Season's Snow Hits 112 Inches

A late spring snowstorm which dumped 5½ inches of snow on Holland on April 1 (April Fool's Day) boosted the 1964-65 snowfall to 112.30 inches, according to records of Weather Observer Lynn P. Wheaton.

Generally, the month was cool with an average temperature of 43.5 degrees or 2.5 degrees below normal. The maximum was 73 on April 11 and the minimum was a frosty 13 on April 3. Snow remained on the ground until April 7.

Tornadoes which ripped through the Bentheim-Burnips area on Palm Sunday April 10 bypassed the local area, but wrought havoc in many places in a seven-state area. Snow flurries again visited Holland April 18 but left no measurable amounts.

The 112.30-inch total snowfall lists 5.5 inches for November, 21.2 inches for December, 21.2 inches for January, 29.5 inches for February, 29.4 inches for March and 5.5 inches for April. The 1963-64 snowfall amounted to 115.75 inches.

Maximum in April was 73, compared with 78 in 1964, 76 in 1963, 83 in 1962 and 66 in 1961. Average temperature was 43.5 compared with 49.4 in 1964, 48.4 in 1963, 46.6 in 1962 and 42.7 in 1961.

Average minimum was 33.1, compared with 39.9 in 1964, 37.3 in 1963, 35.9 in 1962 and 34.6 in 1961. Average maximum was 53.9, compared with 58.9 in 1964, 59.5 in 1963, 57.2 in 1962 and 58 in 1961.

Precipitation totaled 2.59 inches or .52 inch below normal. Precipitation measured 4.18 inches in 1964, 4.97 inches in 1963, 1.90 inches in 1962 and 3.96 inches in 1961. Precipitation fell on 16 days compared with 14 in 1964, 10 in 1963, 14 in 1962 and 19 in 1961.

Snowfall totaled 5.5 inches, compared with 2 inches in 1964, 2 inches in 1963, 2.5 inches in 1962 and 10.7 inches in 1961. Greatest snowfall in a 24-hour period was 5.5 inches, compared with 1½ inches in 1964, 2 inches in 1963, 2 inches in 1962, and 6 inches in 1961. Greatest precipitation in a 24-hour period was .68 inch on April 12, compared with 1.05 inches in 1964, 2.58 inches in 1963, .65 inch in 1962 and .96 inch in 1961.

Police Halt Calvin Raid

Spring fever today got the best of a group of Calvin College students.

Twelve of the group were arrested by Holland police following a raid by the Grand Rapids college students on the Hope College campus about 4 a.m.

Police said seven carloads of Calvin students had left Grand Rapids about 3 a.m. They set gasoline fires at 12th St. and Columbia Ave. and at the Hope athletic field and tore down a goal post at the football field before entering one of the Hope dormitories where they ran up and down the halls, knocking on doors and creating a disturbance.

Police were called at 4:22 a.m. and apprehended 12 of the Calvin students near the dormitory. Several carloads of students got away before police moved in. The 12 picked up by police spent the remainder of the night in the Holland jail. They were to appear in Municipal Court later today to face charges of disorderly conduct.

Many Are Awarded Scholarships

A large number of Ottawa and Allegan county high school students are included in the 1965-66 state scholarship winners on the basis of performance on the State Competitive Examination given in November, 1964.

Although the program is only 11 months old, this is the second time awards have been given, according to Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction and chairman of the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority.

The act establishing the scholarship program insures geographical distribution of awards by providing at least three scholarships within each of the 148 legislative districts of the state, provided there are qualifying applicants. The average award is $372, with a high of $800 which is the maximum that can be granted. Low award is $80.

Each award is determined on the basis of the cost at the institution which the applicant chooses to attend, and all awards are renewable upon annual application and maintenance of a "C" average. All awards are contingent upon a legislative appropriation.

New Housing Ordinance Is Adopted

City Council adopted a new ordinance Wednesday night which updates the city's housing code, much of which was drafted around 1917.

The lengthy ordinance, introduced some weeks ago, was not read in its entirety but was explained generally by Sam Stephenson, of the Department of Environmental Health.

Stephenson explained that the new code covers minimal needs of housing and requires such things as bath facilities, lavatories and hot water. It also covers reasonable requirements in maintenance which Stephenson defined as "out of character" housing.

He explained that the new ordinance in no way means a check of local homes to see if all facilities are installed, but serves as a guide for building and renovations.

Two other ordinances on zoning also were introduced for first reading, both recommended by the Planning Commission. One involves rezoning the southeast corner of 29th St. and Maple Ave. to C-1 neighborhood commercial from residential, in connection with a branch for Peoples State Bank.

The other would rezone agricultural land west of the existing southside industrial park, enlarging the industrial area by 78 acres. Hearings on both ordinances are scheduled June 2.

Mrs. Ronald Van Slooten who has written letters to the Holland Evening Sentinel concerning parking at Herrick Library was introduced by Councilman Bertal Slagh. City Manager Herb Holt said considerable progress has been made in acquiring property west of the library on 13th St. but condemnation proceedings are always time consuming.

Roger J. MacLeod

Liberty Bell Award Goes To Local Man

Roger J. MacLeod of Holland was presented with the Liberty Bell Award of the Young Lawyers of the State of Michigan at a luncheon Tuesday of the Grand Haven Kiwanis Club. The award is presented annually to an Ottawa county resident for services in civic life.

MacLeod was instrumental in establishing the Jaycee Committee on Juvenile Problems, serving as chairman of the committee which spent many months consulting governmental and professional persons in the study. The study followed a format of what the real problems were in Holland, why they occur and what to do to combat them. In general, the committee learned that Holland is fortunate in having a fine group of teenagers but it cannot be denied that real problems are present, and people can no longer adopt an ostrich-like posture concerning these problems.

MacLeod, who is in insurance, has been active in Jaycee work and is a director of the Holland Economic Development Corp.

Blame Crash On Burned Brake Line

Two Students Admitted To Holland Hospital; Most Have Minor Hurts

A West Ottawa school bus carrying 58 persons to a track meet in East Grand Rapids collided with a car and overturned at the M-21, US-31 interchange east of Holland at 4:41 p.m. Tuesday after the brakes on the bus had failed. Two of the athletes were hospitalized.

Daniel Arizmendez and Forrest Hamilton, both 18, were reported in good condition at Holland Hospital today. Arizmendez received a possible concussion and Hamilton had possible internal injuries, hospital officials said.

Some 48 other persons were taken to Holland Hospital for treatment of less serious injuries. All 48 were released after treatment. Twelve of the injured were taken to the hospital by ambulance and the remainder were taken on another school bus.

The accident occurred when the bus, driven by Karl Von Ins, 27, of 519 Douglas Ave., West Ottawa teacher and assistant track coach, came off the southbound U.S.-31 exit ramp onto M-21 and was unable to stop.

The bus struck the right side of a car driven by Ronnie Jones, 20, of 265 East 11th St., headed west on M-21, and rolled over 1½ times, coming to rest on its right side. Jones was not injured.

Sheriff Bernard Gysen said two rubber straps holding the bus' exhaust pipe had broken, causing the hot pipe to come into contact with the hydraulic brake line leading to the rear wheels. It eventually burned through the brake line and caused the brakes to fail.

West Ottawa Superintendent of Schools Lloyd Van Raalte said the bus had recently undergone an extensive safety check. It had also been taken in for a safety check before Tuesday's trip to East Grand Rapids by the regular bus driver.

Van Raalte immediately ordered all of the schools buses checked after the accident. It was revealed that this was the only bus in which the brake line is directly under the exhaust pipe.

Von Ins has a chauffeur's license and has been driving teams to athletic events for five years, Van Raalte said.

Track coach Norman Bredeweg said careful packing of equipment helped to prevent more serious injury. Starting blocks and several 12-pound shots had been packed in bags under the rear seats of the bus to prevent their moving around. None of these heavy objects broke loose in the accident.

Both Von Ins and Bredeweg received minor injuries and were treated at Holland Hospital.

Sees Increase In Tourists

Michigan by all indications can look forward to a substantial increase in the number of tourists this summer Wesley Tebeau, chairman of the Michigan Tourist Council said Tuesday morning.

Tebeau told more than 70 persons at the Chamber of Commerce "early bird" breakfast in the Hotel Warm Friend that inquiries concerning travel in Michigan are up 40 per cent over last April.

Aurey D. Strohpaal, secretary-manager of the West Michigan Tourist Assn., who also spoke at the breakfast said inquiries about West Michigan resorts increased 51 per cent over 1964.

One of the big increases should be in foreign tourists, Tebeau said. Michigan hopes to get 100,000 foreigners to come here this year.

Tebeau said that Gov. George Romney and other leaders on the European tour worked hard to promote Michigan's tourist trade among the Europeans.

Tebeau pointed out, however, that the state must continue to work to increase its tourist trade. The Michigan Tourist Council has one of its largest budgets, $691,000 to promote tourism this year.

The council is advertising in major magazines, newspapers and radio stations, as well as providing information for articles on Michigan vacation spots.

Tebeau pointed to the many benefits of the tourist industry which last year totaled $814,000. The tourist industry brings in $59,000,000 in tax income to the state, he said, and also provides jobs for 125,000 persons.

The annual Sunday School teachers dinner of the Calvin Christian Reformed church will be held Friday evening in the church with Dr. D. L. Van Halstema as guest speaker.

FIRST VISAS SOLD — Carter Brown, the man who dreamed of bringing a Dutch windmill to Holland, smiles as he purchases the first "visa" to Windmill Island from Jerry Fairbanks, manager of the cultural development which opens this weekend for Holland area residents. Others lined

Windmill Island Officials Buy First 'Visas'

First "visas" to Windmill Island were sold today in City Hall by Jerry Fairbanks, manager of the cultural development which features Windmill De Zwaan, the 200-year-old windmill which was dismantled last year in Vinkel and brought to Holland, Mich. Windmill Island will be open for Holland area residents Saturday and Sunday.

The first "visa" went to Carter Brown of Castle Park, the man whose dream of an imported windmill for this city came true after three years of planning. The next went to Mayor Nelson Bosman and the third to Henry S. Maentz of the Windmill Committee.

Fourth ticket went to Willard C. Wichers of the Netherlands Information Service who served as coordinator of the entire project, financed through $450,000 in revenue bonds.

Wichers at first attempted to pay for his visa in Dutch guilders but came through with a $1 bill. City Manager Herb Holt stood by to witness these transactions.

Technically, the first "visa" went to Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands when he came to Holland April 10 to dedicate Windmill De Zwaan. But no tickets were printed at the time. The Prince paid 10 guilders for his admission.

Meanwhile, work continued at Windmill Island getting it ready for the opening this weekend for area residents. Paths leading to the mill and along the dikes are expected to be blacktopped. Fifteen picnic tables have been moved into the picknicking area, and more will be added later.

Jaap de Blecourt, the Dutch gardener who designed the tulip plantings on Windmill Island, said the tulips are slow but are coming along in fine shape. He denied rumors that the tulip bulbs had been eaten by muskrats or drowned out by high water. The late varieties are slow but are now an inch or more high, he said. As for the muskrat story, he said he had examined the entire area of 120 acres months ago and found no trace of muskrat houses, and finally saw his first muskrat three days ago.

Arie J. de Koning, the Dutch windmill expert who visited Holland in July of 1962 to survey sites for a windmill, will be here for the coming week, checking details and functions of Windmill De Zwaan.

DeKoning, noted Dutch architect and authority on windmills, is flying from London to Detroit, arriving at Detroit's Metropolitan airport Friday afternoon.

He will be met by Park Supt. Jacob De Graaf, Mrs. Willard C. Wichers and Mrs. Jan Medendorp, wife of the windmill expert who has been supervising the restoration of Windmill De Zwaan. De Koning will be a guest in the Wichers home. A public coffee in his honor will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in Hotel Warm Friend.

During his week's stay in Holland, de Koning will inspect Windmill De Zwaan, its construction and operations.

The pre-season opening at Windmill Island for Holland residents will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. and Sunday from 11:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Visas may be purchased in Hotel Warm Friend where free shuttle bus service is provided to Windmill Island. Persons taking their own cars may obtain their visas at the entrance at Lincoln Ave. and Seventh St.

The visas are a four-section ticket blue for adults at $1 and orange for children under 12 at 50 cents. One section is reserved for the miller's validating stamp at the windmill. Three-fourths of the ticket is retained by the buyer as a souvenir.

It was pointed out that a connection fee would be charged which would be equal to the assessment charge to the property if it had been in the corporate limits of the city and the board recommended installation under the same conditions as Taylor Produce Co.

Councilman Morris Peerbolt questioned hookup fees which led to considerable discussion on the need for consistency in the temporary services program. The matter was referred back to the Board of Public Works for further study with a request that another report be made at the next meeting.

Tax Rate Increased 62 Cents

City Council Wednesday night approved a record budget of $1,628,320.80 for 1965-66.

The tax rate will be $19.62 per $1,000 assessed valuation. An increase of 62 cents over the current year.

Also approved was a record hospital budget of $2,007,970. The Board of Public Works budget, also adopted, lists the following:

Electrical — $2,229,583, capital expenditure, $413,900; Water — $478,664, capital expenditure, $255,330; Sewer — $248,221, capital expenditures, $248,400.

The budgets include a 5 per cent across the board increase for all city employees effective July 1. This is the first pay adjustment in two years.

Final figures adopted Wednesday night listed a property tax levy of $923,998.43, broken down as follows: general, $723,384.79; library, $107,613; debt retirement, $93,000. Last year's total of $886,731.44 listed the following: general, $665,536.86; welfare, $1,850; library, $92,344.58; debt retirement, $97,000.

Welfare is eliminated from the city budget this year since this obligation is now carried on through counties.

Among the revenues in the new budget is an estimated $250,000 from the electric fund of the Board of Public Works, or one-half of the estimated light profits. Of this amount $175,000 will go into the general fund and $75,000 into capital outlay.

In another business, Council approved a recommendation of the Board of Public Works to provide water to H. E. Morse Co., Ottawa Beach Rd., which has stated its present supply provided by three shallow wells is inadequate and is of limited quality.

The BPW report pointed out that there is a connection on the 36-inch transmission line directly in front of the Morse property and is easily accessible and of sufficient quantity to serve the industry and could be connected immediately under the same conditions as Taylor Produce Co. The arrangement with the BPW will follow the same contractual form as others on the transmission line.

The BPW also reported on the feasibility of water and sewer service to the new R. E. Barber development at Eighth St. and Waverly Rd. The communication stated that water service is available at present but sewer service will not be available until the northeast interceptor is completed.

It was pointed out that a connection fee would be charged which would be equal to the assessment charge to the property if it had been in the corporate limits of the city and the board recommended installation under the same conditions as Taylor Produce Co.

Councilman Morris Peerbolt questioned hookup fees which led to considerable discussion on the need for consistency in the temporary services program. The matter was referred back to the Board of Public Works for further study with a request that another report be made at the next meeting.

Tulip Time Discussed By Council

Several subjects concerning Tulip Time occupied City Council at its hour-long meeting Wednesday night.

Council authorized the city clerk to file the necessary information with the U.S. Department of Agriculture in connection with federal rules and regulations on processing wheat.

Since processing wheat is a function of Windmill De Zwaan on Windmill Island, the necessary arrangements are being made to comply with all regulations. Sam Stephenson of the Department of Environmental Health has visited other mills in working out various procedures affecting both health and safety.

A letter from Dr. G. van Hall, burgemeester of Amsterdam, the Netherlands, congratulating the city on the dedication of Windmill De Zwaan, was placed on file.

Council okayed applications from Holland Tulip Time Festival Inc. for presenting the following Tulip Time entertainment: Interlochen Presents, May 12; Shrine Band, May 13; Tulip Time Varieties, Baton Twirling contest, and Band Festival, all May 15; Heritage of the Homeland, May 12 and 14; antique show and flower show, all four days.

The clerk presented an application to Michigan State Highway Department for a permit to close state trunklines for Tulip Time parades. The application itemized descriptions and schedules.

The Windmill Island Recreational Facilities Fund financial report as of April 16 revealed a balance on hand of $135,417.19. This listed total receipts of $464,371.61 and total disbursements of $328,954.42. The latter includes an item of $28,369.60 of capitalized interest covering 18 months, and a transfer of $20,000 to the operation and maintenance fund. Accrued interest received on unused funds amounted to $5,887.01.

Unemployment Payments Decreased in Holland

Payment of unemployment benefits in the Holland area for the first four months of 1965 was lower by some 47 per cent over the first four months of 1964.

Zane Cooper, manager of the Holland office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, said that jobless benefits for 1965 totaled $162,536 as compared to 1964's total of $308,975. Payments in April of 1965 amounted to $31,749 and $71,708 in April of 1964.

Cooper stated that as of April 15 only 214 men were registered for permanent full-time work. This number of male applicants has since been reduced resulting in difficulty in finding qualified workers for some specific job openings which require a degree of skill or experience.

The Little Netherlands, the miniature village within the enclosed wall at 13th St. and Central Ave. will open to the public Saturday, May 8, just a few days in advance of the Tulip Time festival May 12 to 15.

Many of the figures in the constantly growing exhibit of Lilliputian dimensions, are 30 years old. It was in 1935 that the display opened for the first time in Holland armory.

During this period, approximately a million persons have visited the exhibit which has proved interesting to visitors and townsfolk alike.

Each year sees major additions to the exhibit material. The newest feature is a scroll listing a dozen adages based on the Dutch use of wooden shoes. The scroll will become part of the carver's stall in which are displayed the original carving tools brought over from the Netherlands by the late Arend Bosman, father of Mayor Nelson Bosman.

More gem rocks and minerals will be added to the present collection of over 1,000 pieces.

The Dutch fishing villages have been augmented and action figures added.

Old time houses, operating windmills, moving lift bridges are all a part of this fascinating exhibit, all designed to scale.

The first ticket of the year goes to James Michelsen, 88, a frequent visitor who also helped build the dike along the Zuider Zee in the miniature reproduction.

HAPPY MOMENT — Ethel Waters (left) who was in Holland last weekend for the Fine Arts Festival at Hope College exudes laughter and charm as she chats with President and Mrs. Calvin Vander Werf in their home on Hope Campus. Miss Waters arrived by plane in Grand Rapids Friday afternoon and talked about her new career in working for the Lord at a press conference.

Ethel Waters Exudes Genuine Friendliness

The genuine friendliness of Ethel Waters is the first thing that shows through on meeting this remarkable woman.

And the next thing that comes to the fore is her positive approach to life, and her complete dependence on her Maker whom she regards as her "booking agent."

"My health hasn't been too good, and if I'm booked for some appearance whether a Billy Graham Crusade or a simple song fest, He is the one who decides whether I'll do it. I just don't worry about it," she said.

Miss Waters was in Holland heading a group of Negro artists for the Hope College Fine Arts Festival last weekend.

She spoke of her 50 years in show business, displaying no regret at leaving the top and settling down to what the Lord would have her do. It was in the mid-50's when she was taken seriously ill and spent 23 days in the hospital.

"Honey, I weighed 375 pounds at that time and I could hardly breathe. It was faith and prayer that pulled me through, and the Lord took over my life. I lost 165 pounds and I need His guidance today, health-wise and in service. I have no regrets over the old life. I am not physically able nor spiritually inclined to resume those ways."

Miss Waters started her professional career back in the days of World War I, a 17-year-old girl who passed for 21. In those early days, she performed in "colored houses" which were mostly store front theatres, and her "act" was accompanied by piano and drums. Later she advanced to a "single act" to "white houses" and became a headliner. As a vaudeville performer, she sang with house orchestras, long before the day of "name bands" and her career took her into just about every field of the arts, covering the spectrum from vaudeville, radio, stage, screen and television.

It was in 1950 that she starred on Broadway in "Member of the Wedding" playing with Julie Harris and Brandon De Wilde. Later this trio made the film which is being shown this afternoon as part of the Fine Arts Festival on campus.

As for keeping up with Julie and Brandon, "Oh my, yes, indeed I do. They both call me Mom. So does Carol Channing. It's hard for me to get around and we do a good deal of visiting on telephone. The curtain never goes down with me, and I have lots of beautiful, lasting friendships with the people I've worked with," Miss Waters said.

She spoke with affection of Dick Bolks of Kalamazoo, now on the west coast, who serves as her accompanist at most of her west coast appearances. She said Dick asked to be remembered to his many friends at Hope College. "Dick didn't attend Hope, but he knows so many people here he feels it is his second alma mater," she said. Dick was her accompanist at the time she was forced to cancel an appearance in Holland Civic Center in 1961 because of illness. She appeared in Kalamazoo the following summer.

Miss Waters pioneered the first television season of the "Beulah" show back in the 1950's but she was not happy with the role. "They had Beulah appear ridiculous and that wasn't the role for me. I may not be brilliant, but I'm not stupid!"

She spoke of appearing in a pilot film with Ed Wynn. "I enjoyed that work. It was a wholesome situation and I could do that role without compromise."

ing any principles. Whether it ever will appear on tv or become a series, I don't know. That's all in the future."

Miss Waters has received many honorary degrees from colleges and universities. "I don't like to talk too much about them . . . it sounds like I'm bragging, but people have been most sincerely kind to me, and I am grateful for their love and respect."

Record Budget for 1966 Allegan Board Prepares

ALLEGAN — The Allegan County Board of Supervisors, at week's end, wound up a long April session in a last minute flurry on committee reports.

The 1965 county tax base was set at a record $181,081,032 — up almost $5 million over last year. Townships were equalized at $131,515,356 or about 73 per cent of the total; Allegan, Fennville, Holland, Otsego and Plainwell cities at $49,565,676, or 27.37 per cent.

Prior to the 26-8 vote approving the Equalization Committee report, Plainwell Supervisor, Carl Arenhoevel, charged chairman M. C. Klintworth, Otsego, with "consistently discouraging new county industry by placing companies on assessment rolls before plants are even in production or have the necessary machinery set up to begin operation." The three Plainwell supervisors — Arenhoevel, Frank Miller and Chris Hansen cast negative votes on the report.

The preliminary 1966 budget — inching closer to the million dollar mark — won't be up for final approval until October. It presently calls for total county expenditures of $970,159.74.

Ticket Driver in Crash

Holland police issued a ticket to William E. Gerritsen, 20, of 509 Washington Ave., for failing to yield the right of way following a two-car crash at the intersection of 16th St. and Harrison Ave. at 6:42 a.m. Saturday. Police said the Gerritsen auto collided with a car driven by Chester D. Kronmeyer, 53, of Hudsonville.

County operating requirements, including net general fund departmental expenditures, were estimated at $895,159.78. Anticipated county road allocations are close to $75,000.

In preparing the preliminary report, the finance committee noted it took into consideration the fact that some counties are asking for maximum school benefits even though "they know they aren't eligible." Philip Quade, Saugatuck supervisor, and finance committee chairman said "We are asking only for what we need."

Quade also reported allowance was made in the budget for Michigan Municipal League recommendations of 2½ per cent county employ salary increases and fringe benefits, even though the League survey has not yet been approved by the board.

In further business, the board granted "a sum not to exceed $500" for construction of a photography enclosure and additional counter space at the county jail to accommodate new state licensing equipment. Request by Sheriff Robert Whitcomb for a second driver licensing clerk, was referred to the salaries committee.

The board also named Bernard Miller, Monterey; Philip Quade, Saugatuck; and Richard Wood, Otsego, as members of the new Special Parks Study Committee to work in cooperation with the county Road Commission.

Accepted, was the low bid of the Plainwell Enterprise for publication of the board's monthly proceedings and preparation of bound copies at year's end. The Enterprise quoted 45 cents per column inch and 90 cents per page for the book. Included in the motion to accept the bid was the specification that minutes must be publicized no less than 30 days after each board session.

The jail committee was voted $1540 for purchase of water safety equipment to be used by Saugatuck and Allegan — based deputies. Needed are uniforms, manual resuscitators, a boat, motor and radio.

The matter of a county-wide zoning ordinance was brought before the board and prompted comments by several supervisors. Carl Strand, Watson, said he "would like to see such an ordinance passed — made flexible enough so that townships could beef it up according to their own problems." Alger Workman, Allegan, charged that neighboring counties "are using Allegan for a dumping ground of undesirables. Our relief cases are made up of many of these rejects from other counties. We need this ordinance to keep this element from growing in Allegan County" he added.

It was generally agreed by the board that a zoning ordinance would have to be combined with an effective building code. Voting on the question was tabled until May.

At the close of the meeting a moment of silence was observed in respect to the memory of former supervisor George Schutmaat, Heath township, whose death occurred recently.

The Results of Disobedience
I Samuel 18:5-16
By C. P. Dame

There is much disobedience in our world. Children disobey parents, citizens disobey the laws of the land, adults and young people, men and women, disobey God's laws. Disobedience has its results—this fact is worth remembering.

I. Some win popularity while others lose it God had rejected Saul as king and selected another to succeed him. Under God's orders Samuel the prophet anointed David to become the king. In the first part of chapter 18 of I Samuel, it is recorded how Jonathan and David became fast friends, after David had slain Goliath. This made David a national hero overnight. Saul set David "over the men of war" and this "was good in the sight of all the people and also in the sight of Saul's servants."

There was a constant war between Israel and the Philistines. When Israel's soldiers returned from "slaying the Philistines the women came out of all the cities of Israel, singing and dancing to meet King Saul, with timbrels, with songs of joy, and with instruments of music." They were glad their own men had returned safely. They sang, "Saul has slain his thousands," and David his ten thousands. It did not come to their minds that the slain men had wives and mothers. War makes much sorrow.

II. Jealousy hurts. The singing of the women made Saul angry since the women ascribed ten thousands to David and to him but thousands. There are two kinds of anger—the righteous and the sinful. Most of us get angry in the wrong way. Anger does much damage to hearts and homes. We should not let the sun go down upon our anger says Paul. "And Saul eyed David from that day and forward" and he allowed himself to first become angry and then jealous. One sin leads to another.

On the very day the women sang jealousy crept into the heart of Saul. One day may bring joy, one day may also bring sorrow, one day may be the beginning of a great change in life, it may also mark the beginning of a sin. One day Saul tried to kill David, because he was jealous. There is much jealousy in life in the business world, in the realm of politics, among professional people and sometimes in families. It takes grace to overcome this sin which mars life and makes people miserable.

III. Wise behaviour pays. Saul's soul deteriorated but David grew. We reap what we sow. The jealous person sows and reaps. David was led by God's Spirit and "behaved himself wisely." "When we permit the Spirit of God to lead us we can be sure of the fact that He will teach us to do the wise thing. Saul was afraid of David because of his jealousy, on the other hand David grew in stature and in the affection of the nation.

Today there are too many people who do not behave themselves wisely since they are governed by self - will. When young people at midnight speed on our highways and get involved in an accident they act foolishly, on the other hand when young people do the right, obey the laws of the state and of God and seek the guidance of God's Spirit they will act wisely. Obedience has consequences and so has disobedience.

ECONOMICS IN SOVIET RUSSIA

The Office of Education of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has prepared a bulletin which contains some important observations for those in the U.S. who determine curricula policy in our educational system.

Economics is deemed of such importance in Russia that the economics faculty at Moscow State University alone consists of over 60 members. The reason for this is because economics is a required course for all students, regardless of their fields of specialization in all Russian universities and institutes. Economic academicians are among the upper 5 per cent in regards to both salary and prestige.

In America, our affluence has anesthetized us to the fact that for two-thirds of the world's population the most pressing problems are economic problems. While the students of our universities are preoccupied with imagined problems that are ridiculously infantile by comparison to the real problems of starvation and conflict in the underdeveloped nations of the world, the Russian students are exploring the means of solving these world-wide challenges we understand.

Arnold Toynbee predicted that in the great struggle between Communism and the Western world the winner would be that ideology which provided the highest level of economic well-being within a framework of individual freedom and light. The free-enterprise system has accomplished this for many nations in the Western world. If this ideology is to be of any help to the rest of the world we must develop a much higher level of economic literacy than is possible under our present educational philosophy. We can learn something from the Russians in this respect.

Hope's Fine Arts Festival Attracts Large Crowds

Approximately 3,300 persons attended various programs in connection with Hope College's Fine Arts Festival during the weekend, causing leaders to describe it as one of the most successful and most stimulating events of its kind on the local campus. The theme was "The Negro and American Culture."

Events started Friday night with a full house attending the lecture of Gwendolyn Brooks, Pulitzer prize winning poet, in the dining room of Phelps Hall. About 200 were present for the opening of art exhibit in Van Zoeren Library Saturday morning featuring the works of African Negroes, and callers continued to drop in for the remainder of the day.

A panel discussion in Snow Auditorium Saturday afternoon attracted a full house, and a particularly stimulating discussion on the festival theme. Appearing were Ethel Waters, Ulysses Kay, Kelly Williams and Damon White. Damon White who presented an epilogue on Negro culture said the interest and atmosphere shown in the festival was just about the finest he had experienced anywhere in the country.

Standing room only crowds were at both films, "The Quiet One," in Carley Room of Van Zoeren Library, and "Member of the Wedding" in Snow Auditorium.

Close to 1,000 persons attended the concert of Ethel Waters Saturday night in Dinnent Memorial Chapel, the highlight of the festival.

Warm Weather Finally Arrives

Summery weather finally came to Holland for the weekend, and spring burst in all her glory.

Emperor tulips and other early varieties, daffodils, forsythia and even the lowly dandelion burst into bloom, dispelling fears that spring was bypassing Michigan. Lawns turned green and trees showed that first greenish film of spring.

The weather was heartening to Tulip Time leaders as plans progressed for the festival which opens in nine days on Wednesday, May 12.

Windmill leaders were equally happy over the weather since there's plenty of work to be done before Windmill Island opens to Holland visitors next Saturday and Sunday, May 8 and 9. Paths and dikes will be blacktopped and finishing touches to the posthouse call for installing snack machines and other services.

Thousands of persons visited the development during the weekend, going as far as the large parking area but not admitted to the island. Barricades were up on the drawbridge over the canal which admits people to the island.

Police officers on duty estimated 600 cars an hour during the peak of afternoon visiting Sunday. There is 24-hour police security on the island.

Windmill Island Manager

Jerry Fairbanks has arranged for free bus shuttle service from Hotel Warm Friend to Windmill Island next weekend. This way, people may purchase Windmill Island "visas" in the hotel, and board a bus to the island and return without taking cars.

EARLY FINISHED — This replica of a 17th century Dutch drawbridge is rapidly nearing completion at Windmill Island. A second set of overhead balance timbers will be put in place this week, similar to the set seen here over half of the bridge. The drawbridge, copied after one in the open air museum in Arnhem, is 10 feet wide and has a 20-foot approach. Windmill De Zwaan, the 200-year-old windmill imported here last fall from Vinkel, is shown in the background.

Island Will Open May 8 For Holland Residents

Windmill Island will be open this weekend for Holland area residents.

This will give residents a chance to see Windmill De Zwaan at close range before the hustle and bustle of the Tulip Time festival which opens Wednesday, May 12.

The cultural development will open at 9 a.m. Saturday, May 8, and last people admitted that day will be 7 p.m. to insure visitors adequate time to see the mill and other developments before dark. Hours on Sunday will be 11:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Admission for the Holland weekend as well as the rest of the season will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12 years old.

The entrance "visas" are obtained at the toll booth at the entrance at Lincoln Ave. and Seventh St. (or at the Hotel Warm Friend) and this "visa" may be stamped by the miller at the windmill.

Jan (Dick) Medendorp of Zuidlaren, the Netherlands, who supervised the restoration of the 200-year-old mill, will be serving as miller.

Tickets will go on sale at both the Lincoln Ave. toll house and at a special booth in the hotel at 9 a.m. May 8.

Windmill Island Director Jerry Fairbanks has arranged a free shuttle bus service from the hotel for the convenience of those persons without car transportation or for those who prefer not to drive their cars.

This program allows persons to buy their "visas" in the lobby of the hotel and board the bus which has been assigned to this single duty all weekend. Should this program work out, similar service will be offered all season.

Meanwhile, finishing touches are being made on Windmill Island. Milling operations at Windmill De Zwaan will start this week, and bagged graham (whole wheat) flour at a cost of two pounds for 50 cents will be available to visitors on the weekend.

The windmill will operate limited periods during the weekend. No visitors will be allowed in the grinding room, but they will be allowed in the bagging room and on the gallery. Girls in Dutch costume will carry the bagged flour from the windmill to the posthouse.

The drawbridge, copied from one in the open air museum at Arnhem will be ready. Flags of the 11 provinces of the Netherlands will line the path from the posthouse to the bridge. This walk as well as those on the dikes are expected to be black-topped before the opening.

Music will be piped over the public address system. Canteen machines in the posthouse will be operating for the weekend.

On the bags of De Zwaan ground flour will be four or five recipes using this type of flour which were researched and tested by the Junior Welfare League which last year produced the Dutch cookbook "Eet Snake-lijk." One of the recipes will be for a new De Zwaan cookie.

Holland's late spring has slowed progress of tulips, but the layout of the fine tulip gardens designed by the Dutch gardener, Jaap de Blecourt, will be clearly seen from the gallery of the windmill.

The toll booth for passenger cars is being placed just south of the railroad tracks at the vicinity of Lincoln Ave. and Seventh St.

After the Holland area weekend, Windmill Island will open Monday, May 10, on regular schedule and continue operations until well into autumn.

Sand Removal Is Big Job At State Park

Sand removal is the big problem at Holland State Park according to new State Park Manager Donald Ike. Ike and three other men are operating three state-owned bulldozers in pushing the sand off the roads and walks at the park before the heavy Tulip Time weekend.

Ike said the sand carried up from the lake by the rough waters in the fall is three feet deep in some places, has covered the majority of roads and buried several camp stoves and the restroom building at the north camping grounds.

Ike is assisted in the operation by Gordon Archer, newly-appointed assistant state park manager; Clarence Vande Water, year-around employee, and Marvin Armstrong, a seasonal employee.

The sand removal operations have been going on for the past three weeks and are expected to be completed in time for Tulip Time flow of campers. Last year, Ike reported, 400 trailer permits were issued.

Still to be removed are the three rows of snow fence extending 1,500 feet each. Following their removal, the sand will be smoothed over and spread out.

The playground equipment is set up; however, it is not painted, nor are the cooking stoves which must withstand the winter winds and weather. They are scheduled to be painted this spring.

The picnic tables and benches have been set out. They were checked over, washed, varnished and repaired before being stored last fall.

Ike was assigned to the local state park after serving in the Rochester-Utica area. He has been with the Conservation Department for 11 years having started in Grand Haven.

Archer was graduated from Michigan State University in March and began working here April 1. Vande Water is in charge of camping and maintenance at the park. He is a full-time employee having started in 1963 as a clerk.

A full staff of 18 members is expected in June according to Ike. Ike commented it is difficult to staff the parks because the Civil Service examination has become more technical than in the past years. He said the part-time employees, usually school teachers or college students, are not available for work until after June.

Motor vehicle permits are being sold by the concessionaire, Edward Ellis Jr., rather than by State Park personnel. The annual permits cost $2.15 and the daily permits may be obtained for 60 cents.

Chapel Filled For Program On Holland

Dimnent Memorial Chapel was filled Friday night for the first public showing of Robert Brouwer's pictures on The Netherlands, sponsored by the Netherlands Information Service and the Dutch Immigrant Society of Grand Rapids, coinciding with the birthday of Queen Juliana of the Netherlands.

Brouwer's pictures are in the form of triple slides shown on three screens with a sound track mostly of classical music, some narration, folk songs and sound effects. Operating with controlled light and stereophonic sound, the colorful scenes shifted from one screen to three screens with much the result of a Cinemascope production.

Besides the familiar scenes of Dutch landscape, canals, tulips, windmills, dikes and picturesque architecture, the Grand Rapids photographer shows scenes from Madurodam, the miniature village; the open air museum at Arnhem showing the drawbridge after which the bridge at Windmill Island is patterned; the Rijksmuseum with its priceless treasure including scenes of Rembrandt's "The Night Watch"; the resort area at Scheveningen; impressive Memorial Day ceremonies at Maastricht, and remarkable night scenes.

The films closed on a religious theme of churches and mountains in Austria, accompanied by the closing chorus of Beethoven's 9th Symphony.

Man Instructs Malaysians In Radio-Television Repair

ZEELAND — Television and radio are spreading throughout the world, and John Jellema of 297 South Wall St., helped in the process during 2½ years with the Peace Corps in Malaysia.

Jellema who recently returned to Zeeland set up the first radio and television repair school in Malaysia, and taught there during his term as a volunteer.

Television has shown a tremendous growth in popularity since it first came to Malaysia in Dec., 1963. Malaysia, a new nation made up of former British colonies in Southeast Asia, stretches from the Malay Peninsula to the island of Borneo. Nearly half of the 10,000,000 population should be able to afford tv eventually. Jellema added, because the country has the second highest standard of living in Asia.

Jellema taught at a secondary trade school in Ipoh, a city of 130,000 persons located 400 miles north of Singapore. Fifteen students were enrolled in the course at one time, and they studied for three years.

The trade school also taught carpentry, electrical wiring, auto repair and mechanical training.

Jellema found the job of setting up the first tv repair school quite challenging, but the students learned quite fast.

The trade school is for students about the age of senior high students, Jellema said. In the Malaysian educational system they are given a week-long comprehensive exam. The exam separates students that will go on to higher education, and those that will go into trade schools.

Jellema learned about radio through operating his own radio set, and by working part-time at a tv-radio repair shop in Zeeland. He graduated from Calvin College with a B. A. in mathematics, and studied electrical engineering at the University of Michigan.

While at the University, he first became interested in the Peace Corps when he heard John F. Kennedy, then a candidate for president, outline plans for the organization.

Jellema is a naturalized citizen born 27 years ago in Leuwarden, Netherlands. He came with his parents to Zeeland in 1948.

He had a lot of contact with foreigners while at the University of Michigan as he ate meals at the Friends International Co-Op, a boarding house with one-third international students.

The 380 volunteers who went to Malaysia received three months training at Northern Illinois University in De Kalb, Ill. The training served both as an education about the country, and as a screening process. About 20 per cent of the prospective volunteers are rejected during the training program.

Although he taught class in English, Jellema found the intensive training in the Malay language very useful. He spoke it much of the time when he was outside of the classroom. Volunteers studied the language two hours each day six days per week during the training session.

"Getting adjusted in a foreign country isn't too difficult," Jellema said, "as long as you get used to one thing. You have to adapt to their way of life, and not expect them to live the way we do in America."

Food and climate were two of the different things in Malaysia. It's 95 degrees in the shade during the day, and 80 degrees at night, Jellema said. The humidity is about 80 per cent.

He ate foods of the different nationalities in Malaysia. One day he might have Malaysian cooking, another day Chinese food and an Indian dinner on a third day.

Two of the new dishes he encountered were a soup made of pig's blood and flour, and octopus or squid with chili sauce.

In many ways Malaysia is quite "westernized," Jellema said. They dress like Westerners, listen to rock n' roll and want many of the consumer goods that Americans have.

The television sets are bought on an installment basis.

Things may move a little slower in Asia, but they don't move as slowly as you might think, he said.

Jellema was the only Peace Corps volunteer at the school, and one of four in Ipoh. Most of the friends he made were Malaysians, but he also got to know persons in Burma, Thailand, and other countries as a ham radio operator.

After he completed his work, Jellema spent three months travelling through Asia. He often stayed at the homes of friends he had made over the air.

Unlike some former Peace Corps volunteers Jellema hasn't had too much trouble readjusting to American life. He plans to go back to college this fall, and eventually teach physics or math.

Jellema concluded that the thing he liked most about the Peace Corps was the sense of accomplishing something. It's not like a career success, he said, because you can only make a start in the two-year period.

He added, however, that another Peace Corps volunteer began teaching at the radio school in February, and after he finishes there should be enough qualified Malaysians to teach the course.

The Church Extension Committee of the Zeeland Classis of the Reformed Church in America has extended a call to the Rev. John H. Rozendaal to become the Classis pastor to the deaf.

That is what took place Saturday afternoon as Paul Wabekes is shown here placing the tree with the help of children from the community of Graafschap. Although Arbor Day was celebrated on Friday in some areas the Graafschap residents observed the event with a party on Saturday given by the

Paul Wabekes at their factory site in the small village. The brief program included the singing of "America the Beautiful," remarks by the Rev. Gerrit Rientjes, pastor of Graafschap Christian Reformed Church, a poem, "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer and the singing of "God Bless America." Refreshments were served. (Sentinel photo) and Hope, for example, are respected and better known throughout the country than many of the more recently founded large state universities.

Most of us are aware of the changing educational scene in this country, but we must at this time begin to consider the possible effect on Hope College and particularly our answer to the impending problem.

In my opinion the answer is in our continued and unceasing pursuit of excellence and in the increase of support from those associated and concerned with Hope's future. The good name of the college, its solid tradition, its basic institutional ideals and aims, the rapport between administration, faculty and students, the location and controlled size of the college, all of these are the strengths of Hope College.

Newly formed state schools usually have problems in all these facets. Our main weakness, curiously enough, is the state school's main strength: financial support.

All of us, faculty members, students, alumni, Reformed Church, and community members have a responsibility toward the future of Hope. We must not stand back and causally watch the college administration and trustees try to work with the problems only on the administrative level.

In the long run, the quality of any school is reflected in the performance of its faculty, students, and alumni, and not only on the promotional efforts of the administration and the Public Relations office.

So, in a sense, the professors at Hope have the greatest responsibility. Not only must they guide their students in the pursuit of knowledge and the acquisition of a fine sense of values, but they must also be willing to become examples of the very type of individual that a good liberal arts education is supposed to produce.

The alumni of Hope must come alive to the needs of their alma mater. Not only does the school reflect its alumni and their giving, but the graduates themselves stand to gain from the reputation for their own alma mater. The same applies to the church, I feel. The Reformed Church in America must become increasingly aware of its responsibility to Hope.

Finally, Hope College is an extremely valuable asset to the community of Holland, both culturally and financially. There many concerts and recitals, lectures, art exhibits and dramatic productions are always open to the people of Holland, normally without any admission charge. Speaking for the Music Department, we are always pleased to see people from the community attending our concerts and recitals.

In conclusion: the Hope College administration and faculty must have the enthusiastic support of its alumni, the church, and the people in the city of Holland if it is going to maintain its standard of excellence in the challenging years to come.

Vocational-Technical Study Planned by Area Schools

The school districts of Ottawa County, in addition to Saugatuck and Hamilton, are embarking on the biggest cooperative study ever attempted by the schools in this area. An attempt will be made to determine what future vocational-technical training programs and facilities will be needed to meet the needs of our boys and girls.

The study will cover an area with an estimated population of 107,000 people and a school population, K - 12 grades, of 35,000 students. The State Equalized Valuation of the cooperating school districts totals $371,063,375.

This is one of 22 area studies that have been approved in Michigan by the Department of Public Instruction. The Ottawa Area Intermediate School District Board is serving as the educational agency for the study with Superintendent Jennie Kaufman serving as secretary to the steering committee. The steering committee is composed of the Superintendents of all of the cooperating school districts in addition to Saugatuck and Hamilton.

The cost of the survey is financed on a matching fund basis with the Department of Public Instruction paying one-half and the other half being carried by the participating school districts on a per capita basis.

The co-directors of the study are Don Gebraad, vocational director, Holland High School, and Gene Roth, coordinator of guidance and counseling, Grand Haven School District. Gordon Johnson, associate professor, Western Michigan University, is serving as project consultant.

There will be several committees, made up of members from all parts of the county, to interpret, analyze and summarize the findings of the various supposed to produce.

The alumni of Hope must come alive to the needs of their alma mater. Not only does the school reflect its alumni and their giving, but the graduates themselves stand to gain from the reputation for their own alma mater. The same applies to the church, I feel. The Reformed Church in America must become increasingly aware of its responsibility to Hope.

Basic areas to be explored are labor market needs, including skills and training. What facilities and opportunities are needed to upgrade those already employed? What areas of present school programs should be strengthened? What facilities and training programs should we have to meet the needs of girls? What facilities do we presently have that are not being used to capacity by our schools? How many students go on to institutions of higher learning and how many are in need of vocational-technical training? What kind of training, facilities, and opportunities should be provided for handicapped children? If the study should point to the need for a training facility, where would it be located?

CAUSE OF CRASH — Unidentified men look at the cause of the brake failure which resulted in the West Ottawa school bus accident late Tuesday afternoon which sent 50 members of the West Ottawa track team to Holland Hospital. Brackets holding the exhaust pipe broke, causing the hot pipe to rest against the brake line to the rear wheels of the bus. The exhaust pipe burned a hole in the brake line, causing break failure as the bus came down the southbound US-31 exit ramp to M-21 where it struck a car and overturned. (Sentinel photo)

Coast Guard To Transfer Local Chief

Chief Boatwain's Mate Paul Divida of the local U.S. Coast Guard station has received word of his transfer to the East Coast.

Divida who has been at the local station for the past five years is expecting to leave the local station around May 15. He is scheduled to report for new duty assignment June 1. No replacement has been named to date.

The local station is operated by a four-man skeleton crew during the winter months. In the summer, the crew is increased to eight men.

In addition to the primary search and rescue duties, the Coast Guardsmen are also involved with law enforcement, maintenance of the machinery, boats and buildings. They also care for the boys in Lake Macatawa which are scheduled to be placed in the water by the Coast Guard cutter Woodbine today.

The two boats at the local station were launched two weeks ago. There is a 30-foot utility boat or general purpose boat and a 36-foot motor life boat.

The larger boat is used for rescue work in rough waters. While the motor life boat is a slower boat, it is capable of rolling with the waves and turning itself upright if overturned.

This boat is also divided into four air-water tight compartments which can be sealed off if damaged and the boat will "always return" according to Divida. The boat is also excellent for navigating in shallow waters.

The U.S. Coast Guard also assists in the boat inspections. Divida said a new inspection policy is in effect this year. It is more of a patrol type where only the obvious violators will be stopped by the Coast Guard.

West Ottawa Athletes Feted

Personable Chalmers (Bump) Elliott, Michigan football coach, challenged West Ottawa High School athletes to accept responsibility Monday night at the third annual all-sports banquet in the West Ottawa Cafetorium.

Elliott told the 398 persons attending, including members of all of West Ottawa's athletic teams and their parents, that athletes must accept the responsibility to "live off the field like on the field."

"Youngsters look up to you and you must not let them or your parents or teammates down," Elliott said. "Make sure you know your responsibility on an athletic team," Elliott concluded.

Commenting on Michigan's 1964 season, Elliott felt his team had a "great belief that they could win." Illustrating the point, he said the only words said after the loss to Purdue were "we'll play Ohio State for the championship."

Elliott lauded senior Ben Farabee of Holland, who accompanied him to the dinner "as an outstanding young man." He complimented Farabee's blocking and his great desire and overall desire of the Wolverines.

"They were the closest group of men I've ever seen," Elliott said. Elliott told of the team's mental attitude and how hitting a sign "Go Blue Go" stimulated them each game. "We even took that sign to California with us," Elliott said.

Farabee spoke about the team's competitive spirit and the friendships he had made playing football three years at Michigan. He praised "the ter-speed, reckless operating and equipment violations.

Divida added periodic checks will still be made but the "mass boardings" type inspection used last year will not be prominent.

rific coaching staff." Farabee plans to do graduate work in personnel.

Head coaches Ron Wetherbee, Jack Bonham, Henry Reest, Doug Waldron, Norm Bredeberg, Tim Farmer and Herb Maatman introduced their teams. Assistant coaches Norm Boeve, Karl Von Ins, Vern Ingalsbee, Doug Murdoch and Karl Essenburg were introduced.

Senior Dave Farabee was announced as the winner of the West Ottawa Boosters Club Scholastic - Athletic award. George Kinderman of the Boosters Club made the presentation.

Farabee, who carries a B average, will attend Michigan and plans to play freshman football. Farabee won nine letters at West Ottawa.

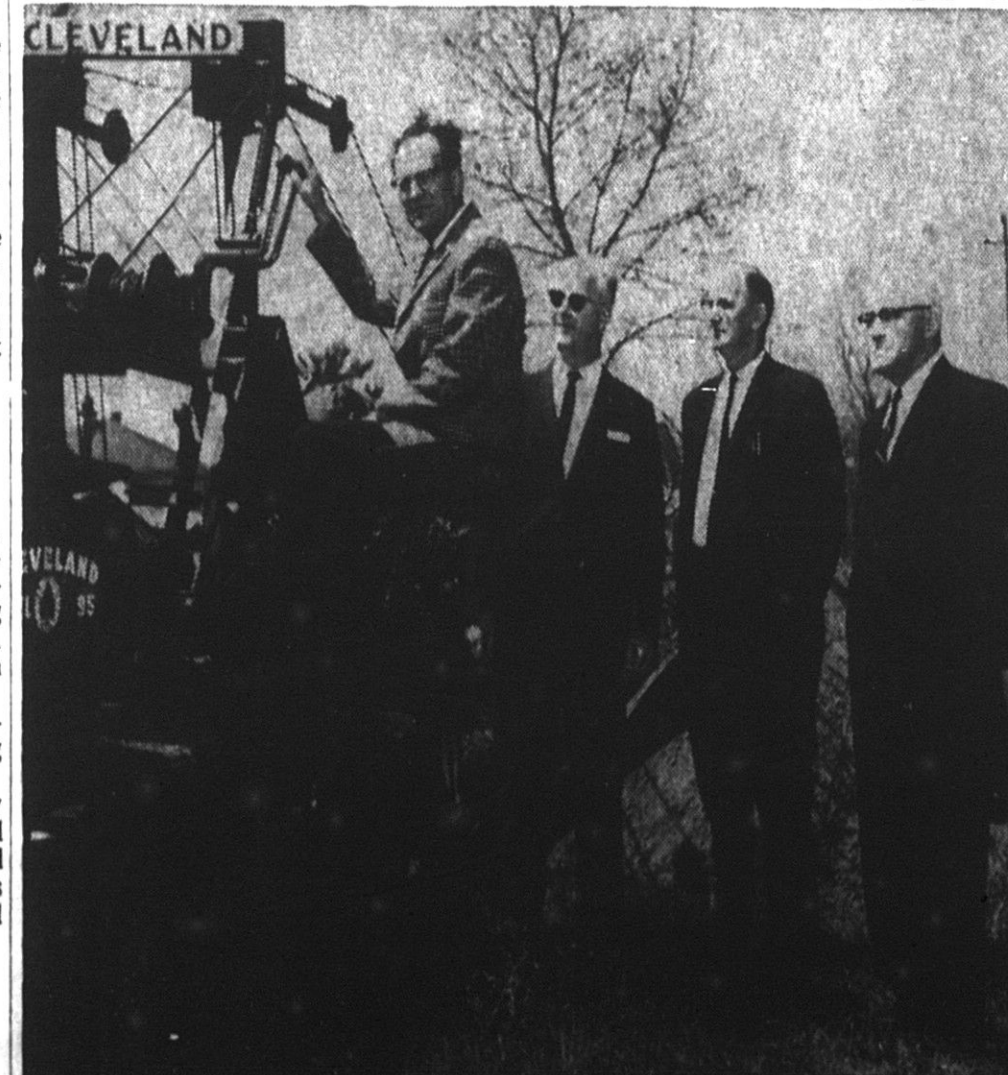

Athletic director Maatman presided and announced West Ottawa will have wrestling next year. Reest announced Rex Smith and Tom Nienhuis will be co-captains of the 1965-66 defending state swimming championships.

Cheerleaders and senior members of the synchronized swimming team were introduced along with Miss Mary Kriger, director.

Films of the Rose Bowl game were shown and narrated by Elliott. The Rev. Burchard G. Ham of the First Baptist Church gave the invocation.

Watching as Brower kicks off the project at Beeline Rd. and James St. Monday are (left to right) Willis Walling, township board member; Charles Madison, area chief of the Michigan Gas and Electric Company and Maurice Vander Haar, also of the Holland

Township Board. The project calls for laying six-inch main on 120th Ave., from the C and O tracks, north to James St., and four-inch main on James St. from 120th Ave. to Beeline Rd. Escapes Injury When Brakes Fail

Quick thinking and a bit of good driving helped Michael Onk, 17, of 55 East 17 St., avoid what could have been a serious accident late Monday afternoon.

At 5:40 p.m. Onk pulled into a service station at Seventh St. and River Ave. and discovered that the brakes of his car were not working.

Onk steered the car down the east sidewalk along River Ave. and managed to miss everything but the rear of a car at the intersection of Eighth St. and River Ave. His auto continued across Eighth St. and finally stopped under an awning at the J.C. Penney Co.

Only minor damage was done to Onk's car and the other auto involved in the mishap, driven by William Bos, 77, of route 2, Zeeland. Holland police gave Onk tickets for defective brakes and disobeying a traffic light.
