Flames Destroy Barn, Contents Valued at $7,500

William Boeve Farm
North of Holland
Is Scene of Blaze

The 70 by 87-foot barn on the farm home of former sheriff William Boeve burned to the ground at 7 p.m. Monday, destroying its contents and causing a loss estimated at $7,500.

Holland Township station No. 1 worked four hours at the scene, and had difficulty saving the house because of high winds. Both Boeve and fireman Harold Van Slooten received minor burns fighting the blaze.

The loss was partially covered by insurance, Boeve said. The farm is 2½ miles north of Holland on US-31.

Repairs and equipment for Boeve's excavating and drainage business were stored in the building. The barn had cement floor and walls and a new roof.

"The intense heat ignited oil and grease until the place was in full blaze," Boeve said. "The fireman had no chance to save the barn."

Township Fire Chief John Vande Burg said that Boeve was repairing a welding torch in the barn when the fire started.

Included in the loss were $200 worth of finished lumber, lathe, drill press, arc welder and welding rod, acetylene equipment, battery brooder and charger, spray machine and motor, 300 bales of straw, homemade tractor, three tool boxes, electric drill, power grinder, 100 baskets of corn, two tires and rims, two barrels of lubricating oil, two barrels of heavy grease, repairs for crane and bulldozer, truck parts, cement mixer, two batteries, two sets of socket wrenches, tackle box, three burning torches, four motors, truck tires, two oil burners and a complete new shower outfit.

Chief Vande Burg reported that someone on Boeve's party telephone line wouldn't give up the line when he reported the fire.

"Party lines are bad sometimes," Vande Burg said. "In case of fire, you should give up the line."

Boeve expressed his thanks to the fire department and all who helped. "Firemen did a good job," he said.

Children's Parade And Song Festival Top Today's Card

22nd Annual Fete
Opens With March
Viewed by 65,000

Cloudless skies and a full day's program awaited thousands of visitors to Holland's 22nd annual Tulip Time today.

Main event on the calendar today is the children's costume parade at 2:30, when children in stiffly starched shirts and baggy trousers of traditional Dutch costumes march through downtown streets.

The first performance of the Parade of Provinces is scheduled for 4 p.m. at the high school, with Dutch pagentry unfolding in folk music and dances.

Climax of the day will be the Festival of Song at Riverview park at 8:15. A total of 1,250 vocalists and musicians from Michigan high schools will perform.

A special attraction this morning was the appearance with brooms and pails of downtown merchants scrubbing sidewalks.

This year's festival got off to a flying start before an estimated 65,000 viewers with street scrubbing ceremonies, folks parade and klompen dancing Wednesday. Despite threats of showers, the sky remained firm and a dry afternoon was had by all—except city streets and some scrubbers.

Immediately following the parade, Gov. G. Mennen Williams presented a signed copy of the proposed new city charter to Mayor Harrington. Mrs. Williams and their three children were presented with flowers, dolls and crockery flown from the Netherlands.

The governor arrived, in Holland by plane shortly before parade time, and adjourned to the home of Ernest C. Brooks to don his Dutch costume. The rest of the Williams family drove to Holland in the morning.

Town Crier Raymond Holwerda opened 1950 Tulip Time with his clanging gong and announcement in Dutch. Gov. Williams marched in the parade in costume and with his hat at a rakish angle.

Burgemeester Harrington was accompanied on his street inspection by the 12 members of Common Council, all in formal dress.

When the burgemeester decided the streets were dirty, he initiated the annual street scrubbing ceremony at Eighth and College, with the first water used coming from the Zuider Zee.

And then the scrubbing began, with Michigan's chief executive right up in front, wielding his broom with the expertness that comes from participation in two Tulip Times. The Williams family viewed the proceedings from an honor seat in the reviewing stand.

The parade moved from Eighth and College to River Ave., then south to 12th St. The Holland high school band led the procession, followed by street scrubbers in costume and with old and new fashioned brooms.

Tulips, windmills and costumed children was the theme for the parade's nine floats. Also drawn in the parade were the old Rotary Club Dutch wagon, the Holland Furnace pony cart, drawn by eight miniature horses, an old-time Frisian barge, a Dutch boat with sail and fins, and the unique barrel organ.

The six bands, spaced among other parade entries, were from the American Legion, Holland high, Junior high and elementary schools, and Christian high and Junior high schools.

The procession ended with 275 klompen dancers spreading out along the parade route, and finally forming in groups of 12 to perform the colorful and ear-catching dance, "Loves of the Dutch," depicting the true loves of Holland—flowers, windmills, food and love itself.

Present weather is making boat owners perturbed over being unable to get to the big lake. Two filled scows are waiting east of the large swing bridge on US-31, unable to reach the dock.

Council Appoints New Inspector; Boosts Salary

A new building inspector for the city of Holland—with added duties and added pay—was appointed by Common Council in its regular session Wednesday night.

New inspector is Joseph Shashaguy, president of the IXL Machine Shop. Duties include those of building inspector, fire inspector and heating inspector.

The inspector's salary was upped to $4,500 per year, plus car expense. Present inspector George Zuverink draws $1,500 for each section of his fire-building inspection job.

The salary was approved by a 8-4 vote.

Shashaguy was elected from a field of four candidates. He received seven votes, to two for Henry Nyhoff and one each for Willard B. Elferdink and Henry Doktor. One councilman refused to ballot.

Zuverink will continue on the job through the month of May. Shashaguy's appointment has immediate effect.

The appointment was made with the recommendation of the board of examiners. Board Secretary Louis Dalman cited the need for intensified inspection due to the approaching arrival of natural gas in Holland.

"Due to the danger of faulty installation of gas equipment, we must have a full time inspector," Dalman said. "He will have to know about all types of heating."

The question of the appointment and salary was accompanied by prolonged and heated discussion among the aldermen.

Shashaguy lives at 299 West 11th St.

Musicales Attracts Large Audience To College Chapel

Interest of Holland's Tulip Time opening day crowds turned to the artistic Wednesday night when Hope Memorial chapel was filled for the first of several outstanding musical events planned for the festival.

Features of the musicale were performances of two distinctive works by the University of Michigan symphony orchestra under the direction of Wayne Dunlap and the appearance of a massed chorus and soloists with orchestral accompaniment under the baton of Robert Moore.

Highlight of the program easily was the thrilling performance of Brahms Symphony No. 1 in C minor, played in its entirety by the university group.

Continuity of the performance was broken slightly by the applause of the enthusiastic audience following each movement, but the nearly professional rendition of this outstanding work could not be marred by this unusual departure from custom.

The program opened, appropriately, with the midwestern premiere of the Adagio or second movement of the "Berkshire" symphony by a modern Dutch composer, Jurriaan Andriessen. The composer made extensive use of the woodwinds to develop a lyric style in this interesting work.

Second half of the program was devoted to a performance of the "Pensant Cantata," one of the few secular works of John Sebastian Bach. Under the direction of Mr. Moore of Holland public schools, the large chorus was accompanied by the University "Little Symphony" and organ.

Although difficult to reach delicate perfection of detail in so large and unwieldy a group, still the chorus was lyric in quality and gave a pleasing performance. In the chorus were the Christian high chorus, directed by Marvin Baas and the Holland high chorus and Community chorus, both trained by Mr. Moore. It was the first appearance of the latter group, organized this year under the adult education program in the public schools.

Outstanding performances were given by the soloists, Mrs. Norma Heyde and Philip A. Duet of Ann Arbor.

Presentation of the Bach cantata was in keeping with observance of the two hundredth anniversary of the old master's death. Although charming and interesting because this side of Bach's musical nature is seldom emphasized here, his classic style does not lend itself too well to the lighter themes.

Common Sense Best Rule for Growing Roses

Overzealousness Does More Harm Than Good; Follow Simple Rules

Many gardeners starting with roses for the first time have a tendency to make extra work for themselves in caring for their plants. Actually, rose culture is a fairly simple process and overzealousness can sometimes do more harm than good. Common sense is the best principle to apply to caring for your prized plants.

One form of "spring madness" is the intense desire to cultivate, to dig and turn over the soil as soon as warm weather comes. Cultivation is a good thing within limits, but it should be remembered that roses produce many small hairlike roots near the surface of the ground and these are easily damaged.

It is better for both plants and soil to mulch the rose bed with organic materials such as peat moss, compost, well rotted manure, buckwheat hulls, ground corn cobs, straw or whatever material is at hand. Decayed or well-shredded leaves and lawn clippings may be used and will return essential elements to the soil.

Mulches should be applied two or three weeks before the roses come into bloom. Later applications should be made as needed. Spread the mulch about two inches deep. It is a good idea to moisten peat moss when it is applied to prevent it from blowing away. Mulching will help to control weeds and to retain moisture in the soil.

Water is vitally important in the life of strong, healthy plants. Extensive tests have shown that the average hybrid tea may transpire thirty or more gallons of water during the growing season.

The important point to remember about watering is to saturate the ground to a depth of at least 10 inches, and to keep the foliage dry. Remove the nozzle from the garden hose and let water trickle in near the base of the plant.

Feeding and spraying should be continued on a regular schedule. Not less than a tablespoonful of a standard commercial fertilizer per plant applied when new growth is three to four inches long, then after the first blooming period, and a month following, will produce good results.

Southeast Tester Gives Dairy Report for April

Bob De Pree's report for April on records attained in the Southeast Ottawa Cow Testing association are satisfactory, remarks L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent. Records show an average of 866 pounds of milk per cow, 34 pounds of butterfat. The 25 dairymen fed over 58 tons of grain in obtaining such production. When grass becomes more plentiful there can be a reduction in grain feeding. Total feed cost was $6,155.90, just about 50 per cent of gross receipts.

Owners of highest cows in each class include Eugene Brower, first and second, cows under three years; Arthur Van Farrowe, first and second, cows under four years; Brower, first, and Henry A. Modderman, second, cows under five years; Elmo Hef, first, and Virgil Warren, second, cows over five years.

In high herds class, Ward Kappel, first, and Van Farrowe, second, small herd, five to 10 cows; Hef, first, and Modderman, second, medium herd, 11 to 20 cows; Brower, first, and William DeWys, second, large herd, 21 or more cows.

Allegan Women Follow Advice

Four hundred sixty-four women in Allegan county used recommended practices for controlling household pests such as flies, mosquitoes, moths and silver fish, last year as a result of 24 meetings taught by local leaders, according to Mary E. Bullis, home extension agent.

In these lessons, according to Mary E. Bullis, home extension agent.

In these lessons the leaders taught the need for caution in using DDT and chlordane which are often used for such control. Local leaders act as teachers in their home extension groups bringing up-to-date information and recommended practices on different phases of homemaking, such as food preparation, family life, clothing and home furnishing. They are trained by the specialists from Michigan State college and Miss Bullis before their local meetings.

Since there are now 55 women who are members of the Allegan home extension groups, it is possible for the home extension agent to carry on the work more effectively with this number because of the co-operation of local women.

Course in Allegan For Drivers Used In National Poll

Allegan (Special)—Allegan's drivers' training program of three years has been selected as one of six in the state for a national survey on the subject, Elmer Rewalt, instructor of the courses, said today.

The local project was chosen because it had been in operation three years and was rated "among the very excellent," according to a letter from Dr. Lee Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction. The survey will be made to determine the exact value of driver education in terms of accident prevention.

Rewalt said a total of 196 high school students have completed the course, plus 108 adults during the three years. Of this group only 10 accidents and traffic violations have been reported by city and county police.

A new concentrated course will open June 5 for both students and adults, with classes held daily for three weeks. Ordinarily, the course covers a six-week period. He is assisted by Robert Peckham and Richard Higgs, allowing the enrollment to be practically unlimited.

Maroons Use Sub Lineup to Smash Muskegon Team

Coach John Ham of the Holland Christian baseball club used practically an all substitute lineup to whip Muskegon Christian, 12-9 at Riverview park Friday after. Only one regular, Catcher Chet Warner, played the entire ball game for the Dutch. The win was Christian's third in seven starts.

Muskegon got off to a good start in the first inning when they touched Henry Holstege, Maroon hurler, for two singles and two walks—good for two runs. A wild pitch also aided the Muskie rally.

Holland came right back in their half of the first with three straight singles and three walks to take a momentary 4-2 margin. All of the safeties were of the one base variety.

A hit or error and two walks in the second inning provided the losers with three more tallies enabling them to move out in front again, 5-4.

The locals really clinched the victory in a big seven-run second frame. Pitcher Rienstra of the invaders found himself in plenty of trouble and had to be relieved by De Wal before the spurge could be stopped. Christian pounded out three solid blows, including a double by Daryle Meinema to spark the rally. A hit batsman and three walks also damaged the Muskegon cause. The Dutch sent 11 batters to the plate during the uprising.

Both pitchers hurled shutout ball until the fifth inning when the locals combined a hit, a walk and an infield out for their final tally.

Some heavy hitting on the part of the Muskegon crew in their sixth inning pulled them to within three runs of the Hollanders. Featuring the four run outburst was a triple by First baseman Rottman and a home run by Catcher De Kruyter. Two Holland errors also figured in the scoring. Holstege settled down in the final inning to strikeout the side and end the contest.

Holland collected nine hits and committed five errors, while Muskegon smashed eight safeties and were guilty of four miscues. Meinema was the hitting star getting three hits in four trips to the plate.

'Superior' Ratings Given Local Choirs at Festival

Climaxing a successful three-day singing tour with a first division or "superior" rating at the choir and glee club festival at Ann Arbor, the 93-voice Holland high school choir returned to Holland Saturday night full of experiences.

The choir, accompanied by Director Robert E. Moore, Mrs. Elmer Northuis and Mrs. Peter Van Hesteren, left Holland by chartered bus Thursday morning and sang that afternoon in Redford Union high school in Detroit. Then the choir proceeded to Plymouth where the personnel spent Thursday and Friday nights in the homes of members of the Plymouth choir.

The Plymouth choir gave a party Thursday night and the local choir sang at two assembly programs in Plymouth on Friday. On Friday afternoon the local group toured Greenfield village and returned to attend a big track meet and dance in Plymouth.

It was the first tour of its kind for the choir in several years.

At Ann Arbor, the Holland choir participated in a day-long program which attracted some 5,000 singers from Michigan. Many of the choirs that will appear at Thursday night's Tulip Time Choral and Orchestra festival at Riverview park also participated and received top ratings.

The high point of the afternoon was the massed chorus of 3,000 students in Hill auditorium singing selections with a huge orchestra and pipe organ providing accompaniment. Particularly thrilling was the final "O God Our Help in Ages Past," Croft.

For its festival selections, the Holland choir sang "To Music," and "Monotone."

Allegan Graduations Date Back 75 Years

Allegan (Special) — When 63 Allegan seniors graduate on June 1, only the ritual of receiving the ribbon-tied diplomas will be reminiscent of the first such commencement exercises here, 75 years ago.

That pioneer class of nine received their certificates only after three orations and six essays. This diamond jubilee class will hear Dr. John Scott Everton, president of Kalamazoo college. Special awards and music will make up the remainder of the program.

Then, the six girls and three boys had completed a course of analysis, algebra, universal history, natural philosophy, moral science, Latin or German. Today's class has had, along with the basic courses, such innovations as drivers' training, shorthand, journalism, dramatics, home economics, printing, and woodworking.

The occasion in old Empire hall was no less auspicious than today's modern, large-scale commencement. "Veritas Vincit," or "Truth Conquers" was the motto of the day. The students heard talks on "What Shall Our Aim Be?" "What o'clock is it?" "America Among the Centuries," and "Cause of Success and Failure in Life."

They were the first to be graduated from an arduous study course and strict discipline after the public school system was established in 1875. They attended classes in the old Pine Grove Seminary, which later burned down and was replaced by the present vocational building.

Previously, students had gone to school as long as their parents deemed necessary. But when D. P. Simmons became principal, a course of study from the primary grades through high school was set up.

Maroon Victory Levels Record

Holland Christian's baseball club pulled its season record to an even 500 today by virtue of its 2-0 win over Hudsonville at Riverview Park Monday afternoon. Christian has now won four and lost four tilts. Today they seek revenge for an earlier defeat by Grand Haven when they meet the Bucs in Grand Haven.

Monday's contest was only a five inning affair because of the length of the Hope-Adrian game which preceded the Christian tilt. In a game at Hudsonville two weeks ago, the Maroons bowed 9-5.

The game was a pitcher's battle all the way with each club making only one hit. Howie Albers toiled on the mound for the Dutch while Brandt did the hurling for the Eagles. It was an exceptionally well played game with the Dutch sparkling in the field, coming up with a crucial double play in the last inning.

Christian notched its two runs without getting a hit in the second inning. After Brandt had loaded the sacks on three walks, poor support in the outfield cost him two unearned runs. Ralph Bouwman lashed a terrific line drive to right which Rightfielder L. Teerman bobbled, allowing two runners to cross the plate. Gerry Kok then ended the flurry by grounding out to the shortstop.

Hudsonville managed to load the bases in both the third and fourth innings but Albers pitched himself out of difficulty. Then in the fifth inning the Eagles got the first runner on base thanks to a bobbie by Gene Gort. Ken De Vree, Hudsonville catcher, then smashed a hard line drive to Gort who quickly snapped a throw to Tony Diekema at first for the twin killing. Shortstop Huyser then ended the fray grounding out to second.

Ralph Bouwman got the only Maroon safety—a hard double to the fence in right center field. Third baseman Gerry De Vree smashed a single in the third inning for the Eagles only safe blow.

A virtual avalanche of first class mail arrived in Holland Monday, when the truck making two daily trips to Grand Rapids unloaded 17 pouches for the post office. Usual load for the truck is three or four pouches.

A lot of sacks had Chicago mail in it, Postmaster Harry Kramer said. It had been delayed due to the rail strike. "I guess we're not so bad off here after all," Kramer said.

Magnolia trees bursting into bloom in Holland signal the coming of another Tulip Time. Here, Joan Patterson (left) and Ruth Dogger regard the pretty full blown pinkish-white blossoms of the magnolia trees on the northwest corner of Centennial park. A third tree has larger blossoms of a dark lavender color. Park Supt. Dick Smullenburg says the trees, sometimes called tulip trees, were planted in the park close to 40 years ago. (Penna-Sas photo)

NOT AFRAID TO BE AFRAID

This is the time of year when reports of near-drowning are beginning to come in. Such incidents may be expected to increase. Up until now the water in Macatawa Bay and Lake Michigan has been too cold to attract many to venture out in boats or canoes. Soon, when the going gets pleasanter, many will naturally look for recreation on the water. If the experience of other years is a criterion, there will be a considerable increase in the work of the coast guard.

Finding recreation on the water is normal, natural and desirable.
Lake Michigan and Macatawa Bay are great local assets, and no one would wish to restrict their use.
But the application of a little common sense and normal caution will prevent many a water accident. Now is the time to bring reasonable caution into play.

In general it may be said that the people who are most experienced who know most about the local lakes, are seldom the ones who run into danger. They are likely to be afraid of the local waters when there is any cause for alarm, and they are not afraid to confess that they are afraid.
They keep out of harm's way when the local lakes kick up any sort of rumpus.

More often than not the people who are ignorant of what the local lakes are capable of doing are the ones who come to grief. They are perhaps inclined to laugh at the fears of those who understand the lake. Everything may look safe, and so they take a chance—only to become customers for the coast guard rescue party; or perhaps tragic victims of their own lack of caution.

When presently the bathing season will open again along the Lake Michigan beaches, people from away, ignorant of the moods of the lake, will doubtless, as always, feel that that interesting undertow that comes after a storm is great fun. Experienced local bathers, at least many of them, have a profound respect for that undertow. They take no chances with it. But many a life is lost along the hundreds of miles of Lake Michigan shore through sheer ignorance.

It is not too early to apply that ounce of prevention that will pay dividends in saving lives. The water is something to enjoy, but also something that must be treated with respect. It is no disgrace to be reasonably afraid of it. The most experienced will from time to time make it a point to stay away from it in canoe or rowboat or in any other craft. Let's all cooperate with the study now being made.

Mother-Daughter Event Held at North Holland

The annual mother and daughter banquet of the North Holland Reformed church was held in the church basement last Wednesday.
Each mother was given a corsage of red roses and hyacinths by her daughter.

A chicken dinner was served, followed by a program.
Margery Bauman gave the welcome and Mrs. Alberta Bosch gave the prayer. Mrs. Jack Nieboer was mistress of ceremonies.
Rochelle De Vries played two marimba solos and Mary Ann Knoolhuizen sang. A toast to the daughters was given by Mrs. Albert Brower.

Speaker for the evening was Mrs. Ray Lemmen of Holland. Her subject was "Wanted, A Home." Mrs. Carol Nash and Miss Norma Bosman were in charge of the program.

2 Local Persons Named To GOP Board of Control

Eleanor J. Duffy and James F.
White of Holland were elected to the state board of control of the Michigan Young Republican federation at a meeting of fifth district representatives Monday in Hotel Rowe, Grand Rapids.

Others elected from the fifth district were Mrs. Donald Joseph son and Gordon Reichold of Grand Rapids.

Plans were completed for fifth district participation in the State Young Republican convention May 28 and 29 at Hotel Rowe.

Sunday School Lesson

May 21, 1950

Micah's Plea for Human Rights
Micah 1:1; 2:1-2; 3:5-12

By Henry Geerlings

So far as the vast majority of the people are concerned the books of the twelve minor prophets could be dropped from the Bible and they would never be missed. The notion prevails that they cannot be understood, and for that reason they decline to study them as they do other parts of the Bible. The fact of the matter is that these small books carry messages that are both stirring and modern in character.

God expects us to be ready to be judged now. Israel was not prepared. Her people put the day of judgement afar-off. Either they supposed no such day would ever come, or, if it would come, it was so remote as to be without practical interest. One reason why our Lord, when among men, always refused to indicate when the end would be, was because He desired His people to be ready for His appearing at any time. If we are not ready to be judged, we are not ready to live.

Grace for dying is not very different from grace for living. To be ready to go hence when our little day is done, while we do not care how we live when it is half finished, stamps us as lacking seriousness of purpose. No man is prepared for anything who is not living the best he can at the present moment. The life to come can never be vested with greater meaning than the life that now is.

If the mountains and hills could testify about us, that is one thing; but the testimony of those who know us because they have come under our influence is of even more consequence.

God expects us to give reasons if we have any, for the neglect of His cause. No doubt the Israelites had many reasons when they talked with one another; but when God stood before them their lips were sealed. They had nothing to say. America's great infidel said he had many objections to the way God was running things here, and would tell Him so in the next world. We are sure he did not. The arguments men are prone to advance for not believing and not serving the Lord are so childish and answerable that we wonder what keeps them from being covered with shame when they mention them to one another. God never denies us the right to speak our mind if we are bothered about a real problem.

God expects us to recount His mercies. Our nation has been proofs of divine care, such as the providential preservation of the Pilgrim Fathers of this country, the establishment of our national independence, and the preservation of the Union. Of these we make proud mention on national holidays, but the same grateful spirit is not always present. We are hardly able to interpret the present as we should unless we can see the hand of God in the past. He will mean more to us in our present troubles if we remember how on other occasions He led us through the deep waters.

God expects us to see the unworthiness of outward offerings alone. They can never be pleasing to Him when the life of the giver is withheld. A moment's thought must reveal their uselessness. They cannot be a substitute for the life of the one who brings them to God. Micah did not discount them when used as intended, indeed, he was sure genuine religion needs its ceremonies and institutions. He was not so blind he could not see great value in offerings and feasts, sacrifices and festivals.

But what all the prophets fought against was the popular idea that these are the heart and substance of religion, that ritual-ism is the essence of it. The prophet was always insisting, against the priest, that religion is a matter of being right with God, and of being square with man. Micah's definition of true religion has never been excelled. It has been hailed by men of all centuries as the true conception.

What we do with our hands counts for nothing, but what we do with the heart counts for everything. Man looks on the outward appearance, but the Lord looks upon the heart. Conduct must follow the plain principles of true religion. When we are particular in respect to ceremonies and forget to make the inner life right, He that sitteth in the heavens must laugh.

God expects us to practice honesty and truthfulness. One of our cities recently appointed a new chief of the Bureau of Weights and Measures. It was generally believed that the rules of that bureau were being flagrantly violated, but no one seemed to want to be responsible for gathering the evidence. The new incumbent believed his appointment carried with it the duty of getting at the facts.

It is doubtful if the scant measure, the wicked balances, and the deceitful weights could have been more in evidence in Jerusalem in the days of Micah, than they are in this metropolitan city in our day. The sinister belief that one can be religious while practicing dishonesty and graft is a blot on our profession. There are thousands of people who give the impression of holding that their morality is no essential part of their religion. They are frank to admit that there are broad areas of their lives that have not yet been brought under the power of the gospel.

In 1949 a total of 1.8 billion barrels of oil came from U. S. wells, compared with 714 million barrels in 1924.

Tulip Time is a family event for the C. C. Crawford family shown here in Dutch costumes. Standing are Tulip Time Chairman Crawford and his wife, Dorothy. At left are their two sons, Dick, 15, and Dale, 11. This picture was taken in the living room of their home on State St. The elder Crawford expects to join the hundreds of food Dutch burghers in scrubbing Holland's streets this afternoon. The boys won't be wearing their costumes too often since Dale marches in the elementary band and Dick's festival interest lies mainly in the capella choir which appears tonight and Thursday.

School Superintendent Busy During Tulip Time

One of the busiest men in Holland this Tulip Time is school Supt. Carroll C. Crawford, president of Holland Tulip Time Festival, Inc.

His selection as head of the Tulip Time commission was a particularly happy one in view of the great part the schools play in the festival.

Crawford came to Holland in 1945 to head the public school system after serving as assistant superintendent of schools in charge of finance an adult education in Ann Arbor for 10 years.
Previously he taught in Ann Arbor junior high and was principal in Shappard and Ravenna high schools. He attended Central Michigan college and the University of Michigan.

"One of the finest features of our Tulip Time celebration is the fine spirit of co-operation of all the people in the town of Holland and the surrounding area," Crawford said.

"In order to make this festival a success, many people work long hours with no remuneration and very little credit. Many groups of people such as the city officials, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, the newspaper, Garden club, schools, churches, service clubs and other organizations all direct their energies toward making an interesting and worth-while program for those who wish to see our tulips."

Tulip Time was incorporated in October, 1948, as a non-profit corporation in an attempt to put the festival on a more permanent basis. It has a rotating board of six members—Crawford, W. A.
Butler, John H. Van Dyke, Arnold W. Hertel, Dick Smullenburg and Gertrude Sketete. William J.
Brouwer serves as treasurer, William H. Vande Water as secretary and Willard C. Wichers as manager.

Tourists May Visit State Park At Tulip Time

Tulip Time visitors this year likely will visit Holland State park at Ottawa beach at some time during the festival. The park, which officially opens on Memorial day, will have some accommodations available for Tulip Time.

At least one building, providing rest room facilities, will be open.
Water will be available and electrical outlets will accommodate trailers. Picnic tables and stoves already have been put up.
Under the direction of Park Manager Clare Broad, the park offers many tables and stoves.

Because of the popularity for camping, a supplementary rule for both Grand Haven and Holland this year provides a limit of 10 days to campers instead of 15 days as in former years. This is intended to provide opportunity for more persons enjoying camping facilities.

Hot nights find Holland's popular oval jammed with cars and people. The park is a favorite spot for picnics on holidays, and many motorists seek parking facilities outside when the large parking area which cares for almost 1,000 cars is full.

In popularity, Holland usually runs second only to Grand Haven in attracting the people.

Cameramen Plan Convention Here

Representatives from amateur movie clubs throughout Michigan will attend the fifth annual Michigan council of amateur movie clubs' convention in Holland Saturday.

Clubs to be represented are Grand Rapids, Bay City, Kalamazoo, Long Lake, Niles and Holland. John Folkema of Grand Rapids is president of the group.

A color tour, guided by Holland club members, will kickoff the day at 9 a.m. This will include the tulip farms, tulip lanes and parks.

The afternoon will be turned over to the band review and parade.

A meeting in Beechwood school at 5:30 to elect officers and conduct other business will precede the closing banquet finale. The Ladies Aid and Friendship Circle of Beechwood Reformed church will serve the banquet. An amateur color film of the Canadian Rockies will be featured at the banquet.

Anthony Klingenberg is in charge of the local program committee that is working out details.
Joseph Leys is president of the Holland club.

The Holland club was organized in the fall of 1948 and included 12 charter members. It was known as the Beechwood Amateur movie club. The name was later changed to Holland amateur movie club as membership swelled to 20 from throughout the Holland area.

During the last year, the local club has been shooting a film titled "Welcome Stranger" which features Holland's tourist attractions, highlighted by the Tulip festival.

MID CENTURY PROGRESS

We are using this as a theme for our Tulip Time this year.
There are a great many things that have been accomplished in the community. Hundreds and hundreds of people have given of their time and effort building Holland and the community, thereby realizing some of their ambitions in making the community a better place in which to live.

We think that one of our latest objectives in creating long term planning arrangements are very important because as we look into the future perhaps we can plan so that some of the past mistakes can be eliminated before they move from the planning stage to the starting of an actuality.

Our great problem with Tulip Time, of course, is operating expense. Therefore, we think considerable thought should be given by everyone to the planting of more tulips. Perhaps in the course of time we can expand the flower exhibits so that some of the entertainment that seems to eat into the budget each year can be eliminated and the Dutch traditions along with more tulips can be the theme.

Tulip Time has been a great thing for Holland and vicinity.
We know, of course, that there is considerable complaining by a great many people. However, if everyone will look at Tulip Time objectively we think that they will realize that it has placed Holland on the map nationally and internationally. Of course, in long range planning the results sometimes do not show on the surface immediately.

We think it is also important that at this time we express thanks to everyone for the wonderful job that is being done each year and ask that the good work be continued.

Muskegon Heights Scores Easy Win in Triangular Trackmeet

As expected Muskegon Heights' powerful Tigers ran away from Holland and Benton Harbor in a triangular trackmeet on the local track Tuesday.

The totals were: Height 69 1/3; Holland 35 2/3; and Benton Har-

And it was only on a technicality that the Dutch were able to grab the runner-up honors. Before the meet the third place finish in each of the two relays was not supposed to count anything.

However the coaches agreed to give the third place team one point—and thereby Holland notched two points, good enough for second.

The Dutch won three events.
Chuck Armstrong topped the high hurdles; Draper soared an even 10 feet for victory in the pole vault; and Bob Armstrong and in the high jump.

Jittery Holland Bows to Maroons In Error Fiasco

Karoo Coasts to Win After Scoring 8 Times During First Inning

An awe-stricken Holland high baseball team — impressed with Kalamazoo Central's supposed invincibility — became frenzied in the first inning and committed six errors, which netted the Maroon Giants eight runs.

From then on it was easy and Bob Quiring's team had a simple 10-0 victory to add to its 35-game victory collection.

The Dutch—at their sloppy worst in the field and shacked at the plate—seemed to be beaten by the fact that Kalamazoo was supposed to be good.

They were good, but they weren't 10 runs better. The eight tallies in the first were unearned. And if it hadn't been for all the misplays and a home run served up to Outfielder Bill Staiber in a two-run sixth, P.O. Eggers might have won.

Gil Green, small Central right-handed hurler ace, pitched a smart game all the way giving up but five hits to Bob Stupka's jittery club.

It was plain to see in the first inning the Dutch were a beaten team. Eggers started out by whipping leadoff man Ralph Herick. But Catcher Don Schutt dropped the third strike. Before he could retrieve the ball Herick was perched on first.

This was the beginning of the end. Dick Noble walked, Bob Topp was safe on Bob Tasma's error. Ron Jackson got a cheap infield hit when his grounder caused a mental lapse in the Dutch infield, Herick scoring.

Noble crossed the plate as Staiber bounded out. The alert Topp immediately stole home.

Eggers fanned Augie Kloosterman, but Art Harris smacked a single to center, Jackson scoring. Gordie McCallum bounded a routine grounder to Max Doolittle. But Max, over zealous to make the play, threw past first and Harris scored. Klomparsen also threw wild on the play.

Green promptly smashed a double off the rightfield fence to rescue McCallum. Herick—up for the second time—walked.

Both Green and Herick scored when the Dutch made two errors on Noble's infield grounder. Second Basemen Morris Witteveen threw wild trying to get Noble at first and the relay throw from Rex Young carried past first.

When the dust had cleared Quiring's lads had an eight-run cushion, all on three hits.

The Dutch committed eight errors.

With a little steadier support, Eggers settled down to pitch on even terms with Green until the sixth.

With one out—Ron Jackson got his second hit, a single to left. And Staiberger then unloaded his tremendous home run over the left centerfield fence.

The Dutch threatened in the sixth, when they loaded the sacks on a pair of walks, and Schutt's infield hit. But the best Eggers could do was an infielder grounder. And the threat ended.

Staiberger and Jackson each had two hits for the Maroons, as did Green. They got seven hits in all.

Merrill Human—although not himself in the field—was the only Dutch batter to cash in with two hits. Young, Schutt, and Eggers each got one.

The Dutch record in the Southwestern conference is now one victory and two defeats. Overall record is two wins and three defeats.

Fine Concert Music Delights Audience

The 36-piece Holland high orchestra, Arthur C. Hills, conductor, presented a delightful spring concert in the Holland high auditorium Thursday night.

Showing remarkable progress since the beginning of the school year, the orchestra gave a well rounded program of fine concert music ranging from a symphony to novelty selections.

Showpiece of the evening was the well executed "Symphony in F Major" by Carl von Dittersdorf in which the orchestra performed the four movements with warmth and precision.

Conductor Hills directed with ease and confidence, characteristics which were reflected in the playing of the orchestra.

The program opened with a program of five numbers by the junior high orchestra, Louise Runquist, conductor. This organization has shown considerable improvement the past year.

2,245-Acre Tract Is Newest Game Refuge in State

Todd Farm Had Long Been Bird Sanctuary; Now State Takes Over

Canada geese winging their way north over Holland might be happier if they knew that their favored feeding and resting area south of the city is being established as a goose refuge on a permanent basis.

Recent purchase of the Todd and Balch farms by the Michigan Department of Conservation assures these international travelers that they will continue to find protection on their favorite feeding grounds in this locality.

The 2,245-acre tract comprising the two farms lies 14 miles south of Holland, three miles south and two miles west of the village of Fennville in Allegan county.

Officially dedicated as the Fennville state game area, the tract embraces a major portion of an old drained swamp that has been used by geese as a resting and feeding grounds for many years.

The A. M. Todd Co. of Kalamazoo had owned 1,417 acres since 1911 known locally as the Campagna farm. Originally operated for mint production, it was later managed for general farming with grains predominating.

This cropping change proved beneficial to wildlife, and game populations increased. The adjoining lands to the northeast, formerly owned by the Balch family, are similar in character and have been equally favored by the migrant geese.

Wild geese in increasing numbers visited the area through the years and the need for a sanctuary was recognized with the dedication in May, 1933, of the "Todd land as a state wildlife sanctuary. This sanctuary, under private ownership, had been in existence ever since. Much credit is due the Todd family and the farm manager for their interest in making the sanctuary a success and for having given the state a priority for acquiring this land so that the protection can be continued under conservation department supervision.

The recently acquired land and adjoining tracts now furnish resting and feeding grounds for one of the state's largest concentrations of wild geese. It was estimated, last fall, that as many as 60,000 geese used these lands at least temporarily during their migration. Daily concentrations of as many as 16,000 geese were observed at peak periods.

Sagacity, wariness, strength, and fidelity characterize the Canada goose. Wary as they are, these birds have shown a remarkable man, the enemy, and man, the friend.

On the new, Fennville state game area geese may be seen feeding leisurely in the fields. But, come fall, they will tax the skill and patience of hunters.

The department's purpose in acquiring and managing these lands is to perpetuate this important concentration area of migrant geese and other wildlife by maintaining a refuge, possibly developing a flock of local nesting waterfowl spectacle for the public; and providing better hunting in the adjoining lands and marshes along the Kalamazoo river.

The farm land will be kept in agricultural production but cropping will be planned to provide an adequate and dependable supply of food for wildlife. In addition, permanent cover plantations of trees will be made in suitable locations.

The hunting that will be permitted on state lands adjacent to the refuge will be carefully managed under a controlled system. The Fennville area is one of several sites in Allegan county that are frequented by Canada geese. Visits are made to and from the Pottawatomie marsh, the Ottawa marsh, the department's Swan Creek wildlife experiment station marsh, and other marshes along the Kalamazoo river. This triangle of goose concentration sites provides an attractive and varied type of habitat.

Similar refuges are located at Leidy lake, St. Joseph county, and at the W. K. Kellogg bird sanctuary in Kalamazoo county.

The well-known V-shaped formations with the leader at the head characterize these migrants in flight. The familiar clarion calls and the spectacle of these birds in flight create an impression that even the casual observer never forgets.

Canada geese are among our earliest migrants and demonstrate constantly their restless impulse to continue their journey. Their uneasiness is shown by their constant gobbling and honking, as if talking over plans, much preening and oiling of feathers in preparing for further travel, and the joining into flocks.

Probably most of the geese moving through the Holland area are headed for the Hudson Bay country or possibly other points north and west.

Holland residents and visitors are encouraged to visit the Fennville state game area to witness migration activities of the grandest of all waterfowl, the Canada goose.

Ottawa Beach Park Reflects General Attendance Slump

Number of Visitors Just 2 Weeks Behind Last Year's Figures

Attendance at Michigan state parks has dropped at least 150,000 during the first part of the year in comparison with 1949, according to state department figures—and Holland state park has felt the pinch.

Attendance at the local park had reached 86,645 up to Sunday. A look at 1949 figures reveal that 81,356 visitors had been counted May 1, 1949.

Which all boils down to this: Attendance at Holland state park is just two weeks behind 1949, and that is mostly due to the weather. However, many more days like Sunday and Ottawa beach will catch up with 1949, according to park Director Clare Broad. On Sunday, 11,000 visitors jammed the park, using all available facilities, and brought the week's total to 13,800 visitors.

"We have been closing the gate at 9 p.m. since the trouble we had with vandals a while back," Broad said. "Sunday, we turned away a lot of cars after 9 p.m."

Broad plans to discontinue his early closing plan as soon as weather is nice enough. But, he says, the early curfew has kept the vandals away.

Picnics and pre-Tulip Time visitors swelled the roll over the week-end. Extra picnic tables and waste baskets were put out, and all were used. One ranger was kept on full-time patrolling duty Sunday.

Broad announced that heavy sand moving equipment is due at the park today, and that all pavements should be passable by Tulip Time. The huge mechanical shoveling device will be kept busy 15 days at Holland.

The small removal tractor with sand loading device and the dump truck have moved on to another park since the bigger remover is due here.

Michigan parks chief A. C. Elmer pointed out that the big reason for attendance slump is poor weather, which also stymied winter sports enthusiasts. The full has given officials time to do a lot of work on grounds otherwise hampered by visitors, Elmer added.

"All 60 state parks will be ready for operation on the opening day of National Parks and Recreation week, May 21," he assured the public.

"More than five million of the record 13 million attendance last year was concentrated in four parks," he pointed out. "Visitors will find best equipment available at all parks."

Lennox Expands Gas Heat Models

According to Harry Koop, local Lennox dealer, the Lennox Furnace Co. has added many new gas models to its heating line, including the now-famous Blue Magic gas burner which operates with a short blue flame. It ignites quietly and smoothly, operates quietly and goes out like a match.

Recently the Lennox gravity Talboy was designed and built. It is a central heating system for basementless homes. The Lennox floor furnace as well as the dual wall furnace have been added to the famous Lennox line of heating equipment. The Lennox gas ceiling unit also is in production and is built in sizes ranging from 65,000 up to 225,000 BTU unit.

The Stowaway, which can be installed in an attic or suspended from the ceiling, has been improved. In the conversion line there is a universal burner for heating equipment other than Lennox, as well as two other types especially constructed for Lennox coal or oil units.

Many orders for gas equipment are being received and will be installed as fast as possible. Mr. Koop advises customers to get orders in as soon as possible so as not to be caught short.

All Lennox equipment complies with the national safety regulations and is approved by the American Gas Association.

Lennox Furnace Co. has factories at Marshalltown, Iowa; Syracuse, N. Y.; Columbus, Ohio; Decatur, Ga.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Pasadena, Calif., and Ft. Worth, Tex.

Many Attend 'Tulip Twirl'

The "Tulip Twirl," a preview to Tulip Time sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary, was held Saturday evening in the Tulip room of the Warm Friend Tavern. Many couples attended the event and danced to the music of King Bosworth's orchestra.

The entrance to the room was decorated with almost lifesize silhouettes of a Dutch boy and girl. The orchestra pit was surrounded by vases of tulips and narcissi. The room was dimly lit, giving a garden effect.

A program of dance specialties was featured during the evening. Karen Kraai and Mary Alyce Van Kampen did two tap numbers, "In a Dutch Garden" and "Curbstone Cuties." In the second number they sang and did a dance routine. They appeared in Dutch-style costumes and Dutch hats for the first number and changed to colorful black and red outfits for the curbstone number.

Mary Stewart, appearing in a lovely white net gown, did a ballet number, "Coppelia." Miss Retha De Boer accompanied the dancers and also played piano solos.

Several "mixers" were played by the orchestra as "get acquainted" numbers.

Mrs. Irvin De Weerd was general chairman of the event. Mrs. Willis Welling and Mrs. El Rowder were in charge of ticket sales. Mrs. Orlo Barton was receptionist and Mrs. Vaughn Harmon was in charge of advertising.
