Region V 'Bucks' Williams' Formula On Tax Split

Group Asking Original Breakdown Of Highway Money

Region V of the Michigan Municipal League Wednesday adopted a resolution urging that highway legislation as originally proposed, be adopted against the recommendations of Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

The resolution was made after Jack Schaub, special assignment engineer for the Michigan State Highway Department, said the proposed legislation, in connection with the 90 per cent federal aid to highways that is forthcoming, the highway department can see its way through completion of all its major projects within 15 years.

The highway projects, as outlined by commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, call for 2,270 miles of trunklines to be built, including four-lane, divided highways along US-12, US-16, US-31, US-131 and M-21.

Under present highway laws, gasoline and weight taxes are split between the state, counties and cities and villages with 50 per cent going to the state, 33 to the counties and 17 to cities and villages.

A change in this breakdown is in accord with a needs study developed by a California economist hired as a consultant by the state who recommended a 43-37.4-19.5 ratio.

Williams is attempting to secure a ratio which would give the state 47.5 per cent, the counties 34.7 per cent and 17.8 per cent to the cities and villages.

The Senate committee on highways was to meet today to discuss the recommendations.

Other facets of highway legislation discussed by the more than 100 persons attending the meeting from eight counties at the Warm Friend Tavern:

—Under the legislation as proposed, 45 per cent of the total money spent by the state on trunklines must be spent within cities. The governor wants to remove this requirement.

—Attempts being made to use Highway department funds to finance the state police and for the relocation of public utility poles on road right-of-ways in case it becomes necessary to remove the poles.

—The amount of money which cities must contribute to trunkline construction. At present the percentage varies from nothing to cities under 30,000 to 25 per cent for cities over 50,000. The league and the state are in agreement on these figures.

Tulips Coming Along Just Fine

City, Park Supt. Dick Smallenburg said Tuesday that the tulips are in fine shape, and there will be lots of tulips in bloom the coming weekend. He said the Japanese cherry blossoms also will be in bloom for the weekend. Ordinarily, these blossoms bloom before the tulips.

Smallenburg said rain would help tulips at this point. Some tulips are at uneven heights, and a soaking would be an aid. Generally, the tulip lanes are in fine condition, although some old plantings do not have the showing the new lanes boast. Lanes are rotated by the year he explained.

Holland maintains approximately eight miles of tulip lanes throughout the city each year, and traveling down tulip lane is one of the biggest attractions for festival visitors.

He said the seating arrangement on the parade route with city police setting up cement blocks and planks will be in effect again this year. On Saturday when the parade proceeds west on Eighth St., to Kollen Park, the planks and blocks will be removed from River Ave. and put up on West Eighth St. There will be a bleachers with paid admission near Civic Center as well as an official reviewing stand.

Chase Hammond, Muskegon Recreation Director, told Region V of the Michigan Municipal League Wednesday that national standards require that a community spend $6 per capita for parks and recreation.

The group met Wednesday at the Warm Friend Tavern.

Hammond was a member of a panel discussing municipal operating problems and pointed out some of the details of providing recreation for cities.

One of the points he strongly stressed was Muskegon's "Golden Age" program which seeks to provide recreation for middle-aged and older persons. Holland Mayor Robert Visscher today backed Hammond's philosophy in saying that recreation should be present for all age groups.

In its budget for fiscal 1957-58, Holland appropriated a total of $124,000 for recreation, the park department and Riverview Park. With an estimated population of 16,000, this is $7.75 for each city resident.

The breakdown is $32,000 for recreation, $85,000 for the park department and $7,000 for Riverview Park.

Of the park department money, $15,000 is earmarked for the maintenance of tulip lanes and some is also diverted into tree-trimming, flowers, ornamental shrubs for the city parks and other items of civic beautification.

Visscher, retiring chairman of Region V, said the conference was one of the best of several he has attended in recent years. Bob Fryer, assistant director of the Michigan Municipal League, said the conference was one of the best the league has had this year and was pleased with the attendance of more than 100.

In the election of new officers last night, Muskegon Mayor Hedrick Carlson was named the new chairman and John Ploeg of Rockford the vice chairman.

Night Shift Operates To Photostat Plats

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Register of Deeds Robert J. Kammeraad set up a night shift Wednesday night to photostat plats for the use of the J. M. Clemenshaw Co. which is conducting appraisals on a country-wide basis. It was necessary to have two copies of all plats in the county with the exception of the cities of Holland and Grand Haven. About 350 plats are involved.

Two additional helpers were engaged to help with the photostatic work. These photostats are used by Clemenshaw workers in their field work.

Besides the Clemenshaw rush, Kammeraad has received a quantity of oil and gas leases for reading. Most of these leases involve property in Olive and Robinson townships, and Kammeraad said this has been the biggest boom in oil and gas lease business in the past 11 years.

Blown-Out Cable Caused Failure In Power Line

A power cable which blew out between the James De Young plant and the distribution tower on Pine Ave. was blamed today for Tuesday's power failure by Board of Public Works Superintendent Guy E. Bell.

Bell said the cable apparently gave way because of fatigue, and said it would cost about $3,000 to have it replaced.

"The irony to it," he said, "is that in two weeks that cable would have carried only an emergency load." He said the power will be shifted so that the Hart and Cooley substation can carry it.

He outlined the "loop line" system which the board is to put into effect. In case of a failure in the lines then, there will be alternate routes for the current. Current can be fed from two ways into each of the five substations, he said.

The trouble was localized, he said, around noon, 45 minutes after the failure, but was not repaired until about 6:30 p.m. Power was restored to homes and businesses around 3 p.m. but most manufacturing plants had to wait until the cable was fixed. Bell said a rerouting system gave power to the homes and businesses, but fear of overloading the lines prevented the service from being extended to the plants.

The transformer tie-in with the Consumers Power Co., which Bell said would not be ready until July, would not have been of value in this instance, he said.

The transformer will provide the city with Consumers electricity in the event of a breakdown in generating equipment, but when the trouble is in the lines, the power can't be transmitted anyway, he explained.

Ron Hertz, owner of Waverly Service Station at 683 Chicago Dr., used a novel gimmick to pump gas during the power cutoff. He jacked up his jeep and had a radiator hose on the wheel of the jeep. The hose extended to the gas pump and each time a customer would ask for gas Hertz would "crank up" the jeep. He thereby was able to run the pumps.

Accident Rate Shows Increase

Three accidents in Holland Monday involving juveniles brought an urgent warning Tuesday from Police Chief Van Hoff.

Van Hoff said one accident resulted when an eight-year-old girl was hit by a car, another when a boy riding a motor scooter hit a car and the third involved a youthful bike rider and a car.

In the first two accidents the children received fractures, and they could have received even more serious injuries, Van Hoff said.

He urged motorists to be especially watchful both during the daytime and at night when youngsters are out playing or riding bikes. He also asked parents to warn their children to exercise extreme caution when riding bicycles.

Van Hoff said a number of complaints have been received recently involving children riding unlighted bicycles or darting across the streets without regard for traffic.

He asked parents to advise youngsters that they must obey traffic laws at all times when riding bicycles or motor bikes.

Kitchen Moved In City Hospital

All four floors of Holland Hospital's new addition were in use Tuesday.

Latest move involved the kitchen in which stocks and certain equipment were moved Monday night after the evening meal. Everything was shipshape for serving breakfast Tuesday morning.

The new arrangement is a big improvement over the loaded carts which were shunted to lower corridors for the last several years. A sick mechanical conveyor carries patients' trays from the serving area, and a vehicle conveyor sends them to the proper floors.

There is a cafeteria for employees only. The new stock room on the basement level has been in use for some time.

For the next few weeks, construction workers will continue remodeling operations in the old building. The third floor operating rooms are being changed to rooms for patients, and the old lobby is being changed to rooms on two floors.

A new rear emergency entrance, two emergency rooms and a physical therapy room will occupy the old kitchen area on the ground floor. When everything is complete, the hospital will have facilities for 129 beds. An open house is being planned for early summer.

Council Tables Bid for Sidewalk On College Ave.

City Manager Will Try to Mediate Street Dispute

A petition signed by 49 persons asking the city to construct a sidewalk along College Ave. between 25th and 27th Sts. was tabled for study at a special meeting of the City Council Tuesday night.

The issue was referred to City Manager Herb Holt for mediation. Holt said today he would work with the Council, the residents and Myron Van Ark, 17½ East 21st St., who has expressed a desire to build a house on the property, in an attempt to develop a permanent solution which would be partially satisfactory to all parties.

College Ave. is closed between 25th and 26th, and it is the 26th to 27th St. section that is being discussed.

Van Ark said he would either want the street opened entirely or left just as it is.

Stuart Padnos spoke from the audience and said children going to and from school would have to use the busier State St. and Central Ave., if the sidewalk were not built and said he felt pedestrian traffic should not be added to these areas.

Holt said he felt opening the street would be an inconvenience for Miss Cora Van Ark, whose house at the 27th St. end of College takes in two feet of the roadway.

Loren Howard said about 100 children use the lot daily, but he was contradicted by William Hakken, who said a count showed 23 using it in a day. He said he felt a street would jeopardize the people's property to open it for 23 children.

Larry Towse, who said he was speaking for himself and Don Cook, said when they purchased their property, there was no traffic and hoped the Council would not put in a walk wide enough for driving.

Simon Steketee said if no sidewalk were built, the section would not conform with other parts of College Ave. Joe Borgman said he was opposed to opening the street.

Councilman Robert Kow suggested that a sidewalk be put in with a fence on either side and posts at the ends to prevent automobiles from using it.

Councilman Raymond Holwerda apologized for the delay in Van Ark's building plans and said the city has had the problem of the street before it for many years. He said the time has come to develop a solution and moved that action be postponed for study.

In order to build the sidewalk, the city would have to acquire an easement from Van Ark.

3 Unearned Runs Aid Muskegon in Win Over Holland

Three runs in the top of the first inning, all of them unearned on two Holland errors, set the stage for Muskegon's 6-1 victory over the Dutch here Wednesday afternoon at Riverview Park.

Holland managed to out-hit the Big Reds, 6-5, but couldn't bunch them or come up with any extra-base knocks.

With two gone, Muskegon loaded the bases on three walks by starting Holland hurler Dave Hilbink. This was followed by a single which rolled through center fielder Jan Nienhuis' legs for a two-base error and two runs galloped home. The third run scored on the second base hit of the inning. The Big Reds were also helped by an error at second when Terry Otting dropped the ball.

Muskegon stayed out in front with two more runs in the fourth inning combining a long single, an error and a walk. Hilbink was waved out during the fourth and Tom Aye moved in.

The tall left-hander kept the Big Reds guessing until the seventh when the final run crossed on a steal, which caused quite a fuss on both benches.

With one out, Aye walked two then and gave up a single. Aye then was taken out and Ned Freriks came in and fanned the first man. But the ball got away from catcher Bill Tornovich and the Muskegon runner on third took off for the plate and slid in under the Dutch backstop. Freriks retained the side by fanning the next man.

Holland pushed across one run in the second inning. Larry Alderink drove in Dennis Bluekamp, who had singled and had been advanced to second on Tornovich's out.

Another Dutch run crossed in the fourth. Joel Howard was hit by a pitched ball and after moving to second on an infield out came home on Otting's drive through the box.

The Dutch threatened again in the fifth and pushed two runs across. Nienhuis singled and was driven home by a Howard single and then scored on Tornovich's base hit.

Tornovich went all the way for Muskegon and fanned nine batters. The three Dutch hurlers also struck out nine with Hilbink getting four, Aye three and Freriks, two.

Tornovich led Holland's hitting with two bingles and Otting, Nienhuis, Howard and Bluekamp had one each.

A victory for Holland would have qualified them for the state baseball tournament in Battle Creek. The Dutch, Benton Harbor and Muskegon Heights have all lost one game in the round-robin elimination, and Muskegon, twice.

It will be determined later in the month who the representative will be. Holland now has a 3-4-1 record.

Line Score:

|----------|-----|-----|---------|
| Muskegon | 300 | 20 | 1-4 6 3 |
| Holland | 010 | 120 | 0-6 5 1 |

Batteries: Tornovich and Kloosterman; Hilbink, Aye (4), Freriks (7) and Tornovich.

First flowers on forsythia means more than "spring is here." These harbingers of spring also are signs you can follow for early spring treatment of lawns for crabgrass control. Fred Widmoyer, extension horticulturist at Michigan State University, recommends a treatment with 2,4-D at this time. Use about one tablespoon of 2,4-D ester per 1,000 square feet. Dissolve the 2,4-D in about one gallon of water. Repeat the treatment in four to six weeks.

Other materials that also do a satisfactory control job include: Sesone or Crab Herbicide and Al-anap - 1. Use these materials, at four to six - week intervals. First application should be made at the first - flowers - on - forsythia stage.

Widmoyer also lists materials that may be used when crabgrass is about two inches high. Scutyl and Tat-C-Lect can be applied at that time and repeated three times at seven-day intervals. Cyanate can be applied on a one-treatment basis and sodium arsenate on a two-treatment schedule, seven days apart. Follow manufacturers' directions for preparing solutions.

Chlordane and highly refined oil such as kerosene may be used in combination treatment, again when crabgrass is two inches high. Recommended rate is one gallon per 1,000 square feet for one treatment. Use one-half pint of 72 per cent chlordane concentrate per gallon of kerosene.

Shrubs, the beautifying ornamental plants we use in our home landscaping design represent an investment that encourages thoughtful choice. Shrub buying is all too often an accidental, or haphazard arrangement. Unless we know something about the plants we plan to use as an ornamental, we might achieve the wrong effect in home yard landscape design.

We have a booklet that is available without charge. This booklet covers many aspects of ornamental shrubs that the adapted to the four zones of Michigan. This booklet describes shrubs and plants listed in alphabetical order, and it also groups those that fall in either of the following categories: Shrubs that withstand shady growing places; shrubs that do well in moist soils and shrubs that like dry soils; and shrubs that supply good autumn foliage color.

You can secure your copy of this booklet by writing a postcard or telephoning the County Agricultural Agent's office either in Grand Haven or Zeeland. Ask for Ornamental Shrubs for Michigan Circular E-5 published by Michigan State University.

One of the easiest and most satisfying fruits to grow in the home yard is the grape. Practically every year you are assured of a good crop for table use or for jellies and jams. Unlike most woody fruit plants only two or three sprays are needed to keep the vines and fruit free of insect diseases. You have a wide selection of grape varieties for your home garden with early maturing, mid-season, and fruit that is blue, black, white, green, yellow, red or pink in color.

If you wish to give further consideration to planting of grapes in your home yard, contact your local county agricultural agent's office for a copy of folder F-71 called Grapes in the Home Fruit Garden.

There's no best pasture system for all farms, but there is a best one for every farm. Pasture is one of the most important feeds the dairyman has, but it is one of the most neglected, according to C. R. Hoglund, Michigan State University farm economist.

A Michigan study showed that less than 20 per cent of cropland pastures rated excellent, although about 50 per cent of the meadow harvested for grass silage and hay rated excellent.

THE PRESIDENTS AND SPORTS

When Secretary Humphrey was induced to take on President Eisenhower's favorite game of golf, new emphasis was given to that current presidential passion. Not that emphasis is needed; no one in America, or in the world, is allowed to forget that Eisenhower is a golf bug.

The political wisdom of this constant harping on the President's golf prowess would seem to be questionable. Golf is not what a politician would consider a "democratic" game; in spite of the many golf courses, the total number of golf players is small in comparison with voters. And by the rank and file it is likely to be thought of as a "rich man's game."

The late President Roosevelt, by reason of physical disability, had no outdoor game, he did do some swimming. But his instinct for favoring a "people's sport" was fair. He was instinctively addicted to baseball, the universal American sport. His speeches bristled with references to the popular game and with metaphors drawn from it. It was plain that he loved baseball, and millions to whom golf is only a queer eccentricity were with him.

When the Republican party was born a century ago, America was not yet so sports-minded as it is today. Lincoln had a sport after a fashion but it was almost a traditional one. On the frontier of his boyhood rail splitting was something of a game and some of Lincoln's popularity was associated with this "game."

Perhaps the first President after that who became identified in the public mind with a sport was Cleveland. Every voter knew that he was a "fishing bug," and millions loved him for it. Theodore Roosevelt, disciple of the "strenuous life," was understandably enough a tennis addict; tennis is a violent young man's game.

Our first golfing President was Taft, who was far too fat for tennis. Wilson, who followed him, was not fat, but in so far as he was a sports addict, the sport was golf. Harding was still less sports-minded, although he played a little golf. Coolidge was not even a fisherman. He posed in hip boots for the photographers, but that was merely a "public relations" stunt.

Hoover was a fisherman, but he was so "scientific" about it that the sport probably didn't do him much good with the masses of the voters. And Eisenhower is also a fisherman; the fact that he is expert in broiling a trout has probably attracted many votes.

The effects of presidential sports may not show up in the government records. Actually they probably play an important role in presidential popularity.

Hudsonville Hands Chix First Loss

Hudsonville (Special) — Jack Hoezee pitched and hit the Hudsonville Eagles to a 2-0 decision over Zeeland's baseball team here Thursday for the first loss of the season for the Chix, after four wins.

Hoezee gave up a double to Ron Komejan for the only Zeeland hit in the top of the seventh inning. The Hudsonville hurler, with teammates on first and second and a result of a walk and error, singled to center field in the sixth inning to bring home both runs. The ball got away from the center fielder and the second run crossed. Hoezee faced on 24 men and struck out 13. Merle Berens, Zeeland hurler, who allowed only two hits, fanned 13.

Zeeland now has a 1-1 mark in the Kenewa League.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, May 12
Abraham And His God
Genesis 12:1-3; 17:1-9
by C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. and used by permission.)

Three religions honor Abraham—Judaism, Christianity and Mohammedanism. We speak of him as "The Friend of God" and "The Father of the Faithful." The call of Abraham was a most important event.

I. God calls individuals. Abraham lived in Ur of the Chaldees which in these days was the center of the world and of civilization. Why did he leave this part of the world and travel to an unknown country? Because God called him. From Ur of Chaldees, Terah, the father of Abraham, and Abraham and Lot his nephew and their families migrated to Haran in Syria, where Terah died. Abraham and Lot moved from Terah to Canaan or Palestine. This migration was not for economic reasons. God called Abraham again in Terah and that is why he moved to the land of Canaan. When God called this one man, Abraham, he had in mind the welfare of the race. Through individuals God often blesses the many. God still calls people. Respond when he calls you!

God made several promises to Abraham. God told him he would make him a great nation and bless him and make his name great and cause him to be a blessing. Take special notice of the words, "In thee and in thy seed shall all families of the earth be blessed." God repeated this promise five times to the patriarchs—Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. This promise is also mentioned in the New Testament—in Galatians 3:8, 29; in Ephesians 2:12 and in Acts 3:25. Abraham obeyed the call of God and believed his promises.

II. God made a covenant with Abraham. When Abraham was 75 years old—not a young man any more—he left Haran and when he was 99 years old God appeared to him again and renewed his promise. Between this period of time several events took place among them the birth of Ishmael, the son of Abraham and Hagar, a second wife. God made promises to Abraham and also made a covenant with him. There is a difference between a promise and a covenant. One person can make a promise to another. A covenant is a contract in which two people or parties promise definite things, the one to the other. God took the initiative—he always does in his relationship to man. God talked with Abraham who fell on his face while God talked. God still talks to his people through his Word. God told Abraham what he planned to do for him and through him and what he expected of him—obedience.

The name of Abram was changed by God to Abraham. There seems to be no distinction in the meaning of these two names. The change did remind Abraham of God's covenant with him. It is interesting to note that within a year after God had renewed the covenant and changed the name Isaac was born to Abraham and Sarah. God told Abraham that this covenant was not something temporary but permanent. "And I will establish my covenant between me and thee and thy seed after thee in their generations for an everlasting covenant, to be a God unto thee, and to thy seed after thee." Children are often blessed because of their parents. Many of us can speak of having received a goodly heritage. The descendants of Abraham were promised great things because of Abraham.

III. A covenant means obligations. God said he would make Abraham a blessing—through him all nations would be blessed. Through Christ this blessing has come to all nations. The true descendants of Abraham are the believers in Christ—they are Abraham's seed. That is the reason why we call him the Father of All Believers. Thus we explain the "everlasting covenant" God made with Abraham.

Fennville Blanks Covert, 14-0, on Two-Hitter

COVERT (Special) — "It was really our day," Fennville High School Coach Sam Morehead said after his charges had handed Covert a 14-0 wallop in an Al-Van game here Monday.

Doug Allan and Jerry Smith each collected three hits for the winners. Stearnburg had two and Jack Barnes belted a homer. Fennville was helped by 14 Covert errors on the rough field.

Fennville can clinch a tie for the title by winning one of their two remaining games. They entertain Gobles Thursday and close at Lawton Monday.

Fractures Hip

Mrs. Mary Gouloze, 76, of 151 East 14th St., received a fractured hip when she fell off the front step while leaving The Sentinel building Monday. She was taken to Holland Hospital in an ambulance.

What Was That? Oh, Just My Hat

FENNVILLE (Special) — Walter Hanson was pushing his hat back on his head Tuesday as he told friends about the ferak accident he and his family encountered Sunday evening.

The accident could have been severe, but actually only delayed the family for a short time. His wife was driving their car with her husband in the front seat. In the back were Mr. Hanson's father, Thomas, and their two children, Diane, 13, and Ward 9. They were returning to Fennville after a visit in Holland.

Near New Richmond, a 20-foot tree toppled on their car. There was no apparent reason for the tree's sudden decision to fall, since there was no wind. After grazing another tree and missing another car it crashed into the Hanson vehicle, hitting in front of the windshield.

The right windshield post was caved in and the windshield shattered. Both doors on the right side flew open and the front one was badly damaged. Glass scattered throughout the car, missing everyone except Mrs. Hanson, who received a minor scratch. Nearby residents helped clear the tree and the Hansons continued home without further difficulty.

Hanson, who was sitting in the right front where the tree crashed, missed seeing part of the excitement. His hat was pushed down over his face.

Dogs, Kittens Wait for Homes

Dogs, ranging from terriers to collies and from puppies to mature sires, are waiting for homes at the Ottawa County Animal Shelter; the Humane Society reported today.

In addition to the approximately 100 dogs, there are about 25 kittens that can be obtained at the shelter on US-31 between Holland and Grand Haven.

Among the canines are the popular breeds such as beagles, dachshunds, springer spaniels and terriers, plus a German Shepherd, coud hounds, a Labrador retriever and various mixed breeds.

Visiting hours at the Animal Shelter are from 2 to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and from 1:30 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. At those times, interested persons can tour the shelter and perhaps find a pet for themselves. The shelter is closed Mondays.

Workers Needed To Build Park

Workers are needed to build a ball park at Jefferson School this Saturday for the kids in the summer Recreation Department-American Legion baseball program.

"Any dads who contemplate their sons playing this summer should come out," Clare Van Lier, Legion director of the league, said today. Volunteers are asked to bring shovels, rakes and axes.

"If we get a big group out, it shouldn't be any problem to get the diamond built," Van Lier said.

Plans call for a regulation size park to be constructed so that the eight-to-12-year-olds can use it this year and the 13-to-15-year-olds next year.

The field has been staked out and it is expected that after the actual building of the park has been completed, it will be dragged periodically.

ZEELAND (Special) — Michael Edward Wolters, 8, of 311 Ottawa St., is in "good" condition at Zeeland Community Hospital Tuesday after suffering a fractured skull when his bicycle struck an automobile Monday afternoon.

Zeeland police said the youngster was riding across Washington Ave. when he struck a car operated by Jacob Kuipers, 56, of 82 West Eighth St., Holland, who was driving west.

Kuipers was ticketed for driving with an expired operator's license. The boy was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

School Board Considers Report On Annexation

Defers Action Until Regular Meeting Scheduled May 13

The Board of Education held a special meeting Monday night to discuss the report of the Citizens Annexation Advisory Committee which had been referred by City Council last week, but took no direct action, pending further reports from the schools committee at the next regular meeting May 13.

Dr. Lester J. Kuyper, board secretary, read the report, and considerable discussion followed on consolidation of school debt, legal complications on voting, and certain conflicts with policies which the school board adopted last December.

It was pointed out that debt of the 12 districts and the city school districts are not equal, but neither are they far apart. In pointed out that the entire bonding program would have to be rewritten and refinanced.

The schools committee also was instructed to submit a list of names at the next meeting from which 12 would be chosen to work on a committee to promote the annexation program. This is according to a recommendation in the annexation report calling for a committee of 24 members, 12 from the city to be appointed by the school board, plus the presidents of the 12 outside school districts. Another 24-member committee will be appointed by the city, 12 from the city and 12 from outside.

After the annexation discussion, the board heard a presentation by Arthur Reag, building consultant, on a "new look" at meeting the building needs of the larger school district. His report was presented as a supplement to the Holland Area school report and lists a general master plan for school buildings.

Read proposed that instead of a new high school that two new junior high schools be built almost immediately, one to the north and the other to the south to care for seventh, eighth and ninth grades from the entire annexed area, plus the ninth graders from districts outside the annexed area. He proposed that the present high school and junior high be modernized for high school functions.

By 1966, Read anticipates further needs for another junior high school, this time to the east, and perhaps the first units of a new high school. In 15 or 20 years, he visualized two more junior high schools in the park area, one on each side of Lake Macatawa, two new high schools, one to the north and another to the south, and have the present junior high and high school facilities used as a junior college or for adult education.

Read stressed flexibility and unit planning in any construction, so that junior high schools could easily be converted to high schools if the occasion demanded. He also cited figures on great savings in costs.

The board listened with interest to Read's report (accompanied by several maps) but no action was taken on the "new look." President Wendel Miles said there easily could be five other plans which would be submitted and studied before any action on future buildings would take place. These studies would involve boundaries, transportation, athletic facilities and many other phases.

Board members present were Miles, Kuyper, Alvin Cook and Bernard Arendshorst. Others present were Supt. Walter W. Scott, J. J. Riemersma, Read and Vern Schipper.

Fire Loss $2,000

Fire Marshal Andrew Westenbroek estimated damage at $2,000 from flames, smoke and water to the Gerald Prins home on Greeley St., following a fire Tuesday night. Westenbroek said the blaze apparently started from a defective cord on an electric clock and spread up the wall to the attic and through a portion of the roof.

Some of the big trees of California may eventually reach an age of 10,000 years.

Jim Kaat ... strikes out 11 batters

Dutch Split Pair With Alma; Kaat Remains Unbeaten

ALMA (Special) — Only three hits in the opening game here Tuesday proved enough for Hope College's baseball team to hand Alma its first MIAA loss of the season. In the nightcap the Dutch collected eight safeties but suffered some mental lapses in the field and came out on the short end.

The result was a 3-1 victory for Hope in the first game behind the four-hit pitching of freshman Jim Kaat while the second contest favored the Scots, 5-2.

Alma's split left them in first place with a 7-1 record while Hope follows with 7-2 and Hillsdale is third with 5-2. Alma must still play doubleheaders with Kalamazoo, Adrian and Olivet while Hope must meet Adrian and Olivet in twin-bills and Hillsdale in a single game. The Dutch, after losing their first game to the Dales, were rained out of the second contest.

Kaat, Zeeland southpaw, who has now chalked up three straight MIAA victories, fanned 11 batters and struck out the side in the sixth inning.

While Kaat was busily toiling on the slab, his mates were having trouble getting safeties off the slants of Albie Roman.

But the three hits the Dutch did get all were bunched in the fourth inning and produced the three runs. Ron Bekius led off with a single and moved to second on Dave Woodcock's drive which was muffed at short. Then with two out, Tim Vander Mel singled Bekius home with a single and Woodcock went to second. Dick Morgan then slapped a long single to center and Woodcock and Vander Mel crossed the plate.

Those three runs erased the 1-0 lead the Scots had taken in the third. Pierson led off with a single. He was sacrificed to second by Roman. Bob Hill walked and Dick Morrison, who proved to be a batting troublermaker in both games, singled to load the bases. Zittle walked to force in a run. A double play from Vander Mel to Jack Faber to Morgan ended the inning.

In the second game, the Dutch made eight hits but couldn't dent the plate until the seventh inning. Daryl Seidenlop took over for Morgan in the fifth when the first sacker pulled up at third 'lame after running the bases. Seidenlop singled to center. Ron Wetherbee, safe on an error, Al Kober grounded out and the runners advanced.

Faber lined a smash at the pitcher, who deflected the ball toward short. The shortstop recalled it but threw wide to first and both Hope runs scored.

Alma had tallied its first run in the opening inning. Morrison singled with two out, stole second and came home on a double by Hahn. In the third inning, Hill doubled and took third on a single by Morrison. In a rundown between first and second, Morrison was tagged out, but a mental lapse on Morgan's part allowed Hill to score.

In the fifth, the Scots led the game with three runs, aided by two more Hope mental misplays. Zittle singled to right. Hill beat out a bunt when no one covered first. Zittle scored on Morrison's double and Hill moved to third. Hahn hit a roller to first but again the sack was left ungarded and Hill scored and Hahn took first. The Scots then successfully pulled a double steal and Morrison scored.

Hope failed to get an extra base hit in either game. Seidenlop, Vander Mel, Boeve, Bob Andree, Morgan, Jack Kempker, Faber

A Democratic Family
Ephesians 6:1-4; Colossians 3:18-21
by Darrell Franken

"Children, obey your parents... Parents, provoke not your children to wrath." These are strong statements, and they speak very pointedly about the principles which promote a happy home.

A man was complaining to his minister that his son was extremely disobedient. The son would not listen to the father, nor would he honor his wishes. The father, seeking guidance, asked his minister, "Doesn't the Bible say that a child is supposed to obey his parents?" "Yes," said the minister who knew more than the father suspected, "but the Bible also says that a parent is not to provoke his children to wrath." The father's mistake was revealed.

Debate Or Panel Discussion
This topic lends itself quite well to a debate or a panel discussion. You might discuss the general question, "Is it possible for a home to be run democratically?"

Negative Speaker: Looking at that question from my side I say, "No, it is not possible, nor is it scriptural to allow a home to be run democratically." First of all, in a democracy the people choose their leaders. In a home it would be rather unwise to have the family vote to see who is going to lead this week and who will lead (rule) next week. Therefore, I say that it is not possible for a home to be run on the organizational principles of democracy. In the second place, God commands in the fifth commandment, to honor our parents. In Colossians 3:20 we also read, "Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this pleases the Lord." If then, we are to follow the dictates and desires of other people such as our parents, we do not really have a democratic family.

Affirmative Speaker: Democracy is more correctly defined as a system in which the rights of each person are honorably preserved. Using such a definition we are able to say that democracy is possible in the home. If democracy is practiced in the home, children are taught principles, not given orders (all the time). Their judgment and wishes are heard, not disregarded. Their wish is a vote in the family government. To be sure, the parents carry the veto power and must use it for the welfare of all.

These two speakers differ because they do not agree on a definition of democracy. One thinks of democracy as a set of "organizational" principles, while the other understands it as a set of "moral" principles. A Debate or a Panel Discussion often brings out these all important differences.)

Godwin Pitcher Fans 17; Dutch Lose Game, 5-1

Tom Charon, Godwin Heights pitcher, completely handcuffed the Holland High batters Friday afternoon at Riverview Park, getting the third strike on 17 of them. The result was a 5-1 Godwin victory over the Dutch, the 10th straight this season.

Charon faced only 24 men. He walked three and hit one. Holland made three hits.

Three runs in the third inning following a misjudged fly ball into right field by Dennis Bluekamp proved Holland's breaking point. With two out and a man on third, Bluekamp lost a ball in the sun and the play went for a triple, scoring one run. The next man was intentionally walked and both scored on a double.

Catcher Glenn Haight scored the first run in the second inning. He singled and scored on Strukenberg's single.

Two short doubles put runners on second and third in the fifth and Haight, who was being intentionally walked, reached out and slapped a single to drive in the fifth Godwin run.

A double by Terry Otting drove in Joel Howard, who was safe on a fielders choice in the fifth for Holland's only run.

Dave (Slir), Hilbink started for Holland and struck out seven men. All of the runs came off Hilbink and who was lifted in the sixth for Ron Kuyers, who fanned two.

A single by Bluekamp and a double by Bob Stool were the other Holland hits.

Gene Nyenhuis, former Hope College football star and one of the outstanding softball pitchers in Western Michigan, coached Godwin.

Holland Will Have Probation Officer Within Few Weeks

Municipal Judge Ponders Appointment; Outlines Work Plan

Municipal Judge Cornelius van der Meulen said today he expects to nominate a probation officer "within the next few weeks."

Provision for the position was incorporated in Holland's 1957-58 budget, adopted last Wednesday by the City Council. The actual appointment will be made by the Michigan Corrections Commission, upon van der Meulen's nomination. State statutes give a municipal judge authority to nominate an officer if the local governing body will take care of his salary. The Council appropriated $1,200 for the position.

The judge said he is now interviewing applicants for the part-time position. Holland's officer will handle roughly one-third the cases a full-time officer is responsible for, but, van der Meulen said, "he will earn his money."

The person picked for the job will begin his duties at the start of the next fiscal year, July 1.

"I am very pleased and happy that we are going to have a probation officer," van der Meulen said. "I think probation should be used more extensively by the lower courts."

Van der Meulen indicated he would use probation more when the officer begins his work, especially in non-support and youth cases. He said he was prevented from making too much application of it in the past because of a lack of supervision.

A probation officer, he said, will be able to keep in constant touch with the penalized person, something the court could not do. Violators can then be brought back into court by the officer for changes in their probation, whereas the judge usually had to wait until the person got into trouble again before altering or revoking the terms of probation.

In addition, the judge expects the probation officer to be able to discuss and determine the motivations of delinquency with an eye to correcting influences which cause young people to get into trouble. He considers probation will become a "stiffer" penalty than a fine under the proposed setup.

Van der Meulen sees the probation officer as the first step of a three-stage plan he has to improve Holland and Ottawa County. His other goals are a full-time youth director and a new county jail.

A youth director, he said, would be sponsored by the Community Chest, not the city, so it would encompass the entire area. The director would organize church, service club and Hope College personnel so it can be made available to "the children who really need help, not the child who already has adequate recreational outlets." Music, crafts and hobbies would be stressed as well as athletics under van der Meulen's plan.

He would like to see a new jail built between Holland and Grand Haven in a place where there is room to establish a disciplined work program with rehabilitation in mind.

"Only about one in 50 needs to be locked up tight," the judge said as he described his jail plan as one which would be more like military basic training. "If they work hard all day and sleep hard at night, they will be better citizens than if they sit around and wait all the time."

Science Courses Slated in Allegan

ALLEGAN (Special) — Parents of Allegan grade school pupils from kindergarten on up should be forewarned...the questions your kids will be asking next year are going to be a lot tougher.

They're apt to touch on such subjects as supersaturated solutions, point of balance, acids and bases, specific gravity and dozens of other scientific points.

According to Morris J. Hamilton, director of elementary education in the Allegan school system, science will be included in the curriculum for all grades next year. Some 40 elementary teachers, including five observers each from Plainwell and Otsego, attended a science-workshop—a part of Allegan's "inservice training program" for teachers—at which they heard all about the new approach to science work from Raymond Deur, of the Western Michigan University staff.

First portion of the day-long workshop was devoted to discussion of classroom techniques by Deur.

Treating the teachers as if they were first and fourth graders themselves, Deur outlined the scientific method approach based on the formula of "COHEC"—curiosity, observation, hypothesis, experimentation and conclusion.

Later he performed several of the experiments which have proven popular with grade school youngsters—making a gas from soda and vinegar, demonstrating various principles of balance and making an egg float in salt water.

County Planning Commission Now Being Considered

Local Group Heartily Endorses County-Wide Planning Organization

The Holland Planning Commission Thursday night heard a report on surveys being made which may lead to the organization of a county planning commission to be appointed by the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors.

The study started more than a month ago by a group of interested persons meeting in Zeeland. This committee expects to submit a written report eventually to the county board, and the Holland Planning Commission enthusiastically endorsed the general program.

Some of the subjects under study are land use and land development, water authority, the possibility of a bridge in a strategic point near Lake Michigan to link recreational areas, gravel pits in the eastern part of the county, soil erosion and control, parceling of land and the need for surveys, stripping of top soil, setting up standards for migrant workers, and overlapping of telephone systems.

The commission also studied sites for a new library. While the commission is not authorized to "reserve" such a site, it went on record that any site in the general "public buildings" area using Centennial Park as a core, would be suitable. Consequently, the two sites advanced by the Library Board on the southwest and northwest corner at 12th and River would be suitable sites. The general "public buildings" area is in the vicinity of Centennial park at Eighth St. and somewhat east of Central Ave. and west of River Ave.

The commission spent considerable time reviewing the residential section and agriculture section of the proposed zoning ordinance. Chairman Willard C. Wichers presided at the meeting. Councilman Ernest Phillips was welcomed as a new member and City Engineer Laverne Serne as a re-appointed member. Others present were Stuart E. Boyd, W. A. Butler, Mrs. William G. Winter, Jr., City Attorney James E. Townsend, City Manager Holt, Building Inspector William Layman, and Bob Boatman of Planning Consultant Scott Bagby's office.

Following a business session delegates gathered for a supper served by a committee of women and Sunday School children with Mrs. Lloyd Anderson and Mrs. Ralph Richman as co-chairmen.

The business meeting of the Rev. Edward Lange of St. James Lutheran Church of Grand Rapids was appointed pastoral adviser to fill the unexpired term of the late Rev. Edward Hilt, formerly of St. John's Lutheran Church in Grand Haven, who died recently.

City Entertains Brazilian Guests

Holland had some distinguished visitors last week.

Antonio L. N. Galvao, head of an engineering firm at Sao Paulo, Brazil, who is touring the United States to study sanitation, particularly water distribution and sewage disposal, arrived in Holland Wednesday evening. He was accompanied by his wife, the latter's aunt, Mrs. Lavinia Silveira, and her daughter, Hebe.

In view of the fact that Mayor Robert Visscher was involved in a City Council meeting, the Brazilian party was greeted by Willard C. Wichers, director of the midwest division of the Netherlands Information Service. Earlier in the day Galvao had brought greetings to Gov. G. Mennen Williams from the governor of Sao Paulo, which is a state as well as a city in South America. Gov. Williams had been a guest of the governor of Sao Paulo when he visited South America some time ago.

On Thursday morning, Guy E. Bell, superintendent of the Board of Public Works, took the Brazilian engineer on a tour of the BPW facilities including the new water supply system. The party also visited Netherlands Museum and the tulip fields.

From Holland, the group left for Chicago. They are spending a month in the United States, and later will go to Europe, including a visit in the Netherlands.

Miss Kiekoover Wed to Roger Mulder

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mulder

The marriage of Miss Geraldine Kiekoover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kiekoover of route 2, Hudsonville, and Roger Mulder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mulder, route 1, Allendale, was solemnized Saturday, April 18, in Drenthe Christian Reformed Church. The Rev. J. J. Kenbeek performed the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Wedding attendants included the bride's sister, Miss Joann Kiekoover, as maid of honor; Miss Genevieve Keuning as bridesmaid; Gerald Mulder and Bernard Mulder, groom's brothers, best man and groomsmen. Arden Kiekoover and Harvey Kiekoover, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

For the occasion the bride selected a floor length gown of lace and tulle over taffeta. The all lace bodice was fashioned with a scalloped neckline formed with a scalloped edge from the lace pattern and tiny seed pearls. Short lace sleeves with a scalloped edge framed her arms to accent the basque bodice. A fitted dipping waistline held the full lace apron below which was the large flounce of tulle which formed the extremely full skirt. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid and streamers. The elbow length veil was held in place by a white open crown hat.

The bride's attendants wore gowns of deep sky blue featuring shirred elbow sleeves and V-necklines, large sashes tied at the waist. Their headpieces were fashioned of crystalettes.

Mrs. John De Weerd, organist, played traditional wedding music and also accompanied Dale Ver Meer who sang "Because" and the "Lord's Prayer."

After the ceremony the bridal couple greeted approximately 100 guests at a reception held in the church parlors. Guests were registered by Marcia Schreier and Phyllis Roon, nieces of the bride.

For a western wedding trip the new Mrs. Mulder changed to a black and white tulle suit with red accessories and a white orchid corsage. They will make their home on route 2, Zeeland. The bride is a graduate of Holland Christian High School and is employed in the office at Herman Miller Furniture Co. Her husband was graduated from Holland Christian High School and is employed by the Allendale Heating Co.

TULIPS NEED WATER — The hanging baskets of tulips along downtown Holland streets still need their share of water so the Park Department came up with a unique way of solving this problem. An empty coffee can was attached to a long pole making it easy for Gordon Keen to reach the baskets while standing on the rear of a truck. A large barrel of water on the truck carries the supply. The watering detail makes the rounds each week as needed.

Holland Netters Win 50th Straight

Convincingly reaching the half-century victory string mark with a 7-0 blanking of Muskegon here Thursday, Holland High's tennis team looked ahead to running the streak well past 60 this season.

The Dutch whitewashed the Big Reds earlier in the season by a similar score but Coach Joe Moran reported that Muskegon has improved rapidly during the past two weeks.

Roger Plagenhoef, playing No. 1, had the toughest time with Dave Hathaway and after winning, 6-1 in the first set had difficulty in the second set before winning, 6-4.

In the other three singles, Muskegon won only three games. Lester Overway walloped Dick Danhof, 6-0, 6-0; Jack Hulst trounced Jerry Hopma, 6-1, 6-0 and Wayne Overway walked over Ron Fuller, 6-1, 6-1.

Marshall Elzinga and Jack Damson defeated Roger Plont and Mike Workman, 6-0, 6-2 and Bob Teal and Dennis Kuite defeated Jerry Swartz and Bruce Dickey, 6-0, 6-1. Bill Bouman and Ron Yonker won the third match, 6-2, 6-3 over Tom Church and Dick Stiles.

Ninowski, who was awarded the "most valuable player" trophy, used comparatively straght power plays with Kowalczyk backing up through the tackles and sophomore Blanche Martin running the ends and cutting the guards, Martin, the former River Rouge basketball star, is well-remembered as the player who aided in stopping Holland Christian in the 1954 state tournament.

Kowalczyk carried 13 times for 131 of the varsity's 187 yards gained by rushing.

Don Arend, who bothered Holland High teams in football and basketball, operated out of the first string fullback spot and showed even more of the high-stepping power he displayed at Benton Harbor. But he was plagued a couple of times by fumbling. Art Johnson played right half behind Kowalczyk and scored the first varsity touchdown.

Up front it was Joe Carruthers, husky guard, Dan Currie, center, and Dave Kaiser, end, who were making the majority of tackles. Carruthers, especially, was blocking up the center of the line on defense.

Although appearing to be somewhat under wraps, the Spartans

Christian Netters Lose 2nd Match

KALAMAZOO (Special) — A potent Western State High School tennis squad edged the Holland Christian netters, 5-2 here, Thursday afternoon. The loss was Christian's second in seven starts this season. Christian was definitely in the match and Coach Harold Grissen felt that a couple of breaks in a couple of key encounters could have turned the meet into a Maroon victory. The Dutch mentor was thinking of the fourth singles match which went three sets and the third doubles decision which also went to State in a close affair.

State completely overpowered the locals in the first three singles events, but beyond this, the match was hotly contested. Two of the Cub's first three performers are freshmen.

Arlin Lanting of the Dutch staged a good fight in the No. 1 singles, but lost to Jon Scott, 6-1, 6-3. In the second singles affair, Dick Colby whipped Christian's Karl Overbeek, 6-1, 6-0. The third singles match went to another freshman, Brad Hodgman, 6-1, 6-1 over Calvin Mannes. Christian also bowed in the fourth singles, as Bernie Evink went down in a three setter to Ed Gemrich, 6-1, 1-6, 6-0.

The Maroons had the better of the doubles play as Ron Weener and Bill Goodky took Kim Sebaly and George Brown, 6-2, 7-5. In the second doubles, the Dutch duo of Dale Dykema and John Voss, stopped Woody Boudeman and Jack Schrier, 6-2, 6-3. State took the third doubles match as Bill Whitbeck and Tom Weirman edged Ken Wolcott and Paul Piersma, 8-6, 6-1.

Library Adventures

—Arnold Mulder

A miniature tempest in a teapot has been stirred up over a series of books that in a way almost belong to the Holland area — "Wizard of Oz" books, by the late L. Frank Baum. Some of those books, which were popular with youngsters a generation ago, are supposed to have been written in what was known as the Goose Cottage at Macatawa Park.

Now the heavy hand of the library censor has fallen on the Oz books. Out in Detroit some librarians have barred the books because they were not supposed to be a good influence on the child mind of today. Ralph Ulbeling, director of the Detroit libraries, said the books were banned because of their "cowardly approach" and are "generally degrading and of no value."

But along came Lyle Blair, head of the MSU Press, who passionately defended the Oz books. He called the Detroit critics "dogooders who want everything cast in the same mold." And for good measure he added, "What this country needs are good imaginative eccentrics" — evidently meaning thereby the author of the Oz volumes.

And Blair's colleague in the MSU English department, Russell B. Nye, added: "If the message of the Oz books — that loyalty, kindness and unselfishness make the world a better place — seems to be of no value today, perhaps we should reassess a good many other things about modern society besides libraries' approval list of children's books."

For myself, I have no way of knowing who is right, the Detroit library director or the MSU savants. I have never read a "Wizard of Oz" book. I was unfortunately too old for them when they began to be the rage among the youngsters.

The difference of opinion in regard to the books of course in no sense a matter of censorship, although that word has been almost passionately applied to it. The Detroit librarian merely said that in his opinion the books were no longer worth the shelfroom to keep them in stock. The MSU professors heatedly declared that they should not be discarded.

Children in Detroit can continue to buy all the Oz books their hearts may desire: the Detroit librarian merely is saying that he wants the shelfroom for other children's books. He may be right or he may be wrong, but he is not exercising book censorship. Any librarian must exercise his judgment on which books to stock and which to discard; no one can possibly give shelfroom to everything.

My guess is that the Detroit librarian merely felt that the child of today no longer responds to the wizardry of the Baum books of nearly half a century ago. His interests are different, what with space ships and other things of that nature.

The same thing is constantly happening with types of books that for a generation may be extraordinarily popular. Would a modern library be justified in giving shelf space to, say, the "Elsie Dinsmore" books that were popular somewhat earlier than the Oz books? Yet there were some 50 of them and in their day the presses could hardly keep up with the demand. Or the "Horatio Alger" books, that were equally popular in their day. Or the "Pollyanna" books of a somewhat later period? The whole thing is nothing to get excited about. The Wizard of Oz books served their purpose but there is no indication that they belong to literature.

Astronomers measure distances to far-off stars by their radiance. The apparent brightness of a light, in accordance with a basic law of physics, diminishes by the square of its distance from the observer. Thus, if the sun were twice as far away from the earth it would seem only one-fourth as bright.

Cook that was smashed open Thursday morning in a burglary of five doctors' offices at 121 West 24th St. The ripped condition of the safe door indicates the burglars worked for some time before opening it. A complete inventory showed that the original cash audit of less than $500 was all the men took in the breakin.

Detectives are making a house-to-house canvas in the neighborhood, across from hospital, in case anyone spotted anything unusual. Officers are also checking several other possible leads.

Maroon Baseball Team Has Easy Time Notching Win

Holland Christian's baseball squad got on the victory trail Thursday afternoon at Riverview Park by whipping Grand Rapids South Christian, 10-3. The Maroons have now one victory while losing three so far this season.

The Dutch combined effective pitching on the part of Merle Dykema and Dan Bos, and some timely hitting to collect the easy win. Christian pounded out 10 hits to build up a 10-0 cushion, before Coach Elmer Ribbens substituted freely at various positions.

Holland pitching gave up just two hits, while walking seven batters and striking out nine. Two South hurriers, Kuiper and Van Horn, had their troubles besides giving up the safeties. They walked nine batters and fanned six over the seven inning stint.

The Dutch got things moving in a hurry as they pounded out four hits, good for four runs in the opening inning. Three straight singles, a sacrifice fly and a timely double by Dykema accounted for the Maroon tallies in the first.

Two walks, and singles by Warren Otte and Maynard Schrotenboer produced two more Maroon tallies in the third inning. Three more runners crossed the plate for the Hollanders in the fourth frame on four straight singles and a costly error on the part of the South Sailors.

Christian upped the count to 10-0 in the fifth inning with a single tally without the aid of a hit. Three walks and an error added to the damage for the losers.

South scored its first run in the sixth on a triple by Catcher Rozema and a fly to the outfield. They added two more in the seventh making the most out of three walks and an error.

Three Maroon players, Jim Kool, Dykema and Otte, each had two hits apiece to pace the Dutch attack.

Line score:
Holl. Chr. . . 402 310 x-10 10 3
South Chr. . . 000 001 2-3 2 3
Batteries: Dykema, Bos and Walters; Kuiper, Van Horn and Rozema.

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Gertrude Marie Vander Lugt of Kalamazoo and David Schreur of Holland Friday evening in a double ring ceremony performed in Grace Christian Reformed Church of Kalamazoo. At 8 p.m. the Rev. Thomas Yli, pastor of the Kalamazoo church, read the rites as the wedding party assembled before the altar decorated with white calla lilies and candelabra. White bows marked the pews.

Approaching the altar with her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle over bridal satin. The molded bodice featured an illusion yoke below a queen's collar and the long sleeves were tapered to points at the wrists. The bouffant tulle skirt was designed with star-point lace appliques and was worn over hoops. A pillbox lace cap trimmed with pearls held her wrist length veil. She carried a Bible with an orchid on white lace and streamers of ivy and rosebuds.

The maid of honor was attired in a white organdy dress with a two tone orchid taffeta cummerbund which fell into a wide sash in the back. It was designed with a scoop neckline and bouffant skirt. The bridesmaids wore matching dresses of orchid organdy with a two tone orchid cummerbund and sash. All wore small orchid headpieces which secured the circular veil studded with small seed pearls. Parade of Quartets Top Tulip Time Attraction

Plans have been completed for the annual Parade of Quartets which will be staged during Tulip Time this year in Civic Center Friday, May 17, at 5 p.m.

The parade, sponsored annually by the Holland chapter of the So-ciety for the Preservation and En-couragement of Barbershop Quar-tet Singing in America, Inc., will feature topflight visiting quartets and a 45-man chorus known as "Ambassadors of Harmony" from Michigan city.

"The Staffmen," a new quartet from Holland, will make its first appearance in a local parade. Members are Mary Hardenburg, tenor; Mike Lucas, lead; Chet Oonk, baritone, and Jack Oonk, bass. The latter two formerly sang with the old Harmonicas.

The quartet, which was organized in January, also will sing at the joint service club luncheon on Friday noon of Tulip Time.

Other quartets to appear will be the Merri-Men of Lansing and the Extension Chords of Grand Ra-pids. Merri-men personnel are Dale Bullock, lead; Doug Stephens, bass; Gordon Washburn, baritone, and Howard Hawkins, tenor. Ex-tension Chords consist of Sid Hel-der, tenor; Don Lucas, lead; Cal Verduin, baritone, and Don Hall, bass.

The Michigan City Ambassadors of Harmony started out 10 years ago and since then climbed the long ladder of experience, growth, competition, community service and just about every other facet of barbershop singing. This chorus won the International Championship at Milwaukee last June.

Under the direction of Rudy Hart, the 45-voice group has ap-peared on many barbershop shows and has recorded nine songs for a major recording company.

Willia Diekema of Holland is pre-sident of the local chapter.

Plans for the annual school pic-nic were made at a regular meet-ing of the Waverly Activity Club Friday evening. The picnic will be held the last day of school on May 24. A basket supper will be served following contests for the school children which will begin at 4 p.m.

The members also made plans for their final meeting of the season which will be a potluck supper on June 7.

In other business the group de-cided to combine the Waverly club and the PT Club, recently discon-tinued, and set aside two meetings a year for a combined session which will include all families in the district.

After the business session in charge of Mrs. Alvin Kapenga, president, refreshments were served by Mrs. Jake Zuidema and Mrs. Dennis Steinfort.
