assist in stopping the gasoline bootlegging in Michigan.

The matter was taken up with the Federal commission which has now agreed to permit the railroads to co-operate with the state authorities against the bootleggers. The railroads will furnish the Secretary of State with a record of every carload of gasoline shipped into Michigan, that every gallon can be traced.

It was to give this agreement legal force that an amendment to the Gasoline Tax Act was passed requiring the railroads to furnish these records.

JOHN ARENDSDORST AWARDS $10.00 IN GOLD

Clarence De Graff, 410 Maple ave., was the winner of $10.00 in gold offered by John Arendsdorst for a suitable name to be applied to his new Lake Michigan resort, north of Ottawa Beach.

Wm. C. Vandenberg, Thomas N. Robinson and Alburn Parsons, the judges, selected Eagle Crest as the best name suggested out of 120 names sent in. The names were all keyed so the judges did not have any idea as to who sent in the names.

It hasn't been decided by Mr. Arendsdorst whether the name Eagle Crest will be used. An entirely different name may be selected later through another contest.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS MEETS GRAND HAVEN SATURDAY

The Holland High track team coached by Mr. Hartman will go over to Grand Haven Saturday afternoon to clash with Cohl's proteges. Track teams at both schools are brand new as each coach has to develop all new material. Although equipment is far from adequate in the local schools, the men are working faithfully and expect an even break with their old rivals.

Cohl's boasts of some real speedy men in the dashes while perhaps the best Hartman can figure on is Exo in the shut put and other weight contests. Meyers is a good dash man but he lacks experience. The local coach will take a team of about 20 men over to the county seat and 14 events will be run off.

A large crowd of local fans are urged to attend the meet and lend their support to the Holland representatives. Track is a big thing in all Class A schools and the material here can be developed so that competition should not be feared from any school. Saturday's events will start at 1:30 on the football field and admission will be free.

YOU CAN FIND OUT WHAT YOUR TAXES AMOUNT TO

On Tuesday, May 5, the Board of Review will go into session in the common council rooms in the city hall at 9 o'clock in the forenoon and will continue in session for four days for at least six hours each day.

Any tax payer desiring to do so may call at that time to find out what his taxes amount to and make a kick if he feels that they are not right.

The members of the Board of Review are there to make explanation or to rectify any error or injustice if such there be that might accidentally have occurred.

FIND MAN NOT GUILTY OF TAKING BODY FROM GRAVE

A circuit court charge of removing the body of Pauline Sewald, six-months-old infant, from its grave in Mona View cemetery against William Cocks was dismissed by Prosecutor R. Glenn Dunn at Muskegon Saturday. Cocks was held after a shovel found at the grave was alleged to have come from his home. Later his knife was found stained with human blood by analysis at Ann Arbor. He was found not guilty in a circuit court trial and the case was dismissed on lack of evidence.

The much-talked of auto pound ordinance passed by the common council will be found on page five of this issue. Auto violators may some morning find their machine cooped up like some of our dog population and the reason why can be found in the ordinance printed today.

A complete story of the $300,000.00 fire at Macatawa Park will be found on Page two of this issue.

MUST LIVE TO HELP OTHERS SAYS LANDWEHR

A. H. Landwehr manager of the Holland Furnace company who was the speaker at the Exchange club luncheon, gave one of those wholesome and at the same time, "right from the shoulder talks" that have given so much comment not alone in Holland but also in other cities where he has appeared before civic clubs.

Chairman E. P. Stephan in introducing Mr. Landwehr stated that he felt that the Warm Friends man was the leading industrial spirit in Holland and while a very busy man always found time to be of service to his home town, and gave that service not grudgingly but liberally and unstintingly. Mr. Stephan said that Mr. Landwehr needed no introduction, and then turned the meeting over to one of the best known men in the state of Michigan.

Mr. Landwehr in opening his remarks stated that while he was not a member of the Exchange club he nearly envied the club for having such an excellent chairman and went on to enumerate the many things that the former mayor had affected for the city of Holland, not the least of these being the cleaning up of Black Lake. Mr. Stephan being the moving spirit taking this matter up at its inception.

Mr. Landwehr stated that we are living in a wonderful city. He stated that only a spirit of co-operation could have built such a hotel as will be thrown open to the public on May 1st. He praised Mayor Kammeraad for the substantial way in which he handled affairs in the first year of his administration and presaged even greater things for Holland during the coming year with an excellent council presided over by an able head.

Mr. Landwehr's praise of the present and ex-mayors brought hearty applause from those present.

He gave credit to Contractor Frank Dyke for the monument he has built for the future and predicted that every stockholder would receive returns upon his hotel investment.

He stated that with such backing as has been shown in promoting this hotel project, it is bound to go right, and simply couldn't go wrong.

Mr. Landwehr stated that the world is changing, and he stated that the American people are pointing the way to the rest of humanity, and also jealousy existed in their hearts, the people of other nations respected the American people, believing in American honesty of purpose.

He said every man is born with certain talents. Some develop these talents better than do others, some misdirect them. "Don't criticize your fellowman," said Mr. Landwehr, "because he does not appear as talented as you. Rather help straighten out his misguided talents and congratulate yourself that he isn't as bright as you are, for if he was, he might have your job, and possibly make a bigger man than you are."

Continuing Mr. Landwehr stated, "I believe in giving and everyone should give. There are two kinds of giving. First, giving until it hurts; good; second, giving until it hurts, the second is done in sacrifice to causes that need the help of all, first to the church, second to the needy, third, to the community."

There is a class of citizens who it hurt to think of giving, and then he never gives. I pity such a man, for his life must be a miserable life. I think a man's greatest work is to do something for his fellow man.

A citizen who feels that he is bigger than his community, who is troubled with an ego to such an extent that he thinks a community cannot get along without him, should go to Black Lake, stick his finger in the water and the hole that remains after he has withdrawn it is about as much as he will be missed in that particular community should he depart from it.

Mr. Landwehr then gave a talk on thrift and advocated saving when wages are good and times are flush. He stated that he was sorry to say that the rank and file seemed to accumulate less during good times than when times were close.

He gave for an example that in the city of Detroit the savings in the banks were five million dollars more during 1924 when times were not as good as in 1923. He attributed this to the fact that during flush 1923 folks thought prosperity would last forever and spent lavishly. However when the tide turned the other way, they were frightened and began to save for the future when needs would become even more pressing. Had they saved when money was flush it would likewise have saved many from distressing situations.

Mr. Landwehr said that the world is getting better right along, that there is less poverty, especially in the United States, than there was 50 years ago that a laboring man today lived better than did a king in yesterday.

The wage earner of today has a home, a bath tub, a radio, a telephone and an automobile. A king never had these luxuries. He says the wage earner received on an average 120 per cent more in his pay envelope in 1924 than he had in 1913; and altho the buying power of his dollar is not as great as it was in 1913, it is considerably higher considering the greater amount of wages received.

Mr. Landwehr then went on to state that the conditions in this country would become even more ideal. That the natural resources developed were only in their infancy, that the streams had not nearly been developed for water power, that the mineral resources had only just been touched.

"With these great possibilities together with a spirit of self sacrifice, which means less selfishness, and with the heads of big business advocating a policy of live and let live not alone, but live and let others enjoy part of the fruits of their labors, then there will be a rainbow in the skies not for only a part of the American people, but for all of them," said Mr. Landwehr.

FIRE DESTROYS 54 COTTAGES AND ONE HOTEL AT MACATAWA; LOSS ESTIMATED AT $300,000

Shortly after one o'clock Saturday afternoon a small blaze was noticed in the roof of Hotel Grand located in one of the large ravines near Lake Michigan at Macatawa.

A stiff southeast wind was blowing over the hills from Black Lake and within a comparatively short time the roof of the large hotel was ablaze and a hurried alarm was sent out by the few who were in the neighborhood. However before assistance of any kind arrived the upper part of the large wooden structure was a mass of fire and being on an elevation received the full sweep of the strong breeze that was blowing.

The hotel building burned like a tinder box, the long drought for the past weeks making it and everything surrounding it excellent fire conductors as the results soon proved.

In an instant it seemed buildings were burning everywhere and the fire was sweeping to the west and north of Hotel Grand. Flames simply seemed to leap from cottage to cottage and the sight was appalling.

Capt. Sam Toft of the U. S. Coast Guards was soon on the job with his men and fire fighting material and the life savers did wonderful work considering what they had to cope with.

Joe Boshka of the Holland Harbor lighthouse, together with assistant, dragged a large government fire extinguisher on wheels to the fire, also bringing several dozen buckets and between the coast guard fire fighters, a bucket brigade and some large fire extinguishers an attempt was made to stem the onrushing fire. Matters looked hopeless indeed and from all appearances the long row of beautiful summer homes on the Lake Michigan front were doomed to become fodder for the flames.

A hurried alarm was sent in to Chief Blom of Holland asking for help. This was at 2 o'clock and immediately the local chief turned in an alarm from box 21, hotel corner. All departments responded promptly and Mr. Blom subdivided his forces sending an excellent company with one of the pumps to Macatawa.

The local department, under command of Mr. Blom, arrived on the scene 20 minutes after the alarm had been given. When the Holland fire department arrived they found that a bad situation confronted them. The heavy truck could not be drawn to the Lake Michigan water front. In close proximity of the fire, since the poorly constructed wooden walks could not possibly hold up the heavy truck. Going thru the loose dry sifting sand was naturally impossible as no traction could be secured. Therefore the best thing that the local fire department could do was to back up to Black Lake and endeavor to reach the fire over the hills with the 1400 feet of hose taken from Holland. The lines were laid thru woods, over hills and down valleys but it was found that five hundred more feet were necessary to reach the fire. This amount was soon furnished by the Macatawa Cottagers Ass'n and then the big pump was put to work and at least one stream was available.

During all these preparations however the fire had swept on, eating its way north and westward until 54 of the homes on Illinois, Joliet, Cedar and Cherry walks were destroyed. It is estimated that an area of thirty acres was burned over before the flames were checked. While possibly one hundred fire fighters were constantly busy and did yeomen's work, the credit for checking the flames at the Nahee cottage, owned for years by Mrs. Nellie Ryder Wiehe, goes to the Holland fire department. The local fire fighters endeavored to save the "House of Seven Gables" and the Avond cottage directly to the south of the Nahee but this proved impossible. All efforts were then put forth on the Nahee cottage and the fire was stopped there after a desperate struggle. Had the firemen been unsuccessful there would have been no stopping of the blaze and fire would have swept the entire Lake Michigan front and the densely built avenues leading up the hill side toward the east.

Holland firemen also stopped the flames from going further east at the Rev. Carlton Pelgrim cottage on Cedar walk. Fire had already started in this cottage but the fire fighters kept up the fight climbing to the roof of the tall building and putting out the fires that kept communicating from the burning building adjoining. Firemen were also compelled to chop holes in the roof of the Pelgrim cottage and break out the attic windows in order to extinguish a blaze that had started on the inside.

The battle was finally won and the Pelgrim cottage, although damaged, was saved, as was the row of beautiful summer homes to the east, because of the efforts of the local fire department, the Coast Guards, together with a score or more of willing volunteers from Holland and the resorts.

Near the Pelgrim cottage the cottages of G. J. Diekema of Holland and the home of Mrs. Kate G. Post, West 13th street, Holland, were located. These were burned, even the contents being destroyed. A cottage belonging to Dick TeRoller on Joliet and Illinois streets was also burned. Ronald Rosie, automobile man, and Leonard Van Regenmorter, caretakers in the employ of the Macatawa Park Cottagers' association, were among the first to arrive at the scene. Rosie was informed of the fire by Miss Helen Leath, niece of Mrs. E. E. Hurlburt, who was hostess at the Grand hotel last year. Miss Leath told him, he said, that her aunt, who had given up the lease on the hotel and had just taken over the management of the Mary Jane Inn, had gone to the Grand hotel with her husband and other members of the family to do some cleaning and to obtain some personal property.

Some one in the party, Rosie said, Miss Leath told him, had started a fire in the fireplace. Miss Leath noticed some smoke and, running outside, saw the roof of the hotel in flames. Attempts were made to telephone for aid, but the telephone in the hotel was out of order and Miss Leath was obliged to hasten over the steep divide which separates the Lake Michigan beach from Black Lake to where she knew the caretakers could be found.

"We encountered considerable difficulty in dragging our chemical fire apparatus over the hill," said Rosie, "and three cottages on the north and west of the hotel were afire when we got there."

"With our apparatus we succeeded in momentarily checking the flames and the Holland fire department arrived just as our chemical supply became exhausted. The firemen set about to rig their hose to the 66,000-gallon water tank on top of the hill and then they discovered the tank was dry.

"We saw it was useless to try to save the cottages south and east of the hotel. Capt. Sam Toft and his crew of eight coast guardsmen and Capt. Joe Boska of the lighthouse and his two assistants arrived about that time and a bucket brigade was formed.

"The Holland firemen were obliged to take their pumping truck back to the Macatawa landing, about a mile away, and all available hose was connected into a single line and strung to the fire. Even then the line was too short to reach the thickest of the fire and we had to connect up a smaller hose to an emergency tank.

"We had to send our chemical tank back for a recharge and by the time the men were back with it two dozen cottages were past saving and every moment saw the fire breaking out on another roof. Just at the time things looked darkest for us the wind, which had been blowing stiffly from the southeast, veered until it was blowing straight west out across the lake. This doomed the cottages lying between the hill on which the hotel stood and the beach, but we believed we could prevent the flames from spreading northward. There were no cottages to the south except those already aflame.

"The hose of the Holland fire department reached as far as the Nahee cottage, owned by Mrs. Nellie Wiehe, of Indianapolis. It was at this point that we drew a deadline and concentrated our defensive. With the aid of both hose lines, our own chemical apparatus and with the water furnished by the bucket line, we were able to keep the flames from racing up the shore. If the fire had got started in the Nahee cottage I believe the entire resort would have been wiped out."

Hiram Penna, of Terre Haute, Ind., a cottage owner, played an important role in preventing the flames from sweeping north along the beach from the Nahee cottage.

With the heat from the flames almost unbearable, Penna, wrapped in a bed mattress, which had been dipped in the lake, took the nozzle end of the hose, played to a hazardous position and sprayed a stream of water on the roofs of the still intact summer homes along the edge of the fire zone. As a result the blaze was checked upon completing the destruction of the cottages on the south extremity of the resort.

The blaze, although comparatively brief in duration, was spectacular in the extreme. News of the disaster spread rapidly to Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Grand Haven and other neighboring towns and hundreds of spectators were on the scene shortly after the first alarm had been given. As at the height of the resort season, parking space along the gravel road between the resort and state trunkline M-11 was at a premium. A large percent of the spectators were cottage owners and many of these were from Grand Rapids.

The cottages, ranging from two to four stories, all were frame structures and afforded the best of food for the flames. Many of them were constructed of pine and the wind kept the air literally filled with flaming brands.

The hotel and all the cottages destroyed were insured, according to Mr. Rosie, who said property insurance was required of members in the Macatawa Park Cottagers' association. Besides the cottages owned by Grand Rapids residents, the remainder of those destroyed were the property largely of Chicago, Louisville, Cincinnati and Indianapolis, people.

Mr. E. E. Hurlburt, who was assisting his wife in managing the Grand Hotel, stated Saturday that he and an assistant had come to the hotel to pack up their belongings, since they had decided to quit the Grand and move out. Nearly everything had been packed and these effects were to be moved out Monday. The fire however has destroyed all the Hurlburt belongings, together with the hotel building.

Saturday's fire of $300,000, at Macatawa was the third of a series of disastrous fires at the Macatawa-Ottawa Beach resort colonies to occur within the past three years.

On the morning of Sunday July 16, 1922, fire starting in a cottage in which a colored maid of a cottager was preparing a bath for a baby swept down the lake front, burning 20 cottages, some of them being owned by Holland residents. The damage at that time was estimated at $200,000.

At 5:15 in the afternoon of Nov. 6, 1923, fire of unknown origin started in the Ottawa Beach hotel, which was at that time one of the finest on the lakes, and within a short time the building was in ruins. The loss was $500,000, and was confined to the hotel, a favorable wind saving nearby cottages. The hotel at that time was under the Pantland management.

When a Holland contractor was asked to give an estimate on the fire based upon present day building prices he shook his head and said that building on that particular spot is expensive to say the least. He stated that it was very difficult to get building material thru the sand to the building lots, in fact, the lumber would have to be drawn there by horses as trucks would soon stall in the loose sand. He stated that foundations too are hard to put down, because of the sand and steep inclines against which many of the cottages were built. All these difficulties figure in the cost, the contractor contended. The contractor stated further that the cheapest cottage could not be built there for less than $3,000 and most of them would be at least $4,000 and he knew of many that would cost the owners $6,000 and $7,000 to replace as before. A loss of $300,000 would be a very modest estimate, the Holland contractor asserted.

The burned cottages that were owned by Holland residents are those of G. J. Diekema, Mrs. Kate G. Post, and Dick TeRoller. Twelve of the cottages burned belonged to Grand Rapids citizens, whose names follow:

Mrs. R. W. Merrill, James Rowson, Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, Z. H. Nelson, Abram Tazelaar, F. W. Richards, Letta E. Thomas, C. A. Mitts, A. F. Hewett, Joseph Renhan, Ivan E. Hull, Erwin R. Perry, Harry Rhodes, J. E. Walker, G. Colleton.

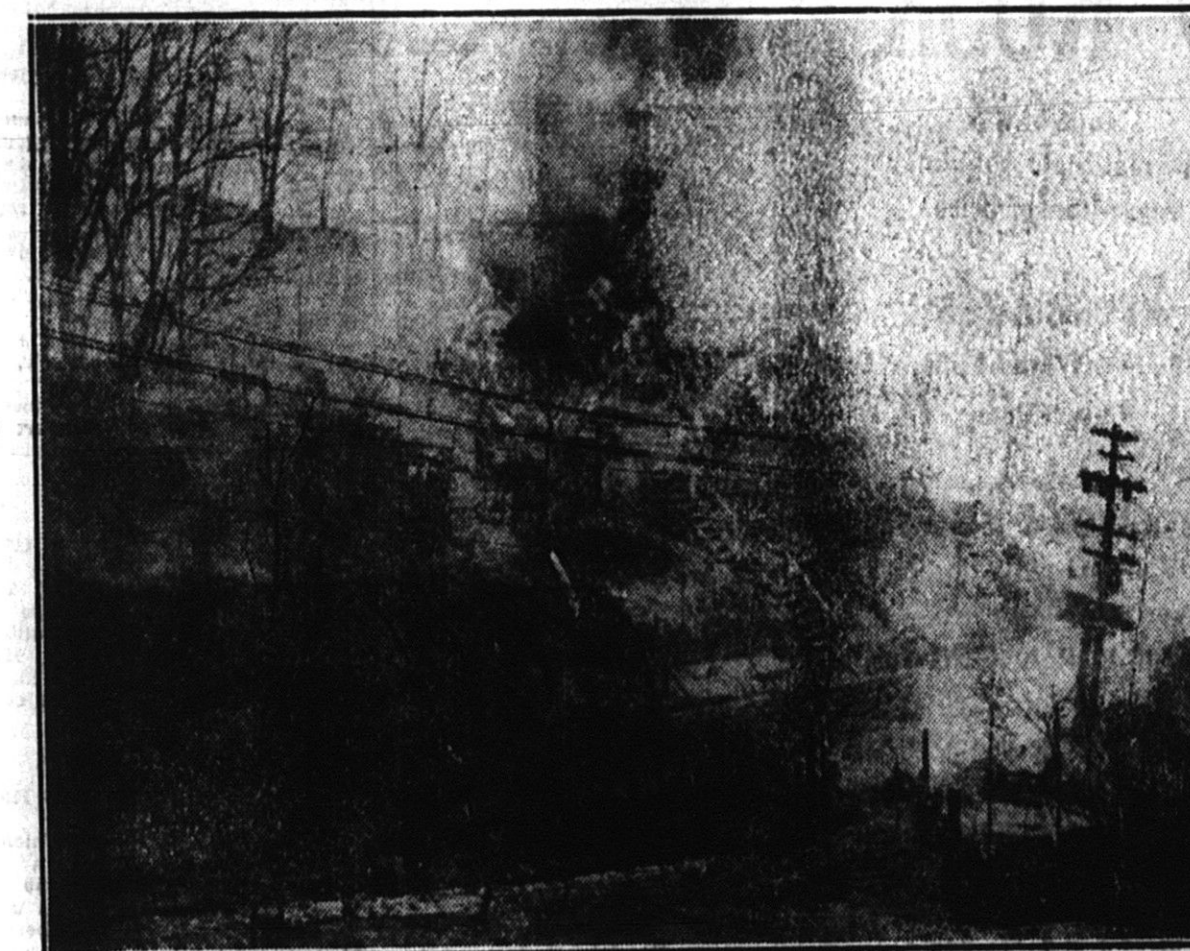

Other owners of destroyed cottages are: W. P. Smith, New Orleans; R. J. Blandford Palm Beach Fla.; A. T. Palmer, Chicago; N. E. Glassbrook, Lansing, Mich.; Woolsack, Detroit; H. C. Ross, Toledo, Ohio; B. F. Hitchings,

A group of cottages burning as seen from the high bluff to the north, commonly known as "White City." The blazing summer homes are in the ravine below.

Estimators are endeavoring to figure some means whereby they can figure out how many people visited Macatawa Sunday to view the ruins left by the disastrous fire of Saturday afternoon. There are many wild statements, some putting the figure as high as 20,000 automobiles, while a more conservative statement cuts that number in half.

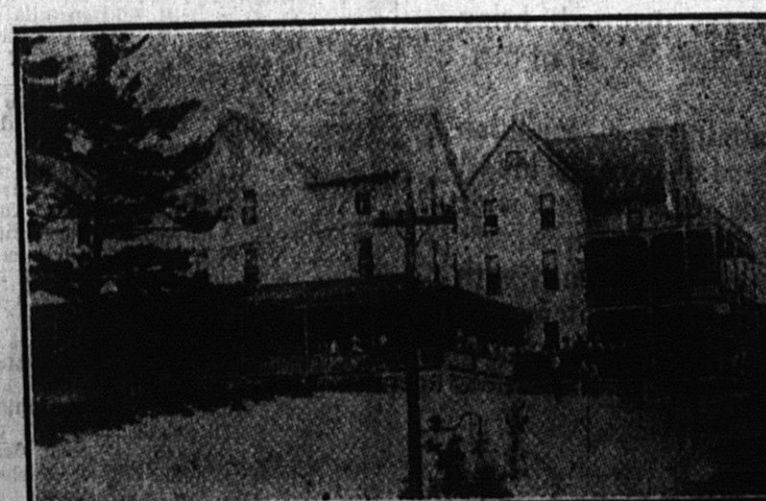

A representative of this paper took the trouble to count the automobiles that went by to Macatawa during a period of fifteen minutes and 463 was the number counted. This was at 5 o'clock in the evening, the far-end of the day, when it was naturally to be expected that he volume of travel would let up somewhat and would be considerably less than the volume was during the earlier hours of the day. However, even based on these figures, the number of automobiles passing a given point would be 1872 per hour.

Some idea of the volume of auto travel in the direction of the resorts may be gained from figures given by until an outbound traffic route was cleared.

The fire Saturday at Macatawa was as serious a blow for the Goodrich Transit Co. as could happen. Many of the cottages in the fire were owned by Chicago and Joliet people, who had been regular week-end patrons of the boat line for many years.

The burning of the Ottawa Beach hotel gave the boat line a knock out blow, as was shown by last year's passenger list. "One or two more catastrophes of this kind will put the boat line out of business," said J. A. Johnson, general agent, Goodrich line, Monday. "The real money, as everyone knows, is in the passenger business. Between private owned automobiles, hotel fires, and pollution of Black Lake, our passenger business has dwindled down to a small figure. We sincerely hope there will be no more fire, so we can keep what we have left."

DEL. FORTNEY STARTS SUIT IN OTTAWA

Ex-sheriff Fortney of Grand Haven, has filed suit for $50,000 damages against ex-Mayor E. P. Stephan of Holland, alleging the latter by four articles that appeared last summer in the Holland Sentinel, so damaged his reputation, good name, credit, feelings, and influenced numbers of people against him that they refuse to do business with him, have discourse with him or acquaintance with him.

Charles E. Mismar, Grand Haven attorney, is acting as counsel for Mr. Fortney in this case and Thursday morning filed the declaration and notice against Mr. Stephan with Orrie J. Sluiter, clerk for the Ottawa county circuit court. There are four counts against the defendant in the declaration as filed by Mr. Mismar for the plaintiff.

The articles upon which the suit was based are series of articles that were started by Mr. Stephan in the Holland Sentinel in answer to articles written by the Prosecuting Attorney, Fred T. Miles. He told his story of the Hoen case from the beginning in which Mrs. Hoen claims the sheriff and his officers unduly persecuted her by various means and in which she claims she was persecuted by her neighbors, being the only one in her part of Robinson township who was against the liquor traffic.

The suit will commence in the next term of circuit court at Grand Haven with Judge Orien S. Cross presiding. It promises to be quite a sensation with almost everybody in Ottawa county interested because of the prominence of the two men who are principals in the suit.

Holland was visited Friday by a weary old woman who has traveled thousands of miles, first to release a war veteran son from a federal prison and then to find him after the war and swallowed him when his release was obtained. She is Mrs. Ricks Anderson Hanson, 67, who twice has obtained a presidential pardon for a wayward son and who now believes her son has wandered to this section of the country.

In her visit to the local press office, in company of Mrs. G. J. VanDuren, Mrs. Hanson emphasized particularly the kindness she has received at the hands of members and officials of the Woman's Auxiliary.

Mrs. Hanson was mother of two boys who were in service in the World war. One of them, Lieut. Don Hanson, was killed in action. The other committed an offense that caused his confinement in Leavenworth prison. Mrs. Hanson walked to Washington from Sioux Falls, S. D., in 1920 and obtained a pardon from President Harding. Soon after his release the son forged a pension check and again was sent to Leavenworth, so Mrs. Hanson says. Once more the tired mother started for the capital on foot and once more she secured a release. The boy went to Detroit, where Mrs. Hanson found him a few months later, penniless and almost starving. She gave him money from her own scanty store and he disappeared again. That was in 1923. She has not seen him since.

While in Washington a few weeks ago, seeking compensation from the government, Mrs. Hanson heard from a government agent that a man bearing her son's name, Joe Anderson and fitting her description of him had checked a suitcase from Hamilton, Ohio, to Kalamazoo, Michigan.

She started for Kalamazoo, once more traveling on foot and walked about half the way between Washington and Kalamazoo, going the remainder of the way by train. On arrival there she found the suitcase had been claimed last February. She went on to Grand Rapids, thinking her son might be in or around that city and later came to Holland.

She will remain in Western Michigan for a time if she can get word to her store of money, which practically is exhausted. If she can find her son she will be happy. If she does not find him she intends to continue her search. She plans to go from here to Lansing and from there to Detroit.

Mrs. Hanson was a girlhood acquaintance of Mrs. Harding in Marion Ohio, and she also knew Mr. Harding very well when he was a struggling young newspaper man running the Marble Star.

Joe Anderson, the lost boy, was in Company K, 139th Infantry, 35th Division. When last heard of he was employed on the steamship "Frick" of the Cleveland Steamship Co.

Having recently returned from a tour through the eastern states where they were accorded a great measure of praise, the Hope College girls' glee club added another honor to their long list of successes when they were unanimously awarded first place in the women's musical contest at Kalamazoo, Friday afternoon.

Dr. J. B. Nykerk sent in the news of the great honor to the local press late Friday evening. How superior the Hope songsters must have been is evidenced by the fact that there were six colleges and normal women's clubs present. Every judge was amazed and praised the ability of the Hope girls. The judges were all men well known in the musical world. Osborne McOnathy, Northwestern University, Edward Moore, music critic of the Chicago Tribune, and Earnest Hesser, supervisor of music in Indianapolis, Ind., were the three judges chosen to pass on the merits of each club. All the competing clubs were requested to sing a number chosen by the judges, in addition to one number each chosen by the individual clubs. Then each group was requested to sing its college song and put on some sort of a comedy farce skit.

Hillsdale college, of Hillsdale, and Junior college, of Grand Rapids, were awarded second and third places, respectively. Other colleges competing were Western State Normal, Central State Normal, and Detroit city college.

Another pleasing feature of this victory is the way in which the Hope students celebrated this victory. Very orderly groups of students gathered on the campus. They cheered the girls and gave some college yells and songs. The townspeople seemed much more pleased with this celebration than they were with the one a few weeks ago.

Governor Alex J. Groesbeck has set aside May 1 as Arbor day in Michigan and says that we should never overlook an opportunity to plant and restore as far as possible the forests of a generation ago.

Grief-stricken and on the verge of collapse, Leo Krueger, 39 years old, of Grand Rapids last Tuesday night started on his way from his home to the Alt undertaking rooms at 337 Bridge st., N. W., Grand Rapids, to view the body of his wife, Martha, also 39, who had succumbed 14 hours before after leaping from a second-story window at Butterworth hospital where she was a patient.

Krueger failed to reach his destination alive. He fell ill, staggered into the Riechel drug store at 634 Bridge st., N. W., and a moment later joined his wife in death. Bodies of husband and wife Wednesday lie side by side at the undertaking parlors. They will be buried together in Mount Calvary cemetery Friday morning following double funeral services to be held at nine o'clock at St. Mary's church.

Death came to Mrs. Krueger at 5:30 Tuesday morning, four hours after she had made her fatal leap.

Early Tuesday, a nurse attempted to attend to the patient, but she refused medicine and Dr. William Rosenthal, an interne, was able to persuade her only after talking to her in German. A restraining jacket was placed on her and she was given an opiate. Later, the nurse found her apparently sleeping quietly and left her, but a moment later the nurse returned and found a window open and a large jagged hole torn in the screen. She looked down into the courtyard and saw the patient lying on the ground 30 feet below.

Two fractures of one leg, a broken wrist and a gash in the head were Mrs. Krueger's injuries and she failed to revive, Coroner Simeon LeRoy, called soon after she died, made an investigation.

Shortly before 7 o'clock Tuesday night, the husband, employed as machine operator at the Wyoming yards of the Pere Marquette railroad, left his home in company with the brother. Nervous and haggard, he had drained three cups of coffee and started on his way.

Soon afterward, Krueger complained of feeling ill and the brother aided him into the drug store. There he collapsed and he died while efforts were being made to revive him.

One of the largest and most elaborate of the spring weddings at Grand Haven was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stegenga, Washington st., when their daughter, Miss Esther Stegenga, was united in marriage to Lester J. Klaasen of Holland last week Wednesday afternoon.

Promptly at five o'clock, the bride and attendant, her sister Miss Betty Stegenga, came down the stairs to the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march, played by Mrs. Margaret Stegenga of Holland. She met the groom and his groomsmen, Ray Klaasen, a cousin, of Holland, at the beautiful improvised altar made from ferns and flowers.

Rev. Henry Schipper, of the First Reformed church, read the impressive ring service while Mrs. Edward Roberts of Grand Haven sang "Beloved It Is Morn" and "O Promise Me."

The bride was lovely in a white canton crepe gown, trimmed with beautiful lace. This was made in the fashionable straight mode with panels edged with lace. Lace also was used at the neck line. Her veil, which completely covered her gown, was held in place by a cap arrangement fashioned from lace worn on her mother's wedding gown. She carried a bouquet of roses and snapdragons.

Following the ceremony the company was entertained at a wedding supper. The bridal table was arranged in the sun room and centered with the beautiful wedding cake, spring flowers were used about the room yellow and white prevailing.

Miss Florence Keeler acted as mistress of ceremonies and assisting her in the dining room were Miss Elizabeth Fisher, Miss Angie Van Coevering, Miss Jeanette Poel and Miss Joyce Klaasen of Holland.

The bride and groom left during the evening for a short wedding trip that was a complete secret. They will be at their new home in Holland, 52 East Twenty-first st., after June 30th.

Mr. Albert Vanden Berg, of Orange City, Ia., a member of the senior class of Hope College, entertained at dinner last Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Mary Hidding, E. 9th street.

A most delightful three course dinner was served under the direction of Mrs. Hidding. Each lady guest was presented with a beautiful corsage bouquet and a motto picture; the gentlemen each wore a rose. The table decorations were elaborate. Mr. Vanden Berg celebrated his 23rd birthday in this way and a delightful evening was spent. He was presented with a beautiful leather writing case.

Those present were the Misses Grace Gardel, Clarissa open, Grace DeWolf, Marcelle Galentine, Jean Bronkema, and Messrs Ben Rieersma, Gerrit Wesselink, James De Pree, Theodore Hidding and Albert Vanden Berg.

Mrs. H. Enasing left Monday for Blodgett hospital where she will undergo a serious operation.

What Compound Interest Will Do In The Savings Bank!

In 1792 Benjamin Franklin bequeathed $5,000. to the commonwealth of Massachusetts and the city of Boston with the provision that it should be put out at interest for a hundred years. He further stipulated that at the expiration of that period, 33 1/3 per cent. of the fund accumulated should be again put out at the same interest for another hundred years. At the end of the second period, one fourth of the total fund is to be given to Boston and three fourths to the state of Massachusetts.

At the end of the first hundred years, the original $5,000.00 had become $431,383.62. As provided in the will, $102,083.14 was re-invested.

The last figures we saw stated that this second investment then represented $267,805.15 and had seventy-three years yet to go. At this rate of increase the comparatively small sum given by the first great American teacher of thrift will enable the beneficiaries to divide something over six million dollars in 1991.

Franklin made the bequest to show his gratitude for the action of the state of Massachusetts in making him Agent in England.

ANOTHER INSTANCE

While Franklin was representing the American Colonies in England from 1757 to 1762 he placed 100 pounds with the Society of Friends as a trust, to be invested with the accruing interest for 150 years. Then from the income awards were to be made for most valuable contribution to science on the subject of cures, particularly surgery, nerve maladies and mind healing.

The first awards from the Ben Franklin fund have just been made. A Japanese surgeon gets $2,500, the estate of Charles P. Steinmetz, electrical wizard $5,000, and Dr. Pierson Banning of Los Angeles, mental healing expert, $12,500.

Holland is experiencing a real residential building boom and scores of new homes are being erected, especially in the southern and western sections of the city. Some of the new homes will represent an investment ranging from $10,000 to $25,000.

Mr. Wm. D. Sanders of Green returned home Sunday after a week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. A. M. Galentine.

Dr. J. E. Kuizenga of Holland occupied the pulpit of Central Reformed church of Grand Rapids Sunday.

LOCAL STUDENT AGAIN WINNER IN CONTEST

Holland high school was the winner in the Detroit News oratorical contest for this district held in the high school Friday night. The contest was held before a representative audience of 300.

In the final, Glen Severance of Holland was awarded first place. B. G. Berline of Saugatuck and Clara Belle Sinclair tied for second place. Young Severance will represent the district at the zone contest, to be held at Kalamazoo next Tuesday. Schools represented here Friday night were: Saugatuck, Zeeland, Wayland, Otsego and Holland. The judges were: Supt. Shigley of Allegan and Babcock of Grand Haven and Prof. Wyand of Holland.

Principal J. J. Riemersma, who has charge of the district in which the contest was held, appointed Jacob Peon chairman of the contest at the school Friday night. In fact he gave the entire matter over into the hands of the student body, in order that the pupils might derive benefit from an affair of this kind.

The subject of Mr. Severance's oration was "The Constitution." Every contestant spoke on some phase of the Constitution of the United States.

It is the object of the Detroit News to put folks in closer touch with the constitution, making for better citizenship, and this paper felt that this could be done in no better way than through the medium of an oratorical contest, nationwide in scope.

Holland naturally had the largest attendance at the contest, since the affair was held in this city, although Zeeland, Otsego, Saugatuck and Wayland were also well represented.

More honors have come to Holland and this time a student at the local high school won the second step in the Detroit News oratorical contest.

On Friday night of this week Mr. Severance will go to Detroit and give his oration, "The Constitution," when he competes in the zone contest.

Should Mr. Severance win in the state contest he will then be sent to Indianapolis on May 1st to compete in one of the national districts and should he win there he will then compete for national honors at Washington, D. C., the date to be announced later.

At Kalamazoo Mr. Severance was in competition with five others speakers from Kalamazoo, Coldwater, Albion, South Haven, and Dowagiac.

The prizes that are offered are: first prize, $500.00; second prize, $250.00; third prize, ten volumes containing the world's best orations; fourth prize, set of American National history in 28 volumes.

Mr. Severance has already pulled down the last named prize and if he continues as he has begun he may be the recipient of several more prizes.

A winner at Indianapolis is entitled to $300.00 and a winner at Washington, D. C., has $2,000 coming to him. Mr. Hinga and Mr. Welsh of the local high school accompanied Mr. Severance to Kalamazoo and Principal Riemersma will go to Detroit with him Friday. At that time T. E. Johnson, state superintendent of public instruction, will be in charge of the meeting.

The Van Raalte P-T club held its April meeting Tuesday. The Athenaeum society of the Holland high school gave a very fine program in charge of Mr. Bennett. The first number of the entertainment was a solo by Paul Nettinga. "The Best That You Can Be," followed by a short song, "The Owl." A playlet called "Trash" was ably given and much enjoyed. The high school quartet sang two selections and the orchestra performed with great spirit. The accompanist of the evening was Russell Smith. Mr. Moody, physical education instructor in the schools, also obliged with solos.

The luncheon of the evening was enjoyed in the form of boxes which were auctioned off by Mr. VanderVen. Though there was not a large crowd attending the evening can be counted profitably spent.

The Masonic Minstrels of Whitehall who are to show at the Masonic Temple on Friday, April 24, are bound to have a record breaking house as the tickets are going fast even at this early date.

Folks seem to want to see one of these old-fashioned minstrel shows again, and this one is real funny with a cast of 23.

Tickets are now on sale at Hulzenga's Jewelry store, Superior Cigar store, Lawrence Drug store on 13th street, the Model Drug store on River avenue and 8th street, White's Market and Jack Blue's confectionery, East 8th street.

Seven rows in Masonic Temple will be reserved and these reservations may be made at the Model Drug store.

Jacob Waterway of Park township has a small Overland car that has been put to perhaps more uses than any other car in the state. Almost daily at present Waterway hitches his car in front of a spike-tooth drag and drags his fields this way instead of using a team of horses. Last winter he made a stationery engine out of it, hitched a flywheel to it and attaching a belt sawed many cords of firewood. During these spring days also he is using the Overland as a wire fence stretcher. Waterway is constantly devising new things that he can make his car do and he gets away with most of them. The little bus already has over 30,000 miles on its indicator.

Jacob Frie of Holland and John Frie of Zeeland motored to Chicago Monday morning. They will remain for three days.

Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Nettinga and sons, Paul and James, of Holland, were guests of Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Mulder at Spring Lake Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hoover and mother motored to La Porte, Ind., for the week-end.

Carl Van Raalte, employed on the army job, fell off a truss Monday while at work about 27 feet from the ground. Van Raalte landed on his feet and broke one of his arches. He was taken to his home on 16th street and his condition was reported today as somewhat improved. While it is expected that he will soon be out on crutches it is likely that he will be unable to work for a month or two.

Mrs. John Van Eyck submitted to an operation at her home in North Holland.

The Calvin College track team, which was scheduled to run a relay race against Hope this spring, has cancelled the race because the authorities forbade Freshmen to be on the team. Hope's runners used to compete against the Grand Rapids Y. M. C. A., but these races have not been run off for the last four years. Interest for the race was high here and the locals are keenly disappointed over the cancellation.

Hager Music House of Grand Rapids has opened a branch at Grand Haven with a complete line of pianos and band instruments. C. S. Morrison, instructor of music in the Grand Haven public schools, will have charge of the branch store. This is the first of several branch stores which the Hager Music House plans to establish in western Michigan cities within a reasonable time.

Pruim's Music House in Holland has changed hands and is now doing business under the name of the Goodbye Music Co. The stock and lease have been sold to Mr. Fred Goodyke, who has been conducting a music house in Zeeland. Mr. Goodyke has already taken possession and will be in personal charge from now on.

Mr. E. J. Pruij will confine his activities for the present to his store in Grand Haven. He will continue to make his home in Zeeland.

Secretary Dick Van Tatenhove states that the Holland trap shoot club will open the season at the fairgrounds at two o'clock Saturday afternoon when the local men and boys classes will compete for shooting honors.

The Holland Shoe company, through Mr. Frank Whelan, offers a pair of oxfords to the highest scorer in Saturday's contest. The secretary states that Bill Woldring is in need of a new pair of shoes for summer and boasts that he'll make a perfect score. Vance Mape, one of the crack shots of the club, will however also be an able contender.

The traps are now all installed at the fairgrounds ready for Saturday's event. All are welcome to witness the shoot but only members can compete in the shooting.

Anyone wishing to join the club can do so by enrolling with secretary Van Tatenhove at the corner Hardware, or with Andrew Hyma, treasurer of the club.

Cassius Rockwell, 65, prominent Allegan farmer, was robbed of at least $12,800, it was revealed Monday night when he was brought to the city by his son, Fred, and son's father-in-law, Frank Switzenberg, who went to Goshen, Ind., where it was reported he was attacked while sleeping in his car and robbed of $15,000.

Mr. Rockwell is still suffering from the effects of his experience. He was not slugged, as first reported, but was recovering from effects of chloroform, with which his clothing was saturated by the thugs, who poured a large quantity of the liquid into the locked sedan, in which Mr. Rockwell was sleeping. Mr. Rockwell can recall nothing about the incident, though it is believed he may be able to furnish information when he fully recovers.

Mr. Rockwell started last week for Fremont to visit relatives. His family believed he was there until police in Goshen reported the attack and robbery.

Superintendent John Vander Ark of the School for Christian Instruction has handed in his resignation to the board of education of that school and has accepted a position as superintendent in a similar school in Grand Rapids. The board has accepted the resignation with reluctance since Mr. Vander Ark has made a fine record during the years that he has been in Holland.

The new position in Grand Rapids is a promotion for Mr. Vander Ark. It is the superintendency of the Baxter Street Christian school, a large institution with 18 teachers besides the superintendent. The school is located on the east side and is one of the important Christian schools in that city. It has an enrollment of about 650 pupils and includes all the grades, including the Junior high school.

Mr. Vander Ark is a native of Grand Rapids and received his education there, graduating from Calvin college in 1902. Later he attended the Western State Normal school at Kalamazoo and he received his life certificate from that institution. He taught in the Creston Christian school in Grand Rapids for nine years and then went to Chicago where he taught in the State Street Christian school in Roseland for four years. Then he came to Holland and he has been in the local school for five years.

Mr. Vander Ark and family expect to go to Grand Rapids the latter part of June.

The American Legion Auxiliaries of the fifth district of Michigan are to hold a meeting at Rockford on Saturday, April 25. The state president, Mrs. F. F. Spaulding of St. Johns, will be present and will give an address. A luncheon will be served at 12 o'clock, preceding the business meeting which will occupy the afternoon.

Road conditions between Holland and Rockford being very good, the local Auxiliary hopes to secure enough automobiles so that as many of the members of the Holland Auxiliary as wish to attend can do so. A nominal sum will be charged for the trip, only just enough to pay for the expense of driving a car to Rockford. All who wish to go are asked to notify Mrs. J. H. Den Herder who will give the names to the committee on arrangements and also send them to Rockford for reservations for the luncheon.

Reports kept coming in from people who counted automobiles last Sunday with a view of getting an idea as to the number of people from Grand Rapids and other places who visited the Macatawa ruins. One person living about a mile and a half east of the Holland city limits on the Grand Rapids road counted cars from 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon to 4:30 and the number of cars passing was 340. But this same person made a similar count at the same time of the day the Sunday before that and counted 280, so that the number, above the average passing that particular point was not so great as might have been expected.

On Sunday afternoon at six o'clock this same person drove to Holland and counted cars that were met in the mile and a half to the Holland city limits while going at a fair rate of speed, and the total was 70 cars, making almost a solid stream of automobiles all the way, which gave the impression that at that time at least the number was greatly above the average.

The Hope College "Preps" started their diamond work, with practice games with some of the college classes. Fifteen fellows have reported for practice with Albers, Lemmen and Wierama as pitching recruits, and Howard, Dykhuizen, and Knoll as other likely material. The infield already looks like a real team, and with the stick Wyngarden and others are regular Babe Ruths. The manager has announced the following schedule:

April 24, Zeeland there; April 28, Hudsonville, here; May 15, Hudsonville, there; May 19, Zeeland, here.

The Woman's Literary club building Tuesday was the busiest place in Holland. During the morning 107 delegates from the various cities included in the west central district of Michigan registered there for the annual meeting of that division of the Michigan state federation of women's clubs.

Mrs. J. M. Hutchinson, district president, presided over the sessions. A few reports of activities of the various departments were given under business for the morning and then a change in program was made to accommodate one of the speakers, Mrs. Geo. E. Arnold of Albion who had been scheduled for the afternoon. Mrs. Arnold, as chairman of the home department, gave an address on the home, especially a modern club woman's relation to it. In searching for the causes for the changes in the homes of today, she pointed out the difficulty in getting women out to vote) but rather to the general spirit of unrest, especially among women, and their desire for recreation. Mrs. Arnold made a strong plea for "homes first" among all women, especially club women. A vocal solo by Mrs. Arthur Vlascher completed the morning session.

Luncheon was served to 250 at Hope church parlors at 12:30 o'clock. This number included local club members, as well as visiting delegates.

The afternoon session was begun at 1:30 with invocation by Mrs. Jas. Weyer. The Hope College glee club entertained with three selections and proved especially interesting since their recently won honors.

Mrs. G. J. Diekema welcomed the club women to Holland not only in the name of the Woman's Literary club but in the name of this city of beauty, industry, good schools and high standards. Mrs. J. M. Hutchinson responded on behalf of the delegates.

Talent from the Holland Woman's club provided entertainment for the afternoon by giving a one-act play, "Sham," in charge of Mrs. E. C. Brooks. The part of the thief, who reveals to its owners the "Sham" of the household he has entered, was taken by Mrs. Edward Yeomans. Clara, the wife, utterly steeped in "sham," was portrayed by Mrs. Ernest Brooks. The husband, more genuine at heart, was played by Miss Irene Van Zanten, and Mrs. Otto Vande Velde took the part of the reporter. The theme of the play as well as its capable production won the praise and appreciation of the audience.

A piano solo, the first movement from Beethoven's Sonata, was played by Miss Nella Meyer, whose artistic work also won very favorable commendation.

The guest of honor of the day, Mrs. Geo. G. Hunter, state president of the federation, finished the session's program by conducting the club institute and giving an address on club work and influence.

Delegates at this meeting nominated for district president, Mrs. Leon Miner of Owosso, for vice president, Mrs. Geo. Smith of Belding, and for secretary-treasurer Mrs. Thomas Barber of Saranac. The election of these officers takes place at the fall meeting.

A resolution thanking the Holland club for its genial entertainment was unanimously passed just before adjournment.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Graefschap Christian Ref'd church will hold their spring sale of ready-made goods Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, fast time, in the chapel of the church. All are welcome.

AN ORDINANCE

To supplement an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to Regulate Street Traffic in the City of Holland, being Chapter No. 52 of An Ordinance to Revise, Amend, Re-enact, Consolidate and compile the General Ordinances of the City of Holland, to Provide Penalties for Violation Thereof, and to Repeal all Ordinances and Parts of Ordinances in Conflict Herewith" passed and approved September 20, 1922, and to provide for the impounding of vehicles parked in violation of traffic regulations in the city of Holland.

1. Establishing Automobile Pound. 2. Impounding and fee for violation. 3. Posting and penalties. 4. Accounting of fees and record of violations. 5. When it is effectual. 6. Compilation Provision.

The City of Holland Ordains:— (445) Sec. 1. There is hereby created an automobile and vehicle pound, to which automobiles and other vehicles may be removed by the Police Department in cases hereinafter provided. Such pound shall be located and operated at a place designated by the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners. The Chief of Police shall have charge and control of such pound when established.

(446) Sec. 2. Whenever any vehicle shall be found by a police officer, parked in violation of an Ordinance, to which this ordinance is supplemental entitled "An Ordinance to Regulate Street Traffic in the City of Holland, being Chapter No. 52 of An Ordinance to Revise, Amend, Re-enact, Consolidate and compile the General Ordinances of the City of Holland, to Provide Penalties for Violation Thereof, and to Repeal all Ordinances and Parts of Ordinances in Conflict Herewith," such police officer may file a complaint before a Justice of the Peace of the city of Holland against the owner or driver of such vehicle; or such vehicle may be removed and conveyed by means of towing the same or otherwise, by a police officer, to the Automobile and Vehicle Pound. Such vehicles shall not be discharged or removed from said pound except upon the payment by the owner of such vehicle or his duly authorized representative to the officer in charge of such pound of a fee of one dollar for the first violation of this ordinance by such owner, or two dollars for second violation and of five dollars for each subsequent violation. Provided, that no violations committed prior to the date when this ordinance goes into effect and no violations committed more than one year prior to any other violation shall be considered in determining the number of violations committed by a particular owner. When the owner of a vehicle impounded or his representative presents himself at the pound to claim his vehicle it shall be the duty of the officer in charge to inform such owner or his representative of the nature and circumstances of the violation on account of which such vehicle has been impounded. In case protest is made by such owner or his representative against the payment of such impounding fee and such protest is supported by a denial by him under oath of the facts constituting the alleged violation, there shall be given him by the officer in charge of said pound upon payment by such person of the proper fee, according to the number of violations, a receipt for the same marked "Paid Under Protest."

But in such case it shall thereupon be the duty of the officer having knowledge of the facts to forthwith make a complaint before a Justice of the Peace in the city of Holland, under the proper ordinance charging the owner or driver of such vehicle with that violation of the ordinance on account of which the vehicle was impounded. Provided, however, that in case such person is subsequently found not guilty in Justice Court of having committed the violation on account of which the vehicle was impounded, it shall thereupon be the duty of the Chief of Police to refund to such person the fee paid by him under protest.

(447) Sec. 3. When it is deemed impracticable, or inadvisable by an officer, witnessing a violation of this ordinance, to tow the offending vehicle to the pound, he may, instead, post or affix a notice to such vehicle notify the driver of the facts of the violation and directing him to pay to the officer in charge of the pound, the fee which would have been charged if the vehicle had been impounded. Such notice shall further state, that if such fee is not paid within forty-eight hours from the time of the leaving of such notice, a complaint will be made before a Justice of the Peace in the city of Holland against the violator. If the owner of such vehicle or his representative presents himself at the pound in response to such notice, he shall be subject to the same penalties and entitled to the same rights as though his vehicle had been impounded. If he does not present himself as directed or does not pay the proper fee within forty-eight hours from the time such notice was posted the officer having knowledge of the facts shall forthwith make a complaint against such violator in Justice Court.

(448) Sec. 4. It shall be the duty of the Chief of Police to account for all fees collected under this section and to pay the same into the city treasury. He shall also keep a record of the names of the owners of all vehicles impounded, the numbers of their state license tags, the nature and circumstances of each violation and the disposition of each case.

(449) Sec. 5. This Ordinance shall take effect twenty days after its passage.

(450) Sec. 6. This Ordinance shall be and hereby is compiled as Chapter No. 55, Sections 145 to 150, inclusive of "An Ordinance to Revise, Amend, Re-enact, Consolidate and Compile the General Ordinances of the City of Holland, to Provide the Penalties for Violation thereof, and to Repeal all Ordinances in Conflict Herewith" passed and approved by the common council of the city of Holland, September 20, A. Frank Van Ry, Jr., of Holland, was arrested Saturday by the Ottawa county sheriff's department for violation of the liquor law. Van Ry was arraigned before Justice J. N. Clark, Zeeland, demanded an examination which was set for Wednesday morning and furnished bail of $500.

At a meeting of the Allegan board of cemetery trustees, Lathrop Bros., builders of mausoleums, presented a proposition to erect such a building in Oakwood cemetery, to be built with Bedford stone exterior and marble interior and to contain individual crypts for caskets. These crypts will be constructed of cement with closed marble front, and will be ventilated and disinfected with formaldehyde vapor. These crypts will be sold at the average price of about $300. When the mausoleum is completed, it will be turned over to the city with an endowment fund for upkeep. The excellent work of the cemetery board is shown by the fact that they have been operating without aid from the city this year and will have $1,000 on hand.—Allegan Gazette.

The congregation of the Spring Lake Reformed church held a farewell reception for their pastor, Rev. Henry Mollema and Mrs. Mollema in the parlors of the church. Rev. Mollema has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Reformed church at Hingham, Wis., delivering his farewell sermon to his Spring Lake congregation Sunday.

Rev. Mollema has been in the pastorate of the Spring Lake Reformed church for the last eight years. During that time he has made many warm friendships in both Spring Lake and Grand Haven. His wife, too, is popular among the residents of both places, where she has created many warm friendships. The decision of the pastor and his wife to enter new fields of work causes genuine regret.

Friday night in the parlors of the Spring Lake Reformed church, about 170 members and attendants of the church gathered at the church parlors to tender their farewell to the pastor and his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Mollema have many friends living in Holland. Rev. Mollema being a graduate from Hope college and also from the Seminary.

Charles Karr of the Holland Furnace Co., is on a business trip to Detroit, Toledo, and Cleveland.

One of the largest real estate transfers consummated in Saugatuck township for many years was transacted recently when John Guyon, owner and manager of "Guyon's Paradise", Chicago, and a summer resorter there for many years, purchased what is known as the Hamilton estate from Mrs. W. D. Hamilton and a large tract of the Spencer estate of Douglas, involving a purchase price of $50,000.

This gives Mr. Guyon a beautiful 50-acre tract bordering on Kalamazoo lake, which he intends to greatly improve, building a yacht-basin, private golf links and a beautiful summer home.

Sheriff Kamferbeek had a plan worked out whereby a high grade man would have been selected for the motorcycle officer job. His direction would have been along the approved lines, only to make arrests in needed cases and to aid and assist tourists in every way. A very fair and understanding brand of traffic law enforcement was to have been carried out, for the sheriff, a motorist himself, realized the peculiar problems of the auto driver.

It was also planned to have the motorcycle officer co-operate in every branch of law enforcement, calling in at the main office at frequent intervals for directions and to receive reports of any autos that might be stopped to overtake wanted criminals. Many deaths due to accidents by careless driving which would have not been present had Ottawa roads been regularly patrolled in the past, were cited by the sheriff as reasons for his request for a traffic officer.

Since the failure of the board of supervisors to provide for a traffic officer on Ottawa county highways for the coming summer, Sheriff Fred H. Kamferbeek is busy devising a system whereby good traffic regulation may be had on the county highways and trunk lines. Both the sheriff and the road commission favored a motorcycle officer and the matter came up before the board of supervisors at their last session, only to meet defeat.

A salaried officer was sought by the county authorities to keep track of traffic enforcement and to make arrests in needed cases. It was proposed to make the job a salaried one in order to preclude any of the protests that might come against a fee system officer who, however, fair, always comes in for criticism from the disgruntled ones.

G. G. Fales of Wayland was elected president of the Master Blacksmiths' and Horseshoers' association at the conclusion of a two-day convention at Muskegon Wednesday. J. A. Hinkle and Daniel Coffey, both of Allegan, were elected vice president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. J. P. Smith, president of the national organization, was the principal speaker.

Fire that swept through the Grand Haven bowling alleys early Saturday morning did several thousand dollars damage before being brought under control. The blaze was discovered making good headway by Erick Seaberg of that city who immediately turned in the alarm and brought the fire department on the scene. By that time the blaze had started to come up through the floor of the alleys and flames were licking the ceiling of the first floor. Two lines of hose were run from the front and rear and by flooding the seat of the blaze in the double floor, the fire was extinguished in good time. The blaze started behind the furnace, it was stated, this being located underneath two of the alleys which were burned. The water used damaged the third alley to a great extent. The building and contents were insured, the structure being owned by Mrs. M. V. Gurnsey, who is absent while traveling in India. Aart Kammeraad is owner and proprietor of the Grand Haven alleys and has conducted them for two years now.

Hope's baseball aggregation turned in a win over the Calvin nine Saturday, 6 to 3. Two home runs, one by Rietring of Calvin and the other by Vanden Brink of Hope, added a thrill to a close tilt.

Before the seventh inning the score read 2-1 in Hope's favor. Calvin then pushed in two runs in their half of the seventh and Van Lente, Vanden Brink and Elenbaas scored three for Hope. Hope's remaining run came across in the eighth.

Calvin's outfielders performed in a neat manner, missing rarely a chance at a fly. Hope's gardeners did as well, however. Cole, pitching his first game of collegiate baseball, gave a good exhibition of mound work and he shows great promise. He was given excellent support too, Hope only making two errors. He was relieved in the ninth by Bulkema. Van Wyhe hurled for Calvin in fine style but was nicked for more hits than was Cole.

Rev. W. C. Walvoord of Waupun, Wis., has been elected a member of the council of Hope college by the Wisconsin class. Rev. John Weselink of Pella, Ia., has been re-elected a member of the board of superintendents of Western Theological seminary by the Pella class. Both men are graduates of the institutions in which they have been elected to serve.

The Holland Fish & Game Protective association Thursday night combatted the statement that has been made by sportsmen in some parts of the state that its members are "fish and game hogs" and that they wish to have everything their own way regardless of the rights of others in other parts of the state.

The charge has been made particularly in Grand Rapids that because of the fact that the Holland association, with a membership of 800, is the largest organization of its kind in the state, it is trying to do as it pleases and take what fish they like whenever they like.

"This is definitely and absolutely untrue," said one of the officers of the association today. "The members of the Holland association are not trying to get any favors that others do not enjoy and they are just as anxious to protect black bass, white bass, blue gills and other fish as anybody. But they do object to having Black Lake classified in such a way by people from other parts of the state that perch and speckled bass cannot be caught except at a time of the year when no one cares for them. The Holland association is strong for the protection of fish but it sees no reason for protecting perch and speckled bass in Black Lake until July when these same fish can be caught without limit a few feet beyond the piers in Lake Michigan.

"We believe that our position on perch and speckled bass is reasonable and we have more than once tried to get a meeting with the protesting fishermen and sportsmen from Grand Rapids who are calling us names but we have never succeeded. We are not afraid to stand by our position and to give good and sufficient reasons for it.

"It is absolutely untrue that we are 'fish hogs' or anything of the kind. We want to protect the fish that need protection and we are vigilant in enforcing the law."

Commercial fishermen who have expressed their opposition to some fish conservation measures now before the two branches of the legislature will be given the opportunity of a public hearing before a joint meeting of the house and senate conservation committees.

The bills to which they object propose the placing of a closed season on some kinds of fish in the waters of the Great Lakes and further restrict the methods of taking fish by gill nets or seines.

Through his attorney Earle F. Fobche, Justice William Gardner Sautguck, against whom proceedings were brought by young people who claimed they were excessively fined for entering a cottage at Saugatuck, has offered in Justice Fildus Fish's court at Allegan to return the sum of $149. Charles K. Van Duren of Holland, attorney for the plaintiff, refused to accept the money and elected to proceed with the trial of the case on its merits, demanding damages to treble the amount of the fines illegally collected.

The case has attracted wide attention in Allegan county. Last August a party of young people, composed of Metta Belle Hillman, George O'Day, Harold Appquist, Sylvia Grayson, Mary Newack, James Sitourian, William McSweeney, Rollin Grayson, Anna Bellinger and Esther Clark, took refuge on the porch of a cottage during a rainstorm.

They found the door unlocked and entered. Informed of their presence, the owner appeared and broke up the party. All were arrested and brought before Justice Gardner on a blanket warrant charging disorderly conduct. A deputy sheriff and assistant took them to court in a taxicab. Though they were arrested on one warrant, it is charged the justice fined each separately and collected fees as follows: Fifty cents each for telephone, $1 each for taxi, $1 each for fees for two assistant officers, $1 apiece for the girls, $5 apiece for the men.

The party wanted to give bail, but the justice would not permit it, they declared, and they then pleaded guilty, paid fines and costs and were freed.

Descendant of the ancient Vikings and as genuine a mariner as ever sailed in any craft on the Great Lakes, Ralph Thompson, 21, member of the Muskegon state guard crew, is battling for a vindication in the Michigan supreme court of his honesty and integrity.

Thompson was arrested a few months ago and charged with perjury in connection with his obtaining a marriage license before he and his wife were married at Hart. They were peacefully living together in a little cottage under the very shadows of the coast guard station tower when an officer broke up their happiness and rushed him away to jail.

Thompson had sworn before Arthur J. Aldrich, county clerk at Hart, that his wife was 16 years of age, and his wife's mother, standing beside him in the clerk's office, had listened to his statement without objection on her part. Thompson maintains that both his wife and her mother had so informed him and both his wife and her mother vouch for the statement.

But Thompson's wife was but 15 years of age and therefore, under the laws of Michigan, not marriageable. And both the mother and daughter admit they misinformed Thompson as to her true age when they told him she was 16.

Thompson remained in jail until bond was furnished and friends obtained the services of an attorney to defend him.

Despite determined efforts of both friends and his lawyer, Thompson was convicted.

Thompson is in line for promotion in the service, but until his record is cleared of the criminal charge against him he cannot improve his present position.

If he loses his appeal to the supreme court, he will be summarily dismissed from the coast guard and the plans he has made with his youthful wife and his boyhood ambition to reach the top of the service will be wasted.

Thompson was with the coast guard during the war and was awarded a bonus for services when but 15 years old. He has saved four persons from drowning, one at the risk of his own life.

Meanwhile, anxiously awaiting the decision of the supreme court, Thompson and his wife are still living happily together in the little cottage under the very shadows of the coast guard station tower, while Willard G. Turner, Jr., a Muskegon lawyer, is seeking to the limit of his ability the reversal of the lower court conviction.

According to The Banner, Christian Reformed publication issued in Grand Rapids, Rev. Herman Hoeksema, formerly of Holland and principal in the sensational lawsuit in Grand Rapids over church property, has transferred his operations to Iowa and is now engaged in organizing new congregations there of people who agree with him on the subject of common grace.

On March 16 a new congregation was organized at Hull, Iowa, which has assumed the name of "Protesting Christian Reformed Church." That name is self-explanatory. Four elders and four deacons were chosen and installed and a trio of pastors was named from whom one will presumably be called in due time as the pastor of the new congregation. The three pastors are: Rev. Mr. Ophoff, Rev. Mr. Dusseljee, and Candidate Danhof. The first and last named were deposed because of their stand on common grace.

Rev. Mr. Hoeksema has been delivering a series of lectures at Hull and several other places in Iowa and the new church organization is the result. It has been joined by 42 families.

In an editorial the editor of the Banner charges Rev. Mr. Hoeksema with double dealing in that he and his followers claim still to belong to the Christian Reformed church and to have a right to appeal to the synod but at the same time organize a rival church in the west from members of the Christian Reformed church. He points out that the Hoeksema faction retained the name "Christian Reformed church" in newspaper advertisements. The comment continues:

"Now, for the sake of argument, let us take these declarations at face value. Here come the news from the West that the pastor of the Grand Rapids congregation alluded to has lent a hand in the organizing of a new congregation in Hull, Iowa. What must we think of such in the face of the assertions and claims of still being connected with our denomination? There is no room to think of anything but of contradiction, and that of the plainest type?"

Fritz Haarmann, of Hanover, Germany, wholesale murderer, was beheaded at sunrise Tuesday morning. Haarmann, a butcher, was sentenced to death by a Hanover court on Dec. 19 last for the slaying of 26 persons. Hans Grans, his accomplice, received a life sentence.

"I go to the decapitating block joyfully and happily," declared Haarmann just before sentence was pronounced. He appeared unconcerned when the extreme penalty was imposed.

Haarmann lured men and boys to his lodgings and killed them and threw their bodies into the river. Alienists testified that Haarmann was sane.

Dr. J. H. Van Ness of Allegan this week announced that he will leave May 21 to accompany about 500 other American physicians and surgeons to Europe where they will visit a number of European countries and attend clinics in many cities this summer.

The delegation is to be headed by Charles Mayo, the famous surgeon of Mayo hospital Rochester, Minn., and included in the group are some of the most prominent medical men in the United States.

The tour is to be known as the Interstate postgraduate assembly Clinic tour. The first clinic will be held in Toronto. After a two day clinic in Montreal the party will sail for England. A week is to be spent in London followed by clinics in Liverpool, Manchester and Leeds. Two days will be spent in Dublin, three in Belfast. A visit will be made to Glasgow, Edinburgh, Newcastle, followed by five days in Paris. While this ends the main tour, extension tours have been provided and Dr. Van Ness will take advantage of one of these.

This will carry him to Lausanne, Geneva, for several days, Berne, Interlaken with a trip through the mountains, to Lucerne, Zurich, Milan, Venice, Florence, Rome, Naples, Pompeii, Amalfi Drive, Sorrento and Capri from where the party will sail for home.

The tour is primarily a post-graduate course for the doctors attending and Dr. Van Ness feels that he has been presented with an exceptional opportunity in being invited to accompany this tour, which is the first big tour of its kind ever attempted, and which is being taken at the invitation of the biggest universities in Europe. The best and largest hospitals of all the European cities are to be thrown open to the visiting physicians and surgeons during their tour.

It is becoming more certain every day that Holland will have an open school during the coming school year. Mrs. G. J. Diekema, as president of the Woman's Literary Club and through her close affiliation with the nursing service in Holland, has been giving brief talks before the various Parents-Teachers clubs in the city. And the response has been such that the sentiment for such a school seems to be almost unanimous. Petitions are in preparation from various clubs for such a school and it seems a foregone conclusion that the board will heed the demand and provide the new service.

A fresh air school for Holland was suggested some months ago when the first of the series of chest clinics was held here and when it was discovered that a number of pupils were in such physical condition that they needed special attention that cannot be given them in the usual school room.

A fresh air school can be established at comparatively small expense. The present plan is to equip a room in the Horace Mann school for this purpose and to give the pupils who are run down or who have had disease contacts that might give the suspicion that they are not on a par in health with the average a chance to get toned up and to regain the vigor that every child needs who is to do good work in school.

The fresh air school is not a new thing and its benefits are not at all problematical. It has been tried out in many cities for a dozen or fifteen years and its benefits are unquestioned. Not only does the fresh air school very frequently restore the run-down pupil to health and vigor physically but very often it greatly improves the scholarship of the pupil.

Speaking on the subject, "Fundamentals," Supt. E. E. Fell read an interesting and informative paper before the Social Progress Club Tuesday evening when that organization met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. Leenhouts. It was a discussion of the fundamentals in education and Mr. Fell clearly stated what those fundamentals are.

The charge is often made, he said, that modern education is departing from the fundamentals, but he strongly denied the charge. He declared he believes in fundamentals and that the school has time for nothing else than fundamentals. In a simpler, less hurried, less complex, less strongly industrial age, many of the functions now assumed by the school were taken by other institutions, principal among them the home. The boy and girl learned the use of tools, domestic science, citizenship, home making, etc., from home training. But times have changed and we live in a different age from that of a generation or two ago. The school of today can no more confine itself to the subjects taught in the old days than we can be content with ox-cart roads in an automobile age.

Mr. Fell mentioned and described the various fundamental in education. First are the tools of education, the three R's, which give the pupil indispensable information for communication with his fellows in business and social intercourse. Other fundamentals that must be taught in the schools are citizenship, health, home-making, an appreciation of the beautiful, character development.

But the greatest fundamental in education is the teacher, Mr. Fell declared. The personality, technical training, character, professional spirit of the teacher are of greater importance than anything else in the education of the child.

Mr. Fell asserted strongly that, contrary to charges often made, the average pupil of today is a better reader, better speller, better at "figuring," better informed in every way than the pupil of a generation ago.

George La Mere, a Kasas Indian attending Hope College, and an accomplished cello player, and Miss Gertrude Kramer, pianist of Holland, Mrs. Charles Sheffer, Mrs. T. G. Miss Kramer of Holland won second place in the state music contest at Ann Arbor recently.—Fennville Herald.

Western Theological seminary students preached at the following places Sunday:

Burggraaf, Byron Center; Rynbrandt, Corinth; Schipper, 1st Holland (evening); Tanis, Portage; Roseboom, Forest Grove; Meenga, Allegan; Harevoort, 7th and 3rd Grand Rapids; Pennings, Martin; G. De Jong, Moorland.

Information was given out late Thursday afternoon by Supervisor Sam Hanna of Leighton township, Allegan County, that a resolution would be introduced at the Friday session of the supervisors to provide that the county purchase a motorcycle for the use of the sheriff's office to patrol certain roads to apprehend speed violators again this year. The motorcycle is to patrol the roads only on Saturdays, Sundays and Mondays.

A resolution was passed urging State Sen. George Leland to use his best efforts to secure an additional $100,000 to the bill carrying $250,000 for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Blom have returned from Palo Alto, California, where they have been the guests for three months of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Geerds, formerly of Holland. Mr. Geerds is managing a plant of the Holland Ladder company at Palo Alto.

Ever since returning from California Mr. Blom has been very busy telling his friends here about his experiences of the winter and he asserts that the Palo Alto section is really the great California attraction, or rather the whole district in which Palo Alto is located. Palo Alto is about 30 miles from San Francisco, and Mr. Blom declares that Los Angeles is not to be compared with that section.

He was impressed particularly by Leland Stanford University and the Leland Stanford church, which, he declared, is alone worth making a trip to California for. Recently he witnessed the entry into San Francisco harbor of the United States fleet of 154 war boats and his stay in California was crowded with sight-seeing. Early in March he took a trip through the fruit country and the orchards were in bloom for scores of miles along the road. Along the beach thousands were bathing in the ocean.

The Creston News of Grand Rapids gives the following account of a wedding anniversary staged by a couple who some years ago lived in Holland and are well known here:

"Mr. and Mrs. J. M. DeMaat of Frank street, Grand Rapids, gave a dinner Saturday evening at their home in celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The dinner was served by Mrs. Michael Van Kuiken, assisted by Miss Josephine Schipper, Miss Edith Minnema, Miss Grace Rijkers and Miss Cornelia De Maat. A large wedding cake was presented to the host and hostess by their sister, Mrs. Peter Bey. The rooms were attractively decorated in pastel shades and tables were centered with white carnations. Following the dinner a musical program was given. Miss Edith Minnema gave a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Janet Eklins, pianist; Miss Marie DeMaat, violinist and Abraham Kalawert, saxophonist, gave several numbers. An original poem, written by George Veldman, was read. The out-of-town guests included Albert Klooster, H. H. DeMaat, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Van Anrooy, Henry De Maat and Russel De Maat all of Holland."

County Agent C. P. Milham has issued a warning to fruit growers to watch their apple orchards. The aphids, a small insect pest, has been found on the buds, especially on those of unpruned trees. As many as 20 aphids have been found on a single bud. The aphids suck the sap and rob the bud of its life. Milham urges the use of the spray as the best remedy to combat the pest.

The Grand Haven Tribune in commenting on the reports of Chief Blom relative to fires in Holland during the past year has the following paragraph: "Grand Haven should take warning from the report of the fire situation in Holland, and the statement made by its chief in which another pumper is recommended. If Grand Haven had anywhere near the loss Holland had, a great howl would arise and yet Holland has better average equipment than Grand Haven, size of the city considered."

The Exchange Club at its meeting yesterday voted to send flowers to Superintendent R. B. Champion who was suddenly taken ill about ten days ago. Every girl but one in the high school is now wearing her hair bobbed, and like as not before this item gets back to Hamilton the record will read 100 per cent.
