Many Items Processed By Council

Besides adopting a budget for the coming year, City Council was involved in many decisions covering a wide variety of subjects Wednesday night.

A full 30 minutes was devoted to a public hearing on closing part of an alley between 32nd and 33rd Sts. in Sutton's Addition, lying just west of Washington Ave. But lack of a second on Councilman Henry Steffens' motion to adopt the resolution resulted in dropping the while subject and Council went on to the next item of business.

Most of the time had been devoted to arguments of two local attorneys representing property owners along the alley. Ronald Dalman represented Harold Busies, who operated Cloverdale Dairy and Jerry Roper represented Mr. and Mrs. John Sagers who had requested the vacating.

A report from City Attorney Gordon Cunningham on boating control on Lake Macatawa recommended no action be taken until the state act be amended to make the program properly enforceable as well as providing for punishing offenders. Holland city has been working with Holland and Park townships in attempting to draft legislation for controlling boating activity on Lake Macatawa. Cunningham's report was accepted as information.

Mayor Nelson Bosman was authorized by Council to appoint a committee to draft an answer to a letter from Raymond Kootstra, resident of Federal School district, requesting answers to questions on water service in that area which is surrounded on three sides by Holland city.

Kootstra's letter pointed to a city policy that the only way to get city water is to annex to the city, but he asked whether the city would suspend city water service to users in that area stating that persons who already have such services generally are opposed to annexation and thereby deprive persons desiring to annex of the services they need. The letter also asked school questions, and it was indicated a copy had been sent to the Board of Education.

Drafting the answer will be City Manager Herb Holt, City Attorney Cunningham and the mayor.

On request of Holland's two radio stations, Mayor Bosman read a proclamation designating the month of May as National Radio month.

A recommendation by City Manager Holt to exercise options for purchasing the Shashagay property at 299 West 11th St. and the Robert Kole property at 305 West 11th St. in connection with area for a perimeter truck route was tabled until the first meeting in June. Motion to table carried 7 to 1, Don Oosterbaan dissenting.

Four Killed In Collision On US-31

Three Local Residents Among Victims; Cars Collide Near M-50

Four people were killed Saturday at 9 p.m. in a three-car accident near Stanton Rd., just south of M-50 on US-31. Two others were injured.

Killed were: Cheridale McWilliams, 16, of 217 West 16th St. Phyllis Garbrecht, 17, of 140 Fairbanks Ave. Wayne Dirkse, 22, of 56 West 31st St. Steven Holland, 16, of Jerome Ave., Muskegon.

Injured were: Frederick Troost, 17, of 3922 Butternut Dr., at Holland Hospital where he was admitted Sunday night for general bruises, a possible concussion and observation. His condition was reported as good today. He was also at the hospital earlier, Sunday morning and was treated for shock Saturday night following the accident, at the Grand Haven Municipal Hospital.

David Walker, 16, of Mill Iron Rd., Muskegon, was treated for shock at the Grand Haven hospital and released. The two girls and Holland, sitting in the back seat of a car being towed by Troost were killed instantly when their car was struck from behind by a car driven by Dirkse. Dirkse was also killed from the impact. Ottawa County Sheriff Bernard Grysen said.

The cars driven by Walker and Troost stopped on the right side of the northbound lane, police said, when a tow chain which Troost was using to pull Walker's car came loose.

Both drivers had gotten out of their cars to fix the chain when the car driven by Dirkse rammed into the rear of the Walker car, causing it to catch fire, police said, apparently from gas sprayed from the gas tank. About 10 minutes later, the gas tank exploded, completely burning the car.

Miss Garbrecht, who was sitting in the back seat of the Walker car, with Miss McWilliams and Holland, was thrown through the front windshield, onto the road and killed, police said.

Holland and Miss McWilliams were thrown from the back seat into the front seat where they were trapped when the car caught fire, police said.

The impact of Dirkse's car hitting Walker's, forced his car to hit Troost's car immediately in front of it, shoving it into a ditch. Walker's car was shoved to the left lane of the northbound traffic and Dirkse's car continued in a ditch alongside US-31 for about 230 feet, deputies said.

State Police and Ottawa County sheriff deputies arrived at the accident scene about 10 minutes after the accident happened, after having received numerous calls from neighbors surrounding Stanton Rd. The police officers were about 20 feet from the Walker car when the gas tank exploded and they were unable to pull the bodies of Holland and Miss McWilliams from the burning car, deputies said.

Troost and Walker were outside the cars when the tank exploded. Firemen were called to the scene to put out the blazing car, and later to spray the street of shattered glass and debris.

The northbound road was blocked for about three hours, until midnight, following the accident.

All traffic used the southbound road.

The drivers of the two cars told police the lights on Walker's car were on, and one car had passed the two stopped cars before Dirkse rammed into the rear of the towed car.

Walker was having his car towed to Grand Haven from Holland, deputies said, where he planned to take it to Muskegon Sunday. A rod had gone out in the car.

Sheriff Grysen and deputies are meeting with the Grand Haven prosecuting attorney today about further investigation of the accident.

This accident brings the number of deaths from auto accidents in Ottawa County to seven this year. Three persons were killed during the period in 1962.

This is also the first accident in Ottawa County involving multiple fatalities since March 9, 1956, when six persons were killed near Nunica.

Miss Garbrecht was a senior in Holland High School and was to have graduated in June. She was a baptized member of the Calvary Reformed Church and attended Sunday School there.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Garbrecht of Holland; one sister, Mrs. Buford (Carla) Kelch of Holland; two brothers, James and Dennis both at home; her maternal grandfather, Mitchell Schregardus of Holland.

Dirkse attended Davenport Institute in Grand Rapids. He was discharged from the U.S. Coast Guard in October of 1962.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Dirkse; two brothers, David Dirkse who is in the Air Force in Nebraska and Glenn at home, and his grandmother, Mrs. Dick Dirkse of Holland.

Miss McWilliams was a member of Grace Episcopal Church and sang in the Chancel Choir. A sophomore at Holland High School, she was a member of the Horizonettes.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale McWilliams; two sisters, Joan and Patricia and three brothers, Ernest, Michael and Scott, all at home; her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McWilliams and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Cornelia Olin, all of Holland.

Children who will enter Van Raalte kindergarten in September are invited to visit the kindergarten Friday morning. Children who are 5 years old or will be 5 years old this month are invited to come from 9 to 10 a.m. and those with birthdays from May to Nov. 15 are invited to come from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Both cars had stopped on US-31 just south of M-50 for the drivers to adjust the towing chain. The burned bodies of Cheridale McWilliams, 16, of 217 West 16th St., and Steven Holland, 16, of Muskegon, were still in the car when it was removed from the accident scene. Two Inches Of Snow Falls On Holland

Mercury Drops to 31 From 70 in 20 Hours; Tulips Not Damaged

Although spring has been reigning for well over five weeks, King winter paid a return visit Tuesday and dumped more than two inches of wet snow on the landscape, weighing down early tulip blooms and covering crocuses and smaller flowers.

The mercury which listed a high reading of 70 degrees Monday plunged to 31 degrees at 11 a.m. today, a difference of 39 degrees in less than 20 hours. The low reading came on the heels of a driving rain storm which dumped 2.58 inches of precipitation on Holland.

The new snowfall boosts Holland's all-time record of snow. As of April 1, the total for the 1962-63 season was 135.5 inches.

Park Supt. Jacob De Graaf was not worried over the tulips and doubted whether any damage was done. The tulip is a hardy flower, one that can stand quite a lot of cold. But if it should get much colder, there will be some effect on the edges of the petals and edges of the leaves.

De Graaf expressed greater concern over flowering shrubs, particularly the magnolia trees which usually bloom in advance of the tulips. He said some of these blooms had been well advanced and frost could kill the buds, causing them to fall off without blooming. He was quite hopeful, however, since Holland has had this type of weather before and little damage had resulted.

In fact, De Graaf welcomed the cold, rainy spell. He said cooler temperatures would retard the growth of the tulips which had advanced a bit ahead of schedule, and moisture will lengthen the stems.

He said attendance has grown at concerts all over the country and the sale of classical music on phonograph records has hit an all time high. Piano and organ sales have doubled in 15 years and that television and radio offer more good music than ever before.

He said the new Lincoln Center in New York City, part of a cultural complex for music, dance and theatre, has had a tremendous impact on musical interest. He said the entire development will cost in the neighborhood of $142,000,000 when completed. "Yet, it's people like you in Holland who are the grass roots of our national culture, and it's always an inspiration to see enthusiasm such as yours in cities all over America working to promote good music," he said.

ECONOMIC DECISIONS

It is no secret that the fiscal policies proposed by President Kennedy in his 1963 Economic Report will have rough going as far as Congress is concerned. They are based largely on Keynesian remedies to correct a depression and Congress apparently would like to save such remedies for when they are really needed.

There are some indications that the opposition of Congress can be justified. One such indication comes from the Economics and Research Department of the American Bankers Association. In their "Comments on The President's 1963 Economic Report" a number of conclusions were reached regarding interest and credit, but the following four points are of general interest:

1. There is not room for further increases in Government spending at this time. The combination of a large tax cut and additional Government spending would violate standards of fiscal prudence by bloating the Federal deficit to inflationary proportions. The planned spending increase should be eliminated.

2. If Federal spending is held constant, the magnitude and timing of the President's proposed tax reduction would appear to be appropriate; but it should be aimed more directly at stimulating investment. Accordingly, corporations and middle — and upper-income groups should be relieved of their heavy tax burdens to a greater extent than is now planned.

3. Faster economic growth per se may or may not help to solve our balance of payments problem. At any rate, the primary burden of a permanent solution should not be shifted from the Government sector, which accounts for the larger part of the deficit to the private sector. The most obvious approach is to reduce the disproportionate burden now borne by the United States in the common defense of the Free World.

4. The Council's wage and price guidelines are elusive in practice, and reliance on them could lead to de facto determination of wages and prices by the Administration. Achievement of noninflationary wage and price decisions lies in the principle of equal bargaining power between business and labor, which must include methods to curb concentrations of labor power as well as of business power.

We with millions of others believe these conclusions reflect a scholarly and unbiased criticism of the proposed fiscal policies and that a critical appraisal by Congress is justified.

Repentance and Forgiveness
By C. P. Dame

Psalms 32 was written by a man whose conscience troubled him for some time and who finally confessed his sin and obtained forgiveness. It is commonly believed that David wrote this Psalm after he had confessed the sin of adultery and murder and obtained forgiveness.

1. Forgiveness creates joy but unconfessed sins bring misery. "Blessed is he" — who is blessed or happy? The rich, the famous, the powerful — no not very often.

King Saud of Saudi Arabia, one of the world's richest men, his annual income is estimated at $300 million, spent a vacation in Nice, France recently, sitting in bed day and night because he could not lie down because of his asthma.

"Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven" — thus the Bible pictures a happy man. Note that the Psalmist uses three words which describe wrongdoing. The word "transgression" refers to "a breaking away from a law or covenant" and suggests rebellion. The word "sin" means missing the mark and the word "iniquity" means "distortion" or "crookedness."

"These three words are found in the Old and in the New Testament. All speak of having offended God."

Although David had sinned against a weak woman, his own family and nation and a loyal soldier, Uriah, the husband of Bathsheba he said, "Against Thee, Thee only have I sinned and done this evil in Thy sight" (Psalm 51:4).

This is often forgotten today. We speak of drives, complexes, blunders, mistakes, but seldom call our lusts, adulteries, greed, pride, sins. And that is what they are! The Psalmist waited too long to confess his sins and that is why he got sick.

Today many people suffer ailments due to unconfessed sins. Doctors and psychiatrists know and teach this. About sixty to eighty percent of the people in hospitals are there because of emotional and mental troubles, some due to a sense of guilt.

II. Forgiveness implies confession.

After David confessed his sins God forgave him and he got relief and his tensions ceased. Observe that David wrote of "my sin" and "mine iniquity" and "my transgression" — he recognized his own sins and confessed them.

Often the personal consciousness of sin is missing and hence there is no confession and no forgiveness. Confession implies penitence. The person who confesses sin experiences a new joy — it is the joy of forgiveness. And that joy creates the eagerness to share it with others.

How much better it is to confess than to resist the voice of conscience and harden the heart! The mulish type of people are found everywhere. They insist upon following their own way and doing as they please instead of accepting guidance from above.

Usually the people who are determined to have their own way are unhappy whereas those who confess their sins, seek and accept the guidance of the Lord find joy. Their mood is expressed in the words, "Be glad in the Lord, and rejoice, O righteous; and shout for joy, all ye that are upright in heart."

Sheriff Moves Into New Jail

ALLEGAN — Moving day for the Allegan County Sheriff's Department Thursday was the same as it is for anyone else — hectic.

Sheriff Robert Whitcomb and his staff moved lock, stock and prisoners into their new quarters across the street from the old Allegan County jail.

The department secretary, Mrs. Louis Lovett, opened her new office in the spacious lobby area of the new jail, where she will issue drivers licenses and other permits, receive traffic fines, and handle other office matters.

Radio technician Wayne Rowe of Kalamazoo effected a smooth quick transfer of the department's radio base station from the old jail to the efficient, glass-enclosed radio control room of the new building.

The transfer of prisoners from the old "crackerbox" jail cells to the new cell blocks was the hardest part.

It had promised to be a touchy job. Several of the prisoners, either escapely-minded or just plain ornery, had threatened to resist efforts to put them in the new jail.

Anticipating trouble from some of the more untractable inmates, deputies handcuffed several of them together. They led them docilely across the street into their new quarters. There was no attempt by any of the 11 prisoners to make a break.

The day ended with several details still to be cleaned up; there were boxes of equipment, papers and documents still to be stored or filed.

But that job promises to be an easy one; the new jail is a palace compared to the old, and space is no problem now.

Jack Schouten

Jack Schouten Is Honorary MIAA Referee

Holland's "grand old man" of athletics, Jack Schouten, will be the honorary referee of the MIAA Field Day in Grand Rapids, May 18.

Schouten, former Hope College coach and trainer, is still an avid follower of Hope athletics and is a spectator at the games.

As honorary referee, Schouten will be honored for his contributions to the MIAA. Schouten, who will be 82 in June, stepped down officially as baseball coach and trainer in 1952 after more than 35 years in the Hope physical education department.

In 1954, Carnegie gymnasium at Hope was renovated and renamed Carnegie-Schouten gym. Schouten was already working part-time for the college when Carnegie gym was planned shortly after the turn of the century.

The gym was dedicated in 1906 and two years later, Schouten assumed responsibility for the college baseball team. In 1919 he was named full-time director of physical education and served in the post until 1952.

Schouten has assisted or advised hundreds of Hope College athletes, high school athletes and townspeople on treatment of an injury.

He served as coach of every sport at Hope and also was trainer all of the time he was at Hope. Schouten installed a men's physical education program at Hope, making freshmen required to take physical education and he also instigated a physical education program for women.

The Hope College board of trustees awarded Schouten a bachelor of arts degree in 1948. His formal education was at the Hope preparatory school, where he also coached all sports.

Schouten was also honored in 1949 by the New York Hope College alumni chapter with a portrait on which was inscribed, in part, "your athletes, or your boys as you fondly call them, have carried your inspiration and sense of keen fair play into many realms, not only athletic but also professional and otherwise. These pleasant associations will be long cherished by all Hopeites."

Schouten lives with his daughter, Elizabeth, at 307 West 29th St. Miss Schouten is a teacher in Lincoln School.

Holland Man Admits to 13 Area Breakins

A 20-year-old Holland man who turned himself into police authorities and voluntarily confessed two recent breakins early Friday morning, confessed to 11 others under questioning in the afternoon.

Richard Meher of 272 West Tenth St., walked into the Holland police station at 3:30 a.m. Friday, and said that he had broken into Schuiling's Northside Service Station and the Crestview Inn at Borculo April 8.

Police turned Meher over to Ottawa County Sheriff's officers. County detective John Hemple said that Meher, under questioning, then owned up to 11 other breakins in the past two months, in Ottawa, Allegan and Van Buren Counties.

Hemple said most of the break-ins netted Meher only small amounts. But about $20, several hams, groceries and about a dozen cartons of cigarettes were taken in the Crestview Inn job.

Other breakins admitted by Meher included the G & W washery at 29th St. and Michigan Ave. on April 4; the Pent Electric Co., at 415 West 21st St. March 24, and an attempted larceny from a laundromat on Cleveland Ave. March 24.

Meher waived examination and was bound over to Circuit Court after he was arraigned in Municipal Court on a charge of nighttime breaking and entering in connection with the Crestview Inn break-in.

Local Tips Unfounded

Local law enforcement officers checked out two reports Thursday that one of the escaped convicts from Jackson prison might be in this area. Both checks turned up nothing.

Allegan County sheriff Bob Whitcomb and Holland police checked on a tip Thursday night that one of the escapees, James Hall, might be staying in this area with relatives. Law enforcement officers investigated after receiving a report that Hall had been seen.

Earlier Thursday, Allegan County sheriff deputies also received a report one of the escapees had been seen in the Bear Creek area on M-40, just north of Allegan.

The "furtive-looking" person sighted by a passing motorist, Sheriff Whitcomb said, turned out to be a man trying to beat the trout season opening on Bear Creek.

CONSTRUCTION BEGINS—Present and former members of the St. Augustine Seminary gather around the cornerstone after it has been laid as construction crews resume work to complete the $1.3 million building by Sept. 15. (Sentinel photo)

CORNERSTONE LAID—The Very Rev. Francis J. Cavanaugh, prior provincial of the Augustinian Fathers of the Midwest, adds a scapel of cement to the brick underneath the cornerstone, as the other St. Augustinian Fathers look on. Left to right, they are the Very Rev. John C. McNabb, provincial secretary; the Very Rev. Edward Stengel; defintor; the Very Rev. John L. Seary, associate provincial; the Very Rev. Ruellan P. Fink, associate provincial; Father Cavanaugh; the Very Rev. Clement McHale, associate provincial; the Very Rev. James Sinnott, defintor; and the Very Rev. Daniel J. Hartigan, defintor.

Work Started on New $1.3 Million Seminary

The cornerstone of the new $1.3 million Augustinian Preparatory Seminary building was laid Friday noon after it was blessed by the Midwest Province Provincial and three associates.

The building, to be completed this fall, is under construction by Elzinga & Volkers of 86 East Sixth St. at the Augustinian campus located near Lake Michigan on 138th Ave.

Not only the cornerstone of a building was laid, however. About 100 persons of the St. Augustinian Order saw the cornerstone foundation laid for a larger Seminary which will hold 200, and eventually 400 high school youths preparing for priesthood in the Order.

The Rev. Francis Crawford, rector of the St. Rita high school in Chicago, as speaker, called the erection of this building another "birthday" or milestone in the history of the St. Augustinian Order. It is, he said, the "cradle" and the hope of the Augustinian Order.

A small sign inscribed by one of the students greeted visitors at the Seminary Friday: "Welcome to the cradle."

The building — actually several buildings connected by a corridor — when completed Sept. 15, will consist of classrooms, dormitory space, eating and kitchen facilities and a temporary chapel. Eventually, the recreation room, library and gymnasium will be completed.

The one-story building will be built so additional stories may be added in the future when enrollment at the Seminary is expected to increase to 400. Future plans include a chapel and administration building.

Several papers were sealed in the cornerstone Friday, including newspapers and magazines — two Midwest Province publications, the Cor Unum and Anima Una, an issue of the April 18 Michigan Catholic newspaper; a March 30 issue of the Holland Evening Sentinel showing an architectural drawing of the completed building by Sichel & Associates of Cleveland, Ohio; and a copy of the boys' seminary newspaper, the Spee Ordinis.

Also sealed in the cornerstone were the Rules of St. Augustine, a photo of the 1963 Seminary faculty and students, a list of deceased Augustinians, a Scapular of the Blessed Mother, Corona beads, an invitation to the cornerstone laying, a Novena and 75 cents.

Shortly after noon Friday, about 100 persons, including priests of the Midwest Province, former and present faculty of the Seminary, state area priests and Seminary students marched in a column of two from the old Felt mansion up a hill to the new building area where a religious ceremony preceded the cornerstone laying.

The cornerstone was blessed by the Very Rev. Francis J. Cavanaugh, provincial of the Midwest Augustinian Fathers and the Very Revs. John L. Seary, Ruellan P. Fink and Clement McHale, associate provincials, who came here from Chicago and Wisconsin for the ceremony.

The Midwest Province, which has been in existence since 1941, extends from Detroit to the Rocky Mountains and is one of three in the United States.

The Augustinian Preparatory Seminary here was established 14 years ago, although the Order has been in existence since the fifth century when it was established by St. Augustine, the religious author of the "Confessions of St. Augustine" and "City of God."

The Order of the St. Augustinians, which falls under the jurisdiction of the Father General in Rome, does most of its work as parish priests, teachers and missionaries.

The Seminary here is a preparatory high school for boys preparing for the priesthood. The boy must go through 12 years of school after elementary school before becoming a priest. He studies Latin, philosophy and Theology.

To become an Augustinian priest, he must make three vows — poverty, which means he owns nothing, but shares all with his brother priests; chastity, which means he doesn't marry, and obedience, which means he gives up his own way in things.

Solomon, a native of St. Paul, Minn., started his career as a concert violinist, in 1928, later becoming violin instructor at Michigan State University and instructor and music supervisor at Lansing public schools.

He worked as music director and conductor of Lansing Symphony Orchestra, Illinois Symphony Orchestra, Woman's Symphony of Chicago, Columbus Philharmonic Orchestra, New Orleans Summer Symphony, Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra and conducted the American premier of Milhaud's opera "David" in Hollywood Bowl before going to Indianapolis in 1956.

It has been Solomon's firm belief that a love and understanding of music must begin with young people and he has given tirelessly of his time toward this belief. In the young people, he recognizes the civic and cultural leaders of tomorrow and encourages them to participate actively in the life of their orchestras.

GRAND HAVEN—Two juveniles who accidentally started a fire but called for help and assisted in bringing the fire under control were not taken into custody in connection with a grass fire which burned over some 80 acres of grass and small trees in Spring Lake township Saturday afternoon.

State police said one youth had lighted a match and dropped it accidentally but thought he had stamped it out. On leaving the scene the two looked back and noticed the fire and returned to put it out. Unsuccessful, they called for help.

The area is located off North Shore Rd. about a mile west of 174th Ave. Assisting were Constable Leslie Vander Wall of Ferrysburg, the Spring Lake fire department, Conservation Officer Harold Bowditch, the Allendale conservation equipment under the direction of Roger Ankey, conservation equipment of Muskegon, bulldozers of the Neiting Co. of Grand Haven, and a large number of volunteers.

The fire started at 11:55 a.m. and was brought under control at 3:30 p.m.

At 2:50 p.m. Sunday state police received a call that a car was on fire on US-31 north of Hayes St. in Grand Haven township. Damage to the 1955 car belonging to Alan Lemke of Grand Haven was estimated at $100.

Another fire broke out shortly after noon Sunday along the shore of Grand River on M-104 just east of the jackknife bridge. It was brought under control by the Spring Lake fire department.

A tornado test alert will be held in Zeeland early in May, local Civil Defense Director Ted Vanden Brink said this week.

The test will include the entire city, and will be conducted jointly by CD, the police department and the fire department.

Group Held Accountable In Stock Case

A present director and three former directors of Holland Furnace Co. have been held accountable in a Delaware court for losses to the company charged by a stockholders' derivative suit.

The suit was brought in 1958 by Anne J. Mathes and Harry Lewis, and charged the four, among others, with buying certain Holland Furnace stocks in 1957 to retain control of the company.

Named in the suit were P. T. Cheff, a director and former president of Holland Furnace; his wife, Katherine N. Cheff; Edgar P. Landwehr and Robert H. Trenkamp. The latter three are former directors.

Cheff said today that the case would be appealed. He said the board of directors as a whole had taken action back in 1957 to purchase certain stocks after a "raid" on such stocks had threatened liquidation. He said his lawyers could not explain why four directors were singled out in the court judgment as being accountable for the action. He said that the board purchased the stock at an agreed 50 cents on the dollar.

Trenkamp, a Cleveland attorney, said such cases drag on and on, and often go to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Sidney Garwin, attorney for the plaintiffs, said he will seek to have the four defendants pay between $1.5 and $2 million, representing the difference between the cost of the stock and the present market price.

The case involves condemnation offers of $75 an acre to some 57 owners of land on the Overisel field. The owners have rejected offers ranging from $100,000 to $150,000, claiming the field is appraised at $31 million.
