Army Field Band Thrills Audience With Performance

One of the biggest musical thrills available in the 1955 tulip festival is the performance by the United States Army Field Band of Washington, D.C.

This elite unit, conducted by Major Chester E. Whitting, made its Tulip Time debut Tuesday night at a concert in Hope Memorial Chapel, and performed this morning at Kollen Park.

As versatile as its repertoire indicates, the military organization is equally impressive in all its numbers, from fragile waltzes, to rhythmic Latin beats, grand marches and the classics.

Composed of more than 100 of the best musicians within the Army, the Field Band has been heard by over seven million people.

The band includes the internationally famous "Soldiers Chorus," directed by Master Sgt. Arthur V. Donofrio. The chorus, too, is a truly masterful musical group and adds much to each concert.

A chief entertainment feature of the concert is a drum novelty act, in which six men of the percussion section excite admiration and applause of each audience.

Upon hearing the band, it is evident that many of its members are outstanding artists in their own right. Former concert artists and band masters, many former symphony members and soloists handle with ease the performances of marches, popular and novelty music along with music of the great composers.

Painting Display In Hotel Lobby

Marcel Cockx, a repatriated American citizen who is gaining acclaim throughout the Midwest as a Dutch artist is displaying his work in the Warm Friend Tavern lobby. The display will be on exhibit through Saturday.

He was born in Roosendaal, the Netherlands in 1915 and later studied painting at the Academy of Antwerp while working as a pharmacist in his own shop. He later met and learned a lot from the famous Dutch painter, Joseph Schepers.

Cockx, who is making his home in Muskegon, is a citizen of America by birth rather than by naturalization. His father was born in The Netherlands, but acquired American citizenship near the turn of the century when he operated for a time a cattle ranch near Detroit. He later returned to The Netherlands.

Cockx started his painting full time in 1947 after selling his pharmacy. He decided in 1950 to protect his status as an American citizen by becoming a resident before the January, 1951, deadline. His paintings are completely realistic. "I want no part of abstraction. I try to put on canvas things as they actually look."

He pays great attention to minute details in his drawings and tries for a third-dimensional quality. His subject matter is varied as are his techniques, ranging from conventional brush to stippling and use of a knife edge.

SPLASHING GOOD TIME — Street scrubbers really splashed it up in Tulip Time opening ceremonies Wednesday. And the good-sized crowd seemed to enjoy every minute of it—especially those with cameras, and there were plenty of them. By the time the scrubbers had completed their phase of the colorful parade the streets were pretty well doused as were many of the participants. Young and old alike manned brooms for the appealing rite. Scrubbers were out in front of the downtown stores this morning sprucing up sidewalks. They'll be out again Friday and Saturday mornings. (Sentinel photos)

Tulip Time Highlights

The ten little Bluebirds of Van Raalte school third grade who made their initial appearance in Tulip Time activities immediately following the ribbon-cutting ceremony at the Flower Show Wednesday, have several engagements scheduled. They sang the "Wooden Shoe Song" and an authentic song in the Dutch language and did a Dutch dance at the opening ceremony. Dressed as Dutch boys and girls, they will appear at Centennial Park this afternoon at 3:50; at the Little Netherlands Friday at 2:30 and again at the Flower Show, Saturday, at about 2 p.m. They are directed by Mrs. Russell Rutgers, Jr., Camp Fire leader, and Mrs. Wilbur Brown who accompanies on the accordion. In the group are Lucinda Brown, Barbara Horning, Claudia Vander Heuvel, Louise Hoedema, Marilyn Dorgelo, Judy Pauwe, Diane Rutgers, Gail Rutgers, Janice Souter and Alice Lorence.

A helicopter will land on the Hope College athletic field at 12:45 p.m. Friday as part of the Naval Recruiting program now going on at the college. The helicopter is scheduled to fly around Holland before landing.

Post office workers are getting a pretty good workout during Tulip Time, but not nearly so bad as the Christmas rush. It's mostly a matter of sending thousands of post cards through the cancelling machine and dispatching them all over the country.

Those little wooden shoes and other novelties that require hand stamping are another bag of tricks but the boys face that one every year.

The exhibition section at Civic Center has been fixed up as a lounge for the convenience of Tulip Time visitors. Here, visitors may park their bags, relax in a chair and watch activity on Eighth St. There also is a concession for novelties in the room operated by the Rotary club and the high school klompen dancers.

The U.S. Army Field band attracted a large crowd at the Kollen Park concert Wednesday night. The boys had a lot of gimmicks which delighted the audience no end. They'll be back there tonight at 6:15 p.m. Don't miss it.

One feminine street scrubber went home to finish the job that was started during the scrubbing Wednesday afternoon. Sylvia Stekete, scrubbing with the DePree Co. group was so soaked by her male partners that she had to go home to change clothes. Each year some member of the group gets the soaking which adds to the enjoyment of the crowd.

Delighted with Holland's response to the call for street scrubbers in Wednesday's opening ceremonies, the three chairmen, Wilhelmine Haberland, Virginia Borgman and Crystal Van Anrooy gave a great big "thank-you" to every participant today.

They also were grateful to Fire Chief Andy Klomparsen and to the Board of Public Works for all their cooperation to see that the scrubbers had plenty of water (some maybe got too much). "We feel the parade was tops too, and we want to thank everybody," the chairmen said.

Hard working members of the Holland Tulip Garden Club who have been busy for days on the 1955 flower show in Holland Armory relaxed at a Tulip Time tea late Wednesday afternoon in the spacious lobby of Durfee Hall which was beautifully decorated with tulip arrangements.

Mrs. J. D. Jencks, president-elect of the club, served as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Theodore Baker, Mrs. William Reagan and Mrs. Henry Carley. Among the refreshments on the beautifully decorated tea table were krakelingen, the delicious Dutch pastry. Music was provided by Mrs. Harry Dunn at the organ and Mrs. Lawrence Towe at the piano.

The tea table arrangement was done by Mrs. William Beebe and Mrs. Robert Visscher. Arrangements about the room were done by Mrs. Charles Selby.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Mrs. Williams were among the guests.

A 35-foot trailer loaded with communications equipment Wednesday was placed in operation to serve as a base headquarters for Michigan State Police on duty in the Holland area. The 86 officers are under the command of Lt. Bion Hoeg. In the trailer Sgt. Richard Nicolen and Trooper Wilson Agar man the radios and telephones. If necessary direct radio contact can be maintained with virtually every post in the state. The blue and gold trailer is parked on The Sentinel parking lot. Each morning the troopers check in at the trailer, receive their assignments, and then return at night to fill out their daily reports.

Two police officers Wednesday proved helpful men to have around. Around noon one of the klompen dancers performing near the Warm Friend Tavern broke a shoe. Before the pieces had hit the ground Sgt. Ike De Kraker was handing the girl an extra shoe—and for the right foot too.

Later in the day during the regular performance of the dancers Trooper John Arciszewski extended the long arm of the law and guided Mary Lou Vander Hoening, 3, back to the crowd after she had danced out into the midst of a group of girls.

A highlight of Friday's activities will be the Joint Inter-Club luncheon at 12:05 p.m. in Hope Church with His Excellency Dr. J.H. van Roijen, Netherlands ambassador to the United States, as guest speaker. Others in the ambassador's party will be Dr. J.B.V.M.J. vande Mortel, Netherlands consul-general in Chicago; W.H. Lambooy, Netherlands trade commissioner in Chicago; Peter Praetorius of Netherlands Industries Institute in Chicago; John Steketee, Netherlands consul at Grand Rapids, and the Rev. M.A. Krop of Groningen University.

The housing bureau in Civic Center has plenty of rooms listed for Tulip Time guests and so far has had to issue no S.O.S. reports for more rooms. The bureau stays open until 10 p.m. every night or later.

Tulip Time got excellent coverage on TV programs Wednesday evening. Kalamazoo's Hugh Harper gave a running commentary while the screen showed several still pictures. Grand Rapids went even better with a lot of film showing scrubbing, dancing, parades and floats, while Bob Runyon's wife, Beatrice, gave the commentary, even injecting a lot of Dutch. She is a native of the Netherlands.

The opening day of the Festival Wednesday was covered by two staff members of Chicago Tribune. A reporter and a photographer, Wayne Thomas and Jack McCauley, landed at Park Township airport in a Tribune plane early in the afternoon and departed shortly after the parade ended.

Ivar Lund of Los Angeles, Calif., returned home today after spending several days in Holland and attending the opening events of Tulip Time. Mr. Lund is an author and wrote part of his novel, "Lucifer's Tail" while living in Holland several years ago.

Rink's Wild Pitch In Ninth Inning Gives Calvin Win

GRAND RAPIDS (Special) — A wild pitch, thrown by control-conscious Willie Rink in the ninth inning here Saturday climaxed a three-run Calvin College rally and gave the Knights a 7-6 MIAA win over Hope College at Valley Field.

Rink had two out, Tony Diekema, Calvin rightfielder, on third base and two strikes on Keith Dykstra, first baseman, when he uncorked the wild throw. Diekema came across with the run.

The run ended somewhat of a "weird" inning for Hope. Calvin's Chuck Witteveen had led off with a scratch single that bounced over Rink's head. This was followed by Stan Holthouse's "blooper" single just over short.

Diekema hit the first pitch to center. Al Dykema, Hope center fielder, fell down going after the fly and Diekema scampered around to third. Rink struck out Gord De Kruyter for the second out bringing up Dykstra.

Hope had taken a 6-4 lead in the first of the ninth. Carl De Vree walked and came all the way around on Norm De Nooy's two-base error of Rink's hit to center.

The Dutch, behind 4-3 at the end of seven innings tallied two runs in the eighth on another "fluke" play. John Adams, first baseman, attempted to check his swing but didn't get the bat back fast enough and the ball hit the bat and landed fair just past first base, allowing two Hope baserunners, Rink and Dick Ortuist, to score. Rink was hit by a pitched ball and Ortuist walked.

Calvin opened the scoring with one run in the last of the first bunching two singles and a Hope error, the first of four in the game. Rink singled and Ortuist doubled in the second for Hope's first run. Hope tallied its second run in the sixth on a single by De Vree, sacrifice by Rink and another double by Ortuist, who enjoyed his best day at the plate with three hits in four tries. Don York upped H's lead to two runs briefly in the first of the seventh. York was safe on a fielder's choice, was moved to third on Ron Boeve's single and scored on a wild pitch by relief hurler, Marty Essenberg.

Calvin scored its first three-run spurt in the bottom of the seventh. Two hits, one a double by De Nooy, two Hope errors and a hit batsman gave the Knights their runs. Both teams made 11 hits. Hope made four errors and Calvin bobbled three times. Rink went the distance for the Dutch and struck out nine and walked one. Pete Van Vliet started for the Knights and allowed seven hits in six and one-third innings. Essenberg finished up and gave up four hits. Van Vliet struck out one and walked two while Essenberg fanned three and walked two.

Boeve followed Ortuist in hitting with two for four. Holthouse had four for five and Witteveen had three hits in four trips for the Knights.

Line score:

Hope	010	001	121
Calvin	100	000	303

Batteries: Rink and Boeve; Van Vliet, Essenberg (7) and De Kruyter.

Kalamazoo Scores One-Run Victory In District Play

Kalamazoo Central's baseball team eliminated Holland from the state baseball tournament here Saturday by stopping the Dutch 4-3 in a district game at River-view Park. The Maroons Giants will play the winner of the Muskegon-Muskegon Heights playoff game here sometime next week and the winner will move on to the state finals in Battle Creek May 22.

Three earned runs, on five hits in the top of the fifth inning, were the big ones Saturday. Holland was holding a 2-1 lead going into the fifth.

With one gone, Bill Holmes, Kalamazoo pitcher, smashed a drive to right field that Dykens lost in the sun and Holmes moved around to third base. Leroy Fogarty, Dutch pitcher, retired the next batter but the next four hitters pounded singles. John Shumas drove in Holmes while Stamm's single punched across Chumas and Don Robertson, who had also singled. Willie Carter, top Kalamazoo hitter with three for three, got the third single in the inning advancing Robertson and Chumas.

Holmes again showed his pitching mastery. The junior right-hander gave Holland only three hits. He walked two. The Dutch displayed improved play by turning two of the hits into runs.

Holland attempted to strike back in the bottom of the fifth. Fogarty led off with a triple and scored on Ron Van Dyke's sacrifice. Holmes, who sent 14 Dutchmen down swinging, stymied any additional rally by striking out the side.

Fogarty also tallied Holland's first run. He led off the third with a single and moved to third on two passed balls and came home on Van Dyke's single. Norm Witteveen, who preceded Van Dyke, walked and came home on Van Dyke's drive to left for the second Dutch run.

The Maroon Giants scored on the top of the first inning. Robertson doubled down the right field line, after two were out, and came home on Carter's single to center. Carter ended the inning trying to stretch the hit into a double.

Fogarty allowed nine hits, struck out seven and didn't issue a pass. Holland committed one error, a far cry from the 13 committed in the first Kalamazoo game, while the Giants didn't make a fielding misplay.

Holland left four men on base and Kalamazoo five. Robertson followed Carter in the visitors hitting with two for three. Fogarty had two for three, and Van Dyke, one for two to account for the Holland hits.

Line scores:

Holland	002	010	0 3 3 1
Kalamazoo	100	030	0 4 9 0

Batteries: Fogarty and Van Dyke; Holmes and Orosz.

Mrs. Harold Van Tongeren, retiring president, who conducted the business meeting, announced that the annual luncheon will be held June 2 at 1 p.m. at the American Legion club house. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Van Tongeren.

Highlight of the meeting was a preview of the Spring Flower Show when Mrs. Rhynold G. Schukle of Brecksville, Ohio, made lovely arrangements representative of each class on the schedule.

Mrs. Schukle emphasized that when planning to place entries in the show the following rules should be observed: Study the schedule thoroughly, keeping the theme of the show in mind. Rules and scoring values should also be studied. Line and form are foremost. The arrangement should interpret the theme. In color and texture, bold and gay colors are the trend today. Above all, the arrangement should be a thing of beauty.

"Arrangements should be things of beauty, they are akin to sculpture—three dimensional, therefore, movements in space," she said. "In making table settings, color, texture and character must be in agreement."

State Department Aide Addresses College Group

Dr. Loy W. Henderson, deputy under secretary of state for administration, addressed about 100 delegates representing 48 Michigan colleges and universities as the highlight of the Michigan College's Association meeting held in Durfee Hall on the Hope College campus Thursday.

Speaking on International Education, Dr. Henderson, former ambassador to India and Iran, asked for the support of colleges and universities in training people for foreign service. During the past year the State Department was able to accept only 200 of the 4,300 applications for positions, Dr. Henderson reported.

He went into detail about examinations for foreign service and asked administrators to make the foreign service field look attractive. The State Department wants more applications from younger people, Dr. Henderson said.

Following the address, Dr. Henderson talked to political science and history professors in an informal session at Gilmore Cottage. Dr. John Hollenbach, Hope College Dean and vice president of the Association, conducted the business meeting. Dean Rapoport of Wayne University, president of the Association, introduced Dr. Henderson.

Mystery Shrouds Reported Option On Lake Property

GRAND RAPIDS (Special) — The president of an association of Lake Michigan property owners said today "members of the group would sell their property south of the pumping station between Holland and Grand Haven if it were to be used for a government installation."

At the same time, Dr. David B. Hagerman, said members of the bridge Association "might" agree to sell their lakefront property if it were to be used for an industrial development that would benefit Western Michigan.

"But before we do anything, we would like to know what it's all about," Hagerman said referring to a mysterious land option campaign that started two weeks ago in the area near Lake Michigan between the Grand Rapids pumping station and Camp Blodgett.

Hagerman said the association would give "every consideration" to selling their property to any industry that might be thinking of building a large development in the area.

"If the majority of the members felt the development would be of a tremendous benefit to all of Western Michigan, I'm sure the other members would go along with them," he said.

Hagerman said 24 of the association's 26 members met in Grand Rapids earlier this week to discuss the reported industrial plan and decided to take a "wait-and-see" stand.

He said Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr., has written him saying he does not know what is intended for the area. Ford said he checked a number of government agencies and that as far as he knows it is not a federal project.

Votes to Delete $55,000 Proposal From New Budget

Hour of Discussion Precedes 6 to 3 Vote At Adjourned Meeting

Holland won't have an outdoor swimming pool after all, City Council decided at an adjourned meeting Friday night.

In rescinding the action taken Wednesday favoring such a pool, Council listened first to a full hour of discussion pro and con by local townspeople before voting down the pool 6 to 3. Councilmen in favor of the pool were Raymond Holwerda, John Beltman and John Van Eerden, the latter two members of the special swimming pool committee.

It appeared that the general opinion of Council was that all members would like to have a swimming pool in Holland, but at present it appears unwise to spend an estimated $55,000 for such a pool in view of the needs of schools, hospital, etc., plus a great difference of opinion on the part of local townsfolk on what kind of pool would best serve the needs. There was a strong feeling that issues such as swimming pools should be put to a vote of the people.

On Wednesday night, Council voted 5 to 4 to keep the $55,000 item in the 1955-budget, but public opinion was voiced strongly in the ensuing two days, particularly in view of the fact that a good many people felt Council had not given proper consideration to petitions opposing an outdoor pool signed by some 500 persons.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Council adopted a revised budget calling for a total tax levy of $418,862.14, or just $55,000 less than the $473,862.14 total adopted Wednesday night. The new total levy calls for a tax rate of $13.90 per $1,000 valuation. The figure including the swimming pool would have been $15.72½ per $1,000 valuation.

Friday's adjourned meeting was scheduled specifically to straighten out a Board of Public Works technically involving legality of a capital improvement fund which Council considered setting up. This matter was cleared neatly by a new resolution drafted by City Attorney James E. Townsend providing that 50 percent of BPW profits be turned over to the city, that the city earmark $100,000 to the general fund and transfer the remainder not to exceed $75,000 to a special fund. Since the city's normal share of the profit is expected to exceed $150,000 this year, Council entered the figure of $175,000 in the resolution, more or less as a bookkeeping convenience. The city's share will likely be considerably less than the figure mentioned.

The BPW resolution passed 6 to 3, with Holwerda, Beltman and Van Eerden dissenting. Beltman felt that the city should retain the full 50 percent because if it doesn't the people have to raise just so much more in taxes. Van Eerden questioned depreciation figures in the BPW capital budget, and Holwerda felt that the program should not go into effect this year, even though he was sympathetic to the BPW's problems.

Randall C. Bosch and Maentz, BPW members, again emphasized the urgency in planning a light plant expansion to be ready and in operation in 1959, possibly earlier, than the original plans for 1960, and the need to build up a reserve fund. The power "bend" had anticipated a peak use of 16,000 kw. in 1955, and already last February the local plant passed the 17,400-mark.

Maentz pointed out that local indebtedness including needs for the water plant, schools, hospitals, etc., would easily reach the $8 million mark, a figure which would command a far higher interest rate than the rate quoted on the $24 million water bonds. "People in Holland are thrifty and prefer to pay as they go along, rather than go into debt," he said.

A motion to delete the $25,000 for the Chamber of Commerce for city promotion lost 6 to 3, with Van Eerden, Beltman and Holwerda dissenting. Van Eerden introduced the motion on the basis that people who already pay dues to the Chamber should not be taxed. Holwerda questioned the legality of diverting public funds to a private organization. Strong defense for the Chamber came from Henry S. Maentz who pointed out that Holland is a rapidly growing community and any money Council allocated for advertising is well spent, and from William H. Vande Water, secretary-manager, who pointed to such promotional functions as a new $500 sign at the entrance to the city, new publicity brochures, etc.

Of the 11 persons in the audience speaking on the swimming pool, only one, Ned Stuits, high school teacher, who has helped supervise the Red Cross summer swimming programs, spoke in favor of the pool. He pointed to the inconveniences of transporting some 1,200 boys and girls to Port Sheldon each summer for swimming classes, carried on by only five instructors.

Protesting the pool were Herbert Bultuis, of 576 Central Ave., who pointed to consideration of the petition; Stephen Oost, of 143 East 25th St., who questioned school needs as well as the availability of lakes; Les Derider, of 113 West 20th St., questioning maintenance costs; Bill Meengs, of 148 East 24th St., questioning jeopardizing school needs; Herbert Thomas, of 577 Lawndale, questioning hos-

Public Hearing Set for June 9 On New Document

Groups Asked to Make Their Views Known; 45 Attend Meeting

The Holland Planning Commission reviewed its new zoning ordinance at an informal public meeting Thursday night in City Hall, attended by some 45 persons representing various organizations and other groups interested in area development.

After the discussion, the commission moved to schedule its first public hearing June 9, after which the 34-page well-documented code will be turned over to City Council for action.

Meanwhile, representatives attending Thursday's meeting were asked to report to their organizations and communicate in writing to the commission whether the groups are in favor of the action, or submit further questions.

The zoning code is for Holland city, but as Consultant Scott Bagby has often said, "Nothing stops at the city line except people's thinking," and surrounding townships also are working on new zoning ordinances consistent with work done to date on area planning which has covered more than three years.

Both Park and Holland townships already have retained Bagby as consultant in zoning studies, and Fillmore township also is studying problems but has not as yet hired a consultant. Planners have long held that only by working together can zoning problems be worked out properly in an entire area, and local leaders have long praised township leaders for their cooperation in the matter.

The new zoning ordinances provide for parking areas, protected living areas, and a complete description of the A residential zone with three divisions, the B zone which provides for multiple family dwellings; the C zone with separations for central, suburban and neighborhood commercial district, and the D industrial zone.

Roughly, A-1 is for one-family homes, A-2 for one and two-family homes, A-3 for residences with the least number of restrictions and B-1 for multiple family dwellings mostly ringing the commercial district.

A zoning map will be on display in the treasurer's office. Copies of the total city plan are on file in the public library.

Attending were Municipal Judge Cornelius Vander Meulen, Al Dyk Russell Fredricks, John Fonger, William H. Vande Water, Victor Van Oosterhout, Andrew Smeenge Mrs. William Venhuizen, Mrs. John K. Vander Broek, Lida Rogers, C. Eilander, Rhine Vander Meulen, Jack Daniels, Cornie Westbroek, the Rev. Christian Walvoord, Al Knipe, Mrs. Orle A. Bishop, Betty Wessels, Bernard Shashagany, Mrs. Andrew Sall, William De Roo, Gerald Kramer, Don Thomas, Jack Leenhouts, James Mooi, John Van Dyke, Jr., and Mrs. Harold Van Tongeren.

Commission members present were Willard C. Wichers, W. A. Butler, Mrs. William G. Winter, Jr., Mayor Robert Visscher, R.E. Barber, Ward Hansen, Stuart Boyd, Lavern Sere, Lavern Rudolph, Herb Holt and Scott Bagby.

City Manager To Study Wages

City Council at its adjourned meeting Friday night authorized City Manager Herbert Holt to conduct a fact finding study on wage schedules for city employees.

The resolution, as introduced by Councilman John Beltman pointed out that funds have been provided in the 1955-56 budget for wage and salary adjustments, and Council will consider such adjustments after the city manager makes his report. All action, however, will be effective July 1 or retroactive to July 1, according to the resolution.

Council also passed a resolution providing that any funds used for BPW light plant expansion which comes out of the newly established BPW improvement fund which Council approved Friday night be in the form of a loan to be repaid by future utility revenue.

Councilman John Van Eerden's motion to refer the swimming pool project to the Holland Planning Commission after the issue lost 6 to 3, was unanimously approved.

In unfinished business, Council decided to take no action on moving a house from 322 River Ave., to 81 West 14th St. until the owner submits further plans and discusses it with the new neighbors.

The recessed meeting adjourned at 9:42 p.m. Mayor Robert Visscher presided and all Councilmen were present. The discussion on the BPW fund was the first subject for discussion. The swimming pool discussion started at 8:20 p.m. and took a full hour.

It was the fourth meeting Council held this week. A special meeting was held Monday for action on selling city property to Scott's Inc. A study meeting was held Tuesday. A regular Council meeting with public hearing for the budget was held Wednesday. Friday's meeting was a recessed meeting.

He picked out the wrong time, since just as he broke the light the above constables came along and witnessed the incident.

Wagemaker appeared before Justice Frederick J. Workman Friday afternoon.

THE END OF THE LINE

Word comes out of Chicago that street cars are rapidly becoming obsolete in the Windy City. By the end of 1955, it is predicted by a spokesman for the Chicago Transit Authority, there will be only three lines in operation in the whole of Chicago, and those three will be on the way out not long after that.

Chicago is not different from other cities in this respect. The revolution of transportation within cities has been relentlessly squeezing out the street car, as it has eliminated the electric interurban lines between cities. The process has been completed in most medium sized and small cities; the larger municipalities are lagging behind, largely for political reasons.

In most cities of less than 100,000 the street car has been out so long that it is almost forgotten. In large communities like Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, the trend has been slower because street car franchises represent vested interests powerful enough in many cases to control government or at least influence it. Such transport companies would be the last to go, even though they are obsolete.

Acquisition of the franchises during the second half of the nineteenth century and the early years of the twentieth forms a story in American business and politics that no American can be proud of. Street railway franchise legislation is one of America's big cities is honeycombed with fraud. In some cases city councils, state governors, U.S. Senators were brought up by the transit interests, and when street railways came to the end of the line, through industrial evolution, a sorry chapter in American business will end at the same time.

Such an ending was sure to come sooner or later for even the most solidly entrenched transit companies. Natural evolution is stronger than even the strongest economic or political organization.

The process can be seen clearly in smaller communities. The local interurban line, for instance, from Macatawa to Grand Rapids yielded to the evolutionary process many years before street cars began to disappear from the larger cities. In the first decade of the present century that interurban line appears to be so strongly entrenched that a brilliant future seemed certain. But when every family acquired a car the interurban died an inevitable death.

What is happening in Chicago and other large cities at this moment is merely a kind of delayed action in the same process.

OUR PREACHER SAYS

America's great disease is hurriedness. Listen to the remark, "I am in a hurry; I can't wait."

Actions speak louder than words when they show that a man is in a hurry to go somewhere but he does not know where he is going.

It's hustle and bustle from morning till night; it's hurry to get breakfast over; hurry to catch the bus, hurry to get to work, hurry when on the job, hurry to go home, hurry to disburse with the evening chores, hurry to bed only to go on the next day as the day before. It is said of a man that he was in such a hurry he did not have time to spit!

WIT AND WISDOM

The human side of life dislikes the thought of death. We postpone the date of that event by giving every care possible for the continuation of life. But when that event comes, the reality of a home beyond needs to be built up in our mind. Mr. Moody once said, "A little boy who had to go through a cemetery to get home. When asked whether he was not afraid to go through the cemetery at night, he said, "No, for my home is just on the other side."

A FLOWERING MEMORY

Flowering crab apple trees have been planted along Montegano Street in South Euclid, Ohio, to honor the memory of Captain Edmund Montegano who died in a plane crash twelve years ago after 52 bombing missions in the Pacific.

The trees were donated by the pilot's father and the people who live along the street have accepted them in the spirit in which they were offered. Each spring when the blossoms appear the young captain will be remembered. A man could ask no finer memorial.

The boy's father made this comment on the donation: "I just think it will be nice for him." It will, indeed!

To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die.

Anxiety is the measure of the distance between you and God.

Worry makes an 8-cylinder person into a 4-cylinder one.

It is not good to let the actions of others determine our conduct.

Death is not a blind alley but a tunnel.

A shadow proves that there is a light.

Uzziah's Strength and Failure

Uzziah-2 Chronicles 26; 3-5; 16-31

By Henry Geerlings

The danger of praise is well known. Not man, heads are well enough balanced to withstand too much laudation. So we say of a man that this or that has turned his head. That means that is off balance, no longer dependable.

Getting too high up in the plaudits of men often foreruns the farther, harder fall. Yet we naturally crave prosperity. This is normal and to be expected. However, the mastering motive for prosperity should be greater usefulness, and it often is. Many who prosper increase in humility, remembering that their ability to prosper comes to them from God.

Prosperity is right and certainly commendable, provided with it comes a right attitude and conduct. To be proud of self for prospering, and to conduct oneself as a Lord of creation because prosperous, show light-headedness and a giddy sense of true values. Such self praise usually ends fatally, at it did in the case of Uzziah.

The threat of youth was his when he was put on the throne at the age of sixteen. But for his older, wise director he could not have ruled at all. He had a mature prophet's restraint and guidance. Such relationship with older, wiser folks is good for all of us while we are young.

The various elements of king Uzziah's prosperity were in keeping of the times. He turned to military matters. This was essential to meet the possible exigencies of any hour. He arranged for agriculture and horticulture. He fostered and furthered different plans for the general welfare. The result was a steady climb for the young king. Popular, openly successful, cooperated with by his people, he was soon on the way up to heights far above anything he had dreamed of for himself.

Too bad, but sadly true, Uzziah was not long on the way up for he was soon on the way out as a result of his own folly and presumption. Pride of self ruined him. An unholiness ambition laid hold of him and he lost his good sense. He became a striving climber to certain heights and claim privileges never intended for a king of Israel. Success was his, but he spoiled it by gloating over it. As he gloated his success began to go from him.

He yielded to presumption. He dared to supplant a priest at the altar. He was not contented with having a great and good and successful king. He wanted to have every honor that was possible within the gift of man and God. He set out to get what he wanted, regardless of warnings and threats. He persisted when the voice of the prophets of God called a halt on his extravagant doings.

He defied the custom and order of the worship of God and took matters in his own hands. When advised as to what to do, he allowed his anger to be his undoing.

In spite of his intentions and determination he began kicking himself out by his own presumptuous conduct. Very often a man's punishment comes from his own lash. Deliberate breaking of a law means that the law breaker afflicts the penalty of the broken law on himself. Uzziah came to a sad hour of his life when he had to take his way out of the temple and be separated from the very people over whom he was so happy to be a parading overlord.

Somewhat most of us need to pay considerable attention to what happened to Uzziah. We are so apt to discover we are on the way out when we imagine we are on the way up. None of us can be proud and presumptuous without finding ourselves deprived of everything to boast about.

Leprosy struck Uzziah's forehead, just where it would show prominently. As he showed his anger for the opposition of the priests he was undone. He became a leper, disqualified for companionship with his people. He must be excluded from temple, home, and every contact with men. He was a marked man. Destined to be out of the kingdom, off the throne, a quarantined has-been. He forgot to be true to God. He left God. As far as the record tells, he was thrust from the temple, lest he defile it. He was indeed down and out. His own doings had brought about his dreadful punishment.

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

When Samuel Goldwyn, the movie magnate, was asked recently why Hollywood turned so often to the Bible for spectacle movies, his answer was, "Why should we let all that free publicity go to waste?"

The makers of the picture, "The Prodigal," must have had that principle in mind. For two thousand years, ever since Jesus first told the little story that has since been universally known as the parable of the Prodigal Son, that very simple narrative sequence has been a part of the thinking of western mankind. Its advertising has been so great that probably no amount of money could pay for it.

And the makers of the picture will cash in on that free advertising. We are told with Hollywood's usual flamboyance that the picture cost $5,000,000. But it is certain that the free advertising of the Prodigal Son story over two thousand years is worth far more than that sum.

But of course, Hollywood stays about as far away from reality as the picture version of the story as it normally does in its treatment of the Bible narrative. It is inconceivable that the professional scenario writers could have even glimmering of what the first teller of the story meant. The Hollywood background of flamboyance and social hysteria is as far removed from the spirit of the story as the earth is from the farthest star.

Hollywood, in making the picture, was merely taking advantage of a huge backlog of the free advertising to tell the same old, old story that Hollywood is always telling, merely varying names and incidents.

There is first of all the fast young man, played in this case by Edmund Purdom and known as Micah. This fast young man has appeared on the screen at least a million times. Then there is the young man's true love—no mentioned of course by Jesus in the parable; her name is Ruth, obviously filched from the Old Testament character.

Lana Turner takes the role of a high priestess, Patrizia Magurno of an Egyptian vamp, and Walter Hampden plays the part of the Prodigal's father. There is nothing wrong with the casting, everything with Hollywood's trying to turn a simple, sincere folk tale into the artificial sequence of a movie.

There is first of all the true love of Micah, Ruth. Hollywood just can't understand that there could be a story without her. The parable of the Prodigal Son was of course only a story to begin with, but the Oriental mind of the days of Jesus would never have dreamed that a Ruth was essential to the story; the boy-girl psychology of today was wholly alien to the spirit of the time.

Then there is the treatment of supposed events in the "far country." The land of spectacular swimming pools and fantastic dances and loose living that is Hollywood in reality, took to this part of the story with greedy avidity. But again, it was the old stuff that has been used a million times. The Hollywood writers can no more conceive of the reality of the story's background than a leopard can change its spots.

Hollywood has cheapened all the Bible stories it has ever told—at least all those I have seen—"The Ten Commandments," "The King of Kings," "Samson and Delilah"—they were all turned into cheap trash. Free advertising is all that Hollywood gets from the Bible narratives.

Banquet Held At Third Church

The Women's Missionary Society and the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of Third Reformed Church entertained at a mother-daughter banquet Wednesday evening in Fellowship Hall at the church. Almost 200 attended.

Mrs. Chris Walvoord gave the prayer and Mrs. Kenneth Koiker, president of the Auxiliary, presided. She introduced Mrs. Mary Emma Young, toastmistress, who responded with brief, clever remarks.

Mrs. J. W. Hobeck decorated the table, which were attractive with apple blossoms and miniature figures representing mothers and daughters.

In her toast to daughters, Mrs. G. H. Dubink centered her thoughts on the Christian torch—"to hold it high, for the higher it reaches, so does its light radiate a greater circumference." Mrs. Glenn Bonnette gave a toast to mothers, paying tribute to mothers of today.

Music was provided by a trio, Mrs. Henry Voogd, Mrs. Andrew Volink and Mrs. Jack Leenhouts, accompanied by Miss Barbara Lampen. They sang "Mother of Mine," "Gloria Mia" and "The Big Brown Bear."

Speaker for the occasion was Mrs. G. De Jong, returned missionary to Arabia, who vividly and dramatically depicted the lives of women and children in Arabia, using various costumes. Carroll Norlin

Harold Streeter

Two Principals Named For Elementary Schools

Appointment of two principals for local elementary schools was announced at a monthly meeting of the Board of Education Monday night.

Carroll Norlin, who has taught in Fell Junior High School for several years, will be the principal of the new Thomas Jefferson elementary school next term, and Harold Streeter, another Junior high teacher, will be principal at Washington school. Both Jefferson and Washington schools will have seventh graders next term.

Norlin served as elementary principal of Federal school some years ago. Both Norlin and Streeter have proper certification and master's degrees in education. The recommendation was made by the Teachers' committee after screening some 20 applications.

The board also approved a committee recommendation that High School principal J.J. Riemersma spend all of next year and possibly the following year conducting a survey on curriculum planning for the proposed new high school, and that Austin Buchanan, assistant principal, take charge of operations at the high school. Riemersma's title would be high school principal in charge of curriculum planning and Buchanan would be assistant principal in charge of operation.

There is a staggering amount of work and study to be done in planning a new high school, and the new appointment for Riemersma may well be the most important of his long career as school administrator. It is most important that a thorough study and survey into high school needs be made with a view to providing the best facilities possible in a building which will serve young people for 50 years to come.

Supt. Walter W. Scott said some new high schools are being built in the country today without adequate planning for the future. In his new work, Riemersma will organize the school faculty for curriculum study, consult experts of the Department of Public Instruction, state universities, teachers' colleges, architect's firms, and perhaps visit some new schools throughout the country. Scott said particularly pointed to an outstanding new school in a St. Louis suburb serving a student body much the same size as Holland's, and another school near Cleveland which had careful advance study.

"Mr. Riemersma is enthusiastic about the new assignment and considers it an honor," Scott said. "It must in no way be construed that he is about to retire. For this work, we need the best brains possible, and Mr. Riemersma with his wide experience and understanding of problems involved is the best man for the job."

The board also recommended Margaret Van Vyven as elementary school coordinator with two specific functions, coordinating the practicing teaching program of Hope College and coordinating the instructional program between the various elementary schools. She will leave her field of music for the new appointment.

Contracts for seven new teachers also were approved. Mrs. Nancy Louise Antrim, a native of Grand Rapids and graduate of Michigan State College, will teach early elementary. She had one year of experience at Fort Wayne, Ind. Her husband is with General Electric.

Mrs. Georgiana Timmer of Holland, who has had 15 years' teaching experience at Montello Park, also will teach early elementary. She received a B.S. degree from Western Michigan College in 1952. She is married and has two children.

Mrs. Dora Tyssie of Holland, who has been substituting in Holland over a period of 10 years, will teach early elementary. She will receive an A.B. degree from Michigan State Normal this year.

Daniel Paul, whose wife Joan teaches in Longfellow school, will teach later elementary. He received an A.B. degree from Hope College in 1950 and has four years' experience including one-year's credit with the Navy.

Miss Virginia De Witt of Kewanee, Ill., who has had nine years' teaching experience, will teach business training in Junior High. She received a B.S. degree from Western Illinois State College in 1944 and a master's degree from the University of Indiana in 1953.

Eugene L. Prins of Holland, who has been taking courses at Hope College the past year in order to qualify for a teaching certificate, will teach in Junior High. He received an A.B. degree from Hope in 1936. He is married and has four children.

Eugene Scholten of Holland, who received an A.B. degree from Hope in 1950 and a master's degree from Southern California in 1951, will teach in Junior High as well as do testing in the special education department. He will marry Joyce Mulder, local elementary teacher, this summer.

Progress Report Given on New Jefferson School

A progress report on construction of the new Thomas Jefferson school was given at a regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education Monday night, indicating that work is well on schedule in spite of a work stoppage early in April.

The gypsum roof deck is complete on two classroom wings, and corridor and classroom concrete floors have been completed in one wing and are in progress in another wing. The city storm sewer has been completed down Van Raalte Ave. and building drains are connected.

An opening has been left in the interior brick wall of the lobby for a bust of Thomas Jefferson, and the board is investigating possibilities of having such a bust in the building.

The board adopted a new salary schedule for custodians and maintenance personnel calling for a starting salary of $3,200, with $3,500 after the first year, $3,600 after the fifth year and $3,700 after the 10th year. Current range this year on the same spread is $3,000 to $3,500. Two additional custodians will be hired for Jefferson school when the building is ready for occupancy, and one additional person will be hired to replace the maintenance man who left last year.

All custodians met with the board at an informal supper session before the board meeting, and heard Dr. Homer Barber of Michigan State College tell results of his inspection of Holland schools. He showed color slides, most of them taken in Holland schools. Dr. Barber was highly complimentary on the housekeeping job done in local schools.

The board approved the following program recommended by the adult education program:

1. North Central Association requirements would be maintained as completely as possible.

2. Credit students, properly identified, would be admitted to certain current night school courses under certified supervision and would be given credit after completing an adequate number of hours and for specific work required. North Central requirements must be recognized in credit evaluation.

3. Students in evening high school classes would be required to take at least four units (one-year equivalent) at Holland High before a diploma would be issued from this school.

4. Credits will be accepted from or transferred to other accredited schools.

5. Not more than one unit of credit will be granted on the basis of experience, training or study outside of regular classes. This credit will be assigned qualitatively and determined by examination.

The schools committee further recommended that in place of a meeting with parents of seniors as recommended by the board at the January meeting, the high school administration suggests that a letter be sent to parents explaining the school policy regarding house parties. The board concurred.

The board adopted proper resolutions regarding the annual school election June 13, and called for an adjourned meeting of the board the following night to canvass the vote and to hold the monthly meeting.

Claims and accounts including three payroll periods covering six weeks totaled $100,602.91, which amount was transferred to the proper account.

All members were present including Trustee E.V. Hartman who had been down south all winter. Supt. Walter W. Scott gave the invocation. The meeting adjourned at 11 p.m.

Missionaries to Philippines Find They Must Bring Churches Together

Having recently returned to Holland from five years spent in the Philippine Islands mission field, the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph R. Esther and their four children have settled down at 69 East 13th St.

Rev. Esther and his family have been located in the capital city, Manila, during their stay in the Philippines. Most of their work has been done on Luzon.

Rev. Esther was the first missionary to be appointed by the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church, or any board, to go to the Philippines to work exclusively with the Chinese inhabitants.

Rev. and Mrs. Esther were first appointed to missionary work in China in 1942. Because of the war, their arrival was delayed and it was not until 1945 that they went to the Amoy area where they worked with the Chinese people until 1949.

Educated at Western Theological Seminary in Holland and Biblical Seminary in New York, Rev. Esther did graduate work at the University of California and Cornell University.

Mrs. Esther is also an ordained missionary. She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. H. P. Boot of Holland, long-time missionaries in China.

Upon arriving in the Philippines, the Esthers found an already well established church. Recently, that church celebrated its 25th anniversary.

"My biggest job is pioneering to get the churches to work together," Rev. Esther said. The Chinese and their churches are independent and are not accustomed to working with each other in any way, he said.

The church has a membership of about 1,000 people, all of them active in church work, he said. The members put in more than 30 points of service each month, including radio work, schools, setting up outlying chapels, working at three prisons, in the hospital, Sunday schools and preaching stations.

Mrs. Esther's assignment is in educational and evangelistic work. She is active in the Family Life Committee of the United Church of Christ in the Philippines and much of her work has been getting the Chinese and Philippine women to work together. She has also worked extensively with the radio and educational programs.

Rev. Esther is school pastor and does extension work in the islands. Every month he visits seven areas on a 1,000 mile missionary tour, traveling by car, boat and plane. Most successful points on these tours are those farthest from the corruption of the big city of Manila, he said.

Rev. and Mrs. Esther's children, Jim, 13, Joan, 11, Mary, 8 and Barbara, 5 say they enjoy life in the Philippines. They attend a school with the children of other missionaries, Chinese and Filipino pupils, and they have a lot of friends.

The Esthers will return to the Philippines in the latter part of May, 1956. Until that time, Rev. Esther will be working in such fields as deputation and youth conferences all over the United States.

In the four individual matches, the two clubs broke even but the Chix took the team total by a 387-391 margin. Zeeland's fourth point is automatically awarded under league scoring to the winning team as a bonus point.

Increases About Half of Request Made by Mentors

Athletic department officials at Holland High School were granted a pay raise at the Board of Education monthly meeting Monday night. The raise was recommended to the board by the Teachers' committee after study and amounted to about half of what the coaches had originally asked.

Head football and basketball coaches will be given $500 and one week's pay during the 1955-56 school year as compared with $400 this year. Two assistants and the reserve coach in football and one assistant in basketball were upped to $325 and one week. The group had been receiving $250.

Other increases were given to all other coaches, and directors of women's sports, Dutch Dance, cheer leaders and athletic sisters and intramurals.

Spring sports coaches were boosted accordingly. The baseball coach will receive $275, a $25 raise and $100 will be allotted for an assistant. The track coach will be upped to the same amount while the assistant coach will get $175. The tennis head was jumped to $250 from $200 and golf from $150 to $175.

The athletic director was raised to $350. He received $250 during the past year.

Along with the granted raises, the board indicated a hope for improved athletic records. Haunted with the athletic record made during the past year, the athletic staff drew up a detailed report and the board and teachers committee studied it.

A "car pool" one of the items included in the report was given the green light and the athletic director will be instructed to get the pool into operation. Under the plan, parents or friends from the outlying areas would alternate picking up and driving home boys competing on school athletic teams.

Athletic officials have felt that the lack of personnel has been one of the reasons for poor athletic teams. This has been caused in part, the group felt, because of the large number of students living out of the city and forced to take the bus home immediately after school.

As an example: If a group of Hamilton boys wished to play football, the parents or friends of the boys would alternate each day driving the lads home.

The committee "looked with favor" on the suggested improvements as outlined in the report. The board approved the committee's recommendation that two ninth grade coaches be paid one week's regular salary to start practice one week before school begins.

Thumbs were turned down at present on the seventh grade intramural contact football program. The Teachers group felt that money is not available to provide the coaching and equipment necessary but that every effort should be made to provide both as soon as funds are available. The board agreed with the recommendation.

Other highlights of the report included longer practices, "get tough attitude" and "produce or get off the squad" plan. Inadequate seniors will be dropped and juniors not up to varsity caliber will be returned to the reserves and any outstanding sophomores will be moved up to the varsity.

Better protective equipment is planned especially for the face and head. The scouting system will be advanced to include previewing films, having one permanent scout for the season and an intensive use of scouting and previous films.

A more intensive public relations program is also planned. This will include selling the program to prospective players through movies in the suburban and elementary schools and to the general public at PTA's and service clubs. More meetings will be held with parents of players. A touch-football league in suburban schools is planned.

The report also specified several other requests for athletic improvement. The board has taken the requests under advisement.

NEW BANK SIGN IN OPERATION—A 15 by 11-foot sign jutting out from the First National Bank is the first sign of its kind in Michigan as it flashes the time of day and temperature. The huge numerals give the time for five seconds and then the temperature for five seconds before starting over again. The complex machinery to operate the sign is housed inside the bank building. The sign was erected at an angle over the corner of Eighth St. and Central Ave. so it could be seen from all four directions. The City Sign Co. installed the huge spectacular sign.
