New goods just received at Mrs. M. Bertsch.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. De Boer, on Twelfth street, Monday—a girl.

Barbed wire at still lower reduced prices. See new adv. of E. Van der Veen.

Surveyor Peck was staking out some lots for J. Lievense, on Fourteenth street, this week.

At Ottawa Beach they are engaged in moving the buildings located on the beach to a site near the hotel.

This (Friday) evening the Holland Martial Band will give a "May Party" at their hall. First-class music in attendance.

The G. R. Morning Press has passed into the control of Mr. Scripps, proprietor of the Detroit Tribune and Evening News.

The C. & W. M. has purchased forty-five acres of land near Charlevoix and will plat it for resort purposes. The price paid (on paper) was $20,000.

The government building at Grand Rapids has become too small for the business transacted, and a government officer is inspecting it with a view to enlargement.

List of letters advertised for the week ending May 12th '92 at the Holland City P. O.: Klass Andries Hoornstra, Mr. Charl Johnson, L. V. Smith, C. Sharpshire.

G. J. VAN DUREN, P. M.

Vessel owners just now are not very elated with the prospect for business during the coming summer. When the season opened the outlook was bright, but since then the condition of affairs has changed and business has commenced to lag.

The beautiful display of furniture, carpets and household trimmings at A. C. Rinck & Co., is one of the mercantile attractions of Holland. The choicest line of goods are kept constantly on hand, and disposed of at bottom prices. See his new adv.

J. Pessink, baker and confectioner, has enlarged his store by taking out a row of booths in the rear end and moving them further back, towards his ice cream parlor. The change has greatly improved the appearance and will be a material help in arranging the stock. His new adv. will appear next week.

At the Kent county People's convention held in Grand Rapids this week a collection was taken up to defray the expenses of the first edition of the new Holland paper, to be published there in the interest of the People's party. It will appear next week and will be named "Het Volksblad."

After an absence of five years H. Wykhuisen, the jeweler, has re-established himself in Holland. He was fortunate in securing one of the best stands of the city, the building formerly occupied by the First State Bank. Mr. Wykhuisen's reputation as a practical jeweler will no doubt secure for him the large patronage formerly enjoyed. His stock is judiciously selected and square dealing has always been his motto.

A very interesting litigation is in process in Chicago. John Geiser has sued a Forrester's lodge of that city for $25,000 damages, claiming that while being initiated, the officers of the lodge compelled him to jump into a supposed lake of fire to show his courage. He says that instead of getting a plunge in the lake he was landed on the floor and broke his leg in three places. They were initiating him in the mysteries of the second degree.

Among the local dealers in agricultural implements H. De Kruid of Zeeland continues to occupy a leading position. His store room at all times contains an assortment of machinery from which the farmer can make his choice. Liberal treatment secures him the lion's share of the trade. This spring, buggies and carriages are made a specialty. He has just received a carload of renowned "Daisy Hay Rakes" and also a carload of Champion Binders and Mowers. See his new adv.

The Board of Supervisors of Wexford county have decided, in making their assessments this year, to pay no attention to the provisions for taxing mortgages, unless requested to do so by the mortgagors of mortgaged real estate. This is a practical way of treating the matter, and will relieve the assessment roll of much superfluous labor and will also save the taxpayer (where he has agreed to pay all the taxes), his three or five per cent collection fee by paying before Jan. 1.

Occasionally a high board fence is seen, on the partition line between neighboring premises, as a sort of protest against further intercourse between the owners or occupants. With a view of discouraging such exhibitions of petty spite we clip the following from the G. R. Democrat: "Mr. Kirkwood and Mrs. Finnegan are next door neighbors on Terrace avenue. Some time ago the children of the two families got into a little spat and pummeled each other in true pugilistic fashion. The parents of the injured innocents took up the fight where the "kids" left off, with the final result that Mrs. Finnegan began to erect a high board fence, not ornamental in design, on her premises, to shut off her neighbor's view. Before the fence was completed Mr. Kirkwood secured an injunction from the Circuit Court restraining further operations on that line. Judge Adair, in giving his opinion, stated that the Supreme Court had held that where an obstruction of the kind was erected out of mere spite, it could not be maintained."

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Rinck, Thursday—a girl.

All Maccabees are requested to be present next Monday evening. Important business.

The board of review will be in session during the first four days of next week. See notice.

Ex-speaker D. P. Markey has recovered from a long sickness and is again attending to business.

Rev. H. G. Birchby, of Smithfield, N. Y., will occupy Hope church pulpit, Sunday morning and evening.

The trial of the parties charged with a violation of the fishing laws, before Squire Post, has been adjourned to next Monday.

Cha's H. Southwick, the successful landlord of the Hotel Ottawa last summer, will have charge of the Spring Lake House this season.

John Kramer Camp S. O. V. will be inspected by inspecting officer Cogshall, Tuesday evening, May 17. All members are requested to be present.

E. R. Pierce of Grand Rapids has arrived upon the grounds to superintend the construction of the C. & W. M. new yard, buildings and appurtenances, north of Black River.

The largest steel steamer ever built on the Lakes is now being constructed at Wyandotte. She is 362 feet long, 42 feet beam, 24 foot hold, and will carry 170,000 bushels of grain.

County clerk White, while out last week taking declarations of intention to become citizen, issued 40 certificates to applicants in Zeeland and about 25 to parties in this city.

At the tub factory of J. & A. Van Putten the amount of bolts received during the winter at the mill is nearly exhausted, and they will now be supplied with bolts from their own land near Richmond, recently purchased.

The semi-annual apportionment of primary school moneys, by the state, gives Ottawa county $8,504.76; the number of school children is 12,507. Allegan county has 12,273 children, and receives $8,344.46. The rate is 68 cents per capita.

Jan Van Vorstenberg, T. Van Vorstenberg and H. F. Raat, manufacturers of plate and window glass at Amsterdam, Holland, were in Grand Rapids this week in the interest of their business, and appointed W. C. Dewey their local agent there.

Charles Boyenga, an employe at the Ottawa Furniture factory, met with an injury Thursday afternoon, when he will be laid up for a week. He was running a belt on a pulley the belt got stuck and he fell on the machine, bruising his limbs. He was taken home on a stretcher. No bones broken, however.

An inventory is being taken at P. W. Kane's drug store, after which the stock and trade will be transferred to Wm. Swift & Co., his successors. The partner in the new firm is Miss Suzie Martin of Hopkins, Mich., who will take charge of the drug department. The lady holds a diploma as a pharmacist, and has eight years of practical experience as such.

The Y. W. C. A. of this city are in need of a new organ. In order to raise the necessary funds they have decided to give an entertainment, all by home talent, at Lyceum Hall, on the evening of Tuesday, May 31. The program, which will consist chiefly of music, will also include two drills by the Junior department of the association. Admission 25 cents. Tickets will be sold by the young ladies, and reserved seats can be obtained at Breyman & Son, without extra charge.

At the last meeting of the school board of Muskegon it was decided, after a lengthy discussion, to use the Waverly stone, above the basement, same as on the central building, instead of the Lake Superior stone as was at first specified. Although the latter is a fine grained stone, it has this disadvantage, that it is very absorbent and catches and retains dirt. In this respect the Holland stone was thought to be superior, and hence the change.

The Grandville Improvement Co. have asked the C. & W. M. for a fifteen cent round trip fare between that place and Grand Rapids. In answer to this, says the Herald, the railway company offer to carry people for fifteen cents, provided the improvement Co. make them a yearly bonus of $3,000, aside from the money taken for fares. As the railway company don't seem to want the Grandville passenger traffic, a better means of conveyance will soon be provided, in the line of an electric railway.

In view of the contemplated erection of the new library building for Hope College, and as a necessary measure precedent thereto, the college campus will be artistically planned by a competent landscape engineer, so as to insure order and symmetry for the whole.—The committee charged with the erection of the new building consists of Prof. G. J. Kollen and J. W. Beardslee, H. D. Post, Rev. J. F. Zwemer, I. Cappon, A. Vischer and President C. Scott.—Upon the adjournment of the council Rev. J. F. Zwemer at once left for the east, in the interest of his endowment work. His former brief though successful trip, in March last, as well as personal invitations, lead him to expect favorable results for the finances of the institution.—In addition to the donations already mentioned two pieces of $500 each have been made for a new theological hall.—Prof. G. J. Kollen expects to leave for the east in the course of a week or so.

Attention is called to the new advertisement of J. Fleeman, in another column.

The U. S. revenue cutter Andrew Johnson will be put in commission next Monday.

Forty-one years ago Friday a very severe snow-storm prevailed all through this country.

The next term of the circuit court will open Tuesday, the 17th inst., with Judge Hart on the bench.

Coopersville Observer: H. O. Bliss and family will move to Holland this summer. He is a good brick mason and finds plenty of work there.

The following pensions have been obtained through the agency of Squire Fairbanks: A. Boyer of Olive, $10; R. Oostema, city, $12; Henry Zoerman Fillmore, $12.

Elsewhere appears a call for a public meeting under the auspices of the Tanners and Curriers Union of this city, to be held Saturday evening, at the hall of the H. C. R. Martial Band, Seventh street.

Married in Holland town, at the residence of the bride's parents, Tuesday, May 3, by Rev. D. Broek, assisted by Rev. J. Broek, uncles of the bride, Henry Veneklaasen of Zeeland and Miss Dena Boone.

Mrs. S. De Groot, aged 67 years, was attacked with a stroke of apoplexy, Tuesday. While carrying a tray with some cups she fell to the floor, seriously bruising her face. Notwithstanding her advanced age and corpulency there is hope for her recovery.

The supper given by the ladies of the M. E. church, Friday evening, for the improvement of their church property, netted them $15. The affair was also a success socially, and there is a general desire on the part of those that attended to sit down at another "calico supper."

How times will change. On the 10th day of this month, in the year 1853, the Pope prohibited the circulation and reading of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" among Catholics. The writer, Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, will be 80 years old June 14, and her anniversary will be celebrated by a public demonstration, in Hartford, Conn.

The Soldiers' Home board have decided that all inmates of the Home must turn over all pension money in excess of $5 per month, and in case improper use is made of that amount it can also be taken away. This money taken is to be sent to the dependent families of the inmates if they have any, and if not, it is to be held and returned to the men upon discharge from the Home.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church will give a "labor social" at the home of Mrs. N. Hanson, Friday evening, May 20th. An interesting program will be rendered during the evening. Each member of the society will bring a dollar and tell how she earned it. Supper will be served for fifteen cents. All are cordially invited to attend. Free carry-all will run from the American House from 7:00 to 10:00 o'clock p. m.

The improved and graveled streets in our city invariably draw the eye of the visitor, and are the subject of favorable comment. For this reason alone, if none other, they should not be allowed to be made the dumping ground of an occasional shiftless householder. One of our wheelmen gave us a verbal inventory of what he was compelled to avoid the other day—a broken mirror, glass insulator and lamp chimney, tableware of various kinds, oyster cans and other assorted tinware, limbs of trees, cobble stones, old plaster, and a dead rat. This is not as it should be.

Several new points in the local option law of this state, that were raised and presented to the supreme court, by parties in Eaton county, have all been knocked out this week. It is not likely that another attempt in this direction will ever again be made. The great object of the law was to take the liquor question out of the domain of national and state politics and make it a local issue, to each county. The supreme court has once more sustained every feature of the law, and there are only two classes of people that are dissatisfied, the saloonkeeper in the counties that went "dry," and the political prohibitionists who by this time forcibly realize that as a distinct national party there is little left for them to stand upon.

CHURCH ITEMS.—The classis of Holland of the H. C. Ref. church convened in this city Wednesday, with Rev. E. Broene, of Drenthe, in the chair. They were in session two days, the examination of theological students and an important case of church discipline occupying most of the time.—Rev. E. Van Den Berg of Orange City, Io., formerly of this city, has received a call to the Reformed church at Albany, N. Y., the old home of the family.—Theol. student Harry Kremers occupied the Third Ref. church pulpit, on Sunday afternoon.—The Particular Synod of Chicago has endorsed the invitation of the three Reformed churches of this city to the General Synod to hold its annual session of 1893 in Holland.—The theol. students of the Western Seminary in this city have been assigned to the following places for mission work during the summer vacation: S. J. Menning, Le Mars, Iowa; H. J. Plettenpol, 8th Ref. church, Grand Rapids; P. Slegers, Graafschap; J. Sietsema, Jamestown Centre and Lucas, Mich.; J. P. Winter, Raville and other places in Minnesota.—Rev. A. Stegeman of Harrison, S. Dak., has accepted the call to North Holland.—Rev. J. M. Lumkes of Gr. Rapids has declined a call from Jamestown Centre.

Wheat 86 cents.

The post office will be moved next week.

Ground has been broken for the new residence of Ed. Vaupell, on Thirtieth street.

It seems as though one effect of the wet weather this week has been to make local happenings scarce.

The pulpit in the M. E. church will be occupied next Sunday morning and evening by Rev. Dr. J. W. Beardslee.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Ottawa Furniture Co., will be held Thursday, May 26. See notice.

The new addition to the grounds of Holland township cemetery have been plated, and a neat fence is being put up along the road front.

J. Verschure has bought the fine residence of Albert Meyer on Ninth street. The latter has bought the house of M. Jonkman, two doors west from there.

J. H. Nibbelink takes pride in taking his friends to his lively barn on Ninth street, and fix their attention to his elegant new rigs, especially those two and three-seated surries.

Mrs. Dr. F. J. Schouten returned home from Grand Rapids, Wednesday. Though still weak, she is steadily recovering from the serious operation she underwent there a few weeks ago.

Mrs. W. Kuhlman, of Holland town, welcomed two of her relatives from Berlin, Germany, this week. They took passage on the stmr. Weimar of the Norddeutscher Lloyd Steamship Co., and had their tickets forwarded to them through the agency of Messrs. Mulder & Verwey of this city.

Do not miss your train next week—the C. & W. M. will have a new time table out, taking effect Sunday. The 3:00 o'clock trains from and for Grand Haven and Muskegon and from Chicago, in the afternoon, will hereafter arrive and leave at 2:15 and 2:20 o'clock. See amended time card.

The vacant tract of land in the eastern part of the city, along Sixteenth street, recently purchased by Messrs. Scott and Schuurman of Prof. G. J. Kollen is being fenced in and otherwise improved. On the corner of Land street Mr. Schuurman is erecting a fine residence. The premises on the south side of the street, owned by B. L. Scott, have also been greatly improved in appearance.

Do not look with disdain upon the book agent, for it has been discovered that Napoleon at one time was a book canvasser; that George Washington followed the same illustrious business, selling over 200 copies of Byrdell's "American Savage"; that Longfellow sold books by subscription; that Daniel Webster handled De Tocqueville's "America"; that Gen. Grant canvassed for Irving's "Columbus"; that Blaine began life as a canvasser for a "Life of Henry Clay"; and that Bismark, when at Heidelberg, took orders for one of Blumenbach's handbooks.

If there is any one thing that accounts for the increase of late in the trade of this city from the rural districts, it is the high price paid for wheat by the Walsh-DeRoos Roller Mills. The receipts of grain brought in by farmers were larger last week than at any previous time. Heretofore the mill had purchasing agents at East Zeeland, Fillmore, Vriesland and Saugatuck. They concluded however to discontinue this method and raise the price paid to farmers. It is very satisfactory to note that the scheme works well. Both parties are pleased with the result, and it adds largely to the volume of trade of this city. Of last year's crop the firm expect that about 150,000 bushels will be marketed at their mill, direct from the farms.

County school comm'r Lillie has issued a circular letter to the teachers of Ottawa county, transmitting a series of questions for the examination of pupils for a "County Diploma." This diploma system has been introduced by him with a view of inducing the boys and girls that attend the county schools to remain longer and do more thorough work. It is a sad fact, says the commissioner, "but nevertheless a true one, that all over Ottawa county there are young men and women who have left the district school before they have received a common school education. And it is worthy of our best efforts to offer every inducement within our power to influence them to remain in their own district schools long enough to complete a common school course of study."

The first social given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., Friday evening, was largely attended by the young people of this city, and was in every respect a successful affair—thanks also to the hearty co-operation of the Y. W. C. A., under the leadership of its efficient president, Miss Josephine Cook. Dr. B. De Vries took charge of the music, with Miss Beke Boone as organist, and the following literary program was rendered:

Opening Anthem.....Prof. G. J. Kollen
Prayer.....Prof. G. J. Kollen
Solo.....Phil Soulen
Address.....Dr. J. W. Beardslee
Solo.....Mrs. G. P. Hummer Report.....President
Song.....Choir

At the close of this program the young ladies served refreshments. The report of President Post, as to the prospects of Bergen Hall, was well received, and subsequent developments have warranted the board of directors to resolve upon an immediate beginning with the building. Ground was broken Friday. The following names have been added to the list of subscribers to the building fund: Sheriff Vaupell, E. Van der Veen, J. Van Dyk Sr.

Again a Free Man.

There was pardoned from the Jackson prison the other day an old man, named Bates, aged 54 years, a life convict, sent up from Ardena 30 years ago for killing his brother. He was a strong young man when he was received at the prison, and for 11 years he was employed running a trip hammer, an employment that will kill the average man in six years. For 15 years he has done nothing but cut bread. Just think of it, 800 or 1,000 loaves of bread a day for 15 years. When he was released from prison he walked out the door, looked first upon the green grass at his feet then at the blue sky above, at the bursting buds in the trees, then he glanced quickly about him upon all sides, taking in the entire landscape. After a few moments he returned to the warden's office. "Oh, this seems like a new world and I can scarcely realize that I am in it. Oh, isn't this nice," exclaimed the old man as he almost wept with joy. He lingered about the prison walls for some time, apparently feeling that the prison was his home after a residence there of 30 years.

The last thing he did before going to prison was to plant a young orchard and all these long years he has taken a great interest in the growth of those trees and the fruit they have borne, some of which has reached his cell in the prison. "I expect I shall get very tired strolling around the farm and reaching home, for I am not used to walking," he said to the warden, "but the rest of my life will be happy, and I shall enjoy the old place."

He was pardoned through the influence of Judge Turner, the man who sentenced him to prison. During all his years of imprisonment he has been a model man and not a scratch has been entered against his record. Bates has a brother who is in good circumstances and who will provide him with a good home for the remainder of his life.

The Origin of the Rose.

Many legends of many lands account for the birth and for the glowing of "the queen of flowers." According to one classic story, the rose sprang from the blood of Adonis. It was white and odorless till Venus trod on one of its thorns and with her blood gave it color and perfume. Spencer refers to this tradition in the lines.

"White as the native rose before the change, Which Venus' blood did on her leaves impress."

The "blush" rose was once white also, till Cupid gave it color by holding a different tale, and says that the flower sprang from the blood of Adonis. It was white and odorless till Venus trod on one of its thorns and with her blood gave it color and perfume. Spencer refers to this tradition in the lines.

"The said as Cupid danced among The gods, he down the nectar flung
Which on the white rose being shed
Made it ever after red."

The Turks believe that the red rose sprang from the blood of the great prophet Mahomet, and they reverence it accordingly. If a Turk sees a rose lying on the ground he picks it up, raises it to his lips, and carefully lays it in a place of safety.

"The Voyage and Travels of Sir John Mandeville," a famous book of the fourteenth century, gives yet another account of the rose's birth: A Jewish maiden was brought to the state by the slanders of an incensed because rejected suitor. As the flames began crackle about her, she prayed that, as she was not guilty of the crimes whereof she was accused, Heaven would make her innocence known unto all men. Immediately the fagots about her became a bed of roses, the burning ones red and those that were not yet kindled, white; and those were the first roses that ever "only came caught." Thus the rose became the flower of the martyrs.—From "The Queen of Flowers," in Demorest's Family Magazine for June.

The completion about June 15th of the new route extension from Traverse City to Petoskey and Bay View, of the Chicago & West Michigan Railway, will open a new and popular route to the Northern Michigan Summer Resorts. The new line will be up to the high standard of the C. & W. M. and D. L. & N. system, and with the excellent train service, which will be a special feature. It will speedily prove to be a favorite. It will be the scenic line of Michigan, running as it does along the shores of lakes and rivers for more than forty miles, passing through the towns of Barker Creek, Spencer Creek, Bel-Aire, Central Lake, Ellsworth, and East, but by no means least, beautiful Charlevoix, than which there is no more delightful summer resort and to which it will be the only rail line. Elk Rapids is also reached by a short branch from Williamsburg. For several miles it skirts the shore, almost at the water's edge, of Little Bay, nearly the entire distance from Traverse City being a panorama of beautiful scenery. Our new Summer Book, now ready, will be sent to any address on application, and much information may be obtained from it regarding the Northern Resorts, and the advantages in reaching them possessed by the C. & W. M. and D. L. & N. Lines. Through sleeping and parlor cars will be run during the summer between Chicago, Detroit, Grand Rapids and Petoskey, via Traverse City and Charlevoix.

The Fifth Summer Normal at Hope College.

To teachers and those who propose to be teachers:

The Fifth summer normal at Hope College will open on Tuesday July 5, at 11 o'clock A. M. and continue for five weeks, until the afternoon of Tuesday, August 2. You are hereby cordially invited to share in its benefits.

Through this School, Hope College desires to offer to the teachers of Western Michigan an opportunity for a thorough review of the subject required for first, second and third grade certificates in Michigan, and also for pursuing such other studies as shall more fully qualify them for their useful and noble profession.

STUDIES.

Orthography, Reading and Penmanship; Geography, Arithmetic, and Grammar; United States History, General History and Civil Government;

Physics, Algebra, and Geometry; Botany, Physiology and Psychology; Science and Art of Teachers, (special care); School Law and School History; Question Drawing, and Afternoon Lectures.

Extra Branches, such as Music, Crayon Drawing, Type Writing, and Short Hand, when a sufficient number for a class so desire.

Each subject will be treated after approved "normal" methods, with special reference to the needs of teachers in district schools. Taking English Grammar, for example, the Programme will embrace a review of the parts of speech; parsing and diagramming; rules and forms, both oral and written; composition; and a careful analysis of the right use of the language.

INSTRUCTORS.

The regular instructors will be Prof. J. W. Humphrey, Wayland, Director; Prof. P. A. Latta, Allegan County Superintendent of Schools; Prof. J. H. Kleinknecht, of Hope College;

All well known for their ability; aided by others as may be deemed necessary.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Those desiring to enter the School will bring their ordinary text-books, as instruction will be mainly given by note and topic.

EXPENSES.

Tuition, five dollars, payable in advance. The extra branches will be at a moderate additional expense.

Board, with furnishing rooms, from $2.50 to $2.75 per week, and rooms without board at reasonable rates. Those whose desire to board themselves, or in clubs, can find opportunities of so doing. No other charges.

Place this circular in the hands of any who may be seeking a Summer "Normal." The location of Holland with its connections and surroundings is most favorable. Fine summer resorts are near by, on the shores of charming Macatawa Bay and Lake Michigan. Apply early, in order that suitable arrangements may be made, and address communications to

Trout Fishing

SEASON OPENS MAY 1ST.

The new Extension of the Chicago & West Michigan R'y from Traverse City to Elk Rapids, is twenty miles long and penetrates a region in which are numerous trout streams, that have heretofore been too remote.

The line passes through Mitchells, Acme, Williamsburg, and Angella's at or near to any of which there are good streams that have never been fished to any extent.

If you would rather go farther off you will find a steamboat running regularly from Elk Rapids through Elk Lake, Round Lake, Troch River, past the mouth of Rapid River and up the entire length of Torch Lake.

Into all these waters empty trout streams that and now for the first time made convenient.

Geo. De Haven,
General Passenger Agent. 14-17

THE FINEST MUSICIANS ARE THE MOST ENTHUSIASTIC OVER THE A. B. CHASE PIANOS!

The world renowned violinist, Edouard Remenyi, writes to the A. B. Chase Co. the following enthusiastic tribute of appreciation of their wonderful pianos:

JACKSON, MICH., January 20th, '92.
A. B. Chase Co., Piano Manufacturers, Norwalk, Ohio.

DEAR SIRS:—I gave last night a concert in the presence of 1,500 people (my 83d on the present tour, after 10 years, absence) and was especially pleased not only by the elegance and finish, magnificent workmanship, but above all by the superb tone and action of your Grand Upright.

I was delighted hearing by accompaniments to my beloved violin on such a fine piano. After my third or fourth piece I inquired after the maker's name, and to be sure it was an A. B. Chase. It does you great honor, and I am highly pleased to write to you these few lines of artistic appreciation. I wish I had every night such an instrument at my disposal; and by the by, it reminds me, I will send you my route, and if you can do something for me, my violin and I, we both would be yours, very obliged and devoted fiddle and I.

ED. REMENYI.

This wonderful piano is exhibited at the music store of H. Meyer & Son, River street, and is kept continually in stock. During the past season they have placed several of them in the best families of this city. 14-2w.

Chancery Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN.

The Circuit Court for the County of Ottawa.—In Chancery.

AURELIA P. BRODERICK, Complainant, vs.

MARCUS BRODERICK, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Ottawa, in Chancery, at Grand Haven, on the 12th day of April, A. D. 1892. It is satisfactory appearing to this court, by affidavit on file, that defendant, Marcus Broderick, is a resident of this state and that subpoena to appear and answer has been duly issued out of and under the seal of this court, directed to the above named defendant, but that the same could not be served upon the said defendant, by reason of his absence from this state.

On motion of Gerrit J. Diekema, complainant's solicitor, it is ordered that said defendant, Marcus Broderick, cause his appearance to be entered herein within thirty days of the date of this order; and in case of his appearance that he cause his answer to the complainant's bill of complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on said complainant's solicitor within twenty days after service on him of a copy of said bill and notice of this order, and that in default thereof said bill be taken as confessed by said absent defendant.

And it is further ordered that within twenty days after the date hereof said complainant cause a notice of this order to be published in the HOLLAND CITY NEWS, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said county, and that said publication be continued therein at least once in each week for three weeks in succession, or that cause a copy of this order to be personally served on said absent defendant, at least 30 days before the above time prescribed for his appearance.

Witness my hand and seal of said court, at Grand Haven, April 12, A. D. 1892.

GERRIT J. DIEKEMA,

Complainant's Solicitor.

Probate Order.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, ss.

COUNTY OF OTTAWA.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Ottawa, holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Grand Haven, in said County, on Wednesday, the Twenty-seventh day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two.

Present, CHARLES E. SOULE, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Jan Kerkhof, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of John Kerkhof, administrator with the will annexed of said estate, praying for the license of this Court to sell certain lands of said deceased in said estate, and that he appear and answer to the petition for the purpose of using the proceeds for the support of the aged and infirm widow of said deceased, and under the provisions of his will.

Thereupon it is Ordered, That Saturday, the Twenty-first day of May, next, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office in the City of Grand Haven, in said county and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted: And it is further Ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the HOLLAND CITY NEWS, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county of Ottawa for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

(A true copy, Attest.)

TWO WIVES TOO MANY.

BECAME REPENTANT AND CONFESSED HIS CRIME.

Most Terrible Disaster in the History of Northwestern Collieries—Bad Girl from Pole Cat Creek—Her Child Devoured by a Bear.

At Washington.

On the 10th, after passing several resolutions for printing various government reports, including the thirteenth annual report of the geological survey, the last report of the fish commission and of the bureau of animal industry, the House proceeded with the sundry civil appropriation. Mr. Cogswell, of Massachusetts, opposing the policy of the committee in neglecting to make proper provision for certain public works, notably public buildings and lighthouses, while Mr. Wilson of Washington, Mr. Sweet of Idaho, Mr. Clark of Wyoming, and Mr. Hermann of Oregon all spoke in favor of larger appropriations for surveying the public lands. Mr. Enloe, Tennessee, criticized the cost and geodetic survey, and Mr. Dingley, of Maine, closed the debate in a general criticism of the committee on Appropriations for the duplicity displayed in the pending bill. The House then adjourned. In the Senate, a bill was passed changing the boundaries of the Yellowstone National Park. Four bills for this purpose have been pending in the Senate, and the measure passed is a sort of compromise.

FORTY-THREE ARE DEAD.

Explosion from Unknown Causes in a Roslyn, Wash., Tunnel.

At 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon a terrible explosion occurred in the slope of Mine No. 2 of the Northern Pacific Coal Company at Roslyn, Wash. The loss of life exceeds in number that of any other disaster that has ever been chronicled in the Northwest or on the Pacific slope. The exact nature of the explosion or the circumstances that led to it will probably never be known, since it is believed that every miner who was working in the slope at the time perished. It is believed that between forty-five and fifty men were in the three levels that were affected by the explosion. Most of the men were 1,500 to 2,000 feet down the slope and in the immediate vicinity of the accident. There is no doubt either in the minds of the miners or the company's officials that every man was instantly killed by the explosion.

A FRANTIC MOTHER.

Her Baby Devoured Before Her Eyes by a Black Bear.

Mrs. Mary Carter, a widow with a family of small children, is a raving maniac as a result of a raid upon her little cabin by a half-starved black bear, in which two of her children lost their lives and one was half devoured before her eyes, says a Mountain Home (Ark.) dispatch. Her cabin stands upon a hillside some distance above the town. A heavily wooded grove extends up to a small clearing immediately before the house. In this clearing her five children were playing while the mother was engaged inside the cabin. Suddenly the wild screaming of the children startled her. She saw an enormous bear strike down her oldest boy, who had bravely attempted to defend the others. The ferocious beast seized the baby and shuffled rapidly away, the frantic mother dashing after him in pursuit. The animal tore the little one limb from limb before the mother's eyes, and before help arrived from the village completed his meal and escaped within the forest.

CONSPIRATORS CONDEMNED.

Judgment Pronounced Upon the Assassins of the Bulgarian Diplomatic Agent.

The two men, Merdjan and Christo, who were charged with the murder of Dr. Vukovitch, the Bulgarian Diplomatic Agent to Turkey, have been found guilty at Constantinople and condemned to death. Tufekchieff and the brothers Naoum, who were known to be the instigators of the crime, fled to Russia, but they, too, though without Turkish jurisdiction, were tried and each sentenced to fifteen years' penal servitude. It is believed that the result of these trials will cause a relaxation of the tension between Bulgaria and Turkey, which it was thought at one time would lead the former to throw off all allegiance to Turkey and declare herself independent.

Owens Up to Three Wives.

E. H. Olney, the husband of three living wives, gave himself up to the police in Augusta, S. C., and confessed himself a scoundrel. He says one of his wives lives in Paris, Tenn., another in Augusta, Kan., and the third in a small country town in Tennessee. Olney professed religion not long ago and this led him to confess the crime. Olney is a machinist and went to Augusta from Blackstone, Mass., about a year ago. The Augusta authorities would not take him in charge, but advised him to go back to Tennessee of his own accord, which he says he will do.

Moonshiners on Trial.

The United States Court convened at Covington, Ky., Tuesday, and 100 moonshiners, men, women and children, are up for trial. It is a strange-looking crowd. Most of the men and all of the children are barefooted. The women chew and smoke, and one of them, Jane Melton, is the most notorious moonshiner in the State. Her distillery is at Pole Cat Creek, Leslie County. She can outshoot Bozardus, has whipped every man she ever tackled, can knock a yearling steer down with one blow of her fist and for years has defied the United States revenue officers.

Two Hanged at One Time.

L. D. Slaughter and Tom Bailey were hanged at Little Rock. Both executions took place from the same gallows. The men were negroes. Slaughter murdered his mistress in a fit of jealous rage in June, 1901. Bailey shot and killed a peddler from Jacksonville, Ill., afterward robbing the body.

Canadian Women Want to Vote.

Eighteen thousand women have memorialized the Dominion Parliament to be enabled to vote for members of that body. Prime Minister Abbott has informed Mrs. Mary McDonnell, of Toronto, the women's representative, that their request will be granted.

Senator M. W. Mathews Dead.

State Senator Milton W. Mathews died at his home in Urbana, Ill., at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. His death was due to repeated attacks of inflammatory rheumatism, which had induced heart trouble and a complication of diseases.

ONE BLOCK IN RUINS.

Fire in New York Destroys $1,000,000 Worth of Property.

The whole block bounded by First avenue and the East River, between 45th and 46th streets, New York, and occupied by Schwarzhild & Sulzberger, the extensive meat dealers, was almost totally destroyed by fire. The block consisted of a series of buildings four stories high. The fire started in the tall house, but its cause can not be ascertained. All the rendering is done by steam and there was no fire in the building. At first sight it appeared as if the flames were the result of strikers' spite. Twenty-five of the men employed in the tall house struck, and became so threatening that police reserves were sent to the building, but their services were not required. Mr. Sulzberger, of the firm, says that the fire could not reasonably be attributed to the strikers, as the difficulty had been satisfactorily settled and the men were to have resumed work. The damage done to the buildings will not exceed $1,000,000. Mr. Sulzberger could not give any positive estimate of the stock on hand or of the machinery, but said the total loss would be fully $800,000 or $1,000,000 and that it was well insured. Two firemen, Levens and Hannigan, had their legs broken by falling beams. They were removed to the hospital.

PROTEST FROM CHINA.

The Exclusion Bill Declared to Be a Flagrant Violation of Treaty Obligations.

An emphatic protest by the Chinese Minister has been filed at the State Department against the Chinese exclusion act, which has just become a law. The protest indeed was filed before President Harrison had attached his signature to the bill in the hope that he might veto it. The protest goes over the history of American legislation and the treaties by which China and the United States have bound themselves and declares this particular bill to be the most flagrant and direct violation of treaty stipulations which have ever passed Congress. The scathing denunciations of the measure which were uttered on the floor of the two houses by Senator Sherman, Congressman Hitt, and other opponents of the bill are turned to good account in the protest as descriptions of the real character of the measure by American statesmen. There is a fine vein of irony running through some of these citations, although it is carefully veiled in diplomatic language.

RUDINI STEPS DOWN.

He and His Entire Ministry Announce Their Resignation.

The Marquis di Rudini has announced the resignation of the ministry, in consequence of the vote of want of confidence in the Italian Chamber of Deputies. Great political excitement continues to prevail and all parties are discussing the future. While it has been asserted, semi-officially, that the foreign policy of the government will not be affected, the general impression is that it will inevitably be affected, as the troubles that have led to the resignation are entirely due to financial distress caused by the maintenance of Italy's place in the triple alliance. The Austrian and German representatives are in constant communication with their governments as to the crisis, and it is reported that the utmost anxiety is felt both in Berlin and Vienna. At the French embassy there is little concealment of the joy felt over the downfall of the Rudini Ministry and the causes leading to it, which Frenchmen unofficially declare insure the severance of Italy from the triple alliance.

HARD ON THE FARMERS.

The National Cordage Company Advances the Price of Sisal Twine.

A Mason City, Iowa, dispatch says: The National Cordage Company has now for the first time given its price on sisal twine, which is from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents per pound higher than last season. The dealers who are compelled to buy sisal twine now must of necessity sell at not less than 12 cents per pound. Those who were fortunate enough to place their contracts before the National Cordage Company gained complete control can make a shade lower price. Only about one-fifth of what will be needed is now in the hands of dealers. Jobbers are completely out and will be compelled to pay cordage prices. This means an extra expenditure of thousands of dollars to the farmers of the country.

WIND AT WASHINGTON.

Several Houses Unroofed—A Man Killed by Lightning.

A severe rain and wind storm passed over Washington, D. C., Friday afternoon, ruining several houses and prostrating trees. The steeple of the Hamline Church, in the northern part of the city, was blown off and in falling crushed an adjoining drug store. No lives were lost, but the damage to property throughout the city will reach $10,000 or $12,000. At Norwood, Pa., a bolt of lightning struck Julius Kupprion, who was driving along the road to his home in that town, killing him instantly.

Starving Laborers.

Information from the northern coast depicts a wretched condition of affairs, says a St. John's, N. F., dispatch. Owing to the ravages of grip last year the inhabitants were unable to gather their usual catch of fish. Just before navigation closed the Government sent the people of Flowers Cove sixty barrels of flour to save them from perishing. For five months they have cut off from the outside world by ice. Early in February the people watched with horror the consumption of the last handful of flour. How they have lived since no one knows. Some people have already perished from starvation.

Train Robber Killed.

At Pratt Mines, near Birmingham, Ala., E. E. Liddell and C. T. Miller broke into Giff's jewelry store. A detective named McDaniel had learned of the plan and ten officers who were hidden under the store rushed out and called on the burglars to surrender. Liddell ran and was fired upon and killed. Before dying he confessed that he was the leader of the gang of train robbers that held up a Georgia Pacific train at Weems in March. Miller was caught and jailed.

The Maumee Out of Its Banks.

A most extraordinary fall of rain caused the waters of St. Mary and St. Joseph rivers, which come together at Fort Wayne, Ind., and form the Maumee, to rise to the highest point reached in twelve years. A large part of the Ninth Ward, known as Bloomingdale, is under water, the floods entering the houses.

Bridge and Train Go Down.

At Florence, Ala., one span of the Memphis and Charleston bridge went down Friday morning, carrying with it a train of four cars and an engine. Five men were on the train. Three of them were injured, one fatally. It was the second time in six months that trains have gone through this bridge.

TRIP THE FANTASTIC.

METHODIST MAIDENS MAY HAVE THE PRIVILEGE.

Discouraging Outlook for Agriculturalists in the Northwest—Tremendous Break in the Morganza Levee in Louisiana—Confederate Veterans Want Pensions.

Confederates After Pensions.

At a meeting of the Confederate veterans in New Orleans notice was given that they will insist upon the passage by the Legislature of a pension law giving all Confederate veterans incapacitated in supporting themselves a pension of from $5 to $12 a month. The demand, if granted, which it probably will be, will cost the State from $50,000 to $100,000 per annum.

WOMEN AND DANCING.

Two Big Subjects Before the Methodist Conference.

Omaha dispatch: The Methodist General Conference had two sensations at the very beginning Monday. The women's question was sprung in the form of a resolution of J. R. Maxwell of Nebraska, which asks that they be admitted to membership in the General Missionary Committee. Without debate it was referred. The second sensation showed that young blood in Methodism as well as in politics is bound to come to the front and make itself felt. The only thing that has kept many young people out of the church is the rule that dancing be prohibited. The old-school Methodist will hold up his hands in horror when he hears that a scheme is on foot to allow the religious to mix a little gaiety with their piety. But such is a fact. Among the memorials presented was one from the Troy conference, which petitions the general conference to expunge from the discipline section 242, relating to amusements, or at least asking that it be modified so that dancing may be permissible. The memorial is signed by Rev. Wm. W. Foster, Joel W. Eaton, William H. Hughes, John W. Thompson, E. P. Stevens, E. E. Sawyer, and several others, all of New York. Bishop Foster, of Boston, approves the movement and has given it his official sanction and will no doubt advocate its adoption.

BROKE THE LEVEE.

Appalling Catastrophe in the Morganza, Above New Orleans.

New Orleans dispatch: The great Morganza levee in Pointe Coupee parish—the biggest levee in Louisiana—broke Monday in consequence of the great pressure of the swollen river against it. At midnight the crevasse was 400 feet wide, and the water, six feet in depth, was rushing through with appalling force. The levee is 25 feet high, from 60 to 150 feet wide and a mile long. It is one of the most important levees along the lower Mississippi, and parted at a point where a break will cause the greatest possible amount of damage, since it will let the water down on Pointe Coupee, Iberville, West Baton Rouge, Assumption, Ascension, La Fourche, Iberia, St. Mary, and St. Martin parishes, and may flood all the country between it and the Gulf. This levee broke in 1884 and caused $10,000,000 of damage, cutting down the sugar crop of the State materially. It was partially broken in 1890, but enough of it was held there to reduce the amount of damage. The United States government assisted in rebuilding it both times.

FOR AMERICANS ONLY.

Clearing Government Shops of Foreign Employees.

The Association of American Draughtsmen, encouraged by Secretary Tracy in insisting that none but American citizens shall be employed in the civil force at the navy yards, has commenced a systematic inquiry regarding the nationality and citizenship of draughtsmen employed in government departments. Mr. Tracy's determination in favor of those who are citizens or who intend to take out naturalization papers grew out of the report from an authorized committee of the draughtsmen's association in the case of Arthur Masters, who was employed at the navy yard, New York. It was shown that Mr. Masters was an Englishman and there were Americans available for the place which he had been selected to fill. The Secretary directed that if Masters did not resign immediately he should be removed.

CROP OUTLOOK IS BAD.

Heavy Rains and Cold Weather Threaten Disaster.

The farmers in the West and Northwest have a good right to be blue these days. The heavy rainfalls seriously delay those who have not finished their seedling, and the unseasonable snowstorms in the more northern regions have played havoc with the crops already in. The corn belt is soaked, and the tillers of the soil in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Iowa are fretting away the time until the sun dries the land so they can do their drilling and seeding. Wheat, too, will have to wait in many States until the land assumes a better condition for plowing. The outlook at present is not at all encouraging. Cloudy weather still prevails in the vicinities visited by rain, and in those still visited by snow and sleet the temperature evinces a most discouraging tendency to hover about the freezing point.

RIOTOUS MOB OF MINERS.

Police Attacked and Property Destroyed and Stolen at an English Colliery.

Quite a serious riot occurred Saturday evening at the Castledown Colliery, near Hartlepool, England. The trouble grew out of the employment in the mine of a non-unionist named Stockdale. The union men attacked him, and would not doubt have seriously injured him had it not been for the interference of the police. The mob was in strong force, and finding that Stockdale had escaped them, they rushed to the colliery and smashed the engine-house to pieces. Some one in the crowd suggested they attack Stockdale's house. This suggestion met with instant approval, and, howling and yelling, the mob rushed to the house, and in a very short time it was totally wrecked. Great indignation is expressed at the action of the mob, and there is no doubt that the ring-leaders will be severely punished.

Belvel Pleads Guilty.

At Bedford, Iowa, the great Belvel libel case came up for trial in the District Court, and to the surprise of everyone the defendant entered a plea of guilty. The court sentenced Belvel to pay a fine of $500 and the costs of the case.

Big Theft of Mileage Tickets.

At Minneapolis, Detective J. G. Doyle arrested Gustav T. Musyong, a ticket scalper, on the charge of being implicated in the stealing of $14,000 of mileage tickets and blank passes from the Northern Pacific station at Crookston, Minn.

DELAYED BY THE RAIN.

Business Retarded in Most of the Western States.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Business has been much retarded throughout most of the Western States by unusual and continued rain. The movement of products is thus delayed, though it is believed temporarily; collections are retarded; seeding in many quarters is interrupted, though on the whole fairly advanced for the season; and distribution of goods is checked. A somewhat better tone appears at the South, and business at the East is fairly active for the season, although in some lines dull and depressed. Money is everywhere abundant, in part because the demand is smaller than usual, but this is in a measure due to the unusual conservatism of the trade, buyers making many small purchases instead of larger purchases and waiting more carefully for actual distribution.

SPOKE ILL OF THE DEAD.

Arrest of a New York Editor for Alleged Libel of a Corpse.

Rev. John F. Gates, late editor of the News at Perry, N. Y., died April 23. On April 27 the Herald, published at Bliss, Wyoming County, by George B. Chase, a former employee of Mr. Gates, contained the following comment on the death of the editor: "There may have been men possessed of a more devilish character hidden under the cloak of Christianity, but we have yet to learn of such. The grave covers defects and buries errors, but it can never blot out wrongs perpetrated with hellish intent." Mrs. Gates secured a warrant for Chase, charging him with criminal libel.

KILLED IN A WRECK.

At Least Seven Lives Lost in an Accident on the Santa Fe.

A terrible accident occurred shortly before 1 o'clock Thursday morning on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad at the little town of Revere, in Missouri. The thorough California vestibule, east bound, went through a bridge into a creek swollen by the heavy rains. The fact that the telegraph wires are down makes it impossible to obtain definite information as to the number of killed and injured, but as the whole train, with the exception of the last sleeper, went into the creek the number must be large. So far as known at the present time seven were killed, all residents of Missouri; ten were severely hurt.

MINNESOTA WHEAT ALL RIGHT.

The Minneapolis elevator companies operating in Northern Minnesota and North Dakota have received reports from nearly 100 stations giving the present condition of seeding operations. The condition in Northern Minnesota is, on the whole, very favorable. The work has been a little delayed, but favorable weather this week will bring it out all right with the exception of a few points on low areas. In North Dakota the situation is less favorable. At some places no seeding has been done, and farmers are a good deal discouraged. The delay is caused by a great surplus of rain, which has left the ground too wet for work. Favorable weather this week would do much to help the work out, but the prospect is for a decreased acreage. In Minnesota there will be an increased acreage.

CATTLE IN THE CHEROKEE STRIP.

It is stated that there are fully 25,000 cattle on the Cherokee strip and the Government seems to be making no effort to remove them. A large number of the cattle have wandered up near the Kansas line near Hunnwell and the farmers are very much incensed, as they fear their cattle will take the Texas fever. They are organizing and say if the Government does not act soon they will shoot the cattle.

A. M. E. General Conference.

The general conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church convened at Pittsburgh in quadrennial session, with 300 delegates in attendance. The most conspicuous figure is that of the once famous missionary to Africa, Rev. Dr. Cartwright. The delegates represent thirty-five conferences and the gathering is the highest legislative body in the church.

Hagenback Secured a Wife.

A sensation was created at Laporte, Ind., by the elopement of Miss Minnie Hill, the 16-year-old daughter of John Hill, with Harry Hagenback. A telegram received from Hagenback from Kalamazoo states that they were married in that city. The young man's home is in Logansport.

To Prevent Intimidation.

A bill has been passed by the Massachusetts House of Representatives providing a penalty of $100 for intimidating laborers, either by employers or employees.

Tried to Kill His Brother.

Henry Rogers, colored, shot his younger brother Charles at West Stockbridge, Mass., during a quarrel. Charles will probably recover. Henry gave himself up.

DOINGS OF CONGRESS.

MEASURES CONSIDERED AND ACTED UPON.

At the Nation's Capital—What Is Being Done by the Senate and House—Old Masters Disposed Of and New Ones Considered.

The Senate and House.

On the 4th, Senate bill to convey to the State of Kansas a portion of the Fort Hayes military reservation (about 3,300 acres) for homes for old soldiers and their families, and to open the rest of the reservation to homestead settlement was amended to make the whole reservation open only to soldiers, and passed. The following bills were passed: Creating two additional land districts in the State of Montana; House bill to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Osage River between Warsaw and the mouth of Turkey Creek, Mo. Senate bill to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Red River of the North at Quincy, N. D. House bill for the disposition and sale of the lands of the Klamath River Indian Reservation, California. The House passed its time considering the Chinese, and river and harbor appropriation bills.

The House spent the 5th discussing the river and harbor appropriation bill. A letter was also received from the Postmaster General, urging the extension of the free delivery experiment to villages and farming districts. It was accompanied by a batch of 472 newspaper opinions, taken from 236 different papers, all in favor of the proposed rural free delivery extension and eight against it, all that could be found. These have been sent in from all the States and Territories except Alaska, Indian Territory, New Mexico, and North Carolina. Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, who has reported from the Senate committee an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill, appropriating $200,000 to continue the Postmaster General's free delivery experiments, said that he had every reason to believe that so far as the Senate was concerned, at least, the amendment would be adopted. The Canadian Pacific Railway has sent an agent here to ascertain whether the administration is in earnest in the matter of retaliation as to the canal tolls.

After disposing of some business of no general interest, the Senate, on the 6th, took up the resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, for payment to the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations for their interest in the Cheyenne and Arapaho Reservation (about $3,000,000) as the unfinished business, and Mr. Dawes, Chairman of the Committee on Indian Affairs, addressed the Senate in advocacy of the resolution, but without finishing his address. Then Mr. Gorman offered resolutions, which were agreed to, expressing regret at the death, in February, 1891, of the late Senator Wilson of Maryland, and suspending the business of the Senate to enable his associates to pay proper tribute of regard to his character and distinguished public services. There was a large attendance of members in the House. The first business in order was the Sibley bill, but the House refused to consider it and went into committee of the whole (Mr. Hatch of Missouri in the chair) on the river and harbor bill.

On the 7th the House, after the transaction of routine business, went into committee of the whole (Mr. Hatch, of Missouri, in the chair) on the river and harbor bill. The appropriation for the improvement of the Missouri River between the foot of the great falls in Montana and Sioux City, Iowa, was increased from $70,000 to $100,000. An amendment was adopted appropriating $10,000 for improving the Colorado River by the construction of a levee on the Gila River near its junction with the Colorado. The committee then rose and reported the bill to the House. Mr. Richardson, of Tennessee, moved to lay the bill on the table. This motion was rejected—the opponents of the bill not being able to muster sufficient force to order the yeas and nays. The amendments were agreed to in gross and the House adjourned.

In the Senate, the 9th, the House bill conferring an American registry upon the Inman steamships City of New York and City of Paris was passed by a vote of four to one, and a bill reported by the foreign relations committee conferring jurisdiction upon United States courts in cases of crime against States was committed on to passage at a lively debate, which was in progress at adjournment. In the House, after two hours spent in considering amendments to the river and harbor bill to recommit it and curtail its powers, the measure was finally passed by a vote of 186 to 65.

Why Do the United States favor Protection.

One of the objects and results of a Protective Tariff is to diversify the industries of a country, both agricultural and manufacturing.

We are all more or less dependent on each other for what we consume, and Protection enables us to produce nearly all our wants at home instead of buying them abroad.

If our farmers were to grow nothing but wheat and our manufacturers were to make nothing but steel rails, they would have no home market of any value for either; but by protecting everything that can be grown or manufactured, we make the best use of all the natural resources of our country, we lessen the cost of transportation, we bring prices down to a reasonable level, and at the same time good wages and profits are insured to all.

For instance, by putting an adequate duty on tin plate we not only establish that industry, but aid a score of allied industries way back to the mining of the ore and coal.

Protection brings the farm and factory together, each helping the other. Every new industry created, every new product successfully grown, gives employment to otherwise idle hands and more purchasing power to consumers of both.

The McKinley law has already started many new industries and each has helped those already established.

To repeal that law or any part of it would shut up the mills, decrease wages and cripple our splendid home market.

Innumerable and diversified industries give employment to all classes of labor, the skilled and the unskilled, keeps up wages, retains millions of dollars at home which would otherwise go abroad, makes the nation and its inhabitants prosperous. Can we afford to relinquish a policy that creates and maintains such results?

And then consider what a Protective Tariff does for the wage-earner.

In Great Britain the wages average about one-half of the wages in the United States. Few of the working people own their homes. They have few, if any, luxuries—in fact many of the necessities of life are considered luxuries by them.

In France the condition of the working people is not to be compared to that of the laborers of this country.

In Belgium two-thirds of the working class are women. Together with children they work in the mines, in the fields and in the mills. Homelife, as we know it, is not found there. They simply exist.

In Holland a laborer considers himself fortunate if he eats meat once a week and saving any money is out of the question.

In Italy meat is seldom eaten even by a skilled mechanic. Average wages of males $3 per week; females $1.50.

In Austria a mere pittance is all that is had by a large portion of the men and women, even after working 72 hours and more per week. Coarse clothing, poor and but little food and a miserable life is the result.

In Germany, perseverance, patience, industry and economy make the laborer's lot somewhat better than in some other foreign countries.

In India and China a few cents must suffice the laborer, who lives on rice and rats.

Free Trade in the United States means one of two things:

Either our goods will be made by the laborers whose condition is described above—

Or, our laborers must accept the same wages and mode of living.

The Singing in God's Acre.

BY EUGENE FIELD.

Out yonder in the moonlight, wherein God's Acre lies,
Go angels walking to and fro, singing their lullabies;
Their radiant wings are folded and their eyes
are bended low,
As they sing among the beds whereon the flowers delight to grow:

"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The Shepherd guardeth His sheep!
Fast speedeth the night away,
Soon cometh the glorious day;
Sleep, weary ones, while ye may—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

The flowers within God's Acre see that fair and wondrous sight,
And hear the angels singing to the sleepers
through the night;
And, lo! throughout the hours of day those gentle flowers prolong
The music of the angels in that tender slumber-song:

"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The Shepherd loveth His sheep!
He that guardeth His flock the best Hath folded them to His loving breast—
So, sleep ye now and take your rest—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

From angel and from flower the years have learned that soothing song,
And with its heavenly music speed the days
and nights along;
So, through all time, whose flight the Shepherd's vigils glorify,
God's Acre slumbereth in the grace of that sweet lullaby:

"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The Shepherd loveth His sheep!
Fast speedeth the night away,
Soon cometh the glorious day;
Sleep, weary ones, while ye may—
Sleep, oh, sleep."

MY HUSBAND'S COUSIN.

BY ANNA M. DWIGHT.

I led the gayest and happiest of lives until I was 20. Then my father died suddenly, and was found like so many men who are supposed to be rich during life, to have left almost nothing. My mother did not survive his death very long, and I was left alone in the world, so far as near relatives were concerned.

I sent at once for cousin Rachel Armstrong, the resource of all her kindred when they were in trouble, and she promptly responded to my call, as she did to all demands on her good nature. It was at this juncture that Mr. Laurence, my father's lawyer and most intimate friend, very unexpectedly asked me to marry him. At first I was too much astonished to reply; but, as I grew more accustomed to the idea, I lost its strangeness, and even appeared to me. Brought up as I had been, amidst unbounded tenderness as well as luxury, it was terrible to find myself without any one to depend on. I had no one, however, but Cousin Rachel; and she owned nearer and more imperative claims than mine—she had an invalid mother who needed her constantly. Beside this, I would be obliged to support myself—I, who knew nothing useful or practical.
Looking back now, I do not think I regret my marriage; but I do regret some of the motives which mixed with my real attachment for Mr. Laurence and urged me to the step.

I said yes after some hesitation, and we were quietly married within two months of my mother's death.
When I first told her of my decision, Cousin Rachel looked grave and said:

"Are you sure you do not care for Charlie Morris, Helen?"
Charles Morris was a scapgrace cousin of mine, who was studying medicine in Berlin. As soon as he heard of my parents' death, he did ask me to marry him; but I would as soon have thought of marrying my pet canary as Charlie—he would have been about as well fitted for the position. We had had many flirtations in the past, but that was a different thing. I answered Charlie's letter, telling him of my intentions, and he sent me in return several epistles in which he indulged in his-trionics. Some of them did not reach me until after the wedding, but I burned them at once; I did not wish to be disloyal to my husband, even in thought.

Mr. Laurence was very, very kind to me during our year of wedded life, and I was genuinely sorry when, at the expiration of that time, he died, after a brief illness, of pneumonia.
He had gratified my every wish,
and made life exceedingly pleasant to me, so it was no wonder, when I found myself again alone, that my grief was deep and sincere, and, as she had lost her mother within the year, had leisure to devote herself entirely to my comfort.

When the will was read, everybody's sympathy with me was turned to anger against Mr. Laurence. I was astonished at its contents myself, though I was less angry with my husband than my relatives and friends were. It was a strange will,
and not at all the sort I would have expected Mr. Laurence to make. He left me his property, but not unconditionally; in fact, there were two very positive and annoying provisos attached to my enjoyment of his wealth: I must agree to live at Grey-stone, the old Laurence homestead, for five years after my husband's death, or forfeit two-thirds of the estate, which would in that case go to a distant cousin of his. I must also remain a widow for the same period of time; for, in the event of remarrying within the five years, I would lose all of the money, which was in that case to revert to the same relatives.

I was indignant at the latter clause;
for I had fully meant to remain faithful to my husband's memory, and resented the imputation that I might not. I wonder whether he suspected me of a weakness for Charlie Morris. The first condition was displeasing, because it restricted my freedom of movement and condemned me to what I knew must be very like banishment. From what Mr. Laurence had told me, I was aware that Grey-stone, though a fine old place, was situated in the interior of Pennsylvania, far from any large town; and to a young woman like myself, it could not seem a very desirable residence during the best part of my youth.

They wanted me to break the will;
but this I indignantly refused, although they said I could easily do it.
I owed Mr. Laurence a good deal more than he owed me, and I was better off than I had been a year ago.
No, I would take my choice of money or independence. I did choose, after some hesitation, and so great was my horror at the thought of poverty that I chose the first, and made my preparations to go to Greystone.
Rachel offered to accompany me to my new residence and remain with me there. I was delighted at the prospect of her company, but hesitated to accept what I could not but regard as a sacrifice on her part.
She smiled when I put it in this way to her.

"All places are alike to me, my dear Helen; I can be contented anywhere," she answered, "I am 28 years old, and I have ceased to care for gayeties; it is different with you."

I had always suspected my cousin of having a story, but now I felt sure of it; no one could speak in that way of life, unless it had brought some great disappointment. I wondered how it felt to be nearly 30 and to have given up everything, but I only thanked Rachel for her offer and kissed her. I could not persist in my refusal, so she made her arrangements and we started as soon as the necessary business had been attended to. There was another consideration to which she called my attention, though I did not like her to think about it; she would be glad of a home in return for her companionship, as her income was quite small, especially for a person of benevolent disposition.

It was spring when we first went to Greystone, and the country was at its loveliest. Solitude in such a beautiful spot seemed very pleasant, and summer was upon us before we realized
it. I had two or three intimate friends to visit me, and the season passed quickly and agreeably enough.
Then autumn came with its own peculiar charm, and we enjoyed exploring the country under its new aspect.
Even the long, quiet winter did not prove unendurable, though I, at least, drew a little breath of relief when it ended. Rachel did not mind the stillness and the loneliness; in fact, I think she rather preferred them. She seemed to have found a peace which stood her instead of happiness and was not a contemptible substitute for it. I sometimes envied her.

Spring, summer and autumn again went by. My year of mourning was over, and I was able during the last two seasons to fill the house with people, so that I had little opportunity to be lonely. When winter came, however, I found it difficult to retain my guests; indeed, impossible.
Americans, as a rule, do not care to be in the country during the cold months, and my friends either could not or would not come, so we were by ourselves all through January and February.

Our life went on so quietly that any unusual incident which served to break its monotony awoke our interest to a degree disproportionate to the magnitude of the event. Perhaps that was why I speculated a great deal over an adventure which befell me in January. I was taking my daily walk alone—Rachel, who always accompanied me, being detained indoors by a bad attack of neuralgia. I had done all I could to make her comfortable, and she had dropped into a doze before I started. I have said I was alone; but I should not have used that expression, for I had a companion whose society was a great comfort to me. I forgot to mention one very agreeable adjunct of the establishment at Greystone, which I had found there on my arrival: it was a beautiful greyhound, Jupiter by name. He had been the pet dog of Mr. Laurence's cousin, who had made his home with my husband's mother until her death, five years previously. This young man, Wayne Godwin by name, had been abroad ever since, so I had never seen him.
He had sent me a letter of condolence when informed by the lawyer of my husband's death and the will making him a possible legatee. I had no particular interest in Mr. Godwin, but I had become very much attached to his dog; in which respect I was different from Rachel, who never took any notice of Jupiter.

"Aren't you fond of dogs?" I asked her.

"Yes, but I don't care for greyhounds," she answered.
On this particular morning, warmly wrapped up in furs, I walked along Jupiter bounding at my side, until we reached a wood, whose tall trees, their topmost branches swaying in the wind, looked like giant skeletons waving aloft their skinny arms.

As we passed, I noticed the animal gave a start as if alarmed. I laid my hand tenderly on his long nose, while
I looked down at him reassuringly.
Then I glanced about to see whether I could detect any reason for his fright, and I noticed a stranger coming toward us. He was a good-looking man, well dressed, and new-comers were not an every-day occurrence in our vicinity; but I should probably not have given him a second thought had it not been for Jupiter's strange conduct. The animal gazed at the approaching figure a few moments, long and earnestly, then made two or three leaps forward, and before I could recover from my astonishment, was licking his hand, barking, and,
in canine fashion, expressing unmistakable pleasure at the meeting.

I was completely puzzled; for the stranger, after returning Jupiter's affectionate greeting with interest, gave me a rapid glance, lifted his hat,
and went on his way without a word of explanation. With some difficulty I restrained the dog from following him, and, burning with indignation at the man's behavior, which seemed to me as peculiar as the four-footed creature's, I continued my walk. I cut my promenade short, however, as soon as I thought it was compatible with my dignity to do so, and hastened to see Rachel. I found her much improved, so I poured out my curious narrative without pause.
When I had finished she merely smiled and made no comment. Almost the only irritating thing about Rachel was her lack of curiosity.

"I cannot imagine who it was," I exclaimed. "Perhaps it was some one Jupiter used to know."

"Possibly," assented my cousin, who had listened with indifference to my description of the stranger; and that was all she would say.

Curiously, like all emotions of the human mind, dies from lack of food;
so, hearing nothing more of the object of Jupiter's interest, I soon ceased to think about him.

Two or three weeks after my encounter, Rachel and I took a walk together. We went in the direction of the village, as my cousin had an errand there, and, on our way, we passed the graveyard on a hill back of the church, where all Mr. Laurence's family were buried. Before we reached our destination I grew tired, for I was not feeling very well, and Rachel insisted on my turning back, declaring she did not mind walking the remainder of the distance alone. I obeyed her, though rather reluctantly, and bent my steps in the direction of home.

It was a dull gray day, early in February. The sky was overcast with clouds, and the air was full of unshed moisture, making it chill and heavy. I felt cheerless enough, and, when I found myself near the graveyard again, my feet turned toward it almost instinctively. On this particular day, the place, with its silence and gloom, and the white stones marking all that was left of many generations once young and gay, like myself, seemed in consonance with my mood. I climbed the hill, entered the churchyard, and picked my way among the graves, until I reached the spot in which all the dead and gone Laurences for more than a century had been buried.

A tall marble shaft marked my husband's last resting-place, and, as I stood by it, a sudden sense of the unsatisfactoriness of life came over me.
Was there never to be any of that fullness of joy which I had dreamed, but only the calm resignation that my Cousin Rachel assured me was the best thing in the world? With the restlessness of youth, I rebelled, and two hot tears fell on my husband's grave—tears of selfish repin-ing far more than of real grief.

Glancing up at this moment I saw a man approaching. I had been standing in the shadow of a yew tree, and he evidently had not noticed me until that moment, for he started perceptibly as our eyes met. I started, too, for the stranger was no other than the person to whom Jupiter had showed such friendly recognition.
There was a moment's pause of embarrassment, then the gentleman lifted his hat and apologized for his appearance.

"I beg your pardon, madam," he said. "I had no intention of intruding, but I did not see that any one was here until this instant."

"No apologies are necessary," I answered hastily. "I did not mean to remain here, at any rate." And before he could say anything to prevent me I bowed and walked rapidly away.

As I went I heard him uttering more apologies and disclaimers at my going away, but I paid no heed. I could not help wondering who he was, though, and had curiosity enough to look back when I reached the foot of the hill. He was standing exactly where I had left him, holding his hat in his hand, as if he had bared his head in reverence.
Was it possible—the idea had flashed into my head for the first time—could he be my husband's cousin?

I hurried home, hoping Rachel might already have reached there, but she had not, though she appeared soon afterward. In some excitement, I told her about my second meeting with Jupiter's friend, and my conjecture as to his identity. She did not seem so much interested as I thought she ought to be, but busied herself hunting for a book while she listened to me.

"Very likely you may be right,"
she said, when I expressed my opinion that it must be Wayne Godwin.

"I should like to know my husband's cousin," I remarked, "though Mr. Laurence never said much about him."

"But he may not want to make your acquaintance; he may regard you as an enemy—an interloper," "Nonsense!" I said; but I concluded to let Mr. Godwin make the first overtures.

Some days later business called me to Philadelphia, and while there I took it into my head to remain some time. I wrote to Rachel of my intention, begging her not to let the fact of my absence be generally known.
I began to fear that my husband's cousin was staying in the neighborhood to spy on my actions. Rachel promised to do the best she could, so I finished my visit and returned to Greystone with some friends.

My cousin took this opportunity to go away, knowing that I would be lonely in her absence; and, though I missed her, I was glad she was going to have a change. Hardly had she gone when I received a call. It was from Wayne Godwin. I went down to see him, and, sure enough, he was the stranger whom I had met in my walks. He rose when I entered, and held out his hand.

"May I claim relationship?" he said, cordially. "I ventured to call on that ground, though I had never met you in the regular way, and you had not expressed any desire to see me."

"Oh, yes, I had," I answered, laughing, for all my suspicions had vanished at his tone; and then I told him of my previously spoken wish.

That broke the ice at once, and we became very good friends before his call ended. He came again in a day or two, and we were soon on excellent terms. My house still remained in the village. We laughed a good deal over the peculiar terms of my husband's will, though he was kind enough to express some disapproval thereat. He indignantly disclaimed any intention of profiting by its provisions.

"But you couldn't help it," I said.
"It depends on me."

"Yes, it depends on you," he answered thoughtfully.

I told him about my absent cousin, and praised her good qualities until he declared laughingly that I was insane on the subject. He never had much to say on those occasions, but that was natural, for he did not know my relative, and therefore could not be aware of her perfections.

At last I received a letter from Rachel setting a day for her departure, and telling me the train on which she would return, so that I might drive to the station for her. I did not mention to Mr. Godwin that she was coming; I thought it would be pleasant to have them meet unexpectedly—I don't know why, except that I was young and foolish enough to like surprises. The coachman drove me over at the right time, but my cousin did not arrive. There would be another train along in a little while, though not an express, so I let the carriage wait for it, while I walked home; the day was raw and windy, and the waiting room not very comfortable, so I preferred this to remaining. On the way I met Mr.
Godwin, and we sauntered leisurely on, talking of all sorts of things except Rachel Armstrong's return; I merely explained that I had been to the village.

When we reached the house, I went up stairs to remove my wraps and change my dress, leaving my visitor to make himself comfortable in the library. I knew he was perfectly at home there, so I did not hurry over my toilet; in fact, I must have dawdled unconsciously, for, when I descended the stairs, I saw Rachel had arrived. She did not see me, however, for she was in the library, face to face with Wayne Godwin. He had his overcoat on, his hat in one hand, while with the other he grasped a chair as if for support.

As for my cousin, she looked a different creature from what I had ever seen her appear. She was pale too, deathly so, but she stood proudly erect, grasping her umbrella tightly in her gloved fingers, perhaps to steady them. Neither of the two noticed me, and, before I could remind them of my presence, if indeed I had not been too astonished to do it, Rachel had asked in a strangely haughty tone:

"May I ask what you are doing here?"

"I beg your pardon," was the almost humble answer, "I did not know you were coming back."

By this time I was in the doorway, and Mr. Godwin came toward me, saying:

"Good-by, Mrs. Laurence. I am going away."

"Going away? And without a word of explanation? I think, as a friend, I have a right to ask—"

I began.

"I will write to you and explain, if you will allow me," Mr. Godwin said.
"You may explain here and now, if you wish," interjected Rachel.

My cousin's voice sounded hard and cold, and her face was like a stone.

"Thank you," answered Mr. Godwin, gravely, and then turned to me and spoke:

"We were lovers once—seven years ago, it was; but I—well, I behaved very ill. I did—what you would call flirting, I suppose. A man can't always explain how he is tempted without throwing the blame on a woman, and no one likes to do that. So we quarreled, and I went away. There is no use in my saying now that I bi-terly repented—that I never shall do anything else but repent. There are women so good their very goodness makes them hard. She forgives everybody else, but I suppose she will never forgive me."

All this time he never looked at Rachel, but when he had ended, turned as if to go. I was watching her, however, and I saw the changes in her face behind his stoic mask. I must speak, at all costs.

"She forgives you now," I cried.
"You have spoiled each other's life long enough. Don't go on doing so any longer."

Wayne Godwin looked at Rachel then, and something in her face must have awakened hope, for he took a step toward her.

"Is there any possibility of forgiveness, Rachel? If long repentance could avail—"

But my proud, calm cousin was sobbing quietly in a chair, and I thought it was time for me to go.
When I came back the breach of years was healed, and I found my husband's cousin ready to be claimed as my own. They were married very soon—they had waited long enough, Wayne said—and we all made our home together. The happy pair would not leave me, for they declared they owed their happiness to me, so we stayed at Greystone.

Charlie Morris has come back from Germany. He is much improved and is getting a good practice. Perhaps when the five years are ended—but, in any case, there is no danger of my losing my money through "My Husband's Cousin."

Non-Charitable Lodging House for Women.

The one non-charitable lodging house for women in the city which is also inexpensive is situated at No. 6 Rivington street. A woman of wealth, who chooses to keep her name secret, has given a new, fireproof, comfortable building, which is kept in perfect order. There are clean, comfortable beds, in neat dormitories, and for the use of one of these and a small cupboard, in which to lock up her effects, a woman pays fifteen cents a night. For twice that sum a small, neat room with a window may be secured. Conveniences for washing and ironing are provided, and there is a sitting room where the women sit and sew or read. At an adjoining restaurant, under the same supervision, meals are furnished at equally reasonable prices.
Women of means who are interested in the institution often purchase supplies of tickets for meals and lodgings, which they bestow on worthy applicants.—

NOT AN UNCOMMON OCCURRENCE.

"Struckhardt doesn't seem to have any heart for anything."

"No; he has given it away to a woman."

THERE is a curious character about the Arlington Hotel in Washington. He is known as the "Indigo" man; his skin is perfectly blue. The "Indigo" man is a New England paper manufacturer, and a few years ago he fell into a vessel of fast color and ever since his skin has been blue as indigo.

WIDE WASTE OF WATER.

Thousands of Acres Laid Waste—Losses Will Run Into Millions—Fears Entertained at St. Louis—Farmers Suffer—Cyclone in Arkansas—Snow in Dakota.

Rivers Are All Raging.

HE Ole Missip is
a boom!" is the correct river expression for the condition of the father of waters at St. Louis.
The danger line has been reached and the mighty stream has already spread itself over territory not rightfully its own, doing great damage to its banks and to the movable property of citizens along the shore between Bremen on the north and River des Peres on the south. The rise came within thirty-six hours, and the water is still creeping up. Near the Merchants' bridge, in North St. Louis, scores of men in the employ of the lumber companies are at work securing lumber piles from the water. Last Saturday these piles were from twenty to thirty feet from the water. Where the river seems to have created the greatest havoc is a squatter settlement about half a mile below the Merchants' bridge, called "Oklahoma." The greater number of the squatters' homes are small flatboats or floating houses, some of them in the water, others on land supported on stilts.

The danger line is 28 feet for a number of houses along the river front. At last reports the water was 27 feet 7 inches.

Damage Beyond Estimation.

Near Brunswick, Mo., the Missouri and Grand Rivers have been rising rapidly for several days. Monday was spent in rescuing the inhabitants of the bar south of that place, which was formed about twenty years ago by the Missouri River changing its channel, and has lately become valuable farming land. Much stock was also taken off the bar. Hundreds of acres are covered by the floods and dozens of homes destroyed. Monday evening the ferryboat, loaded with people and horses, was broken from its cable by drift and floated down the stream. One woman fell into the river, but was rescued.
The drifting ferry-boat was carried down the stream for almost four miles, where it landed on a bar in the Missouri River and the people were rescued by some fishermen.

Such a Furling in Nebraska.

Never has Nebraska experienced such a long-continued down-pour of rain.
The Missouri River is nine feet above low water mark. There is no flood at Omaha, but reports from points below indicate that the river is rising rapidly and already out of its banks and flooding the Iowa and Missouri bottom lands.
Reports from all along the lines of the Omaha roads tell of rain and snow in the Black Hills and in Western Nebraska and cloudiness all the way to Salt Lake. All trains were late and there are a number of washouts reported, though none of them have caused accidents. There is a washout between Beatrice and Lincoln on the Union Pacific branch, and the Rock Island main line trains are using the Burlington tracks instead. The rain has so filled the approaches of the Missouri Pacific Plattsburgh bridge that the opening of the bridge has been delayed until June. Snow has fallen in Western Nebraska, ranging in depth from sixteen inches in the northwest to portion to two inches in the southwestern portion of the State.

Iowans May Seek the Hills.

At Ottumwa, Iowa, a heavy rain has set the Des Moines River booming again. The water has risen rapidly and continues to rise. The rain, it is feared, will swell the river to the highest point since 1856, when all the city except that part on the hills was submerged.

Dead Farm Animals Floating By.

The Maumee near Toledo, Ohio, is on the rampage, being higher than was ever known before, except at the floods caused by ice gorge in 1883 and 1881.
Parts of buildings, trees, fence rails, dead cattle, hogs, sheep and general debris came down. Reports tell of extensive devastation at Defiance, Antwerp, Napoleon, Fort Wayne, Maumee and Perrysburg. Marengo Island, off Perrysburg, where are many summer cottages, was nearly covered, and six or seven houses have been washed away.

Bad Snow in South Dakota.

At Redfield, S. D., quite a heavy snowstorm occurred Tuesday morning, but melted almost as fast as it fell.
Rain has been falling all the time since.
During the past forty days eight inches of water has fallen there, the heaviest downpour known since the settlement of the country. There has been no damage to crops.

Five Children Killed Outright.

William Wilkins and wife and five children, colored, thinking a storm was brewing, retired into a cyclone cave at their home in the southwest part of Anthony, Kan. The heavy rain so undermined the house that the roof fell on the sleeping people. Wilkins succeeded in getting out and arousing the neighbors, who assisted him in rescuing the wife alive. The five children, from 6 months to 14 years of age, were taken out dead.

cliffs the words, "Visit the World's Fair

"EVERY WORD TRUE"

SO SAYS THE WRITER OF THAT FAMOUS LETTER.

He Reiterates His Statements, Produces Additional Proof and Clearly Defines His Position.

[New York Sun.]

It would be difficult to measure the interest and comment, not to say excitement, which the published letter of Dr. R. A. Gunn, which appeared in the papers yesterday, has occasioned. The prominence of the Doctor, and the unusual nature of the letter, have both tended to add interest to the subject, and make it really the talk of the town.

I called upon Dr. Gunn at his residence, No. 124 West Forty-seventh street, yesterday afternoon. I found the reception room crowded, and it was only after an hour's waiting that I succeeded in obtaining an interview.

Dr. Gunn is a distinguished-looking man, and impressed me at once by his manly bearing and air of sincerity. I took the seat he courteously offered me, and said:

Are you aware, Doctor, of the commotion your letter has caused?

Dr. Gunn smiled and replied: "Things out of the ordinary usually cause comment. It is not a common thing for physicians to indorse and cordially recommend medicines other than those in the Materia Medica. History is full of instances of scientists who have indorsed discoveries they believe to be valuable, and have been denounced for so doing, and yet these same discoveries are blessing the world to-day. I hope I have the manhood and courage to be true to my convictions, and that is why I so openly and unhesitatingly indorse Warner's Safe Cure as being the greatest of modern discoveries for the cure of diseases which have baffled the highest skill of the medical profession."

I was impressed with the earnestness of the Doctor, and saw that he meant every word that he said.

"How long have you known of this remedy, Doctor?" I asked.

"Nearly ten years," he replied. "My attention was originally called to the Safe Cure by a serious case of Bright's disease, which was considered hopeless, and yet, much to my surprise, under its use the patient recovered. I have tried it in other cases since then constantly, and not original faith in its power has been confirmed. I have seen patients recover from inflammation of the bladder, gravel, and Bright's disease when all other treatments had failed, and I have found it especially efficient in all female troubles."

Can you specify any particular cases, Doctor?" I asked.

"That is a delicate thing to do," the Doctor replied; "but, as I always keep a written record of my cases, I can accommodate you."

Thereupon the Doctor opened his desk and produced his record book. Turning over the leaves he said:

"Here is a case of a gentleman who was a great sufferer from inflammation of the bladder of long standing. He had consulted a number of physicians without benefit. When first consulted I myself tried the usual methods of treatment, but without success, and I finally advised him to try Warner's Safe Cure. He felt better from the start, and in a few weeks was entirely cured."

The Doctor turned a few pages further, and again said:

"Here is another case. It is that of a gentleman who had frequent attacks of renal calculi, which, as you know, is gravel forming in the kidneys. He had never been able to prevent these formations, but after an unusually severe attack I recommended him to try the Safe Cure, which he did, and, although it is three years since he took the remedy, he has never had an attack since."

The Doctor continued to turn the leaves of his book, and suddenly exclaimed:

"Here is a most remarkable case. It is that of a lady who had suffered for some time from Bright's disease. She became enfeebled, and about the fourth month suddenly became blind, had convulsions, and finally fell into a state of coma, caused by uremia, or kidney poisoning. Several physicians who saw her said she could not live, and in this view I fully concurred. As she could still swallow I said, as a last resort, that they might try Warner's Safe Cure. They did so, and to the surprise of every one she recovered. She has since given birth to a living child, and is perfectly well."

"These are certainly most wonderful cases, Doctor," I said, "and while I do not for a moment question their authenticity I should consider it a great favor if you would give me their names. I think the importance of the subject would fully justify it."

"In the interest of other sufferers I think you are correct," Dr. Gunn finally observed, after a moment's thought. "Both the lady and her husband are so rejoiced, so grateful over her recovery, that I know she is only too glad to have others hear of it. The lady is Mrs. Eames, wife of the well-known costumer. She was not only restored but is in perfect health to-day."

I thanked the Doctor for his courteous reception, for the valuable information imparted, and I feel assured that his generous and humane nature will prevent him from feeling other than glad at seeing this interview published for the benefit of suffering humanity.

THE HUMAN FAMILY

And Its Greatest Need.

The human race as a whole is in great need of a good blood purifier. There are about 2,400 disorders incident to the human frame, the large majority arising from the impure or poisonous condition of the blood. Scrofula, a disease as old as antiquity, has been created by generation after generation, and manifests itself to-day in various and virtually unchanged from its ancient forms. If we are so fortunate as to escape hereditary impurities in the blood, we may contract disease from the germs in the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink.

In Hood's Sarsaparilla is found the medicine for all blood diseases. Its remarkable cures are its loudest praise. No remedy has ever had so marked success, no medicine was ever accorded so great public patronage. Scrofula in its severest forms has yielded to its potent powers; blood poisoning and salt rheum and many other diseases have been permanently cured by it. It is unquestionably the best Spring Medicine and blood purifier. Be sure to get Hood's.

ALL TRAVEL BY BOAT.

ILLINOIS TOWNS ARE UNDER WATER.

Ottawa, Peru, La Salle and Marseilles at the Mercy of the Rising Illinois River—All in Darkness—Business Suspended During the Flood.

And the Rains Descended.

Seas of water are over and in the five unfortunate Illinois cities, Ottawa, Marseilles, Peru, La Salle and Utica. The Illinois River rose steadily for twenty-four hours, commencing Friday, and the cities are in total darkness, the result of the flooding of the electric light and gas plants. Boats were used for communication, and their twinkling lights glistening over the unbroken expanse of water add to the appearance of ruin which is all around them.

Despite all efforts, the manufacturing district was totally covered by water. As the waters rose building after building would close down, and the employees leave to await the subsiding of the flood. Ottawa will be helpless for a week at least.

Marseilles, La Salle and Peru are in an even more desperate condition. At Marseilles the river, steadily rising, is more and more deranged as the levees weaken. There is little hope they will stand much longer and every one in the district threatened has removed all property to high ground. At La Salle the situation is even more desperate, the water having advanced from two to three feet all around the city and the manufacturing, the water works, street railway, and electric light plants still being under water. The same condition is present at Peru and in both cities all business is practically suspended. At Utica the waters have encroached still further upon the lower end of the village from the river and the outlets east and west are blocked by water. Ottawa, Marseilles, La Salle, and Peru are without either electric light or gas, and are in total darkness. The waters still cover Ottawa's parks and her street railway is useless.

The thousands of acres of rich tillable lands lying in the bottoms south of Warsaw, Ill., and reclaimed by a system of levees forty miles long are threatened with inundation. The rains have caused a heavy rise in the Mississippi, and the river now stands at eighteen feet and seven-tenths above low water mark, with the tendency upward. A rise of five feet within twenty-four hours was unprecedented.

At Lacon the Illinois River is higher than it has been for a quarter of a century. The long-continued rains have swept out nearly all the small bridges in the country. Travel between Lacon and Sparland is suspended except by small boats, the bridge across the Illinois being covered with water and liable to be carried away. The track of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad is badly damaged between Peoria and Bureau and all trains stopped. The bottom lands are all under water and no corn will be raised on thousands of acres.

The heaviest rains for the same length of time ever known fell at Hennepin. Three and one-half inches of water fell Sunday night, one and three-quarters inches Monday night, two and one-half inches Wednesday night, a total in the three nights of seven and three-quarters inches. The Illinois River is the highest it has been since 1849, rising at the rate of two inches an hour. Bottom lands are all submerged and great damage has been done to bridges and fences. No mail has arrived for two days.

At Rock Island there were no trains from the east on the Rock Island Road for seventy-two hours in consequence of the washouts in the vicinity of Bureau. It is the longest period of suspension of traffic in the history of the road.

Around Bushnell the roads are impassable and streams are away out of their banks. Crooked creek is a mile wide, and Spoon river is higher than it has been for years. Trains on the Toledo, Peoria and Western could not run, as a half-mile of track was washed out. Passengers were transferred each way. The river is rising rapidly and great losses of property are reported up and down it. Business is suffering.

ALEXANDRIA IS INUNDATED.

The Des Moines River Breaks the Levees and Sweeps Through the Town.

Alexandria, Mo., is under water. The levees which protected the town ordinarily from the waters of the Des Moines River succumbed on Thursday night, and as a result the town is a lake, dotted here and there by houses in which the water is standing from two to six feet deep. The disaster was anticipated. All the prior day the Des Moines was booming, the result of heavy rains along its course through Iowa. The advices from above showed that it would reach high-water mark. Those residents who had upper stories to their buildings moved their household goods there, and extended the courtesies of storage to those not similarly favored. When the water broke it found tenanted floors over which to splash.

The town was a Venice. All communication was by boat. The waters of the Des Moines leave that river above town, and flowing through Alexandria, join the Mississippi below. It will be impossible to transact any business whatever until the floods go down and the levees can be repaired. The tracks of the St. Louis, Keokuk and Northwestern and the Keokuk and Northwestern have been washed out, and traffic is at a standstill.

The Seven Tormentors of the Inequality.

What caused them for the groans of the victim as he lay stretched upon the rack? Yet people whose hearts are neither as hard as the mill stone, nor whose fortitude is as excessive, often have no pity on themselves—voluntarily incur life-long tortures by neglect. Rheumatism, the most agonizing and obstinate of complaints, is, perhaps, more frequently neglected in its incipient than in its advanced stages. The preliminary twinges being set down to the effects of "a cold in the bones" which will pass away of itself. Singular feature—fatal delusion! Rheumatism is a potent safeguard against the terrible torments of this insidious and dangerous malady—dangerous because of its proneness to attack the heart, the seat of life. Rheumatism is also effectually counteracted and relieved by the Bitters. Malaria, kidney complaints, debility, indigestion, biliousness, in grippe, loss of appetite and the inability to sleep are among the complaints amenable with this genial corrective.

Mr. Joseph Hemmerich,

An old soldier, living at No. 65 East 16th Street, New York City, a well-known and thoroughly reliable man, writes us voluntarily an account of his remarkable cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which illustrates the great value of this medicine as a thorough blood purifier and strength giver. In 1902, at the battle of Fair Oaks, he was stricken with typhoid fever, and after a long struggle in hospital, lasting several years, was discharged as incurable. Doctors said he had consumption, that both his lungs were affected, and he could not live long. But a comrade urged him to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before he had finished one bottle his cough began to get better, the shocking sensation left, and night sweats grew less and less. Since taking the fifth bottle he has been in good general health. He takes Hood's Sarsaparilla as a general blood purifier and Spring Medicine, and cordially recommends it, especially to his comrades in the G. A. R., of which he has been a member for twenty years. Remember.

from which the excess of oil has been removed, is absolutely pure and is soluble.

No Chemicals are used in its preparation. It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is therefore far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, strengthening, easily digested, and admirably adapted for invalids as well as for persons in health.

Sold by Grocers everywhere.

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING. EPPS'S COCOA

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a deliciously savoured cream which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Old Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-cupfuls. Dr. T. Felix Gouraud, of Paris, France, is the inventor of this Oriental Cream. It is a perfect skin beautifier, and is sold by all Druggists and Grocers in the U.S.A., Canada, and Europe.

Spring Trouble.

In the early days of Spring, when the temperature is liable to sudden changes—warm in the morning, wet and showery in the afternoon, cold at night—many people take cold. It settles on their kidneys and produces rheumatism, pain in the back, pleurisy, and pneumonia. REID'S GERMAN COUGH AND KIDNEY CURE will cure all of these maladies. It does it by inciting the kidneys to action, by stimulating the circulation so that the skin performs its usual function, and by aiding the digestion so that the stomach is able to throw off the morbid matter that would otherwise clog and embarrass it. There is no other remedy on the market that accomplishes this work as well as REID'S GERMAN COUGH AND KIDNEY CURE. It contains no poison, nor any deleterious substance, but can be taken without fear of danger. If your druggist will not get it for you, write to us. Small bottles 25c, large ones 50c. SYLVAN REMEDY CO., Peoria, Ill.

A POINTER.

Positively the best of all pointers. The LUBRUMFG CO., No. 331, 323 and 325 N. 5th St., Phila., Pa. are one of the largest manufacturers of Bicycle and Children's Carriages, and have a very large stock of Cycle and Bicycle parts. The carriage department presents a grand appearance, with several hundred coaches handomely upholstered and trimmed. The Glacier Refrigerators with their seven walls for insulation are the only practical Refrigerators made. We also notice a great variety of Bedding Chairs, Rollers, and other goods. Name goods desired and a catalogue fully describing each article will be sent.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

The U. S. tug Gen. Hancock visited this port Wednesday.

"Muldoon's Picnic," at Lyceum Opera House, Monday evening. See adv.

Cornelis Kamhout, a veteran of the 25th Mich. Inf'y, has been placed on the pension list.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Cloetingh of Muskegon, formerly of this city, will celebrate their silver wedding, May 27.

Married at Kalamazoo, Wednesday, by Rev. M. Kohn, Rev. M. Ossewaarde of New York city and Miss Jennie Newland.

In the list of the millionaires of Michigan, as published in the N. Y. Tribune, we fail to recognize a single name from Holland.

The head stones to mark the graves of deceased veterans, that arrived here last week, have all been placed in position at Pilgrim Home cemetery.

Until the establishment of a daily line, the str. Kalamazoo will leave Holland for Chicago on Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday evening, at 6:30 o'clock. Fare $2.00; round trip $3.00.

Our contemporary the News seems to be still in doubt as to whether the bonds for the electric light plant can be legally issued.—Times.

And what is the opinion of our esteemed contemporary?

As the str. Kalamazoo went into the dry docks at Chicago, on her Tuesday trip, for some small repairs on her stern, she broke her wheel, and had to have it replaced by a new one.

There will be a joint meeting of the members of A. C. Van Raalte Post G. A. R. and of John Kramer Camp S. O. V., Wednesday evening next, at their hall, at which time and place all are expected to be present.

Our contemporary, the Times, appears to be ill at ease over the action of the common council in retaining the News as the official organ of the city. A brief criticism in last week's issue is followed up by a lengthier lamentation this week. We shall try in our next issue to pacify our neighbor on this matter and point out to him the propriety and justice of the course pursued by the common council.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Lake Shore.

J. F. Joscelyn & Co. have moved their saw mill about 5 miles north of here, near Mr. Robert's place.

Fred Nichols and family started for Moscow, Idaho, Monday.

Wm. Johnson had a yearling colt nearly ruined one day last week, by running into a barbed wire fence.

The new married couple, Ed. Huff and wife, came to the Lake Shore on Saturday, where they will remain for the season. The young men gathered all the horns, bells, guns, etc., that they could find in the neighborhood and went over and gave them a regular old fashioned send-off.

The sale at Orlando Bottom's did not pan out very well; everything went too cheap; it was too late in the season for sales.

Masons are at work on the residence of N. W. Ogden.

Geo. Nichols is getting the material ready for a new house, which he expects to put up after harvest.

JAKE.

Allegan.

Charles Bassett, formerly editor of the Allegan Record, is now engaged as principal of the Fennville school.

The Allegan Journal and Gazette unite in urging the nomination of Dr. H. F. Thomas as republican candidate for congress from the Fourth district.

Rutgers & Tien of Graafschap will build an addition to their store, this spring.

While digging a ditch on his farm in Ganges Mr. Joseph Miller came in contact with the bones of a mastodon measuring 8 feet long.

Henry Bender of Holland, who will serve this year as chief engineer of the McVea, is here fitting out the steamer's engine.—Commercial.

A letter received by Mr. Henry of Saugatuck from Col. Ludlow, announces that all the government dredges are engaged at important points and that it will be some time before one of them can be sent to Saugatuck, but that a survey will be made of the harbor and entrance and provision made for the needed dredging at the earliest practical date.

Grand Haven.

It is the intention to bring the suit of the city against the Wiley water works company to a trial at the next term of court, and evidence in the case is being taken now before a commissioner.

The river steamer Barrett has begun her regular tri weekly service.

The North Park, a new excursion steamer from Grand Rapids, came down the river last week. She is a snug little side wheel pleasure yacht, 85 feet over all with 26 feet beam and will carry about 100 passengers, and draw only 48 inches of water. During the summer season she will run in connection with the North Park resort at Grand Rapids.

Sheriff Vaupell succeeded in arresting a youthful thief, a resident of this city, just as he was stepping aboard the steamer Wisconsin. He had burglarized the store of L. J. Quick of Alendale Centre, about two weeks ago, and abstracted goods to the value of $50.

The lumber interests of Spring Lake have dwindled to one small mill of the Outler & Savidge Lumber Company, and that will be shut down for all time about July 1.

John Castle, of Eastmanville, will take charge of the Rideout house of Spring Lake in a few days.

We have received a copy of a new song and quartet, "My Childhood's Happy Home," which is a charming musical production. The words are beautiful in sentiment and the melody is captivating. The retail price is 40 cents but to introduce it the publisher offers to mail a copy on receipt of only 10 cents. Address, P. H. Steuffer, Loudonville, Ohio.
