Since Gibson Postoffice has been abandoned there has been a good deal of interest shown in the proposed store near the electric line and those interested have not given up the idea but are still endeavoring by some hook or crook to get someone to start one there. A great deal of trouble is being experienced with the new bridge this spring as it does not swing back and forth properly. Just where the trouble lies has not yet been discovered.

Saugatuck and Douglas are mourning because the proposed light plant will not be built by the Saugatuck Lighting & Power company, in which B. VanRaalte, jr., and Charles A. Floyd of Holland are interested. The franchise granted the company by the villages last winter is affected by a recent decision of the supreme court, and the plant will not be built this year. Saugatuck granted the company a 30-year franchise. In a case recently carried to the supreme court the ruling was that cities of the fourth class cannot grant franchises for more than ten years. Saugatuck is a fourth class village, and under this ruling the 30-year franchise is invalid. The village is anxious to have the plant built. A ten-year franchise has been offered the company, but the promoters regard this as too short time and will not carry out their plans.

Got a Fancy Price

Good luck has come to Augustus Engles of Trowbridge. At the present she stands 20 per cent above all the others in the contest and is looked upon as a sure winner. Mr. Engles sold the two animals to H. H. Hinds of the World's Fair Dairy Demonstration Shorthorn Commission, for $600.00, which is a mighty good price for a cow and calf.

Douglas

South Haven Traction company, which is being promoted by C. A. Applegate, began grading Monday and in three or four days men will be at work all along the line between Douglas and Coloma. In about two weeks the company expects to begin laying rails. Members of the company are in St. Louis today, to place an order for cars, which will be of the latest and best pattern. MINERS MEET DEATH.

Twelve Killed by Explosion Near Dubois, Pa.—Thirteen Entombed Near Wilburton, Okla.

Dubois, Pa., April 29.—An explosion, the exact nature of which is as yet unexplained, occurred in the Eleanor shaft near this city, Thursday night. Twelve were killed and one had both legs and both arms broken. He will probably die. An examination of the bodies as they were laid on the floor of the little building near the shaft indicated that death had come instantly. Those that had the black dust washed from their bodies showed evidences of having been burned, scarlet spots showing all over their bodies. Their clothing tears as though it were made of paper.

Wilburton, Okla., May 1.—Thirteen miners were entombed and probably killed by an explosion at 1:20 Sunday morning in the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Coal company's mine No. 19, four miles west of here. There is little prospect of their bodies being recovered for several days. It is the universal opinion of experienced miners that all the men are dead. Foreman Steiner was killed at the bottom of the shaft. He had returned to the surface a few minutes before the explosion to look after Bud Cole, a negro belonging to the preceding shift, whose leg had been cut off by a trip. He had, according to the engineer, barely reached the bottom of the shaft when the explosion occurred. The heels of his shoes were torn off and thrown to the top of the shaft.

A DEADLY TORNADO.

City of Laredo, Tex., and Vicinity Swept by Fierce Wind—Twenty-One Lives Lost.

Laredo, Tex., via Bermuda, Tex., May 1.—Twenty-one persons were killed and scores injured in Laredo and New Laredo by a tornado which tore through this vicinity late Friday night. Rumors of others killed in places outside Laredo are heard. The property damage is large. Five of the dead are members of one family, and were employed on the ranch of George Woodman. They were crushed to death by the falling in of the heavy walls of the adobe house which they occupied. The other victims met their fate in a like manner. The entire town has suffered more or less from the storm. Trees, fences, telegraph and telephone poles, roofs, chimneys, walls and debris of all kinds strewn the streets. Laredo is a city of 15,000 inhabitants, the census of 1900 giving it 13,429. It is located on the Rio Grande river, on the Mexican border, in the southern part of the state, just opposite Nuevo Laredo, Mex.

To Reclaim Swamp Lands. Indianapolis, Ind., May 3.—C. G. Elliott, the engineer detailed by the department of agriculture to investigate conditions and devise plans for the reclamation of the hundreds of thousands of acres of swamp lands in the Kankakee river valley, in northwestern Indiana and northeastern Illinois, arrived in Indianapolis Monday, and during a conference with United States Senator Beveridge assured the latter that the work of reclaiming the marsh lands will begin at once and continue until practically every acre is fit for cultivation.

Lawton, Okla., May 3.—With conventional dignity and ostentatious ceremony, Quanah Parker, chief of the Comanche Indians, on Tuesday delivered his message from President Roosevelt to Geronimo, the Apache warrior, at Parker's mansion, 15 miles west of this city. Geronimo departed with the assurance that he and his tribe will get their liberty from martial subjection within one year.

Imports Increase.

New York, May 3.—Importations to this port during the month of April show an increase of nearly $10,000,000 over the corresponding month of last year. The whole value of importations during April was $80,464,603. Sugar was the chief item showing an increase. There was a large increase in precious stones, also, the valuation this year being $2,439,338, against $1,459,058 a year ago.

Donovan, Adrian Schriber and Ryner Stonehouse, former city officials, who had pleaded guilty to accepting bribes in connection with the Lake Michigan water scandal, were fined in sums ranging from $100 to $500 by Judge Newham as his last act before retiring from the bench. NAN PATTERSON'S FATE WITH JURY

RECORDER DELIVERS LENGTHY CHARGE AND THEY RETIRE TO DELIBERATE.

FIRST BALLOT 9 TO 3 FOR THE DEFENDANT

Enormous Crowd Gathers at Criminal Court Building in New York and Attempts to Gain Admittance to Courtroom.

New York, May 3.—The case of Nan Patterson, charged with having shot to death Caesar Young in a cab June 3, 1904, went to the jury at 1:02 p. m. Wednesday after a charge made by Recorder Goff of the court of general sessions which lasted over two hours. The charge on the question of doubt as to which of the occupants of the vehicle fired the fatal shot was regarded as leaning somewhat toward the show girl.

"If the accused fails to take advantage of her privilege to make a defense, under advice of her counsel, her failure to do so must in no way be held against her," said the recorder, who directed that questions and answers of witnesses which were stricken out upon objection by counsel must be disregarded.

The first ballot, according to Warden Flynn, taken by the jurors stood nine to three in favor of the defendant.

Crush Around Court Building. Remarkable scenes were witnessed around the criminal court building. Early in the day crowds began to gather and hours before the time for opening of court the corridors were filled with men and women hoping to break through the cordon of guards around the courtroom doors on the first rush. Even in the streets around the building scores of persons stood waiting. On the Tombs prison side the street spanned by the Bridge of Sighs was jammed with people waiting to catch one fleeting glance of the prisoner as she passed the little, barred, half-open window which overlooks the street.

Quadruple the Guards. As the hour for the opening of court approached the regular force of uniformed guards in the building was quadrupled, every stairway was guarded and an officer stood outside every elevator landing. The Patterson trial is not the only case being heard on the third floor of the big building, however, and hundreds of persons, taking advantage of this, gained temporary admission to the upper floors. Time after time the corridors were cleared and the crowds streamed out to the streets only to return to make other attempts, most of them fruitless, to gain admittance to the courtroom.

Practically every seat in the body of the courtroom had been spoken for far in advance and it seemed as if every favored one used the privilege accorded, as there was hardly an inch of room to spare long before the prisoner came in and took her place beside her counsel.

When the court concluded the charge the jury retired and the prisoner was taken back to her cell in the Tombs. The girl met her father at the Tombs and embraced him. She did not appear exceedingly nervous and looked as if she was relieved after the many days of strain.

Crowds Block the Streets. As time went by and the word came that the jury had gone out to consider the evidence, the crowd around the criminal court building increased rapidly. A battalion of mounted police was called out and succeeded in making a passageway through Center street for surface cars and other vehicles, but at Elm street it was different. There traffic was practically at a standstill, the street being filled from curb to curb with persons who had been unsuccessful in gaining admittance to the court building. Down Franklin street towards Broadway a crowd stretched for blocks. All were struggling to reach a point from which the windows of the Bridge of Sighs would be visible, so that they might see Nan Patterson. It was estimated that in Franklin street alone there were 5,000 persons gathered close to the court building.

Death in Bryan Family.

Boy Killed by Playmate.

New York, May 3.—During a mimic wild west show in the Flatbush Boys' club of Brooklyn, John Hines, 16 years old, has been accidentally shot by a playmate of 14. Hines died in his mother's arms a few hours later.

New York, May 3.—While in ill health and suffering from a nervous disorder, John Terhune, superintendent of schools in Bergen county, N. J., and one of the prominent educators of that state, Wednesday shot and killed his wife and then committed suicide in the same fashion. The shooting occurred in their home in Hackensack, N. J. Both Mr. and Mrs. Terhune had been ill in bed for several weeks, but Wednesday they both arose and ate breakfast together for the first time since their illness.

HAD BLOOD POISON 12 YEARS
The New Method Treatment Cured Him after Drugs, Mercury, Hot Springs, &c., all failed.

Wm. H. Patterson, of Saginaw, Mich., relates his experience: "I do not like notoriety and especially of this kind. I feel I owe this much to Dr. K. & K. for the great good they have done me. I had a serious blood disease when 24 years of age. The skin and blood symptoms gradually developed. Pimples and ulcers formed, running sores broke out, hair began to fall out, pains in the bones and joints, dyspeptic stomach, foul breath, itchy skin, etc. I tried doctors. I grew to hate the looks of one I visited Hot Springs twice for four months each time. It helped me temporarily, but in six months after returning home I was as bad as ever. Finally a Doctor friend of mine advised me to see Dr. Kennedy & Kergan. He said he had known of them for over 20 years, and as they made a specialty of these diseases and treated the worst cases by the hundred they ought to be expert in curing them. I was afraid of advertising doctors but I took his advice. They agreed to treat me under a guarantee or no pay. I investigated their financial standing and found they were perfectly responsible, so I commenced the new method treatment. The eruptions disappeared in two weeks, the bone pains in four weeks and in four months I was entirely cured. Yes, sir, I can recommend the New Method Treatment for Blood and Skin Diseases. CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY. Consultation Free. Books Free. If unable to call, write for a Question Blank for Home Treatment."

Alas! poor little czarvitch! 'Twill not be his to go The happy flower-bordered ways The poor man's babe may know; If he were mine—but I believe I have already said, I'd throw his kingdom overboard, And give him peace instead. —J. M. Lewis, in Houston Post.

SALT IN THE COFFEE

By EMILY FRANCES SMITH

HERE will be an auction sale of rugs to-morrow," said Mrs. Thorpe, pouring her husband's second cup of coffee, "and that reminds me that our north room—" "Needs its window washed," finished Mr. Thorpe. "I noticed that. If a woman would devote one-tenth of the time that she does to looking for bargain sales to—" "Doing menial labor that could be hired with one-third of what her husband spends for cigars—" "She'd have more muscle and less nerves," added Mr. Thorpe, sweetening his coffee with salt. "Good heavens, Mary! When was your coffee pot washed? Now, now, little girl, I mean it has a beastly taste. Does it happen to be buckeye juice?" "I try to do all I can," mourned Mrs.

"DOES IT HAPPEN TO BE BUCKEYE JUICE?"

Thorpe, "and then I can't please you. I'm a slave to you. That's what—that's who I am."

"You're not a slave to anybody. I told you last week to get a cook. Why didn't you?"

"Who'd stand her off?"

"I usually pay my bills, madam."

"You're remarkably slow about paying mine."

"I'm not the Bank of England."

"Harold, I sometimes wish I hadn't married you."

"Good! So do I."

"I might have done better."

"I wish you had."

"You might have done worse."

"I don't believe it."

"You may not be bothered with me always. Something may happen to take me out of your life forever."

"Yes, I suppose it may; all things are possible. Anyway, whatever it is, it's worth waiting for."

"Of course you understand, dear, that should you apply for a divorce, you could not, under the proposed law, marry again inside of two years."

"Nor you inside of five, darling."

"I wouldn't want to. In fact, I think if every woman were given five years in which to consider matrimony, she wouldn't want it."

"If she began considering after she was 30, she wouldn't get it. You needn't get the divorce microbe into your mind, Lady Thorpe; nothing of that kind is going to wreck this should-be happy family. We were united in holy wedlock at a cost of $2.50 for the license, $10 to the officiating minister, to say nothing of incidental expenses. Possibly we have both erred grievously, but we have instituted a home, and it is our duty to the public and to the state not to destroy it."

"How beautiful! To what state—or did you mean a territory?"

"The marriage state; and to the public because it depends upon us as a source of revenue. Dissolve this home, and taxation will be undermined; light, water, heat, food, clothing and kindred interests will be inconvenienced."

"What about us?"

"As individuals? Who cares? It is the home the public would preserve; the home must be shielded, so long as the inmates can pay rent on it. As an eminent celebrator said this week, 'For every divorce that is granted, there is a home destroyed.'"

"The homes that are destroyed by divorces," argued Mrs. Thorpe, "are a small per cent. of the homes that are destroyed by lack of them. When people are mismatched and their domestic relations have become mutually odious, the religious aspect of marriage becomes a travesty, if not a tragedy. Separate them, and each might find true affinities or—h-m—they might not; compel them to remain together, and the natural rebellion of a chafed spirit will lead to evils more menacing to the moral status of 'public and state' than divorce."

"Whom God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

STRIKERS WARNED BY FEDERAL JUDGE

COURT ISSUES SWEEPING INJUNCTION IN CHICAGO LA-BOR TROUBLE.

Business of Firms Must Not Be Interfered with—Twelve Labor Leaders Are Indicted for Conspiracy—Serious Rioting Continues.

Chicago, April 29.—An injunction, sweeping and direct in its nature, was granted Friday by Judge Kohlsaat, of the United States circuit court, against all labor unions and others, restraining them from interfering in any way with the operations of the Employers' Teaming company. This action places the employers under the protection of the federal government. One hundred defendants are specifically named in the writ, including the teamsters' joint council. The order is a temporary one, returnable May 10, when the labor people will be called upon to show why it should not be made permanent. The future course of the strike may hinge largely on this injunction. Violation of the injunction is punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, at the discretion of the court. It is expected that prominent leaders will be arrested if they persist in their boycott policy, just as Debs was arrested and imprisoned in the railroad strike of 1894.

Strike Spreads. Chicago, May 1.—The strike extended its tentacles Saturday, violence in more pronounced form prevailed in the streets of the city, and employers and union men through their boards of strategy planned relentless campaigns, while civic officials and committees representing the general public made tentative moves looking to the restoration of peace.

About 1,000 recruits joined the ranks of the striking drivers during Saturday, but contemplated action by large business interests promise to force two or three times that number out of work. The spread of the strike further affected the coal business, penetrated to the wholesale grocery houses, placed a partial embargo on the transfer of passengers and baggage to and from railroad stations, and took in hundreds of bundle boys in the department stores. Wholesale grocers, against some of whom the strike ban already has been put in operation, have decided upon a lockout.

Rioting Grows More Serious. Fifty shots, one of which hit and probably fatally wounded Charles Lidsnaky, were fired by negro drivers and guards of six of John V. Farwell & Co. wagons at Madison and Franklin streets in the biggest shooting affray of the strike Saturday. The negroes defended themselves against attack by drawing revolvers. Another man was hurt by a brick in the same riot. One man died in the evening, a victim of the general reign of violence. Violence and riot grew more serious as the day waned.

Labor Leaders Indicted.

Twelve indictments against labor leaders in connection with the Montgomery Ward & Co. strike were returned by the Cook county grand jury in its final report to Judge McEwen Saturday. The men indicted include the international president of the teamsters' union, the president of the Chicago Federation of Labor and officials of practically all of the local unions of teamsters. The charge against the indicted men is conspiracy to an illegal act in interfering with the business of Montgomery Ward & Co.

One of the most significant features of the strike situation Monday was the arrival of a large body of nonunion teamsters from the south. Their coming reveals the plan of the employers to adopt the policy employed by the packers last summer and which resulted in the breaking of the stockyards strike and the utter defeat of the union.

Will Receive Petition.

Glenwood Springs, Col., May 2.—President Roosevelt has agreed to give the Chicago striking teamsters an opportunity to present their petition when he reaches that city on May 10. The president cannot give consideration to the petition until he reaches Washington.

Many Hurt in Riots.

Chicago, May 3.—Shooting, slugging, and nearly every other kind of violence of which mobs are capable or which they may incite turned nearly every downtown Chicago street into a battlefield Tuesday, resulting in four men being shot down and nearly 40 others being more or less severely injured. Not since the great railroad strike of 1894 have the police had such furious struggles to preserve order—and the police failed in their desired purpose. They could not prevent clashes between the union and independent toilers because of the widely scattered points at which the belligerents met. There was not a conflict in which one or more heads were not broken or bruised, and in nearly every instance there was more or less shooting or display of firearms. Mayor Dunne has ordered Chief O'Neill to draw 900 special policemen from the civil service commission list. Eleven hundred and fifty policemen are assigned to strike duty. The employers have assumed a more decidedly hostile front, and are taking aggressive action. Hundreds of independent workmen are being brought to Chicago from the east, south and west, and the strikers are being shown no compromise. The mayor ordered that copies of his proclamation, issued Sunday be pasted in conspicuous places throughout the city. It calls on the people to refrain from violence and from assembling.

Drank Wood Alcohol.

Pawhuska, Okla., May 2.—Three men died here Monday from the effects of wood alcohol they had drunk.

"The sentiment would be better reversed. Marriage is a civil contract, involving fees and legislation; so is divorce. The first is contracted, perhaps blindly, always hopefully; if habits, temperaments, disposition, or other good reason prove it a failure, divorce is the legitimate avenue of escape."

"The trouble is," said Mr. Thorpe, "that people marry without due consideration, believing that they can get a divorce if they are not satisfied."

"I don't believe any such foolishness. I don't believe that any two people ever uttered the marriage vows with any such reserve purpose in view. I don't believe that any marriage is not based on affection. Of course, it may not be affection; but so long as they think it is, they are about as well off."

"They wouldn't be so ready to get married if there were no such thing as divorce," urged Mr. Thorpe.

"They'd get married just the same. They couldn't help it. It is something that gets into the blood and can't be gotten out in any other way. And when they get enough of each other, and are weary of their contract, there is perennial discord, and oftentimes suicide and murder. The marriage contract is the only one that cannot be broken by honorable course of legal procedure without the assent of the public disapproval."

"In Canada, where there were only 14 divorces last year, the families are happy."

"I happen to know a woman who conducts a mail order business, and the letters that come to her from the wives of Canada are the most hopelessly rebellious that could be conceived. I should judge from these pitiful plaints that the happy families of Canada last year were the 14 who got divorces."

"For every broken home, there is one broken heart," said Mr. Thorpe.

"For every home that ought to be broken and isn't," said Mrs. Thorpe, "there are two broken hearts. Only the finite mind is changeless. God made us amenable to the flesh and its weaknesses, and He did not devise marriage as a torment. It is the sweetest blessing He has bestowed on humanity, and so long as it remains a blessing it has Divine approval; but when the sweetness has turned to gall, it would be flying in the face of nature and establishing a precedent to preserve the spirit as well as the letter of it. In short, my beloved Harold, I have come to the conclusion that life is too short to be unhappy in. I love you, and want to live with you, doing my whole duty, and you doing yours, and then some; but if I should discover that we two had grown irretrievably asunder, I would consider that we were divorced in the sight of Heaven, and go after alimony."

"I suppose you'd marry again?"

"I certainly would. I may think I wouldn't, but at the same time I know I would, and so does anybody. We're just human, poor us; there's one reason God loves us, and I don't see why we shouldn't love each other. Most of us do."

"You would probably think two years a good while to wait?"

"Candidly, I don't understand the motif for the sentence. When a man is dead, he's as dead as he'll ever be; and when he's divorced, he's as divorced as he'll ever be. I don't see what concern it is of the state whether he marries or works for his living."

"I am very much pained and shocked that my wife should hold such unconventional views. How long have you been wanting to be free, my lady?"

"I haven't wanted to be free. I have only thought it might be best. Best for you, because you have a future, and I—I have only my past, so far. You are still a young man. You are interesting and attractive. You could aspire to win the proudest in the land. If you didn't have me, you might marry some society girl, with money and position, and whose father would have influence. She couldn't love you any more than I do, but she might be a better helpmeet for you."

"Tut, tut. What kind of talk is all this?"

"It's the plain, simple truth. I know I'm not good enough for you; that I'm not smart enough to be company for you; that I haven't the clothes to be a credit to you; that I can't make the home a fit habitation for you, unless I had money of my own. Now that old north room—"

That Fish License Bill

Chief Deputy State Game Warden Charles K. Hoyt says that the bill in reference to the licensing of fishermen, which has been reported favorably from the committee in the legislature is not meant to be a hardship upon the commercial fishermen of the state. In fact Mr. Hoyt says that it is intended for their good and will react to their benefit in time to come. The measure is really Mr. Hoyt's idea and was suggested by him to the department.

Mr. Hoyt says that the Canadian government has a license system and restricts its fishermen to certain territory. It is the idea of the Michigan department to place certain restrictions upon the fishermen that the fish of state waters can be the better protected.

The warden's department agrees that the fishermen have the waters of the great lakes for their field of operations and pay no rent or taxes for the use of same. The department considers that the fishermen ought to be willing to pay a reasonable license.

Mr. Hoyt states that the fishermen are too prone to blame all measures affecting them, upon the fish trust. This doesn't set well with the game warden's department, as a great many people are getting the idea that the trust is influencing legislation. The fact of the matter is, Mr. Hoyt asserts, that the fishing trust has but one tug in operation in the state of Michigan and that is doing business out of a Lake Superior port.

Mr. Hoyt says that the fishermen of the state will have to reconcile themselves to future conditions as the game warden's department will make all endeavor to preserve the fish in lake waters and protect same. The fishermen admit that the catch has been growing less and less and that there are not near as many fish in the lakes as there were fifteen and twenty years ago, and taking cognizance of this fact, every effort will be made in the future to prevent the lakes from depopulation of the finny tribe.

A delegation of Modern Woodmen visited Jenison Park in company with Traffic Manager Floyd and Superintendent Busby of the interurban line and arranged for a monster picnic of Modern Woodmen at the popular resort on August 5.

All the camps in Grand Rapids will participate in the event and their representatives gave assurance that nearly 3,000 persons will visit Jenison on the day of the picnic, the camps of Ottawa and Kent joining in a grand celebration.

After looking over the grounds the party enjoyed a fish dinner at Longline's.

Sized An Aus Wanderer

The sheriff's office was notified last night to look out for an Hungarian, answering to a certain description, who was supposed to be going to Chicago on the Goodrich boat. The call upon the local officers was made by a Detroit deputy sheriff who was looking for a man for a murder in Delray, Mich.

Sheriff Woodbury and Marshal John Welch with Night Officer Klaver, Prosecuting Attorney Pagelsen, Deputy Sheriffs Buxton and Van der Haar went to the Goodrich boat and soon spotted a man who answered the description perfectly. He appeared to be Hungarian and was immediately taken in charge and placed in the jail.

At the jail there was an effort to find some one who could converse

Death of James S. Whelan.

JAMES S. WHELAN, proprietor of Hotel Holland, died Wednesday evening at the hotel after a weeks illness.

Mr. Whelan first felt unwell Monday of last week, but did not become alarmed at his illness until Wednesday when he sought medical advice. The physicians pronounced it a serious case of peritonitis and held out little hope from the first. A slight rally last Monday was followed by a change for the worst Tuesday and death came Wednesday. All of Mr. Whelan's immediate relatives, excepting one brother from South Carolina, were with him at the last.

Mr. Whelan was born in the village of White Lake, Muskegon county, forty-one years ago and at an early age was employed in the fishing business and in saw mills on White Lake. When about 19 years of age he took a position as assistant station agent at the Pere Marquette depot at Montague, and from that date followed railroading for about 16 years. He was a brakeman on a passenger train for awhile and was then given a run as a baggageman.

About fourteen years ago he left the baggage car and started braking on a freight. His purpose in doing this was to get in line for promotion to a conductorship as he had been notified by officials that he would be given a position in a short time. An accident destroyed his chance of promotion. While switching cars at Whitehall, shortly after he took the position on the freight he was caught between the engine tender and a car and was nearly crushed to death. It was ten months before he was again able to begin work and then his chances for promotion being gone he resumed work as baggageman on a passenger train. The injury he received in this accident always troubled him and it was this weakened spot that the disease of which he died affected the most.

While baggageman, Mr. Whelan arranged for leave of absence three different years for the purpose of taking the law course in the Valparaiso, (Indiana) Normal School. He was admitted to the bar in the state of Indiana in 1900 and was admitted to practice by the Supreme Court of Michigan in 1903. But he never started the practice of law as he became engaged in the hotel business. He took the management of Hotel Holland six years ago and later was manager of Hotel Macatawa. About a year ago he leased Hotel Holland for a term of years and was its proprietor at the time of his death.

He had many friends among the traveling public and in fact among all classes of people, for he touched life upon many sides and numbered among his friends all who met him. He will be sorely missed and sincerely mourned by many.

In January 1902, Mr. Whelan was married to Miss Nellie A. Ryder, daughter of Mrs. M. A. Ryder of this city, and besides his wife, the immediate relatives who survive him are his mother, Mrs. Mary Whelan, and the following brothers and sisters: John P. Whelan, of the life saving crew at White Lake; E. J. Whelan, Georgetown, S. C.; Mrs. Wm. Robinson, of South Haven; Mrs. Oliver Deto, of Holland and N. J. Whelan, of Holland.

The funeral services will be held Saturday forenoon at St. Francis church in this city and after services the body will be taken to Grand Rapids for burial in St. Andrews cemetery.

Following are the arrangements: The funeral will leave Hotel Holland at 9:15 o'clock for St. Francis church where services will be held at 10:00 o'clock, solemn high mass being celebrated. After the services, which will be concluded about 12:00 o'clock, special interurban cars will be taken to Grand Rapids. One car will accommodate the immediate relatives and pall bearers, and Passenger Agent Floyd has arranged to place special cars at the disposal of such friends as desire to go to Grand Rapids.

Arrangements have been made to run the interurban cars over the city lines in Grand Rapids and this will bring those who attend the funeral to the cemetery without going to the trouble of transferring.

with the Hungarian. A young German inmate of the jail was tried and he was able to carry on considerable conversation with the prisoner. He stated that his name was Frank Habetler and he had in his possession a check from an ocean steam boat dated February 27. He could speak no English and he seemed completely bewildered at his arrest. He stated that he had been in this country but a short time and he had never been in Detroit.

He had been in Racine and had come to Muskegon from there. For a few days he had been working at Muskegon and was on his way to Chicago.

He told the interpreter this morning that an officer had arrested him in Muskegon yesterday, but had freed him again.

The Detroit deputy drove over from Muskegon last night and the prisoner's picture was taken for identification, and sent to Detroit. The sheriff received word today that a Detroit officer would be here today and would view the prisoner.

The officers here are now rather inclined to believe that the "aus wanderer" is not the man wanted in Detroit.

Family Quarrel

John Dyke jr. of Olive was brought before Justice VanDuren yesterday to answer to the charge of assault and battery.

The complaint was made by his sister-in-law who claims he pushed the barn door against her and injured her in this way. Sooy & Heck were attorneys for the defendant and Dan Pagelson for the people. After short deliberation the jury brought in a verdict of guilty and the court ordered Dyke to pay a fine and costs amounting to $29.00. The defendant has appealed the case to the circuit court. The trouble started over a stump machine and is purely a family quarrel.

Mystic May Wedding

A mystic air of orientalism pervaded Hope church parlors yesterday afternoon and scenes of barbaric splendor were witnessed. The occasion that prompted this atmospheric condition was the celebration of a Hindu wedding ceremony. Strange as it may seem all of the wedding was feminine even the bridegroom. The ladies of the church had the wedding in charge and it closely resembled the real ceremony. The costumes for the occasion were furnished through the kindness of Mrs. T. J. Vos of this city, who received them from Rev. John Banninga, the ex-Holland student, who is now a missionary in India. Mrs. L. M. Thurber was the officiating High Priest; Mrs. J. H. Raven was the Hindu bride and the proud and happy bridegroom was Mrs. C. J. Dregman. While the weird barbaric spectacle was presented the strains of an oriental wedding march broke the silence. Mrs. O. E. Yates was the organist.

So pleased were all with the success of the entertainment that it will be repeated next Monday evening and an invitation to attend is extended the public. A silver collection will be taken.

Interesting Meeting

The study of Switzerland by the Woman's Literary club was given added zest Tuesday by the beautiful collection of curios from the little republic across the sea, several of the members bringing to the club their valued mementoes of visits to Switzerland.

Mrs. M. E. King, Mrs. A. Visscher, Mrs. J. C. Post and Mrs. Beardslee contributed to this display of curios.

Mrs. King, who visited Switzerland four years ago, showed the flags of the republic, a pair of dolls dressed in native costume, a number of carved toys, and souvenir post cards, also a hatpin set with an amethyst from Mt. Blanc.

Mrs. Visscher visited Switzerland within the past year, and she has a pretty collection of cards, beads, amethysts from Mt. Blanc, and what most delighted the club members, a miniature Swiss chalet, such as may be found anywhere in that mountainous country. A spray of idelweiss, the never-fading flower of Switzerland, secured by Mr. Post 17 years ago on a visit abroad, was exhibited by Mrs. Post, and a book of pressed Alpine flowers, the property of Mrs. J. W. Beardslee, was greatly admired.

SPEAR GETS SEVEN YEARS

OHIO BANK CASHIER IS SENTENCED TO PRISON.

Pleads Guilty to Making False Entry in Books—Counsel's Plea of No Avail.

Cleveland, O., May 3.—A. B. Spear, cashier of the closed Citizens' bank of Oberlin, Wednesday, in the United States district court, entered a plea of guilty to one count of the indictment, charging him with making false entries in the bank's books. District Attorney Sullivan recommended that all other indictments against Spear, containing 15 counts, be nolle. Judge Taylor at once sentenced Spear to seven years' imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary.

Before sentencing Spear the court heard an eloquent plea from Gen. E. S. Meyer, counsel for the defendant, asking that leniency be shown his client on account of extenuating circumstances. He asked that Spear be given the minimum sentence, five years, stating that there had been no intention on the prisoner's part to rob the bank and that he was guilty of only a technical and unintentional false entry. Gen. Meyer stated that the false entry Spear pleaded guilty to was in regard to a sum of $5,050 which was to have been deposited in a bank in this city, but which instead was loaned to Mrs. Chadwick. The court, in passing sentence, said he believed that the intentions of both Beckwith and Spear were good when they began their dealings with Mrs. Chadwick, but when once having been drawn into the transactions they did not have the moral courage to refuse her further credit.

He considered, however, that the laws regulating national banks had been flagrantly violated by Spear and that the public good demanded adequate punishment. Spear having nothing to say as to why sentence should not be passed, Judge Taylor imposed a sentence of seven years in the Ohio penitentiary. The maximum penalty would have been ten years for the offense. It is believed by the government authorities here that the pleading guilty by Spear will have a tendency to weaken any defense which Mrs. Chadwick can make in case she is granted a new trial by the United States circuit court of appeals. She is charged jointly on the same indictment with conspiring with Spear to make false entries in the bank's books.

MISSING CASHIER ARRESTED

Henry G. Goll, of Milwaukee, Implicated in Recent Embezzlement, Caught in Chicago.

Milwaukee, May 3.—Henry G. Goll, the former assistant cashier of the First national bank of this city, was arrested in Chicago Wednesday. This is the information given out by the police authorities in Milwaukee.

The capture was made by Detective Dennis Sullivan, of the Milwaukee police department. Goll was walking on Thirtieth street in Chicago when the Milwaukee officer ran across him. It appears that Goll has been in Chicago for several days, stopping at a different hotel every night. Sullivan got a clew to his being in the city and traced him from place to place, when he finally ran upon him.

A warrant was issued for Goll's arrest at the same time the warrant was served on Frank G. Bigelow, the defaulting banker. The complaint sworn to by United States District Attorney H. K. Butterfield charges Goll, the same as Bigelow, with embezzling an amount exceeding $100,000. The prisoner will be brought to Milwaukee as soon as possible.

Chauncey Dewey Is Free.

Norton, Kan., May 3.—The celebrated case of Chauncey Dewey, a millionaire ranchman, and Clyde Wilson and A. J. McBride, cowboys employed by Dewey, who were charged with killing two members of the Berry family, neighboring ranchmen, in northwestern Kansas, has been ended in the district court here when the judge dismissed the defendants without trial. The prosecution had failed upon several occasions to begin the trial, although the defendants were ready. The three defendants were all acquitted a year ago after a sensational trial for the alleged murder of another member of the Berry family.

Chauncey Dewey is the son of the late C. P. Dewey, a pioneer Kansan, and at the time of the killing of the Berrys managed his father's ranch.

Ninety-Seven May Be Lost.

Cheerbourg, May 3.—Naval men of this port are still anxiously waiting for news of the crew of the steamer Falk, which is said to have been wrecked off Land's End on the night of April 30. A French vessel has landed here the engineer of the steamer, who was rescued at sea after swimming nine hours. The engineer, who is an American, says the Falk, which had a crew of 97 men, struck a rock off Land's End on the night of April 30. He does not know what became of the crew.

Death in Strange Accident.

Las Vegas, N. M., May 3.—In one of the most peculiar accidents that ever occurred on this division of the Santa Fe, Engineer E. W. Davis and Fireman J. W. Swisher have just lost their lives. The boiler of an engine hauling a heavy work train blew up and the men were instantly killed. The engine was blown to pieces, but little damage was done to the rest of the train. The officials here say the accident is unexplainable.

Happy Results

Have Made Many Holland Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Holland citizens grow enthusiastic, it is enough enough to make any one happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Holland by Doan's Kidney Pills.

J. H. Streur, farmer three miles south of the city says: "I was bothered more or less for years with pains through my loins, never sufficiently severe to lay me up, but it was distressing and annoying. If I over exerted myself, or had been driving long, my back became so tired and ached so much that I could not rest nights. I had often heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended that I got a box at J. O. Doesburg's drug store and used them. They relieved me immediately, soon banished all my aches and pain and rendered the kidney secretions healthy and natural."

Much of the dirt which may be seen on the cheesecloth strainer and which dissolves and passes through—dandruff, hairs, flecks of dried manure, bacteria and the like that get into milk—falls in from above during the process of milking, writes a Vermont farmer in American Cultivator. Now, straining milk through cheesecloth only removes a part. The situation can be bettered to a marked degree, the keeping quality of the milk be enhanced and the likelihood that the milk will make good butter be increased by attention to a few details that are neither costly in money or time or difficult to install.

Wipe udder and abdomen with a damp cloth immediately before milking.

Provide milkers with clean clothes.

Fill seams of dairy utensils with solder and use some form of the sanitary or dirt excluding milking pails. There are several forms of the latter. One is a pail covered with a "four" funnel covered with wire gauze, into which fits a loose ring whereby may be fastened in a few layers of cheesecloth. Another is a closed pail with a large opening covered with a wire mesh and absorbent cotton. And still a third and very practical pail is one with a shoulder and a hood, which is otherwise open. According as this is held the amount of dirt entering the pail may be cut down from 60 to 90 per cent.

If now, after the organisms have been thus excluded, their growth and multiplication are checked by low temperatures, one may feel fairly certain that the milk will have a lease of life almost as great as that of a ton of coal during a cold wave.

Stone Silo Construction.

The drawings of the all stone silo (A), with conical roof and openings for feeding doors, are reproduced from Hoard's Dairyman. The heavy black dots (1, 1, 1) show where iron rods may be bedded in the wall to prevent cracking from the pressure of the silage. Method of constructing silo door and door jamb for stone silo; E shows cross section of silo door; F shows how the door jamb is made to make it air tight and how the door is held in place with lag bolts against a gasket of roofing material.

Feeding Young Calves.

It sometimes happens that young calves when fed nice clover hay are taken with impaction of the rumen, and they generally die. We once lost a valuable cow and a fine young bull from this ailment. It is generally understood now by veterinarians that this trouble largely comes from over-feeding. The animal eats more than it can remasticate. Constant care is needed with young calves to guard against overfeeding. Their digestion is easily upset, and every attack gives them a serious setback.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Odors in the Cow Stable.

Be careful of the odors in the cow stable. Milk is a subtle agent. Recently the milk and cream from a farm had a rank taste of turnips, though the cows had had no turnips. A visit to the stable disclosed two big boxes of turnips stored in one part of the stable. Days when the milk was left standing a "little while" it would be almost unfit for use.—Farm Journal.

Where Blood Tells.

The place where the well bred animal really comes into his own is in the hands of the average farmer who seeks the best and most economical method of marketing his grain and grass.

THE CARE OF POULTS.

Freedom From Lice Is an Essential in Turkey Raising.

Go to the nest when the little poults are hatching, remove them as fast as they dry and place them in a flannel cloth in basket or box in the house until the mother has completed her hatch, says the Feather.

Never feed them until at least thirty-six hours old. Then give them hard boiled eggs crumbled with black pepper. To them nothing seems more wholesome. Feed scantily and at least every two hours.

An ideal coop for little turkeys is a large box, four feet long, three feet wide and two and a half feet high. Remove the bottom of the box and make a slanting roof, leaving no floor whatever but nature's carpet—soft green grass—and change the coop to a new location every three or four days. Slat the front of the coop, that they may come and go as they please. Let the mother hen remain in the coop until the poults are about three weeks old. Give plenty of good fresh water and sunlight. Never use sour milk, except in the form of cheese, of which they are very fond.

The coop should be inclosed by a little yard of broad boards for at least a week, as the little fellows will follow every chicken or fowl that passes the coop, often running so far away they can't get back, thus causing many a step that with a little trouble and precaution may be avoided. Keep plenty of fresh water constantly by them.

When the poults are a week old grease the mother hen on vent, under wings and on her head to prevent the lice infesting the little ones. When the poults are three weeks old grease them on wings and around navel. Be very careful and don't use too much. Never grease the head of a young poult. Repeat again in three weeks. To keep little poults free from lice is one of the most important essentials in turkey raising.

Never place them on board floors, as it causes leg weakness and disease. Close up the coop at night to prevent them from running out in the dew of early morning. As soon as the grass dries turn out the hen and poults together. They will return to the coop when they get hungry. See that they have clean quarters, plenty of fresh grass, clean fresh water, boiled eggs, millet, cheese, beef meal, corn bread and sweet cream.

The Pyle Leghorn.

The handsome Pyle Leghorn cock whose picture is here reproduced from the Feather was a prize winner at the Crystal palace show, London, last year. With several hens he was imported by E. G. Wyckoff of Ithaca, N. Y., and these fowls attracted much attention at the New York show. It is a most beautiful variety and, being entirely new in this country, must interest American breeders. Mr. Wyckoff imported at the same time some beautiful Silver Duckwing Leghorns, which were also shown at the New York show. These new varieties will add great interest to the Mediterranean classes in this country.

Turning the Eggs.

From the seventh day until the beginning of the third week the turning of the eggs is half the insurance of a good hatch, as during that time the embryo is in constant danger of adhering to the inner membranous lining of the shell.

My experiments have proved beyond doubt that from the first until the seventh day and from the sixteenth until the close of the hatch turning is not necessary. All fertile eggs when tested at the twelfth day show a decided formation of all internal organs. Between the twelfth and fourteenth days the embryo begins to give out animal heat as a result of the rapid formation of the heart, and less artificial heat is required to keep the machine up to regular heat. Most embryos attain their complete shape at the sixteenth day, and danger from adhesion is past.—Professor Leslie in Poultry Success.

Overheating Eggs in Incubator.

More eggs are lost by overheating than by too low temperature, says Professor Leslie in Poultry Success. A trial will teach you that eggs kept at from 80 to 100 degrees will hatch in from twenty-five to twenty-eight days even though the temperature went down to 65 or 60 occasionally. But at 110 degrees for eight or ten hours you may as well blow out your lamp and save cost of kerosene, as your chances of getting any chicks are very slim.

Where the Mongrel Falls.

Breeding for beauty is all right in its place, says Farmer's Voice, but where beauty interferes with utility is the place to let beauty take second place. There are mongrel hens that lay as many eggs as the most prolific Leghorns, but they cannot be depended on to transmit the tendency to their progeny. There is where the mongrel falls.

Get SCOTT'S Emulsion

When you go to a drug store and ask for Scott's Emulsion you know what you want; the man knows you ought to have it. Don't be surprised, though, if you are offered something else. Wines, cordials, extracts, etc., of cod liver oil are plentiful but don't imagine you are getting cod liver oil when you take them. Every year for thirty years we've been increasing the sales of Scott's Emulsion. Why? Because it has always been better than any substitute for it.

GEN. FITZHUGH LEE SUDDENLY DIES

FAMOUS SOLDIER EXPIRES IN A HOSPITAL IN CITY OF WASHINGTON.

He Is Stricken with Apoplexy on Train En Route from Boston to the Capital—Family Fails to Reach His Bedside—His Career.

Washington, April 29.—Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, of Virginia, died at the Providence hospital in this city at 11:20 o'clock Friday night, as the result of an attack of apoplexy and paralysis with which he was stricken early Friday morning while traveling by rail from Boston to Washington. A pathetic feature was the fact that no member of his immediate family, consisting of his wife and five children, was able to reach the city before death occurred. At his bedside when

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee. He died was his brother, Daniel Lee, and Mrs. Edle and Kean. The end came quite suddenly and was without pain.

The Attack. Gen. Lee was stricken with apoplexy, the entire left side being affected, at three o'clock Friday morning. He was on a train en route from Boston to Washington. The train had just left the Harlem river when the stroke came. Two physicians were summoned and Gen. Lee remained on board the train while it was transferred by float to Jersey City and proceeded to Washington. When the train arrived here the patient was removed to the Providence hospital. Gen. Lee's attack is attributed largely to his activity in behalf of the military and naval review, which is to be held in the vicinity of Jamestown, Va. His heart and soul have been in the work and he labored zealously to make it a success.

His Career. Gen. Lee was a nephew of the famous Gen. Robert E. Lee, commander-in-chief of the confederate army. In Washington he was well and popularly known, and his appearance on public occasions always was the signal for outbursts of applause from hosts of admiring friends. Gen. Lee's record includes an honorable service in the cavalry branch of the army of the United States up to the time of the civil war, years of active service in the confederate army and the filling of important federal and state positions since that time, including the governorship of Virginia, the presidency of the Pittsburg & Virginia railroad, the collectorship of internal revenue for the Lynchburg district, and the consul generalship at Havana. Following his honorable discharge from the volunteer army on March 2, 1901, Gen. Lee was appointed to the regular army February 11, 1901, with the rank of brigadier general, and with this rank he was retired in the March following.

MANY ARE SLAIN IN MAY-DAY RIOTS

REIGN OF TERROR AGAIN EXISTS IN WARSAW, THE CAPITOL OF POLAND.

Troops Commit Unprovoked Outrage on Citizens—Charge Upon and Fire Into Crowds, Killing Sixty-Two and Wounding 200 Persons.

Warsaw, May 3.—The May day death roll on Monday totaled 62, including ten persons who died in the hospitals during the night. Probably 200 were wounded. The troops were apparently uncontrollable and violated all orders to act with moderation. They fired into crowds of paraders, and workmen in retaliation resorted to the use of firearms and bombs. Many women and children are among the dead and dying. People were driven into courtyards and beaten with the butts of rifles, some of them into insensibility. The limbs of some of the victims were broken. A bomb thrown into a Cossack patrol near the Vienna station, Warsaw, struck the head of a Cossack's horse, literally blowing the horse and rider to atoms, and killing two other Cossacks and two women.

The population is most bitter against the military, and the government officials expect many attempts at revenge upon the officers commanding the troops, all of whom are known. In Lodz, according to an official report, four women were killed. The first disturbances occurred between one and two o'clock p. m., when a procession of several thousand workmen, carrying red flags, marched along Zelazna street. The demonstration was quite orderly and proceeded without molestation for some distance. Suddenly several squadrons of cavalry and infantry charged into the procession, driving it with the flat of their swords into a disorganized mass. When the cavalry withdrew the infantry fired a volley, whereupon the demonstrators turned and fled. The infantry continued to "discharge volleys into the retreating, shrieking multitude. Thirty-one persons were killed and many wounded, and of the latter it is believed that 15 will die. The shooting is described as having been quite unprovoked.

More Are Slain. Another terrible scene was enacted at five o'clock p. m., at the corner of Ziota and Sosnowe streets, when workmen fired from behind a wall at a patrol, which immediately opened fire on the passing crowd, killing or wounding 20 persons.

Bloodshed at Other Points. It was reported by telephone from Lodz Monday afternoon that a crowd there had stoned a military patrol, whereupon the soldiers fired and killed two men and wounded a boy. Later a similar scene occurred in Balutski square, in Lodz, when two persons were killed. In Lodz, also, at nine o'clock p. m. a bomb was thrown at a patrol, but it was not effective. The patrol fired into the crowd, and killed three and wounded two persons.

BANK PLUNDERED.

Institution in Gilbertville, N. Y.—Robbed of Between $5,000 and $10,000 in Cash.

Oneonta, N. Y., May 3.—A band of masked robbers rode into the village of Gilbertville, about 15 miles from here, at three o'clock Tuesday morning, blew open the modern and supposedly burglar proof safe in the private bank of E. C. Brewer, and made good their escape with booty estimated at between $5,000 and $10,000. When the startled villagers were awakened by the muffled roar of the explosion and had been halted by the pistol fire of the retreating bandits, they found that the robbers had completely isolated Gilbertville from the outside world by cutting all the telegraph and telephone wires. Efforts to communicate with neighboring towns were futile and when the village folk finally started in pursuit the robbers had gained a lead which could not be overcome.

The friends of Miss Eccles brought him to justice. Mrs. Daley is highly respected here and is operator for the Ganges and Saugatuck telephone company at this station. She has been almost perstrated by her husband's perfidy.—Allegan Press.

As a last resort I decided to write you and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful that I did, for after following your instructions, which you sent me free of all charge, my monthly periods started, I am regular and in perfect health. Had it not been for you I would be in my grave to-day."

"I sincerely trust that this letter may lead every suffering woman in the country to write you for help as I did."
