Weller. After the streets were scrubbed, klompen dancers took over and gave the first official performance of the 1956 dance—350 strong.

Tulip Time Sidelights

Dinner at Durfee Hall for 375 choir members during Tulip Time was a challenge for Rein Visscher, but "the service was excellent and the food delicious," according to the singers. In addition to regular dinners, Visscher arranged for 25 vegetable dinners for one of the choirs.

Buses brought six choirs to Holland to participate in the Michigan Inter-collegiate Choir Festival Wednesday night in Civic Center. They arrived at 2 p.m. and went directly to the Civic for a concentrated rehearsal individually and with the orchestra. Some of the choir members had an opportunity to see some of the sights around Holland and watched the Klompen dance in the post office block.

Comments overheard after the Choir Festival Wednesday night were varied. All agreed the top-notch musicians did an excellent job on the Overture to "Rosamunde" by Schubert. The 52-piece orchestra rehearsed with Dr. Morrette Rider of Hope College earlier in the afternoon.

Heard last night at the klompen dancing at Centennial park: "Look, mommy, they're playing ring around the rosy!"

It was a three-year-old girl watching one of those formations with part of the dancers in the middle.

One klompen dancer was without a partner Wednesday afternoon in a group on Eighth St. between Central and River.

A little girl, perhaps three years old, was prancing around imitating the big girls. She finally became the partner of the one girl, and did pretty well too.

Safety came in for some attention in Wednesday's parade. Alene Lowery Fisher in Dutch costume, driving an old car vintage probably 1929, was followed by County Safety Director Avery D. Baker in a new station wagon. The theme was something to the effect—old or new, safety's important.

Because many prize varieties of tulips are not yet in full bloom, the flower show expanded its specimen division to include a larger number of daffodils and narcissi.

One of the most interesting highlights at tonight's Volk Provincie program will be a Dutch story which Mrs. W.C. Kools will tell to some 30 children in costume. Mrs. Kools' Dutch is considerably more understandable than some other forms, and anybody who has a smattering of understanding of the language can follow pretty well the story of the dog.

Besides the children, there will be 40 to 50 adults in the program plus a group of klompen dancers, and of course the Spartan Bell Ringers and Varsity Quartet of Michigan State University.

One tiny boy looked particularly chubby and comfortable in his Dutch costume Wednesday. "He's got his snowsuit underneath," the mother said.

"Never saw so many wooden shoes in my life. Love Grandma." That was the message one energetic little lady was scribbling on a post card in Civic Center Wednesday.

Sale of two-cent stamps is brisk at the Holland post office these days. The flow of picture postcards has begun—also those tricky little wooden shoe souvenirs which are about the hardest thing to handle in the mail.

A baby colt was ushered into the world on the first day of Tulip Time Wednesday night at the Foster Bowman home, 172 East 40th St. The colt's mother is named Linda and the family is trying to decide on an appropriate name for the Tulip Time baby.

Veteran parade watchers were chagrined to find no seats at the curbs this year. In addition to being a welcome relief for weary feet, the benches along the curbs were fine for keeping the bystanders off the streets. Better luck next time?

Visitors today have an opportunity to see what a Navy jet plane looks like. A full-scale cutaway model is on display in the Civic Center parking lot. Navy men are on hand to explain the mechanics of the plane and any information about service in the Navy.

The Holland Coast Guard station will hold open house this Saturday in connection with Armed Forces Day. Walter Sears, Boatswain Mate 1c, in charge of the station, said Holland residents and other visitors are invited to come out and take a tour through the station.

Holland's police force and the staff of sheriff's officers in Holland area are augmented by 23 state troopers these days to aid in Tulip Time traffic. The troopers are under the direction of Lt. Robert Fisher, second in command at 6th district headquarters at Rockford, with Sgt. Milton Swingle of the Grand Haven post assisting. The number of state troopers will swell to 34 for the weekend.

Holland police force of 17 members are all out too for Tulip Time, assisted by 23 specials. Lt. Ernest Bear of the local department heads the local contingent. Sheriff Jerry Vanderbeek also has a lot of specials in the area this week.

This special service which the State Police gives to Holland is much appreciated each year.

Tulip Time Manager Earl Price could still use more convertibles for Saturday's parade of bands. If you have a convertible 1952 or newer, call Tulip Time headquarters at 6-5886 or 9044.

Yes, it was cold in Holland Wednesday but not cold as some other places in Michigan. On alighting from the plane at the local airport, Nancy Williams, the governor's wife, said it was 32 in Lansing—and no sunshine. She was delighted with the bright sunshine here, and said the guards in formation at the airport looked beautiful from the air.

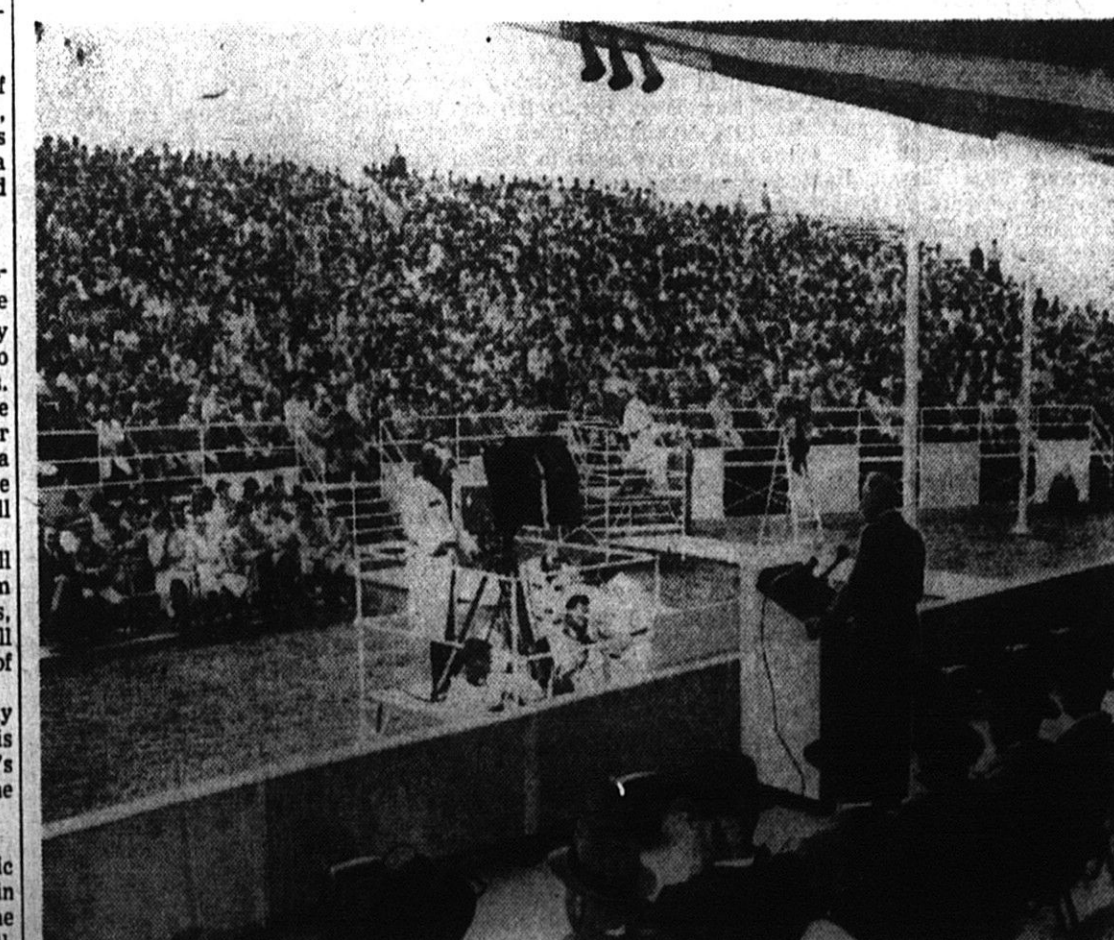

Gov. Williams was greeted at the airport by his host, Ernest C. Brooks. Larry Wade, in Dutch costume, represented the Tulip Time board of directors. He rode with the governor back into town.

Bach, Melvin W. Davis directed the Emmanuel Missionary Choir in "Hark! The Angel Trumpet Sounding (Requiem)" and "Thou That Takest Upon Thee," both by Mozart.

Hillsdale Choir with Harold F. Brown, director, sang "Oh, Bury Me Beneath the Willow," arranged by Lundquist and "Lark," Copeland, to conclude that portion of the program.

As a finale the massed choirs were assembled on the stage and with orchestral arrangement on three of the numbers thrilled the enthusiastic audience with several well-known choir numbers, directed by Dr. Cavanaugh. The concluding number in the group was Handel's "Hallelujah."

Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, Hope College president, welcomed the visitors and gave the invocation. The choir festival was sponsored jointly by Hope College and Tulip Time, Inc.

DEDICATION — General Motors Corp. president Harlow H. Curtice makes the dedication address at GM's new $100,000 technical center Wednesday. In a speech to 5,000 at the site, plus a 20,000 closed circuit television audience, Curtice spoke of the center as a "good investment in tomorrow." He also introduced President Eisenhower who spoke via the closed circuit from Washington.

Crowd Estimated At 30,000 Here On Opening Day

Volk Provincie Show Features Tonight At the Civic Center

Holland launched a second full day of Tulip Time activities today following an auspicious opening Wednesday in which hundreds of costumed burghers scrubbed downtown streets led by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

The below-normal temperatures which barely hit 50 degrees were no deterrent for the merry crowd of scrubbers, all in a gay holiday mood. Photographers had a field day snapping thousands of pictures of the happy activities as the macadamized pavement received the most thorough scrubbing since last year.

While there was plenty of merry-making, there was considerably less water throwing this year—probably because of the cool temperatures. Throughout the afternoon bright sunshine ensued, a boon to photographers with color film.

Crowd estimates for Wednesday's scrubbing ceremonies, parade and klompen dancing were listed at 30,000, twice the population of this Dutch-American community.

Today's highlight is the children's parade—3,000 youngsters in costume marching proudly to the music of their own bands. The tiny kindergartners and children in the lower grades cling to long sticks to keep their lines straight. Older children marched at spaced intervals, carrying tulips, flower baskets, Dutch plates and the like. There always is a large bicycle contingent of decorated bikes, plus a section of decorated doll carriages, the dolls inevitably dressed in Dutch costume.

For the bigger boys who might rebel at wearing costumes, there are such sections as Dutch fishermen, cheese carriers, etc. Children ordinarily do not wear wooden shoes in the parade except for those who have mastered the technique of marching comfortably in them.

To many Tulip Time visitors, the children's parade is the most appealing spectacle of all.

Today's temperature reading of 48 at 11 a.m. left much to be desired in the way of ideal parade conditions. However, it was six degrees higher than the 11 a.m. reading Wednesday and the wind was not so brisk.

Despite cool temperatures, more and more tulips were bursting into bloom, and long lines of cars traveled the eight-mile tulip lane in the city.

Tonight's main attraction is a new program called Volk Provincie at 8:15 p.m., in Civic Center. It is a dramatization cast on a Dutch water front showing the various costumes of the 12 provinces in the Netherlands. Arrangements for the costumes were made by the Woman's Literary Club. Klompen dancers will perform again at 7:45 p.m. in the post office block.

Friday's attractions list tours of Hope College campus from 1 to 4 p.m., three performances of the Dutch Fantasies, klompen dancing at 7:45 p.m. and the Parade of Barbershop Quartets in Civic Center at 8:15 p.m.

G.E. Executive To Address Joint Club Luncheon

Complete program plans for the annual Tulip Time luncheon were announced today by Inter-Service Club Council Chairman Harold Ramsey. The meeting will be held at Holland Christian High School Friday.

Featured as luncheon speaker will be Samuel Littlejohn, a General Electric Company commercial vice president. Littlejohn's present responsibility involves customer relations activities in Ohio, Kentucky, and parts of Michigan, Pennsylvania, Indiana and West Virginia. His headquarters are in Cleveland, Ohio.

The speaker is a native of South Carolina and a graduate of

Samuel Littlejohn

Clemson College. He served as an artillery officer in the U. S. Army during World War I. With the exception of military service time, he has served in various capacities with the General Electric Company for the past 39 years.

Littlejohn has been active in the work of both the Presbyterian and Baptist churches and is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, The Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, American Society of Naval Engineers, Navy League of the United States, American Iron and Steel Institute, American Legion, Military Order of the World Wars, Franklin Institute, St. Andrews Society of Philadelphia, Penn Club of Philadelphia, Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, Ohio Chamber of Commerce, Sales Executives' Club of Cleveland, Cleveland Rotary Club and other social and professional organizations in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

As a result of his long and close association with the growing electrical industry, Littlejohn is admirably suited to his chosen topic "The Electrical Tomorrow of 1956." He will extend his observations into predictions for the next decade.

Other features of the luncheon will be a welcome by Mayor Robert Visscher with group singing led by Clarence Jalving and accompanied by John Swieringa. Harold Ramsey will preside and the Rev. Marion de Velder, pastor of the Hope Reformed Church, will give the invocation. Members of the Rotary, Exchange, Optimist, Kiwanis, Lions and Junior Chamber of Commerce are invited to attend the luncheon. Tickets are available from the secretaries of the individual clubs. Clarence Klaassen is serving as general ticket chairman of the event.

Ramsey urges all men to plan their arrival at the Christian High School gym so that the meeting may begin at 12:05 p.m. Those attending are instructed to use the 20th St. entrance to the gymnasium.

Cottage Owners On Pigeon Lake Turn Down Offer

Grand Rapids — The next move was up to Consumers Power Co., today in a dispute over a proposed power plant near Pigeon Lake in Ottawa county.

Members of the Port Sheldon Protective Association, a group of cottage owners in the Pigeon Lake area, Tuesday rejected an offer by the utility firm to buy about 30 pieces of property and certain riparian rights from association members.

Members of the association voted unanimously to continue their fight to prevent Consumers from using the lake as a harbor for coal boats after the power plant is built.

Association officials emphasized they are not opposed to construction of the proposed plant, but they contend that their property will be ruined if Pigeon Lake is used as a harbor.

They have asked Consumers to build an artificial harbor north of Pigeon Lake but Consumers officials say it would be economically unfeasible to do this.

Association members rejected the utility's four-point plan to buy land and riparian rights it needs in the Pigeon Lake area. Consumers already has acquired nearly 1,500 acres of land north of Pigeon Lake for construction of the power plant. James R. Sebastian, a member of the association's executive committee, said under the Consumers plan, about 30 pieces of property would be either purchased outright or options would be made to purchase them.

Consumers offered to compensate owners of about 70 other pieces of property for "any demonstrated damages they may suffer" by construction of the breakwater and ship canal.

Sebastian said the association members would not agree to sell their property unless Consumers agrees to buy all property owned by members, a total of about 100 pieces. He said that association members felt that the amounts paid for "demonstrated damages" would be "very small," and for that reason the property owners either want to sell all of their property or none of it.

It appeared Consumer's next move would be to start condemnation proceedings to acquire the property they need.

"If we were to exercise this our right to condemn property—and frankly, we would prefer not to—the amount to be paid to each property owner would have to be determined through time-consuming court proceedings, involving substantial court costs and attorneys' fees," said James H. Campbell, Consumers vice president. "This is not desirable from anyone's point of view."

Equipment for Temporary Water Supply Okayed

City Council Wednesday night approved a Board of Public Works proposal to spend approximately $4,610 on four months' rental of equipment for a Griffin well point system to guarantee a supplementary water supply for Holland during the summer months.

The plan calls for a contract with the Ground Water Engineering Co. through the Griffin Well Point Corp. for well points to be driven at the water tower site at 28th and Washington. The company will furnish, haul, install, test and turn over a Griffin well point system of sufficient size to produce a guaranteed minimum supply of 500 gallons per minute on a five-hour day pumping basis with a possible yield in excess of 100 gallons a minute.

If the system is needed after four months, the charge thereafter will be $15 per calendar day. However, the Board of Public Works expects the new water supply system involving a pipeline to Lakemichigan to be in operation by that time.

Council also okayed a BPW contract with Elzinga and Volkens for improvements to the sewage disposal plant in a total amount of $46,140. Approval also was given a BPW change order under Omer Brandon and Son, Inc., for the modification of certain valves at a cost of $441.35.

In other business, Mayor Robert Visscher reappointed Henry S. Maentz to the Board of Public Works for a five-year term. City Clerk Clarence Greengood announced expiration of the following terms of office June 20: Mrs. Edward Donovan, library board; Clarence J. Becker, hospital board; C. W. Madison, panel of space heating examiners. Appointments to the library and hospital boards of five years each are to be made during June by the mayor with consent of Council. The four-year appointment to the space heating panel is to be made at or before the first meeting of Council in June.

A group of young library enthusiasts appeared at Council to promote their million-penny campaign for the start of a new library. Jane Bouman, appearing in Dutch costume, called attention to the need of books for everybody. Gretchen Steffens explained the children are trying to raise $16,000 for the foundation and asked "Will you build the walls?" Chuck Mannes proposed selling paper bricks for $1 both on the street and canvassing at homes. Council granted the necessary permission.

Council appropriated a sum not to exceed $500 for maintaining the floral basket in the business area, with the understanding that the baskets, fillers and hanging thereof are provided by others.

A report from the planning commission on a petition for closing part of the alley between 19th and 20th Sts., running from Van Raalte to Harrison was accompanied by a recommendation that the entire alley be vacated in view of the fact that the five properties which would be adversely affected had sufficient area to provide access from the street. A public hearing was set June 20 at 7:30 p.m.

Permission was granted to the VFW to sell buddy poppies for a 24-hour period starting at 3 p.m. Friday, May 25.

Miss Isla Stegink, 235 West 17th St., is convalescing at her home following surgery in Ann Arbor. Two Hawaiian nurses, who just recently began practice at University Hospital are guests for a few days at the Stegink home.

Miss Jane Schaafsma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schaafsma of 75 West 12th St., has been elected vice president of next year's junior class at Kalamazoo College, according to the college public relations department.

By Randy Vande Water
ANN ARBOR (Special) — Michigan's football team took over a spot usually sought after by most coaches here Saturday afternoon in the mammoth Michigan stadium.

That spot is popularly called "darkhorse" and from where we sit it appears that's the tag Coach Bennie Oosterbaan and his staff would like hung on the club.

More than 10,000 fans looked on in 83-degree temperatures Saturday as the Blue team ran over the Whites, 34-7 to climax 20 days of spring practice.

And the majority of those fans left the stadium with the feeling that "the Wolverines just don't have it this year."

Victim of an avalanche of publicity last year prior to the season about Michigan's "greatness," this term has been thrown over to MSU this year, and now Michigan can move ahead without the vanguard of fanfare.

The Blue team, featuring all-American end Ron Kramer at right halfback, was composed mostly of the first stringers.

The big trouble of the Blues seemed to be getting the backs started. Backfield handoffs were slow and lacked precision and the backs were slow in getting up to the line and often were smothered at the line of scrimmage.

The Whites, stimulated by a hope of making the squad, flashed a few times in the contest played under game conditions except for kickoffs.

Oosterbaan definitely has holes to fill. Kramer is playing right halfback, strictly because Michigan doesn't have one.

Kramer, a natural athlete, is an end just never will be a great halfback. But the 220-pound kid put on a nice exhibition, especially on his end runs.

He scored three times on runs of three and five yards and scored on a 10-yard pass play from Bob Ptacek.

His offensive highlight was a 55-yard gallop in the fourth period. Aided by the best block of the day, thrown by guard Larry Faul, Kramer outran the Whites to the White 15 where he lateraled to

An innovation to the Michigan offense was the use of the "belly" series with the fullback plunging off guard, faking a handoff or keeping. John Herrstein, freshmen fullback and counted on, received a cut on the head in one of the first plays and sat out the rest of the game.

Grand Haven's Bill McPhee played center for both teams, alternating from time to time. Barring injury, McPhee should develop into a fine linebacker.

Michigan's old press box has disappeared and the frame work for the new one, which will be one of the biggest in the country, is up. The box is located on the same place as the old one and is about 2 1/2 times as big.

Herrstein and Ptacek, both freshmen and from Ohio, were awarded the Meyer W. Morton trophy for the most valuable candidates in the Wolverines spring practice.

It was the second time in the 31 years of the award that co-winners have been named.

The Alexander's have three children and plan to move here.

The Pearl Ladies Aid society held their 53rd annual dinner at the town hall last Thursday, with a good attendance. Following dinner a program was given in charge of Mrs. E. E. Leggett. Favors at each place were made by Mrs. Mayme Bell. An impressive memorial service was given. Mrs. Frank Fleming is the only charter member living in the community.

Donald Gretzinger has been awarded a scholarship from Crescent High School near Grand Rapids. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gretzinger, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gretzinger and Ray Haan of this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Arnold were Sunday dinner guests of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Lathan of Bangor.

Mr. and Mrs. Blakeslee Crane drove to Chicago Sunday and Monday left by plane for Mexico City, Mexico. They will attend the wedding May 15 of Miss Yolanda Garcia who spent six months in the Crane home two years ago while a student in this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Hicks of Washington, Ind. spent the weekend visiting the families of his brother and sister Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Crane.

Deborah Lynn is the name of the six-pound, five-ounce girl born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Severens at Allegan Health Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Davison returned Wednesday from a three-day conference of super-market managers held at Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Kale Reid of Saginaw and Dr. and Mrs. Manley Ellis of Kalamazoo were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hutchins.

Mrs. Julia Barth went to Chicago Sunday to spend a week with her children. Mr. and Mrs. Math Spitzer are staying in the Barth home.

Tuesday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Johnson were her two sisters, Mrs. Frank Thompson of Paw Paw and Miss Florine Barrett of Kalamazoo, also their daughter, Mrs. Alger Lee and two children of Holland.

The two younger sons of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Simonson of Saugatuck are staying with their grandmother Mrs. Ethel Brink, during the illness of their mother.

Several changes will be made when school re-opens next September. Among the faculty not returning are Furman Kuramaki, Duane Seeley, John Kileman, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas tober and Mrs. Petermann Vanderlugt. The school secretary Miss Eleanor Harbeck, also has resigned to further her education. Sam Morehead, who has been teaching at Taylorville, Ill., since leaving here three years ago, has signed a contract to return here as coach.

Mrs. Ralph Visser was honored at a surprise birthday party Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Kruthoff, West 21st St.

A gift was presented to the guest of honor. A two course lunch was served and a social time included hymn singing.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. William Kruthoff and Beth, Mr. and Mrs. John Derks, Marcia, Barbara and Johnny, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Buscher and Cindy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kruthoff and Gayle, of Holland, the Rev. and Mrs. James R. Breckenridge, Luanne and Janice of Flint and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Visser and Eddie of Grand Rapids. Unable to attend were the Rev. and Mrs. Edward Van Harp and David of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Cook and family of Nacogdoches, Tex.

The Wolverines were really bothered by the hot, muggy heat Saturday. After spending 19 of the practice days in "ideal fall" football weather, the lads were almost swimming in perspiration after the opening whistle. This undoubtedly affected sharp blocking and neat tackling.

Also, for those who feel that Michigan is way down they must take a closer look at the program and find captain Tom Maentz, and left halfbacks, the bread and butter spot in the Michigan offense, Terry Barr and Jim Pace, all missing. Also gone were tackle Al Sigman, guard Dick Hill and center Gene Snider, all playing baseball.

Maentz perched on the brick railing surrounding the playing field and watched.

The Holland end has been forced to the sidelines Wednesday by a couple bruised ribs.

"It was my own fault. I relaxed on a play and shouldn't have," Maentz said talking about the injury. "In this game you just can't relax a second."

He received the injury in a big pileup when he relaxed after thinking he heard the whistle.

Maentz reported he is really busy with football appearances as Michigan's captain and schoolwork. But he'll be set to go in the fall.

Holland's Jerry Victor got into the fray for about 10 plays late in the contest. He played strictly offense and did a good job of holding off his man on every play.

Victor was a member of the White team and the lone White score was pushed over his hole.

Michigan ran the T for the most part and did several plays early in the second half off of the famed single wing.

Let's Plant Beauty -- Plant Shrubs in Simplicity to Beautify Landscape

Shrubs give background to a border garden, weight and attractiveness to a foundation planting, and when planted in simplicity give a mark of true beauty to a landscape.

Ranch - style houses and places that no longer cover wide expanses of ground need trees and shrubs that are not overly tall at maturity. Modern insulation and heating methods has done away with this older need for hundred-foot trees.

Cornell University experts in the Department of Floriculture and Ornamental Horticulture suggest some things we should do. Plant only low-growing shrubs, flowers, or ground covers beneath windows, or extend the lawn here to the foundation. Plant low - growing shrubs around porches except where porch furniture is to be used. Large porches also may be shaded with vine or tree - like shrub. Plant dwarf or medium-sized plants at the sides of small entrances and steps. Medium to tall - growing shrubs should be planted at the corner of the house unless a driveway or walk is close to this side of the house, in which case a vine may be substituted. In spaces along the foundation where the windows are far apart, you may place a medium-sized shrub or vine. If the chimney is not too small, do plant a vine here, or a shrub.

Where little else will grow, you may wish to acquire your self with the many available ground covers. Among the common ones are pachysandra, myrtle, euonymus, and English or Balto ivy. Two new ivies that have more fortunate characteristics than some of the old timers are 238th Street, which is extremely winter hardy, and the Bulgarian ivy, which remains green throughout the year.

If you are interested in roses as a ground cover, these varieties are superior according to Dr. Pirone of the New York Botanical Garden: Rosa wichuriana, white; Max Graf, pink; Carpet of Gold, yellow; Coral Creeper, apricot; and Little Compton Creeper, deep pink.

When planting any shrubs or trees, be sure to dig the hole deep enough and large enough so that the roots can be spread out freely and easily. Into the bottom of the hole throw in a quantity of fertilizer, cover with an inch or two of soil to prevent root burn, set in the shrub and fill in with part of the soil. Tramp it down firmly with your feet, fill the depression with water, and after it has soaked away, fill in the rest of the hole without tramping it down.

In planting roses, follow the same general directions but place a mound of earth under the base from which roots proceed. The knobby union on the stem should be about an inch beneath the soil after rose is planted. Most roses like well-drained clay soil and at least morning sun. Most hybrid teas should be spaced about two feet apart and grow better in beds than singly. Before planting, prune out all weak and spindly shoots, and prune main canes to half their original length.

After young trees are planted, it is sometimes necessary to support them with guy wires to prevent them from being toppled by high winds. These should also be protected from borers and against drying by wrapping their trunks with burlap strips or special tape. They should also be sprayed often to avoid insect damage.

Auxiliary Officers View Latest Methods of Artificial Respiration

Holland Auxiliary officers were given first hand information Tuesday by Coast Guardsmen on the latest approved methods of artificial respiration.

While Boatwains Mate 1-c Walter Sears discussed the various methods David Woodend SN demonstrated using an auxiliary officer as the "victim."

Sears said that artificial respiration should be given as soon as possible after the person has been removed from the water.

"If first brought aboard a boat then start it right there, don't wait until you arrive at the beach even if it is a little cramped," Sears said.

"Continue artificial respiration and when it is necessary shift operators but without missing a beat. After the victim comes around keep on for at least another five minutes."

Sears said that the Coast Guardsmen are under instructions to continue giving artificial respiration until a doctor pronounces the individual dead.

When an inhalator arrives artificial respiration should still be continued along with the administration of oxygen.

Only in very rare cases should the victim be moved, Sears said, as it is the systematic motion that starts the person breathing again and any break destroys it.

The demonstration was given at the monthly meeting of the auxiliary at Holland police headquarters.

Applicants for the auxiliary are now being accepted and those interested may stop at the police station for an interview with Chief Jacob Van Hoff. Men must be at least 26 years of age.

BANNING INFORMATION

Out in Bossier county, Louisiana, the school board has banned three national magazines, Time, Life and Look. The reason: The charge that those publications waged a "systematic campaign to prejudice the American people against the South by presenting in their columns distorted views of the institution of segregation of races in our schools."

In other words, like many other publications in the North and also quite a few in the South, those magazines are against segregation and are supporters of the Supreme Court ban. The Bossier county school board is for segregation. Hence, the magazines must be wrong, because the school board can't imagine itself being wrong.

That is about the line of reasoning usually followed by those who try to impose censorship of one kind or another on the medium of information. And don't imagine that this kind of thing is confined to a single parochial Louisiana community; on other issues than race question it is about as common in the North as in the South.

Now it is possible or at least arguable that the three magazines in question are actually waging a "campaign of prejudice"; there is no reason to suppose that the Louisiana school board members are not entirely sincere in their point of view.

But that is beside the question. The people's right to know is not at all the real thing if they don't have the right to learn the points of view of those who disagree with them and with their leaders. Even lies cannot be met permanently by suppressing them; the only thing that can effectively meet falsehood is truth. And those who wish to suppress any information, either true or false, are out of tune with the spirit of America.

This battle is being fought on many fronts. Out in California the other day a judge barred reporters from his courtroom because in his judgment the testimony in the trial was not such that the public should hear it. Three California newspapers issued a legal protest against the ban. Whatever the character of the testimony, this judge was in the same boat with the Louisiana school board members.

Neither a school board nor a judge has a right to abridge the freedom of the public to hear the facts, even if those facts are all wrong. Censorship is never the answer.

The Church in Antioch
Acts 11:19-30
By C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.)

The early church took one forward step after another. We have noted some in our past lessons and in this lesson we will study another forward step which changed the attitude of the early church. In this lesson we are told how many Gentiles became Christians.

I. Laymen can be daring. The martyrdom of Stephen was followed by a persecution which scattered Christians. Some of them "traveled as far as Phenice, and Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word to none but unto the Jews only." The names of these men are not given. Their action showed that they had enthusiasm and faith and the conviction that they were witnesses.

In Acts two cities named Antioch are mentioned. The one in this story was located in Syria and the other one was inland in Asia Minor. Antioch in Syria was the third largest city in the world—only Rome and Alexandria were larger. The first Christians to reach this city preached the gospel to the Jews only but "some of Cyprus and Cyrene, which, when they were come to Antioch, spake unto the Grecians, preaching the Lord Jesus" and they got results for "a great number believed, and turned unto the Lord."

II. Consecrated work gets results. News travels—even in those slow days news traveled. The church in Jerusalem heard about the conversion of some Gentiles in Antioch. The church authorities sent Barnabas to Antioch to investigate the work. He was a committee of one and had no instructions. Barnabas saw what was happening and grasped the new opportunity. When he contacted the new converts he "exhorted them all, that with purpose of heart they should cleave unto the Lord." New converts need sticking power.

Barnabas was splendidly fitted for the work. Some men do poor work in one locality and fine work in another place. Two facts are told us about Barnabas—he was a good man, and full of the Holy Ghost. The word good really means "capable" or "competent". Sometimes a capable man in the church does not get results because there is something lacking—the spiritual one. Barnabas had the spiritual emphasis for he was "full of the Holy Ghost." Christians were won in Antioch.

The work expanded and Barnabas felt the need of a helper. He thought of Saul of Tarsus and he went to that city and persuaded him to go along with him to Antioch. For a whole year Barnabas and Saul worked together in Antioch and they taught much people. The early church believed in teaching. Many Christians know too little to be effective workers.

III. The early Christians were concerned. In Antioch the Christians were told about the coming of a famine. They heard that the Christians in Jerusalem were in need of help and therefore "the disciples, every man according to his ability, determined to send relief unto the brethren which dwelt in Judea" and they sent it "to the elders by the hands of Barnabas and Saul." Ever since that day Christians have been sending food, clothing, materials of all kinds and money to needy people. The Church World Service is helping many people today. The gospel creates concern in the hearts of people.

1. Persecution sometimes makes the church to thrive.

2. Laymen can do a great work in the church.

3. When Jesus is preached blessings follow.

4. In Antioch believers were first called Christians.

5. Workers who are full of faith and of the Holy Spirit get results.

6. Christians are people with a concern in their hearts for others.

THE TULIPS ARE B'OOMING! These five Klompen Dancers visited Nelis Tulip Farm Tuesday afternoon to see for themselves that there really are tulips in bloom for the opening of the 1956 Tulip Festival today. Cold, wet weather throughout a dismal springtime held up the hardy flowers, but a weekend of sunshine popped many of the blossoms. And although they aren't as plentiful as the good Hollanders might wish for their visitors, there are tulips to provide color and gaiety for the festival. The Klompen Girls, all ninth graders who are "first-year" dancers, are, left to right, Joan Ten Cate; Diane Roser, Charlotte Butler, Sally Van Dyck and Sharon Van Eerden.

The Gospel and Indian Americans
Scripture: John 4:39 and Acts 1:8
By Raymond E. Wells

To the leader: To be prepared for this topic this week some research should be done. Ask your librarian to recommend a good background book on Indian Americans. Study this. Then ask your pastor for information on the work your church supports among the Indian Americans.

Using the information gained from this study mark on a map of the United States the areas where most of the Indian people are presently located. On state maps mark the locations of the work your church is supporting among the Indian people. Post these maps in the front of the room with a cross cut out of red paper above them or in the midst of them.

Many C. E.'s and churches have people who have visited Indian mission stations and churches during their vacations. Be sure to ask these people to take part in the meeting. Have them bring any pictures they may have and give a brief report on what they saw and found out while there. Usually such persons will have a real burden for these people.

Outline for the Leader's Talk:
Introduction: Refer to the maps and the information contained on them. Then refer to the Scripture passages. Tell how the Samaritans were the people in the next country to the Jews, but that the Jews did not like them on religious grounds.

The Lord told His disciples to go preach to them (Acts 1:8) and showed His disciples that they were to hear the Gospel and believe on Him (John 4:27-30, 39-42; Acts 8:5-6, 14-17). Jesus has told us that we should begin to witness right where we are and then go to those next to us with the Gospel. The Indian Americans are surely among those next to us for there are Indian settlements here in the state of Michigan.

1. The Gospel Came Early to the Indian Americans.

Godly settlers of this land were concerned that the Indians should know of Christ. They sent men to take the Word to them. David Brainard was one of the pioneer missionaries to these people. In the Colonial period several Indians had already become ministers.

2. White Men Force the Indians from Their Land.

Review the history found in your background reading. This did not help the Christians to preach the Gospel to these people.

Review some of the current problems of the Indians which result from the areas where they have been forced to live. Might not these conditions make some resentful to the white man and the God he professes?

3. Christian white men and Indians unite to help the Indians find Christ today.

a. They use various methods to show the love of Christ and to tell that He loved them and died for them. Relate the various methods used, as, schools, community centers, medical care, Bible translation and literacy work as well as direct evangelistic work.

b. They endeavor together to overcome the handicaps.

Some are as follows: Liquor and a dope weed called peyote, the taking of which has taken on religious significance; Lack of leadership and equipment among a scattered people; Indian customs and native pagan religions.

Conclusion: Jesus words clearly include "Ye shall be witnesses unto Me among the Indian Americans." Who will go?

Hope Nine Drops Pair to Alma, League Leaders

Hope College's baseball team lost a doubleheader Saturday afternoon at Riverview Park to league leading Alma College.

The Scots pounded out 18 hits to take the first game 13-0 and won the second game in the last of the seventh, 4-3.

The twin victory gives Alma a 7-1 conference mark and leaves the Dutch with a 3-6 record.

Alma scored its first run in the third inning when Westebrook barked, forcing in a tally and then the Scots took off on Westebrook's slants in the next inning and then found the offerings of reliever Jim Stout also to their liking.

Two home runs featured the onslaught and Ziddell was the big gun for the Scots hitting safely five of the six times at bat. Each of his hits set off the Scots.

Dick Orquist, Olson and Arn Boeve got the Hope hits in the first game. Loren Cook of Grand Haven was the Alma hurler.

Mert Vander Lind started his first game in the second contest and turned in a fine pitching performance. He was touched for nine hits but got himself out of a jam a couple times with the bases loaded.

Lack of mound experience, caused Vander Lind to error three times and all three proved costly. Alma scored two runs in the fourth and another in the sixth. Hope got a single run in the sixth.

John Adams singled and it was followed by Orquist's single. The centerfielder kicked the ball allowing Adams to come all the way around and score.

Jack Kempker blasted a homer in the seventh with Carl De Vree, who had singled, on base. The two runs tied the score.

Alma scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh. Morrison singled. Stolz hit to Vander Lind who bobbed putting both runs on. Wiley then singled scoring Morrison.

Holland in 1918

(Following is another in the series of articles taken from news of the Holland Daily Sentinel published more than 35 years ago.)

The fuel saving regulations ordered throughout the city by Fuel Director Prudeen will go into effect in Holland Thursday, according to a story appearing in the Jan. 16, issue of the Holland Daily Sentinel published in 1917. From then on until further notice the stores will be open only nine hours a day, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. with hours on Saturday from 8 to 8. Cards were printed Wednesday and placed in the windows of the stores, calling attention to the new regulations.

Holland needs more iron working industries. That was the burden of the argument in an also paper read Tuesday evening by former Mayor Nicodemus Bosch before the Social Progress Club when it met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mulder.

If Holland would go after it, the industries of this city could land a great amount of war business. That was the opinion expressed by A. H. Landwehr of the Holland Furnace Co. at a meeting of the Social Progress Club Tuesday evening.

"Smash 'em, put 'em out of business, and make good Germans out of 'em," was the core of the address delivered by Corp. Cornelius V. Van Putten, alias Patrick Terrance McCoy, before the Young Men's Christian Association of Hope College Tuesday evening. The Maple Avenue Christian Reformed church will be formally dedicated with public exercises on Thursday evening. The church is practically a new structure, having been completely remodeled.

The Rev. Milton J. Hoffman, lately professor of Latin in Hope College, and now president of Central College, Pella, Iowa, is in the city for a few days visit in the interests of the latter institution. The Pere Marquette freight office today was closed against the receipt of freight of any description except fuel, began a story in the Thursday, Jan. 17, issue. This drastic order went into effect here today and will remain in effect until further notice.

The gravity of the fuel famine is shown by the fact that a number of Holland manufacturing plants have been compelled to close down temporarily because they did not have fuel enough to keep going and were unable to get any more.

The Holland Suffrage club has pledged itself to collect funds for the Y.W.C.A. war work. There are four organizations recognized by the United States government as auxiliaries: The Young Men's Christian Association, the Red Cross, the Council of National Defense, and the Fostick Commission. It is under the last mentioned organization that the war work of the Young Women's Christian Association is authorized.

Chester J. Lahuis of Zeeland and Wallace J. Kuite of Holland left yesterday for Augusta, Ga., where they have been assigned by the government to do duty in the Ordnance department at the National Arsenal.

Holland is to take care of its own laboring people during the enforced recess that has been wished upon them by the national fuel administration. The men who were thrown out of work today and for five days to come, as well as for one day each week thereafter, will be given employment by the city, according to a story appearing in the Friday, Jan. 18, issue.

Every brother, father and husband of anyone connected with Holland's schools who is in the U.S. army service will be represented in the pageant by the Junior High School pupils at the patriotic entertainment Monday night in the high school auditorium.

All schools in Holland closed this afternoon and will remain closed for an indefinite period. This action was voluntary on the part of the school authorities, both the public and the Christian schools being included. These institutions will be closed in order to help out the general fuel situation.

Dates of the Holland fair this year will be Sept. 10, 11, 12 and 13. This decision was reached Thursday at a meeting of the directors held in the office of John Arendshorst, secretary.

Members of the Ladies Aid society and their husbands of Central Avenue church surprised their pastor, the Rev. B. H. Einink at his home.

In conformity with the spirit of the drastic orders issued by H. A. Garfield, United States Fuel Administrator, The Sentinel will not be issued on Mondays, at least temporarily and this it will do its "bit" toward the conservation of fuel. The Sentinel is under contract to heat three floors of the Sentinel building and the establishments on the other floors are automatically closed owing to Mr. Garfield's orders. By closing with the noon edition on Saturday and remaining closed until Tuesday it is estimated that at least a ton of coal can be saved.

Man Held in Grand Haven For California Officials

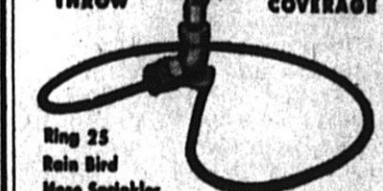

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — City police are holding Frank Caruso, 27, for California authorities after the man was picked up shortly after 6 p.m. Saturday. The men had stopped at a local filling station for six gallons of gas and then drove off without paying.

Since the man could provide no identification and no operator's license, a telegram sent to Santa Ana, Calif., brought a prompt answer that the man was sought for two felonies for forgeries in Santa Ana and Burbank.

Junior-Senior Banquet Features Maypole Theme

"Maypole Frolics" was the theme of the annual Holland Christian High School junior-senior formal banquet Friday night at Holland Civic Center. An 18-foot green and yellow Maypole highlighted the decorations for the event. Streamers from the Maypole were attached to tables set in a circle around the pole. At the base was a garden setting of potted plants, palms and imitation grass. Corsages and boutonnieres were given to faculty members and their wives.

Preceding the banquet, punch was served by Dr. and Mrs. Bert P. Bos and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holwerda from two umbrella-covered lawn tables. Upon entering the auditorium students, and the faculty and their wives passed through an arch into a garden of potted plants, palms, ferns, trees and imitation brick and grass. Centering the tables were daffodil centerpieces and Maypole nutcrackers.

Special entertainment for the evening featured the Melstersingers of Calvin College under the direction of Donald Postema. They opened their program with three spirituals, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," "Go Down Death" and "Joshua Fit De Battle Ob Jericho." They then presented a minstrel show and sang "Ring De Banjo," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "Old Black Joe," "Old Folks at Home" and "Camptown Races." They concluded their concert with "My Bonnie Lassie," "Beautiful Dreamer," "Come to Me in My Dreams," "This Is My Country" and "Halls of Ivy." Two piano selections were played by Miss Beth Postema, accompanist for the group.

Two songs were sung by the junior sextet, including Virginia Klingenberg, Arla Steenwyk, Marilyn Jacobs, Alyce Timmer, Joy Hietbrink and Diane Tinholt. Miss Klingenberg also presented a vocal solo. Marimba selections were played by Miss Joy Bonseelaar and a reading was given by Miss Gladys Shoemaker. Novelty numbers were played by a group of band members on flutes and water-filled bottles of various shapes and sizes.

John Baker, junior class president, welcomed the seniors and David Vander Hill, president of the senior class, responded.

Serving on the decorating committee were Joy Hietbrink, chairman, Ruth Mokma, Janice Taylor and Jim Rottschaefer; entertainment committee, Alyce Timmer, chairman, Ellen Masselink and Marilyn Jacobs; food committee, Dorothy Witteveen, chairman, Paul Doezema, Mary Strabbing and Ed Hoezee. Hope Golfers Win 4th Straight

The Hope College golf team made it four in a row Friday afternoon with a 9-6 win over Alma. It was the third straight MIAA victory for the Dutch, who now have a conference record of three wins and three losses as against an overall record of six and three.

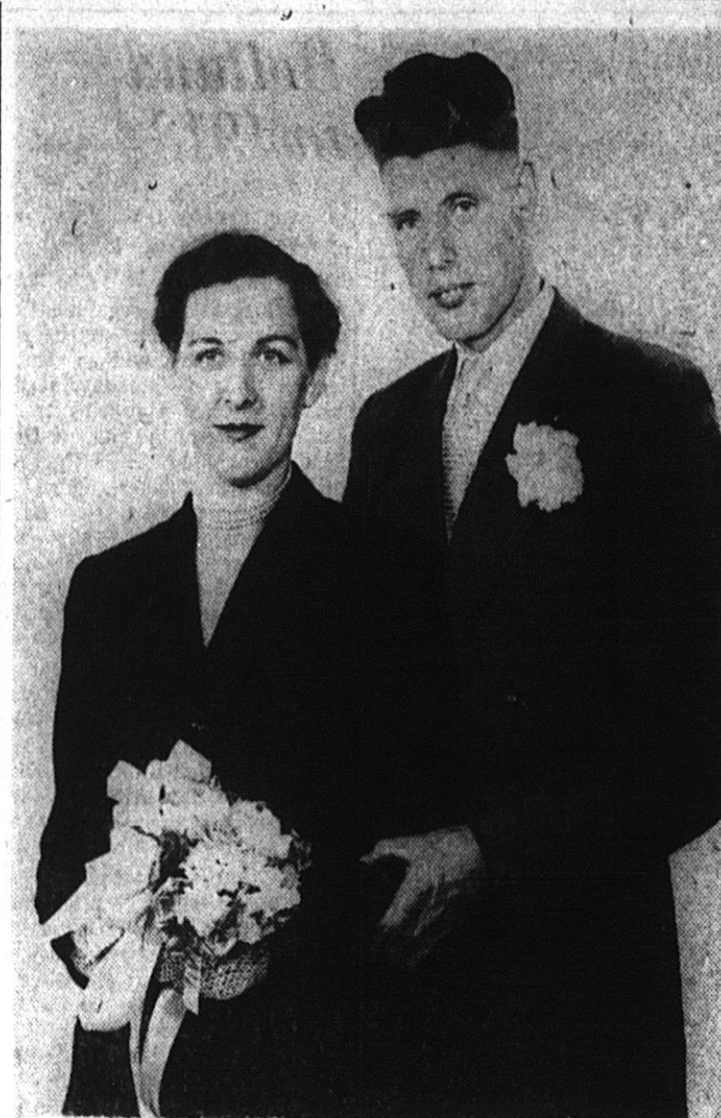

The match was played at the Pine River Country Club at Alma. An hour-long rain storm made playing miserable and left the course slow and soggy for the rest of the day.

Ray De Does hit his stride with a three over par 75, good for medalist honors and a 3-0 win over Alma's Bob Rudisell. Bill Kramer and Joe Martin also came through with shutout victories on 80 and 85 respectively. It was a sad day for the usually steady Bill Holt who hooked and hashed for an 89, and an even sadder one for Bob Burwitz who splashed and splattered around for an even 100.

Hope's next meet is with Olivet next Tuesday and a victory here would land the team in third place in dual meet conference standings. The all important field day, thirty-six holes of medal team play which count one-half in the final standings, will be held next Friday at the Kalamazoo Country Club.

WCTU Hears Mrs. Esther

Mrs. Joseph Esther, missionary to the Philippines, gave an inspiring talk before the local Women's Christian Temperance Union Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Arthur Schipper. She spoke on "Missions and the WCTU work in the Philippines."

Mrs. Esther said that the drinking problem is a real one in the Philippines. She told how in 1948, the Rev. Madeleine Southard went to reorganize the WCTU in the Philippines. The city of Manila is the center of the national chapter. She told of the work the WCTU is doing there and said that Christianity "is something positive."

It isn't enough, she said, to be a total abstainer, but we must help others who are weak, doing more than is expected of us, not be bound by concern for our own safety.

Mrs. James Wayer led devotions and Mrs. Paul E. Hinkamp, legislative chairman, reported that 25 letters have been written to Congressmen and urged that more be written.

Creston's Tom Rosely barely edged William Stacey of Grand Rapids Union for medalist honors. Both young men had 79's at the end of 18 holes and each shot a 4 on the "sudden death" first hole.

However, on the second hole, Rosely shot a 4 while Stacey came in with a 6 for runner-up honors.

Christian Edges Muskegon Catholic In Track Meet

Holland Christian's track squad pulled an upset Thursday afternoon on a water-soaked 21st St. track by eking out a 53-52 decision over a highly favored Muskegon Catholic outfit. The win was Christian's second against three defeats so far this season.

The poor condition of the track hampered the times of both schools with neither squad operating at its peak. One of the best times of the meet, however, was turned in by Rich Hertel for the Maroons in the 220-yard dash, running it in 23.9.

As has been the case all season, the Dutch piled up plenty of first places, but were weak in depth. The Hollanders garnered nine first out of the 13 events. The Crusaders picked up the greatest share of their points with the second and thirds.

Christian's Hertel was the only double winner, taking firsts in both the 100 and 220. Reynertson was the leading point getter for the invaders.

New Modern Language Laboratory At Hope College Is First of Its Kind

The Hope College foreign language department is one of the first in the country to install a new device known as the modern language laboratory. This new development was initiated on Hope's campus last September by Prof. Ezra F. Gearhart, member of the German department.

The modern language laboratory consists of a room equipped with 20 open sound proof booths similar to some of the types installed in public places by telephone companies.

Five of the booths include recording machines directly connected to the others in a transmitter-receiver system.

The student's procedure in using the laboratory—and it is invaded weekly by more than 400 young people in the fields of French, Spanish and German—is to listen to the instructor's voice as he has recorded it on tape, record the same material, compare his pronunciation with that of the instructor and repeat the process until satisfied.

Prof. Gearhart says the idea goes back to one of the fundamental axioms of learning, "Learn by hearing, doing and repetition." He cites seven reasons why this method is an improvement over the old classroom procedure: 1. There is greater incentive to learn. 2. The student sees greater possibilities for obtaining proficiency. 3. The use of tape recordings more nearly simulates the language as used in the foreign country. 4. The student's fear of being laughed at is broken down. 5. The remedial value is high. 6. Recordings of native speakers can be dubbed on the tapes to give variance in pronunciation. 7. Foreign short wave broadcasts may be used to great advantage.

Dutch Register Two One-Run Wins In MIAA Action

Hope College got some good pitching, coupled with timely hitting and swept a doubleheader from Hillsdale College at Riverview Park Monday afternoon.

Both victories were one-run decisions, the first being 5-4 and the nightcap 2-1. Hope now has a 5-6 MIAA record.

Catcher Dave Woodcock poked a homer in the eighth inning of the first game for the winning margin.

Hope started right out with three runs in the first inning of the opener on four hits. Successive singles by Dick Ortuist, John Adams, Ron Wetherbee and Art Olson, a sacrifice by Arn Boeve and two Hillsdale errors produced the cushion.

The Dales pushed two across in the second on a home run by Eugenio with a mate aboard. In the third the Dales tied the score with another home run, this one by Duncan.

The Dutch came back in the fifth and sent a single run across. Olson singled, took second on a wild pitch and came home on an error by the Dales pitcher, Moyer.

Hillsdale combined two singles and a sacrifice in the sixth to again tie the count with Variver coming home.

Then came Woodcock's blast. Jack Kempker set the Dales down with six hits in the opener while his mates collected nine. Olson led Hope with three hits and Ortuist had two. Kempker struck out six.

Lefty Wayne Westenbroek tossed a four-hitter in the second game and the Dutch bunched two hits for two runs in the third for the win.

Adams led off with a single and was moved to second on Kempker's sacrifice. He came home on an error by the first baseman that put Arn Boeve on base. Boeve stole second and scampered home on Carl De Vree's single.

Hope got single hits in the second, fourth, sixth and seventh but couldn't push in a run.

The lone Dales tally came in the second inning. Williams pounded a double and was driven home by the next batter as pitcher Braun's single. Hillsdale picked up single hits in the third and fifth innings but Westenbroek was never in trouble. He fanned six.

Adams and Woodcock each got two of Hope's six second game hits. Westenbroek and De Vree knocked the other two. Hope's only extra base hit was a double by Woodcock.

Hillsdale 021 001 000 4 6 3

Campaign Opened Monday for Funds For Band Shell

Solicitation of funds for a band shell in Kollen Park got under way Monday.

Members of the Industry Committee are the first to go to work. They have their quota set at $5,000 spread among some 50 industries.

This is a little more than one-half the sum required to assure construction of the shell according to preliminary estimates.

Approximately $1,000 has already been received, including a pledge of $250 from the Band and Orchestra Boosters Club which is sponsoring the project.

Last week the group heard a Planning Committee report that placed the cost of a shell at $14,500.

"This figure is just a rough estimate on a suggested shell, so it should not be considered definite in any respect," said Carl Carlson who, with Arthur C. Yost, La Vern Rudolph, and others outlined specifications for a structure that would meet community needs.

These specifications call for a platform approximately 29 by 50 feet, with a plywood shell overhead and an excavation below for storage, rehearsal, and other purposes. This is substantially larger than the stage at the Civic Center which measures 23 feet x 38 feet, and would permit presentation of pageants, large choral groups, and other activities in addition to band and orchestra concerts.

As a suggested site of the shell, Dick Smallegang, head of the city parks departments, and Yost recommended a location 100 feet north of the embankment in Kollen Park, at a point midway between the picnic area and playground. The shell would face out upon the embankment.

Committee members emphasized these plans and estimates are only tentative and are subject to changes dictated by the amount of contributions received, by builders recommendations, and by City Council.

Council has approved general outlines of the project as presented several weeks ago by the Band and Orchestra Boosters. The club proposed to raise $10,000 to build a band shell which would incorporate the new concrete platform the city is putting up in Kollen Park this year to replace the old wooden stand.

When completed, the band shell would be city property and available for public use, subject to park department regulations.

All funds contributed in the campaign will be turned over to the Greater Holland Community Foundation. They will be kept in trust until needed for construction of the shell, probably next year.

Tulip Time Varieties' Lists Snappy Numbers

Fresh new surprises are promised for the flashy Tulip Time Varieties to be presented Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at Riverview Park, the last big attraction of the 1956 Tulip Time festival.

Harold J. Karsten, who has arranged the program for several years, has lined up a well packed program of variety acts for the evening attraction which is gaining in popularity each year. Included will be snappy marching maneuvers, an accordion band, two women's quartets, tumblers, community singing, twirling, and the last official performance of Holland's 350 klompen dancers, this time klomping on the green. Many persons prefer the fresh turf of the Riverview Park greens to the hard klomp of the city pavements.

The American Legion Band under the direction of Arthur C. Hills will play before the program and will provide incidental music. Hills also will direct community singing with John Swieringa at the piano. A highlight of this attraction in all Varieties programs has been the matchlight ceremony.

Miller's Blackhawks of Dayton, Ohio, championship baton twirling and drum corps, consists of 41 girls. The corps has performed in New York, Pittsburgh, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and last January at the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla. Fred J. Miller is the director. The group, traveling in two buses, will leave Holland Saturday night for Marion, Ohio, to put on two performances the next day.

A high point of the program will be marching maneuvers by the Woodruff High School Band of Peoria, Ill., a 95-member outfit under the direction of Lawrence Fogelberg. During football seasons, the band does special marching shows at half-time and has introduced many innovations in its marching shows in the Peoria area. The band performs two formal concerts each year under outstanding guest conductors. The band consistently has been rated superior in Illinois contests. Conductor Fogelberg went to Peoria from Detroit in 1945. During the war he was conductor of the 728th M.P. battalion band which under his direction played a command cavalcade performance in Holland in 1943. Previously he was director of instrumental music in DeKalb, Ill., public schools.

Another attraction will be the "Junior Misses" of Peoria, a girls' barbershop quartet consisting of Sue Brown, Katie Burnett, Helen Melzer and Christian Coe. The quartet was registered with Sweet Adelines, Inc., a year ago and placed second in competition at the International Sweet Adelines convention. It will enter competition next October in Wichita, Kans.

Snappy action is promised by two teams, the Flying Tiger Trampolines and the Tigarettes of the Lanier School physical Education department of West Alexandria, Ohio. The trampolines consist of six girls, eight boys, one clown. The girls are dressed in scarlet uniforms trimmed in white and the boys in scarlet dress shirts with grey dress trousers. The Tigarettes consist of 14 girls wearing white pleated skirts, white jacks and white parade boots. Jess Meyers is director of physical education at the Lanier schools.

An accordion band called the Marching D's of Galesburg, Wis., also will perform. There are 24 members.

Also appearing will be the Hollandaires, Holland's own women's barbershop quartet, and the boy and girl who won Saturday's twirling contest. They will receive medals from George Walbridge who directs the twirling contest.

The age of travel affects livestock as well as people. It's an unsophisticated steer these days, says USDA, that hasn't lived in two or three states before heading for the packing plant.

No Opposition In School Election Here This Year

There will be little interest in the annual election of the Board of Education this year with no opposition offered for the two incumbents seeking election. Bernard Arendshorst who was elected to a one-year term last year is now seeking a full four-year term. Carl C. Andreasen who was appointed last fall until the next election is seeking a one-year term to round out the normal four-year term which Mrs. Kenneth De Pree vacated last year. Secretary Lester J. Kuyper said polls will be open June 11 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the E.E. Fell Junior High School. Election inspectors will be Joe Greengood, Lawrence A. Wade and Albert Paasen. The board will canvass the vote the following evening and will hold its regular monthly meeting that evening instead of on June 11.

In other business, the board granted permission to the Board of Public Works to place some well points on the high school site at 24th and Van Raalte in order to obtain supplementary water supplies for this summer only. The equipment will be removed from the school property as soon as the need for it is no longer required. Supt. Walter W. Scott reported that much has been accomplished in the secondary school study and said the curriculum council will present a progress report to the board Monday, May 28. Suren Pili-fian, Detroit architect who will draw plans for the proposed new high school, will be in Holland May 28 and 29 to do preliminary work on the high school planning. Scott also told the board what plans have been made for safety in the public schools in case of tornado warnings. He said he and Dr. Bert P. Boss of the Christian schools will soon issue a public statement outlining procedures to be followed by the schools. In all cases of an alert, schools will be dismissed because the risk is too great not to do so, Scott said.

The board okayed a new system of accounting recommended by the finance committee whereby accounting be changed from the present cash basis to that of the accrual basis. The new system will give a fairer picture of cash accounts in view of the fact that the fiscal year starts July 1 but teachers' salaries for the contract year run from September to September. He is playing for the Detroit Tigers.

Claims and accounts for the month totaled $89,417.70, with the payroll amounting to $70,826.92. The figure also includes a $2,500 allocation for sports.

A communication from Robert Leslie, junior high teacher, stating that he is not renewing his contract because he was seeking employment in another field, was accepted with regret.

Benton Harbor Stops Dutch Nine

BENTON HARBOR (Special) — Holland High's baseball team lost an 8-2 decision to Benton Harbor at House of David Field here Monday afternoon.

Burly Sam Watson set the Dutch down with one hit, a single to Tom Ragans in the fifth inning.

Holland started strong and in the top half of the first inning scored two runs but those turned out to be the only tallies.

Carl Von Ins led off with a walk and stole second base. Kuylers was sent in as a runner and moved to third on a fumble of Norm Dykens' hard liner. Dykens went to second on a bad throw.

Kuylers scored on a long sacrifice by Ron Van Dyke and Leroy Fogarty drove in Dykens with another long sacrifice fly to deep center field.

Fogarty pulled a muscle in his back and Coach Ned Stuts reported the left-handed pitching ace will probably be lost for the rest of the season.

Penny Campaign Bowls Are Full

Holland youngsters are looking for more fish bowls!

Children earning pennies in Holland Public Library's Million Penny Campaign have turned in more than 16,000 pennies to date and the fish bowls in the library are overflowing. Any person with a spare fish bowl which could be used for the campaign is asked to contact the library.

An unusually large group of boys and girls met at the library last Saturday morning at 11 to turn in their week's earnings.

South Side Christian School fourth graders carried in 24 pounds of pennies—a total of 3,900—which they earned in a baked goods sale. One boy caused much excitement when he brought in 4,229 pennies, bringing his personal total to 4,800. Several groups are working on "secret" projects to earn coppers for the campaign, which is a start on funds for a new library building.

The children will not meet this week Saturday because of Tulip Time. The next meeting is scheduled May 26 at 11 a.m.

Last Thursday, Miss Dora Schermer of the library staff drove a group of children to Kalamazoo, where they appeared on television with Mrs. Hazel Hayes, librarian. They were invited to appear again to tell the progress of their campaign.

Edgy Holland Residents Relaxing After Weekend of Tornado Threats

A weekend tornado vigil totaling almost 30 hours of tense, expectant waiting mercifully ended at 10 p.m. Sunday. And Holland area residents, again grateful to be spared the tragedy of disaster, slept soundly after a Saturday night with little or no sleep.

By now accustomed to the dreaded warning, residents seemed to accept the situation of tornado possibilities with determined calmness. Most went about the business of preparation without frenzy. Blankets, water, flashlights and other supplies were returned to the southwest corners of many a basement. Valuables were gathered, the right windows were opened and television sets and radios were tuned to local stations.

Friday night's all clear at 8:15 was interrupted again on Saturday at almost 4 p.m. Many activities were called off for the evening as residents remained at home for what turned out to be the longest tornado alert on record in the area.

Some persons confidently retired at their usual hours, but throughout the area, lights burned far into the morning until the alert was called off at close to 6 a.m.

Sunday dawned bright and hot, but the joy of a beautiful Mother's Day soon was crushed with the sounding of the third alarm at near noon.

Almost all church services and other activities were cancelled in the evening. Residents remained at home for the most part and traffic was almost nil, in comparison with the usual lines of Sunday joyriders. The intense heat of the weekend cooled to a comfortable 57 at 11 a.m. Monday. The mercury hit 89 Saturday, with a low of 60, and rose to 82 Sunday.

The calm assurance that all was well can be attributed to the giant web of precautions and the system of communications which kept everyone informed up to the minute.

The continuing alert forced law enforcement agencies and other emergency groups to maintain virtually an around the clock vigil.

As soon as the warning was sounded Saturday afternoon all city officials and employees were immediately placed on a standby basis.

A warning network for Holland residents and communities east of the city was placed into effect.

Ottawa County deputies, Holland police and auxiliary officers and ham radio operators formed a chain of information that was fed into the Weather Bureau in Grand Rapids.

The abandoned Coast Guard tower, at the channel to Lake

Macatawa, was manned by officers and deputies. A sound power house system led to a nearby cruiser which relayed the information to the Holland police headquarters, then to the ham operators and on directly to Grand Rapids.

Weather officials relayed the questions to the observers back over the same line of communication.

The watch continued until late Saturday and then was put into operation again Sunday when the tornado warnings were posted for the third straight day.

Deputies and officers plan to use the same lookout post for any future tornado alerts and will man the tower as long as the warnings remain in effect.

The law enforcement agencies are cooperating in insuring this ample manpower will be available on duty at all times.

In the city all police cruisers maintained a roving watch through Holland streets. All off-duty officers were placed on standby and ordered to report to duty without future notice in case of a disaster.

Holland city officials and Red Cross representatives scheduled another meeting at City Manager Herb Holt's office at 3 p.m. today to review disaster measures.
