Long-Time Friends Honor Chief Justice Dethmers

It was John Dethmers Day in Ottawa county Tuesday and groups gathered in Zeeland, Holland and Grand Haven to greet the chief justice of the Michigan Supreme Court who formerly practiced law in Zeeland and Holland and served as prosecuting attorney of Ottawa county.

In the morning, Zeeland area long-time friends gathered at Bosch's restaurant for a coffee kietz. At noon in Holland, fellow colleagues and townspeople gathered for a luncheon in Hotel Warm Friend. In the afternoon a coffee kietz was held in the court house in Grand Haven. The event was sponsored by the Ottawa County Bar Association of which James E. Townsend of Holland is president.

In Holland, both Chief Justice and Mrs. Dethmers were presented with engraved pairs of wooden shoes. George Van Peursem of Zeeland served as toastmaster. Brief talks were given by State Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings who reminisced on Dethmers' days at Hope College and Municipal Judge Cornelius vander Meulen who traced Dethmers' distinguished career in legal circles and politics.

Judge vander Meulen pointed to Dethmers' work as chairman of the Republican State Central Committee and his efforts to make the party work for the people, not the people working for the party. He also spoke of Dethmers' work in his early days on the Supreme Court, of his willingness to pitch in and carry his share of the load, and the high regard other members of the court held for him.

In responding, Justice Dethmers said he was quite reluctant at the thought of returning home to be honored, particularly a Dutchman

West Ottawa Board Delays Its Decision

The West Ottawa Board of Education Monday night delayed its decision whether or not to accept Harrington area high school students.

The board said the delay was caused because of the election for the proposed Harrington district's merger with the Saugatuck school system May 31.

The West Ottawa group explained that they didn't wish to become involved with the matter concerning other districts.

A total of $1,500 in purchase orders in elementary science and mathematics was okayed by the board as well as $14,953 worth of equipment for secondary science.

Both amounts approved fall under the National Defense Education Act, Title Three, which is a federal aid to education. The local district will pay 49.9 per cent of the $1,500 while the government will pay the remainder.

The committee on secondary science requested additional time before naming specific suppliers of their equipment.

Superintendent Lloyd Van Raalte announced that there is only one lower elementary teacher needed to fill out the roster of new and old teachers for West Ottawa. Contracts for nine teachers were approved.

Mr. Thomas was a welder at the Blood Brothers in Allegan. He was born in Chicago but had lived in the Fennville area for 30 years.

In spite of the drawbacks and headaches which are normally a part of the work of the Supreme Court, Dethmers said he is completely happy in his work and finds it most satisfying. He said no one achieves such a position by himself but is always dependent on the good friends at home, on hard-working colleagues and a certain amount of effort himself.

In Grand Haven, about 75 persons gathered for coffee in the supervisors room in the court house which was decorated with garden flowers. Pouring were Mrs. Fred T. Miles, wife of the probate judge, and Katherine Headley who had served as Dethmers' secretary when he was county prosecutor from 1931 to 1938. A "Welcome Home, John" sign was on the main stairway. Former Mayor Claude Ver Duin presented Dethmers with a desk blotter and letter holder set.

At 7 p.m. the Ottawa County Bar Association and wives gathered for dinner at the Spring Lake Country Club where a picture of the honored guest was unveiled. The picture will be hung on the main floor of the court house. Dethmers was accompanied by Mrs. Dethmers and their two sons and daughter at the dinner.

Also present for the evening event were Burney Veum of Sault Ste. Marie, president of the State Bar Association; Superior Judge Thaddeus Taylor and Circuit Judge John Vander Wal of Grand Rapids, and Judge Earl Glesley of Hart.

New Rates Okayed for Cemetery

City Council Wednesday night adopted a new schedule of charges for burial privileges, burial services, perpetual care and other services at Pilgrim Home Cemetery, a subject which has been under study for six months.

The new schedule increases prices of graves from the $40-$70 bracket to a $50-$80 bracket, and lots in Babyland from $25 to $35. Adult burials with services in the chapel are increased from $35 to $65 and graveside services from $50 to $75. Children's burials are increased from $25 to $40; infants from $15 to $35 and stillborn from $12 to $25. Cost of burying cremated remains is boosted from $10 to $25.

Saturday burials will cost an additional $25 and Sunday services will continue to be doubled. Re-interment costs are boosted from $45 to $70; annual care $1.50 to $2 per grave and perpetual care follows a graduated scale based on the number of graves. Vault service is boosted from $5 to $7.50 and foundations from 2.8 cents per inch to 4 cents.

Park and Cemetery Supt. Jacob De Graaf quoted charges from other cemeteries, pointing out that the new rates are comparable or lower than most rates.

It was pointed out that the cemetery department has been operating under an annual deficit of $18,000. The new costs are expected to reduce this deficit to $8,000. Adjustments are included in the budget passed two weeks ago. The last rate increase was adopted October, 1954. New rates will be in effect July 1.

Council adopted a resolution drafted by City Attorney James E. Townsend honoring the late Dick Smallegange, former park and cemetery superintendent who died unexpectedly last week. The resolution expressed heartfelt sympathy to the family and called attention to his contributions to Tulip Time and particularly the city's beautiful parks, one of which is named in his honor.

In a message to Council, Mayor Robert Visscher presented a recommendation that the Library Board consider opening the new Herrick Public Library on Sunday afternoons, possibly from 1 to 6 p.m. Council concurred.

Councilman Ernest Phillips reported on having attended a public hearing Tuesday night on extending a dock for Bay Haven Marina and suggested that Council request a public hearing with the State Conservation Department on its stand on such an extension inasmuch as a public fishing site lies adjacent to the marina and the state department agreed to the extension with some revision without consulting local people who use the fishing site. Council concurred and such a public hearing will be sought.

On motion of Councilman Richard Smith, City Manager Herb Holt was instructed to write Highway Commissioner Mackie for an explanation in replacing a traffic signal at Eighth St. and the bypass with a flasher. Avery D. Baker, Ottawa county safety director, explained that the change had been made with the knowledge and consent of the county safety department. He felt that since traffic counts did not justify a signal, according to state highway policies, it was much better to settle for a flasher than to have no light at all. He pointed to a story in the Sentinel which had explained the change and warned residents in the locality to be aware of the change.

City Clerk Clarence Grevengeod read a letter from the Saugatuck Village Council extending thanks for the response of the Holland fire department to Saugatuck's call for help during the Big Pavilion fire May 6. The communication was ordered filed with a copy sent to the fire department.

Council accepted an invitation from the Holland Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., to attend the Grand Council Fire Tuesday, May 24, at 7:15 p.m. in Civic Center.

A letter from Mass Appliance Co. and First Methodist Church proposing to lease to the city two lots immediately east of the church education building for 1½ years for public parking purposes was referred to the city manager for study. Manager Holt explained that all parking meter funds are committed for the next three years and Council is somewhat obligated thereafter to improve parking in other designated areas. To finance the necessary development and installation of parking meters, the church has waived its share in parking meter funds until capital improvements are paid for and the Mass firm has waived payment for five years. Holt will report later to Council.

Concern Expressed Over CD

Holland's role in Civil Defense was discussed at a meeting of City Council Wednesday night and the total program of organization and the like was finally referred to City Manager Herb Holt for study and report.

The discussion began toward the end of the agenda under "communications from the audience" with Elmer Wissink of 323 West 30th St. pointing to the last jump four days on the international level and asked what kind of a warning system the city had or what its plan was for evacuating children and plant employees. He said efforts along this line cannot be overdone, either collectively or individually.

Mayor Robert Visscher readily admitted he did not know all the answers and referred the subject to Manager Holt who outlined plans to date, emphasizing that the subject has been under study several years with continuing study bringing more understanding.

Holt explained that after World War II, a massive CD program was organized, almost entirely of volunteer effort. Interested dwindled after a few years and the program gradually evolved toward one of local government in which existing agencies would be utilized to full extent in case of an emergency. "We do have a procedure for mobilizing all our local agencies, but there is yet to be developed a completely satisfactory alerting system. We have considered sirens, curfews, whistles, radio alerts and fire works, and still need something better," he said.

Holt added that City Attorney James E. Townsend has been working on an ordinance which would spell out definite procedures. It is expected this ordinance will be introduced at some future date.

CD Director Hans Suzenaar said all cities with population over 10,000 should have their own CD program and survival plan. He explained that Ottawa county's CD plan is nearing completion, and that the city plan likely would be less complicated. Should hostilities occur in Grand Rapids, the evacuation plan calls for sending 80,000 persons into Ottawa county.

Suzenaar said the shelter program has been picking up tremendously particularly on an individual basis, but the considerable education is needed to make people CD conscious.

Capt. David Bagley of the Salvation Army spoke of attending a four-day CD conference in Battle Creek and was tremendously concerned with the situation that would develop in case of nuclear attack. "We should take every step possible to train our people," he said. "Russia requires 20 hours of training in such matters of all its people and they are taught it is possible not only to live under nuclear attack but to fight back."

Earlier in the meeting, Council approved a proposed agreement involving the U.S. government, the city of Holland and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin H. Dyk for installing a model prototype fallout shelter in the Dyk home on Wildwood Dr. which would be open about eight hours a week for public inspection.

125 Attend Dinner For Gov. Williams

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — About 125 persons attended a testimonial dinner for Gov. G. Mennen Williams Tuesday night in American Legion Hall. Mrs. Frances Johnson of Holland presided and introduced guests who included Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Haight, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richman and Mrs. Emily Shaffer of Holland and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hierholzer of Grand Haven.

Hierholzer, county Democratic chairman, presented the governor with a pen set and a corsage for his wife, Nancy, who could not be present. Since the governor felt it would be very late before he could present the corsage to Nancy, he chose to present it to the oldest woman present who was Mrs. Maria Carlson of Grand Haven, 88 years old.

Other guests present were Circuit Judge Noel Fox, Probate Judge Robert Cavanaugh and Prosecutor Harry J. Knudsen, all of Muskegon.

ALLEGAN (Special) — The Allegan High School vocal department will present its annual spring festival of music Friday and Saturday evenings in the school beginning at 8.

City Council Processes Lots of Work

City Council processed a tremendous amount of business at a regular meeting Wednesday night which lasted two hours and 20 minutes. Mayor Robert Visscher welcomed student officers from the two high schools as part of their Michigan Week activities. Paul Brink, president of Holland Christian High School, sat with Mayor Visscher on the rostrum.

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce requesting that land lying between 24th and 32nd Sts. beginning east of US-31 bypass and continuing east to 120th Ave. be included in the industrial zoning of Holland was referred to the Planning Commission.

City Council awarded a contract for resurfacing several streets to West Shore Construction Co. for its low bid among the three submitting bids. Total program will cost $29,060.47. A communication from the city engineer recommended dropping the repaving program on 10th St. between College and Lincoln Aves. because work on the sanitary sewer is scheduled in this area. This section of the street was not included in the estimates.

City Manager Herb Holt submitted preliminary reports on census figures for Holland listing a total of 23,958 based on figures submitted by Carl B. Tuggle, district supervisor, and on a communication from the census office in Benton Harbor. The report also included maps showing enumeration districts and the number of housing units and persons within each district. The material was filed with the city clerk.

The city manager also recommended that the application from Boeve Oil Co. for installing a 1,000-gallon gasoline tank and pump on the parking lot at the new Volks-wagen dealership be approved. Council concurred.

Holt also reported on plans for a convention in Holland July 24 through 30 of the Veteran Motor Car Club of America, Great Lakes region, involving 30 to 40 antique cars, some of them extremely valuable. Council granted permission to the club to park the antique cars on Central Ave. between Seventh and Eighth Sts. each night during the convention from 9 p.m. to 8 a.m. The cars are scheduled to take tours in the area during the daytime.

Several gifts were reported, all of them accepted with thanks. The Library board reported the following: Christian Reformed Women's Missionary Union of classis Holland, $50 for books; from an anonymous donor in memory of Helen Miles a painting of a pastoral scene painted by Charles P. Gruppe reportedly valued at $2,500 to $3,000.

Council approved an agreement prepared by the city attorney with the Lindeman agency for the agency to assist and advise the city in obtaining a full, accurate and effective dissemination of information concerning municipal affairs of the city. The agreement is for a period of three months with the right to extend for an additional 11 months. Attached were letters from administrative board endorsing the agreement. The cost of $500 per month is divided as follows: $190 for utilities; $165 for general fund, $125 for hospital fund and $20 for library fund.

Council approved plans of the Library board for providing a cement strip between curb and sidewalk for parking bicycles on 13th St. from the 13th St. library entrance to the service driveway.

Council approved Mayor Visscher's appointment of John H. Van Dyke to the hospital board for a five-year term, and Donald J. Vink to the Board of Public Works, also for a five-year term. Both were reappointed.

Council also passed an ordinance on drilling water and gas and oil wells. The ordinance also provided for certain fees, bonds and insurance.

Three damage claims were referred to the city attorney and liability company. They came from Don J. Verburg of Grand Rapids seeking $10.86 for damage to his car when a tree fell on it on 16th St. near Central Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Van Oosterhout, 204 West 20th St., seeking $80 damage caused when a sewer backed up into their basement, and John W. Elenbaas, 190 West 20th St., seeking $100 for damage also caused by a sewer break.

A letter from A. G. Sall tendering his resignation as a member of the Traffic and Safety Commission because he has been transferred to Grand Rapids was accepted with regret.

A letter from the president of the Michigan Association of Park Executives expressed appreciation for a pleasant day spent in Holland as guests of the Park department during Tulip Time.

A visit to Holland during Tulip Time has become an annual feature of the Western Michigan Park Superintendents Association.

Thursday was the day for this year's visit and the group gathered at 10 a.m. in Smallegange Park for coffee. A visit to local parks and an inspection of tulip lane was held before lunch at the Legion clubhouse.

The group was saddened to learn of the death of former Park Supt. Dick Smallegange which occurred late Wednesday afternoon. There were thoughts of canceling the visit, but the group decided to meet knowing that is what Smallegange would have wished. Park Supt. and Mrs. Jacob De Graaf were hosts.

Barbershop Quartets Get Big Tulip Time Ovation

Civic Center was jammed full Friday night for the Parade of Barbershop Quartets which featured two choruses and five quartets.

Aside from local entries, it was a brand new program since all visiting quartets were appearing the first time in Holland. And if there were fewer shenanigans than in some years, the quality of performance and sweet music more than compensated for comedy antics. Even so, there were more than enough laughs and the audience departed in high spirits.

Of the seven groups on Friday's program, three were from Holland, the Windmill Chorus, the popular Chord Counts and a new high school quartet, The Flying Dutchmen, a quartet which showed excellent blend of tones and great promise.

In some ways, it was a Lucas evening. Don Lucas directed the Windmill Chorus, Mike sang lead in the Chord Counts and young Jim sang lead in the Flying Dutchmen. All seem cast in the same mold, in looks, singing, and even emceeing.

Scoring perhaps the biggest hit was the Hut Four of Minneapolis, a group of three school teachers and a fourth working in the office for teacher retirement. Appearing in black trousers and white coats with plaid lapels, the quartet demonstrated an excellent blend of tones in an easy relaxed style which displayed low pressure humor in a highly effective way.

Their numbers all pointed to comedy with their "Paddlin' Madeline Home," "Old MacDonald Had a Farm" (with ascending scales), "I Wish I'd Been Born in Borneo," "Confusion" which involved four songs in counterpoint, a German band novelty, and for encore a calypso number, "Chocolate Whiskey and Vanilla Gin."

The Yankee Misses of Detroit, appearing in fringed gowns of the flapper era, geared their selections to that era with novel arrangements to "Ask for Joe," "My Mom," "The Varsity Drag" and "Doodle De Do." For a change in pace, the encore was "What a Wonderful World This Would Be." The Sharpshooters of Detroit in white trousers and blue coats gave a fine performance which had plenty of comedy highlights, particularly their encore on "The Chimpunk Song." They also went to town on "When You Were a Tulip," "Strutting Down the Main Street of Dublin City" and "Sweetie." This quartet had a style which leaned toward sweet, lyrical music.

The Chord Counts, local favorites, put on their usual good performance with such selections as "Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie," "If You Knew Susie," and concluding with their all-time favorite, "The Three Bells," featuring tenor Marty Hardenberg. Making an excellent impression in their first parade appearance were the Flying Dutchmen, a Christian high school group which won the district high school championship some time ago. They sang "O How I Miss You Tonight," "Passing By," "I'm Acomin' Acourtin' Corabelle," and Meredith Willson's "There Were Bells" from The Music Man.

Natty in their nautical outfits were members of the Muskegon Port City Chorus directed by "portly" Al Burgess. This chorus used gimmicks such as swaying during a lullaby to excellent advantage. Their selections included "Just Awaiting for You," and "Twilight Comes Astealin' Round." The Windmill chorus, all wearing splashy sports skirts because the tops of their new uniforms hadn't arrived on time, sang such crowd favorites as "Nobody Wants Me" featuring the Chord Counts, and "I Believe."

Barbershoppers had draped the stage in a manner which materially improved acoustics in Civic Center. An oldtime car on the stage lent atmosphere. Clarence Jalving of Holland, international president for SPEBSQSA, Inc., served as master of ceremonies and related some history of barbershop singing.

After the program, the barbershop crowd gathered in the newly refurbished clubrooms on the third floor of the Woolworth building for an afterglow.

Indianapolis Band Thrills Huge 'Varieties' Crowd

Tulip Time Varieties Saturday night in Civic Center thrilled visitors and townsfolk alike in a spectacular program which starred the highly skilled Ben Davis High School band of suburban Indianapolis, Ind.

Every seat was taken in the big auditorium and people were wedged in on the bleachers. Even so, long lines of people at the ticket office were disappointed.

It was the first year that the Varieties was scheduled in Civic Center since previous program had been in Riverview Park. Three years ago, threatening weather moved the program from the park to Civic Center and the presentation of a top Florida band was hastily tailored to meet floor instead of field requirements.

Ben Davis bandmen even provided their own program replete with pictures. Their own technicians had put up a special lighting system for floor presentations at the east end of the auditorium. Many numbers used the popular black lighting effects, something not exactly new but always novel.

The band under the direction of Ralph Chanler served mainly as a concert band, while groups of school dancers and singers provided entertainment.

Like Holland's klompen dancers, the Ben Davis dancing group was all girls with the exception of some boys dancing in solo roles. After the first number, a cute Irish salute with dancing colleens in green outfits, Master of Ceremonies George Wildman introduced one dancer, a Dutch girl who immigrated to Indianapolis four years ago and who came to Holland, Mich., to do an Irish number for a Dutch audience. The girl gave a greeting in Dutch.

The audience was impressed with the highly skilled and rather sophisticated (for teenagers) production of the Ben Davis school. There were elaborate props and costumes for the "1001 Arabian Nights," a production number done to Rimsky-Korsakov's "Scheherazade" music; less elaborate props for the Dogpatch USA number; and plenty of action in the Ragtime number and "Metropolis USA" presentation.

Harold J. Karsten, who arranges the Varieties program, served as master of ceremonies for the program which opened with a fine display by Kaiser's Red Wings of Grand Rapids, winner of the twirling corps competition earlier in the day in Civic Center. This group in spotless white outfits with glittery red trim and plumed hats specialized as much in fine marching maneuvers as in baton twirling.

The Troubadolls of Muskegon, a women's barbershop quartet, provided a change of pace with a variety of selections. Of particular delight to children were the clowns, Zing and Zang, entering the auditorium on the world's tiniest motorcycle, and a balancing act, all done by Ken Thomas and his wife, Gail, of Youngstown, Ohio.

Five groups of klompen dancers put on the last official Tulip Time performance of the 1960 klompen dance. One group performed on a special floor, wearing wooden shoes and all. Others danced in stocking feet. Arthur C. Hills led community singing, accompanied by Margaret Van Vyven.

night in the post office block. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Vander Werf, Jr., of 328 West 30th St. Her father is court reporter for the 20th judicial circuit comprising Ottawa and Allegan counties. (Sentinel photo)

Tulip Time Sidelines

It's seldom that people can agree on crowd estimates. Even professionals fail to agree. So here's a chance for people to do their own figuring. Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff said that the Wednesday and Thursday parade routes were 6,200 feet long and Saturday's was 7,200 feet long. From there, you can push your own pencil.

There, of course, are some special considerations for viewers on upper floors and on most roofs watching parades, to say nothing of stepladders, stools and other paraphernalia.

However, most people do agree that they wouldn't know what to do with any more visitors than Holland had Saturday.

Many people commented on the size of the Christian elementary band. There were 140 players and together with flag bearers and the like, the marching unit had 152 fifth and sixth grade youngsters. The cadet band had 88 marchers and the high school band 98.

That snappy wooden shoe step of the Junior High band captivated Tulip Time visitors during all three parades. This band was particularly sharp this year, what with new uniforms, all tailored for each youngster in question. It was the third year that the band wore wooden shoes.

Townsfolk got a chuckle out of the title of the picture playing at Holland Theater during Tulip Time. The picture was "Wake Me Up When It's Over."

Lt. Ernest Bear of the Holland Police Department, who organized the Tulip Time traffic control program in cooperation with state police and sheriff's officers, today thanked local residents for their fine cooperation during the 1960 festival, particularly those residents who refrained from parking on the street on tulip lane. This aided not only in moving traffic but gave visitors a fine view of the lanes which were particularly beautiful this year.

Traffic is always hectic on the Saturday of Tulip Time, yet cars moved fairly easily this year. Modern divided highways aid materially in taking care of this problem. It's a far cry from the old days of the two-lane highway between Grand Rapids and Holland. In those days, a driver in Hudsonville could tell when a signal light changed in Holland.

Something was all goofed up for the 3 p.m. performance of the klompen dancers before Saturday's parade of bands. Somehow the first groups stopped near Central Ave. and Eighth St. and stopping was to be the signal for starting the music. This left the bulk of dancers between the police station and Maple Ave. Parade spectators near Civic Center got a wonderful view of close group dancing.

Henry Vander Linde, director for Christian school bands, got a terrific parade workout this year. He would march the first Christian band down Eighth St. and around the corner on River Ave. Then he would hurry back behind the spectators where very few persons saw him and pick up the next band and march it around the corner. Then he did it another time for the last band. Nope, no blisters!

Dave Van Kampen was a busy boy during Saturday's parade. He filled in as a needed drummer in the American Legion band and when he and the band reached Kollen Park he made a quick change of uniform to follow the parade route with the Holland High School band. He also played in the Tulip Time Varieties. The teenager is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Van Kampen of 133 East 32nd St.

Revolving drums were a new gimmick at the band review and parade of bands this year. The drum is attached to a contrivance at chest level and the drum revolves for each beat. One of the band review judges remarked such a ratchet costs about $100.

Persons visiting the tulip farm north of the city remarked about the neat appearance of the Roamer Steel Boat Co., particularly the boats with their canvas covers that resembled huge wooden shoes.

Granville B. Cutler of Plainwell, was back in Holland Saturday lining up and inspecting bands for their part in the big band review. Cutler started this duty years ago instrumental department of the when he was associated with the instrumental department of the public schools.

Home Burns During Parade

A fire at 4:40 p.m. Saturday, during the big parade of bands, caused an estimated $1,000 damage to the home of George Reynolds at 750 Aster Ave. and a bit of confusion among Holland firemen.

One pumper and a tanker had been moved from downtown stations to the home of Fire Chief Dick Brandt at 155 West 31st St. prior to Saturday's parade in an effort to avoid crowds and congestion in the event of an emergency.

When the fire alarm was received a third truck from a downtown station also answered the call. Chief Brandt said this was due to a misunderstanding.

Brandt said that the trucks have been moved away from the downtown area during parades for the last five years. Saturday was the first time an alarm had been received during a parade, Brandt said. He added that action is being taken to avert a possible recurrence of the mistake.

The fire at the Reynolds home apparently started in the kitchen, causing extensive damage to the kitchen and smoke damage throughout the house, firemen said. Just minutes later a second alarm came in from the box at Eighth St. and Central Ave. Firemen said the alarm had accidentally been pulled by a youngster watching the parade.

THE SUMMIT

Our world affairs travel fast today when we think that some 15 years ago the end came to World War II.

Today we have more people, more taxes, and we have more of everything. We have reached a place in the international affairs where we are trying to come to some kind of an agreement concerning the settlement of the problems in Europe. There are explosions of some minor nature in many parts of the free world. It is hard to find information about the countries under the government of the Soviet.

We must remember that we are the top power when it comes to world affairs and so we have many problems. We can only hope that the summit meeting will keep the international affairs on a talking basis.

FLOWERS AND FESTIVALS

Tulip Time this year started off with some cold weather and ended up with some real fine weather for both the people who were part of the festival as well as the people who came to enjoy our community and the festival.

This is a fine time to pull all of the people in the community into the festival affairs for next year as it will soon be time to order the bulbs for the early planting.

Each year it becomes more apparent that the street scrubbing, Dutch dancing, flower shows, parades as well as our beautiful parks and streets are all a great part of the festival. This seems to be the part of the festival that most of our visitors come to see and enjoy. We have heard many wonderful comments. There have, as always, been a few complaints.

Our festival corporate board would like to close affairs just as fast as possible. If you have any reports, statements or bills to be turned in, please do so as soon as possible. We of the festival corporation can always use ideas as well as any monetary donations that you feel you should give to help keep festival operations in the black.

Send your suggestions and other information direct to the festival office in Civic Center. We at the Sentinel, and as a member of the festival corporation want to thank you one and all.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, May 22
Sincerity in Religious Practices
Matthew 6:1-13
By C. P. Dame

Most people hold sincerity in high regard. When a person shows insincerity in religious matters he reveals a tragic weakness. This lesson gives us a fine opportunity to discuss the beauty of being sincere in all our religious practices.

I. Jesus commends sincerity in giving. The lesson text begins with a note of warning: "Take heed that ye do not your alms before men." The Jewish religion taught almsgiving. In the Old Testament times the Jews took care of the poor. Even today Jews give much to charity. The New Testament also stresses giving.

Some modern church members do not like to hear about giving nor do they care about giving but they do not observe the teachings of Jesus. It is possible to give from the wrong motive. We are all more or less selfish and hungry for praise. People who give just in order to win praise from people are not giving from the right motive. It seems that in the days of Jesus some people did advertise their giving. They got what they wanted—the praise of men but not the approval of God. When people give in order to win praise they are not prompted by compassion.

Jesus tells us to give in secret. Does that mean that it is always wrong to give in a public manner? No, not necessarily. A friend of mine gave a dollar in an offering. It occurred to me that if he could give that amount it would be possible for me to do likewise. His good example was not done selfishly but it did inspire others. The motive is important—do we give to glorify God or self?

II. Jesus commends sincerity in prayer. The Jews had stated and regular time for prayers. Sometimes people would stop on a street and pray. There was nothing objectionable about this if their motive was right. However if they stood there a long time in order to be seen of people and win their praise they got the reward they wanted. Jesus objects to the advertising of piety. The reason why Jesus spoke about prayer was because some religious people did some of the things he disliked.

The Lord commends privacy in prayer. Our Lord says we should shut the door of the closet and pray in secret. This does not mean that all public prayer is amiss. Daniel prayed publicly before an open window. The disciples saw Jesus praying. The Lord commended the public prayer in the temple. It is not the place that is important but the spirit in which we pray. A closed door shuts out the noises and disturbances of the world and makes communion with God more possible.

Directness in prayer is also recommended. Jesus says, "pray to thy Father." Children are very direct about things they ask for from parents. They do not beat around the bush. Simplicity in prayer is also commanded. Disciples should not use vain repetitions. Our prayers can be too long. The Lord wants His disciples to be unlike heathen who have a wrong idea of God.

III. Jesus gave His disciples a model prayer in the Lord's Prayer. The short prayer is divided into two parts. The first three petitions deal with the things of God, the next four with the things that pertain to man. The words, "Our Father," contradict atheism and proclaim the truth that God hears, sees, cares and knows. The words "us" and "ours" tell us that we should not only be concerned about ourselves but also about the needs of others.

The needs of mankind are universal. The last sentence of the Lord's Prayer is not found in Luke 11:4, nor in the oldest manuscripts and therefore it is not in the Revised Standard Version translation. However it is a fitting concluding sentence.

Red Cross Building Discussed

General plans for erecting a Red Cross building in the vicinity of Holland Hospital were outlined by Arthur Read, chairman of the Ottawa County Red Cross chapter, at a meeting of the Red Cross board of directors Tuesday night at Van Raalte's in Zeeland.

Plans call for a modern functional building not to exceed $30,000 to be erected on leased property. Costs would be amortized over a period of years and it is expected costs will not exceed cost of operations under the present setup and perhaps may be less.

By having Red Cross headquarters near the hospital, trained personnel of the hospital would be available in the blood program, thereby conforming to national policies and safeguards. The greater share of the new building would be financed through reserves in Red Cross and the remainder would be borrowed. It was pointed out that operational funds may not be used for building.

Joe Moran of Holland briefly sketched plans for the 1960 swimming program emphasizing that facilities are far from adequate in the Holland area, particularly from the pollution angle. He said some 2,200 children took swimming lessons last summer in Holland and Red Cross spent $4,577, not counting allocations from the city recreational fund.

It was pointed out that Red Cross operates an extensive program to provide trained swimming instructors but that generally Red Cross does not operate total swimming programs. Plans have not been completed for swimming programs but because of facilities and the fact that many areas have not raised full quotas in the fund campaign, the program may be somewhat curtailed. Grand Haven has three swimming sites including the high school pool.

Mrs. James Ledinsky of Grand Haven was named second vice chairman and Edward Bushouse of Grand Haven was named secretary.

And Then He Wasn't Fined

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Court Reporter Dan Vander West of Holland was plunged into a dramatic incident Wednesday cuffed and marched before a justice of the peace.

The court house gag came after Dan had playfully put a "reasonable facsimile" of a dollar bill in the coffee fund of the probation department. As Dan was chatting with a Grand Rapids lawyer before court opened, Deputy Al Hilbrand served him with a warrant charging him with "tendering in payment as true a counterfeit dollar bill in the kitty-kat of the probation department with intent to defraud the department by obtaining one cup of coffee (half strength) and one gooey chocolate covered doughnut."

Handcuffed, Dan was marched across the corridor to the prosecutor's office where Justice Lawrence De Witt just happened to be. Also present were the prosecutor, assistant prosecutor, deputies and Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith.

At the "arraignment" Justice De Witt opined that Dan wouldn't be able to pay a fine because with his hands handcuffed he wouldn't be able to get his wallet. Judge Smith said he would vouch for Dan any day, and the case was closed.

Busscher-Bouwman Vows Spoken

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Busscher

The marriage of Miss Sandra Kay Bouwman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bouwman, 504 Jacob Ave., and Melvin Dale Busscher, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Busscher, 1058 Graafschap Rd., which took place April 22 was solemnized in Trinity Reformed Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Harland Steele as the wedding party gathered before a profusion of ferns, two bouquets of mums and gladioli and spiral candelabra.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, wore a floor length gown of taffeta and lace. The sabrina neckline was delicately embroidered in sequins and pearls and the bouffant skirt of bridal taffeta had diagonal sequin-decorated medallions of chantilly lace. The skirt flowed to a chapel train and the veil of imported illusion was held in place by a crown of chantilly lace. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Miss Donna Bouwman was selected as maid of honor by her sister and for bridesmaid Miss Bouwman selected Miss Betty Bush. Both attendants donned ballerina length gowns of peacock blue chiffon. The fitted bodices had yokes of pleated light blue chiffon at the neckline which formed the draped mock sabrina necklines. used every year. Only those children who can march comfortably in wooden shoes may wear them in the parade. An uncomfortable fit or inexperience in walking in them can cause nasty blisters. (Sentinel photo)

Sunshine Helps End Tulip Time Festival on a Happy Note

Holland wrote finis Monday to another big successful Tulip Time Festival, a four-day event which opened under cloudy skies on Wednesday but had progressively better weather and plenty of sunshine on each succeeding day.

Best of all, the tulips were in peak condition for the 1960 festival and even Holland residents were impressed with the splash of color and the long stems. Visitors were effusive over the prize colorful blooms at city curbs and mass plantings in parks and other areas. As a special bonus, the Japanese cherry trees at Kollen Park and some other locations were in full bloom for the four-day festival.

Sunday is not considered a part of the festival, but the city swarmed with cars and visitors all day. Steady streams toured tulip lane. Generally the cars kept moving but there were some halts in Kollen Park and on the boulevards. The greater majority of visitors were good natured and there was little horn blowing.

Police and Tulip Time leaders had difficulty in arriving at crowd estimates for the festival. Some people thought weekend crowds were larger than last year. On the overall picture, visitors were as numerous as ever and probably will approach the half-million figure usually associated with Tulip Time in May. With tulips in excellent condition, visitors will troupe in for another week.

Holland was blessed with sunshine for most of the festival and even a dark opening day on Wednesday brought no rain. Many other sections of the state had some rain most every day. Temperatures ranged from cold 40's on Wednesday to a high of 74 on Sunday, each day progressively warmer.

Largest crowds gathered for the Parade of Bands Saturday, a spectacular event with 42 bands, several bugle and drum corps and dozens of baton corps. About 25 floats, which included several winning floats from the Benton Harbor Blossom Festival parade a week earlier, helped separate the marching bands.

It took about one hour and 40 minutes to pass a given point in Saturday's parade of which Paul E. Van Valkenburgh was grand marshal. Work began on lining up entries as early as February. Also in the parade were a large unit of Holland's Co. D, National Guard, a Red Cross first aid unit, politicians, the county dairy princess, Navy recruiting float and the 300 klompers dancers, this time riding in convertibles after four days of performances.
