Tulip Time In Holland To Be A Real Event

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
HEADS PREDICT 50,000
VISITORS HERE

An attendance of 50,000 visitors to Holland is anticipated for the Tulip Time in Holland festival to be held during the week of May 12th, stated Secretary C. A. Gross of the Chamber of Commerce today. Not only is Holland's Tulip Time festival attracting the interest of nearby cities but many thousands of out-of-state visitors will be present also. Almost daily news stories are forwarded to large daily newspapers from out of state.

The Holland Chamber of Commerce, of which Dick Botes is president, through the initiative of this organization is building up a program which will be of interest to all visitors. Every effort is being put forth by the various committees appointed for this event to make it a success. A full and complete program will be announced by the program committee at least a week before the event opens. Three of the weeks events, however are assured to date—they are the flower show in which the Grandview Gardens of Zeeland are taking the initiative. During the festival week on Thursday, May 15th, the High School Chorus and Orchestra will present a concert "Tulip Time," which has a typical Dutch background. On Friday, May 16th, the united city and college musical organizations will present a musical program. For those who are inclined to sports a free-for-all golf tournament will be held at the Country Club on Saturday, May 17th. The Flower Show committee wish to again announce that any private entries for the flower show should be reported at once to the Chamber of Commerce office, or John Van Braght.

The reason for this early announcement is that because the display this year must be made in the effect of a huge floral architectural display and all contributions will be developed in the design of same. Ribbon awards will be given both golf and flower show entries.

A buttonhole tulip design is being prepared through the Chamber of Commerce as a token for visitors to carry away from Holland as a remembrance of the festival. These tokens can be purchased by local business interests at a cost—every merchant, lunch room, office, etc. These tokens will have an advertising value also as the name of merchant purchaser will be printed on as many of these buttonhole tulips as he may want to purchase. A call will be made upon all merchants so that all may have an opportunity to get in on this attractive courtesy offer.

METROPOLITAN CLUB STAGES MOVIE "WIDE OPEN"

Next Monday and Tuesday the Metropolitan club comprising the firemen, policemen and mail carriers of Holland and surrounding cities, will stage the sensational movie production "Wide Open" just released by Warner Bros. The benefits of this movie through the efforts of manager of the Holland theatre will go to the benefit of the Metropolitan organization. The list of the best stars will be found in the cast, among them Patsy Ruth Miller, Louis Fazenda, Ed Horton, Bob Gordon and a dozen others. It is said to be a scream with laughs galore and of course it is a talkie. It is said to be the most hilarious comedy in which Ed Horton stars. Remember this talkie will be at the Holland theatre the next week Monday and Tuesday.

Fans who have laughed with him in "The Hottentot," "The Sap" and "The Aviator" will now have a chance to see him in quite another role, for he is the meek and inventive bookkeeper who is the butt of the manager's gruffness and the star salesman's gaff.

Strange happenings send him home with a cold in his nose where he is pursued by the irate mother of the moony office girl who loves him; by detectives and by a mysterious girl who forces her way in, and presents herself as his wife. Amusing and human are the incidents which carry the story up to a tornado climax.

CALVARY CHURCH MEN'S CHORUS TO SING

Rev. J. Lanting of the Immanuel church will begin a new series of sermons next Sunday evening on "The Second Coming of Christ." The topic Mr. Lanting will use for his sermon Sunday evening is "The Unfruitful Vine."

The Men's Chorus of the Calvary Undenominational Church of Grand Rapids will render special music at the evening service which will begin at 7:30. In the morning Mr. Lanting will speak on the subject "Christ as Our Shepherd."

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock a baptismal service will be conducted by the Immanuel church at the Open Bible Church of Grand Rapids. All are invited to attend all or any of the services.

Jake Japinga died Wednesday evening at the age of 52 years. Mr. Japinga for several years conducted a soft drink parlor just east of the Holland theatre. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock from Dykstra's Funeral Home. Rev. L. Veltkamp officiating. He is survived by his widow, aged mother, and four brothers, Peter, Abe, John and Henry.

The local Auxiliary of the American Spanish camp will hold a carnation sale Saturday, May 3. Mrs. George Mooney has again been chosen chairman.

Attorney Thomas N. Robinson has returned from a business trip to Washington, D. C., and New York city.

Holland Official Census in Four Wards is 8747

At 8 o'clock tonight as the Holland City News goes to press, George E. Fritz, Census Supervisor of the seventh district at Grand Rapids wires the Holland population as far as the compilation has been completed officially. The population in 1920, ten years ago, was 12,183.

Thus far four wards have been completed and the tabulation shows the following: 2nd ward, 855; 3rd ward, 1,635; 4th ward, 2,433; 5th ward, 3,804; making a total of 8,727.

The first and third wards are still to be compiled. However, since the 4th ward count is official and this ward casts about as many votes as the 1st ward, an approximate figure might be arrived at. During the presidential election in 1928, when nearly every vote was out the first ward cast 915, the 4th ward 916 and the 6th ward 841 votes. So figure it out for yourself. However you can bank on the four wards to be officially correct as stated above. At best it is only a guess on the other two wards.

A POEM FROM AN IRISH LASSIE

Dr. Thomas W. Davidson, pastor of Hope Church, Sunday morning delivered a wonderful Easter sermon. Incidental to that sermon the doctor closed his discourse with a poem he had received from a young girl living in Ireland who was still in her teens but who had won literary honors in her country.

The poem — a poem was a fitting close to Rev. Davidson's theme "There is No Death," and the contribution received from the "Emerald Isle" follows:

Why do we worry about the need?
We only stay for a day,
One month or a year at the Lord's behest
In this habit of clay.

Why do we worry about the road?
With its hills and deep ravine,
In a dismal path or a heavy load,
We are helped by hands unseen.

Why do we worry about the years?
That our feet have not yet trod;
Who labors with courage and trust,
Has fellowship with God.

The best will come in the great to be,
It is ours to serve and wait;
And the wonderful future we soon shall
For death is but the gate.

Vesper Service Next Week to Be Special

Next Sunday the vesper service will feature Douglas Reeder, violinist. Mr. Reeder is from Sioux City, Iowa, where he is concertmaster of the symphony orchestra. He is a friend of Prof. C. Snow, who is bringing him to Holland. Mr. Reeder has studied extensively in this country and Switzerland, and is a successful teacher in Sioux City.

Prof. Snow and Mr. Reeder played together a great deal before the former came to Holland. One summer they and a few friends formed a string orchestra and traveled to the Orient as musicians on a liner. Prof. Snow has expressed himself enthusiastically on Mr. Reeder's playing, and intends to present a vesper recital of unusual value and interest during his visit.

The vesper services will be held Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in Hope Memorial chapel.

HOLLAND GLEE CLUB WILL GIVE CONCERT

Grand Rapids Press: Maple Avenue Glee Club of Holland will present a miscellaneous program on Thursday in Eastern Avenue Christian Reformed church, Grand Rapids. The club, comprising 25 voices, is directed by William J. Brouwer. Miss Agnes Dogger will assist with readings.

GRAND HAVEN HOSPITAL PATIENTS GIVEN TULIPS

A potted tulip was given to each patient in Hattson Hospital, Grand Haven on Easter Sunday by the Free Bed Guild and the nurses were remembered with one large pot of flowers. The sight of blooming plants at each bedside was a message of sympathy and goodwill, said Miss Kapteyn, greatly appreciated by the patients and nurses. This mark of thoughtfulness is one of the many courtesies which are constantly being extended to the patients. Each holiday, or special day, is the signal for some act which will bring comfort to those who are denied the good fortune of good health, she stated. — Grand Haven Tribune.

Clean Up Week does not indicate that Holland is extraordinary dirty; but failure to clean up at least once a year would soon make it so.

Nancy Heitz of Holland is being held at the Ottawa county jail following her arrest Thursday in Zeeland for the sale of intoxicating liquor. She was arraigned in Justice Dethmer's court in Zeeland and demanded examination. She was not able to furnish $500 bail.

TONIGHT THE RABBIT MEN WILL EAT RABBIT

Tonight, as the Holland City News goes to press, the Greater Holland Rabbit Breeders association are featuring its program with a banquet in the Woman's Literary clubroom, at which reservations were made for at least 100.

Rabbit breeders from various cities in the area are present and the industry is being discussed by various speakers. The committee in charge of the event consists of Rufus Cramer, Edward Brouwer, Paul L. Wojohn and John A. TerVeer. The association lists a membership of about fifty.

Tells How It Feels to Meet A Real Queen

MRS. LEONA DIEKEMA HAS AUDIENCE WITH HER MAJ-
ESTY QUEEN WILHELMINA

Prince Henry Asks Minister's Wife
To Speak Dutch; Gaily She Gives Entire Vocabulary of Six
Words — Prince Smiles

Mrs. Leona Diekema of Holland, now with her husband in The Hague, Netherlands, has written a most interesting letter to the members of the Holland Century Club that proved to be an outstanding feature on the program given during a recent meeting.

The letter indicates that Mrs. Diekema has a wonderful command of language — that her style is pleasing and that her narrative is bubbling over with interesting details.

Her meeting up with royalty and court dignitaries is most vividly told in a word picture of how kings and queens do things when "at home to their friends."

If anything, the epistle is too modest and in it Mrs. Diekema is giving herself a little the worst of it. Anyway to us she will "stack up" with "four queens" or even a "royal flush" — court etiquette notwithstanding.

But then, here is the letter:

"My dear long suffering friends of the Holland Century Club: At least if you do not come under that category now, I am sure you will ere my tale is told and ere this epistle has reached its full global tonnage. You see I talk in terms of naval disarmament. It was with great hesitancy that I sat down to put a few thoughts together for your consumption, amusement, edification or fatigue, as the case may be. And why? Well, let me tell you: Somewhere in the rear of my brain I seem to have tucked away an old adage, to the effect that only the good man does lives after him. However, there happened recently an incident which makes me very much doubt the truth of this statement. At this is what it was:

At the queen's New Year's soiree one of our friends came up and said: "Oh, just a moment. My cousin is here and he is very anxious to meet you." He rushed away and in a moment returned with a very important appearing man he straightaway introduced. Immediately his greetings were over, he said: "Yes, you are the woman." I wondered what on earth was to come next when he continued: "I was almost certain of it when I read your husband's name in the paper as having been appointed to The Hague and now I know that you are the same woman I heard lecture some years ago at the Century club in Holland, Mich., on Edward Bok." The man was Baron Boetzelar, the Livingston Warnhous of the Netherlands, who happened at that time to have been the guest of Dr. Sam Zwemer. So you see one must always be careful as to what one does for sooner or later truth will find him out.

Bidding Her Majesty A Happy New Year

So much of interest has happened since we took our departure week back last October that I find myself in much the same position as a hungry tramp who, when suddenly finding himself surrounded with delicious food, scarcely knew where to begin. Consequently I shall just ramble on a bit and see where we come out.

The opening gun of the social season in The Hague may be said to be fired on New Year's day at high noon, when the diplomatic corps goes en masse to bid Her Majesty a Happy New Year. And what an occasion it was! As we drove to the main entrance of the palace and our car came to a halt, the door was opened by a footman and the spate that encased his ankles in a handsome suit of beige broadcloth, with a long coat fitted at the waist and reaching far below the knees. After having duly satisfied the hunger of the insatiable camera man, we mounted the steps at the top of which the door was flung open by a footman in blue gray livery handsomely trimmed with scarlet satin and gold braid. As we started down the corridor, a veritable forest of footmen in the same fine livery motioned us along, thus guiding our footsteps, which might easily have been erring ones.

Imagine acres of white marble floors and corridors, yards and yards of red velvet carpet, a labyrinth of white marble columns, walls done in handsome, variegated satin damask; more yards and yards of the same falling from huge gilded cornice boards, most elaborately fashioned and thus gracefully draping the many and enormous windows. Add to this countless gilt framed mirrors, lovely old fireplaces, paintings depicting rare scenes and mellowed with age, scores of statues and bronzes, and you have then formed for yourself a picture of the background and scenery which graced the stage upon which the New Year's mid-winter drama was enacted. And all this not in one room, or two or three, but repeated in countless rooms where we could wander at will.

At the top of the long stairway, more liveried footmen took our wraps and after none too hasty glances in the mirror to be sure we were looking our "queenliest" in our smartest afternoon gowns and hats, we waited for the gentlemen who had left their coats below. Then we went into the ballroom with its parquet floor of subdued oak, yellow Carrara marble walls, beautifully paneled with white rocco moldings. Pairs were artistically banded in all four corners, while a vaulted ceiling of more carved rocco panels surmounted the whole. It was not a tremendous room, but one of rare beauty; here we were received by the ladies in waiting and chamberlains all in their gala attire. Beautiful gold braid in graceful designs completely covered the coat fronts of the men, while their users were as varied in color as the spectrum of the rainbow. Hats with plumes, swords, boots and spurs were in evidence everywhere. In short, nothing that makes up a composite picture of medieval pomp and pageantry was lacking except the horses, and one could easily imagine that even they were tethered without the postern gate.

How the Queen Knows her Numerous Guests

Once within the ballroom's portal, the ministers were arranged by functionaries on one side of the hall according to the length of time of their residence in The Hague. With each minister were all the members of his staff. Opposite stood the wives of the ministers and with them the ladies of the various legations. While this arrangement seems unimportant, it is by no means so, because Her Majesty, having been previously furnished with the list of people, knows just whom she is to meet and, and has thus planned in a measure what she is going to say to each, because, you know — or perhaps you don't — a crowned head must always initiate the conversation. And should one stand out of place the result might be most embarrassing.

May I say before I go further that for once the men far outshone their fair mates, for this time their plumage was gay indeed and I feel sure that had the opportunity been offered, they would have strutted proudly about like the proverbial peacock, and justly so.

And now you are thinking that the American men contributed little to the gaiety of the ensemble. It is true that the American minister and his secretaries added little to the brilliance of the scene except the luster of their eyes, but our army and our navy were there in full dress and looked most gorgeous with their splendid epaulettes and trappings.

Suddenly all talking stopped, the men clicked their heels together audibly. You could have heard a pin drop. We looked and there in the opening at the end of the ballroom stood her majesty, Queen Wilhelmina, her mother Queen Emma, and her husband, Prince Henry, accompanied by their grand mistresses and masters of ceremony. Immediately there were greetings through the mediums of courtesies and deep bows. The prince walked the entire length of the ballroom and began talking with the ladies at the far end first with Japan and then with the United States of America. The prince, among other things, asked me if I, too, spoke Dutch like my husband. I had to admit my stupidity and claimed, however, that I did know six Dutch words. And then came the challenge, for the prince said: "What are they?" I replied: "aardappelen, kip, ik kan niet verstaan," and then we both laughed. When our conversation was over he asked me to present him to the other ladies of the legation, which was promptly done. While the prince was making his journey up one side, the queen had started on the other with the line of ministers and the queen mother with the opposite end of our line. When the New Year's wishes had been exchanged all the way along, the royal family withdrew and those of us who had never been presented to the princess went into another room where she received us and where we each in turn chatted with her.

New Year's Soiree Like Fairy Tale

On the night following, the queen gave her New Year's soiree. Such a scene of gaiety I have never witnessed. It was like fairyland and all of the most fanciful dreams of childhood fused into one great whole. It was a repetition of the day before but greatly magnified by the additional hundreds of people. There was not a man there save the three Americans, who were not in gala attire, for every member of the Dutch court circle, every Dutch minister, every Dutch official, to say nothing of the army and navy in all their various branches, has a full dress uniform. Then, too, there were the women in their charming gowns with court trains sweeping the floor and with their magnificent jewels augmenting greatly the brilliance of the scene.

First Audience with Queen Is Described

As soon as the royal family had left the ballroom the gentlemen escorted the ladies about the palace to one of the numerous rooms which were arranged to resemble gala restaurants with their small tables resplendent with snowy cloths, gold chairs and gold flower holders made in fantastic and beautiful shapes, filled with flowers of rare beauty such as only the Dutch know or grow. In each room were huge tables groaning with delicious viands for a cold buffet, with sub-

John Vos and Miss Lucy Van Oort, both of Holland, were married in the Ottawa county court house by Justice of the Peace Dickinson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Van Oort. "Johnnie" Vos is well known here as a clever boxer and a baseball star. Last summer Vos pitched for the St. Johns team.

Suddenly, as we stood talking in the ballroom, one of the many hidden orchestras struck up a military march and in came the royal family and walked the full length of the room. There they stopped and then moved about talking with various guests. I was fortunate enough to have both the queen and the queen mother address me again, although I must confess that the beauty of their jewels almost blinded me and I was less with wonder. I can best illustrate my amazement at the existence of such jewelry with a story.

There was once a farmer with a very large family who had always struggled to make ends meet. One day a circus came to his native town. It was too much for him. He threw dull care to the four winds and decided to take the whole family to the circus, and to see all that there was to see and to do all that there was to do. So it was peanuts and pink lemonade, tickets for the main tier and tickets for the menagerie. He viewed the animals one by one, lost in wonder and amazement. Finally he came to the dromedary. He viewed its gnarly skin, its long and trim neck and its ridiculous hump, and then, lost in wonder, he turned to his wife and said: "Well, S'manthe, they just ain't no sech animal."

Now that is the way I felt about those jewels. I just could not believe my eyes. That so many precious stones of such size could be put in single pieces of jewelry, I could not fathom. Queen Emma's crown was the most dazzlingly splendid thing imaginable, made of sapphires and diamonds, while the queen's tiara was scarcely less gorgeous. The queen wore a huge necklace, earrings, brooch, and bracelets to match, all perfectly enormous and marvelously exquisite, the gift of the realm at the time of her accession. On her shoulder was the famous blue diamond, surrounded with white ones, the whole thing making an oblong ornament about two inches wide and three inches long.

It is said that Queen Emma has some of the most wonderful jewels in all Europe, having inherited many of the famous Russian jewels through her husband, whose mother was a Russian. Whether this be true or not I do not know, but of one thing I am certain — not all European royalty boasts a sweeter finer jewel than this charming old lady, 70 years young, who wore them — Queen Emma herself.

Queen Wants to Know of Holland, Michigan

One always waits for royalty to initiate the conversation as I have already said, so I conducted myself accordingly. She asked me myself Holland, Mich., which placed me in a position of a mother discussing her children. And while one does not know just exactly what one says when talking with a queen, I did the subject a fair degree of justice.

And when her majesty said: "Until Jan. 1st then," I knew that I need wait no longer for dismissal—that my cue had come—whereupon Madame A—arose and together we backed and bowed ourselves to the doors whence we had entered, the queen meanwhile standing, occasionally bowing and smiling. Well, I finally reached those doors after more seeming decades of time had passed and I emerged where I had come firmly convinced that all the elephants in Barnum & Bailey's circus could not surpass me in awkwardness. Zeeland Pulls 111 Drivers For Speeding

POLICE CHIEF BRINGS IN HIS ANNUAL REPORT. SHOWS
NEIGHBORS TO BE WELLBEHAVED

Zeeland police department report indicates that the speed cop has been rather busy during the past year with 111 arrests to his credit. In all there were 211 traffic violations for different infractions of the traffic ordinance.

According to the reports the violations were for charges as follows: Speeding, 111; disregarding signals, 67; defective lights, 15; crowded driver's seat, 4; parking in driveway, 2; parking on sidewalk, 2; reverse turn signal, 2; reckless driving, 1; disorderly, 2; no parking lights, 2; passing car at intersection, 2; cutout open, 2; driving while drunk, 1; meat ordinance, 1; total, 215. The total amount of money collected for fines was $1,299.75. The average fine paid was $6.05; the highest fine paid was $75 for driving while drunk and the next highest was $50 for reckless driving. The lowest fine paid was $2 for no parking light. Speeding fines averaged $7.88 while other minor offenses ranged from $2.50 to $3.

Persons violating traffic rules are usually warned and are arrested on repeating an offense. Safety rules are established to prevent traffic accidents. The total number of arrests made for violations by Zeeland officers are only for city violations. The Zeeland police are also sheriff's deputies and therefore have made several arrests outside of the city limits under state laws, as well as some in Zeeland. Some arrested persons were excused without paying fines because of extenuating circumstances brought out upon their appearance in court.

ded music, conversation and champagne corks popping to the right of us and popping to the left of us as we drank the four hundred! Finally the hour of departure came after the royal family had made its final exit. That furnished the signal, and we hastened away with the feeling that perhaps we had stayed too long and I personally feared that the chauffeur-driven limousine might have suddenly changed into the bedraggled Leonid driven sedan like the golden coach of those days when that other Cinderella walked the earth.

It was in the same palatial setting described above that I had my audience with the queen. For several reasons the event had been somewhat delayed, but finally on the Saturday after Christmas it was arranged that her majesty would receive me in a private audience. I was to be at the palace at 4 o'clock. Of course, it goes without saying that one never keeps a monarch waiting, so to be on the safe side the arrival was timed for 3:50. After being received and ushered about by footmen and after having climbed that beautiful staircase at the end of the main corridor in the Noordeinde palace, my escort, Madame A—, the Doyenne, and I found ourselves in a waiting room. There coats were laid aside and I, for one, made a most critical survey to see that the mirror displayed as perfect a reflection as was physically possible considering the subject before it. Then a door swung open and we were in a fair-sized, lovely salon, where one of the queen's ladies-in-waiting, one of the chamberlains, received us. As we sat chatting about this in general, a bell rang, a pair of doors quickly opened, the grand mistresses and Madame A— disappeared into the portals and I knew that they were in the presence of her majesty, where I was soon to be. As a consequence I sat listening for the bell and at the same time endeavoring to maintain the semblance of a conversation. Finally, after what seemed at least a decade, I heard that bell again and knew that my moment had come. As I entered the room, which was also large and handsome, the queen arose and smiled a welcome, as did also the other two ladies. Her majesty's smile was very disarming and put me quite at ease—at least as much so as is usually possible when one meets a reigning monarch for the first time.

I had read in Maude Parker Child's book, "The Social Side of Diplomatic Life," that one never shakes hands with royalty, but Maude was wrong because Queen Wilhelmina does in her private audiences. Fortunately, instinct had told me to take off the right glove, which I did as I went through the doors, so I was prepared for the unexpected, which in this instance did happen. One always addressed the queen as Your Majesty—never you—which in my excitement I almost forgot to remember. I was then invited to be seated whereupon we all sat and began to converse.

She asked me myself Holland, Mich., which placed me in a position of a mother discussing her children. NO BANQUET FOR THE FRATS AT HOPE THIS YEAR

The Hope Fraternal society is the first of Hope's literary groups five business men met to lay final to dispend with its annual banquet near the close of the school year. In its stead an informal spring party will be held. The fraternal was organized in 1834 and is the oldest of Hope's societies.

Hope will be represented at the League of Nations model assembly May 2 and 3 at Kalamazoo by Stanley Verhey and Evelyn Stokette, with Metta J. Ross as faculty adviser, and at a similar assembly in Chicago May 28 and 29 by Stanley Verhey, Stanley Van Lare, Evelyn Stokette and Anna De Young, with Prof. B. M. Raymond as adviser.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kuizenga of Detroit motored to Holland, spending Easter with relatives in this city.

John Kollen, one of Holland's oldest citizens, hopes to celebrate his ninety-first birthday anniversary next Saturday. Born in The Netherlands, he came here in 1851 with his mother, settling on a farm in Overisel. Kollen's mother lived to be a centenarian. Kollen's brother, Gerrit J. K

ABOUT FISH FRY

The state conservation department is confronted with the problem, not of keeping lakes and streams from being stripped of fish, but of keeping them stocked up to the point where the fish will be hungry enough to bite. No easy task. For about 40 years it was believed that if a sufficient number of fry were dumped into the water, excellent results must follow. The dumping of fry is now recognized as largely a futile proceeding. The natural improvement on this method was to rear fish to such a size that they could fend for themselves. Michigan has pioneered in this direction. Trout and bass fry are kept in nursery ponds to a large extent, until they are beyond babyhood. It has been found that "nursery fish," properly looked after, grow almost twice as rapidly as those in a wild state. The whole system of hatcheries and planting is being remodeled in accord with this principle which, by the way, was strongly urged by Fred W. Green long before he became governor.

HOW TO KEEP HUSBY GIVEN IN NINE RULES

- Nine rules for keeping husbands were presented to members of the California Federation of Women's Clubs by Miss Jennie Partridge, past president of the City and County Federation of San Francisco, at their annual meeting there.
1. Dress prettily for breakfast.
 2. Never make your husband dry dishes.
 3. Friend husband should take you out two evenings a week. The rest of the time let him stay home.
 4. The wife should pay the rent, grocery and butcher bills before darning up or even buying new furniture.
 5. Never permit mother-in-law to visit on Sunday or holidays.
 6. Listen to your husband if he likes the sound of his own voice.
 7. Ask his advice on everything.
 8. Be dependent and clinging, but not too clinging.
 9. Make him think you are a poor weak creature and he is nine feet high with the strength of a lion and the courage of Napoleon.

THERE WERE MORE THAN ONE "SUCKER BORN EVERY MINUTE"

Allegan Gazette—A correspondent to a daily paper from Allegan should study the subject of suckers before he writes of them again. It is not of much consequence, for who cares much about suckers anymore? Many years ago (about sixty years or more) these fish were netted at the Allegan dam by wagon loads and peddled about the country. That correspondent states that suckers are now being taken at the dam. There is probably one when there used to be a thousand. He also states that besides suckers there are taken redsides, redhorse, and mullets. Those are all suckers. The mullets, so-called, are the yellow suckers which used to be the most numerous. Redhorse are the biggest of all and the coarsest. Redsides were so called because of a narrow red stripe their full length and were supposed to have the best eating quality of all—and that is saying but little. The humblest of the lot and the worst in taste, the stoneroller, seems to be extinct. I wonder if Dick Allen is at the dam. It won't look natural without him—him and Will Dibble.

William Valkema, 54 years old, of 93 West 9th street, died Friday night at the University hospital in Ann Arbor. He is survived by seven children: Mrs. W. W. Eater, Chicago; Mrs. C. Miles, Chicago; Mrs. Marjorie Warner, Grand Rapids; Charles and Arthur of Grand Rapids; Morris, Panama Canal; and William of Holland. Three brothers and three sisters also survive. They are Mrs. Peter Sinke, Mrs. Clarence Welch, and Mrs. D. Kuikstra all of Grand Rapids and John and Henry of Holland and George of Gibson. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the City Rescue Mission, Miss Nellie Churchford officiating. Interment took place in Pilgrim Home Cemetery.

HOPE SENIORS

STAGE SATIRE

"The Torch-Bearers" Coming

May 7-8-9

You are in line for a treat if you count on seeing the play staged by the Hope Seniors this year. "The Torch-Bearers" is a satire of the first water on amateur theatricals. The ever-ready villain, Maurice Marcus, has shed his wolf's clothing, and is adopting the guise of the prosaic business man who is utterly out of sympathy with all this "theatrical tomfoolery." Miss Myra Ten Cate plays opposite him as the wife martyred on the altar of her husband's unsympathetic contentions. You are sure to be tickled with "Harvey" Wolman in the role of an office boy, Pampanelli, the sophisticated play directress, is played by Miss Lois De Wolfe. Who wouldn't enjoy the "desperate" villainy of "Art" Michmerhuizen? Hoeseffosse, the man with a poker-face who takes life too seriously, is a scream. "Cris" Krummen plays behind the poker-face. If you have ever engaged in amateur production, this comic presentation of the process will remove the grueling memories and help you to see the humorous side of it. To those unacquainted with this phase of life, the play is an education in itself. It is under the direction of Miss Elaine Vaupell, formerly with the Holland Civic Players.

Leprosy Conquered
Eat Vitamin D
To Europe for $6, Maybe
Women May Preach

Doctor Dostal, bacteriologist of Vienna, isolates leprosy germs and produces an effective serum. Once that would have comforted millions of people and those living in fear of leprosy. It means little today.

Leprosy is one of many "fifth" diseases, dying out as civilization and soap distribution progress. Cleaning up a stagnant pond will free a neighborhood of malaria. Cleaning up the world's fifth spots would free the earth of many diseases.

If nations that recently spent hundreds of billions killing each other would spend a few billions to rid the earth of mosquitoes, flies, rats and mice, the worst diseases would vanish.

Doctor Price, scientist of Cleveland, says vitamin D prevents diseases called "degenerative," such as cancer, heart disease, influenza and pneumonia.

Dairy farmers will be interested to hear that Doctor Price recommends spring butter from the milk of cows grazing in the sunshine. This vitamin D he calls the "sunshine vitamin." Cows get the vitamin, stored up by the sun, in spring grass, and return it in their milk.

Here is real flying news, important to all interested in moving about the earth.

Henry Ford has perfected an all-metal airplane driven by three Packard Diesel motors, burning crude oil. The machine is expected to carry eleven passengers one hundred miles at a fuel cost of $2.16. This means that the fuel cost of taking eleven passengers across the continent or across the ocean would be $64.50, less than $6 each. There is no cost for right of way, little for terminals and for wear and tear.

What is more important, in Ford's opinion, is the fact that fire hazards, explosions, carburetor adjustments, electric ignition, all dangerous elements in flying, are eliminated.

"The pilot sits in front of an instrument board like that of an automobile and talks over a radio-telephone without interference from the motors."

Concerning flying, it is apparently true that "We haven't seen anything yet."

The presbytery of New York voted the other day, 51 to 29, admitting women to Presbyterian pulpits. Reverend ladies will now proceed to prove that Samuel Johnson was wrong when he said a woman preaching was like a dog standing on its hind legs. It is not that she does it well, but you wonder that she does it at all.

Good preaching depends on sincerity, and that is woman's specialty.

Russia laments its "best poet," Vladimir Mayakovsky, who killed himself recently, leaving his brain to the "Soviet Institute of Brains." It was dissected, studied, found to weigh 1,700 grams, and put away with the brains of Lenin and others.

It was a big brain, heavier by 400 grams than the average, but not wise enough to keep the poet from killing himself.

The poet's farewell letter requests the "comrade government" to take care of his mother and sister, also "Leila Brik and Veronika Polonskaya."

The last two ladies both loved him, at least he thought so, and he killed himself because he couldn't decide which he liked better.

All poets are more or less queer. Russian poets probably the queerest.

After Germany launched the great steamship Bremen, it was said that British and Americans could not afford a 50,000-ton ship. It would cost more to build and run than it could earn. But launching of the German super ship Europa has stirred up the old Cunard line and it will build two passenger ships of 70,000 tons each, faster than any passenger ship afloat.

The first one will be ready in 1933.

The British do not mean to lose control of ocean traffic.

Britain's house of commons interests itself in things that would be ignored in Washington. One government nearly fell because a respectable servant girl had been arrested, wrongfully accused of street walking.

Mr. Mitchell, attorney general, warns the senate judiciary committee that "further stimulating activities of prosecution under any law will get us into difficulties." He told the committee that in the last three months the number of federal prisoners has increased by 6,277.

It will comfort bootleggers and their associates to know that if more of them are locked up the government will hardly know what to do with them.

Lack of employment is said to be increasing throughout the world. You are surprised to find that Russia, with a bigger population than ours, making social experiments expected by capitalism to end disastrously, has fewer unemployed than we have, by far. The richest, most prosperous and industrially, the most highly developed nation should be able to keep its men at work.

THE WORST THE BEST

The topic of the sermon for next Sunday evening in the Sixth Reformed church on the corner of Lincoln Avenue and 12th St., Rev. J. Vanderbeek, pastor, will be "How the Worst Can Become the Best." If we were more fully convinced of this possibility, there would be many more great transformations of lives. The morning sermon will be on the topic, "The Wonderful Name of Jesus."

Conference For Children Great Success

HOLLAND FOLKS TAKE PART IN ZEELAND MEETING

The children's conference fostered by the Ottawa County Sunday School association and held at the First and Second Reformed churches at Zeeland Tuesday was an unusual success. More than 225 attended the banquet and at least 800 gathered to participate in the evening meeting. Mrs. Edith Walvoord was in charge of the conference and she was assisted by Mr. George Schulling, president of the association, and other workers in that organization.

The principal speaker at Zeeland was Rev. R. J. White, D.D., of Grand Rapids, Mich., and he spoke on the subject "Childhood, Our Hope." He pictured how he himself was influenced by others to work for religious causes and he was so thoroughly impressed with the great deal of work that had to be done that he devoted his entire life to the teaching of God's Word. However it was the seed sown in his youth that brought the desire to preach for God's Kingdom.

Mr. White stated that there were three influences in the life of man, heredity, environment and the spirit of God. "The fact that one has good Christian parents is a wonderful thing," the speaker said, "And it's splendid to have a clean, cheerful Christian home to grow up in, but it is more necessary to have the spirit of God within the individual."

"The new generation is the adult's 'second chance' to make good. Whatever the adult did not do himself, he can do by the proper training and guidance of the child," the minister said.

Prof. Paul Hinkamp of Hope college spoke on "Parental Education in the Church School." Mr. Hinkamp is a convincing speaker and he pointed out that children of school age should be constantly in touch with the religious spirit that God's Word teaches. He also made clear that the impressions the youth receives, whether for good or for evil, was a lasting impression and youth should be dealt with accordingly and should be placed under such religious influences that would guide them all through life.

Another speaker was Miss Ione Cotton who spoke on the subject, "Teacher, Be Prepared." She pointed out that in preparing oneself for Sunday school work it should be thorough and not superficial, that the problems of teaching young people was an exacting one and must be done correctly or the wrong impressions are formed. She stated that a teacher must put her heart into her work and she must radiate this spirit to the pupil, not mechanically by merely memorizing the lesson but by conveying other thoughts and other examples bearing upon the subject in hand.

Before adjourning the afternoon program Miss Cotton told of the Waldenwoods Camp, a summer camp devoted to the study and training for leaders in the work of religious training. The camp is a gift to all Protestant churches for the furtherance of this work.

At the fellowship supper Miss Cotton gave a demonstration of worship through song. She was assisted by Miss Nelly Ver Hage, who sang the songs. The numbers were all arranged to help the child comprehend the idea of the service. They were further written with the child's limitations in mind. They were simple and short, yet thoroughly understandable to the child mind.

The music for the conference was in charge of Director John Vander Sluis of Holland and he selected a well balanced program. A religious pageant "My Task" was staged by a group of young ladies from Zeeland High school who were directed by Miss Amanda Zwemer. The girls were Misses Jean Van Hoeven, June Van Peursem, Alice Katte, Julia Schipper, Dorothy Katte, Minnie Van Enden, Alvah Elenbaas.

The pageant pictured the mother's duty toward her child and the tremendous influence and aid that a Sunday School brings.

The open Forum was in charge of Miss Ione Cotton, Mrs. R. Gunn and Mrs. Edith Walvoord.

The song worship: Miss Ione Cotton and Miss Nelly Ver Hage. The consecration prayer and hymn were given by President George Schulling, who also made announcements that tonight, Thursday, a broadcast would be made from Grand Rapids, station WOOD, with Rev. Bert Brouwer announcer; that Miss Alice Katte of Zeeland will give her oration; that Secretary Anthony Nienhuis of Holland was to give a short talk; that Mr. Schulling would be in charge of devotionals. He stated that the broadcast was made possible by the Reformed churches of Grand Rapids.

At the children's meeting Mr. Schulling also made the welcoming address. Other speakers at the Zeeland meeting were Rev. John Van Peursem of the First Reformed church of that city and Rev. Richard Vanden Berg of the Second Reformed church. Others who aided in the program with music were Harold E. Van Dyke, Miss Ruth Hieftje and Mrs. Henry Borst.

Mrs. Edith Walvoord of Holland has made an exceptional executive and the success of the Children's Conference is reflected in her untiring efforts.

The Ottawa County Bankers' federation will meet here Friday in the Masonic hall, with a banquet served at 6:30 P. M. F. M. Breuninger, cashier of the Muskegon Savings bank, will give a talk on "Bank Management."

SENATOR VANDENBERG DID NOT FORGET LIFEBOATS FOR GUARDS

Yesterday it was brought to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce office that our local lifeboats were not adequate to meet the demands of a real emergency. This matter was at once taken up with Washington, D. C., authorities by Secretary C. A. Gross, who received the following wire in reply to his request for more adequate lifeboat equipment.

"Holland Chamber of Commerce, Holland, Michigan."

"Your wire asks if I have forgotten Holland's lifeboat needs. I do not forget. New boats are being sent out as rapidly as completed. An April 25th one new boat goes to Saint Joseph and one to Grand Haven. In about a month a new boat will go to Holland as promised."

Signed: A. H. Vandenberg, Senator.

GRAND HAVEN TRIBUNE GIVES ACCOUNT OF HOLLAND HIGH RACKET MEN

Grand Haven Tribune—Vander Belt's timely victory over Van Kolken in the last set of their match gave Grand Haven a 7-5 victory over the Holland High School tennis team last night at Ferry Field.

Cold and threatening weather caused loose and hasty play on both sides but even under these conditions the local racket wielders showed improvement over previous showings this year.

Ferguson defeated Landwehr the clever Holland ace in straight sets 6-4, 6-3, and 6-4. The local star displayed a good brand of ball, especially in his serving and the placing of his shots, he is developing into a steady and consistent player and can be counted on this year to hold up his end of the point making.

After losing the first set 6-8 Van den Belt made a strong comeback and defeated Van Kolken 6-1 and 6-4. The cold weather seemed to affect Van den Belt's playing. The first set, but after he warmed up a bit there was no question as to his superiority over the Holland man. Don uses his height to good advantage in his service but lobby back courts shots got his goat for a while last night.

The doubles teams were not working the way they should. Schultz and Pett losing the first two sets of their match with Vischer and Woltman 6-2 and 6-4 and winning the last one after a hard struggle 7-5. Dornbos and Babcock also lost the first two to Dykstra and Leland 6-3 and 6-4, winning the last set 6-3.

Coach Thoma will put his men through a week of hard practice in preparation for the meet with Muskegon Heights to be held here Saturday afternoon. The Heights have been winning their matches consistently this year and a tough time is in prospect for the local boys.

Holland's "racketeers" couldn't muscle in on the local "big shots" in tennis yesterday, although Coach Thoma said things looked black for a time. Five sets were lost by the High School before Ferguson and his teammates began to function. The lads turned them back, however, and made up for the smarming defeat that Ottawa Hills administered to them last week.

MINISTER WAS TO GO ON TRIAL BUT WON'T BE THERE

An adjourned session of the Muskegon classis, Reformed church, was held in the First Reformed church at Grand Haven on Monday afternoon at which Rev. John E. Bennink, former pastor of the Unity Reformed Church in Muskegon, failed to appear to answer to charges against him.

The classis adjourned the meeting to May 5 as a new date for the trial, the specific charges of which are: Disloyalty to Unity Church and the Reformed Churches of America; violation of his solemn vows; and the creation of schisms in the Unity church. Failing to appear, the case will go by default, which will banish him from that denomination.

Rev. Bennink resigned as pastor of the Unity Church at Muskegon sometime ago to accept a call from Bethel Tabernacle, an un-denominational church in Muskegon. He took some of the members with him when he left. In a letter addressed to the classis, Rev. Bennink asked that he be granted letters of withdrawal from the Reformed denomination. The classis refused to grant the letter and voted at a meeting, March 10, to have an investigation made.

Upon recommendation of the judiciary committee which held a meeting April 8 at Coopersville, Rev. Bennink was cited to appear for trial at Grand Haven.

Mrs. J. E. Donnelly of Durant visited in Holland at the homes of Mrs. J. De Feyter, Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Neil De Cook.

ZEELAND

Two of the numbers were dramatized as their numbers were being played. A high school girls' quart sang selection of Stephen Foster that were well received.

Reports of the local banks show all in fine condition. Zeeland State bank has resources totaling $3,124,922 and State Commercial & Savings bank $1,137,596. The Jamestown bank $452,229. The combined savings in all the banks, all types total $2,308,482.

This Thursday evening the Third Christian Reformed church Adult Bible class of Zeeland is holding its annual meeting in the church parlors and the gathering will be social and business mixed. Raymond Fris has returned from Flint where he spent Sunday. The children of the local Auxiliary and Legion members were given an enjoyable afternoon last Saturday at the Legion rooms. A committee in charge, of Auxiliary women, made complete arrangements for the party. The rooms were prettily decorated and tables were set for 50 children. Pretty Easter baskets with jelly eggs, bunnies and candy chicks were hid in corners and nooks in the Legion rooms and the kiddies greatly enjoyed finding their basket. Several little tots were present and all enjoyed the party very much.

A group of 21 boys and girls were received on confession in the Second Reformed church at Zeeland as new members and the Sacrament of Holy Baptism was administered to four adults. Practically all the 21 have been attending an Easter Training class held on Sunday afternoons during the week. Impressive Easter services were held on Sunday morning. A choir of 20 voices furnished special Easter music. Miss Grace Mills, a former chorister of the church rendered a pleasing solo. "The Risen Conqueror" by Mr. and Mrs. J. William De Pree, a favorite anthem of the late Mr. De Pree and a selection sung by the choir for many consecutive years. "The Crucifixion" by John Stainer, was presented to a large and appreciative audience at the evening service. James Palmer, tenor soloist, and Stanley De Pree, bass soloist, both students at Michigan State college, furnished many selections which were greatly enjoyed.

CRISP

Mrs. Frank Repke and her youngest son, Harold, have been visiting Mrs. Repke's father, Mr. Steven Hiemstra, and her sister, Mrs. Wm. E. Nienhuis for two weeks. She also called on many other relatives. She returned Thursday, April 17, to her home in Rogers City, Mich. Since her father decided to stop farming and is making his home now with Mrs. Wm. E. Nienhuis, her sister Agnes Hiemstra went north with her. They had a very successful trip, making it in one day's drive by auto, the distance being 353 miles.

HOLLAND BANKS TO GIVE HALF HOLIDAY

The three Holland banks namely the Peoples State, the First State and the Holland City State, are making preparations for summer half-holidays for their respective bank staffs. Beginning May 15 these banks will be closed on Thursday afternoons at 12:30 noon. This will continue possibly the year around if it works out. On Saturdays the hours at night have also been changed to 6:30 to 8:00 p.m. instead of 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. as heretofore.

This change is made to allow the bank staff to catch up with their work which they are hardly able to do now because of the Saturday rush. It adds one-half hour more behind closed doors when their work cannot be interfered with by patrons.

This new arrangement was also made to help along the women employees who have a great deal of strenuous work to do. Holland banks are simply coming in line with the banks in other cities only this city has been mighty slow in making the move.

It has been found that with a little breathing spell the force is more efficient by far than to remain under the steady grind.

The bank officials have two things in mind. One is to give the employees the same consideration for a half holiday that others get; and second that this new arrangement will give bank patrons more able service if such is possible for surely an alert account is better able to cope with the exacting banking tasks than a tired out one would be. Most folks think that the employees of banks are thru with their duties when the banks close. That is far from the truth, after the last patron has gone out then the real checking up begins and a complete balance is made, which sometimes lasts for hours.

DRENTHE

The Christian Reformed church at Drenthe has extended a call to Rev. Richard J. Karsen, pastor of the Second church, Grand Haven, since 1927. Karsen entered the ministry in 1924 and served the church at Aetna as his first pastorate.

The Holland fire department trucks were called upon this morning to extinguish a small roof fire at 130 West 14th street. The house is owned by A. J. Schermer. The damage did not amount to more than $25.

Mrs. J. C. Post and Miss Katherine Post, who spent the winter in Washington, D. C., with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Holt, have returned to their home at 70 West Thirteenth street.

Gerrit Feyen of Laketown, passed away Wednesday evening at Holland hospital at the age of 64 years. He underwent an operation Tuesday. The deceased is survived by his wife, one brother, Fred Feyen of Holland, and a sister, Mrs. P. Westrate of Grand Rapids. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 12:35 at the home in Laketown and at 1:30 from the East Saugatuck Christian Reformed church. Interment will take place at the Overisel cemetery. Friends are asked to omit flowers.

Officer David O'Connor is enjoying his vacation. He is one of the oldest men on the Holland police force and is a faithful "cop."

Jesse Ridenour of the Peoples Auto Sales has returned from a business trip to Muskegon.

Dedication services were held Saturday afternoon for the American Legion short term camp site when the property was formally turned over to the Boy Scouts.

"The Second Coming of Christ"

"The Second Coming of Christ" will be the theme of a series of addresses given by Rev. J. Lanting, pastor of the Immanuel Church of Holland, Mich., beginning Sunday, April 27th. This great truth of the coming of Christ is stirring the hearts of men the world over, and while many do not understand this fundamental truth concerning the hope of the church and still confuse Israel with the church, there is a great need to distinguish between God's dealing with the scattered Jews, and His coming for His bride which is the true church composed of only those who are born again by the Holy Spirit through faith in the person and work of Jesus Christ. It is impossible to understand the Word of God unless this truth is put in its proper place and then the Bible will become indeed a lamp to the feet and a light upon the pathway. It will bring joy to the weary struggling Christian and a last warning to a lost world. While it appears men are indifferent to this great truth and the professing religious world expects to reform and save mankind, it is seeking to do this without the King of Peace who must first return before peace can be established. Come and hear these interesting addresses illustrated by a large chart. Be sure to bring your Bibles which is the only proof as to all coming events. — SUBJECTS AND DATES: April 27; "The Unfruitful Vine." May 4, "The King Rejected." May 18, "The Beginning of the Church." May 25, "The Gentiles Called." June 1, "The Hope of Christ's Coming." June 8, "The Rapture of the Church." June 15, "The Judgment Seat of Christ." June 22, "The Two Resurrections." June 29, "The Day of the Lord." These subjects will be taken up as listed, the Lord willing.

The popover has just popped over
... EAT IT NOW

THE TIME to eat a popover is when it has just popped over. When it has reached its climax, and is puffed and crisp. Listen to it crackle when you break it apart for butter.

And the time to eat vegetables is when they've just been picked. They will never be so fresh again. The peas will never be so firm, knuckled tight in their pods... nor the corn so glistening and sweet under its silk. Shell the peas, husk the corn, hustle them into the pot. Have all your vegetables at their climax moment—with a garden of your own.

Ferry's purebred Seeds are eager to burst into growing; and are fresh at the "store around the corner." They are purebred—all their name says they are. Their parent-plants and grandparents before them produced vegetables and flowers that approached perfection. What their parents were, these seeds will become. Use Ferry's Seed Annual to help you in selecting; and to know of mulch paper, and new ways to cook vegetables. For the Annual, write to D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Michigan.

A Six Weeks' Tour Over Land and Sea

DR. BROWER TELLS OF HIS TRIP IN THE WEST INDIES AND CARRIBBEAN SEA

Continuing my trip in South America, we find ourselves still in Venezuela.

Ex-President Gomez has placed the country in a very enviable position with over fifty million ($50,000,000) gold dollars in the treasury, or the governments pocketbook, and not a single debt. This was not accomplished by taxing the people into poverty, but instead by taxing the imports from other countries, particularly those from our United States. Everything that is brought into their country is subject to duty, with just some minor exceptions, as to material used in operations of the industries, and oil wells. The tools for drilling oil wells, for there are many oil fields there, are taxed because they can be moved, but the piping and such material that that comes to stay is free from duty. Venezuela is very rich in natural resources, much like Mexico. They informed us that all the best oil fields are under lakes and the first well had not been drilled in 1920. Last year, Venezuela alone, exported over 55,000,000 barrels of oil.

Living expenses are very high as is evident when one must pay 40 cents a loaf not any larger than those baked in Holland. They surely were not like those I saw in the Holy Land in Jerusalem on my former trip. These were from 3 to 6 inches in diameter, about 3 feet long and looked all the world like an inflated baseball bat. Cigarettes, too, are high, strange to say in a land where many cigarettes are smoked. The tourists pay from 40 cents to 50 cents a package. Foodstuffs and living commodities generally are also high in price. On the other hand wages are low, hence this makes living conditions rather difficult for the ordinary person.

The natives are surely after the money here. Many of us got "gypped" when we purchased postal cards, stamps, etc., the stuff that tourists buy, but I was not the only one that got bit. It surely was tough "digging up" five American dollars for 50 postal cards, mostly to be mailed to the United States. Stamps are sold in hotels in sheets and in many other places even on the street. A man is at a great disadvantage not speaking the language for it naturally does away with any argument aside from sputtering your disapproval which the native does not understand and apparently cares less. The motto "Honesty Is the Best Policy" may be a trite saying in America but I sometimes wonder if in Venezuela "Do others or they'll do you" isn't more appropriate, or "Do others before they do you" might also apply. Anyway one has to be on the lookout all the time.

My experience in South America can be best illustrated by a story told of John D. Rockefeller when he was a little boy. An Indian doctor came to town with a cure-all. The doctor, to get trade started, took out a bright new silver dollar and said, "How much am I bid boys." Crowd was cautious, silent, suspicious. No bids came.

Doctor says, "Come on, what am I bid? A nickel? A dime?" No bids. Then John D. piped "I bid a nickel." "The dollar is yours, boy," said the doctor, "hand me the nickel." "Take it out of the dollar," piped little John, "and gimme 95 cents in change."

If you read your history you will remember that Venezuela, in fact a large part of Western South America was under the "iron heel" of Spain, much like Cuba of recent years.

Towards the end of the 18th century Spain's power began to wane, and the final struggle for independence began under the leadership of Simon Bolivar, called the "Liberator." They declared their independence in 1811 and were recognized in 1825. During all that period there was constant fighting going on. Bolivar, the Liberator, is to the countries of the Spanish Main the same as George Washington is the father of our country. We went through his home and palace all on the same order like Washington's Mansion at Mount Vernon. Notice how often in history have people died young, or less than 35 years of age, who have accomplished great things, either for good or bad. Bolivar the Liberator died in 1830 at the age of 33 years. Alexander the Great when he thought there were "no more worlds to conquer" died at 33. Nero the tyrant lived a fast and furious life and died at 33, and our Saviour, Jesus Christ, at 33, and our Father, Jesus Christ, at 33, "It Is Finished." We saw beautiful statues of this Liberator, a replica of his bust is on all currency and coins. What we call a dollar, other countries call guinea, franc, lire, peseta, piastre, crown, mark, krona, or drachme, however Venezuela calls it a Bolivar.

In recent years there seems to be a considerable opposition to the old president. Opposition comes quick in these Central and South American countries as we all know. Newspaper accounts gave many details portraying the reasons for such opposition and the climax came in 1929 when there was a real ruction in the Gomez country.

In spite of this, he was re-elected on May 3, 1929, but resigned later to retire to his estate in order to devote himself to the quiet life of a farmer. Gomez was president for a very long time and at the same time his brother was vice-president and his son second vice-president. The brother was assassinated in the palace at Caracas, and then the son was made to resign to put an end to rumors of an attempt to establish a dynasty. Succession. The latter died recently. Ex-president Gomez was reported

Better Health For This County Is Possible

WITH $1,400 ADDED EXPENDITURE A $12,000 SERVICE CAN BE SECURED

Plan Is Indorsed By the Ottawa County Medical Association and State Board of Health

The Lions club had an unusual speaker as a guest at their Monday noon luncheon at Warm Friend Tavern. It was Dr. William H. Pickett of the State Board of Health, and he told the members a great many things about health safe-guards that are new and that will be very useful to this community and to the county at large.

Thru the courtesy of Chairman John Vander Broek, Dr. William Westrate, Holland city physician, introduced the state health man and he practically re-iterated what Dr. Guy Keefer, head of the State Health Department, made clear some time before.

He stated that the Ottawa County Health department, although a very efficient organization, could be made still more efficient under a different arrangement at an added cost of only $1,400 and under this new arrangement the county would benefit the same as if a more expensive service were put in vogue. It would put Ottawa county's health unit in a class by itself, comprising one trained medical health officer, two public health nurses and one clerk. This would require a budget of $12,000. However, with such a budget the following appropriations would be available as part of the budget:

Rockefeller Foundation	$ 2,500.00
State Board of Health	3,000.00
United States Public Health Service	500.00
Total Outside Funds	$ 6,000.00
Cost of Present County Nurse	$ 2,000.00
Cost of Present Nurse	1,500.00
Dental Fund	300.00
Total Budget	$12,000.00

According to Dr. Pickett, if Ottawa County spends the money for nurses with an addition of $1,400 which will total $6,000, the state, through these different funds, will give Ottawa County an appropriation of $6,000 more with which to conduct its health campaign. In to be very ill while we visited the capital. He is 70 years old and has served as chief executive from 1910 until 1929. Dr. Juan Bauista Perez is president now. Gomez is reputed to be the second richest man in South America. He has enormous holdings of agriculture, grazing, and mineral lands, and employs over 12,000 people in his enterprises. For 20 years he ruled this country with an iron hand.

This country, too, was discovered by Columbus in 1498. In 1806 they attempted to secure independence from Spain. They had an awful struggle and not until 1925 were their efforts crowned with success. It has a population now of about 3,000,000. They raise many sheep. Aigrette feathers are an important export, used for hats mostly. They also have large forests of balata rubber, and minerals of all kinds. Even diamonds in small quantities are found here. In the days of the bucaniers, the northeast coast of South America was called the Spanish Main and is called so today. The countries of the Main are the republics of Venezuela, Colombia and Panama. These countries are all mountainous, with sandy shores.

Harking to Gomez reminds me of many instances in our own social and political life. One can be on the job too long. Without doubt a great portion of Gomez' reign benefited the country when natives were uneducated and the iron hand had to be felt as in Mexico not so many years ago. But Venezuela has advanced in education in its industrial development. Folks here to know things and when one becomes educated he does not want to have others think for him. Education really means independence and it is therefore no more than natural that a change in administration and a reign of many years should finally come to an end. Even in America, whether that be civic, state, or nation, one can be on the job too long.

HEAR HOLLAND SPEAKER

Creston high school entertained with a banquet Thursday evening in the school for the Inter-Hi Student council. James Nettinga of the Holland High Student council and a guest of the evening, gave a short address on the activities of the council in Holland. Holland was made a member of the Inter-Hi Student council. The next meeting will be held in Ottawa Hills high school May 15.—Grand Rapids Herald.

HOLLAND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WEEK'S NEWS

The second annual committeemen's luncheon will be held Tuesday, April 29, at 12 o'clock noon, at the Parish Hall of the Episcopal church, W. 9th street. Last year this luncheon proved to be a successful venture in the organization work of the Chamber and it is hoped that the meeting Tuesday will prove likewise.

The regular monthly Board of Directors meeting is included in the program of this committeemen's luncheon.

The committee on flower show consisting of landscape gardeners and florists is planning to arrange the exhibit in the nature of an architectural garden effect which will be something new in flower show exhibits. This show will be conducted in conjunction with the tulip time festival program the week of May 12th.

The Tulip Time in Holland Festival is receiving considerable publicity throughout the state. As a city needs publicity the same as a business the Tulip Time Festival is giving Holland quite a range of publicity which will without a doubt contribute greatly to the success of our summer tourist and travel trade. The following newspapers have already given this publicity: Chicago Daily News, Muskegon Chronicle, Detroit News, Milwaukee Journal, Grand Rapids Herald, Grand Rapids Press and same has been placed on the A. P. news service. The festival will also be announced through the Swift Round-Up period broadcast over WLS on Tuesday, May 6, at 12:45 P. M. Central Standard Time.

The Chamber membership is steadily marching toward the 400 mark. Since Feb. 2nd, 26 new members have been enrolled in the Chamber. This increase is a pledge of faith in the administration of the Chamber officials.

The Wooden shoe booklet is being reprinted with additional pages of local scenes. Also the Membership Business Directory which proved so helpful to our members is also being reprinted in a larger and more complete edition. These publications are supplied to all inquiring for information concerning Holland and to 45 Tourist and Resort information organizations covering 26 states.

HOLLAND TO HAVE BASEBALL TEAM; BOOSTERS PREPARE FOR PLAY

Holland again will be represented on the diamond this season by the Holland Boosters, under the management of Watson Spoelstra, captain by Joe McCarthy, and coached by Ben Batema. The team is composed of players of college and high school age and will be pitted against strong contenders picked from teams in western Michigan towns.

The Boosters have retained three hurlers of last season in Sackers, Wolters and Verano, with Westerhof on the receiving end. Sackers is a southpaw and Wolters and Verano are right handers.

The personnel will be about the same as last year and will include McCarthy, Slighter, Spoelstra, Unema, Beltman and Batema for the infield and Norlin, VanZanden and Louis Japina for the outfield. Any local player anxious to secure a berth on the team will be given a chance.

SPRING LAKE IS TO HAVE $15,000 MOTOR BOAT GARAGE

A marine garage which will rival in beauty many of the fine homes on Spring Lake and will afford the most modern housing and display space for motor boats will probably be built this year by Edward Bauman of Spring Lake.

For many weeks the foremost promoter of motor boating on this lake, has been studying plans and specifications which will result, he is certain, in one of the most unique and modern marine garages anywhere in the country.

Mr. Bauman has been working for months in conjunction with Pierre Lindhout, an architect widely known in Grand Rapids. Already he has abandoned one plan which was found impractical, for one smaller in area but of two stories. It will be of Spanish architecture, employing the iron grill work, the arched windows and flat roof in such a manner as almost to disguise its real use, looking more like a fine club house or residence. The estimated cost is $15,000.

P.M. BEATEN A SECOND TIME IN DAMAGE SUIT

An Allegan circuit court jury, after deliberating nearly six hours, awarded $8,000 damages against the Pere Marquette railroad to Mrs. Alice Thrall as administratrix of the estate of her late husband, William P. Thrall, killed three years ago in a handcar accident. The verdict was on a retrial of the case granted by the state supreme court. The first award, one of $7,000, was appealed. It would seem that a second trial with a different jury should be convincing enough that the poor widow is entitled to her money.

The recent judgment awards $500 to the estate for pain and suffering of deceased; $5,000 to the widow, Alice Thrall; $200 to a 20-year-old daughter, Avis, and $2300 to a 10-year-old daughter, Mary Jane. The defense indicates an appeal will be taken.

HOPE MAN TO GIVE ALLENDALE COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

The Allendale high school will graduate a class of 12 on May 23. H. Justin Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Brown, has been named valedictorian with an average of 96. Salutatory honors were bestowed upon Miss Mildred Aylworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Aylworth.

Prof. E. Winter of Hope college, may deliver the commencement address.

Mr. Albert Kapenga of North Holland visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil De Cook.

Easter Sunday In Holland Uninviting

RAINCOATS, UMBRELLAS, HIDE NEW EASTER FROCKS, BONNETS

A drizzly, cold rain dampened the enthusiasm for the Easter festival Sunday which, had the weather been bright, might have been particularly colorful since the festive church day came so late in the month. However, the religious observances were in no way hurt, as thousands flocked to churches over the city.

Morning services, vespers and early services by the different denominations, marked the day, drawing crowds which in many instances were reckoned as the largest in the history of the organizations. Special music, floral decorations and sermons prevailed, combining to make one of the most impressive and beautiful occasions of the year.

Accession to membership and baptisms were other ceremonies that marked the glorious church festival, while cantatas and song festivals concluded the week's ceremonies at several Holland churches.

The weather contributed to fire-side gatherings, rather than to motoring and the day in the open. From Friday noon until Sunday night, the churches were unusually well patronized. Not in many years was there such universal observance of Good Friday and even the smallest organizations celebrated the Easter story with capacity at their churches.

The temperature hovered around the 40 degree mark during Easter Sunday.

FINE $99.15 FOR TAKING SUCKERS WITH GILL NET

August Germain of Watson township, Allegan County, arraigned before Justice H. H. Cook of Allegan, on the charge of using a gill net to take suckers from Snaube creek, was fined $99.15. The arrest was made by Conservation Officer Harry G. Plotts.

The amount assessed Germain no doubt is meant as a warning to others as it is alleged the practice has been quite general in that section.

HOLLAND COUNCIL CHAPLAIN NAMED

Grand Rapids Press—Albert P. Kleis, First ward alderman, has been appointed chaplain of the council and will have charge of the devotionals at the opening of the bimonthly sessions. The custom of opening the council sessions with prayer has been in vogue several years and frequently pastors of the city respond to the request. Kleis is a son of the late Peter A. Kleis, who represented the same ward in the council in pioneer days.

Resort Book Pictures Early Resort Life

HOLLAND IS WELL TAKEN CARE OF; PORT SHELTON "BUBBLE" IS ALSO DESCRIBED

The West Michigan Vacation Directory, issued by the Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, is out advertising widely the resort attractions of Western Michigan. A page is devoted to a short history of Ottawa County and a list of interesting points to visit. Spring Lake and Macatawa Bay and the resorts adjacent are also featured in the writeup.

A charming picture of Lake Michigan, with a portion of beach and dunes in delicate colors, form the cover and the 56 pages included, give a comprehensive idea of the most attractive resorts from Michigan City to Mackinac. Many of the booklets were received in Holland and this city is well pictured together with its resorts. A short historic resume is given from the time of the Indian dwellers here—the coming of Dr. Van Raalte and his little band, to its present industrial and commercial development.

Port Sheldon also comes in for an extensive writeup. The book tells of the first "resort bubble" that burst even before Holland was settled and when a French syndicate built a large hotel on Port Sheldon Lake adorned with big pillars. This enterprise was launched in the early forties and failed for thousands of dollars. The book also describes beautiful Port Sheldon of today on a more substantial footing.

JUDGES, MINISTERS AND LAYMEN FROM HOLLAND AT SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET

Religious leaders from western Michigan are at Fennville today addressing the Allegan county Sunday school convention held there Thursday and Friday. On the program are:

Mrs. Floyd H. Zerbe, Ganges; Arthur B. Dewey, Fennville; Rev. A. M. Conklin, Grand Rapids; Rev. Howard Paquin, Casco; Rev. William Pyle, Overisel; Mrs. H. B. Strabbing, Hamilton; Mrs. Loren Paquin, Glenn; Mrs. Charles Green, Fennville; Rev. J. A. Roggen, Hamilton; Rev. William E. Beckett, Fennville; Bernard Coggan, Lansing; Rev. J. S. Treddick, Grand Rapids; Rev. H. Veldman, Grand Rapids; Martin Neinhuis, Overisel; Judge Fred P. Miles, Holland; Dean Charles E. Jackson, Grand Rapids.

The Thursday evening session was held in the high school auditorium. A religious drama, "Saint Claudia," will be given by the Rock players of Ganges.

Early in 1929 President Gomez authorized a statement concerning conditions in that Republic. He did admit that a few students of the University of Caracas were detained in prison, but that they were held there for "justifiable reasons," whatever that may mean.

HOPE COLLEGE GRAD QUITS HUDSONVILLE SCHOOL

Oliver J. DeJonge, present superintendent of the Hudsonville schools, has been named as the head of the Shelby public schools for the coming year. DeJonge was selected out of a list of more than 100 applicants to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Supt. Earl Y. Poore. DeJonge is a graduate of Hope college, class of 1920, and has done considerable work at the University of Chicago. He has an excellent record, having been at Bondurant and Newhampton, Ia. before taking the superintendency at Hudsonville, where he has been for the last four years.

SAUGATUCK AND GANGES ORCHARD NAMED IN LONG LIST FOR EXPERIMENTAL PURPOSES

Responsibility for the production of infested cherries will be placed squarely upon the shoulders of Michigan growers under joint plans of the State Department of Agriculture and the entomology department of Michigan State College. These institutions are rapidly completing arrangements to advise orchardists when to spray and what to use.

Fruit fly emergence cages will be established in virtually every important orchard section of cherryland for the purpose of detecting the flight of the first fly as it leaves the soil, its winter home, E. C. Mandenberg, chief of orchard and nursery inspection in the State Department of Agriculture, announced this week.

The cages will be put out in the orchards early in May and trained observers will inspect them two and three times daily. Sites for this equipment already have been selected in most of the cherry producing counties in Michigan. In

HUDSONVILLE DRIVER GIVEN A CLEAR BILL BY JURY

Ambert Elzinga of R. R. 5, Hudsonville, was absolved of all blame in the accident the night of March 15 in which John Van Dyken of Grand Rapids was fatally injured, according to a jury impaneled Friday morning by Coroner Gilbert Vandewater of Holland. According to the verdict, VanDyken was at fault when he swung in front of Elzinga's car at the Fairview rd. intersection of M21, half a mile east of Zeeland. The Grand Rapids man was hurled to the pavement when his car overturned after colliding with the Elzinga machine.

Some orchards the cages will be built over patches of ground in which infested cherries were planted last summer.

In Allegan County, orchards in Saugatuck and Ganges Townships are named. Different experimental stations extend from Benton Harbor to beyond Traverse City and not a few are to be found in northern Michigan. Ottawa County has not been placed on the list, possibly it has no cherry trees.

Miss Winona Peterson, student at Michigan State College, spent the Easter holidays at her home in Holland.

PASTOR PASSES AWAY ON EASTER SUNDAY

Rev. John Hoffman, the last survivor of the graduating class of 1871 of Hope College and of the Western Theological Seminary class of 1874, passed away early Sunday morning at the age of 81 years.

Rev. Hoffman was born in Overisel and his first sermon was also preached in Overisel. His first charge was of the Reformed church in Oostburg, Wisconsin. After seven years with this church he left it for a Presbyterian Church. Later he returned to the Reformed church where he served in several states and in 1920 he finally located in Holland.

His parents were numbered among the early settlers who sailed with Dr. A. C. Van Raalte and established the Holland colony at the head of Black Lake.

The deceased is survived by his wife, one son, Rev. James Hoffman of Brooklyn; one daughter, Mrs. Gleason of Ridgewood, N. J.; and one brother, H. J. Hoffman of Overisel.

Rev. Hoffman has always been considered an able divine and even at his advanced age he had been selected by the Holland classis as a delegate to the general synod session at Asbury Park, N. J., in June. His alternate is Rev. John Vanderbeek of Sixth Reformed church of this city.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 from the home at 292 West Seventeenth street and at 2 o'clock from the Bethel Reformed church.

The eight clergymen of the Reformed churches of Holland took part in the services. Rev. E. Tanis, pastor of Bethel Reformed church and Rev. James Weyer, pastor of First Reformed church, officiated, while the other six served as pallbearers.

These were, Rev. Clarence Dame, Rev. James M. Martin, Rev. Paul Van Erden, Rev. J. Vanderbeek, Rev. Thomas W. Davidson, Rev. Henry Van Dyke.

ZEELAND

Cornelius Barenman, 48 years old, passed away Sunday night at the home of his sister, Mrs. Sam Nagelkerk, one mile north of Zeeland, after an illness of a few days. He is survived by four brothers and two sisters. They are Peter, William, Christopher, Martin and Mrs. Sam Nagelkerk of Zeeland, and Mrs. Martin Nagelkerk of Moline. Mr. Barenman was formerly a Zeeland boy and has been teaching for the past 21 years in the Grand Forks, North Dakota, High School. He came here a few weeks ago and was taken ill with pneumonia. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of his sister, Mrs. Sam Nagelkerk, and at 2:30 from the Third Christian Reformed church of Zeeland, Rev. William Hendrickson officiating. Interment took place in Zeeland cemetery.

The program was in charge of Mrs. O. N. Wells, assisted by Clarence Dykema, Berdette Mannes and Mrs. George Telgenhoff. It was an unusually pleasing occasion.

The Ladies' Literary club met Tuesday deviated from its usual custom of studying American authors and listening to talks on modern Americans heard an all-American musical program. The program was rendered by the various music students about the city. Only music written by American composers was played.

WELL-GROWN COWS GIVE MOST MILK

Animal's Size at First Freshening Helps Determine Future Production

SIZE AND PROFITABLENESS OF DAIRY HEIFERS INFLUENCED BY AGE AT FIRST FRESHENING

BIG COWS OF ALL BREEDS MORE PROFITABLE THAN SMALL COWS OF SAME BREED

YOUNG cows that are well grown before their first calving are the ones most likely to be the most profitable milk producers, says the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. This conclusion is emphasized by the monthly record of 40 heifers in an Iowa dairy herd improvement association. Fifteen of these heifers freshened under 20 months of age, weighed around 700 pounds each, and produced an average of 19 pounds of butterfat for the month. The other 25 heifers freshening for the first time when over two years old, weighed approximately 850 pounds each, and produced in the same month 25 pounds of butterfat. The smaller butterfat production of the younger and less-developed group of heifers was due to several factors which have an influence upon the size and production of the dairy cow at maturity. While heredity plays an important part, most of the factors which affect the growth and development of dairy heifers can be controlled by prolonging the period before first freshening and by proper feeding. After a dairy heifer freshens, her energy and feed are largely diverted from growth to milk production. Under such conditions heifers in milk make much less growth than heifers of the same age that have not yet freshened. And the final effect is generally a smaller cow at maturity. Since it is the larger animals of the breed that are the most profitable, it pays to "grow them out" well before they calve. The kinds and amounts of feed the heifer receives are vitally important factors in determining the size of the animal at maturity. A growing heifer needs considerable amounts of proteins from which to build flesh and other body tissues. She also requires an abundance of minerals from which to build bone. Phosphorus and lime are the minerals needed especially for bone building. The cereal grains are the common source of phosphorus in most good dairy cow rations. Lime is found in most available form in alfalfa and other legume hays and in skim milk. Vitamins also are needed for growth as well as for protection against disease. Green feeds, alfalfa and other legume hays and fresh milk are the best sources of vitamins for growing heifers as well as for all other growing stock. Sunlight is also an important factor in promoting growth because only in the presence of sunlight can growing animals make the best use of the lime in their feed.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for April 27

GIVING UP ALL FOR THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 19:16-30. GOLDEN TEXT—Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven. PRIMARY TOPIC—Giving Jesus First Place. JUNIOR TOPIC—Giving Jesus First Place. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Shall We Use Our Money? YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Stewardship of Possessions.

The lesson title is likely to be misunderstood and the teaching misapplied. Christ did not directly, nor by implication teach that eternal life could be obtained by parting with possessions.

1. A Certain Young Man (v. 16). For a full view of the characteristics of this man, see Mark 10:17-30 and Luke 18:18-30.

1. His virtues.

(1) Courageous (Mark 10:7). He was of high standing—a rich young ruler (Luke 18:18, 23). To come to Jesus at this time might mean ostracism, but with manly courage he came. (2) Earnest (Mark 10:17). He knelt before Jesus, thus showing earnestness and sincerity. (3) High aspirations (v. 16). He wanted eternal life. Though taken up with the things of his present life, he felt the need of preparing for a life beyond. (4) Pious and moral (v. 20). From his youth he had conformed to God's moral law. (5) He believed that Christ could inform him of the "good thing" to be done to inherit eternal life.

2. His errors.

(1) About Christ (v. 16). He esteemed Jesus to be good, but did not apprehend Him as God; otherwise he would have known Him not merely as one who did good, but as one who is essentially good; that is, God. (2) Concerning himself. He thought he was good and that he could do something good. (3) Concerning eternal life. He thought that it could be obtained by good works. He did not know that the only way to gain eternal life was to receive it as a gift from God (Rom. 6:23).

11. The Lord's Deal'g With Him (vv. 17-22).

Jesus skillfully led the young man to see his errors.

1. His question—"Why callest thou me good?" (v. 17).

Before giving him a chance to answer He declared that only God was good, as if to say, "I am good, and therefore God." He was God manifest in the flesh, and repudiated the thought of being known merely as a good man.

2. Jesus' answer to the young man's question (vv. 17-20).

"If thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments." Christ met him here on his own ground, namely, that of the law. He took the young man's level that the young man's real worth might be revealed (Rom. 3:19, 20).

3. Christ's command (vv. 21, 22).

Replying to Christ's citation of the commandments of the law, the young man asserted that he had kept them from his youth. Yet in his inner conscience he knew that there was something lacking. When he had to make the supreme decision between Jesus and his possessions, he chose wealth.

III. The Relationship of the Rich to the Kingdom (vv. 23-28).

This teaching concerning the peril of riches was most timely. Covetousness was fast taking hold of the people.

1. It is difficult for the rich to enter into the kingdom (vv. 23, 24). This difficulty lies not in the possession of riches, for a man may possess great riches and be an heir of the kingdom. Money in itself is essentially good. It will help the poor and help bring the gospel to the lost. The difficulty lies in trusting in riches.

2. Entrance into the kingdom though difficult, is possible (vv. 23, 26).

(1) It is possible for the grace of God to sanctify riches, to open a man's eyes that he may see his downward course and repent, to change a man from self-seeking to self-sacrificing.

IV. Rewards for Following Christ (vv. 27-30).

Those who turn their backs upon their kindred and possessions for the sake of Christ shall receive an hundredfold in this life, and eternal life in the world to come.

Mrs. C. C. Wood is spending the week in Chicago visiting friends.

The Misses Anna and Pearl Tjalma and Arie and John Tjalma spent the week-end in Chicago.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zant on April 12, a daughter, Bonnie Lee; to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ter Haar, at the Holland hospital, on April 18, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Vandenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Vaudie Vandenberg spent the Easter holidays with their sons at Culver, Ind.

Miss Henrietta Althuis, school teacher at Flint, spent the week-end with his parents here in the city.

Edward Boyd, former editor of the Holland Evening Sentinel, has returned to his home at Tyrone, Arkansas.

Audrey Lane Buter underwent an operation for acute appendicitis at the Holland hospital Friday.

Bruno Bruns, of Meservey, Iowa, and a senior at the Western Theological Seminary, has been appointed by the Reformed Church Board of Foreign Missions to Japan.

James Hoeksma, of the Warm Friend Tavern, is on a two weeks' vacation tour through the east.

Miss Margaret De Weerd, teacher at Vassar High school, spent the Easter holidays at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Walter De Weerd.

William Wolters has moved to Montello Park from West 13th street.

Mrs. G. F. Snyder of 309 College avenue has left for Redondo Beach, California, where she expects to stay for about two months.

The gospel team activities of the Hope College Y.M.C.A. are extending their influences to several of the villages surrounding Holland. Meeting places are procured through the efforts of the town and county secretary of the state "Y," as well as through the pastors of the Reformed churches in the vicinity of Holland. On Tuesday evening Melvin Oosting conducted the C.E. meeting at the Reformed church of Overisel. Lester Vander Werf of the junior class accompanied him and sang a solo. On May 9-11 a team will go to Sparta to give a week-end program under the auspices of the Methodist Church at that place. The trip to Cedar Springs which was to have been this week-end has been postponed to a later date at the request of the pastor of that place. The fellows going out on week-end trips usually give a program on Friday evening, direct a hike or engage in some athletics on Saturday and take charge of all the church services on Sunday. As a denominational school, Hope College is vitally concerned with these activities.

A miscellaneous shower was held last week at the home of Mrs. George Kleinheksel in honor of Miss Grace Elenbaas. Games were played and a dainty two-course luncheon was served. The bride-to-be received many beautiful gifts. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Kleinheksel and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lubbers and daughter Rosina, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Woudwijk, Mrs. Albert J. Schrotenboer, Mr. and Mrs. Justin Oetman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bittner, Mrs. Lloyd Versaw and son, Mrs. Gerrit Wolters, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ten Cate, Mr. and Mrs. George Kraker, Mr. and Mrs. James Kleinheksel, Mr. and Mrs. William Kleinheksel, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kleinheksel, Mr. and Mrs. H. Kleinheksel and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Kleinheksel, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Woudwijk and son, Mr. and Mrs. James Robbers and son, Joseph Kleinheksel, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Elenbaas and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ryenga and family, Hattie Ryenga, Gerrit, John, Dena, Susan, and Harvey Wolters, Gertrude Woudwijk, Kathryn Van Den Bosch, and Grace Elenbaas.

GRAND HAVEN KIDKIE KOVER FACTORY ON THE BOOM

The Kidkie Kover Co., Grand Haven's newest industrial acquisition is daily increasing production here while maintaining a full crew of 125 at the Detroit plant to keep up an unprecedented run of spring business.

The Grand Haven operations are getting underway as dozens of garments are being turned out. The building is being rehabilitated and organization is being completed. The recent destruction of a transportation truck slowed up activities here by destroying a quantity of machinery which was to have been installed this week, and which would have provided for the employment of more girls.

A sprinkler system is being put in this week, the elevator built on the outside of the building has been completed, the offices have been remodeled and sewing machines of the very latest type have been installed.

Coveralls, of denim, chambray and drills are being turned out by the hundred dozen. The cutting is done on the first floor, and taken to the second, where girls and women turn out the finished garment.

ALLEGAN ASKS SPECIAL SESSION IN DAM FIGHT

The city of Allegan has filed a petition for a special session of the Allegan county board of supervisors to take new action on the construction of the proposed hydro-electric dam across the Kalamazoo river to supply municipal light and power. At the final session of the board Saturday night it split even on the proposal to start construction. The petition was signed by eight supervisors.

WOMAN AWARDED $3,400

An Allegan county circuit court jury today awarded Mrs. Charles Burnett $3,400 in her $3,500 suit against Mr. and Mrs. Charles King, her former parents-in-law. In her claim, Mrs. Burnett alleged that after the death of her former husband, James King, she turned all his property over to his parents to sell, but that they kept the money.

Final Debate Scheduled With G. R. Squad Here

An interesting post-season debate has been arranged for the members of the Hope College squad. There will be a dual debate with the debaters of Grand Rapids Junior College this Wednesday afternoon on the subject, "Resolved that capital punishment should be abolished." This is the topic that the Shaxon men of Grand Rapids have been discussing all season. Our men have only recently begun its study. Last year Coach Shaxon of Grand Rapids Junior had his men here for a practice debate. The fine work then presented by his proteges augurs well for an interesting encounter this time.

Coach B. Raymond of Hope announces that each team will consist of only two members. The affirmative team of Hope will be Kamill Toonian and Carl Postma, while the negative side will be taken by Raymond Schaap and C. Nettinga. There will be an audience decision.

Richard Buursma, 34 years old, passed away last week Thursday evening at the Muskegon Sanatorium. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Isla Mae. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hemme Buursma, and three sisters and two brothers. Mr. Buursma was employed at the Holland Shoe company. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 1:30 from the home of his parents at 263 East 10th street and at 2 o'clock from the Maple Avenue Christian Reformed church, Rev. D. Zwier officiating. Interment took place in Pilgrim Home cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Stielstra entertained at their home at Lakewood Boulevard last week Thursday evening in honor of their aged mother, Mrs. R. Dykman, the occasion being her eightieth birthday anniversary. Her children, Mr. and Mrs. N. Stielstra and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dykman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dykman and family, and relatives from Grand Rapids, Decatur, Holland, Waukegan and Harderwijk were present. After a program of readings and singing of hymns and Dutch psalms, a dainty two course luncheon was served. Mrs. Dykman received many pretty and useful gifts.

SEMI-ANNUAL RUMMAGE SALE!

Saturday, April 26, 1930
Beginning at 9 o'clock

HOPE COEDS TO FIGURE IN POPULARITY CONTEST

Hope college coeds will figure in a beauty and popularity contest, the winners to be honored with full page photos in the next issue of the Milestone, the college annual published by the junior class. Four or six coeds will be chosen from a list of 30 candidates by John Held, Jr., famous artist and cartoonist.

The names of the winners will be kept a secret until the volume is published in June. Willard Wichers of Zeeland is editor-in-chief of the Milestone.

The Milestone will be illustrated with campus scenes, college buildings, group pictures of society and other organizations, student council, classes, faculty and individual pictures of some of the upper class members. Another feature will be a calendar of the year's events on the campus.

Thursday was a great day for the Holland beauty shops, for Hope's fairest coeds were selected on the evening of that day. The sorority meetings were a little quieter than usual, for each girl was trying her best to use sane judgment in her choice. Several fraternities met for the express purpose of selecting six of the prettiest girls. Many surmises have been made as to the agreement of the choice of the men and girls, but here are the results which will be sent to John Held, Jr. He will select from these photos the six prettiest coeds. The girls may pick their best photo.

POOR ALLEGAN RURAL SUPERVISORS BLOCK BUILDING OF ALLEGAN CITY DAM

Although it had been hoped that early building of the proposed municipal power dam at the Calkins bridge site on Kalamazoo river might be begun, opposition developed in the board of supervisors final meeting of the season and the matter was automatically tabled until the June session when a tie vote was recorded on the proposal to permit the city to go ahead with the work.

Lengthy discussion preceded the balloting. The city offered to pay taxes on township lands that might be flooded as a result of the dam installation. This proposal didn't meet with favor among the rural supervisors. Allegan and Valley townships each demanded payment of $1,200 a year and the county-at-large asked $1,000, in all a $3,400 annual subsidy.

The township representatives set forth that if the dam was to be financially successful for the city of Allegan the rural sections wanted a share of the "gravy."

At the board's January session the Fargo Engineering company of Jackson, sought a permit to build a dam at the Manlius site. This was denied by a 19 to 9 vote on the presumption that the General Power and Fargo companies were one and the same.

Honors Were Even

A man was sitting beside the bed of his business partner, who was dying. Said the latter:

"I've got a confession to make. Ten years ago I robbed the firm of $50,000—I sold the blue prints of your invention to a rival firm—I stole the letters that were used against you in your divorce case."

"Don't worry," said his partner. "Don't worry—I poisoned you!"

Tastes Differ

Heard at the public library:

"Is the book in about the other sex?"

"Please to give me a Bible story about Queen Elizabeth."

"I just love to read books like this and see what the big words are and learn how to use them."

From the mouth of a very delicate little girl—"Please give me a book about rattlehathaketh."—In Annapolis News.

The Five Pauls

Here is a good example of what frequently happens in the polylog Balkans. A man named Pavel, that is, Paul, had five sons. One settled in Athens and called himself Pavlopolou, the Greek form of Paulson; the second went to Belgrade and called himself Pavlovich; the third, in Sofia, called himself Pavloff; the fourth made his home in Bucharest under the name Pavelus, while the youngest set up in business in Constantinople, assuming the Turkish form of Pavloglu.
