Bank Teller John Liewen mixes his oil paints for a big Dutch canal scene which he is painting in the lobby of First National bank this week. Born and reared in the Netherlands, he came to Holland four years ago from South Dakota. When completed, the four by six-foot canvas will be hung on the west wall of the bank lobby. (Penna-Sas photo)

Holland Women Support Plan To Dress Windows

Two prominent local women today voiced support of a plan to decorate Holland stores with live flowers to compensate for the lack of outdoor blooms during Tulip Time, according to Mrs. Thad Taft of the window decorating committee.

Mrs. John E. Telling, first Tulip Time chairman, wrote the committee to congratulate it on the decision to decorate. She pointed out this is not the first year inclement weather had delayed outdoor tulips.

"Out of like situation was born a feature which proved one of the most interesting for a number of years. That was the decorating of windows by Holland merchants. Much latent talent was discovered and many original and artistic windows resulted. That this feature proved of great interest is attested to the many letters of commendation received by the committee," Mrs. Telling wrote.

Mrs. J. H. Petter, president of the Holland Tulip Garden club, described the artistry of window decorations of California and pointed out that Holland has an advantage in use of natural materials.

"We have great natural materials with which to work in fact, three factors to bring to the visitors' attention. The merchandise, of course, our town with its quaint Dutch customs and queenly tulips, and our state, the vacationland of lakes, sports, games and northern beauty.

The Rev. John Klaaren of Chicago, synodical missionary, was named president of the Particular Synod of America, Wednesday afternoon at a business session in First Reformed church here. Some 60 delegates from Reformed churches in Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan are attending the two-day meet which was expected to conclude this afternoon.

Other officers are the Rev. Jacob Blaauw of South Holland, Ill., new vice-president and the Rev. James A. Stegeman of Muskegon Heights, named stated clerk for a three year term to succeed the late Dr. Thomas E. Welmers who died Jan. 15.

Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer delivered the feature address at a special Centennial meeting of the Synod Wednesday night.

Tulips Are Assured for Flower Show Exhibits

Forty dozen hot house tulips have been ordered and will be available to local entrants in the Tulip Time flower show, it was announced today by Mrs. L. W. Lamb, flower show chairman, who located the blooms at an Illinois greenhouse. Tulips for use of the committee in arranging the background for the show also were secured.

The tulips, which will go on sale to the public on Tuesday, include pinks, reds, lavenders, and purples, with a few whites and yellows, Mrs. Lamb said. The hour and place of distribution will be announced.

Banker Leaves Coins To Complete Painting

It isn't often that a bank teller leaves his cage to paint pictures in the bank lobby, but that's exactly what John Liewen is doing at First National bank.

Liewen, who came to Holland four years ago from South Dakota, was born and lived 18 years in the Netherlands. Painting is his hobby and he has painted many canvases, plaques and plates.

The bank teller is painting from memory a Dutch canal scene with windmills. This type of scenery has been familiar throughout the Netherlands, and especially at Liewen's birthplace, Terschelling, a tiny island in the North Sea.

When the four by six-foot canvas is completed, it will be hung on the west wall of the bank, not far from Liewen's work place.

The Dutch artist started work on the huge oil canvas last week and expects to have it completed by the end of this week.

Dutch Visitor Spends Day Here

Mrs. Ailie Va. Heuven of Nieuverdal, Overijssel, the Netherlands, whose husband has been on the East coast for the better part of a year, flew to Grand Rapids from Norfolk this week for a brief visit with relatives.

She spent Tuesday in Holland, Mich., her first visit here, and called on her cousin, the Rev. Bastian Kruthof, pastor of First Reformed church. She has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bordewyk in Grand Rapids and plans to leave Thursday by plane to join her husband in Norfolk. Their four children remained in Overijssel.

While in Michigan, Mrs. Van Heuven "looked around" for a place to live. Her husband is a bulb merchant and supervises Dutch nurseries on the East coast. He had been able to spend only a few weeks with his family during the past year.

Before the war, the family had residence in England but conditions there, mainly shortages, do not warrant moving to that country where Mr. Van Heuven also was in the bulb industry. He served in the Dutch army during the war.

Mrs. Van Heuven regretted she would not be able to be here for Tulip Time, but she called at the Chamber of Commerce for abundant literature to take back to the Netherlands.

Car and Pickup Truck Damaged in Accident

A car driven by Junior Henry Terpstra, 17, route 1, and a pickup truck driven by Raymond C. Stitt, 27, route 1, were damaged in an accident today at 17th St. and River Ave.

The front and left side of the Terpstra car, traveling east on 17th St., and the left side of the pickup truck, proceeding north on River, were damaged.

Terpstra later paid fine and costs of $5 in Municipal Court on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Chicago Symphony String Ensemble Will Appear Here

The string ensemble of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, a group of 13 top musicians, will come to Holland for two appearances at concerts in Hope Memorial chapel during the Tulip Time festival, Manager Willard C. Wichers announced today.

Brought here by local retail merchants, the ensemble will appear at the Merchants' day program Wednesday, May 14, at 8:15 p.m. along with two guest artists, and at the Invitation Musicale of Holland High and Christian High schools Thursday, May 15, also at 8:15 p.m.

The two guest artists on Wednesday will be a violinist, Benedict Rees, a Dutch girl who has appeared in concerts in Carnegie hall and Town hall in New York city, and Bruce Foote, Chicago baritone, who also is professor of voice at the University of Illinois.

On Thursday night, the Holland high school capella choir under the direction of Miss Trixie M. Moore, and the Christian high choir under Marvin Baas, will each sing two selections and then unite to sing three selections, accompanied by the ensemble.

"The appearance of the string ensemble in Holland is a fine contribution to our Tulip Time festival," Wichers said today in announcing the event. "A musical group of this kind is in keeping with the high standards set by present and past Tulip Time committees. The merchants are to be commended for their fine selection in high grade entertainment."

Wichers said availability of costumes will assure additional scrubbers at opening ceremonies May 14. Patterns were prepared by Nick Dykema. Miss Lavina Cappon served in an advisory capacity.

Letter Reviews Incidents Leading To Local Cutback

Message Prepared Same Time Sen. Bridges Takes Issue in Washington

Postmaster Harry Kramer said today he dispatched a letter late Wednesday afternoon to First Assistant Postmaster J. M. Donaldson in Washington, strongly protesting the drastic reduction in delivery service here, and reviewing the incidents leading to cutting deliveries to one a day with no city deliveries on Tuesdays.

Kramer's letter was dispatched about the same time that Chairman Styles Bridges of the Senate Appropriations committee in Washington accused Post Office officials of dispensing "brazen propaganda" falsely blaming Congress for cuts in mail service.

According to United Press, Bridges announced he was sending an investigator to the Boston postal district and later to other districts. Bridges displayed two Boston newspapers with banner headlines announcing cuts in mail service. He said Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg gave him a similar clipping from the Holland Sentinel. Meanwhile, he said, senators' offices are being flooded with queries and complaints.

In his letter to Donaldson, Kramer wrote in part:

"I think it is a terrible thing to impose this kind of mail service on our people and it is a terrible strain on our employees to work under these conditions. It certainly is not conducive for efficient work. Our mail is piling up in the mail room and I don't know how it is going to be delivered."

"As long as I have been postmaster, I have been commended by manufacturers and businessmen of this community for the excellent postal service we were giving them, but right now they are up in arms because the service is curtailed. I don't know why the people of Holland should be penalized when it is not the fault of this office."

"I appreciate the difficulties under which your office is laboring, but if we are going to deliver all the mail that is coming in here, we must have allowances for auxiliary needs."

"We were led to believe that the three additional carriers allowed us as of Jan. 1, 1947, would be regular carriers and, of course, the estimates for auxiliary needs for the March and June quarters were made on that assumption."

"I am asking that you immediately send this office an auxiliary allowance so normal mail service can be resumed. My assistant postmaster estimates that we will need 4,800 man hours for the balance of the June quarter in order to give our patrons the regular mail service they have always been getting."

Milwaukee, Wis., post office, first to feel the pinch, has been granted funds for 30,000 man hours after Milwaukee business firms protested to Senator Alexander Wiley who interceded with the Post Office department, according to a Milwaukee paper. The postmaster there placed the blame for the mail crisis upon the failure of the federal civil service department to make appointments of 90 additional regular clerks to which he said the Milwaukee post office is entitled. Because this was not done, operating money ran out and temporary employees had to be released.

Kramer said the Holland post office receipts have always been far in excess of disbursements.

Detroit Postmaster Latham was quoted Wednesday as saying cuts in service there are contemplated.

Postmaster Kramer said the current crisis affects those post offices throughout the country where additional clerks or carriers were added and then not made permanent.

Bridges in Washington said the Post Office blamed mail service cuts on failure of Congress to act on a deficiency appropriation which at the time was still in the budget bureau and had not even been submitted to Congress. Placing the responsibility on Congress was quoted in Milwaukee papers early in the crisis.

Kramer said he did not mention Congressional blame in any communications with Washington officials.

Works Board Reports Large Profit for 1946

Holland city's share in 1946 profits of the Board of Public Works will amount to $104,938.24, according to the 53rd annual report submitted to Common council Wednesday night. Of this amount, already $70,000 has been put into the city fund.

The amount represents one-half of the net operating profit of the electric department which totaled $209,876.49. The net operating profit of the water department totaled $33,895.39 and this amount will be used toward the new wells and water conditioning plant, authorized during the year by Common council.

The new payment will bring to over 1½ million dollars the total amount paid into the city from the electric utility.

The city's share last year totaled $110,909.70 which included half of the electric operating profits totaling $190,500.73 and half of the water operating profits of $31,318.68.

Gross income in the electric department this year totaled $231,607.49 compared with $207,275.76 last year. Gross income in the water department totaled $42,033.59, compared with $38,471.89 last year.

The report revealed that 1946 has been the biggest year to date in terms of kilowatt hours generated and gallons of water pumped. In spite of the necessary restrictions in sprinkling, 23 per cent or nearly 150 million gallons more water was pumped in 1946 than in 1945. The high usage was due to increased sprinkling because of an extremely low rainfall of only 27 inches. Rainfall in 1945 was 36 inches.

In April, 1946, council approved the board's request to proceed with plans for additional wells and a water conditioning plant at an estimated cost of $510,000. By November, plans and specifications were complete and work started on the first of three wells. The high cost of construction discouraged immediately proceeding with the water conditioning plant but plans were made to complete one of the new wells and obtain pumping facilities to assure an adequate water supply before the next summer.

Total kilowatt hours generated in 1946 were 32,274,700, more than 2,000,000 hours more than the 1945 total, in spite of the fact that for the first eight months, sales were below 1945.

The board pointed out this shows a rapid increase and if this trend continues, additional capacity will be required sooner than expected. The 1946 kilowatt output is three times that of 1936 and five times that of 1926.

The board pointed out that in spite of rising costs, electric rates have been maintained at pre-war levels. This has been possible without reducing the profits because of increased sales and efficient operation.

There were no interruptions of service at the James De Young steam plant although the 5th St. standby plant was used, on several occasions while making boiler repairs at the new plant.

The record demand for new services presented a real problem because of the serious shortage of materials. Generally, however, there were no extended delays in giving service although a number of residential customers were connected temporarily without a meter and with payment for service based on the major appliances used.

Since May, the board contributed $11,544.05 to the employees' retirement fund, compared with $4,451.53 contributed by the employees.

Death Claims Mrs. Ted Wyma

Mrs. Jennie Wyma, 38, widow of the late Ted T. Wyma, died at 6:35 p.m. Monday in the home of her father, John De Vries, in Wyoming township.

Her husband was killed Nov. 19, 1942, in a deer hunting accident. The Wyma home was at 217 West 11th St.

Mrs. Wyma was a member of Eighth Reformed church of Grand Rapids.

Surviving are the father; a sister, Mrs. Katherine Faber of Grand Rapids; and a brother, Leon De Vries of Grand Rapids.

No City Mail Delivery On Tuesdays: Kramer

Postmaster Harry Kramer said Monday that city mail deliveries will be cut out entirely on Tuesdays in keeping with the drastic reduction in service forced by failure of Congress to pass a deficiency appropriation bill.

He said it was impossible to complete city deliveries in the four hours allowed for Tuesday under the 40-hour week arrangement. Tuesday is the lightest day of the week, he explained.

Two Are Blown Through Windows In Cottage Blast

Believe Accumulated Gas Responsible for Grand Haven Explosion

Grand Haven, May 8 (Special) — Two men were catapulted through windows and seriously injured and burned and a third escaped death when an explosion rocked a cottage at Holcomb Hills Saturday.

Joseph Van Loo, 72, was treated for first degree burns on the body, also for bruises and shock, in Municipal hospital. Owen Narrengang, 51, also was treated for burns and later released. Robert Johnson, 26-year-old grandson of Van Loo, was only slightly injured and he drove the two to the hospital.

The cottage, owned by the Hazenburgh family of Grand Rapids, was demolished by the blast and burned in the ensuing flames.

The explosion occurred while the three were painting. They decided to build a fire in a heater in the living room and it is believed accumulated gas caused the blast. Van Loo was pinned under a chimney outside and Narrengang was thrown against a parked car next to the cottage.

Debris was scattered for more than a hundred feet and windows and shutters in a nearby cottage also were broken.

Fire was confined to the Hazenburgh cottage due to speedy work of the Grand Haven township fire department. Corp. William Gibbs of the Michigan State Police fire bureau investigated.

The explosion was heard by many in the city. The gas company reported no gas had been turned on in that section. Chief Henry Hoebeke believes accumulated gas caused the explosion and warned cottage owners to air their cottages thoroughly before striking a match.

Cornelius Blom

Former Local Fire Chief Dies At Age of Eighty

Cornelius Blom, 80, who served as chief of the Holland fire department for more than 50 years until his retirement in 1942, died at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Smith Convalescent home following a week's illness.

He joined the department when he was 18 years old. During his 58 years with the department, he saw it develop from the horse-drawn equipment to the present modern fire fighting setup.

He resigned in 1942 at the age of 76 and was succeeded by Andrew Klomparsens, present chief.

In 1939 he was presented with a gold medal from the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners in recognition of his 55 years of service with the department. In expressing his gratitude he said, "I have experienced many thrills in my firefighting days, but this is the greatest thrill I've ever had."

He was born in Holland and lived here all his life. At the age of 18 he opened a candy and bakery known as Boston Bakery. From a small beginning, the business grew until he owned and managed Blom Candy factory.

Mayor Ben Steffens said today that the flag on the city hall will be at half mast Friday and Saturday out of respect to the former fire chief.

Two Havenites Hurt in Crash

Grand Haven, May 8 (Special) — Genevieve Nuismer, 19, Ferrysburg, and Dora Cook, 18, of Grand Haven, were taken to Municipal hospital for injuries received at 11:30 p.m. Sunday when a car driven by Charles Ryder, Jr., 18, route 1, Spring Lake, turned completely over after being struck by a car driven by Alvin Beindmeyer, 17, of Muskegon Heights. The accident occurred at the corner of Pennoyer and Griffen Sts.

City police report that the Ryder car was traveling west on Pennoyer St., without lights, when struck by the Beindmeyer car which was traveling north on Griffen St. The cars struck with such force causing the Ryder car to roll over making it a total wreck.

Miss Nuismer, who was riding in the back seat, remained at the hospital. She suffered lacerations of the face and jaw and other bruises. Miss Cook, who was sitting in the front seat of the car, was released after treatment for slight injuries.

Ryder was given a ticket for reckless driving.

New Dutch Mart Is Designed With Special Facades

Imported Products, Brought Here by Dutch Ship, to Be Displayed

A new exhibit to Tulip Time will be the Dutch Mart which is being erected on the Museum grounds. It is composed of a number of facades each of which is designed to represent some well known style of Dutch architecture and it will be a colorful addition to the festival.

The Dutch Mart has developed from an idea discussed in the Netherlands during the visit of Willard C. Wichers, Tulip Time manager. The plans grew from requests made by several large American department stores that an exhibit of Dutch products be colorfully displayed in their auditoriums during the fall and winter. These stores wished to re-establish relations with Dutch exporters and wanted to re-introduce to the American people the quality merchandise for which the Dutch were famous before the war. Wichers and members of the Dutch ministry of economic affairs decided that a portable mart should be built suitable for display in the several stores.

At Wichers' suggestion it was felt that an attempt should be made to speed up the building of the Mart so that it could be used at Tulip Time in Holland, Mich.

The ministry of economic affairs approved a plan for having it built at Holland and if possible in time for the Tulip Festival, this was to be done. Hans van Weeren Griek, head of the exhibition department in the New York office of the Netherlands Information bureau, drew plans for a portable Dutch Mart which could be used here during Tulip Time and the Centennial celebration and then be sent to various large cities for fall and winter showing. Local contractors and painters carried out van Weeren-Griek's plans and the Mart will be shown for the first time here, May 14 through 17.

The products from the Netherlands which are to be shown in the facades arrived in Holland last Friday aboard the Prince Maurits, a freighter of the Oranjan line. It is also planned that a representative of the Dutch ministry of economic affairs will be at the Mart to answer any questions concerning the products on display.

Wichers, in co-operation with the Tulip Time committee, the Retail Merchants' association, the Chamber of Commerce and the Centennial commission, has arranged that some of the products displayed will be for sale. Any profits accruing to the sale of such goods will go to defray Tulip Time expenses.

Cold? Well It Snowed Four Days in May '07

Shivering citizenry of Holland can take heart—at least it hasn't snowed four times this month—yet. Guy Schaftenaar, 78, appeared in The Sentinel office today with a 40-year-old time book he kept during the time he was employed by Mannes Knoll as a brick layer. In the book during the month of May, 1907, were four dates behind which were written "snow." The dates were May 10, 18, 25 and 27.

At that time Mr. Schaftenaar was laying brick foundations for homes. His pay was 35 cents per hour. Mr. Schaftenaar, despite his age still does carpenter work and rides his bicycle every day.

Snow is bad enough, but the Weatherman predicts worse to night. He says there will be more flurries with a heavy to killing frost during the night. Those tulip bulbs will probably bloom now with an extra petal—a long pointed icicle.

Chamber Protests Postal Service Cut

The Chamber of Commerce today sent a letter to J. M. Donaldson, first assistant postmaster in Washington, protesting the drastic cut in postal service in Holland.

The letter pointed out that receipts in the Holland post office are far in excess of local disbursements and the Chamber feels Holland patrons should not be penalized because of a national situation.

"The fact that most patrons are receiving mail delivery once a day is hardship enough without the elimination of delivery on Tuesdays," the letter read.

"We strongly favor governmental economy but the cutting should be done in channels that do not give service so essential to business as the Post Office department," it read.

Copies were sent to Rep. Bartel J. Jonkman, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and Senator Homer Ferguson.

Kraai led Hope by gaining a first in the 220-yard dash and second in the broad jump and third in the 105-yard dash; and Kislewski and Posthumus led the Jaycees by taking three and two first places respectively. Hope Golfers Win Meet Honors

Hope golfers had a busy weekend on opponent's links, and managed to emerge with a win and two ties. The Dutchmen defeated Adrian 12-0 and tied Hillsdale Saturday in a triangular affair. The locals also managed to tie Albion Friday. It was reported earlier that Hope was defeated by the Britons, but due to a technicality, the match stands at a tie. If a forthcoming decision announces that low team total constitutes a point, Hope will lose the match. Albion had a team total of 312 while Hope had a total of 315. Javing was low man for Hope with a 69 and Thomas took Albion honors with a 71.

The Hopeites had little difficulty in snowing under Adrian in the triangular match at Adrian Saturday, but had to settle for a tie with the Dales. The Hope scores were considerably higher than at any time this year but Javing was again low man with an 81. Holkeboer followed with an 81 while Den Herder and Elhart shot an 86 and 89 respectively.

The Hillsdale scores are: Connelly, 85; Frye, 87; Mickels, 85 and Oldmarcher, 91. Adrian shooters tallied in this manner: Evans, 94; Stark, 94; Stafford, 101 and Stutchwind, 95.

Adrian had a team total of 384, Hillsdale, 348 and Hope 336. Thus if a decision is reached on the Albion match regarding an extra point for low team total, Hope would for the same reason, win the tie Hillsdale match. Hope has not been defeated in MIAA play.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Spyker and Mrs. James Vander Jagt of Grand Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Van Spyker, Cherry and Iris and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Schulling, Janice, Mary Ann and Carol.

Congratulations were in order today at Hope college where announcement of honors in chemistry was made. Pictured are left to right, Gene Van Tamelon, Dr. J. Harvey Kleinhekel and Carl W. Schaftenaar. Van Tamelon was awarded a fellowship to Harvard university; Schaftenaar will go to Ohio State on an assistantship.

Hope Collegians Win Science Appointments

Four Hope college students have been awarded teaching fellowships and assistantships in chemistry so far this year, it was announced today by Dr. Gerrit Van Zyl, head of the chemistry department. Receiving honors are Carl M. Schaftenaar and John Mooi, Holland; Gene E. Van Tamelon, Zeeland and Edwin G. Ratering, Grandville.

Mr. Schaftenaar was graduated from Hope in 1944 and entered the Army. Upon his release he became an assistant in the chemistry department. As a student he was a member of Blue Key, men's honorary society, Student council, Chemistry club and Knickerbocker fraternity, president in 1943.

He has been granted an assistantship in the chemistry department at Ohio State university for next year. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dick Schaftenaar, 50 West 14th.

John Mooi goes to Northwestern university, also on an assistantship in chemistry. The son of Cornelius Mooi, 312 West 12th Street, Holland, during college he has been active in Scout work. An active scout himself since he was 12, he rose to be assistant scout master of troop 6, also active in young people's work in First Reformed church.

Gene Van Tamelon has received a teaching fellowship to Harvard university. Active in college extra-curricular activities, he is a member of Frater fraternity, Chemistry club and during his junior year was editor of the Student Guide. He wrote for the Anchor and served as Art Editor of the Milestone.

Edwin G. Ratering has received an assistantship to Purdue university. He served in the Army Air corps where he distinguished himself for services rendered. He was awarded the Purple Heart, the Distinguished Flying Cross, two Air Medals and three battle stars. He is interested in private flying and hopes to couple his chemistry research with aviation.

According to Dr. Van Zyl these fellowships and assistantships provide these students with free tuition and a monthly stipend for living expenses.

Volleys From Ambush

THE LAWS OF supply and demand being what they are, the Ambusher isn't quite sure what the current market value of a sermon is. Especially when it already has been used. However, quite a number of such manuscripts were being offered locally at 25 cents each.

The vendor was Mary de Velder, who canvassed her neighborhood seeking to market a number of her father's literary efforts. The Rev. Marion de Velder of Hope church was the victim of his daughter's exploitation.

Just how lively the sale was, the Ambusher's confederate didn't say, but at least one competitor attempted to enter the field. Cherie Yost solicited the Rev. William Warner of Grace church for any spare sermons with which to establish her in business.

The Ambusher is something of an authority on mercury base dusting powders for cereal crops. It wasn't always so, but this week Peter Van Eyck of route 3 dropped in to discuss the problem of treating seed.

It all has something to do with killing the causative organism of certain parasitic diseases of cereal crops grown locally. Holland mills have this year installed equipment for using this metallic dusting agent safely. Overisel, Hudsonville, Vriesland and Jamestown has had access to this special equipment for several years, Mr. Van Eyck reports.

He says that most farmers around here prefer Seedsaver to Ceresan, which was recommended in a recent article published in The Sentinel.

There is only one thing that puzzled the Ambusher. In answer to the question, "Are these compounds lethal if taken by mouth?" Mr. Van Eyck replied, "Partly."

Those who delight in the local movements of passenger ships in Macatawa were given a special treat Monday when the S.S. North American left the local harbor for Manitowoc, Wis., drydock and her annual "face lifting."

Always a beautiful sight, the passage of the majestic ship prompted Bob Horner of the Mooring to this poetic description:

"The glistening ship moved cautiously down the still, unlighted channel in the waning evening glow and the calm surface of Lake Macatawa mirrored her white hull and many lights. There were the usual salutes on the sonorous chime whistle between ship and shore to remind local residents in this year of belated spring that vacation and cruise days are not far away."

He said it, the Ambusher didn't!

The following remark is credited to Nick Hoffman, who takes a dim view of Holland's prolonged cold snap. Said Nick, "Well, at least the snow isn't drifting!"

Men who think the culinary arts are only for the feminine members of society could take a lesson from their teenage sons who may elect to take cooking lessons in their junior high curriculum.

The youngsters displayed their art this week by making lemon pies for a dinner of the Board of Education and public school teachers, under supervision of their teacher, Miss Esther Veen Hus.

Miss Veen Hus, in announcing the incident, said, "And I hope the crust is light and flaky."

It was!

Cornie Van Duren, Holland High senior, received an unexpected thrill and some first-hand information when he went to interview Fire Chief Andrew Klomprens Wednesday night on the history of the Holland fire department. They had talked about five minutes when a fire alarm sounded and "Klomp" decided to give his friend the seat of honor on the fire truck. The fire was only a minor affair but the ride was exciting.

The Rev. Andrew Branche of Brewton, Ala., in Holland this week for First church Centennial activities, said he was having a hard time struggling along on a mere six to eight meals a day. Seems as though the popular Southern singer has been besieged with invitations from local parishioners, all of whom like to display their hospitality by setting a good table.

We'll bet Brother Andrew met his match at the church banquets Thursday and Friday which featured such concoctions as vruchten in glazen, groente salade, toespings, gebraden kalkoen met vulling, aardappel puree met jus, doopervet, broodjes met boter, Hollandsch roegbrood, Hollandsche appeltaart, koffie and melk.

Mrs. Nicholas Gosselink, who was toastmistress at the young people's banquet of First church Thursday night, enjoyed holding her husband in suspense for five weeks wondering what she would say about him in introducing him as principal speaker.

She took him back about 20 years when they were attending Central college in Pella, Ia., and told a story about a Sunday night date in which they ended up sitting on the steps of "dear old Central" because the dormitory parlor was torn up for repairs. The building burned a few weeks later, but the steps remained "as a monument," she said.

Then after a few more anecdotes she turned the meeting over to her husband saying, "And I'm not responsible for what he says."

Her husband said, "There's one little thing my wife forgot in that story." Then he kissed her.

Mrs. Gosselink recovered quite quickly, and, continuing her former sentence, said, "or does!"

Christian High Seniors To Present Comedy Play

"Moonlight for Herbert", a three-act comedy by Dana Thomas, will be presented Thursday and Friday by the senior class of Holland Christian High School. The play, to be given at 8 p.m. in the Holland High school auditorium, is under the direction of Henry Bengelink, faculty member.

This amusing play portrays the "ups and downs" of a typical American family. The role of Herbert Rains, who is forever clouding his parents' horizon, will be played by Clarence Boeve. Aiding and abetting him in all his schemes and plans is Vincent Farnsworth, the principal's son, taken by Mr. and Mrs. Rains, who are tolerant at times but also understandably provoked, have been assigned to Willard Haak and Betty Meyerling.

Trouble begins when Mrs. Elington Lewis, played by Elaine Folkerts, and Felix Heider, famous music critic, taken by Andrew Jonker, arrive at the Rains home for Herbert's audition and find him gone. More trouble develops when Mr. Tierney, a successful contractor, portrayed by John Naber, takes offense at the Rains and the Farnsworths for the float which the two boys have built.

Comedy in the play is provided by Beverly, Herbert's "kid sister" portrayed by Sandra Lanning. Jean Bressart, who is Herbert's "Moonlight", is played by Norma Piers. Jack Vannette takes the part of Mr. Farnsworth, the high school principal.

Mrs. Tracy, a housewife who readily gives her opinion of the two young "up-starts", is played by Gertrude Heerspink, and Hazel Kool acts as Miss Hepplewhite, Herbert's music teacher whose temper causes her to drop her music as well as her pupils. Concluding the cast is Julia Arnold, the town's leading realtor, played by Kathleen Jeldersma.

Fillmore Board Adopts Ordinance

The Fillmore Township board by unanimous vote adopted an interim zoning ordinance April 27 to be in effect May 8.

At request of a large group of property owners, the board, in the beginning of 1946, passed a resolution to come under the township rural zoning enabling act 184, public acts 1943, and requested Allegan county Probate Judge Irving Tucker to appoint a zoning board for the township. Zoning board appointments were Russell Boeve, 942 Lincoln Ave., George Klingenberg and Clarence Mulder of route 6 and Julius Tucker of East Saugatuck.

After a year of careful study and considerations with public hearings and assistance of the Michigan State Health department, Allegan County Health department, Michigan Planning commission, Dr. Louis A. Wolfanger, Engineering department, Michigan State college, Prosecuting Attorney Chester A. Ray and Allegan County Agricultural Agent A. D. Morley, the board presented the ordinance April 27 to the township board for final approval.

Four zoning districts were set up: industrial, commercial, residential and agricultural. Jerry Schrotenboer of route 6, was appointed building inspector.

On the zoning board of appeals are Russell Boeve, chairman of township zoning board, Ben E. Lohman, township supervisor and George Koops. All township property owners will be mailed a copy of the ordinance.

Because of a large number of complaints from property owners about dumping rubbish on and along township highways and also about dogs running loose in the subdivisions, the township has purchased 20 acres of land for a township dump and plans are ready to build a good gravel road into this property. The township board has requested Deputy Sheriff Ben J. Sterenberg to pick up all stray, unlicensed and loose running dogs in the subdivisions south of 32nd St., Holland.

From 1,200 to 1,500 persons attended the Scouting Exposition and Merit Badge show Saturday in Holland High school gymnasium, the first such event sponsored by the council for 10 years.

The show was launched with a 40-minute presentation of music and fancy drilling by the Racine, Wis., scout drum and bugle corps, which stopped in Holland en route to Grand Rapids where they later marched in a parade and laid a wreath on Campau square monument for Scouts who had died in action. The music attracted passersby here and before the concert ended, it was estimated 600 had gathered.

The 44 corpsmen and nine adults had a quick visit of the gymnasium show and visited the Wooden Shoe factory before leaving for Grand Rapids.

Troop 6, sponsored by First Reformed church, and troop 10, sponsored by First Methodist church, won the president's ribbon for their booths and exhibits inside. Booths were rated as follows: A, proficient; B, standard, and C, participating.

Mrs. J. Wayer Is Dinner Speaker

"The Marks of a World Christian" was the subject of an address by Mrs. James Wayer of Racine, Wis., at a Centennial banquet for adults of First Reformed church Friday evening in the Temple building. A capacity crowd of 450 attended.

Mrs. Wayer, wife of a former First church pastor, asked her listeners to think in terms of confidence, to think in large terms. "The war has enlarged our geographic horizons, but what about racial horizons? If there is love enough, color makes no difference," she said.

The speaker defined prejudice as "being down on what you're not up on." She added that the Dutch and the Reformed church are among the worst offenders.

She said the unending intercession of marching orders of a church still stand and urged everybody to re-examine their faith, asking "Do we really believe 'Go ye into all the world'?" In conclusion she emphasized the need of "unwillingness consecration" in establishing the marks of a Christian.

Mrs. Edith Walvoord, director of religious education, introduced the toastmaster, the Rev. Bastian Kruthoff. Letters of congratulation were read from Marie Van Vuren in Dulce, N. M., and the Rev. James C. Nettings, secretary of the Board of Domestic Missions.

Music was provided by the Rev. Nicholas Gosselink of Gray Hawk, Ky., and by a mixed quartet, Walter Vander Haar, general chairman of the Centennial celebration, spoke briefly. Opening and closing prayers were given by the Rev. Gerrit Tyssac and Miss Nettie De Jong.

Favors were small log cabins and centerpieces were larger cabins with smoke coming out of the chimney from incense.

Ceremony in Parsonage Unites Local Couple

Miss Donna Ruth Klomprens, sister of the bride, and Bob Weiler attended the couple. The bride wore a two-piece dress of melon gabardine with a corsage of white roses and her attendant wore a green street length dress with a corsage of white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. De Vries spent the week-end at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Klomprens, in Chenoa, Ill. After May 7 they will live on route 1, Holland.

Laketown Board Votes Interim Zoning Ordinance

Property Owners Meet In Public Hearing; Few Voice Dissents

Following a public hearing held Thursday night in the Laketown township hall, the township board adopted an interim zoning ordinance and gave it immediate effect.

The ordinance was presented and adoption recommended by the township zoning board which has had the ordinance under consideration for several months.

At the hearing, attended by 40 property owners, the ordinance was favorably received. A few expressed themselves as dissatisfied with the lot size provisions for country homes.

General ordinance provisions include that the lawful use of land or buildings existing on the day the ordinance became effective may continue though they do not conform with the ordinance.

Beginning today, no new or different use of buildings or land may be undertaken except as the use complies with the ordinance. Also beginning today no new buildings or structures or parts of buildings may be located, built or used unless they conform and a construction permit obtained. Provision is also made for repair, improvements and restoration of buildings not conforming with the ordinance.

The ordinance sets up standards for safe water supplies and sewage disposal and requires that all plumbing and electrical work shall comply with standard codes. Trailer camps and cabin courts are prohibited unless they comply with the state law and are approved by the township board but provision is made for a land owner to live in a trailer on his lot while constructing his residence. Buildings used for seasonal labor must be approved by the board of appeals.

Two zoning districts are set up, provisions different for each zone. The ordinance provides for a zoning administrator, who will administer and enforce the ordinance. He will be responsible for passing application of buildings permits and issuing permits. A board of appeals is provided to hear any cases where people may be aggrieved by decisions. The ordinance provides fine and imprisonment for violations.

The ordinance adopted is temporary, but much of it will become part of a permanent ordinance. A copy of the ordinance will be sent to each owner.

Appointment of a zoning administrator and appeal board will be made Monday when the township board meets.

In addition to Miss Hershey, the program committee is arranging for special music, a skit, and a review of garments being tailored this week. Mary E. Bullis, home extension agent, will show colored slides of home economics work in the county.

Three members for the home extension council will be elected from the south half of the county, and a member at large.

A luncheon will be served at noon, at Congregational church. The dinner committee asks that reservations for the meal be sent to the Extension office by Thursday, May 8.

Central Park Church Groups Have Meetings

Mission societies of Central Park Reformed church met Thursday and Friday in the church parlors.

The Missionary society met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. H. Rosenberg presiding. Miss Betty Brinkman told of her work among the migrants at Hollandia, Minn., last summer. The Rev. Andrew Branche talked about his work at Brewton, Ala., and sang several Negro spirituals.

Hostesses were Mrs. J. Rookus and Mrs. J. De Pree.

The Mission Guild of the church met Friday night. Speaker was Mrs. G. De Jonge, missionary from Arabia. A violin solo was played by Miss Iris Bouman and an Arabian hymn was sung by Mrs. R. Bouman and Mrs. B. Timmer.

Polio Chapter To Meet

The annual spring meeting of the Ottawa County chapter of the National Infantile Paralysis foundation will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in the Supervisors' room of the Court House at Grand Haven. Election of officers will be held. An invitation is extended to any interested persons who wish to attend.

Norwood Reck, Union City, N.J., and Lou Jonkman, Holland, co-operate on handling a box of clothing that has been inspected and folded for shipment to Sarospatak college in Hungary. This box contains a few of the 1,868 garments collected in a student drive.

Barbara Van Dyke, Zeeland, and Peggy Prins, Holland, both Hope college students, are shown sorting and polishing shoes for the Hungarian college. Most of the clothing collected in the drive was classified as excellent. Footgear was an important part of the collection.

Hope Drive To Assist Sarospatak Succeeds

More than $3000 in money and clothing was raised for Sarospatak college, Hungary, by Hope college students, it was announced today by Robert Van Dis, Kalamazoo, student council president and co-chairman of the student drive committee with Lou Jonkman, Holland.

The number of used garments turned in totaled 1,868 pieces or an average of one and one-half per student. Garments were in an unusually good condition and ranged from jackets and coats to trousers, shoes, dresses and all types of underwear. Jackets, coats and sweaters numbered 292 pieces. There were 300 pairs of shoes and socks, 213 dresses, 185 pieces of underwear and 878 pieces of clothing which ranged from wash cloths, bed spreads, pillow cases, bathrobes, slacks suits, bathing suits, smocks and ski pants. More than $1,300 was raised through collections, a basket ball game for the general public between the Hope college faculty and the varsity teams, and a penny social which was sponsored by the Women's Activity league.

Through co-operation of Holland merchants, $865 of this amount was used to purchase $2,500 worth of clothing, woolen goods and canned food. This represents a total of 1,079 new garments such as overcoats, suits, shirts, dresses, blankets, 71 yards of woolen material and 162 pounds of canned pure pork.

For the last week members of the committee and other students have been busy pressing, folding and packing material for shipment. Every pair of shoes was shined, all materials and clothing were neatly folded and packed so as to impress upon the Sarospatak students that Hope college really cares.

Hope college has been interested in this Hungarian college because it is about the same size as Hope and was established upon the same principles. It was founded in 1531 by Peter Penenyl, one of the men who brought the Reformation to Hungary. Many letters have been received from members of this college thanking the student body of Hope for the many contributions made in the past.

In the early part of March of this year the Sarospatak students declared a Hope college day in which the entire day was spent with appropriate programs dedicated to the students of this school. Sarospatak, like many other colleges throughout central Europe is at a very low ebb economically due to the slow European recovery. Prof. M. Eugene Osterhaven was faculty sponsor.

Immunization for Smallpox Urged By Health Dept.

Dr. Barrett Explains Preventatives for Other Contagious Diseases

Dr. C. Dale Barrett, Jr., head of the Ottawa County Health department, today recommended certain immunizations for children and adults, particularly in preventing smallpox.

Public awareness of smallpox reached a new high a month ago following a scare in New York City where a person traveling from Mexico to New York by bus contracted the disease. Up to 10 days ago there were at least 12 known cases and two deaths there. Wholesale vaccinations prevented what might have been a serious epidemic.

Although there has been virtually no smallpox threat in this area for several years, Dr. Barrett advises persons to be vaccinated each three years or at least every five years. He said there were 10 cases of smallpox in Ottawa county as late as 1940, and 37 cases during an epidemic scare in 1938.

Smallpox is the simplest of all immunization procedures, and, for all practical purposes, is painless, he said. He added reactions are nothing to worry about since severe reactions are extremely rare.

Children should be vaccinated for smallpox before they are a year old, should be revaccinated when entering school and each three years thereafter, he said. Babies may be vaccinated any time after they are 10 days old. Smallpox vaccination does not give lifelong protection, so that adults as well as children should be revaccinated every three years.

The health department continually advises that all children, six months through six years, receive protective doses of whooping cough vaccine. This should be started when the baby is six months old, and may consist of a series of three or four injections, depending upon the type of vaccine used, with a booster shot at two or three years and a final booster dose when entering school at 5 or 6. After that treatment is optional, since whooping cough is most dangerous in children under six.

For diphtheria, the department recommends that the child get his first immunization with diphtheria toxoid at the age of nine months, although he may be started as early as six months if combined with whooping cough in the same injection. Two or three injections a month apart are recommended, depending upon the type of toxoid used. Booster doses should be given at the same time as whooping cough booster doses, and then every five years thereafter.

Smallpox vaccine, whooping cough and diphtheria toxoid are distributed free of charge by the state of Michigan to local physicians through county or city health departments, Dr. Barrett said.

Wherever possible, the family should be immunized by its own physician since he knows best the health needs of the individual family. Where this is impossible, the health department offers immunization service.

Measles is a dangerous disease in young children and infants, the health department head stated. "Although we have no vaccine for immunizing children for measles in advance like we do for smallpox, there is a product made from human blood called gamma globulin which, if administered within six days after known exposure, will modify the measles, thereby giving permanent immunity without serious illness," Dr. Barrett said.

Infants who have never been immunized with whooping cough vaccine can be given an immediate but temporary immunity after suspected exposure to the disease by the injection of hyper-immune whooping cough serum, he said. The vaccine requires two to three months to produce an immunity which lasts several years. Although the serum gives immediate protection, its effect lasts only about two to three weeks.

Dykstra-Hoving Vows Exchanged in Church

Miss Dorothy Hoving, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hoving, route 6, became the bride of Marvin Dykstra, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dykstra, 495 Harrison Ave., in a wedding ceremony performed Thursday night.

The double ring service was read at 8 p.m. by the Rev. L. Voskuil in Montello Park Christian Reformed church. Palms, ferns, two large baskets of white gladioli and snapdragons and two seven-branch candelabra, formed the setting for the exchange of vows.

Betty Dykstra, sister of the groom, played "Liebestraum" and "Melody of Love" preceding the ceremony. The Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches also were played. Martin Stegink, cousin of the groom, sang "Oh Promise Me" and following the ceremony, "God Sent You to Me."

The bride wore a white satin gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, pointed at the wrists and full skirt ending in a long train. She wore a lace-edged fingertip veil and carried a bouquet of white roses and sweetpeas with white ribbon streamers. A double strand of pearls completed her wedding ensemble.

Miss Alma Hoving, bridesmaid, wore an aqua blue taffeta gown with net overskirt. She wore white mitts and carried a bouquet of pink and white snapdragons and sweetpeas and white roses tied with a yellow ribbon.

Laverne Dykstra assisted his brother as best man. Ushers were Arthur Groenhof and Earl Dykstra.

A reception for 70 guests was held at the Marquee. Mr. and Mrs. Tony Klingenberg were master and mistress of ceremonies. Misses Celia Lambers and Donna Vander Vliet presided at the punch bowl and Misses Ruth and Louise Dykstra were in charge of gifts.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. Rozenberg and daughters, Elaine and Lois of Kalamazoo; Ralph Groenink and son, Henry of Grand Haven, Harry Vander Mel and Alice Peddler of Muskegon Heights.

Greetings were received from Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Jacobusse, uncle and aunt of the groom who wired from Phoenix, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Dykstra left on a southern wedding trip. For traveling she wore a coral suit with light grey coat and white accessories.

They will live on route 1 after May 15.

Centennial Dinner, Tea Held by First Church

Bouquets of daffodils and white sweet peas in old fashioned covered wells graced tables at a banquet for the young people of First Reformed church Thursday night in the Temple building. Almost 450 attended the event in connection with the church's 100th anniversary. Adults will gather there for a similar event tonight.

Tiny wells with wooden buckets served as favors for each guest. Souvenir programs bearing the church seal and centennial dates listed the menu in the Dutch language.

Mrs. Nicholas Gosselink as toastmaster had the novel experience of introducing her husband as main speaker. Rev. Gosselink of Gray Hawk, Ky., former pastor of First church, chose for his subject, "Juxtaposition," which he defined as placing along side each other two or more objects in close proximity.

He said juxtaposition sometimes makes for humor, such as when two things not ordinarily related are placed side by side. "Sometimes we put religion in juxtaposition with wrong relationships in our Christian lives," he said.

"Juxtaposition sometimes makes for tragedy such as when a child burns his leg on a stove, or when young people ignore the advances in the church or when old people have no time for young people. But juxtaposition also makes for glory and high ideals, and can fulfill the destiny laid by proper foundations."

The Rev. Andrew Branche of Brewton, Ala., brought greetings and sang two selections of the spiritual type. Other vocal music was provided by a mixed quartet consisting of Mrs. Herbert Wynga, Miss Ruth Ann Poppin, Gerrit and John Ter Beek, Charles Kuysers presided and opening and closing prayers were given by Delbert Vander Haar and Wayne Lemmen, respectively.

About 100 women of the church attended an attractive "Centennial tea" in the church parlors Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Bastian Kruitthof, Mrs. Gerrit Tyse and Mrs. Albertus Pieters poured at tables decorated with daffodils and candles. Hostesses for the affair were Mesdames Charles Kuysers, A. Vander Werf, S. Vander Werf and Miss Nellie Herrema.

Devotions were led by Miss Nettie De Young and Mrs. Seth Vander Werf, wife of a former pastor, gave a sketch of a minister's family as they moved about the country from one congregation to another.

"Helpers by Prayer" was an address given by the Rev. James Wayer, a former First church pastor. Mrs. Nicholas Gosselink, whose husband also served First church, spoke of the great changes in the church, from a single log cabin to the present brick structure. She urged continuation toward greater achievements so that at the end of another century it may be said, "We have fought the good fight; we have kept the faith."

Life memberships in the boards of foreign and domestic missions were presented to the Misses Lena and Reka Dykema.

Two duets, "Hark, Hark My Soul," Rockwell and "Lord Speak to Me," Roberts, were sung by Mrs. Harry Young and Mrs. Harold De Loof.

Van Raalte Cubs Exhibit Hobbies, Collections

Cub Pack No. 1 sponsored by the Van Raalte PTA held its April meeting in Van Raalte school Wednesday April 30. The opening ceremony was conducted by Den 1 under direction of Den Chief Leonard Rowell. Upon presentation of the colors, all Cubs joined in the Cub promise.

Wayne Kammeraad, fifth Cub scout to graduate from Pack 1 was presented with the Lion badge and the Lion gold honor arrow. He was also presented with the highest award in the Cub program, that of Webelos rank. Formerly a member of Pack 5 at Longfellow school, he was transferred to Van Raalte Cub pack at the time of organization of the new pack in June 1946.

Cub scouts under direction of Assistant Cubmaster Preston Shaffer and Den chiefs Paul Schieringa, Donald Kane and Leonard Rowell spent some time practicing stunts and games for the Merit Badge show and Scout exposition to be held in the High school gym next Saturday. During this period, parents, den mothers and cubmaster discussed the revised requirements and electives for the Wolf, Bear and Lion cub ranks.

Parents had the opportunity to look over several collections of stamps, coins, travel folders, bird pictures and match book folders. Several pieces of handicraft were also exhibited.

The closing ceremony was conducted by Den 1. As the lights began to dim, flashlights held by members of the den suddenly flashed toward the flag in the hands of the color guard. When the flag was entirely covered with light the entire group joined in singing the national anthem. The flag was retired as the main lights slowly came on.

Local Netmen Down Britons

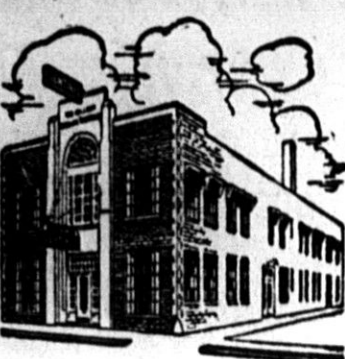

Hope college netters remained undefeated in MIAA play Monday as they whipped the Albion Britons 5-2 on the 21st St. courts. The locals have now won four matches and lost two. Their two losses came at the hands of Calvin and Grand Rapids Junior.

In matches yesterday, the locals dropped one singles and one doubles event. The weather was far from ideal for tennis, and play reflected the chill and stiff breeze.

In the singles matches Scholten of the Dutchmen was defeated by Jones of the Britons 6-2, 6-3. The other Hope loss came in the doubles when Harrison and Gnade bowed to Jones and Frevert 3-6, 6-3, 6-1. The remainder of the matches were won with comparative ease with no singles match exceeding two sets.

The complete results are: Tirrell (H) def. Sliger, (A) 7-5, 6-0; Jones (A) def. Schol

TAG DAY NUISANCE

In a recent discussion about tag days in the Michigan senate
Sen. Robt. J. Hamilton of Battle Creek had some pertinent things to say about what he called the tag day nuisance.

"When I was mayor of Battle Creek," he told his fellow members in the senate, "we had so many tag days that people wouldn't come down town on Saturdays."

Sen. Hamilton was describing a condition that would apply to many other places than Battle Creek. There has been a growing realization in many communities throughout Michigan that the tag day technique is in many instances developing into something that is not far from being a racket. Or if it is not that, it often has that effect on the general public. People like to have some say as to what charities they are going to support. The tag day technique robs them of this choice.

Those who employ the tag day method answer that no one is compelled to contribute. Technically that's true; actually it is not. Comparatively few people have the gumption to refuse when they are accosted at every street corner by a solicitor. They get the feeling that they are being held up, and many make contributions under mental protest. After considerable experience with this kind of thing many do what the Battle Creek man said they did in his city—they stay away from the downtown district when tag days are in progress.

That means loss of business for the merchants. The cause for which tags are being sold may be a worthy one. The question remains whether the over all loss is not greater than the gain for a particular cause.

The same principle applies to methods of collecting money in the theatres. People go to a theatre for relaxation, not to be lectured into giving liberally to the anti-cancer campaign or to any other cause no matter how worthy it is. Many resent the assumption that they cannot be depended upon to make such decisions for themselves and must be pressured into making their contributions.
Some even stay away from the theatres while such things are going on.

Such techniques may bring in the cash. It is doubtful whether the net gain is as big as it is supposed to be.

The Struggle Against Baalism
1 Kings 18:20-21, 30-39
By Henry Geertlings

It is important that we properly value the moral influence of a national leader. Perhaps it is not difficult to do when we think of Judah or Israel, for then and there people worshipped pretty much as they were told by their ruler. But how true it was, when they had a good king the trend of thought and conduct was toward a higher plane. When they had a wicked king it was downward.
But even in a country like our own where a man may worship as his conscience dictates, he is tremendously influenced by the moral attitude of those who hold chief offices. We have had presidents and other leaders whose conception of right and duty has lifted us all to higher ethical levels.

God is not shut up to any one method when He wants to save men from a downward course. It may be drought or pestilence or flood or sword or sickness, as well as health and good fortune to which He resorts to compel us to turn our thought toward Him.
Whether we see in calamities local, national or international, immediate visitations of God for religious ends or not, they most surely become under His providence agents whose message cannot be mistaken. Ahab and his subjects must have done some serious thinking those long three years. Who of us has not been called to prolonged reflection on the deeper things of life by visitations of one kind or another?

The sudden appearance of the messenger who blocks our path may mean that we are to stop in our tracks and look up and think of God.

Good and evil are bound to come into conflict. The day may be deferred, but it cannot be dismissed. You cannot put the right to work in any corner of the earth where the wrong will not soon fall on it to destroy it. You cannot plant evil anywhere that good will not soon come to dig it up and cast it out. It was inevitable that Elijah and Ahab, the representatives respectively of God and Baal, should meet in some arena to test their strength.
These conflicts are far better than peace at any price. If pure religion is to prevail it must wage war on impure religion. If right thinking is to win the day, it will not do so until it has met and vanquished wrong thinking. It is an unhealthy sign when truth lets error alone to pursue its own way undisturbed.

Who is it that troubles the world, the servant of God or the servant of Satan? Ahab charged Elijah with troubling Israel. Was he right, or was the prophet right when he accused the king of that nefarious business? When Moses went to Egypt to deliver his people he was accused of stirring up trouble makers. When Jesus went miah predicted the downfall of a nation they were denounced as trouble makers. When Jesus went into the temple to preach the gospel and Paul planted the banner of the cross in Philippi, they were charged with stirring up trouble and sedition. When Luther nailed up his thesis, and John Bunyan began preaching in Moot
Hall in his native town of Elstow, and Henry Ward Beecher denounced slavery, and Frances E.
Willard, the friend of the American fireside, did her great work to abolish the saloon, they were listed among the world's trouble makers. But were they? Perhaps so, but if they were, it was worth it in order to get millions of human beings up unto those altitudes where they could think God's thoughts after him.

They who win must be gifted in prayer. And by that I mean more than fervor or much speaking. The worshippers were just as fervent, and they prayed much longer. By prayer I mean knowing God, having communion with Him, talking intimately with Him.
We are making much nowadays of church organization, of religious education, of the increase of our financial budget but let us hope not to the lessening of our conscious need of close communion with God through Jesus Christ.
Elijah was strong on prayer.

The Christian church must prove its right to the confidence and allegiance of men by its works. When Elijah got through the people believed in God, and furthermore, they believed in Him, and in what He said and did. We want the world to know that the Lord whom we represent is God, and we also want the world to know that the church is His instrument. And to this end
He must accomplish His purpose through the church. It dare not be a powerless society, devoid of evidences, barren of good works.

Any ample religion builds up as well as tears down. Let us not think of Elijah as a man who only called down fire from heaven and shed the blood of his antagonists. He was more and he did more than that. Let us think of him rather in connection with the last picture given us of him.
See him as he goes from Gilgal to Bethel, and from Bethel to Jericho, giving his final message to the schools of the prophets in which he was so keenly interested. See him as he does his last piece of work on earth, encouraging the young men who were to take the work he was so soon to lay down, and fulfill his prayer,
"that the people may know that thou art the Lord God, and that thou hast turned their heart back again."

It is estimated Americans
smoke 162 billion cigarettes a year.

All Farms Need
Spring Clean-up

Spring clean-up on the farm is like giving the farm a new suit of clothes or a new dress. It is a spring tonic. A check up on debris accumulation, says the Michigan Agricultural Extension service,
the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the National Fire Protection association cooperating, will expose many unsightly places that are also accident and fire hazards on farms.

Poor housekeeping means letting trash and old furniture accumulate in attics, sheds, barns and out buildings and all too often this is where the fire hazards are in hiding. These fire hazards may be old rags, or frayed electric cords, or even cobwebs and dust gathered on electrical switch boxes and lamps.

A spring clean-up will eliminate all these and make the farm a safer and healthier place. A paint job too may be in order to complete the spring tonic. When this is accomplished it is easier to keep the farm in top working condition with everything in its place and a place for everything.

Opening Day of Tulip Time Signal
For Traditional Street Scrubbing

Wednesday afternoon, May 14, will find many of the citizens of Holland, dressed in Dutch costume, literally scrubbing blocks of their city's street.

This picturesque feature is a traditional opening day activity of Tulip Time and one that has always been very popular with Tulip Time guests. It is based on the custom still being practiced in the Netherlands of the housewives scrubbing the sidewalks and streets in front of their residences
as a regular household practice.
In Holland, Mich., the first official act of the Tulip Time program will find Mayor Ben Steffens and the City Council inspecting the city's streets and finding them unfit for the many visitors whom we wish to welcome.

The Mayor will call for volunteers to scrub the streets and then the work and fun begins. Armed with brooms and brushes and carrying pails of water by means of neck yokes, the street scrubbers fill blocks of Eighth St. with a happy throng of workers. The spirit of fun prevails and as the water is sloshed over the streets many scrubbers and not a few spectators get an unexpected ducking.

The organizing of the street scrubbers for the 1947 festival is in charge of a committee from the Junior Chamber of Commerce with John Benson, acting as chairman.
The committee desires to have as many people participate as possible and have requested that as many organizations as possible furnish a costumed street scrubbing unit. Individuals are also asked to volunteer so that the number of scrubbers and the amount of streets scrubbed may be greatly increased.

As an additional attraction arrangements are being made with as many merchants as possible to have the sidewalks in front of their places of business scrubbed every day. The committee feels that this will afford many more of our visitors an opportunity to see one of the attractions that has helped make our festival unique and hope that every merchant will co-operate in this venture.

Dutchmen Blank Albion Nine In MIAA Contest

Ver Hey Allows Only Two Hits Throughout; Locals Get Four Blows

Behind the two-hit pitching of southpaw, Bill Ver Hey, the Hope college baseball nine downed the Albion college team by a score of 4-0. K. Nelson, Albion's third sacker, boomed out two singles to spoil Ver Hey's perfect game.

The Hollanders got three runs in the third on two hits, and added their fourth run in the sixth on two Briton errors. Hope collected four hits with three of them being made by Russ De Vette who splurged with two doubles and a single. Wellington hurled effective ball for the Britons but several costly errors kept him in trouble.

Both Albion and Hope went scoreless in the first two innings and again in the first of the third the Britons went down in order. But with two out in Hope's third inning the Hollanders came through with two runs on an error, a double by De Vette and a base on balls, which filled the bases. Rotman was hit by a pitched ball and forced one run in. A single by Van Wieren scored two more Hope runs, but Rotman was out at the plate trying to score from first.

Both teams went down in order in the fourth inning and Ver Hey dished up three strike outs in the fifth of the fifth to set the Britons down once more. In Hope's fifth the Dutchmen got one hit, a single by De Vette, but failed to have a runner cross the plate.

Albion got their second hit in the sixth, but the runner was stranded on base when Hoover fanned to retire the side. Van Wieren led off the sixth by being safe on an error and advanced to second on a sacrifice by Mulder. A third base error enabled Higgs to get to first and allowed Van Wieren to come home from second for Hope's fourth run.

Three infield outs ended the game with two grounders to third and one to second.

Knipe's Station Began in 1910

Knipe's Super Service station, located at Seventh St. and Central Ave. is owned and operated by Harry F. Knipe and Al Knipe. They have been connected with servicing cars for many years, as Harry Knipe started business at the present location in 1910. He also has sold gasoline since that time.

Fifteen years ago the owners built their modern station where they handle a complete line of Texaco products, car accessories, batteries, Firestone and Dunlop tires and tubes, fan belts, mufflers, tail pipes, etc.

The owners also operate a large parking lot at the northwest corner of Seventh St. and Central Ave. The lot holds more than 50 cars. Being close to the business district, this is advantageous and convenient for persons who wish to have their car washed or serviced while they shop. When the job is completed the car can be removed to the station's parking lot.

Snappy service is offered by the four full-time employees and two part-time employees of Knipe's Super Service station.

Holland Hopes for Warm Weather To Hasten Tulips

Plans Progressing for Eight-Mile Tulip Tour Winding Through City

Holland residents today crossed their fingers and hoped for warm weather in the hope that all-out co-operation from Mother Nature might bring the tulips into bloom for the 1947 festival May 14 through 17.

Park Supt. Dick Smalenburg estimates the tulips are two weeks behind their normal development. He said chances were remote that the tulips, which have made Holland internationally famous, will be at their best for the festival, but added warm weather would help a lot.

Meanwhile, the Tulip Time committee went ahead with plans for directing festival visitors to their eight miles of tulip lanes and Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff appointed Sgt. Jerry Vanderbeek to take charge of directing traffic, a position he has filled for the last few years.

For the first time since 1942, tulips will bloom three deep along the curbs of city streets. Varieties and colors have been kept separate so that masses of one color will contrast to the next block of another color.

Large-scale plantings were possible this year for the first time since 1941 when the war made bulb imports impossible and decreased the personnel of the park department to such a point that the department could not maintain the beds already planted. Consequently by 1946 when the festival was revived, only a few blocks of the many miles of tulip lanes remained.

In the spring of 1946, the Tulip Time committee was assured that bulbs could be imported and decision was made to replant lanes using those which had survived the war years as a nucleus for new plantings.

The idea was given impetus when Common Council appropriated money for the purchase of 65,000 bulbs and the Holland Tulip Garden club decided to raise funds for the purchase of additional bulbs. Mrs. Chester Van Tongeren headed the committee to solicit merchants, business and professional men and individuals. In this manner, funds to purchase 110,000 additional bulbs were raised.

Park Supt. Smalenburg and his men planted bulbs purchased by the city and supervised work of volunteers in planting the others. The garden club and Junior Chamber of Commerce were appointed to organize the planting and volunteers were requested from service clubs, veterans' organizations, women's clubs, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and the schools. Early in November, these workers assembled and the bulbs were planted along the curbs of 40 blocks of city streets. A survey this spring reveals that the tulips have come up well.

Police Chief Van Hoff was consulted on original planning of the route in order to minimize traffic problems. Arrows will mark the eight-mile tulip lane which starts at 12th St. and River Ave.

The lane leads west on 12th to Washington Ave., north on Washington to Eighth, circling the end of the boulevard and go south on Washington to 10th St., west on 10th and through Kollen park, then east on 12th to Washington, south on Washington to 20th and east on 20th to Michigan Ave.

The route continues south on Michigan to 28th St., west on 28th to Washington, south on Washington to 32nd St. and Michigan, north on Michigan to 21st St., east on 21st to Central, south on Central to 23rd St., east on 23rd to State, south on State to 32nd and Lincoln, north on Lincoln to 30th, west on 30th to State, then north on State to Columbia, then north on Columbia to 24th St., west on 24th to State, north on State to Central, and north on Central to 12th.

Poultry Disease Found in State

Newcastle disease of poultry, already diagnosed in Michigan this year, requires continued vigilance by farmers and hatchery operators. Dr. C. E. Hardin, extension poultry pathologist at Michigan State college, points out that the ailment causes a combination of respiratory and nervous symptoms, and results in many deaths and lowered egg production.

The national committee on Newcastle disease has modified its 1946 objection to live poultry shows. Poultry exhibitions are now permitted when regulated to prevent spread of Newcastle disease.

Early diagnosis is extremely important, states Hardin. Since symptoms resemble other respiratory diseases, identification requires veterinary diagnosis and laboratory tests of any suspected case.

If an outbreak is suspected, live specimens should be delivered to the poultry clinic at Michigan State college. Birds should be brought in person because of danger of spreading the disease through the mails.

Strict sanitation, prompt quarantine of suspicious cases, and vigilance against obtaining chicks from premises where the disease is present, are the key points for control of Newcastle disease.

Accompanying the pupils were teachers and several parents.

Western Broncs Down Hope Team

Coach Jack Schouten's Hope college baseball nine took a 11-4 trimming at the hands of the Western Michigan "B" squad at Riverview park Friday.

Clair Van Lier opened for the Hollanders, but was driven to the showers after the fifth inning and southpaw Bill Ver Hey came in for relief.

Through the third inning the Dutchmen possessed a 3-1 lead, but in a mighty Bronco fourth, the Broncos shelled Van Lier for three hits and three runs. With one out and a man on second and third, Podoley, Bronco third sacker, smashed a long home run scoring three runs and putting the Westerners in the lead 4-3. Hope got to Gene Schluckebier, Western tosser for a hit in the fourth but failed to score.

Van Lier held the Broncos scoreless in the fifth inning and Hope came back to tie the score on a long left-field circuit clout by Yonker.

In the sixth frame, Coleman was struck out—second to first, Podoley threw out and Schluckebier drew a single. Bucholz singled; Bauer singled scoring Schluckebier. Bucholz scored on a single by Karwas and Bauer scored on a wild pitch. Lowe popped one up the elevator shaft and was the third out.

Hope didn't score again in the contest and added only one hit to their total in the ninth on a single by Hillegonds, his third of the day. Western added two runs in the eighth and two more in the ninth for their 11-4 victory.

Dick Higgs, left-handed hitting first sacker for Hope, parked one of Schluckebier's fast ones out of the ball park in the second to give Hope a total of two circuit clouts for the day. Hope has a total of 11 hits off Schluckebier while two Hope moundsmen allowed the Westerners 16 safeties. The locals made three errors, while the Broncos erred only once during the nine inning tilt.

Hollanders Defeat Segmented Seed Kalamazoo Netters Use Increases

For the first time, as long as Coach Joe Moran can remember, the Holland High school tennis team downed the Kalamazoo netters by a score of 4-3. The match was originally scheduled to be the official Southwestern conference tilt, but both coaches agreed to call the game a practice tilt because of the stiff wind that blew in Kalamazoo yesterday.

Kalamazoo, probably as tough a tennis team as there is in the league, proved to be stiffest competition the locals have met to date. But the young Hollanders showed they had the "stuff" to win.

The Dutchmen lost their number one and two tilts in the singles, but came back strong to win their third and fourth singles matches. In doubles the Hollanders took two out of the three matches.

The official conference meet between the two schools will be played in Holland on May 20. The Holland netters will engage East Grand Rapids for their next meet on May 8.

Dutch Tie Bucs In Freak Game At Grand Haven

Drizzle Hampers Play; Each Team Hits Once But Many Earn Walks

In a freakish baseball contest in Grand Haven Friday between the Holland High school nine and the Buccaneers from Grand Haven both pitchers allowed one hit, but the game ended in a 5-5 deadlock. A drizzle hampered play throughout the game.

Clyde Kehrwecker hurled through five and a half innings, allowing only one hit but issued 10 walks. Mahler, Buccaneer hurler also allowed but one hit, a single by Czerkies in the big sixth. The game was called at the end of the eighth because of rain and darkness.

Both teams went scoreless for the first three innings of the ball game and in the fourth Grand Haven broke the ice by scoring a run on four walks. Neither team scored in the fifth, but in the sixth the fireworks started. Holland came to bat trailing by a 1-0 score and scored five runs on one hit. With the bases filled Czerkies came through with his safety which drove in two runs. The next three runs scored on Grand Haven errors after the men got on base by way of the walk.

With Holland now in the lead 5-1, the Havenites chalked up four runs in their half of the sixth to tie the score 5-5. Seven walks and an error netted the Grand Haven men their four runs. Victor came in to pitch for the Hollanders in the sixth with one out and the bases full and finally retired the side but not until the score was knotted. Holland went down on three strike outs in the seventh and the Buccaneers went down on three strike outs.

Kamphuis was called into the game by Coach Carroll Norlin in the last inning and retired the side by fanning the last batter.

Holland Nine Edges Fennville In Last Frame

Locals Stage Rally in Seventh to Notch Win; Each Get 13 Safeties

A four-run last inning rally gave Coach Carroll Norlin's Holland High baseball team a 7-5 win at Fennville Monday. Going into the seventh the locals trailed 4-3, but the big last frame gave the Dutch the margin of victory.

Kamphuis went the route for Holland, allowing 13 hits but keeping them well scattered and giving up not more than one run in any inning. Erlewein, pitcher for the Black and Orange, also gave up 13 hits in his seven innings, but the Dutchmen bunched up six hits in the last inning to net four runs and a victory.

Both teams went scoreless in the first inning with only one hit being made, a single by Piersma of Holland. In the second Holland went down in order, but Fennville came through with a double and two singles which fortunately, for the Dutch, scored only one run.

In the third inning the Hollanders again went down in order, but six men went to bat for Fennville in their half. They garnered four hits which netted only one run putting them ahead 2-0 going into the fourth. Holland got started in the fourth and got one run on three hits as Kamphuis held the Black and Orange scoreless in the fourth making the score 2-1. In Holland's half of the fifth the locals collected two runs on three hits, a double by Piersma, and singles by Witteveen and Czerkies. By virtue of these two runs the Dutch pulled ahead of the Fennville nine 3-2. Fennville came to bat in the fifth and tied up the score on three singles.

With the score locked at 3-3, the Hollanders came to bat in their half the sixth but went scoreless. Fennville scored one run in their half of the sixth and pulled ahead 4-3. The Dutchmen struck a hot streak in the seventh and scored four runs to give them a 7-4 lead. A single by Appledorn, a single by Witteveen, a double by Czerkies, a triple by Van Eck, a single by Kehrwecker and a single by De Vree netted the four runs for Holland. Fennville had all they could do to tally once in the seventh, to pull within two runs at the finish.

Hope Fraternity Revives Hilarious 'Frater Frolics'

The third annual presentation of the "Frater Frolics," Hope college Fraternity society's all-fun show given by members of the society, will be staged May 19 and 21 at 7:30 p.m. in Holland High school auditorium in a postwar revival of the production.

First presentation of the Frolics was in 1941. During the war years when fraternities were discontinued on the campus, the Frolics became a war casualty. With an active chapter again on campus, the group has organized a new show. Ken A. Lincoln is general chairman for the entire presentation. George Lumsden, class of '43, a leading light in former productions, has acted as adviser.

The new Frolics will be a two-act production, the first act entitled the "Flying Dutchman," a hilarious takeoff on Heime's legend of the Flying Dutchman, who was doomed to sail his vessel through eternity until he found a girl who would marry him. Author of the "Dutchman," Lou Bixby explains that the takeoff is in three parts, with Bob Koop portraying the Dutchman and Bud Koranda, the girl he finally wins. The setting for the comedy is humorously laid in and around Holland.

A between-acts Opera Quiz with Boris Goldofski (Herk Butler) will be an entertainment feature. Also appearing between acts will be a quartet composed of Don Scholten, Bob Snow, Paul Hinkamp and Howard Koop, with a roving fifth, Don Evers.

The old Frater standby, the Minstrel Show will be presented again as act two. The comedy was written by John Vander Brook. Acting as interlocutor will be Don Ingham, plus eight other characters in blackface. Included in the performance will be a chorus girl routine by a group of 16 appropriately attired "females" displaying the latest in rhythm as shown by Mrs. Robert Cavanaugh. A college band will provide music.

Committee chairmen for the show are Ken Lincoln, general chairman; John Vander Brook, master of ceremonies; George Lumsden, alumni adviser; Harvey Butler, business manager; Harvey Butler, advertising; Don Lade-wig, printing; Jack Tirrell, tickets; Al Van Huis, alumni; Don Scholten, music; Lou Bixby, co-author; Howard Koop, publicity. Frater faculty adviser is Prof. Robert Cavanaugh.

Shaw Is Placed On Probation For Three Years

Grand Haven, May 8 (Special)—Allen W. Shaw, 22, of Holland, who was found guilty of negligent homicide March 28, was placed on probation for three years when he appeared before Circuit Judge Fred T. Miles Monday.

Terms of his probation provide that he pay $300 costs at the rate of $10 a month, leave all intoxicating liquors alone, and start a savings account and save $15 a week which he must show Probation Officer Jack Spangler every month.

Judge Miles said the costs were placed high because of the expenses to the county for a jury trial. Shaw was charged with being responsible for the death of Beatrice Jacobs as a result of an auto accident in Holland last Oct. 8. The jury had recommended leniency last March. Shaw was in the service 32 months.

The alleged offense occurred Nov. 3, 1946, when he took a car belonging to Walter Curtis and was picked up in Muskegon on a drunk driving charge. He faced the Ottawa court after serving a jail sentence in Muskegon.

Donald Earl Tien, 15, of Holland, who pleaded guilty April 12 to a forgery charge involving $400 from his father, was let out of the county jail on his own recognizance and allowed to go home with instructions to report back June 2 for disposition of the case. Young Tien had been in the county jail five weeks.

If Trout Has No Dorsal Fin, It's From Hatchery

Trout caught without dorsal (back) fins are those which have been reared in fish hatcheries and planted by the Michigan department of conservation, according to Conservation Officer Harold E. Bowditch.

Thus, any fisherman will know whether he has caught a native or hatchery trout.

Bowditch said the cost to the department of rearing a trout to legal size is 35 cents apiece. Inasmuch as only one out of every four trout are recovered by fishermen, the lengths to which the state department goes for its sportsmen is evident, Bowditch said.

He said hatchery trout are marked differently each year in order that the department may check on them. One year, all hatchery fish were tagged.
