Byker, De Stigter, Fredricks in Zeeland

'Eggs, Issues' Attracts Crowd

ZEELAND — It was more than eggs at the annual "Eggs and Issues" breakfast of the Zeeland Chamber of Commerce which attracted a full house at Bosch's restaurant Monday.

And the issues were mostly a matter of Michigan finances, an attempt to hold the line on spending and the economic situation, as State Sen. Gary Byker and Reps. Melvin De Stigter and Ed Fredricks answered question on the state of the Michigan legislature.

Frustrations experienced by the legislators were evident on the part of all three men, particularly in holding down taxes while being subjected to all the pressures of more and expanded programs in the state.

De Stigter said Gov. Milliken's tight budget was a great accomplishment in itself, but already five budget bills have been introduced calling for an additional $200 million, and these are on top of other bills which would increase income tax and other taxes. The toughest problem, he said, is meeting the needs of education.

Byker said so long as bureaucracy is nurtured by both Congress and the legislature, it is most difficult to hold down spending, and he mentioned a new breed interested not in the money but in the glamour of politics. He emphasized the need for a healthy economy for without it, everybody suffers. Yet he was cognizant of the huge impact voters hold on government in view of the fact there are 132,000 employers to 4 million employees.

Fredricks, now in his second year in the legislature, said he is learning a great deal of the problems of a democratic system and that he is not optimistic but feels there are some good trends. He said pressures brought to bear on government issues are far more visible to the legislators than to the public.

He felt the only way to control government is to put a cap on government income because governments will spend every penny they can get.

On the single business tax, De Stigter said there has not been a good overview of the changed picture as yet, and the new program needs some good hard looks. Some communities (including Zeeland) have been hit disproportionately hard.

Fredricks spoke of the disillusionment in government by many of the people, with frustration leading to voting down school millage and other local improvements.

Byker spoke of the enormous power of the courts with judges not subject to recall and exercising a strangle hold on legislation. He also said the 8.3 per cent ceiling on budget does not mean an 8.3 per cent ceiling on income tax, only a ceiling on how much the state government may spend. He said 596,000 persons in Michigan are on the public payrolls, all the way from legislators and governor down to local government and schools.

There was an indication schools would not suffer from the Single Business tax since it is promised 106 per cent of last year's amounts, but reduced census could affect the amount. Many of the questions involved providing a business climate for Michigan so that more business can be attracted here. This should involve lower taxes, but Fredricks said sometimes it's like putting out the salt lick for the deer and then shooting the deer when it comes.

Zeeland Dairy Farm Quarantined

A state veterinarian has quarantined two western Michigan dairy farms where high levels of PBB were recently discovered in milk.

Duane Deming, a veterinarian with the state Department of Agriculture, said the A & R Farms in Fremont and the Arin Meekhoff farm in Zeeland were quarantined after PBB milk in a dairy bulk tank was traced back to them.

Deming said in both cases, the milk came from cows purchased from a PBB-contaminated farm near Coopersville two years ago, before the toxic chemical was identified.

The chemical, polychlorinated biphenyl, is a fire retardant accidentally mixed with livestock feed in 1973. Some 30,000 Michigan cattle, hogs, sheep and chickens have died or been destroyed as a result of PBB contamination.

Deming said the contaminated cattle on both quarantined farms were purchased from the Peter Crum farm near Coopersville in 1974. The cattle, then calves, received high doses of PBB from their mothers, he said.

Tests on milk from the tainted cattle have shown PBB levels ranging from one to five parts per million, Deming said. The state allows only up to .3 parts of PBB per million in food products to be consumed by humans.

Deming said the contaminated cattle will be sent to a state sanctioned disposal site near Kalkaska where they will be destroyed and buried.

West Ottawa Asks 20.4 Mill Levy

West Ottawa school district voters will be asked to approve a 20.4 mill levy for school operations at the June 14 school election, it was decided by the Board of Education at a special meeting Tuesday night.

The levy is the same as defeated by voters in April but will be for one year instead of the two years on the April ballot.

The 20.4 mill request represents a two-mill increase from the current 18.4 mill levy which expires.

School officials said a study session will be scheduled before the next regular board meeting in May to discuss the school board approach to the millage election.

Juveniles At Party Take Walk

Holland police said a group of juvenile boys, spending the night at the home of a friend without adult supervision last Friday, apparently took a walk early Saturday and one or two in the group were believed responsible for breaking a window at Van Raalte school and a sign at the Vande Bunte-Baron Insurance agency, 209 West 19th St., with rocks.

Police Det. Sgt. Russell Hopkins of the juvenile division said the boys, aged 11 to 13, have been referred to probate court on charges including violation of a curfew, unlawful entry and malicious destruction of property.

Hopkins said the boys apparently told their parents they were staying with other members of the group.

Hopkins said the night began when some of the boys met other friends and decided to spend the night at the home of a friend of one of the group. No adults were present at the home and entry was made through a basement window.

Early Saturday morning the group of six or seven started walking about the city and one apparently tossed a rock at the Van Raalte school window, breaking it.

Police said the group wandered about the downtown section and headed back home when police observed them and some hid in school buses at E. E. Fell junior high school.

It was on the return home that a rock was tossed at the insurance agency sign, Hopkins said.

Corrosive Liquid Spills From Truck

GRAND HAVEN — An estimated 500 gallons of a corrosive liquid leaked from a tank truck along US-31 south of Grand Haven Tuesday morning but State Police said the liquid which spilled into a ditch was removed and neutralized.

The tank truck was carrying 5,400 gallons of a sulphuric acid byproduct of the weed control chemical Prowell, manufactured by Lakeway Chemical Co. in Muskegon to a disposal site in Illinois.

Police said no one was injured and the leak was stopped after passing motorists alerted the driver of the tanker. The driver pulled off the road and stopped the flow from a faulty valve by using a secondary valve.

Police said the load was transferred to another tanker truck and the spill removed and neutralized by the chemical firm.

Representatives from the Department of Natural Resources and the state Public Service Commission investigated at the scene.

Troopers said the spill was reported at 10:51 a.m. Tuesday and did not structurally harm the concrete highway. None of the chemical was believed to have entered drainage ditches or streams.

BPW Talks Of Rates, Expenses

The cost of electric generation, the need for rate increases to keep the water and waste water departments afloat, new generation methods and the Board of Public Works contribution to the general city budget were discussed by the BPW at its regular meeting Monday.

General Manager Frank Whitney said proposed rate increases for electric, water and sewer were included in the BPW's balanced budget submitted to council but he said council apparently wants to know where the rate hikes will be levied and which customers will be affected.

A 10 to 15 per cent hike in electric rates was suggested. Councilman Ken Beelen, attending the meeting, said council was concerned on which customers the electric rate hike would be levied; residential commercial or industrial.

Whitney said additional study sessions with council would be scheduled to review the BPW rate hike plan.

But Whitney said the rate hikes were necessary to assure the city receives its share of the "profits" from the BPW and the BPW meets expenses and operates with a balanced budget. The exact amount of a rate increase depends on the BPW expenses, Whitney said.

Part of that "expense" is the BPW contribution to the general city budget which the BPW is recommending be changed to $275,000 a year rather than a per centage of the sales increase.

The resolution being sent to council includes provisions for a four year agreement subject to review each year.

The change was suggested in view of the electric utility's financial picture.

The BPW authorized Whitney to attend a conference in Boston dealing with use of waste material for generation of electric power. Whitney said it was possible to use refuse from the Kent - Ottawa county area for electric generation in a future generating plant.

The hiring of Grand Rapids engineering firm, Williams & Works, for a study involving regional uses of the waste water treatment plant was recommended by the BPW. Cost of the "201" study is 80 per cent reimbursed by the federal government.

Whitney explained a dilemma for some power customers reporting damage to electrical appliances because of power surges or faults resulting from the recent ice storm. Such damage was not covered by the BPW insurance carrier and in many cases not by the homeowners insurance, either.

Faulty Arrester Cuts Power Supply

A faulty lightning arrester was blamed for a four-hour power interruption Saturday to an estimated 600 Board of Public Works customers in the south and eastern sections of the city.

BPW officials said electric power flickered on and off beginning at 5 p.m. and lasting until 9 p.m. when the situation was corrected.

The outage generally covered areas east of Central Ave. to the industrial park.

Tulip Time Plans Progressing Well

Tulips in Good Shape for Fete

All systems for the Tulip Time festival May 12-15 were on "go" at a meeting of the Tulip Time board Tuesday afternoon.

Park Supt. Jacob De Graaf said tulips generally are in fine condition and the current cold spell was most welcome after the 80-degree weather of the Easter weekend.

An additional eight sets of bleachers will be placed for parade viewing in the Civic Center block from Pine Ave. to the Civic Center building. This brings seating capacity on bleachers to 4,200, and nearly all seats have been sold.

Bleacher seats and other paid attractions have been much in demand for recent years in package tours arranged by travel agencies.

Requests for housing are at an all-time high this year, and the housing bureau is still seeking good accommodations in private homes for housing listings. Two Tulip Time housing numbers are listed in the telephone book.

Only general admission tickets are available for most Tulip Time programs with only a few reserved tickets remaining. Local persons desiring tickets should drop in at Tulip Time headquarters in Civic Center as early as possible. The ticket section has requested that no calls be made by phone.

People's State Bank this year is sponsoring visits of all fourth graders in Holland public, Holland Christian and West Ottawa Schools to Windmill Island this year. The visits will be made during May. This program was inaugurated a few years ago so that all area children are given a visit to Holland's leading tourist attraction.

More than 1,000 klompen dancers including 228 alumni are participating in Tulip Time this year. Alumni dancers will perform downtown Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 10 a.m. and also will scrub streets in the mall section from River to College Aves.

Wednesday and Thursday parades will proceed down Eighth St. this year to Kollen Park and the Saturday Parade of Bands will continue south on Van Raalte Ave. to Holland High School on 24th St. Klompen dancing on Saturday's parade route will extend almost to 18th St.

Over 60 bands are listed for Saturday parades. A greater number of floats is reported this year.

The Tulip Time board has arranged for portable toilets called Port-O-Jons in various locations, mostly public parking lots.

SHOW OPENS — The first annual Senior Citizens Hobby & Handicraft Show opened Tuesday at 11 a.m. in Civic Center, with Jacob Bos, who will be 96 on May 22, cutting the ribbon. Smaller Cities in State Link

Heroin Traffic Noted in Holland

The commanding officer of the State Police narcotics unit in East Lansing says contrary to popular belief, the Detroit area is not the center of the state's heroin trafficking. He said smaller cities are involved.

Det. Lt. Roger Warner, in a telephone interview from his East Lansing office, said today such smaller cities in the state as Holland, Adrian, and Kalamazoo, were considered "major crossroads" in the trafficking.

"Rather than to say Holland has a heroin problem," Warner said, "crossroads indicates heroin comes into the city and then goes out rather than being used in the city."

Warner said State Police know that not all the heroin entering Michigan comes through Detroit but other cities, such as Holland and Adrian, receive heroin directly from Texas and Mexico.

Warner said the original story, written by a Detroit newsman, dealt with financial difficulties facing the state police and cutbacks in programs including the narcotics unit.

"We talked about the heroin problem in the state and I referred to Adrian and Holland and several other smaller cities in the state as places where heroin trafficking occurs," Warner explained.

Statements attributed to Warner indicated that trafficking in other parts of the state was increasing "especially since the conviction of scores of heroin wholesalers in Saginaw."

"Chicago dealers are extending their operations up the west side of the state and over to Jackson, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo," the statement continued.

Holland police agreed with Warner that there was heroin trafficking in Holland and pointed to recent arrests and charges of sale of heroin and seizure of quantities of heroin.

Police said they were continuing their investigation in cooperation with other law enforcement agencies.

Snow, Ice Storm Melt Road Funds

GRAND HAVEN — It was a hard winter in Ottawa County in more ways than one.

Not only did snow and ice create some hazardous driving conditions for motorists, but wiped out the Ottawa County Road Commission's entire 1976 snow removal budget in three months.

In the first three months of 1976, the $25,000 allocated for snow removal on primary roads in the budget plus an additional $14,000 was used and another $30,000 is expected to be used in the remaining winter months this year.

Ronald Bakker, engineer-manager of the road commission, said $25,000 was used to clean up the recent ice storm damage and the job was only about half completed.

The figures for local roads were worse. Approximately $219,000 was spent or $56,000 over budget and more is needed for November and December.

Bakker said maintenance of the roads will have to be cut as much as possible to make up for budget - stretching. Construction will have to be reduced.

Bakker said there was a possibility some of the ice storm expenses would be reimbursed by federal funds and a federal team was expected to review the storm damages and make a report.

Reducing activities this year could leave future problems. Construction postponed still will have to be completed. Maintenance not done this year will add to the general backlog of work.

Not only are road commission expenses increasing, but income has declined.

The only statutory source of income, the gas and weight tax revenue, has declined since 1973.

Commission officials would like the state to find new sources of revenue in addition to the motor vehicle highway fund which is split among general transportation, waterways, the Mackinaw Bridge, state highways, county road commissions and cities and villages.

Officials also suggest an increase in the state tax on gasoline which now is nine cents a gallon. The tax has not been raised while price of gasoline have gone up.

Hope Theatre's Play Is Food For Thought

By Katie Fancher

Hope College Theatre presented a fine rendition of a difficult "one-act play," Samuel Beckett's "Endgame" Thursday opening night at 8 in De Witt Cultural Center at Hope College. A strong four-person cast "was aided by startling make-up design, stark scenery and costumes, and the direction of Richard Smith in portraying Beckett's modernistic view of the "blight of man."

Thought provoking "Endgame" is described as the final scene of human existence. Unanswered questions, sudden speeches that have no conclusions, reasonless repetitions and reenactments reveal the total meaninglessness of the human condition. The tone also contains numerous light moments to ease the heavy thematic content.

The cast includes Grace Tannehill as Clov, the grumbling yet obedient companion and servant to the forceful Hamm (Paul L. Shoun), who as a thinker dominates the other characters and is most aware of the coming "end" and his hollow existence.

Harry Peter Caramanos plays the old man in his second childhood, Nagg, with humorous facial expressions as he peers out of a box on stage and makes querulous comments. Nell, an old woman, is humanistically portrayed by Carol Yeckel.

Timing and pauses greatly affect audience reaction; one of the most difficult challenges met by director Richard Smith was to use silence as an important and unsettling element in the play's structure.

The play's production staff provided bizarre and dramatic make-up to help create a strange reality. Bald heads and glaring white and red masks of color emphasized the characters' faces against the ragged costumes. Gray and battered scenery and props evoked the atmosphere of a dull, sunken wasteland and the mood of desolation essential to the play.

Special effects in lighting design by Michael Rice as well as contributions by other stage workers helped pull the complicated play together.

Like most Absurdist plays, "Endgame" is subject to a wide variety of interpretations. The roles in this well-coordinated effort are played with an openness that allows for viewer participation and thought stimulation, especially in the intimate studio atmosphere provided.

Nykamp Is Speaker At ABWA Event

Wesley Nykamp, Ottawa county prosecuting attorney, was guest speaker for annual Boss' Night staged last Tuesday at West Shore Country Club by Holland Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

With "Prosecution in a Changing Society" as his topic, Nykamp, with criminal prosecution his main interest, discussed two recent cases in Grand Rapids involving rape and murder. Affiliated with the Kent County prosecutor's office at that time, Nykamp was active in solving both crimes, committed by the same persons. He observed that all brutal crimes seem senseless as to motive and the criminals, when apprehended, seem to show no remorse or feeling of wrongdoing.

The speaker discussed the place of psychiatry in the courts, citing that sanity becomes the issue in many cases. He also observed that jurors generally act responsibly in deciding verdicts.

He urged a moral revision as a solution to the crime increase and asked cooperation with law enforcement agencies.

Nykamp, a native of Grand Rapids and a graduate of Wayne State University, is a member of the Michigan Bar Association.

A brief history of ABWA was given by Lily Geerts, who told of its founding by Hillary A. Bufton in 1949 in Kansas City as a non-sectarian, non-political organization for women. Today there are 80,000 members in 1,200 chapters. Each chapter grants annual scholarships.

Vocational speaker was Gladys Hartgerink of De Pree's of Zeeland, who described her duties as a department

Marilyn Bultman was introduced as the present "Woman of the Year" and presented a token from the chapter by Lily Geerts. She is now eligible to compete for the national title at the fall ABWA convention.

Prizes, donated by local merchants, were won by Fred Veltkamp, Vern Bush, Gary Beckman, Douglas Brown, Richard Ambrose, Jack Busscher and Bill Ruga. Myra Arnold was chairman of the event.

The ABWA district regional meeting held April 23-25 in Dearborn was attended by Marilyn Bultman and Gladys Hartgerink.

Auxiliary Gives $11,066 For Hospital Equipment

Awards, brief reports and acknowledgments marked the annual meeting of the Holland City Hospital Auxiliary Monday afternoon in the Woman's Literary Club. More than 250 attended.

Hospital Board President Peter Vanden Bosch gratefully acknowledged an auxiliary gift of $11,066.87 for capital equipment for the hospital. The gift was a reflection of the more than 24,000 in-service hours put in by hospital volunteers the past year.

"These hours represent a lot of love on the part of local area women, producing marvelous results. We can't thank you enough," Vanden Bosch said. He also recalled a few years ago that the then mayor, Bill Lamb, asked him to serve on the Hospital Board, saying it met once a month. "I reminded him a few days ago that the board has been known to have three or four meetings a week," Vanden Bosch said.

Vanden Bosch also presented a plaque to Mrs. Vernon D. Ten Cate for 20 years of service as gift shop director in the hospital shop. The new director is Mrs. Paul Winchester.

Hospital Director Fred Burd and Joan Van Rossem, director of volunteer services, presented awards for in-service hours the past year. On the auxiliary's 25th anniversary, next year, outservice hours also will be acknowledged. Priscilla Estelle led the list of volunteers with over 500 hours. The list had been published previously.

Burd said the work of the auxiliary really makes the hospital the pleasant place it is, and the past year has seen significant expanded programs. He thanked the auxiliary for its services and its cash gifts, without which, he said, would make patient bills considerably higher. He noted that Mrs. Van Rossem in her new role as director has done a great deal to make volunteer services a "fun thing" at the hospital.

Mrs. Van Rossem paid tribute to three volunteers who have put in 30 to 40 years of service each. They are Mrs. Charles Drew, Mrs. George Hyma and Mrs. John Orlert.

Both Vanden Bosch and Burd pointed to the need for auxiliary assistance in the event hospital reorganization calls for a hospital authority. This would necessitate a public vote for Holland city and whatever townships would be included.

Mrs. Jud Bradford, auxiliary president, called attention to an informational board meeting to which all members are invited June 14 at 9:30 a.m. in the Heritage Room of the Hospital. Revision of bylaws will be discussed.

She also called attention to an auxiliary-sponsored Blood Pressure Screening Clinic May 3, sponsored by local banking organizations. Places will be announced later.

Officers presently serving another year are Mrs. Bradford, president; Mrs. Dale Van Oosterhout, vice president; Mrs. Pat Mass, past president; Mrs. Paul De Kruij, recording secretary, and Jeanette Veltman, assistant treasurer.

CONGRESS STALLS

We all know that the candidates running in the presidential primaries are also running short of cash. And they tell us that this is bad, in fact it involves a constitutional question on the peoples' right to know.
Well, we aren't that upset about the whole thing. These chaps generally want to answer questions we haven't asked. But this does involve some money given by millions of taxpayers.

The Supreme Court some weeks ago told Congress that it hadn't done the job well in setting up a Federal Election Commission and it should restructure the commission legally. But Congress hasn't gotten around to doing this job. Now the candidates, with the exception of President Ford who doesn't need the money, have asked the U.S. Supreme Court to release the money in spite of the laggards in Congress. But the Supreme Court turned them down flat. And this is going to bring much of the campaigning to a halt, or nearly so.

We really have some question about all this. Millions of taxpayers throw in a "buck" to pay for the campaigns and to see their intentions nullified by Congress isn't the way they ought to be treated. We were promised that these dollars would help to keep the election clean and honest. But not this year. We can only hope that the money is invested and is picking up a bit of interest. But it would be better to follow the directive that went with the gifts.

OLD SNOWPLOW — It was an old-fashioned winter in more ways than one this year in Ottawa County. The snow fall and ice storms drained the Road Commission snow removal budget for the entire year and forced the Commission to press into service their 1945 Sterling truck to cut back high snow banks. The wing truck was used this winter for the first time in recent years.

One-Number Emergency Plan Ready

ZEELAND — A single number system for emergency services in five governmental units in the Zeeland area is scheduled to become effective May 1.

Under the system, the Ottawa County Sheriff's department will answer emergency calls for police, fire and medical cases and dispatch necessary vehicles and personnel.

The areas covered with the new single-number system are the townships of Zeeland, Park, Port Sheldon and Holland and the City of Zeeland.

The governmental units form
the Southwest Ottawa County Dispatch Authority and have contracted with the Ottawa County Sheriff's Department to provide the telephone answering and dispatching services.

The program was explained at a luncheon meeting Thursday at Van Raalte's restaurant.

Cost of the necessary fire dispatching radio equipment and additional telephone lines into the sheriff's department in Grand Haven are being paid for by the authority.

The single-number system has been under study since December.

Residents in Park, Holland,
Zeeland most of Port Sheldon townships and Zeeland city will call the sheriff's department number toll free (772-2124) for fire fighters, police patrol or emergency medical services.

Port Sheldon township residents living in the Grand Haven telephone exchange will call the sheriff's department at a Grand Haven number.

The toll-free number to Grand Haven from the Holland-Zeeland area has been in operation for several years.

The sheriff's department will dispatch police patrol cars or emergency vehicles by existing sheriff's department radios or telephone while fire fighters will be dispatched with a new fire monitor system.

Fire calls will be dispatched via special encoding equipment
by a reserved telephone line from the sheriff's department to a new radio transmitter on top of the Holland township water tank on Lakewood Blvd.

The radio equipment will energize only those individual fire fighters' monitors that will be responding to the fire. The dispatcher will relay the fire
location to the energized monitors.

Sheriff Bernard Grysen said his dispatchers have attempted to anticipate potential problems and are prepared to deal with them but asked citizens to cooperate by giving as complete details on fire locations as possible.

Representatives of the dispatch authority include John Deters of Holland township,
president; Vern De Vries,
Zeeland city, vice president;
Clarence Maatman, Park
township, treasurer; Don Van Aillsburg, Port Sheldon
township, and John Timmer, Zeeland township.

Others attending the meeting were representatives of the sheriff's department, telephone company and Tele-Rad who installed the radio equipment.

Cars driven by Nelle Agnes Vander Ark, 55, of Grand Rapids, and Richard Lee Martin,
26, of Grand Haven, collided
Wednesday at 8:53 a.m. at Ninth St. and College Ave. Police said the Vander Ark car was southbound on College while the Martin auto was heading east along Ninth St.

Cars operated by Julian
Partida Carrizales, 20, of route
1, Hamilton, and Donna Joan Rainey, 22, of 258 West 16th
St., collided along northbound
Pine Ave. at 13th St. Friday at 9:21 p.m. as the Carrizales car attempted a left turn while the Rainey auto attempted to overtake it.

business district to aid shoppers in getting from one area to another. Here people are waiting for stores to open at

National Honor Society Inducts 30 HHS Juniors

Holland High School's National Honor Society Chapter 145 inducted 30 juniors in ceremonies last Wednesday, April 21, at the high school.

Speaker for the occasion was Dr. Gordon J. Van Wylen, president of Hope College and father of David Van Wylen, president of the National Honor Society chapter.

With "Freedom" as his topic, Dr. Van Wylen noted that "freedom" is a popular word this year, with its common meaning of liberty. Not everyone enjoys freedom, he said. Some of us enslave ourselves to drugs, habits, to economic situations. "He is not free who does only what he wills. We call that man free who is in inner harmony with his inner nature."

Citing freedom as not only a gift, but a burden, Dr. Van Wylen challenged his audience of students and parents to accept responsibility for their actions and not shift blame for our failures on others or on our environment. "We must recognize the limitations of freedom to reach our destiny, using our inner resources," he said.

Student speakers on the National Honor Society aims were Robert Trask on scholarship; Jon Brownson, leadership; John Miller, character, and Ann Price, service. Ruth Van Slooten, secretary, read the pledge.

Holland High Principal Fred S. Bertsch, Jr., presented pins to the inductees, Jane Arendshorst, Daryl Berkompas, Duane Berkompas, Susan Boudy, Kathy Carson, James Chammess, William Derks, Steven De Vette, Nancy Dirke, Kim Douma, Patti Ebels, Barbara Feining, Karen Freers, Lisa Gorno, Cynthia Greving, Charles Hutter, David Ihrman, Karen Kooyers, Kathryn Lowe, Betsy Macicak, Gail Miles, Barbara Miller, Daniel Molenaar, Pamela Paauwe, John Paul, Steven Ringleberg, Douglas Sage, Debra Smeenge, Julie Toppen and Daniel Wise.

Michigan's tennis mentor Brian Eisner said, "there's no question that Vic will make it. He has a good attitude, works last summer. He won the Big Ten singles title and made it into the quarterfinals of the NCAA championship as a freshman and sophomore.

The 21-year-old Amaya has been a tennis All-American for the past three years. He lost the Big Ten crown and was beaten in the first round of the NCAA tournament as a junior.

Amaya has a tremendous serve and feels his forehand and serve which travels close to 135 MPH are his strong suit.

He said that the main reason he passed up his senior year was because he didn't feel like going through qualifying this summer, which is very rough.

"You don't get paid for qualifying rounds," says Amaya. "A lot of good players go broke trying to make it. You might qualify half the time. It's nicer to be guaranteed $500 for playing one round in a tournament than having to go through qualifying to make it."

Amaya will be heading for the Grand Prix circuit in May. The season will last until October and his goal is to finish in the top 35.

PRISCILLA ESTELLE

Finding time to help is no problem for this outstanding volunteer of the Hospital Auxiliary - in fact she has just logged over 500 hours of service. She and her 100 other co-volunteers have donated more than 8600 hours in just this year alone. Perhaps Mrs. Estelle's accomplishment will encourage more of us to give more of our time.
