TEN YEARS OF SERVICE

Last Wednesday Holland witnessed a very impressive annual council meeting. There was a change in administration, there was a fine spirit, there was a magnanimous attitude shown by the retiring Mayor towards the incoming Mayor and there was a reciprocity there that brought a wonderful feeling of unity.

This splendid attitude was deeply felt not only by the aldermen who had served and are to serve, but by the audience as well.

The retiring Mayor, Mr. Nico-deamus Bosch, has given this city ten years of faithful service and that this service was deeply appreciated by many is reflected in the utterances of his pastor who was present and in the prayer that followed.

It is again evident, in the words of the city attorney who had served side by side with him for the past two years. It permeated the message of the mayor-elect when he said, "We owe a debt of gratitude to the mayor and the previous administration. They have rendered a splendid service, always having the interest of the city at heart, laboring patiently and effectively."

"The city has been brought to its present high status because of such diligence, effort and sacrifice." Servants of the people, put into office by the electorate are prone to criticism; credit comes slow, fault finding comes quickly, but a man, no matter who, who can be elected to office over a period of ten years must have qualifications that earn for him this confidence. There is no mayor before or since, who has served over so long a period as has Mayor Bosch.

Long public service cannot help but bring strong friendships and by the same token, strong enemies. Different opinions in policies, transactions that sometimes step on toes, clashes in nature and many other things enter in to bring opposition as petty political grievances.

It is difficult to please everyone; therefore over a period of a decade these small grievances accumulate, often blinding many to the fact that much has been accomplished, much hard work has been done and the city has greatly benefited.

The last four years of the Bosch administration have possibly been the most trying in the history of this city. In the darkest hour, in the darkest year of this depression, Mayor Bosch and his official family spent sleepless nights and troublesome days in figuring out how best to aid those in want and distress.

The city treasury at one time was depleted because first aid was so imperative, but through steady economies which gradually began to reflect into all departments, the sun again began to shine as this relates to the financial condition of the city. Aid came from other sources no doubt, but the economies practiced were indeed a help to the entire city financial setup.

It is doubtful if Holland ever had a Mayor who devoted so much of his time to city affairs as has Mr. Bosch. Undoubtedly he made mistakes and miscalculations as all of them have done before, but his enthusiasm, his energy, his honesty of purpose and his devotion to Holland cannot be mistaken.

Being mayor of the city of Holland is purely a labor of love. It can be said that there is no salary connected with the office which would make it attractive to the office seeker, therefore the man seeking the office does it to serve his community and to serve it well. That is the only possible reward. We feel that any man elected to the office of mayor or any other office for a decade is entitled to be considered a citizen in which a great many people have confidence and whom they esteem.

Holland owes Mayor Bosch a vote of appreciation for his faithful, untiring application to duty.

Wealth and Poverty—Luke 16:19-31

This is a story with Oriental trimmings and setting and yet its truth is as fresh as the morning.

This rich man is the usual hard and heartless rich man of all ages. His human sympathies are frozen up. His sense of responsibility for the right use of his money is dead. His understanding of human need is zero. He has no thought of being his brother's helper and friend in time of great need. He has enough to keep him comfortable and happy. Why should he care about a miserable beggar. They are nuisances. They are unpleasant sights. They are a reminder of the social body. Let them shift for themselves. They got themselves in their present condition. Why should high standing citizens help them out of their dilemma! It is not good and wise to take away the independence of the poor by giving them food and money. They ought to earn their own. This is the usual run of the mind of the selfish and cynical rich. Therefore we have no reason to believe that this man of the parable was any different from any selfish and hard and self-contained rich man of today who thinks his money is his own and he can do as he likes with it.

It is a sobering and arresting responsibility to be rich and we say this in spite of the fact that we say we would like to try it. We are willing to assume the risks. We would not be like the other fellows. We would show the world how to use money. Maybe we would and maybe we would not. What we would do depends largely upon what we do now with what we have. If we have tender hearts now we probably would have them. If we have a passion for the welfare of men now we probably would have them. If there is a straight path running between our hearts and human need now, probably the pathway would be kept open then. Nevertheless, we would have to fight to keep our souls in the saddle and to keep our hearts tender and the milk of human kindness from souring. We should have to guard ourselves from getting proud and overbearing and haughty and self-sufficient.

It is not a sin to be rich, but it is a sin to be rich and heartless and selfish. It is a sin to be rich and have deaf ears with respect to human cries of need. It is a sin to be rich and allow riches to dig an impassable ditch between you and your fellowmen. Whenever a man can and will not cross the arbitrary bridge between him and his fellowmen in their hour of need, then that man is worthy of the severest condemnation, no matter how much or how little money he has. A man's character and destiny are not to be determined by things, but only by his attitude toward things. He may wear gorgeous purple and fine linen every day and eat the best food brought from all parts of the world so long as his heart is right toward God and his fellowmen.

The rich man of the parable and the beggar died. In the future there was still an impassable gulf between them. In this world the rich man was sure that there was an impassable gulf between rich and poor. That is the philosophy of many of the rich of our day. In the other world it was impassable because of the difference of their spiritual and moral selves. The very nature of things made the impassability. It looks as if the rich man still had a low conception of Lazarus—a conception that meant that Lazarus was still inferior to Dives and now Lazarus was to be used as a servant. It seems that Jesus is trying to drive home to the hearts of men that a false sense of superiority and an utter lack of the ability to rightly evaluate men and their needs ever makes an impassable gulf. This is a spiritual gulf, a character gulf. It is a yawning gap, not measured in feet or yards, but measured in terms of eternal values. We seem to fix the gulf because we fix ourselves in certain mean ways of thinking and living. It is our thoughts and our attitudes and our deeds that build the bridges to our fellowmen and their needs.

"PRE-VUE" MAKING SHREDDED WHEAT BISCUITS HERE

During Tulip Time the Dutch Market Place is to have an exhibit with a miniature machine sent in from the National Biscuit Company at Niagara Falls where these crispy crunchy shredded wheat biscuits are made and Tulip Time visitors will see just how the cushion looking breakfast food is created.

Jim Voss, manager of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company store on W. 8th St., states that Holland will be privileged to get a glimpse of at least one of the attractions that Tulip Time is to offer to the stranger within our gates next month.

Anyway, next Saturday, all day, shredded wheat biscuits will be made in the large show window of the downtown store and the only part that the window cannot accommodate is the bake oven, because of lack of room. Jim invites the kiddies to come for their shredded wheat biscuits and mother can ovenize the stringy batter that makes the biscuit, eaten with cream and sugar, so popular on many breakfast tables.

Remember the time is all day Saturday. It will be quite a sight to see how the batter is turned into webby, stringy particles such as everyone knows constitute the biscuit in question.

The two small children of Mr. Voss are to be dressed up in Dutch costume in order to lend color to this new occasion which will be seen in the show window Saturday.

KROGER CENTRAL AVENUE STORE MOVES TO NEW QUARTERS

The Kroger store, known as the Central Avenue Imporium and located on the corner of Central Avenue and 17th Street moved into its spacious new quarters at 380-382 Central Avenue a few days ago and the force is ready to meet friends and customers at the new stand, according to Mr. Eldert Nienhuis, manager of the Central Avenue store for the past four years. Prior to managing the local store Mr. Nienhuis was manager of the Zeeland store and also at one time managed a Kroger store at Battle Creek.

The new store, located in the building formerly occupied by Slaughter and Nykerk doing business under the name of Central Food Shop, has been put in "ship shape" condition. The stairway and partition between the double store has been removed and new show windows put in as well as new flooring. The front of the store and interior woodwork have been painted in "Kroger green" with walls done in a light cream.

Fixtures throughout the store including lights, display cases and tables are also new and of the very latest design. This can also be said of the shelving with its chrome moulding.

A new department in the store is the lunch meat department with meats displayed in a self contained cooling unit case. The fresh fruit and vegetable department carried in a small scale in the old store has been enlarged so that a most complete line will be carried in the future.

Several district men have been in Holland for the past ten days getting the store in readiness for the grand opening, among them being Herman Bos, District superintendent of the meat department, Warren Rader, district general manager, and Fred H. Miller, assistant district manager. The store was "set up" by Wm. G. Watts, district "relief" man assisted by Adrian Veele.

Mr. Nienhuis together with his "crew" will be pleased to meet old friends and customers at the new emporium. He invites them to come in and give their new "home" the "once-over". The personnel of Central Avenue store is the same as before, viz., Eldert Nienhuis, manager, Willard Welling, Henrie Gebben, Gerrit De Vries, and Jerry Mulder.

AMERICAN LEGION News

As usual, we meet the SECOND and FOURTH Wednesdays in each month. This brings our next meeting on May 12th.

A large number of the members are purchasing the regulation Legion Shirt. Give your size and shakels to Jack Barendse, our Adjutant, and he will forward the order. The first order will be sent in during the next few days. These shirts are the navy blue dress style, with the emblem on the collar points. A golden yellow tie completes the outfit, which when worn with a dark trousers makes a very neat uniform.

The Fifth District has a stag meeting at Zeeland on Friday the 24th, at 7:30 p.m. As before mentioned this is STAG and you know Zeeland can entertain when she gets going. We're looking for you. Just lard down your hair and pin your ears back and you're all set.

It begins to look as though we are going to have new quarters, living quarters we mean. More of this later.

It's about time the Legion Dutch Customs were being checked. What did you do with the one you wore last? If you rented it, return it; if you bought one, look it over; it may need a cleaning or remodeling.

The lunches are getting better every meeting. Not that we're bragging but if it keeps on we will be served spare-ribs and sauer-kraut in a few weeks, and maybe ice cream on the side.

Which fact should be reason enough for you to be at the meetings. Come up and get re-acquainted.

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold their regular meeting in the G.A.R. rooms in the city hall on Monday night. The meeting will begin at 7:45 sharp. The program will consist of a Child Welfare play and an address on the W. K. Kellogg Foundation for Children which is located at Battle Creek. The speaker will be from out-of-town. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Chester Ver Meulen and her committee. There will also be a very important business meeting so all are urged to come.

A Kitchen Shower for a Bride to be

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON
Director, Helms Food Institute

THE FIRST BREATH of spring brings a host of engagement and wedding announcements. There's a magic in the air and we all have friends who will fall under its spell. They will be feted later with frequent tea parties and showers, so let's plan to do our special entertaining for them early before the bride-to-be has already had everything imaginable. A kitchen shower is fun to give, and is so practical. Round up your friends and plan the gifts beforehand to avoid duplications. Then arrange to have a small brother or neighbor's boy, dressed in a white crozier's apron, deliver the gifts in a market basket at the kitchen door. Serve luncheon in the kitchen, too, if it's convenient. Cover the table with a checked gingham cloth and use small aprons made of a contrasting colored gingham in place of napkins. Arrange a mound of polished fruits and vegetables in a big wooden vegetable bowl in the center of the table and flank this on either side with tall candles placed in apples hollowed out to serve as holders. Then serve the gay menu given below in plain kitchen dishes and you will have a most amusing party:

- | | | |
|----------------------------|-------------------------|--------------|
| Stuffed Spanish Olives | Chilled Pineapple Juice | Radish Roses |
| Celery Curls | Cross Cut Sweet Pickles | |
| Buttered Biscuits | Chicken Shortcake* | |
| Frozen Fruit Salad Dessert | Grape Jelly | |
| Assorted Cookies | Ice Cream Roll* | |
| | Coffee | |

Chicken Shortcake—Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a saucepan, add 3 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 1 medium can Cream of Mushroom Soup and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add 1 1/2 cups diced cold chicken and 4 hard cooked eggs, sliced, and continue cooking until chicken and eggs are heated through. Add salt and pepper, if desired; but since the chicken was seasoned when cooked, and the Mushroom Soup is a carefully seasoned, little additional seasoning will be required. Serve between and on top of hot biscuits. Garnish with slices of hard cooked eggs topped with slices of Stuffed Spanish Olives, and tiny sprigs of parsley.

Ice Cream Roll (serves 10)—Beat 3 egg whites until frothy, add 1 teaspoon Pure Cider Vinegar and continue beating until egg whites are stiff, or just until dish may be inverted without egg whites slipping out. Add 1/4 cup sugar gradually, beating constantly. Beat 3 egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add 1/2 teaspoon vanilla and fold into the whites with a

SHOW WINDOW CONTEST IS ELIMINATED

William M. Connelly, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce announced Monday that the show window contest will be discontinued this year.

Although a competitive contest among downtown merchants for the best show window display will not be staged for the 1936 festival, the committee requests that every merchant do his best to present attractive displays during the nine days of the event.

The Williams cup won twice by two merchants, is yet to be awarded permanently, a requisite to permanent ownership being that one must win the trophy three consecutive years.

ALLEGAN COUNTY NEWS

Jack Barendse, manager of the national re-employment service office in the post office building at Holland, announced Friday that at least 150 local men are to be given jobs on the Holland to Saugatuck US-31 project. Mr. Barendse said there would be need for 24 drivers with trucks. FARM COMMITTEE MEET IN DIFFERENT PLACES ALSO IN HOLLAND TOWN.

Field workers on the new soils conservation program will soon start visiting farms in Ottawa County. County Agr. Agent, L. R. Arnold has called a meeting of committeemen for discussion of field work. The new program calls for farm visits to all farms for purpose of obtaining the 1935 crop history, which becomes the base upon which payments may be obtained. The farm will be divided into three acreages, neutral, soil conserving and soil depleting.

Soil depleting acres are those acres from which crops were harvested in 1935. In general hay and pasture are the soil conserving acres. The soil conserving payment is based upon the number of acres changed over from soil depleting to soil conserving crops. Payments are limited to 15% of the 1935 base and will be $10.00 per acre on the average. A soil building payment is made on new seedings in 1936 of soil building or soil conserving crops such as legumes, forest trees, etc.

In order to familiarize farmers with the program a second series of meetings has been scheduled. No contract is written in 1936. If a farmer wishes to come in for a grant he must state such wish by a certain date. He is not required to comply in any way. If his farm program conforms to the provisions of the program he will receive the payment due. If nothing further is done.

Mr. Arnold requests farmers to list all 1935 crops across showing crops and uses. This will assist the field men. The farmer should have a map of the farm outlined showing fields, acreage and crops. Following is the schedule. All meetings at 8 p.m.

April 27, Blendon township hall; April 28, Holland township hall; April 29, Olive township hall; April 29, Vriesland township hall; April 30, Georgetown township hall; May 1, Allegan township hall; May 1, Smallegan's hall, Forest Grove.

"GREAT IMPERSONATION"

Turns on a DIME!!

An owner once stated that his "Caterpillar" Tractor turns on a dime and leaves 9 cents in change!

We say that the "Caterpillar" Tractor will turn so squarely that you'll have room to spare in the narrowest headlands or crampiest fence corners—and it doesn't skid even in the loosest soil. We say that you can turn this tractor so quickly that you won't ever strike a low-hanging tree limb or a turkey's nest—if you see either object a split second in advance! We say that it steers so accurately that you can follow close-set rows with only scant inches to spare.

And the best part is: Engine power does the actual work of steering, through slow-speed, heavy-duty, built-to-last steering clutches. All you do to guide this tractor is sit back on the deep-cushioned seat and once in a while give an easy pull on a handy lever!

EASY, ACCURATE STEERING IS ONLY ONE OF THE MANY REASONS WHY "CATERPILLAR" IS THE TRACK TYPE TRACTOR FOR YOU. ASK US ABOUT OTHERS.

This is not at all bad spring weather. We all long for some warm days that will remind us of summer, and we are half way through the spring season; but this coolness is helping everything put on sturdy growth and soon that will change to effulgence of foliage and flower. As to flowers, only the crocuses have yet appeared, and these suffered as usual from rain and snow—unless we shall class pussy willow catkins as flowers which they really are and pretty ones, too. Be patient with the cool weather. It is best of all at this time of year.—Allegan Gazette.

A CORN-KEEPER

THIS tasseled, burmed-looking building is a corn keeper—Mexican version of a silo.

Corn has always been an important item on Mexican menus; and the success of the crop, one of the chief concerns of the prehistoric peoples who first inhabited the country. To placate the maize gods and to insure good crops many strange festivals were held, some of which are still observed and are among the most interesting sights to be enjoyed by travelers visiting Mexico on the fortnightly rail-water trips to the Spanish Americas and Mexico.

In the Spring, for instance, a festival called "The Great Watch" was held in honor of the head goddess of maize, Chicomecohuatl, or "Seven Serpent"—the serpent symbolizing water so necessary to the growth of crops. At the beginning of the festival the natives would collect young stalks from the maize growing in the fields, decorate them with flowers and convey them into the village "community house." Then the young maidens of the village would bring sheaves of the previous season's corn, for the goddess' blessing, returning them to the "corn keepers" so that they might be used as seeds to raise future crops. In the homes during the festival, baskets of food were kept in front of the image of the goddess—each basket surmounted by a cooked frog, a so symbol of water, which was later sacrificed and buried so that it might refresh the soil.

Great Lakes Need Help

Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper plans to call a conference of all interested parties in the Lake States and Canada in the attempt to formulate some plan that will save the commercial fishing resources of the Great Lakes. Roper naturally is interested in this problem for it is his department which is responsible for the administration of the fishery resources of the Great Lakes. Over the past 15 years conference after conference has been called to solve this problem but so far no concerted action has been taken nor will there be any constructive plan until all of the fishing resources of this district are placed under Federal or international regulation.

Trout Fishing

Early reports from the trout fishing country indicate that there is water, water everywhere and not a fish to be seen. If this condition persists throughout April the opening day will find many empty creels. Muddy, high and fast streams mean few fish except for those who have the patience and desire to fish with worms. But a lot can happen between now and April 25 to change water conditions and thousands of trout fishing addicts are praying for this.

Smelt

With the tremendous increase of smelt throughout the northern Great Lakes district the time is not far distant when commercial fishermen will begin to handle their catches in the same way as they do herring. There seems to be no reason why smelt cannot be salted in kegs in the same manner as herring and they should find an excellent market throughout the south where salted fish grab on in a big way. Certainly they would cost less than salted herring and price is a big factor in disposing of fish.

'36 Enrollment of 10,360
Tops U. of M. Record

(By Howard J. Begin)

A greater number of students are now enrolled in the University of Michigan than at any previous time in the history of the school, according to statistics recently released by the statistics division of the registrar's office. The present total enrollment of 10,360 students in the various colleges and school of the University exceeds by 148, the highest previous enrollment of 10,212, established during the boom years of 1927-28.

Statistics revealed that 977 students officially left the University at the end of the first semester. A large percentage of this number was graduated. 109 are known to have transferred to other schools, and many others dropped out or left the various departments because of illness, or for financial reasons. Three hundred eighty-two students in the College of Literature, Science and the Arts were among the 977 students who left the University for these reasons, and, of these, approximately 300 students were dropped from that school because of scholarship.

The beginning of the second semester found 505 new students on the campus, the largest number ever to enroll or to re-enroll in the University for the last half of the school year. This number includes students who were graduated in February and enrolled for graduate study, as well as transferees from other schools, and a new group of freshmen.

Poles Are Best for Bird
Houses

In placing your bird houses this spring, do not make the common mistake of hanging them in trees or in the shade. Such locations are much less likely to attract birds than if your bird houses are placed on poles in open sunny places. Another principle to bear in mind is to place the houses with the openings away from the prevailing winds.

There are four reasons why bird houses fail to attract tenants. E. H. Forbush, formerly Massachusetts ornithologist, says. Entrance holes may be too small. Boxes are put up in dense woods. Boxes are placed in trees and therefore accessible to bird enemies. Care is not taken to protect birds nesting in boxes from their enemies. Houses on poles seem to be more acceptable to birds than those hung in trees, and this is probably so because they seem safer to the birds.

To attract the maximum number of birds, it is not advisable to have too many boxes intended for the same species. Birds insist upon territorial rights and if houses are too close together it may result in conflicts between prospective tenants with the result that no boxes are occupied. The purple martin is an exception in that it is gregarious. It nests in colonies. Martin houses should be placed on poles, well separated from trees or buildings.

Students of the East Junior high school heard A. Peterson, manager of Getz Lakewood farm, speak on the nature of wild animals. The speaker gave a very interesting talk to the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. John Huizinga, who celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary Friday night, entertained with a dinner party. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Dirksen, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tymes, Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Sikkil and family, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Schrottenboer and Mr. and Mrs. John Tymes and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Fairbanks of Old Wing Mission Farm, had as their Easter guests Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garvelink and children, Phyllis, Edna Fern and Alan, of Lawton; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Leese and Slegfried Bohm, all of Detroit; and Mr. and Mrs. Olin Walker and Mrs. Elsie Gunn and children Ruth and Roger of Holland.

The Parent-Teachers' association of Lincoln school met Friday night in the school. Arrangements were in charge of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Zwerell and Mr. and Mrs. Don Zwerell. An interesting program was presented.

Advance Plans
For Colossal
Drama In MayThird Decennial Pageant
Will Require 400
Characters

Hope College Anchor:

There have been many queries concerning the "whys" and "wherefores" on the "Pageant of 1936," which is to be given at Riverview Park during Tulip Time, May 16, 18, and 19, at 8:30 p. m., under the sponsorship of this year's senior class. The class hopes that the interest and willingness of the student body to cooperate when called upon, will grow stronger as production continues.

The 1936 pageant is the third to be presented at Hope. The first was given in 1916 on the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the school, the second in 1926.

Can Seat 2,000

To say this pageant is colossal is speaking in conservative language. Four hundred gaily costumed characters are to take part, there will be over 2,000 seats for spectators, modern sound amplifying equipment will enable all to hear, and there will be splendid large choruses.

The majority of music in the production will be furnished by the organ, a type of electric organ. The whole production is pantomime, interspersed with readings and choral music.

Elaborate Staging

The outstanding feature of the whole production will be the elaborate lighting and staging effects. The 60-foot stage is to be furnished with footlights—5,200 white, 5,200 blue and 5,200 red, all on fade-away. Spotlights from the sides and floodlights all around are to play on the characters.

George Douma has been working on the pageant since last October. Funds gained from the production are to be given by the school to some worthy cause. The rose window in the chapel was purchased with pageant gains.

Stanley Albers of Union High school, Grand Rapids, has been secured as coach for the production.

A novel advertising stunt has been worked up by the committee. The advertising medium is the Youth Fellowship groups of Muskegon, Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo. A representative is to be chosen from each church in these three communities as advertising manager and salesman for the pageant. A substantial prize is to be granted the church selling the most tickets. Skits were given by representatives in Muskegon Monday night. Tonight they will travel to Grand Rapids, and tomorrow night to Kalamazoo. They will eventually appear before organizations in Holland.

Tickets for reserved seats may be had at 75 cents; others may be had for 50 cents.

Who Will Write The Saga
of Scotty

Spring is sufficiently on the way to remind us of childhood's rhyme "who killed cock robin?" But the question still remains unanswered "who will write the saga of Walter Scott of Death Valley?"

When he used to come out of his stronghold string 50 and 100 dollar bills on the way, from where he was to where he was going he explained his wealth by tales of secret gold mines. Now he has never been any mines. He still visits Los Angeles and takes back mules to his two million dollar castles in the sand dunes "Mum's" the word with Scotty and it has meant millions to him.

PLANNING YOUR PLANTING—A SMALL DECORATIVE ORCHARD

by Mrs. Francis King—courtesy Montgomery Ward

This is the third of a series of articles written for the "Holland City News" by Mrs. Francis King, noted horticultural authority and editor to Montgomery Ward on the subject of gardening.

In thinking of an orchard, our minds go back to what we have read of Fifteenth Century England when an orchard was as necessary as the vegetable and flower gardens; in fact, it was always beside them, separated only by a wall, hedge or palings.

Why should not fruit trees today be planted to some sort of pattern, instead of in the eternal dull rows with no special effort toward a picture? The simple design of the small orchard shown here may be adapted for any number of trees.

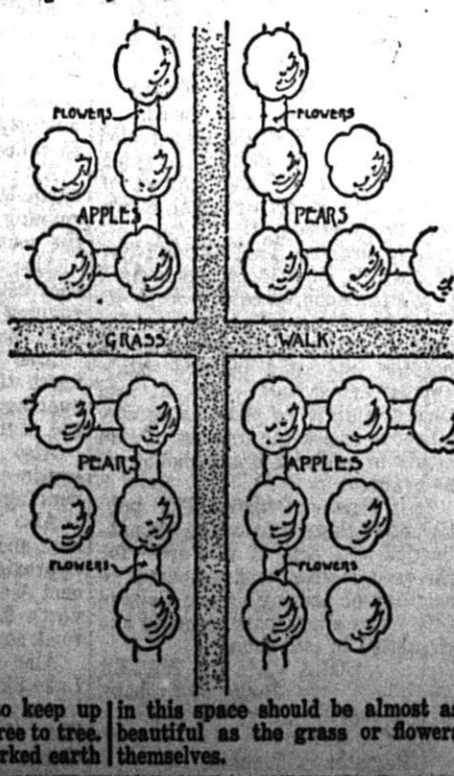

The different varieties are set diagonally opposite each other, a ten or twelve foot mown walk runs between the squares, and a two foot strip of flowers from tree to tree parallels this walk in all directions. The space between walk and border is cultivated earth.

Now if this strip is planted to tulips and daffodils and now with seed of Alyssum Little Gem and Ageratium Little Blue Star, various subseries, there will be not only a lovely embroidery of spring flowers under the trees when these are canopies of white bloom above, but the annuals will carry color through the orchard far into the fall.

In time a good clipped hedge might surround such an orchard and seats find their way into recesses of the hedge, for sitting in an orchard in spring is certainly one of life's pleasantest occupations.

Objections may be raised as to the border of grass walk. Of course this border could be dug at the very edges of the walk, but that would give the orchard less of a country look. The strip of flowers would be all the more striking if seen beyond a band of tilled soil, and less to keep up in this space should be almost as beautiful as the grass or flowers themselves.

Grand Haven is Getting the Dog Trouble

SPRING LAKE IS PICKING UP ALL DOGS. HOLLAND STARTED LONG SUFFERING

It seems that Holland started something when it passed its "Dog Ordinance." The Grand Haven Tribune is publishing stories that people with gardens are simply distracted because dogs running at large root up plants, bulbs, and run down everything the housewife had made tidy.

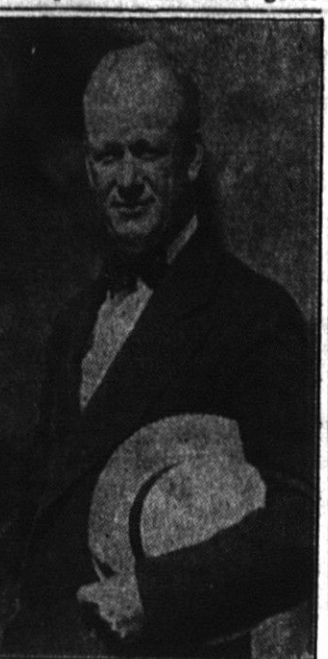

After telling about the "complaints" that are being heard all over that city and these complaints grow about dogs running loose as spring advances and lawns and gardens are put in shape for the season the Grand Haven dog nuisance grows," the Tribune says.

That paper continues: "One citizen points to the action of the city council of Holland and the village of Spring Lake as an example that might be followed in this city. The Holland council recently adopted an ordinance appointing a pound master and fixing a penalty of $100 or a jail sentence for 90 days or both for violations. Owners may lead their dogs outside of their premises by a suitable leash and they are forbidden to harbor dogs that are vicious, afflicted with rabies or are a public nuisance.

Spring Lake will take up any dogs found running loose which will be kept for 48 hours. If not called for, the dogs will be disposed of by the village officer.

COMMON COUNCIL

Holland, Mich., April 15, 1936.

The Common Council met in regular session and was called to order by the Mayor.

Present: Mayor Bosch, Alds. Prins, Van Lunde, Drinkwater, Kalkman, Van Zoeren, De Cook, Steffens, Damson, Huyser, Bultman, Van Lente, Vogelzang and the Clerk. Mayor-elect Geerlings and Aldermen-elect Oudemool and Smith were also present.

Devotions led by Dr. Thomas W. Davidson, pastor of Hope church. Minutes of last regular meeting were read and approved.

MESSAGES FROM THE MAYOR

Mayor Bosch stated that he had a short message for the Council and requested the City Attorney to read this message.

In his message the Mayor recounted very briefly the problems that confronted the Council during the past four years. He stated that there were many new problems which former Councils did not have to meet. These were problems in connection with the handling of relief and unemployment in co-operation with the State and Federal governments. Mayor also called attention to the city's excellent financial condition after four years of strenuous times. He further thanked the Aldermen for their assistance and cooperation during his two terms of office which were now coming to a close.

Mayor Bosch further wished his successor, Mr. Henry Geerlings, the utmost success and requested the Council to give him the same loyal support which he had received. Accepted and filed.

Clerk then presented several oaths of office, and the City Attorney administered the oaths to the newly-elected Mayor, Mr. Henry Geerlings, and the several newly-elected Aldermen.

Mayor Henry Geerlings then presented his message to the Council. He extended his deep gratitude and heartfelt appreciation for the many kindnesses which had been extended to him by the citizens of Holland during the past forty years. Mayor Geerlings stated that these expressions of confidence were very much appreciated and he would do the very best he knew how in the interest of the City of Holland.

He also called attention to the accomplishments of previous administrations in building a strong foundation upon which the following administrations could continue to build and grow. He mentioned the fact that the city as well as the Board of Education is in excellent financial condition, and it would be his aim to see that this same condition continues to prevail. Mayor Geerlings further stated that although the Aldermen were elected in different wards, still it should be their aim to serve the city as a whole. He also commended the many public-spirited men and women in the city who are giving of their time and talents in serving the city on the various boards without remuneration. He suggested that if it were at all possible something should be done on behalf of the youth of the city and felt that they should be given as much guidance as possible in order that they might become worthy citizens. He further expressed the hope that he might have the fullest cooperation from all the Aldermen and members of the various Boards in other city departments in making of his administration a success. Message accepted and filed.

Ald. Huyser, on behalf of the aldermen and official body, then presented Mayor Geerlings with a beautiful basket of flowers and in this connection Ald. Huyser stated that he was expressing the sentiment of the Council in wishing him success and assuring him that he would have the full cooperation of this body.

Mr. Vance Mape, president of the Rotary Club, then presented Mayor Henry Geerlings with a basket of flowers and wishing him success from the members of this club.

Mr. Wm. Arendshorst, on behalf of the Board of Education, also presented Mayor Geerlings with a basket of flowers and wished him success.

Mr. Frank Lieverse then presented Mayor Geerlings with a chair which was very beautifully decorated with flowers. In presenting this to the Mayor, Mr. Lieverse stated that this was not from any particular organization, but that it was from his many friends throughout the city who wished him the greatest success in his administration.

Flowers were also presented by the Elks lodge, Postmaster Louis Vandenberg; also the Holland Furniture Co.

Mayor Geerlings expressed his deep appreciation and gratitude for the many lovely expressions of congratulation, and assured them that he would give them the very best administration that he knew how. Mayor Geerlings then announced the following Standing Committee appointments for 1936-1937:
