Shucks, College Shrugs Off Two Million Dollars
Two million dollars, plus! Hope college thought it had its building program solved and Jay De Vries, Grand Rapids freshman, was a hero for all of five minutes when he presented a bank cashier's check to college treasurer Henry Steffens this week.

The check was for $2,000,125 in payment for "De Vries" tuition costs. It should have been for $125. Failure to clear the check was believed responsible.

Of course, the Hope college building program could use $2,000,125.

Speaker Outlines Religious Cures To Reform World

"The world condition is man-made and therefore can be man-changed," said Dr. A. L. Warnshuis, secretary of church world service, who spoke at Western Theological seminary commencement exercises in Hope Memorial chapel Wednesday night.

Dr. Warnshuis said there are four things which are responsible for the present world plight. Man has forgotten God; the worth and dignity of the individual is disregarded. Isolationism must go and people should repent.

"Military methods are obsolete to fight with," he said. Elaborating on the first point, Dr. Warnshuis said men worship other gods and idols. The punishment is just as great today as in the days of the prophets.

Dr. Warnshuis said man's dignity and worth is disregarded especially in Europe where life is ordered. The problem remains whether man is created to God's image or as an economic animal. Christ died for man, he said.

"The church must get world organization to be successful," the speaker said.

The following five men received degrees at the exercises: Harold P. De Roo of Paterson, N. J.; Willem Lodewijk Ietswaart of Amsterdam, Netherlands; Paul Miller of Byron Center; George C. Poppen of Belmont, Iowa and Ralph G. Ten Clay of Westfield, N.D.

A bachelor of divinity degree was awarded Willem Lodewijk Ietswaart, who has submitted his required thesis.

Mrs. W. Curtis Snow of the Hope college music department opened the exercises with an organ prelude and the procession hymn "God of the Prophets" followed.

Farm-to-Prosper Lists Plans for Leadership Meet

Would Include Week's Series of Conferences Throughout Counties

Marne, May 13 (Special)—Tentative plans were made at a meeting in Ottawa grange hall at Herrington last night for a county-wide community leadership conference. The decision was upshot of a discussion by the inter-organization board of directors of the Ottawa County Farm-to-Prosper contest, which met to talk over the 1948 participation.

John A. Chisholm of Muskegon, executive secretary of the West Michigan Farm-to-Prosper Contest association, said he would take the idea to the other four counties participating, in hopes of developing a week's series of such conferences, one in each county. Tentatively, the conferences were set for the week of June 7.

Leo R. Arnold, Ottawa county agricultural agent, will get in touch with Michigan State college to obtain discussion leaders. The conference would be attended by officers of all community organizations. Arnold will seek to obtain use of the Coopersville school for the conference.

Jennie Kaufman, county superintendent of schools, suggested a number of things community groups could undertake relative to schools—beautification of school grounds to instill pride in pupils, community recreation facilities, hot lunch program, support of health program, community programs, welcoming of new comers, receptions for teachers.

"We can live in a community but not be a part of it," she reminded in urging PTA's and other organizations to join the Farm-to-Prosper contest.

She also suggested parent study groups, 4-H and scout support, tours of the county, use of state library books and ultimately a county library.

"Only six schools in Ottawa county borrowed from the state library books this year," she said. Mrs. H. E. Stroh, chairman of the inter-organization board of directors, suggested community organizations press their township boards to use some of the sales tax diversion money for improvements such as improvements to cemeteries and parks.

"These funds are not earmarked," she said.

A. L. Bradfield, deputy county superintendent of schools, called attention to the petitions circulating providing for putting on the fall ballot the question of extending time for paying off building debts under the 15-mill amendment from five years to 20 years. The change also would provide for simple majority approval for building bonds.

These provisions are not obligatory, he pointed out, stating they merely permit a school district to take 20 years if it wishes.

Ottawa grange, as host, served luncheon at close of the meeting.

Street Skating Set for Tonight

If the weatherman co-operates, the cops are going to have street skating tonight from 6:30 to 9 p.m. on 21st St. between Pine and Maple Aves. In case of rain the party will be postponed.

Nelson Bosman has consented to arrange floodlights to help brighten the street and tennis courts. Nick Hoffman will have his calliope to furnish music for the skaters.

Police officers have indicated they will have pop and candy bars on sale.

Officers request the smaller children and beginning skaters use the tennis courts to avoid jams in the regular skating path. The street will be marked to keep all the children moving in the same direction.

Officers Ollie Wierenga, Dennis Ende, Sgt. Jerry Vander Beek and Chief Jacob Van Hoff have indicated they will be on hand with oil and tool kits to fix skates.

Adults are welcomed to participate.

Marema Pitches, Hits Hope To Win Over Western B

Local Hurler Drives In Three Tallies; Meet Albion Friday

Young Jack Marema, Hope college flinger, did about all that one man could do in a baseball game Wednesday May 5, at River-view Park, when he pitched the locals to a thrilling 6-5 win over Western Michigan B's. All that Marema did was to pitch a superb seven hitter, score one run and drive in three runs with three singles including the tying and winning tallies.

By virtue of the win Hope avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of the Little Broncos, giving them a season record of five victories and two defeats. Coach Jack Schouten's boys meet Albion in their second MIAA game here Friday.

The Dutchmen had to fight an uphill battle to whip the Kalamazoo boys, since some early inning misplays spotted the losers five runs. Hope continued to "peck away" at the lead, tying the count in the sixth and moving ahead in the eighth.

Western scored three runs in the second inning on a single, a double, a walk and two fielding errors on the part of the locals. They added two more in the third without getting a hit, scoring the tallies on three errors, a passed ball and an infield out.

Hope netted a singleton in the fourth on a walk to Ernie Meegen, a wild pitch and a timely single by Tom Van Wingen. They tallied three more in the fifth on an error, a stolen base, two walks and two singles. Feature blow of the inning was a two run single by Chuck Zoet, Hope second baseman.

The Schouten-outfit knotted the count in the sixth when Don Boskoel was safe on a fielder's choice, advanced to second and third on a wild pitch and a passed ball, and scored on Marema's liner to left. Meanwhile the gallant Hope hurler had retired 14 Western batters in order. Don Mulder helped the cause along in the eighth when he scooped up a hard hit ball at short to start a fast double play.

Hope's game winning marker came in the eighth when Mike Skaalen, playing right field, singled. Then after Boskoel had struck out, Warren De Witt sacrificed Skaalen to second. Marema again came through with a ringing single to left, driving in the winning tally.

Both squads garnered seven hits. Hope getting the safeties off two Western hurlers. Marema struck out eight Broncos while 10 Hope batters went down swinging.

Clifford James Garlock, 27, of 271 East Ninth St., waived justice court examination at Allegan Thursday on a charge of rape, and was bound over to Circuit Court. He was arraigned at 5 p.m. Bond was set at $5,000 not immediately furnished.

Prosecutor Chester A. Ray of Allegan county told The Sentinel Friday that Garlock signed a confession admitting the crime, Thursday.

The charge involved a 14-year old Holland girl. The alleged offense took place just south of Holland city limits in Allegan county after the man had picked up the girl at the corner of 17th St. and River Ave., while she was hitch-hiking home from school Tuesday afternoon, officers said.

Holland police arrested Garlock at a local factory after the girl had supplied police his car license number.

Ray said the charge is rape, which specifies carnal knowledge of a girl under 16-years of age.

Now Is the Time To Prepare for Fly-free Summer

One Pair of Flies Can Have 5 Billion Offspring From Now Until Fall

"Every fly you kill right now means thousands less to endanger you and disturb you in August. Now is the time to plan for a fly-free summer," according to LaRue Miller, environmental engineer of the Michigan department of health.

A housefly beginning its reproductive activities, now, in early spring, may have over five billion descendants by autumn if all its offspring live and reproduce. One pair of flies, mating now, will have become the ancestors, by late summer, of more flies than 1,000 men can swat in the same period.

Flies transmit the germs of typhoid fever, poliomyelitis, dysentery, diarrhea, tuberculosis, cholera and certain other diseases.

For the most part flies are born in manure piles, cesspools, outdoor toilets and rotting garbage. They spread disease when they carry filth from these places and from other human and animal refuse and excreta to the food on your dining room table, food being prepared in your kitchen, or food stored in your cupboards. Some flies feed on excreta and refuse, others just walk through it.

The first step in controlling the danger and nuisance of flies is to eliminate their breeding places—the manure pile, rotting vegetable and animal matter, foul garbage cans and dumps, decaying human and animal excreta and refuse, cesspools and unclean chicken coops, pig pens and cow sheds.

Another step is to adequately and tightly screen all buildings where food is stored and prepared, where milk is handled, or where humans live.

The first step in control is to spray inside and outside surfaces of buildings with a 3 per cent solution of DDT and paint screens with a 5 per cent solution of DDT once every six weeks. DDT is no more dangerous than the ordinary orchard spray materials. Do not eat it. Do not get it on food.

Philadelphia—Most of the metal money made in the U. S. comes from the Philadelphia mint, although at it is also produced in the mints at San Francisco and Denver.

This could be classed as an act of aggression, or it could be that we humans are gaining a certain acceptance among woodland folk, but at any rate this black squirrel is shown making himself at home at the Chester Van Tongerens, 574 Central Ave. He entered the house through a French door while Mrs. Van Tongerens was speaking on the telephone, and helped himself to the nut bowl. The Van Tongerens tried to make him feel at home, which brought him back for several trips. (Penna-Sas photo)

THAT ZEELAND LANGUAGE

SURVEY

The linguistic survey conducted recently in Zeeland, along with 24 other Michigan communities, under the auspices of the University of Michigan, has an interest that goes far beyond the boundaries of local speech forms. In general, what was found in Zeeland would be found in Holland or in any other Michigan or Iowa or Wisconsin or Illinois community in which the Dutch stock is predominant. Any community that is to a considerable degree made up of people from a given European area, or by their second or third or fourth generation descendants, is sure to show in its use of words what the point of origin is.

This would be true, to about the same degree, for the Minnesota communities that come largely from Scandinavian stock; or for the communities in Michigan's upper peninsula that derive from Finnish nationals. People can't help themselves; they form a speech that becomes a part of what is known as the "American language," distinguishable from what is known as British English.
Infiltrations of Dutchisms modify the "English" of communities such as those of Dutch origin in Michigan and elsewhere. In other sections the speechways of other European countries are incorporated into the language. All of them together finally become American English as distinguished from British English.

H. L. Mencken is the American linguist who has done more research along this line than anybody else. It seems certain that the result of the survey in Zeeland will eventually find its way into the Mencken files and thence into some future supplement of the monumental study in linguistics known as "The American Language." In the Mencken volumes so far published there are many pages devoted to the contributions of the Dutch language to American English, both the Dutch of the Hudson Valley and those of the middle west and far west. The University of Michigan survey will doubtless furnish many more illustrations for the future volumes of the tireless Mencken.

Such a survey therefore has national significance, and it will be of permanent value. We here in America are shaping a language that is representative of the heterogeneous mixture of peoples that we are. The Dutch element is one; there are scores of others; all of them together are becoming recognizable, linguistically speaking, as "American." It is becoming a richer English than British English because of the great variety of its speech ingredients.

Malachi Demands Sincere Religion

Malachi 4:7-18

By Henry Gerlings

There is little to be gained in trying to settle the question as to whether Malachi was the name of an individual or a general title, for the word means "My Messenger." Scholars are not agreed, and why should we attempt to make a decision on the disputed point? It has been pointed out, however, that inasmuch as the other minor prophets write under their own names, we should assume that the same thing is true of the 12th and last one. There is this to be said on the other side, that inasmuch as his little book attacks some of the religious leaders and many of the practices of the people as a whole, he may have deemed it wise to withhold his name from the public.

We are by no means sure when the prophet wrote this message.
There is some evidence in favor of the period following the rebuilding of the city of Jerusalem, when the moral state of the people had sunk to a new low. Some of the popular sins were religious indifference, covetousness of the priests, the apathy of the people, inter-marriage with the heathen, common divorce proceedings, the offering of unfit sacrifices, and the all-too-frequent practice of injustice.

For a background Malachi had the long history of Israel. He compared what he observed with what was known of the former relation of these people to God. The former sins were being repeated. The present state was bringing on a sad fate. But God was urging them to return to loyalty to Him.
He was to be exalted and honored and served. No trickery of fraud was to be employed to conceal wickedness. The demand was for honest dealing with God, as well as with men.

God's messenger was promised.
He would declare and expose and judge the wicked people. He would show them the only way to be restored to God's favor. The best policy was honesty with God.
Emphasis was put on their returning to God. This meant that they would be facing toward God, seeking to have His guidance, willing to be serving Him, and accepting His law as binding on them.
In citing some outstanding wrongdoings of which they were guilty, Malachi pointed to the approved way of life before God.

Israel had ignored its obligations. The law of the tithe had been disobeyed. They were holding out for themselves what belonged to God. They were stingy with God, but trying to conceal it.
They were accused of robbing God. A more severe accusation could hardly have been hurled at them. But they were offering as excuse that they were following the example of their fathers. Why should they change, as long as they were maintaining the former customs, adhering to the earlier traditions and practices? They put loyalty to the past on a high plane even when they were out of step with God. Their account with God they were not trying to balance.

Malachi made it clear that their neglect brought on them suffering, disappointment, and faced them toward an even worse condition. But if they turned to God, showed desires to meet obligations and willingness to meet their promise which they were under vow to fulfill, assured reward would come to them. God's plan was just. It opened the way to material blessings as well as spiritual strengthening. The pests of the fields that hindered their crops would be curbed. Fruit would be plentiful. They would have high standing among the nations. But they must tolerate no stinginess toward God. They must keep their accounts strictly balanced. They must render unto God the things that are God's. No man can hold out on God and maintain his hold on God's promises. To rob God is far too dangerous for us to try. Being honest with God is our best policy. Malachi had announced that their words wearied God. They resented this, but were told that they had accused God of doing better by the wicked than the righteous, and had questioned the existence of the God of justice. Again the prophet told them their words were stout against God. This was explained as their sarcastic belittling of obeying and serving God. They said it did not pay to heed God's ways, for they gained nothing thereby. The profit motive absorbed them even when thinking of their relation to God. With this attitude there was no hope for them. God could not look favorably on such people. They blun-dered in judgment when they declared that those who proudly ignored God were the most prosperous. They went as far as to praise the wicked as being ideal.

When God accused the people of robbing Him and of grieving His love with their open rebellion, they were not able to see wherein they had done Him any wrong, so morally obtuse were they. He told them plainly that they robbed Him in that they no longer brought their tithes and offerings into His house.

Honest giving does not mean giving either large or small amounts. It means giving as we are able, and giving even hilariously. It has as much and more to do with the spirit back of the gift than with the gift itself. The church may profit as much when the heart is in it or not, but the giver himself will not be profited. We are the losers when we drive a hard bargain with God.
Being honest with the church is a splendid ideal.

Variety of Arrangements Shown to Garden Club

Mrs. Hazel Peckinpaugh Dunlop of Detroit lectured to the Holland Tulip Garden club and their guests on "Arrangements" in the Tulip room of the Warm Friend Tavern Thursday afternoon. Her appearance was through the courtesy of J. L. Hudson Co., Detroit.

She stressed arrangements of Classes 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of Section I of the Tulip Time flower show.
She said, "To make an arrangement is a privilege and enables you to bring more beauty into your home. The enthusiasm aroused through flower shows has made America more conscious of the beauty to be obtained through flower arrangements. The mechanics of arrangements, the choosing of flowers, the selection of branches, and the holder, bring us to the realization of the underlying principles that must be understood to create beauty. Practice is the rule to perfection," she said.

She also explained the difference between a shadow box and a niche. A shadow box is one contained in a frame or box where the shadow from the flowers forms a part of the composition. A niche is a box where scale and balance are considered, and the arrangement of flowers is flooded with light, she said.

Mrs. L. W. Lamb, club president, presided and introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Chester Van Tongeren, a member of the board of directors of the National Tulip society, invited club members to the tea she and Mrs. Victor Watkins have planned for May 19 to honor Mrs.
J. J. Nicholson of Atlanta, Ga., national president of the Tulip society. There are approximately 30 local members of the Tulip society. They will assist as hostesses at the tea. Mrs. L. G. Stalkamp of Holland is also a member of the board of directors.

Felix Tyroler of New York and Miss Margaret Herbst, national officers, will be present for the event.

Mrs. Van Tongeren today received notice that Friday, May 14, has been set aside by the New York Botanical Gardens in honor of the National Tulip society. The program will include a conducted tour of the famous tulip gardens where many interesting varieties of tulips are on display. Miss Herbst, who is now in the Netherlands inspecting the tulip fields, will speak at 3:30 p.m. A tea will follow.

Membership in the National Tulip

Holland hospital, and Mrs. Colton, have returned from Chicago where the former attended meetings of the Tri-State Hospital Assembly.

Holland
In 1915

C. H. Robbins of Hart, Mich., Deputy State Nursery and Orchard Inspector, is in the city to inspect the trees here and to have the local authorities take steps to protect them more effectively. He began a story in the Friday, July 2, issue of the Holland Daily Sentinel published in 1915. Mr. Robbins was formerly a resident of Holland. As a result of his visit there Holland is to have a new commission the members of which are to be known as tree inspectors. This commission will be composed of three members to be appointed by Mayor Bosch and it shall be their duty to see to it that the state laws concerning the care of trees are enforced. The protection of the trees of the city against San Jose Scale has been in the past not been done very systematically, simply because it was handled haphazardly.

The Rev. F. M. Hazen performed the ceremony that united George Fowler and Miss Mary Thompson in marriage at the residence of the bride's sister in Hud-sonville.

The "Flag Day" committee announces that all arrangements are complete for Flagday tomorrow. The Flag day committee includes: Mrs. C. V. R. Gilmore, chairman, Mrs. L. M. Thurber, secretary; Mrs. Frances E.
Browning, Mrs. W. H. Wing, Mrs.

Mrs. J. Weersing, Mrs. I. Cappon, Mrs. J. F. Dryden, Mrs. F. Klasen, Mrs. A. Frericks, Miss Nellie Churchford, assisted by the Camp Fire Girls.

Last October, Henry M. Alexander of Ottawa county, left for Missouri, taking his family in a covered wagon, commonly called a prairie schooner. A valuable hound also was taken along. The party crossed the Mississippi river at Clarksville, on a ferry and proceeded to their destination, 30 miles west of their crossing point.
About May 1 the dog was missed.
Mr. Alexander then learned from the ferryman at Clarksville that the dog was seen to swim the river at that point. Alexander gave the dog up as lost. George Walton lives on the place of the Alexanders, vacated at Hudsonville.
The other morning he was surprised to find Alexander's hound lying on the doorstep. It is estimated the dog traveled over 650 miles in returning.

In addition to the $2,872.50 that was reported as having been subscribed for the concrete highway on the Alpena road up to yesterday noon, $85 was reported by two of the committees this afternoon. This news story appears in the Saturday, July 3, issue.

One of the hardest rain and hail storms of recent years occurred in parts of Ottawa county east of Coopersville Thursday afternoon.
This immediate section of the county was not touched in the least by the storm and there was not a drop of rain.

Many people in Holland are expected to accept the invitation of George Getz to attend an entertainment at Lakewood farm this evening, and it is very likely that a large string of automobiles will make the trip. Refreshments will be served and there will be a big display of fireworks.
Mr. Getz has extended a general invitation to the people of Holland to visit Lakewood tonight.

The team of John Kole took fright at a passing train this morning on Columbia avenue and ran away. They ran a block and a half smashing the milk wagon against a telephone pole and causing considerable damage. The owner and two children in the rig were but slightly injured.

Rev. Anthony Luudens of this city, has been ordained as assistant pastor of First Reformed church at West Hoboken, N. J.

bers and a Sunday school of 240 with a home department of 30.

Mrs. Frank Bertsch and daughters Olyo and Mildred of Beech-

Haven where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nederfeld for two weeks.

be held on Thursday evening in the court room of the city hall sons as members of the board of education. The three members whose terms of office expire this year are Isaac Marselle, James A.

Brouwer, and J. C. Van Dyke.

The Rev. Fred De Weerd, a former Holland man has been offered the position of superintendent of the Wesleyan Methodist mission in South Africa and expects to return to that country in September, according to a story appearing in the Tuesday, July 6, issue, Mr. De Weerd has spent five years in the mission field in South Africa. Mrs. De Weerd and four children, three of whom were born in South Africa, will return with him to the mission field.

They call them "sport shirts."
They were named thus, no doubt, because it was the makers' idea that the wearer could have a great deal of sport whipping them who made sport of the shirt. However, it has not worked out just right.
The majority of the few who have adopted the sport shirt do not believe in fighting, the same being vulgar. They look like a night-shirt with the top button "busted" off. Also they expose a vast expanse of neck.

As favors, guests received miniature derby hats in old fashioned hatboxes and Delphians received tiny parasols. Miss Ruth De Graaf was in charge of decorations.

Miss Peggy Prins was chairman of the Flicker Flashbacks, after-dinner program, with Miss Anita Wells as mistress of cere-

Til the Sun Shines, Nellie," was given by the Duo Dandies, Norma Hungerink and Jean Rivenburgh, who pantomimed a record. Climax of the program was "The dle," a thrilling melodrama by Petitions are being circulated for Police Sgt. Jerry Vanderbeek as a candidate for county sheriff in the county primaries next September, it was learned today.

This will be Sgt. Vanderbeek's second fling at politics. He entered the sheriff's race two years ago and was defeated by the incumbent, Sheriff William M.
Bovee, by a narrow margin in the final election.

Vanderbeek is well known in the county, having been a member of the Holland police force about 13 years. He is a son of the Rev. and Mrs. John Vanderbeek of East Holland.

School Board Adopts Budget For Next Year

Amount Passes Half Million Mark; Local Taxes Under $200,000

A budget for the coming school year of $533,089.68 was adopted by the Board of Education at its monthly meeting Monday night.

The 1948-49 total represents an increase of $85,550.35 over last year's budget of $449,539.33.

Budget receipts follow, the 1948-49 figure listed first and in case of change the 1947-48 figure second: Local taxes, $187,363.68 and $155,922.33; elementary tuition, $1,000; high school tuition, local, $39,750 and $6,300; state aid, $286,176 and $205,217; state tuition, none and $63,000.

Special education, $5,000 and $6,000; library, $2,000; adult education, none and $300; Hope college supervision, practice teachers, $300; transportation, $3,000 and $2,000; visiting teacher, $1,500; vocational reimbursement, $2,000 and $1,000; miscellaneous receipts, $5,000; totals, $533,089.68 and $449,539.33.

Supt. C. C. Crawford explained the change in the high school tuition schedule. He said under the new state law, the local board charges the rural school district directly for pupils attending the local high school. This charge is 25 per cent over per capita costs, less amount already paid by the state, and the local board is allowed to charge another 25 per cent. The district may apply for reimbursement to the state up to $75 per pupil.

Budget expenditures follow, the 1948-49 figure first and last year's figure second: General control, $14,167 and $13,142; instruction, $397,277.35 and $349,899.29; operation, $56,973.80 and $46,621.34; maintenance, $35,113.32; auxiliary and co-ordinate activities, $10,519 and $9,143; fixed charges, $2,820 and $2,801; capital outlay, $16,219.21 and $7,684.29; grand totals, $533,089.68 and $449,539.33.

A recapitulation of the budget reveals that 80.33 per cent or $428,210 goes for salaries, compared with $382,028 last year. Supplies take in 3.55 per cent or $18,954.07, compared with $19,856.06 for last year. Total other expenses account for 2.37 per cent or $63,925.61, compared with $34,776.27 last year. Utilities account for 3.75 per cent, or $20,000, compared with $12,879 for last year.

The budget was presented in a detailed report of 32 pages, in which Supt. Crawford and the Ways and Means committee worked out details with teachers, principals and others connected with the schools.

In separate action, the board approved a recommendation of the Ways and Means committee that debt service budget be set at $37,082.50.

Former Holland Man Dies at Jenison

James Earl Lindsay, 61, of Georgetown township, Jenison, route 1, died at his home early on Saturday. He was formerly a resident of Holland and moved to Jenison three years ago.

He was born June 12, 1886 at Croton, Mich., the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Lindsay. He was employed as an engineer at the Grand Rapids Gravel Co. at the time of his death.

Surviving are his wife, Jennie; three sisters, Mrs. Edwin Shuck of Newagra, Mrs. Sidney De Vries of Muskegon and Mrs. Jerry Sietema of Chicago; three brothers, Lebyard, William P. and Frederick, all of Holland.

Sports Briefs

Coach Bob Stupka of the Holland High football and baseball squads turned his attention to the grid sport the other day to mention that he would favor a press-box-bench telephone system at Riverview park.

In pointing out the advantages, he said that a coach on the same level as the playing field cannot see the weaknesses on the line or other "trouble spots" as well as an observer on a higher level.

He said last year, he stationed an assistant in the pressbox to observe. "That part worked out okay, but I had to resort to a note or wait until halftime to correct the trouble," Stupka said. He pointed out if there were a telephone with instructions immediately.

He plans to do more observing from the pressbox this year, because it's almost something you can't do without, he reported. All of the bigger schools and colleges do use the system.

Incidentally Stupka recently announced that he plans to tie the marital knot sometime in June. He'll be married in Wisconsin, but may take a Southern honeymoon, he said. He and his wife will live in Holland next fall—if he can find an apartment, that is.

While on the subject of football, it might be well to point out to those that haven't visited Riverview Park lately, the field is undergoing some extensive changes. Workmen are laying new sod in the worn out areas, and by next fall the gridiron should be in excellent shape.

In other developments, Common Council this week approved a committee recommendation to install a sprinkling system for the athletic field. This should alleviate much of the wear and tear on the field during many of the hot days in early fall.

State conservation officials reported that the biggest trout caught so far this season weighed 12 pounds and three ounces, and was 32 1/4 inches long. A Grand Rapids lad made the catch at Tippy dam on the Manistee river. He used a new style spinning reel with a light artificial bait to land the trout.

The Sports Briefer found out Thursday that Joe Louis, world heavyweight champion, isn't a bad ping pong player either. He doesn't do much running around the table, but his tremendous reach, makes him a better than average ping pongist.

He cuts quite a figure, with his unshaven face now approaching a good sized beard. He isn't the only one running around with a beard. His trainer Manny Seamon and chef Bill Bottoms are also sporting a couple of "dandies."

By the time they break camp they should be able to give some of the contestants in the Greenville centennial some good competition.

Representatives of all Horizon chapters were present at the meeting in addition to Mrs. Albert Timmer, local executive director.

It was announced that tentative plans had been made to hold the regional Horizon conference in Grand Rapids next year with a possible tour of Holland.

Louis caused a big time photographer plenty of embarrassment during the Briefer's two hour visit. After the "shutter man" had carefully lined up his picture with Joe looking wistfully over a set of golf clubs, and was about to snap the picture, Joe casually remarked, "Aren't you going to put a flash bulb in your flash gun?" A flustered photographer, to the delight of onlookers, hastily grabbed a flash bulb and took his picture.

Chef Bottoms, who has been cooking for Joe Louis ever since he whipped Primo Carnera, doesn't want to be connected with Joe's defeat by Max Schmeling in their first meeting.

He said on the day of his fight Joe always wants blackeyed peas included on his menu. He calls this his "luck meal."

However Bottoms said on the day of this particular fight, he left early for New York, leaving the champ in the hands of another chef. He says Joe didn't have his blackeyed peas that day, and blames the loss of the fight to this fact. Consequently on the day of every fight since, Joe has had his "blackeyed peas" and hasn't lost a fight.

Still one more observation made at the training camp. Upon tour of Louis' room, we found a big stack of comic books piled on Joe's table. He said, Bob Greer, explained that Joe "gets a big kick" out of the funnies.

Holland MUCC Office to Write Its Own Checks

Benefits to Be Paid Directly Under New Decentralized Plan

The Holland office of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation commission Monday embarked upon the commission's new "decentralized" plan to pay benefit checks to eligible workers as claims are filed.

For the first time in 11 years of operation in Holland, checks paid claimants here will be processed and written here, instead of being issued from the state administrative office in Detroit.

Mechanical check writers and business machines to keep records of checks paid and amounts due will be installed during the week-end. These mechanical devices are designed to speed the payment of checks over the counter, eliminate batteries of typists heretofore needed to write them and keep records, and eliminate likelihood of error.

Jacob Barendse, local manager, said it is hoped that each claimant will be served in as few as 10 minutes. In case of peak loads final processing will be made at night and checks will be mailed in order to keep lines moving.

Mechanical imprinting of the check is done on a device by means of a metal plate in possession of the claimant. This plate contains the claimant's name, Social Security number and other information needed to process the claim. This plate is used to print the check in triplicate.

The claimant gets the original and the employer and the state each get one for their records.

On the face of each benefit check is a certification paragraph under which the claimant certifies that he is eligible and has complied with all the requirements necessary for receipt of the check.

Barendse pointed out that it is necessary for each recipient to endorse the check before it is cashed as the certification on the face does not constitute an endorsement.

JCC Maps Plans For Volk Parade At Tulip Time

Scrubbers Needed To Swab Eighth St. At Opening Ceremony

Dale Fris will head the Junior Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of the "Volk" parade that officially opens Tulip Time, May 19.

Plans will follow the pattern of previous years. Mayor Bernard De Pree and members of Common Council will inspect Eighth St. and declare it too dirty for opening the festival.

Scrubbing teams armed with brooms, pails and brushes will appear and literally scrub Eighth St. and a block on River Ave. until the pavements are clean.

The Mayor and Common Council will retrace their steps and inspect the streets and declare them cleaned. Following the city officials will be the town crier who will declare the city ready to receive its guests and welcome them to Tulip Time.

Service clubs, women's clubs, veteran's organizations and the tourist council have been contacted to provide scrubbing teams for this the most colorful feature of Tulip Time, according to Fris.

He said several more persons are needed to participate in street scrubbing. Organizations or persons who want to take part should contact the Chamber of Commerce office. It is required that all scrubbers be dressed in Dutch costumes and furnish their own brushes if possible.

On the committee with Fris are John Benson, Stuart Padnos, Seymour Padnos, Ernest Phillips, William Sikkil, Robert Visscher and Lester Wassenaar.

Willis Welling is chief marshal for the parade and the members of the committee will act as marshals.

Hope Netters Trounce Albion

Hope college's tennis team turned in a fine performance on the Albion college courts Saturday afternoon defeating the Britons by a 5-2 count. The locals grabbed two out of three singles matches and marched on to conquer the Britons in the only two doubles matches.

Last year's coach, Milton "Bud" Hinga, now retired from coaching, accompanied the squad on their trip in the absence of regular coach, Harold Haverkamp. Hinga said that the entire crew performed in top form to beat the Britons.

Bob Beckfort had a comparatively easy time with Bud Gregory as he dumped him, 6-2, 6-3. But Gene Barendse had to fight an uphill battle to finally down Jack Frevert of Albion 8-6, 7-5 in a never-say die battle. John Ligtvoet of Hope took Ray White of Albion easily 6-1, 6-3.

In doubles the combination of Tirrell and Barendse struggled through to a 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 victory over Jones and Castle of Albion. Etterbeek and Beckfort also won three sets to finally down Lundorf and Frevert 7-5, 4-7, 6-2.

Sentinel Reporters Find Louis 'At Home' on Visit to Campsite

What goes on at a world heavyweight champions' training camp?

Sentinel reporters found out Thursday afternoon when they visited Joe Louis, his trainer, his cook and Manager John Roxborough at their training site about 35 miles south of Holland. The camp is located on Bear Lake on a beautiful 60-acre estate, eight miles southeast of Grand Junction.

Louis, at present, is training for his championship return engagement with Jersey Joe Walcott at New York, in June.

"Everything is in good shape, and we will be more ready for the Walcott fight, Manny Seamon, Joe's trainer said. "Joe is in good condition, thanks to our excellent training site here. Seamon said he thought this camp was one of the best preliminary camps that the champ has ever trained in.

"Plenty of inclines and sharp hills are good conditioners," Seamon said. Louis runs between five and six miles every day.

This is only a training camp, Seamon said. Preliminary workouts are scheduled to end May 17 when Louis will begin intensive training at Pompton Lakes.

Louis now tips the scales at 225 pounds, but his handlers predicted that he will weigh in at about 214 for the Walcott encounter. Louis has excess weight now, but since it is evenly distributed, they are not worried about his being able to take off 10 to 12 pounds.

Included in the Louis party, besides Seamon, are Bob Greer, handyman and Louis aide; Carl Nelson, body guard; Bill Bottoms, chef; John Roxborough, manager; and many handlers and roadmen.

Bottoms, who has cooked for Louis ever since the Primo Carnera fight, outlined the champion's diet during training proceedings. He says breakfast consists of boiled ham, tea, orange juice, prunes and stewed corn.

Joe's dinner includes plenty of meat, but little or no desserts. Bottoms says when Joe begins training at Pompton Lakes, he won't get any desserts. Lunch is very light.

The chef, when asked whether he thought Louis would retire after the Walcott fight, put it this way, "If Joe scores a good knockout, I think he will continue, but if he doesn't knock Walcott out, I think he'll quit." Joe will be 34 next Thursday.

He praised Louis as "model" to handle and added, "I only have to call him once in the morning. One thing he's particular about is his weight, and he certainly watches it closely."

The champion's day is strictly routine after he rises at 6:30 a.m. He runs about six miles in the morning before having his breakfast at 10 a.m. He then rests for an hour before going on a long walk. He returns for a light lunch before "taking it easy" in the afternoon.

His afternoon's are taken up with ping pong, reading and visits. His manager said. He has dinner about 5:30 and then "lays around" for the rest of the evening. He retires at 10 p.m.

Louis was congenial and most willing to answer questions. When the Sentinel reporter asked if he expected to take Walcott in three rounds, he jokingly replied, "That's a long fight."

Official Entries For Flower Show Now Available

Entry blanks for the Tulip Time flower show in the Armory, a leading attraction of the festival May 19 to 22, are now available in Chamber of Commerce headquarters.

Members of the Holland Tulip Garden club, which annually sponsors the event, have been busy since October arranging the show which transforms the big Armory into a garden spot of rare beauty.

A 20 by 40-foot formal garden with beds of tulips bordered by tiny box hedges, shrubs and seasonal flowers will appear in the center of the armory.

The south end of the building will display a large 8 by 15-foot canvas of a tulip field which will blend with tulips in the foreground. The canvas will be banked with greens and massed tulips with two fragmentary scenes of Dutch life, one an interior scene with figures in costume before a fireplace, and the other a Dutch stoop with brick walk, tulips and Dutch garden tools.

The show this year is competing for the first time for a national ribbon award, two of which are given in each state. To qualify for such an award, the show must devote half of its effort to horticulture and half to arrangements. The show must be beautiful and educational.

Besides the hundreds of entries of flower arrangements on tables and shadow boxes, luncheon tables, specimens, corsages and the like, there will be educational features on propagation, soil erosion, posters and educational displays.

One special conservation display will be a large painting of Ottawa county done in oils on canvas by Mrs. Charles Selby of Port Sheldon, a club member. This map shows in color the uses of conservation as well as the industries and natural resources of the county. The design will be in jumbo post cards and table mats.

Special emphasis is being placed on the Junior sections which takes in flower arrangements, bird houses and feed stations, rock gardens and fairy gardens.

Each entry card will identify the variety and foliage as well as the class entry as entered on the program.

Many at College Choir Concert

An enthusiastic audience of approximately 900 persons attended the spring concert of the Hope college Chapel Choir in the Memorial chapel Tuesday night.

The capable direction of Miss Hazel Faalman, the choir presented a program of sacred numbers most of which were sung a cappella. The performance was characterized by accuracy of attack, pitch and diction and the niceties of shading.

Most popular perhaps were the final two groups, Negro spirituals, sung with feeling, were "Wade in the Water," "Cross It for Yourself," "Were You There," and "Set Down Servant," and featured Robert Kranendonk, Miss Barbara Johnson and Harlan Faylor as soloists.

Miss Constance Hartman was soloist in the descriptive number, "List to the Lark," Dickinson, which was played with organ accompaniment. "The Souls of the Righteous," "Noble," "Alleluia," Thompson and "The Creation," Richter, were other effective numbers in this group.

The program opened with the sacred selections, "Adoramus Te," Palestrina; "This is the Sign of the Cross," Crueger-Christensen; "Sing We All Now With One Accord," Praetorius; "O Praise Ye God," Tschalkowsky; "O Gladness Light," Arkhangelsky, and "Lo, a Voice to Heaven Sounding," Bortniansky.

Adding interest to the program were three selections by a clarinet quartet composed of Henry Weller, Gerald Williamson, Robert Wajohn and Myron Van Ark. Miss Kathleen Veltman, pianist, gave an artistic performance of the Brahms "Rhapsody in G Minor" and the MacDowell "Concert Etude."

Miss Frances Rose was accompanist.

Careful Planning Can Avoid Worst Depression Effects

Farmers Can Prepare For Trouble by Getting Rid of Fixed Charges

In the present era of prosperity farm people by planning can avoid some of the worst effects of any depression that may come, declares Ray Yarnell, editor of a farm magazine.

The most important thing a farmer can do to prepare for economic trouble, he writes in an editorial, is to get rid of as many fixed charges as possible.

"The farmer will be much sicker if he can pay off all his long-term debt or make as many advance payments on it as possible. Certainly he should not increase his long-term debt if that can be avoided.

"He can protect himself from the bad effects of depression," Yarnell continues, "by having costs of upkeep of buildings and equipment at low level. Such costs can be held down then if buildings and all machinery and equipment have been kept in tiptop condition in good times."

"Keeping expenditures for hired labor down also is important if the farmer is to make ends meet when income shrinks. Mechanization of field and chore labor, investments made when income is large, will enable the farmer to get along with less hired help. The more self-sufficient the farm family can become in this respect, the safer it will be when the economic going gets tough again."

Yarnell stresses the importance of using fertilizers and conserving the soil as protection against future trouble.

"A rundown soil is a serious handicap at any time, but during a depression it could cost a man his farm," he says. "The cost of many of these practices that are good for the soil can be charged against current income and will help reduce income taxes."

"A safeguard against depression disaster that can be set up in good times is a reserve fund, another name for savings. Yarnell suggests also maintaining a reasonable amount of money in the bank as operating capital and to meet emergencies.

Such safeguards as these, he points out, will help you get along with depression a lot more comfortably.

State Renews 4-H Soil Conservation Program

Announcement has been made that the 1948 National 4-H Soil Conservation program will be conducted in Michigan for the fifth consecutive year.

The activity is designed to encourage 4-H club members to develop a farm family program of soil conservation, for present and future production, which will help prevent soil wastage and deterioration on the home farm.

Typical of the achievements of the 4-H soil conservationists are those of Gerald Gray, 17, of Cooke, state winner last year. At the present time the crop rotation method on the 240-acre farm of Gerald's father is on the three-year cycle but plans contemplate early adoption of the five-year cycle. The long range conservation program calls for reforestation of a section of the land now used for pasture and the building of a permanent pasture. In a section now devoted to woodlot it is expected that some contouring will be necessary within the next five years.

There are many kinds of milking—hand and machine ... but there is only one "magnetic" milker — the De Laval Magnetic Speedway ... that assures uniform, fast and regular milking at all times. It is a wonderful feeling to know that your cows are being milked in the same uniform, correct way day after day. And the results of De Laval Magnetic Speedway fast, uniform milking are wonderful, too. Why not talk it over with us today?

Farm Plays Major Part In Upping Nation's Demand For Oil Products

Since 1941, the wide and varied use of oil has increased the demand for every major oil product. One big factor in creating this demand has been the rapid mechanization of the farm during war years. As the heating season closes, the need for gasoline, Diesel and kerosene in ever-increasing quantities for wide use on the farm is in the spotlight.

Dying Plant Has Many Symptoms

Starving plants don't just die peacefully—they put on quite a show to let their owner know what may be wrong. Soil science specialists at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment station say that certain symptoms can be noted when plants are not receiving the right food.

Normal plants have certain shapes and characteristic color. If some nutrient is lacking in the soil the shape and color of the plant may become abnormal.

Unless disease or insects are present or the plant is mature, yellowing of plants can be blamed on some nutrient deficiency. Studies by the Michigan State college soil science department show that various deficiencies may sometimes be discovered so that fertilizers can be applied to improve the crop. In some cases it is necessary to wait until the following year to supply the needed plant food.

Lack of a certain nutrient tends to affect all species of plants in a similar manner. For instance, when potash is lacking in the soil, leaves yellow at the tips and around the edges.

Nitrogen starvation is shown by a gradual fading of green color over the whole leaf. Older leaves nearest the ground show symptoms first.

Yellow leaves may also be caused by a lack of manganese in the soil, but the new upper leaves turn yellow first. In some leaves, the entire leaf turns yellow except the veins which stay green. A mottled yellow-and-green color sometimes results.

Phosphorus starvation signs change with the age of the plant. Early in growth the plant is dark green and stunted. On many plants, the leaves turn purple along the edges. Later in the growing season the foliage yellows. At this stage tissue tests are needed to avoid confusion with a lack of nitrogen.

Beans Respond to Rich, Fertile Soil

Forty-eight bushels of beans to the acre! Herbert Pettigrove, bean specialist at Michigan State college, says that's a yield worth shooting at. High yields like this are often reported by farmers who practice good cultural methods.

Beans respond to rich, fertile conditions with heavy well kept soils, an advantage for high yields. Beans follow a sod very well since there is sufficient time to get a seed bed ready.

Pettigrove recommends careful preparation to eliminate the grass completely before planting. The time of plowing under a sod for beans affects the yield of the crop greatly. In MSC experimental plots a sod plowed under May 15 gave a yield of 22 bushels per acre. A similar sod plowed May 31 and planted at the same time as the previous area gave 10 bushels per acre.

Because of the chance of lowered yields from late plowed areas, Pettigrove urges that plowing for beans be done before May 15. The reason for the difference in yield is the moisture which is used up by the growing vegetation before plowing.

Beans planted on late plowed areas germinate two to three weeks late and the moisture may be so limited that plants grow slowly. If good rains come in time on late plowing, yields will not be affected.

Since moisture is so critical for the growing bean, Pettigrove says that no one can risk plowing after May 15 if he is interested in maximum yields.

FIRE EXTINGUISHERS

The best way to extinguish a fire that originates in rubbish is to use vaporizing liquid or soda and acid agents.

Farms over 1,000 acres now account for 40 per cent of the farm land in the U. S.

County Soil Good For Cucumbers

The several types of soil in Ottawa county are especially adapted to the growing of cucumbers.

The production is high and many farmers are taking advantage of this cash crop, according to L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent.

Cucumber pickles can be grown on almost any type of soil we have here. The ideal is a rich, loam soil with abundance of organic materials or humus, good drainage and good moisture holding qualities. Stable manure plowed under and intelligent use of commercial fertilizer adds much to the returns of the crop.

Cucumber seed can be planted with a drill or planter. The seeds will be planted a uniform depth and covered properly by using drills or planters.

Fruits of pickling sizes are developed within 45 to 50 days after planting. This short growing season makes possible the culture of the crop in this county. Pickling usually comes during the slack season when most crops are still growing. The crop is delivered direct from the field so no storage is required. No machinery other than that usually found on average farms is required for the care of this crop and the care does not require any more time than the usual cultivated crops.

The cucumber crop is ideal for rotation. The vines in fall can be disced into the soil or removed from the field and the field planted to wheat. A profitable income can be secured from a field the same year wheat is planted.

In most cases it is advisable for the grower to protect himself with a contract. If he has a special market or sells from a stall he may not wish to contract. However many Ottawa growers put in several acres to cucumbers. In such cases he should assure himself that he has a dependable market. This means a contract with a reliable concern.

Michigan farmers who expect to have a flock of turkeys this year had better place orders immediately, H. C. Zindel, Michigan State college poultry specialist, warned today.

A check-up of turkey breeding flocks in Michigan shows the number about half of the 1947 number. In 1947 there were 173 flocks with 61,000 hens while this spring there were but 89 flocks with 30,000 hens.

The demand for turkey poulters in many areas exceed the supply and as a result the price is greatly increased over a year ago. May, June and July are the months the turkey growers obtain their poulters to raise for the fall market.

MSC Study to Aid Food Consumers

A new service to Michigan consumers and handlers of feeds and food products is being developed by the Michigan State college extension service. It is being organized by the agricultural economics department under the supervision of A. B. Love, MSC marketing specialist.

Called "Consumer Education In Utilization and Consumption of Agricultural Products," this new service expects to work with all classes of consumers, grocery stores, wholesale grocers, and packers and growers of Michigan farm produce on their food marketing problems.

Consumers in homes, restaurants, and industrial feeding establishments use much Michigan produced fruits, vegetables, milk, poultry, eggs, and meat. Questions arise in their minds regarding quality, price, amounts, availability and methods of use of these commodities. The new service may help supply some of the answers.

Love points out that few consumers realize the many different services necessary to get their food on the grocery shelves every day. Many marketing problems of the farmer, the first assembler, the wholesale and retail grocer, can be solved by industry cooperation with a resultant better service to consumers.

The MSC agricultural economics extension service expects to assist these food distributing agencies by working with them in their problems.

Dairymen Profit By Pasture Care

Chicago—Making pastures "feed two cows where only one grazed before" can keep your dairying operations profitable in spite of rising costs. Good management, proper grazing practices, fertilization and renovation and reseeding where necessary will do this for you, according to the Middle West Soil Improvement committee.

"Pasture is a cash crop, the same as any other crop grown on the farm," the statement points out. "It takes plant nutrients out of the soil, as do other crops.

"If you play fair with your pasture and give it good management and soil treatment, it will produce high yields at low cost and support a bigger cow population.

The committee quotes recent figures cited by Prof. Paul M. Burson of the University of Minnesota, as evidence of how steadily grazed pastures can drain off plant food elements.

"Over a 30 year period," says the statement, "an average herd of 20 cows producing 4,000 pounds of milk yearly during the pasturing period, will use up the equivalent of 53,000 pounds of ammonium sulphate, 18,000 pounds of 20 per cent superphosphate, 9,000 pounds of 50 per cent muriate of potash and 3 tons of lime.

Prof. Burson's figures represent fertility losses from milk production alone. They do not include nutrients used in building up the body of the animal which is eventually sold, nor elements lost from the soil in leaching and erosion."

Stressing the need for good pasture nutrition that replaces plant nutrients used in milk production, the committee points out that nitrogen is one of the prime essentials.

"Good stands of deep-rooted legumes such as alfalfa and sweet clover in the grass sod will supply necessary nitrogen," the statement says. "But the legumes need plenty of phosphate and potash for dense, leafy growth and a vigorous root system. Such a pasture can provide a cow with a full diet of succulent feed high in proteins, vitamins and minerals."

Warn Against Careless Use of BHC Insecticide

A warning against the careless use of the insecticide, benzene hexachloride, was given this week by county agricultural agent, A. D. Morely.

Tainted or flavored crops have been the result of the use of the product in many cases. This taint has been described as a "medicinal taste," "musty hay odor," and in various other ways. Root and tuber crops seem to be the most susceptible. Chicken meat, eggs, milk and milk products acquire this taint.

Before any treating is done, definite suggestions for the particular job should be obtained from the agent's office.

The insecticide BHC has proved effective in the cure of mange in pigs. Market animals, however, should not be sprayed within 60 days of marketing or home butchering.

Michigan Fruit Canners Inc. have warned their growers that "Due to odor imported to fruits and vegetables by benzene hexachloride they cannot use any product to which it has been applied except strawberries if applied only before full bloom, peaches and plums if applied not later than three weeks after full bloom."

sumers realize the many different services necessary to get their food on the grocery shelves every day. Many marketing problems of the farmer, the first assembler, the wholesale and retail grocer, can be solved by industry cooperation with a resultant better service to consumers.

The MSC agricultural economics extension service expects to assist these food distributing agencies by working with them in their problems.

Level Fields Needed For Beet Machines

Sugar beet planting brings up the question of cutting labor needs for beet growing. Clarence M. Hansen, Michigan State college agricultural engineer, advises that mechanical blocking and harvesting equipment requires careful field preparation for best results.

Mechanical blocking works best in fields relatively free of weeds. Mechanical harvesters function best on level fields. Tilling down head lands and back furrows and finishing up with a terracer or road grader will smooth out rough spots. Both small and large stones should be removed from the field. Any large submerged stones should be located and removed since the machine's lifter shovel will penetrate below plow depth.

Allegan Breeders Group to Organize

The third artificial breeding association for Allegan county will be organized at Martin on Tuesday evening, at the Martin High school, it was announced by F. Earl Haas, county club agent. Dairymen who are interested in improving their herds through a proven breeding program should attend this meeting and find out more about the artificial breeding work.

Allegan county now has two successful artificial breeding associations which are members of the Michigan Artificial Breeders Co-op Inc. The MABCI is a farmer-owned co-operative which owns their own bulls now numbering nearly 70 head. The membership is now over 1,200 farmers with over 100,000 cows.

Artificial breeding of dairy cows has proven successful in Allegan county as well as through Michigan. Mr. Haas believes that most of the dairy herds in the county could be improved through the artificial breeding program now in operation. With the organization of this new association, the artificial breeding work will be available to most of the dairymen of the county.

A board of directors will be elected at the meeting in Martin and the ABA should be in operation soon.

Summer Projects Planned by 4-H

Allegan county 4-H clubs are reorganizing for the summer projects. The summer season offers 4-H members many activities in addition to project work. Projects available in the county this summer include riding horse, dairy, beef, sheep, pig, poultry, rabbit, canning, food preparation, outdoor cooking, corn, potatoes, garden, flowers, forestry, pheasant raising, wild flower, bird study, junior leadership and others according to F. Earl Haas, county club agent.

Groups wishing to organize a club that want assistance should contact Mr. Haas at the courthouse. 4-H work is available for all boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20 years. Clubs must have an adult local leader who assists with the club program during the summer season.

Events on the 4-H calendar for the summer include State Club week the last week of June, county 4-H club camp the last week of July, district judging contests in July and August, district contests at East Lansing in August, state 4-H club show in East Lansing the first of September, and the Allegan County fair in September. Mr. Haas also says there will be further events such as club tours, picnics, judging tours etc.

Chemical Thins Apples, Peaches

East Lansing—Thinning of apples and peaches with chemical sprays is practical, says C. A. Laniger, extension specialist in horticulture at Michigan State college. Full bloom is the most advantageous time for thinning apples, advises the specialist. He explains that this is when the petals on the center or king blossom are loosening.

Sprays of naphthalene acetic acid should be applied at this time. Quantity recommended for such apple varieties as Northern Spy, McIntosh, Hubbardston and Jonathan is less than that for such heavy-setting varieties as Golden Delicious, Yellow Transparent, Wealthy and Duchess. For the lighter setting varieties, 10 parts per million is suggested. For the heavier setting varieties, 15 to 20 parts per million is better. In case of a cool, rainy blossom period, it would be better not to thin at all. Thinning sprays of naphthalene acetic acid give best results when applied at temperature above 60 degrees F.

Dinitro compounds are most successful for thinning peaches, the horticulturist reports. Sprays should be applied when the peach trees are at full bloom, but the grower must be sure to allow sufficient time for the first blossoms to be pollinated. This can be determined by examining the pistil under a magnifying glass to find the length of the pollen tube in its center.

A more common practice among growers is to wait 24 hours after the first warm weather during full bloom. The spray can then be applied with reasonable assurance of setting enough fruit for a full crop. Since dinitro compounds kill all unpollinated blossoms hit by the spray, proper timing is essential. A spray applied too early will kill too many blossoms, and one applied too late will have no thinning effect.

Young men between the ages of 17 and 30 may now enlist in the Navy as firemen and seamen and those interested in music may be sent to Washington, D.C. All persons interested may contact the Navy recruiter in the Holland post office each Tuesday afternoon.
