Wide Range Of Subjects Covered

Council Faces Long, Varied Agenda at Two-Hour Meeting

City Council went through a maze of subjects at a regular meeting Wednesday night, ranging from annual budgets to licenses, Tulip Time, miscellaneous communications, new ordinances and recreational activity.

Yet, outside of considerable discussion on budget items, most other items were handled with promptness and dispatch and Council page 1.)

Council enthusiastically endorsed the views brought out in a communication from the Joint Citizens Committee of the four districts seeking annexation to Holland city in the June 3 elections. The communication sought support and active cooperation from Council in the annexation program, and pointed to mutual benefits which the merger would effect. Motion to endorse the program wholeheartedly was made by Councilman Henry Steffens. Council's vote was unanimous. Steffens pointed to the necessity of working together to solve school and civic problems.

On the recreational front, Council approved the following bids for labor and materials for basketball practice courts on various playgrounds: concrete curbs, John Kortman and Son, $283.20; black-top paving, West Shore Construction Co., $4,535 plus $3.25 per cubic yard for additional stabilized gravel; basketball backstops, Reliable Cycle, $1,757.14; stabilized gravel, Brink and Rabbers, $1.75 per cubic yard; total, $9,450.

Council okayed an arrangement whereby the city will pay for installing a new score board for Riverview Park to be paid for by voluntary contributions. A letter signed by Leon Kleis, Al Vanderbush and Joe Moran outlined plans for the new scoreboard and suggested selling the old scoreboard. Both Holland High and Hope College have pledged $200 each for the replacement, the communication revealed.

A report from the planning commission requesting rezoning of an area in the vicinity of 13th St. and Maple Ave. from residential to commercial on behalf of Peter and Patricia Yff was tabled for further study. The report recommended the rezoning of a certain area plus requiring offstreet parking as a transitional buffer between commercial and residential zones.

Council okayed low bid entered by Hussey Brothers of Grand Rapids to paint exterior woodwork of City Hall at a cost of $1,467. A letter from Softball League Director Norman Japenga inviting Council members to attend the opening game at 6:30 p.m. May 20 was read. Mayor Robert Visscher was invited to throw out the first ball.

Licenses were okayed for Peter Jacobusse, garbage collection; Urs Von Ins, Von Ins Recreation and Snack Bar, pool hall; John Vander Kolk, Holland City bus lines; Arthur Quist, bowling lanes; Warm Friend Tavern, dance hall, and the following rubbish licenses: Albert Van Huis, 68 Saunders; Fred Stam, 144 Fairbanks; Melvin Witteveen, 188 Elm; George Kotman, 173 East Fifth; Peter Jacobusse, route 4; George Bruschart, route 1.

Tulip Time entertainment licenses were approved for the baton twirling contest, band review, Tulip Time Varieties; Dutch Fantasies, The Red Mill, glass blower, flower show, and the parade of quarts.

The Henry Walters post 2144, Veterans of Foreign Wars was granted permission to sell poppies from 2 p.m. Friday, May 23, to 2 p.m. Saturday, May 24. A request from the Chamber of Commerce for an advisory safety commission resulted in authorizing the mayor to appoint a special committee to study the advisability of setting up a safety commission by ordinance.

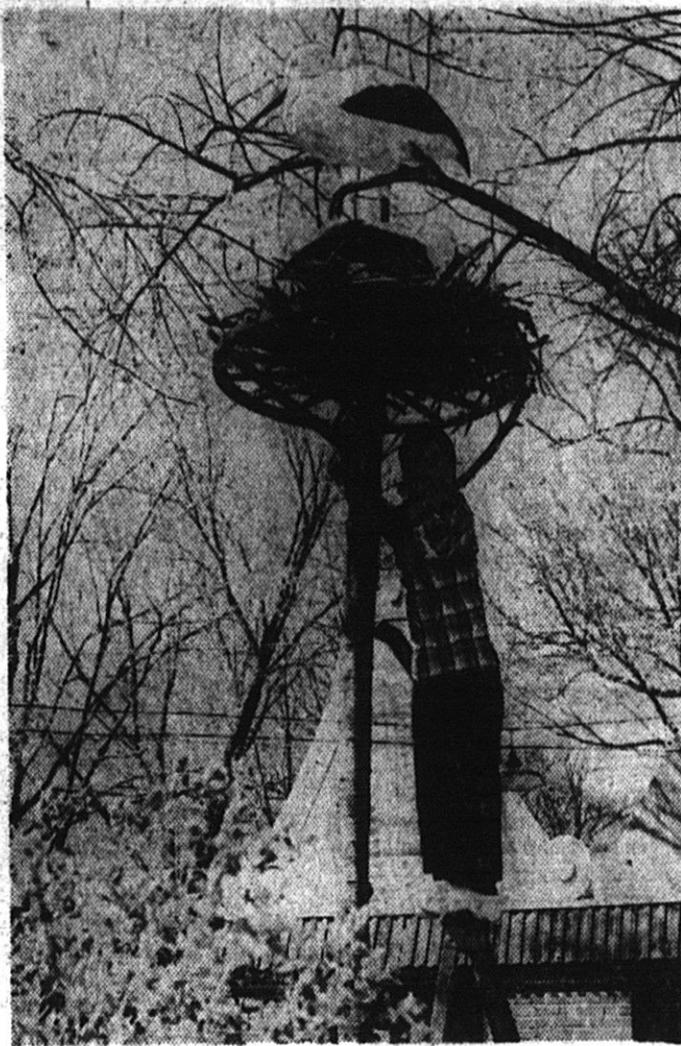

Mayor Robert Visscher was delegated to represent the city of Holland at the Mackinac Bridge dedication June 26-28.

Council will file a protest on the water diversion bill which has been passed by the House and will be considered by the Senate. The Chamber of Commerce also is filing a protest on the diversion question which involves diverting water from Lake Michigan through the Chicago canal.

Two letters from U. S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford were presented relative to the resurvey of the Holland Harbor project, indicating the matter is now before the subcommittee on rivers and harbors. Ford promised to keep Council advised.

A personal injury claim from Mrs. Mary Hardenberg and a car damage claim from Cornelius De Jous, were referred to the insurance agency and the city attorney.

City Manager Herb Holt said several requests have come in from churches and other organizations for using the band shell at Kollen Park, and the question of rules for band shell use was referred to the bandshell advisory committee. Final payments for

Three Named To District IV Library Group

Election of two local trustees and the Holland City Librarian to offices in District IV, Michigan Library Association and the announcement that Holland Public Library will be host to librarians and trustees at the 1959 meeting, highlighted the business session at the association's annual meeting Friday in Greenville.

Mrs. William G. Winter participated in a symposium "Who Says I Can't Read It?" and Mrs. Hayes spoke to the Trustees division on "Audio Visual Aids Available to the Small Library."

Main speaker of the afternoon was Les Morford of Greenville High School. His topic was "The Gifted Child." ### Holland Woman Hurt In Two-Car Collision

Mrs. Gerrit J. Wolters, 49, of route 5, Holland, was treated at Holland Hospital for contusions and abrasions on her head and knees following an accident Wednesday at 5:15 p.m. at the corner of River and Howard Aves.

Mrs. Wolters was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Joyce Funckes, 22, of 50 West 21st St., headed north on River Ave. Ottawa County deputies said Mrs. Funckes collided with the rear of a car driven by Joseph Damveld, 75, of 695 136th Ave., who was waiting for a red light.

Deputies ticketed Mrs. Funckes for following too closely. Damveld's 1951 model car was damaged in excess of its value, deputies said, and he estimated the damage to Mrs. Funckes' 1955 model car at $350.

work and services in the band shell program were okayed for Kammeraad and Stroop, architects, and Martin Dyke and Son, contractors. Floodlights were okayed for installation at the band shell at a cost of $63.85, but bids will be taken for a loud speaker system, estimated at close to $700.

A request from Leo Salisbury and William De Boer requesting a meeting with Council to discuss wages was received and filed.

Councilman John Van Eerden spoke of the need for additional softball facilities and mentioned Jefferson field could be lighted at a cost of $1,663, but Mayor Visscher pointed out that Council already had okayed expenditures of over $9,000 for recreational activities earlier in the evening, and with a building proposed at Fairbanks Park, he felt the joint recreational committee should carefully consider needs and later make specific recommendations.

Council adjourned at 9:23 p.m. All members were present except Robert J. Kouv. William Heeringa gave the invocation.

New Higher City Budget Is Approved

Tax Rate Increased $1.08 Per Thousand; Sewer Charge Studied

City Council Wednesday adopted the 1958-59 budget for Holland city calling for a total outlay of $921,606.12 of which $520,131.93 is to be raised by local taxes. This figure includes $68,000 for debt retirement which covers bonds on Civic Center and the hospital addition. The school budget is a separate entity and will be adopted later.

The new budget is $42,864.90 more than last year's tax budget of $477,267.03. Next year's tax rate will be $15.77 per $1,000 valuation or $1.08 more than last year's tax rate of $14.69.

The total adopted Wednesday night is only $285 more than the total presented at the first meeting in April. At that time it was decided there would be no pay raises for city employees the coming year.

The public hearing preceding the budget adoption dealt mainly with proposed recommendations from the Board of Public Works which had requested Council to limit BPW contributions to the general fund to $100,000 for the next five years, and thereafter an amount equal to 6 per cent of the gross revenue in lieu of the 50 per cent of earnings as permitted by charter.

Council adopted these two recommendations in principle, but decided to adhere this year to the original $140,000 and then institute the $100,000 plan next year to run for four years. The extra $40,000 on this year's revenue roughly equals costs of operating the sewage disposal system.

Randall C. Bosch, president of the Board of Public Works, submitted plans for a system of sewage service charges in which costs would be borne by the user instead of by the general fund. Bosch said the system is now operating about at full capacity and it won't be long before a new system must be built. He said a program of service charges would be of inestimable value in a program of sound facts for revenue bonds when the time comes. He also pointed to the need of starting a fund for sewer capital outlay so that borrowing could be kept to a minimum when needed.

In delaying a sewer charge program, Council agreed to continue the study with the Board of Public Works on sewer problems. If such a program would be instituted within the coming year, the $140,000 earmarked from the Board of Public Works could be revised downward.

Bosch pointed out that a sewer service charge in the long run is a fairer program than when financed through the general fund in that the person who uses the service pays for the service, much as he pays for telephone, gas, light and other utilities. The proposed plan calls for quarterly payments, based on water usage during the winter months. The sewer charges would be in connection with the quarterly water bill.

Also appearing at the public hearing on the budget was William C. Wichers, chairman of the Holland Planning Commission, who asked Council to retain a $1,800 figure for professional planning consultants. He reviewed many of the studies carried on by the commission in which the services of a professional consultant had been used.

Councilman Henry Steffens felt that members of the planning commission already have had considerable experience in the work and were quite able to make their own decisions. Mayor Robert Visscher pointed out that "one of our own men" has a degree in planning and his talents could be used to greater advantage. He referred to William Layman, assistant engineer, who has a degree in planning from Michigan State University. Layman, who is serving as building inspector, has been a member of the planning commission for the last few years.

Mayor Visscher reappointed Bosch to serve another five-year term on the Board of Public Works. Councilman Steffens added a special commendation for Bosch's untiring efforts throughout the years, and Bosch responded gratefully, saying he was looking forward to another term with Council's continued cooperation in providing the best of utilities for the people. Bosch has been serving on the board 12 years.

Miss Virginia L. Tellman, 21, of route 5, Holland, was ticketed by Holland police for failure to yield the right of way following a two-car collision Monday at 12:15 p.m. at the corner of 20th St. and College Ave.

Police said Miss Tellman, headed south on College Ave., collided with a car driven by Miss Wanda J. Brink, 16, of route 2, Hamilton, going east on 20th St. Officers estimated the damage to Miss Tellman's 1949 model at $200 and the damage to Miss Brink's 1949 model at $300.

Secretary Richard Streuer reviewed the tax structure for the proposed consolidated district and compared them with city taxes. He said there would be a substantial difference in the total tax bill when city government taxes are added. There was considerable discussion from the floor on tax matters.

The proposed program involves a new school for grades 7 to 12 for the seven districts. A general question and answer period followed with emphasis on best methods of informing the public. About 30 persons were present.

Teachers' Workshop Set May 20

Dr. Harlan Hatcher And Dick Cheverton Listed as Speakers

Arrangements are nearing completion for the county-wide workshop to be held May 20 in Grand Haven High School to study the position of the high schools in this important era of the nation's history. Citizens and educators will take a close look at the quality of the program and facilities available to the boys and girls in this part of western Michigan.

Richard Cheverton, Grand Rapids television and radio news director, will be the kickoff speaker. Cheverton has a wide range of experiences and of particular interest is his return from a trip to Russia during the past year. He will present some of the challenges and criticisms that these factors offer to local citizens with the responsibility of providing for their children.

Group leaders and recorders for the "workshop" portion of the evening will be named at a meeting Wednesday. They are citizens from the various communities throughout Ottawa County. Every person will have the opportunity to participate in group discussion and a study of the issue confronting high schools.

The workshop will close with an address by Dr. Harlan J. Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, on the subject, "My View of the High School."

Sales Drive Scheduled For Allegan

ALLEGAN — Allegan's city council paved the way for local observance of "Auto Buy Days" and a more popular location for a sidewalk to serve the new high school in action taken at Monday night's meeting.

Acting on a petition signed by some 35 downtown merchants, the council approved a request from car dealers that Locust street, between Trowbridge and Hubbard, be blocked off May 16 and 17 for a mass display of new and used cars. The council's only stipulation was that the dealers and merchants make up the loss of parking meter revenue — estimated at $50 — to comply with the parking meter bond ordinance.

Plans for the "Auto Buy Days" event here are being made by a dealers' committee headed by Clair Colvin, in cooperation with the Allegan Improvement Association.

A delegation of Junior Chamber of Commerce members, headed by Victor Anderson, succeeded in convincing the council that the logical location for a sidewalk to serve the new Allegan high school was on Western avenue, rather than along the main highway. The council agreed to cooperate in building the sidewalk "to the extent that funds are available." A similar JCC delegation exacted a resolution approving the new location from the Allegan township board Monday night.

Other council action included refusal of a request by the full Gospel Mission, of Holland, to hold street meetings in Allegan; discussion of the need for obtaining false arrest bonds for city police officers; consideration of a request that funds for the repair of the Marshall street tennis courts be included in the new budget.

City Manager P. H. Beauvais reported that the water storage tank painting job was completed and the tank back in service. Beauvais was directed to obtain information on the use of Conelrad units which will be used to broadcast tornado warnings this year for the first time.

Decision For 2 Years

ANN ARBOR — The University of Michigan has renewed its accreditation of Holland Christian High School for a two-year period effective July 1.

The University's decision, made by the Executive Committee of the Bureau of School Services, was disclosed today following receipt of official notification sent to the school.

Holland Christian High School previously was accredited for four years.

Following withdrawal of its accredited status by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in April, 1957, Holland Christian High School reverted automatically to a "tentative status" at the University of Michigan, pending review by the Executive Committee of the Bureau of School Services.

On February 25 fifteen University faculty members representing all curriculum areas visited the school. Their findings were submitted to Holland Christian High School officials and reviewed by the Bureau of School Services, Executive Committee prior to its decision.

The deficiencies listed were studied by Holland Christian High School officials and formal notice sent to the Bureau of School Services of the school's desire to be accredited and to work with the University in removing some of the deficiencies.

The University has three different types of accreditation; four years, in which it follows the standards established by the North Central Association; two year, in which the Executive Committee of the Bureau of School Services establishes its own standards; and tentative, when accreditation is maintained provisionally for a period of one year.

Vice President James A. Lewis, Executive Committee Chairman, noted these points concerning the decision on Holland Christian High School:

1. The University establishes its own criteria for two year accreditation of Michigan high schools and accepts North Central standards for four year accreditation.

2. Accreditation is designed primarily "As a process to evaluate a school's program" as a service to the school and its community and is of secondary importance in college admission.

Mr. Lewis also stated that some general differences in criteria for two and four year accreditation by the University are as follows:

1. Four-year schools must have more extensive guidance and testing programs.

2. Their library services and selection of books are broader.

3. Their teachers' professional qualifications are higher.

4. Their breadth of educational program is wider.

5. Their counseling time per student is higher.

6. Their laboratory facilities for scientific instruction are more extensive.

At present the University accredits 668 Michigan high schools. More than 300 have four year accreditation, more than 300 have two year accreditation and 11 are tentative.

The members of the Bureau of School Services' Executive Committee besides Lewis, are as follows: Associate Dean Walter J. Emmons of the College of Engineering; Kent W. Leach, Director of the Bureau of School Services; Dean Earl V. Moore of the School of Music; Marvin L. Niehus, Vice President and Dean of Faculties; Assistant Dean James H. Robertson of the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts; Dean Willard C. Olson of the School of Education; Clyde Vroman, Director of Admissions; and Robert L. Williams, Assistant Dean of Faculties.

Stanley Yin, seminary student, will conduct the Missionary Conference at Maplewood Reformed Church tonight at 7:30.

Committee Named to Get Out Vote

About 45 Attend Citizens Meeting On Annexation

A citizens committee to promote the get-out-the-vote program in Holland city for the June 3 annexation elections was appointed at a meeting of city residents and other interested persons Monday night in Apple Avenue school, called by the joint citizens committee of the four school districts involved in the election.

Named to the committee were Jack Plewes, Mrs. Clarence J. Becker, Al Knapp, Harold Tregloan, Les Derider, Mrs. Henry Steffens, Don Crawford and James Crozier. This committee will spark the get-out-the-vote movement within the city and will promote the general program with emphasis on mutual benefits.

About 45 persons attended the meeting at which Richard Smith, chairman of the Apple Avenue citizens committee, presided. Smith explained some of the mechanics of the forthcoming elections in which four school districts, Apple Avenue, Maplewood, Federal and Montello Park, are seeking political annexation to Holland city. All qualified voters in Holland city and in both Holland and Fillmore townships may vote in the elections.

William Oonk of the Van Raalte district east of Holland said Van Raalte district already has begun work on its annexation program which will include the entire Van Raalte district instead of lopping off some agricultural sections as previously had been proposed.

There was some emphasis on services available to the district, once annexation is effected, and considerable emphasis on the vital school problem. Without annexation, these districts will not be allowed to send their ninth graders to Holland public schools next September.

Some persons representing civic organizations pointed out their constitutions do not allow partisan activity on political issues, but the organizations could promote a get-out-the-vote movement. It also pointed out that while organizations cannot promote political programs as such, it is quite possible for club members to work as individuals. This type of activity refers particularly to such organizations as the Junior Chamber of Commerce and patriotic orders.

Dr. Lester J. Kuyper and Bernard Arendshorst, representing the Board of Education, reaffirmed the board's policy in cooperating to the fullest extent in aiding outside school districts to solve their school problems. William H. Vande Water, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, read a brief resolution favoring annexation adopted by retail merchants who met that noon.

Smith suggested that open houses in the schools in the four districts for the most part all fine buildings, be held prior to the election to allow city residents to become familiar with the district programs, and realize anew that the annexation program is a two-way street with mutual benefits all around. Apple Avenue School also plans to enter a float in the Tulip Time school parade emphasizing its desire to become a part of the city.

Tulips to Be In Full Bloom For Festival

Holland's famed crop of multi-colored tulips will be in full bloom for visitors to Holland's 29th annual Tulip Time festival May 14 to 17.

Sipp H. Houtman, Tulip Time manager, said today that 60 per cent of the tulips are now in bloom and the other 40 per cent are beginning to show color in the buds. Holland's famed tulip lanes should present plenty of color next weekend and remain in fine condition for the festival next week.

This puts Holland's tulips on fine schedule, contrasted to conditions in the Netherlands where the tulips are three weeks late. Tulips in the famous bulbfields there are currently in bloom. Normally, they bloom in April.

For the 10th time, Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams is expected to be on hand for opening day festivities. He always brings with him his pair of wooden shoes given him on his first visit in 1949. He also dons a Dutch costume (large size) and with broom in hand leads local burghers in the opening scrubbing ceremonies.

After the scrubbing ceremonies and folk parade, close to 300 Klompen Dancers will perform their famed wooden show dance. These dancers will appear several times throughout the festival and their last performance will be on the green at Riverview Park for the Tulip Time Varieties on Saturday night.

Other highlights of the festival are two performances of "The Red Mill," Wednesday and Thursday nights in Civic Center, put on by Hope College musical students, the ever popular Parade of Barbershop Quartets Friday night in Civic Center, the three-hour band review at Riverview Park Saturday afternoon, the Varieties program that night, a national baton twirling contest, and of course, the children's parade on Thursday and the parade of bands on Saturday.

Chix Score Run in Ninth To Edge Christian, 2-1

ZEELAND (Special) — Holland Christian's baseball team which has been making a habit of losing close ball games, lost another one here Monday afternoon when they bowed to the Zeeland Chix, 2-1 in extra innings. The Dutch have now lost three by a single run and now have a 1-5 season mark.

Both clubs turned in a fine ball game, with Merle Dykema of the Maroons and Max De Jonge of the Chix, pitching great ball. Defensively both outfits looked sharp, Christian committing two errors, both in the ninth, and Zeeland guilty of three.

Dykema has now lost three one run games, two by 1-0 margins and this one 2-1. He fanned 10 Zeeland batters and gave up six hits. De Jonge, who needed help from Merle Berens in the ninth, struck out four Dutch and gave up seven safeties. Several fine outfield plays in crucial spots kept De Jonge out of further trouble.

The Dutch broke the scoring ice in the second when Jim Kool, Dutch third sacker, was safe on an error. He was sacrificed to third and then came around to score on Jim Hulst's triple to right.

Zeeland touched Dykema for four singles in the fifth inning, to score its first run. After Vander Poppen and Van Haisma both singled, De Jonge came through with a safety to account for the lone marker.

Some faulty baserunning cost the Dutch some runs in both the sixth and ninth frames. On each occasion, the Dutch followed with hits, but the alert Chix infield stopped the rally.

Two costly errors and a single sent Zeeland's John Van Dam, second baseman, across with the winning marker in the final half of the ninth inning. The win gives the Chix a 2-0 mark over Christian this season.

Both Hulst and Bob Jansen chalked up two hits apiece for the Dutch. Hulst unloaded with both a triple and a double. All of the Zeeland hits were singles.

Line Score:

Holl. Chr.	0	10	000	000	1	7	2
Zeeland	0	00	001	001	2	6	3

Batteries — Dykema and Sterken; De Jonge, Berens and Wiggers.

Christian Golfers Third

GRAND RAPIDS (Special) — Holland Christian's Golf squad finished in third place in the five-team West State Golf League match held here Monday on the Green Ridge Country club course. Comstock Park, the winner of the round robin affair, was host for the meet.

The league, in an effort to cut down the travel and the players' missing classes, decided to initiate a two-tournament season where each club will play the other teams of the loop twice by playing just 36 holes of golf. A similar meet next week at the Lincoln Country club in North Muskegon will decide the league champion.

"Under the mechanics of the scoring each individual match between the four high players of each school, counts one point and low team total makes up the fifth point. Each school used five players, with the four lowest figure in the final scoring.

Comstock Park finished with a 4-0 mark, defeating all of the other teams. North Muskegon was second with a 3-1 record, losing to Comstock Park, narrowly defeating Christian, and then stopping Montague and Zeeland. Christian was next as they whipped Montague and Zeeland, while bowing to North Muskegon and Comstock Park. Montague defeated Zeeland and lost the rest, while Zeeland, with a young inexperienced team, lost all four.

On team total basis, the clubs finished in the same order with Comstock Park on top with 379, North Muskegon with 398, Holland Christian with 402, Montague with 410 and Zeeland, 439. Medalist for the tourney was Lyn Rosely of Comstock with 83.

Members of the Christian squad and their scores were Wes Nykamp, 92, Ken Michnerhuizen, 95, Jim Lucas, 105 and Vern Ramaker, 110.

American Travelers Learn Of Moslem Customs on Trip

By Matthew Wilson

Flying into Tunisia we had no trouble, in fact did not even require a visa. All that we had to do was fill in the usual forms that you get all over Africa giving information about yourself. Sometimes this is in triplicate but usually in duplicate. At the hotels you fill in much of the same data on their register and surrender the passport which sometimes goes to the local police to be listed and stamped and then as you leave the country another note is made that this was done.

Tunisia has only had its independence from France for two years but seems to us as if it is a rapidly advancing republic. Although you see many veiled women on the streets, by presidential edict they must be removed in five years. Women already have the right to vote and take part in politics. This is very different from Libya where the women are veiled completely and with only one eye appearing and often they can see so little that they literally fall over their feet or fall off a curb since they cannot see out of the one eye. They have no right of ballot and men can divorce their wives at any time in Libya, but not so in Egypt or Tunisia.

Flying in to Tunis we were surprised to see such well kept farms. Practically every acre is irrigated and under cultivation and although hand methods and animal drawn plows are still used we noted plenty of contour plowing. We have enjoyed delicious fresh fruits and vegetables locally produced. Being near the Mediterranean Sea there is plenty of moisture and cool air which in turn causes rainfall when the hot winds from the desert meet. There are a number of rivers and plenty of springs and oases.

Tunis the capital is both old and new. The old Arab quarter is behind some standing parts of old Roman and Turkish walls with at least two original stone gateways. The newer and modern city lies outside of the walls and covers a larger area. Our Tunisia Palace Hotel is like any good continental hotel, with most of maids and housemen speaking French, and many, English. Apparently they want tourists and have been very courteous and friendly.

For the past month the Arabs have been having a holy month of fasting and prayer. It is called Ramadan and we first came across it half a month ago when we entered the Sudan. During the 30 days no Moslem can drink water or eat any food from 3:45 a.m. until 7:45 p.m. and the time is indicated both in the morning and at night by the firing of a large gun that fairly shakes the cities involved. It corresponds with our Lenten period but is far more drastic, especially the no water drinking in hot places like the Sudan or in the desert country.

We arrived on the last day of Ramadan and that night our Moslem guide said he would meet us and take us to the native quarters to see how they celebrated the ending of the fasting period. So about an hour after the ending we went into the crowded, teeming native sections where we were shoulder to shoulder with the celebrating crowds of all ages and sexes in the narrow streets. The streets are so narrow that you step aside and squeeze against the walls to allow an auto or donkey cart to pass.

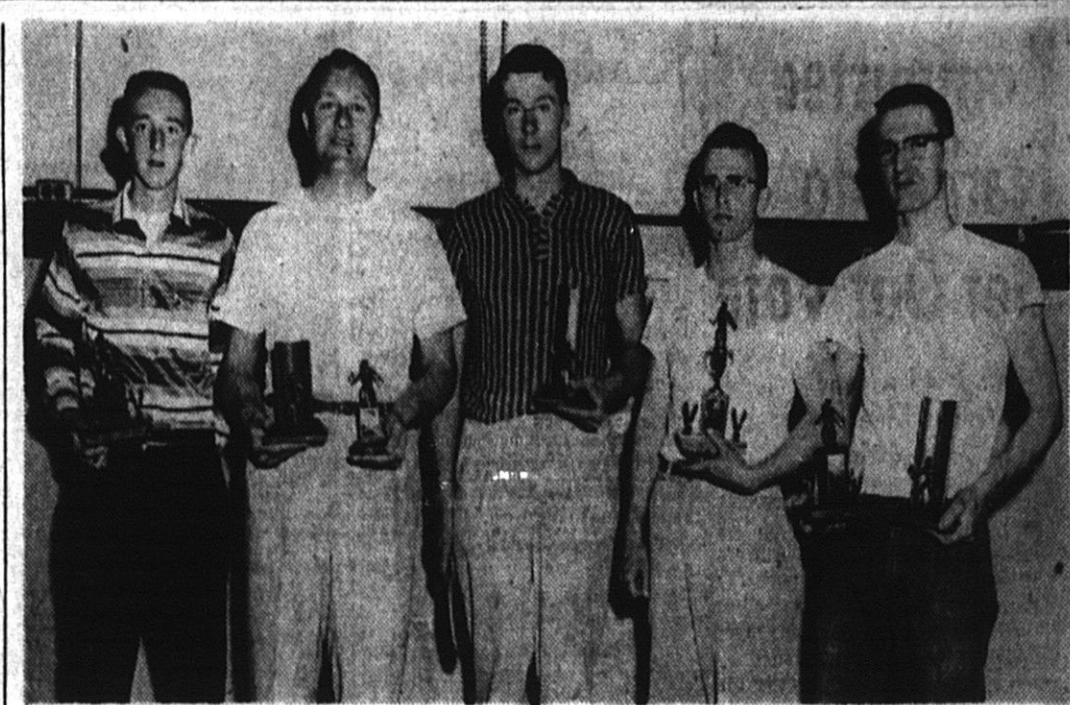

The streets were gaily decorated with flags and overhead colored lights. Everywhere a holiday atmosphere was in the air, and by the way it was quite cool and our overcoats felt good! Quite a change from barely a week ago when we were drying out at 107 degrees. The stores were all open and every place there were holiday cakes, sweets, coffee and other good things to eat and drink but no alcoholic beverages since the Moslems do not imbibe. Some of the three foot wide tins of sweets cut into fancy shapes looked very delicious. People wandered about and seemed to be very happy. Several holes in the wall had bakers extolling the merits of their dancing girls and the night was raucous with the loud speakers broadcasting the oriental music from within.

Prompted by our guide we entered one of these dens and several men gave us their seats. The place was so small that not over 50 could crowd in at one time including standees. I very soon noticed my legs were being bitten, very likely by fleas, but could do nothing about it so sat back and enjoyed the show. On a stage about seven feet wide and three deep covered with a dirty rug, was a microphone, a drummer and a fellow playing a wind instrument that sounded like a sickly bagpipe. It fascinated me to see him use his cheeks as a bellows to sustain the air. Far from melodious it had rhythm and a definite tune because later the girls sang with it and some of the audience joined in. After this instrumental prelude used to drum up trade, two dancing girls appeared in bright dresses, wearing many ornamental necklaces of silver and silver slave anklets weighing a pound each on the ankles. These girls were painted and mascara eyelidged, but they were about as dirty creatures as we have seen among whites for some time. One of the girls had small son in the audience who very nicely dressed but who tried to sneak out the front, probably to go to papa who was doing the barking. Mama spied him and pulled him to the stage and gave him a spank before the audience who all laughed heartily. She did not hurt the lad but she surely was mad and her eyes flashed fire. Although both girls danced she was the best. The dance is very vigorous and done in a small space and with much stamping of feet and contortions, lying on the floor, and finally standing and dancing on a rickety chair. How she kept from falling or breaking the vase must be a secret of the oriental dances.

Since stores were open in the old quarter we went to see the markets which are called "Souks". They are a series of criss-cross streets, including a cashab, which is the entertainment street. Each street is taken over for most of its length by stores selling similar items. One street sells shoes, and some are made there. Others sell a red cap worn by Moslems called "checheis" and the street is so named. We were surprised to see how these fuzzy tight caps were made. First a loosely knitted white wool cap several sizes large is made. This is boiled and shrunk to about a fifth of its original size. It is dyed a permanent red. The shaped cap is then roughed with a plant burr and gets its furry look. Then it is blocked and again burred with a finer burr and by this time you cannot even see the original weave.

Our guide showed up again at 2:30 p.m. and off we went again this time to visit the old city of Carthage, or what remains of it, the American Cemetery of North Africa and the holy city of Sidi Bou Said where the High Priest of the Moslems lived with his 40 wives (although plural marriage is now illegal, the old marriages are allowed to stand.) All of this city, the ruins of Carthage gradually being excavated, and a fine resort was once part of the proud and ancient city of Carthage where once two million people lived. Now its ruins remind us of the once powerful empire of Rome, now a shell of its once world-dominating power.

Today all that is visible of Carthage, with other sites gradually being uncovered, is part of the large baths and a small part of the adjoining city, which we visited. These baths covered acres and were built of rock cemented with a hard cement which is durable today. Thermal baths were supplied by hot springs that are still present some miles distant. Hot water was piped in as was cold water. Like all Roman baths which were an institution among them, these baths were a meeting place and over 20,000 people could bathe at once. Libraries, game courts, exercise pavilions, plus the steam, hot and cold baths were all there. There must have been many baths and dressing rooms because of the many rooms uncovered, most of them roofed over with high arches, and formerly many had been covered with fine mosaics or marble. In the adjoining home section a street formerly lined with marble columns was

Cultural Attache Impressed On His First Visit to Holland

On his first visit to Holland, Mich., Jan van Houten, counselor for cultural and press affairs for the Netherlands Embassy at Washington, D. C., was most impressed by the Dutch names on local stores and the Dutch communities on the map of Western Michigan.

Moreover, when he was asked to tell a few Dutch stories at a meeting of the Rotary Club Thursday, it was his first opportunity to relate a story in the Holland language in this country. And his listeners here laughed in the right places too. In telling a story in another language, it's the play on words that's important, and Dutch-speaking people here, even though they've never been in the Netherlands, know their Dutch language well.

The attache said the local persons spoke Dutch extremely well and would not agree with previous criticisms through the years that the Dutch spoken here is a mixture of different dialects. But then, the visitor and his wife were in Holland parts of only two days and did not have an opportunity to wander among all the coffee kietzes and the rural sections where different forms of Dutch might be more common.

Van Houten, who has been in Washington since August, 1956, said the people at the Embassy are following with interest plans to celebrate in 1959 the 350th anniversary of the arrival of Henry Hudson sailing his ship the Half Moon up the Hudson river, resulting ultimately in Dutch settlements along the river. Committees are being named for Hudson River Valley celebration, and it is believed most towns and cities along the valley from Albany to New York City will have independent celebrations next summer, all keyed to a central program. The cultural affairs office of the Netherlands Embassy will cooperate wherever possible.

The work of the cultural department deals largely with exhibits and films in this country, plus work in the general fields of education, music and information.

Van Houten said there is a general interest in this country to accepting the Netherlands as it is today — a highly industrialized and modern country. The American has always had a great interest in the Netherlands, but the first interest usually is in terms of wooden shoes, windmills and perhaps Rembrandt paintings. After the traditional curiosities are satisfied, the Americans then seem willing to think in terms of modern Holland — a little country of 11,000,000 inhabitants living in an area one-quarter the size of Michigan.

Yet, for her small size, the Netherlands looms as an important country in the minds of the American. This is largely due to her traditional role as a world power, her vast shipping interests (Rotterdam port is second only to New York City) and to some degree her powerful role in NATO.

Van Houten said the impact of Little Holland on the United States is almost phenomenal, and his office is constantly consulted on how the Dutch feel toward certain issues, how have the Dutch solved certain problems, and what is Holland doing about the latest thing being discussed in the UN?

As for culture on the higher levels, Van Houten said a New York committee has been very successful in having contemporary symphonic works by Dutch composers played in America. Nor is Holland's interest in good music limited to concert works. One of the most popular series on request is Dutch music ranging from jazz to folk music.

Another popular exhibit is one of reproductions of Rembrandt paintings which will appear in the Smithsonian Institution and others this year. Requests for this exhibit are such that it will remain here for years, appearing in museums, colleges and art schools. There has been a general tightening up of circulating originals, largely because the Netherlands serves a huge tourist trade and feels a good share of the master's paintings must remain at home to satisfy the visitors. A documentary film on Rembrandt is being made in the Netherlands, said to be on a par with Hollywood's "Lust for Life" on the life of Van Gogh. The Van Gogh collection which toured the United States some years ago, is currently in Japan and may return to the Netherlands via the United States.

"It's my first visit to Holland, Mich., but it won't be my last," van Houten said. Were it not for an engagement in Ann Arbor this week, he would have set his local visit two weeks hence to coincide with Tulip Time. Even so, he saw some tulips in bloom and was amazed by the number of tulips planted here.

Seek County Beauty Queen

The Holland Junior Chamber of Commerce is seeking a beauty queen — "Miss Ottawa County of 1958" — to represent Ottawa County in the "Parade of Queens" to be held at the Mackinac Bridge dedication, June 26, 27 and 28.

A panel of judges, including local Jaycees and citizens at large, will meet all applicants at 8 p.m. Friday, May 9, in the Chamber of Commerce office in the Warm Friend Tavern.

According to Bernard Van't Hul, queen project chairman, any single female resident of Ottawa County, 17 to 25 years old, is eligible. While appearance will most certainly be a considered factor, Van't Hul said, it constitutes only one of several criteria.

Andre S. Docos, judge chairman, urges all interested parties to apply immediately in view of the early deadline. Applications will be received at the Chamber of Commerce office or they may be mailed to "Queen Project Committee, Chamber of Commerce, Holland."

Applicants are asked to meet the judging committee in the Chamber office May 9 at 8 p.m. to fill out a routine questionnaire and, if necessary, submit the signature of a parent or guardian permitting participation and attendance at the bridge festival.

Judges will interview each applicant individually and will base their selection on such considerations as the candidate's personality, range and variety of interests, poise and appearance.

The winner, to be announced May 10, will attend the festival with her chosen chaperone Friday and Saturday, June 27 and 28.

Fire Rocket Successfully

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Five Coopersville High School senior science students Thursday afternoon successfully fired a homemade rocket 1,400 feet into the air from the North Shore at Grand Haven.

The 42-inch rocket was made by Bill Radakovitz, Ross Conran, Melvin Modderman, John Lieffers and Laird Murray. The project was under the supervision of science instructor Earl Holmes and other faculty members.

The rocket, powered by powdered zinc and sulphur and set off by a charge from a car battery 100 feet from the launching stand, was aimed over the lake, into which it fell.

The boys had originally planned to fire the rocket from North Shore Park, but were stopped when the Ottawa County Road Commission Thursday passed a resolution forbidding the firing of rockets from county property.

The site was then moved to private property nearby and the launching went ahead.

State police said the driver of the car was Bruno Olechowicz, also of route 1, Grand Haven. The boy was hit after he got off a school bus and ran across the street, according to Charles Rezny, driver of the bus. Olechowicz told police that he did not see the boy until he struck him. He was released after investigation.

HOSPITALITY DAY

Michigan is not only for the "Michiganders" but the nation and world. This is "Michigan Week" and while we are of the opinion that we should blow our horn during the entire year about our great state there are a number of civic-minded people in Michigan who are now on the fifth year of "Michigan Week" that was started in 1954 when some of our civic-minded Michiganders decided that there were millions of people in our great state that while they had lived in Michigan
all their lives they were not mindful of all of the many wonderful things their state held in the way of opportunities.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture has coined a phrase,
"Nature's Favor Makes that Michigan flavor." This helps promote Michigan and its farm products and that was the reason for many of the articles written about four Michigan farm products. They were publicized by Michigan's apple queen, Patricia Keller, 17, of Watervliet; the bean queen, Judith Lonsway, 18, of Freeland; the cherry queen, Kay Lahym, a Traverse City girl who is a student at the University of Michigan; and the dairy princess, Judith Mae Damman, of Fowlerville. We are carrying a short each day this week calling to your attention the caption: "For Each Day."

So if you are planning on a trip through your local county of Ottawa or Allegan, you will find many things of interest. Here are some of the pertinent facts locally
that General Chairman, Edward J.
Hekman, president of the Hekman
Biscuit Company, has assembled.
There are nearly 5,000 Michigan Week workers including many leaders in business and industry as well as civic and educational leaders. The activities of each of these state's nine regions are being supervised by the regional chairmen who have been working with the county and community committees. This, we think, will produce almost another 5,000 sales promotion people who will do a fine job of publicizing our great state of Michigan. There are hundreds of statistical facts and we will try and touch on a few of them each day.

God's Provision for Worship
Exodus 35:20-26; 40:34-38
by C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.)

As long as man has been on this earth he has worshipped, and built altars, chapels, churches and cathedrals. God made him with the need of worship. And that is one reason why we as a nation are spending millions of dollars for new church buildings.

I. Volunteer giving and service pleases God. A church service should be followed by service.
And all the congregation of the children of Israel departed from the presence of Moses" — and then what? Well, they brought
"the Lord's offering to the work of the tabernacle of the congregation, and for all his service, and for the holy garments." It is said that the people whose hearts stirred them up and whom their spirit made willing brought something.
The people in the wilderness were facing the opportunity to have a part in making a tent in which to worship. With much zest the people took part in this project.
Their hearts and minds responded to the challenge that had come and they showed their enthusiasm by their giving. Both men and women responded voluntarily. God likes people who give and work freely and voluntarily. Great things happen when the hearts of people have been stirred. No one in this group of people complained — they all took part in making a beautiful place in which to worship.

II. We all can give. To be sure we cannot all give equally but we all can do something if there is a willing spirit. This story shows that when people really want to give they will find something to give. These people gave things dear to them for they "brought bracelets, and earrings, and rings,
and tablets, all jewels of gold,"
things which were personally valuable to the givers and to which they attached some sentiment. The people brought offerings of gold, cloths of blue, and purple and scarlet and fine linen and of silver and goat's hair. Evidently those who gave goat's hair gave it because they did not have the finer ones others had to give so they gave what they had. The Bible teaches us to give according to our ability.

Some people gave their service.
"And all the women that were wise-hearted did spin with their hands, and brought that which they had spun, both of blue, and of purple, and of scarlet, and of fine linen. And all the women whose heart stirred them up in wisdom spun goats hair." These words show that some people were more skilled than others but they all gave some service. The Lord expects us to use the abilities we have whether they are ordinary or unusual. If the hearts of people are right there will be proofs of it shown in service. These ancient people with stirred hearts and willing spirits "brought" and "did offer" and "did spin with their hands," in order that they might have a beautiful sanctuary.

III. God guides his people here below. The people finished the tabernacle and then "a cloud covered the tent of the congregation, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle." This is the same cloud that had led them out of Egypt. It symbolized the presence of God. When does the glory of the Lord fill our places of worship?
This takes place when God's people are present and worship him in spirit and in truth. The Lord may not be present in a cathedral when the hearts of the people are cold and worldly — he is present in a simple chapel when the hearts of the worshippers are filled with love and grace. God guided Israel through the wilderness.
They did not always follow his guidance. There are congregations today which follow God's leadership and blessings come without interruptions. God guides us forward—let us accept his leadership and march onward and forward.

There will be a classis meeting of men who are interested in Church Extension on May 22, at the First Reformed church of Zeeland.

Daily Vacation Bible School will be held in the Reformed church June 16-27. There is a need for more teachers. Those who wish to help contact the pastor, the Rev.

Harold Lenters.

Mission Society met Wednesday afternoon in the chapel. Mrs. Jake Hop was in charge of devotions and the Bible Study. Roll call was responded to by a verse of scripture or poem on Mother. Mrs.
George Ohlman was in charge of the Mission Study and hostess was Mrs. Martin Tubergen.

The Girl's League mother and daughter banquet will be held Thursday, May 8, in Van Raalte's Restaurant. Those attending will meet in the chapel at 6 p.m.

The Ottawa County Council of Christian Education is privileged to have Dr. Mays, one of the outstanding Negro leaders in America today, to address the officers and teachers of the Sunday Schools on Monday, May 12 at 6 p.m. in the Third Reformed church of Holland.

staying with her children, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Berens recuperating from a fractured knee cap, returned to her home last week Friday.

The Sunday morning sermon subject was "The Kingdom as the Rule of God in the World." The Choir sang "Turn Your Eyes Upon Jesus." The evening subject was "Lost and Found." The special music was furnished by Mrs.
Robert Hosteler from Zeeland.
She played several selection on her marimba.

The Sacrament of infant baptism was administered in the Christian Reformed church Sunday afternoon. The officiating ministers were the Rev. J. W. Lang, schu-de chairman and her committee, Mrs.

Taft, Mrs. William Winter, Mrs.
Fred Pickel, Mrs. L.J. Hohmann and Mrs. Edward Brodin. In this arrangement, green aspidistra, magnolia and camellia leaves produce a charming ascending rhythm by careful placement and add refreshing beauty to the eight white tulips naturally placed in the dark green handblown glass container. The star at the upper right is part of the design.

READY FOR PARADE—Craig Hoffman and Steve Millard, fourth graders at Longfellow school, put finishing touches on huge crepe paper tulips which second graders will carry in the Tulip Time Children's Parade May 15. Children from all elementary schools in the city and several schools from the area will don Dutch costumes for the parade which is considered, by many, to be the most appealing spectacle of the entire festival. Art Consultant Elinore Ryan supervised the making of the big tulips, Dutch plates and other objects which children will carry. (Cliff Owen photo)

Children Busy With Plans
For Thursday's Big Parade

Schools of Holland are busy in preparation for the Tulip Time
Children's Parade at 2:30 p.m.
May 15, under Chairman Russell
Welch.

The children will march to the music of ten school bands and the Grand Rapids Camp Fire Drum
and Bugle Corps, all of which have taken part in the school parade
for many years.

Under the direction of Miss Elinore Ryan, art consultant, and the teachers, pupils are working on many projects that are to be a part of the parade. Among these are the making of large tulips, Delft China, kites, and dressing dolls in Dutch costumes. The various projects that are undertaken are a part of the educational program and contribute to an understanding of Holland's rich heritage.
Every school will enter a miniature school float which is planned and built by the pupils with some adult help. The decorating is done by the older pupils under adult supervision.

Parents are also deeply involved in Tulip Time, as it means making new costumes for the kindergarten pupils or cutting down costumes worn by older brothers and sisters to fit the younger generation.

The parade is planned, organized and executed entirely by school personnel. All of this work is done in addition to their regular school responsibilities.

Rehearsals In Progress For Tulip Time Musical

Permeated by the colorful atmosphere of old Holland, the popular Broadway musical, "The Red Mill," promises to be a sparkling addition to the Tulip Time Festival. Directing the production, which will be presented May 14 and 15 in Civic Center by the Hope College Music and Drama departments, are Dr. Morette Rider and Dale De Witt.

Woven into a charming story of romance and intrigue are the luring melodies of the incomparable Victor Herbert and the catchy lyrics of Henry Blossom. They have chosen as their setting the small but colorful community of Katwilt, a medieval town.

A meddlesome father, an intended marriage of convenience, and the mysterious disappearance of the lovely bride-to-be from the haunted Red Mill set the scene. Into it stumble two gallant young Americans, eager to rescue the Dutch maiden but embarrassingly short on funds. Sentimentalists and realists alike will find themselves entranced by the tenuous adventures at the Red Mill Inn, where true love seeks to triumph over paternal schemes for wealth and title.

Appearing as the fair Dutch maiden is Geraldine Giordano. Her father the Burgemeester is portrayed by Del Farnsworth, and her Aunt Bertha is Anne De Pree. Jay Nyhuis and Robert Fisher play the two young Americans, while George Steggars is the sheriff who pursues them at the order of Willem, Bill Brookstra, as the owner of the Red Mill Inn and his daughter Tena, Marilyn Scudder. Adding complications to the plot are the Countess, Ruth Voss, the Governor of Zeeland, Harley Brown, and Captain Doris Van Dam, Gordon Stegink.

Co-directors of the chorus are Jantina Holleman and Dr. Robert Cavanaugh, while Robert Fisher is dance director. Mrs. Helene Karsten is in charge of costumes. Walter Hartley is rehearsal accompanist, Roger Rietberg heads publicity, and Sid Woudstra is stage manager.

Tickets for the musical drama may be obtained at the Tulip Time office in the Civic Center.

Southside School Plan 'Practical'

The tax structure in seven southside school districts was reviewed at a meeting of the executive committee of Southside School Organization and supervisors of Holland and Park townships Thursday night, with the result that there is no question of the financial practicality in such a consolidation program. The meeting was held in Park township hall in Central Park.

The Southside School Organization group has been studying a consolidation plan which would take in Harrington, Lakeview, Montello Park, Maplewood, Van Raalte, Apple Avenue and Federal school districts. These districts are all located south of Lake Macatawa and south of Black River. It was pointed out that the State Board of Education feels the lake and river are natural boundaries in such a reorganization program.

President John Teusink and Secretary Richard Streu reported having met with representatives of the State Board of Education two weeks ago when they conferred with George Schutt, W. Clapp and Dr. Bert Thorne of the department. The two local representatives said the state board has pledged its cooperation to a reorganization of the southside districts. The state board also expressed a desire to have north-west Allegan county districts sound out in joining such a program with the seven districts previously mentioned. Regardless of developments on this line, there was no question on financial ability of such an area of seven or more districts to support a secondary system.

The effect of providing a new junior-high school on the tax base of a reorganized district also was discussed. The state committee felt the figures submitted by Secretary Streu were thoroughly sufficient to bring the consolidation proposal to the voters. The state group emphasized that location of a new school should not be considered until after consolidation is effected. The main determining factor is to locate a school for the convenience of the children who attend it.

GE Adopts Program to Aid Economy

An aggressive program to build sales and jobs in 1958 has been under development as General Electric's answer to its conviction that "what happens to the economy will be largely determined by what business does to help its customers and itself." President Ralph J. Cordiner told the company's annual shareholders' meeting at Schenectady, N. Y., last week.

Cordiner said that the new program, known as "Operation Upturn," is mobilizing all General Electric personnel and facilities in a six-month drive to accelerate the upturn in business.

"Operation Upturn" is not simply a sales promotional effort based on reducing already favorable prices. It is, rather, aimed at bringing customers better service and better values. The program will be carried out primarily by the company's decentralized departments with efforts directed toward better values in each product line.

"In an economy that can create 16 million new jobs in 20 years, and where there are 62 million people at work, the problem of working 2 or 3 million people back into the payroll is not an unmanageable one. I am certain that it can be done, mainly by vigorous business effort, supported by the confident and sensible action of the consuming and voting public," Cordiner said.

Ab Martin, general manager of the Hermetic Motor Department with headquarters at Holland, today announced the department's participation in the company-wide program. Heading a planning committee for "Operation Upturn" will be J. R. Collins, manager — Finance of the Hermetic Motor Department. Working with Mr. Collins will be G. J. Lumsden, R. N. Mills, R. B. Parker, D. C. Reek, R. E. Wiles, all of Holland, R. B. Mc Clelland of Fort Wayne, Ind., and D. L. Welch of Tiffin, Ohio. Martin indicated that the department's participation in "Operation Upturn" will be aimed at the development of improved products, more competitive service and improved operational efficiency.

Youngsters Raise $17.52 for Cancer

The young try of the neighborhood on East 16th St. had a brilliant inspiration a few days ago, and the Cancer Crusade became $17.52 richer Friday.

It started when hundreds of persons gathered for an auction at the Bangor home last Saturday afternoon. There was a brisk wind and a general feeling that a cup of hot coffee would be a godsend.

Youngsters in the neighborhood, aged 7 to 12, decided to put up a lunch stand for the benefit of Cancer and they raided the cupboards at home for cookies, popcorn, doughnuts and pop while putting the bee on mother to come through with a pot of hot coffee or a quart of hot chocolate.

Participating in the successful event were Bonnie Burns, Judy Terpema, Tammy Meyer, Ruth Garvelink, Joan Tubergan, Linda Veldheer, David Lokkers, Robin Walters, Mary Tubergan, Jan Barveld, Doris Garvelink, David Mabers and Janice Banger.

Spring Lake MSU Student Rites Monday

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Funeral services for Lloyd Weiler, 19, Spring Lake sophomore at Michigan State University who died unexpectedly of a heart attack Friday, were held Monday at 11 a.m. from First Presbyterian Church with Dr. Wallace Robertson officiating. The body was taken to Kinkema Funeral Home.

Car Dealers Pay in $2 Bills

New and used automobile dealers in Holland have come up with a unique idea to remind Holland area residents of the sales campaign and to show persons what they have done for the campaign.

Car dealers plan to pay employees, starting Friday, their weekly pay in $2 bills. This will be done by all of the dealers for one pay period.

The plan was adopted by the dealers to make people conscious of the automobile dealers as the $2 bill circulating into businesses. The Jefferson-faced bills should become noticeable soon in all types of stores and "will serve as sales campaign reminder and will keep Holland humming," automobile officials said.

Automobile sales have shown a gain of 31 per cent in April sales over March sales in the Holland area.

The sales campaign in Holland started April 19 with a "Holland on Wheels" and "Sidewalk Showcases." The "showcases" featured new and used cars and were set up in the middle of Eighth St., and displayed most of the day.

Several Holland area merchants have also reported increased sales during the campaign, especially on Fridays and Saturdays.

This Opossum Just Sealed His Own Doom

An opossum which chose Eighth St. for a nocturnal visit during the wee hours came to a tragic end this morning.

The furry animal sealed its own doom when it crawled into a city trash basket outside Hansen's drug store and couldn't get out. Shortly after 8 a.m. the street crew found the trapped animal in the wire basket, by turns terrified and by turns seemingly dead.

Once tossed onto the truck with the other litter, the creature followed its normal instincts and played possum, or played dead, giving the street crew no trouble whatever.

En route to the dump, the men hailed a police officer who accompanied them and shot the critter dead.

A little research into the subject of opossums revealed that they are not particularly numerous in this area, although a number are found dead on the highway each year. The opossum, an American marsupial, roams at night and can be a destructive force in a chicken coop.

But the chances of seeing an opossum roaming Eighth St., even in the quiet hours are fairly rare. This one probably wandered from its home in the swamp.

City Engineer Lavern Serne took this opportunity to remind people that trash baskets in commercial areas are for paper and other litter which comes up in the normal course of life on the main street of any city or town. They are not garbage cans for apartment dwellers in the commercial area — and Holland has ordinances prohibiting such uses.

Shoplifting Cases Solved by Police

Holland detectives today said that a number of shoplifting cases in Holland were cleaned up with the apprehension of three minor youths from the Saugatuck area.

Detectives said the three admitted taking such things as guns, shoes, articles of clothing, knives and shells from the Reliable Cycle Shop, Sears, Taylors, Vogelzang, Kammeraad and Vancos Surplus stores.

A fourth youth, who recently joined the army, may also be implicated, detectives said. The three were apprehended with the cooperation of Allegan County Deputy Bob Whitcomb, who believes that the youths may also be responsible for several breaking and entering and vandalism cases in the Saugatuck area.

The three minors will be cited to the Allegan County Probate Court, according to detectives.

State Park Ready for Use

Holland State Park is ready for visitors and expected Tulip Time crowds following the annual cleanup Saturday by the Tulip City Rod and Gun Club and Boy Scouts of Troop 44, Maplewood Reformed Church.

Sunday's crowd at the park was the biggest of the season so far as 7,800 visited. During the past week 17,100 persons entered the park. The traffic was heaviest between 3 and 4 p.m. and traffic was constant throughout the day. Four camps of trailer tourists stayed in the park Saturday night.

Members of the sportsmen's club, under the direction of Al Riemersma, placed all of the tables in the park, removed the shutters and cleaned up the buildings. All of the buildings are now open for use and the water has been turned on.

Scouts, under supervision of Earl Niehuus, raked and cleaned the beach and took out a lot of glass.

Lunch was served at noon by the women's auxiliary of the gun club and food was provided by the Holland Chamber of Commerce.

Maroon Nine Whip Eagles For 1st Win

Holland Christian's first baseball win of the season was a sweet one, Thursday afternoon as the Maroons trimmed Grand Rapids Christian, 9-3 at Riverview Park. The Dutch now have a 1-4 mark for season play.

It was the first time this season that the Dutch displayed some clutch hitting along with their usual fine pitching. The locals had been blanked in their last three ball games because of their lack of hitting, while their defense and pitching had been superb.

Jim Hulst, a junior lefthander, who doubles as a first baseman, did the hurrying for the Dutch and pitched shutout ball for six innings. Coach Elmer Ribbens decided to test some more pitching talent in the seventh and used Soph Vern Den Blyker, accounting for the two Eagle tallies. Hulst gave up just two hits and fanned 10 Grand Rapids batters in six innings.

The Hollanders notched their first run in the third inning on a single by center fielder Dan Bos, a stolen base and an outfield fly. Christian really went to work in the fourth inning and scored five runs, with the aid of just one hit. Four walks, a hit batsman, along with three Grand Rapids errors accounted for all of the Maroon tallies in the inning. The timely blow of the inning was a single by Right-fielder Bob Jansen.

The Dutch added their last three runs in the sixth inning on a single by Bos, a hit batsman, an error and another one base blow by Catcher Hank Sterken.

Grand Rapids threatened a bit in the sixth and managed to get two runners on. Then in the seventh they collected two tallies on an error, two singles and two walks.

The Eagles used two pitchers with Tigelaar starting and lasting until the fourth when he was relieved by Van Houten. In all the Maroons collected six hits while the losers managed four. The Dutch committed two errors and the Eagles four.

Flower Show Judge Gives Show Pointers

Mrs. W. Harold White of Muskegon conducted a most helpful and informative pre-show meeting for members and guests of the Holland Garden Club Thursday. She gave the judge's point of view and said that judges are lenient with beginning flower shows.

But in Holland "They give no quarter, pull no punches, do no pampering." The classes for beginners, novices and the class for men are exceptions. The classes have been set up to keep out the experienced arranger and are judged on an entirely different basis.

Mrs. White complimented the schedule committee on a very well-written schedule which contains complete and specific information for the exhibitor. It provides classes from beginner to expert. It also covers interest in all phases of gardening.

She stressed the fact that arrangers can benefit by entering the horticulture exhibit and that horticulturists benefit from arranging sections. The same artistic principles apply to both.

Mrs. Harry Wetter and her committee provided a complete horticultural exhibit covering all classes. Mrs. White took them one by one, explaining the points judges would allow. She said narcissus and daffodils, just opening now can be held over in the refrigerator at 45 degrees. A double quantity should be stored for replacement on the third day of the show.

In the afternoon may arrangements were made and analyzed. Balance was emphasized. Several arrangements of gift flowers were taken to shut-ins.

Mrs. Sidney Tiesenga and her committee prepared and provided coffee for the noon lunch break.

Put a dash over cold frames which have not been in use so that the ground will warm up and dry out by the time seeds are planted in the frame.
