Hon. John R. Dethmers, former Holland resident who served many years as justice of the Michigan Supreme Court, will deliver the Memorial Day oration in Pilgrim Home Cemetery following the Monday parade. He is currently associated with a Muskegon law firm.

The cemetery program will follow the traditional format with the march to Monument Square, the reading of the Gettysburg Address, choral readings by Camp Fire Girls, the roll call of honored dead, decorating of graves, and firing of military salute.

In case of rain, the program will be given in Civic Center at 10 a.m.

Measles On Upswing In County

GRAND HAVEN — With an increased incidence of measles reported since May 1 from scattered sections of Ottawa County, the Ottawa County Health Department again reminds parents of the need of having their children's immunizations brought up to date.

Dr. Paul J. Christenson, Ottawa County Health Director, emphasized the need to maintain adequate immunization of children, especially over the summer months when greater exposures are brought about by vacation trips, camping and other summer activities. Too, it is most important that children entering school in the fall be up to date in their immunizations.

It is particularly important at this time that all the children, ages 1-14 be protected against measles, as evidenced by the increased incidence of measles cases reported in the county this month.

The Health Department conducts regular immunization clinics in Grand Haven, Holland, Marne and Bursley School. The Grand Haven clinics are held at the County Building in Grand Haven every Wednesday morning; the Marne Clinic, held at Marne Elementary School on the first Tuesday of every month from 1-3 p.m., and the Bursley Clinic held in Bursley School on the second Thursday of every month from 9-11 a.m.

It is recommended that parents contact their own physicians to update their immunizations or contact the Health Department if they choose to use those facilities.

West Ottawa Asks Renewal Of Millage

West Ottawa's board of education Monday adopted a holding-line budget for the coming school year in asking voters to renew an 18.9 mill levy for one year. The levy, voted last year, expires.

Voters will be asked to approve the millage request at the June 14 school election. School Supt. Lloyd Van Raalte said a cut of some $222,222 in state aid was being offset by increased state equalized valuation in the district.

The board endorsed steps toward creation of a vocational technical facility in the county but indicated a desire that existing facilities be used at their maximum before other facilities are improved or added cooperatively, all with an eye toward centralized facilities to serve the county.

The board directed the West Ottawa administration to explore areas of greater cooperation with West Ottawa, Grand Haven and Spring Lake areas in vocational technical studies.

Recommendations for improvements to the Pine Creek school playground were approved as were proposals to replace the North Holland school sewage disposal system and the Waukazoo school boiler and construction of a utility building for maintenance purposes at the administration building.

Arrest Student On Drug Count

GRAND HAVEN — Lucky Larry Baber, 22, Saginaw, staying at campus apartments at Allendale, was arrested by Ottawa sheriff's officers Monday at Allendale for possession of hashish and appeared in Ottawa district court Tuesday. His arraignment was adjourned as he seeks to confer with an attorney. Bond of $1,000 was not posted.

Charles David Lue, 26, Spring Lake, arrested for entering without breaking but with intent to commit larceny, also asked that he be permitted to see counsel. He did not post $500 bond.

Four-Inch Twig Removed From Head Of Holland Boy

An eight-year-old Holland boy is well on the road to recovery after a harrowing six-week period in which a four-inch twig was embedded in his head.

It was on Good Friday of spring vacation April 9 that Paul De Ruiter, a second grader at South Side Christian Elementary School, fell into a bush in the yard of his home at 69 West 12th St. while playing basketball with his brother, resulting in what appeared to be an injury just above the eye.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius De Ruiter, took the lad to a physician the next day, and he later was a patient in Holland Hospital. X-rays generally do not reveal wood.

Three and a half weeks ago, the boy was admitted to the Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor for tests, treatment and eventual surgery which saw the removal of the four-inch twig which had entered the boy's head just above the eye. The twig was bent in the middle.

The family was informed that if improvement continued, Paul might be coming home this weekend. It is expected he will require further treatment, possibly hospitalization, for double vision.

The parents came to Holland from the Netherlands shortly after World War II.

Museum To Get Replica Of Sculpture

Prof. H. J. Prakkie of Meppen in the province of Drenthe, the Netherlands, will be in Holland at 4 p.m. Tuesday, May 25, to present a replica of "The Seer," a sculpture commissioned by the Drenthe Cultural Society, to the Netherlands Museum. The ceremony will take place at 4 p.m. and the public is invited.

Later Tuesday, Dr. Prakkie will deliver a lecture in the commons of Western Theological Seminary at 8 p.m. His subject will be "Why the van Raalte Immigrants Came to America."

First contacts with Dr. Prakkie date back to 1946 and 1957 when Holland was planning the memorable observance of the centennial of the Dutch immigration to Michigan. At that time, Dr. Prakkie was editor of the publishing firm of van Gorum in Assen and was deeply interested in historical matters.

As a result of this relationship, there was the publication of the two-volume work edited by Prof. Henry S. Lucas titled "Dutch Immigrant Memoirs and related Writings." This had been preceded by Dr. Prakkie's book, "Drenthe in Michigan."

This publication inspired the Drenthe Cultural Society of which Dr. Prakkie was chairman to commission the sculptor, William Valk, to create an original work of art in commemoration of this centennial event. A statue of Evert Zagers, an immigrant from the province of Drenthe, who was a member of the vanguard of the settlers here, was chosen as a symbol of the spirit of the pioneers of Drenthe and installed in the wall of the Town Hall at the village of Sleen.

The sculpture titled "The Seer" was unveiled by Dr. Herman B. Baruch, U.S. ambassador to the Netherlands, June 16, 1948.

Dr. Prakkie generously turned over the proceeds of the sale of his book to help subsidize the cost of the sculptor's work. At the time, the sculptor was instructed to make a replica which was reserved for the Netherlands Museum.

Now some 23 years later, the occasion is made possible since Dr. Prakkie has been spending the spring semester as Netherlands Visiting Professor in the School of Journalism at the University of Iowa and will be spending the week of May 23 in Holland.

One Injured As Trailer Upsets

Clyde R. Davis, 50, of 751 Second Ave., escaped serious injuries Tuesday when the car he was driving and the 18-foot travel trailer it was pulling overturned along US-31 at Port Sheldon St. in Olive Township.

Davis was treated at Holland Hospital for abrasions and released. Ottawa County sheriff's deputies said Davis had passed another vehicle and a gust of wind apparently pushed the trailer off the pavement. Davis lost control while attempting to return the unit to the roadway and the trailer and car overturned.

Upper Apartment Damaged By Fire

Damage was estimated at $500 in a fire Sunday at 5:24 p.m. in a second floor apartment at 401½ Central Ave. No injuries were reported.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in a wastebasket and spread to a wall and burned to the roof. Some water and smoke damage was reported to the ground floor apartment.

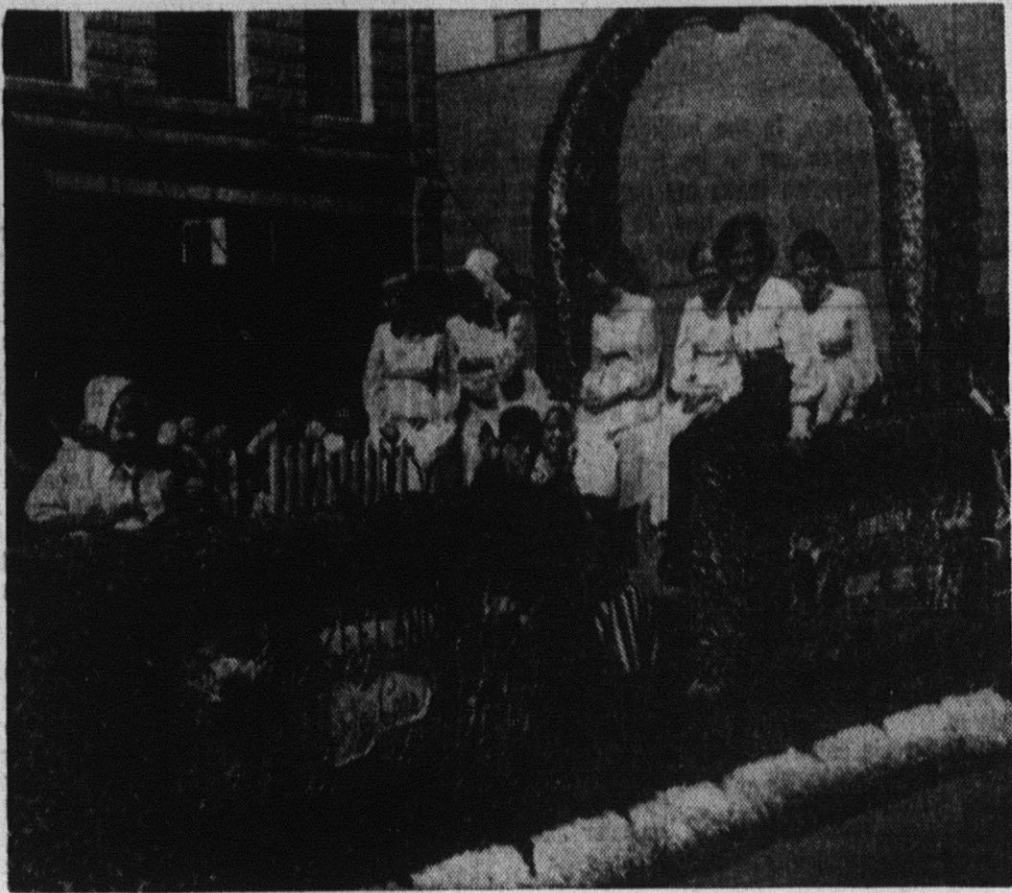

The upper apartment was occupied by John Barents who was away at the time, firemen said.

Police said Antvelink told them he apparently slipped the gears of his truck into reverse by mistake.

ONCE A DANCER — The familiar tune of the Klompen Dance gets into the system of former dancers who volunteered to dance again this year in the street in front of the Warm Friend Hotel on Thursday and Friday mornings after the merchants scrub the streets in front of their shops.

Alumni Return to Dance at Festival

The old magic of donning a Dutch costume and going through the steps of the famous Klompen Dance hasn't worn off for 72 former dancers.

They are the Alumni Dutch Dancers who will perform Thursday and Friday mornings at 10 on the street in front of the Hotel Warm Friend. They will also dance on Wednesday night with the entire group of Dutch Dancers on Graves Pl.

Most removed from the current batch of dancers are the dancers from 1953 through 1956 Carlene DeWitt Kaashoek and Verna Grotenhuis Quist. They are in the second group of Alumni Dutch Dancers.

Others in this group are Pat Beukema Fought, '58; Karen Halach Wingers, '59; Elaine Meyerling Sandy, '59-'60; Elaine Vander Veiden, '59-'60; Jan Aalderink Boerman, '56-'59; Lynne Slayer Rowan, '59; Linda Koopman Volkers, '56-'59; Cheryl Nykerk Garvelink, '56-'59; Connie Speet Jalving, '58-'60; Shirley Rozeboom Dams, '58-'60.

In 1969 Carlene De Witt Kaashoek and Anne Appledorn Mulder formed a group of alumni dancers in a small group and danced in the streets during Tulip Time. In 1970 the idea caught fire and there were five groups with one former "klomper" coming from Kalamazoo to practice each week.

This year's group practiced every week for several weeks to stay in condition. They provide a baby sitting service for those who need it. During the dance the little Dutchmen will be wearing costumes and scrubbing with their mothers before they dance. It's a real civic project and delights the visitors.

Ministerial Group Elects New Officers

At a regular monthly meeting of the Holland - Zeeland Ministerial Association held in the Warm Friend Hotel, Monday new officers were elected. Jerrien Gunnink will serve as the new president, Paul Robinson as the secretary and Don Roberts as treasurer. Other newly-elected officers include: Floyd Bailey, vice president, John Draisma, assistant secretary-treasurer, and Craig Seitz, assistant treasurer.

Professor Dale S. DeWitt of Grace Bible College, Grand Rapids, presented a paper on the subject of abortion in the perspective of Biblical considerations. Dr. DeWitt presented a careful analysis of the societal thrust for abortion reform, including arguments for liberation of abortion laws, such as unwanted children, population control, and current pressure groups for reform in abortion laws. Then he presented some Biblical evidences allowing for permission of abortion but indicating that evidence was inconclusive either way.

He presented the Biblical evidence for prohibiting abortion on the basis of passages projecting characteristics of personality or human experience back into the fetal stage, the sacredness of life, and the certainty that a fetus is life. He supported the Biblical arguments with many references from history and psychology, finally concluding that because abortion is an evil it ought to be avoided. However his paper allowed for the possibility that abortion may sometimes be a tolerable evil.

A lively discussion with many questions asked of Dr. DeWitt followed the paper. A request was made by the ministers that the paper might be published in booklet form to serve as a guideline in helping them counsel people on this problem.

EARLY HERITAGE RECALLED

Today is Heritage Day of Michigan Week.

Holland residents have little trouble recalling early history. There is never any doubt about Holland's Dutch background and the part the Dutch founders played in setting up a city which today is envied by many a visitor from elsewhere.

To recall Holland's heritage, there are five historical markers placed here by the Michigan Historical Society. They are in Centennial Park, at Hope College, Western Theological Seminary, Old Wing Mission and at Third Reformed Church. The Old Wing Mission on East 40th St. east of Waverly Rd. is the place where Dr. A. C. Van Raalte and his advanced scouting party stayed on their first visit here from Allegan.

On Heritage Day, Michigan residents pay tribute to the hardy pioneers, explorers, fur traders, miners, lumbermen and farmers who wrested a living from the wooded wilderness which has become the Great Lake State.

Third Church Holds Mother, Daughter Dinner

Pots of geraniums and marigolds also adorned the tables.

Mrs. A. A. Dykstra welcomed over 200 guests. Mrs. Roger Rietberg, Guild president, gave the invocation.

After the meal, Mrs. Dean Sommers led the audience in group singing. Girls from the fourth, fifth and sixth grade Sunday School classes provided special music. Mrs. Jack Bolhuis accompanied the singing. Guests from other churches were introduced, including several out-of-state guests.

Mrs. Jerry Veldman led devotions on love. A tribute to daughters was given by Mrs. Ron Boeve, while her daughter, Sue Ann, gave the tribute to mothers.

Mrs. Seth Kalkman presented the program, "The Saga of Sue's Shoes." Mrs. Mark Walvoord closed the program with prayer.

Hostesses for the evening were the Esther and Rebecca circles.

When People Refuse God's Love
Isaiah 5:1-7; 20-21
By C. P. Dame

All Bible readers are familiar with the parables found in the New Testament, but not all know much about the parables of the Old Testament. The lesson text contains the Parable of the Vineyard. It teaches that God when he makes an investment looks for returns.

I. God makes investments. He did so in the past and does so today. Isaiah wrote the parable of the lesson and God inspired him to write it. In his day vineyards were popular. Some people today take pride in their gardens just as in the past some were proud of their vineyards. Isaiah had a friend who planted a vineyard in a fine spot. The land was good but he improved it, cleared it of stones, then fenced it, and built a tower on it and a winepress and he expected fruit after making so much investment. Instead of getting choice grapes he got wild grapes, and the owner was disappointed.

God was Isaiah's friend and the owner of the field. Judah was the field. God chose the Jewish people for His own and gave them a choice location. It is still wanted by people and hence the trouble in the Mid-East. God set the Jewish people apart from all the nations for a purpose. By giving them His laws and a sacrificial system of offerings and prophets of an unusual kind, He taught them and expected fruit, but He did not get it.

God keeps on making investments. People who have been baptised, trained, schooled for Christian service are expected to show it by being fruit-bearing Christians. Parents who invest money and time in their children have the right to expect blessed results. God has made salvation possible. He prepared his people to receive it but when it was offered to the nation, rejection followed.

II. Some people disappoint God. Israel as a nation had been benefited greatly. The failure of the nation made God ask questions. Was he to blame? Did he fail in some respect? Sometimes a failure demands an investigation. God did his best regarding Israel and God is doing his best now in seeking the salvation of people. The Old Testament records how often Israel was helped and blessed and refused God's love. Today some people are greatly blessed but they never stop to consider God who is the source of all their blessings.

III. The rejection of God's love is costly. We cannot do as we please and get away with it. The Bible tells about God's judgment — a topic much forgotten today. Following the parable of the vineyard there are six sections, each beginning with the word "woe." Two verses, 20 and 21, are a part of the text.

Any person who substitutes evil for good and darkness for light breaks down the moral order and undermines the nation. Woe is also pronounced upon those "who are wise in their own eyes, and shrew in their own sight"—upon the pride of heart. Some people think they are smart by leaving God out of their lives—they are sophisticated but not smart. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom.

Kristin Bushouse Is Chosen For Army Nursing Program

Kristin J. Bushouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claus Bushouse, 191 West 11th St., has been accepted by the Walter Reed Army Institute of Nursing Program (WRAIN).

To be eligible for the WRAIN program, applicants must graduate with a high scholastic standing from high school, complete the College Entrance Examination Board of the American College Test, be recommended by their high school principal and be approved by the Surgeon General, Department of the Army in Washington D.C.

Applicants who are accepted receive nearly all educational expenses for four years. They are enlisted in the Army for participation in the WRAIN program. At the same time they are enrolled in a college or university to work for a baccalaureate degree in nursing.

The first two years of study are spent in an approved and regionally accredited four-year college or university in the U.S. offering the required general education and pre-professional courses. The Army pays all tuition and some other fees directly to the college. Students receive the pay and allowances of an E-3 (Pfc).

After two years, if they meet the admission requirements, they enroll in the University of Maryland School of Nursing. The University faculty directly supervises all instruction. The Walter Reed Army Medical Center provides clinical nursing and other educational experiences.

Mrs. Bushouse plans to attend Calvin College for her first year of training and then spend the second year at the University of Michigan before enrolling in the University of Maryland.

Upon graduation with a B.S. degree in nursing, Miss Bushouse will be appointed as a second lieutenant in the Army Nurse Corps to serve on active duty for three years.

The total number of applicants nationwide to the program numbered 3,000, including 27 from Michigan. Out of these 130 were accepted. Three other students besides Miss Bushouse were approved from Michigan.

Miss Bushouse is presently a senior at Holland Christian High School. She is a Klompen Dancer and a Pinkie at Holland City Hospital.

ALLEGAN — The city's population is expected to nearly double this weekend when more than 4,000 Michigan members of the National Campers and Hikers Association converge on the Allegan County Fairgrounds for their ninth annual spring campout.

Donald Wood, of Belmont, campout general chairman, said advance registration is nearly 1,600 which might bring total attendance for the three-day event to well over 4,000.

Advance preparations for the campout have been being made since early in the year. Officials of the Allegan County Fair and Allegan Area Chamber of Commerce have been involved in local arrangements for the event which is now expected to attract nearly 1,600 family camping groups from 166 NCHA adult and 128 teen chapters in Michigan.

All of the level area of the 100-acre fairgrounds has been staked out with number camping spaces for NCHA members. A program is planned for the three days including NCHA national campout films Friday night, an entertainment program Saturday night and a teen-chapter dance featuring the crowning of an NCHA teen-queen.

Tulip Time Echoes

Foreign visitors to Tulip Time circulated freely through the crowds here Saturday. A local woman on the Board of Realtors float spoke to people from West Tasmania, Ghana, Africa; Spain, Portugal, Japan, Addis Ababa and even the city of Timbuctu.

They had come to Holland mostly from Benton Harbor, Chicago, Detroit and Buffalo. Among them were five physician families and one research sociologist from Tokyo.

Taking first division at the Review of Bands Saturday were Godfrey-Lee of Wyoming, Cedar Springs, Columbia Central of Brooklyn, Corunna, Grandville, Grand Haven, Charlotte, John Glenn of Westland and Owosso.

Other bands participating were Hudsonville, Allegan, Kenowa Hills, Chesaning, Ludington and Fenton.

For the Owosso band in the AA section, Saturday's visit marked the last visit of Carl Bremer who is retiring this year after 37 years of teaching, 27 of them for Owosso and 24 appearances at Tulip Time reviews.

Charlotte's appearance was their 31st for Tulip Time and the 26th year the band has been directed by Robert Powell. And the band received the equivalent of first division ratings at every appearance.

The Dutch Heritage show had a new town crier this year, John Visscher, who replaced Dirk Den Hartog who was busy elsewhere in the show. A new costume also made its appearance, a Staphorst costume worn by Mary Lou Bolt. This comes from Staphorst, a secluded city which shuns tourism. The skirt is just below the knees and the headpiece has a firm clamp around the ears.

There probably have been more questions about wooden shoes this year than ever before. Inevitably, the information turns to the number of socks worn, and visitors usually are rocked at the thought of six to 10 pairs to make klomping comfortable.

A feature of the Dutch Heritage show at the last performance Saturday morning, the master of ceremonies presented Pauline Vander Kooy, office manager for Tulip Time, with a plant in appreciation of her work behind the scenes, getting the show on the road.

Henry Vander Linde, the man who not only manages all the bands for Christian schools but also the big Review of Bands for Tulip Time, ran into a little problem in the press box at Riverview Park Saturday afternoon.

He had all his papers laid out at the microphone when a mighty gust of wind swept through the place and his papers including the massed band formation flew out the window clear down to Black River.

Fortunately, Everett Kisinger, one of the judges, had a similar sheet. He sat on it for the remainder of the review.

Two band review judges are old hands at judging bands — Eugene F. Heeter of LaGrange, Ill., who started the reviews back in the 1930s while band director at Holland High, and Everett Kisinger, who came to Holland for the first time 34 years ago while director of the Grandville band.

Kisinger directed band in Grandville 1937 to 1941, at Grand Haven 1941 to 1944, in Holland 1944 to 1948, and then went to the University of Illinois and has been there ever since.

The third judge was Dr. Kenneth Bloomquist, director of bands at Michigan State University.

Holland police said about 10 ambulance runs to Holland Hospital were made during parade time Saturday, mostly people felled while watching the parade. Oxygen was administered.

Ten years ago it was another story. The festival of 1961 was plagued with 90-degree weather for five days. High school band marchers dropped by the score. Well over 100 persons, both marchers and watchers, ended up in the hospital.

most enthusiastic participants of all, got the extra mile on occasion. Some boys and girls at South Side Christian School made a daily practice of wearing their Dutch costumes all during Tulip Time Week. One young lady in the fourth grade wore her wooden shoes too and the teacher, Mrs. Ann Homkes, followed the usual Dutch custom of having her leave the shoes at the door.

Bert Brandt, longtime local bandman who "retired" to Palmdale, Calif., only to become immersed in band work again, was found in the front row at Saturday's band review, snapping with the rhythm of the martial music which enveloped that Tulip Time crowd for over two hours. He was in Holland with his wife Ann, for three weeks, visiting their daughter, Ethel.

Bert, who directed bands for Hudsonville for many years, always brought his band to Holland for Tulip Time. In those days, he used to have over 50 per cent of the youngsters in the band, some as young as fourth grade.

A particularly fine close to Tulip Time for the visitors who remained for Sunday was the program in Dimment Memorial Chapel Sunday afternoon.

Featured were the women's choir, the men's choir and the chapel choir, and the climax came with the two final numbers, "Prayer for Peace," Paul Fetter, and "O, Clap Your Hands," Ralph Vaughan Williams, which the choir sang at a White House service last fall.

How many in that Christian Elementary Band?

Director Henry Vander Linde says the band has 160 youngsters this year, coming from four elementary schools, South Side, Maplewood, West Side and Rose Park Christian.

They attend band classes in their own schools and after spring vacation in April they get together to practice as a whole and learn to march.

The price of a band uniform keeps going up and up, right in line with the cost of living.

Henry Vander Linde said a uniform replacement this year for a high school uniform costs $127 for the same uniform which cost $82 in 1966.

In comparison, Gene Heeter figured those maroon and orange capes back in the late 1920s cost about $1. In those days, the player provided his own white duck pants.

The Spartan Marching Band from the Cherry Hill High School at Inkster, which participated in the Tulip Time parade of bands on Saturday, made a sort of vacation out of the tour and stayed over Sunday. Two bus loads of the young people attended church at All Saints' Episcopal Church, Saugatuck and St. Peter's Catholic Church in Douglas. They stayed at the Lakeshore Motel in Saugatuck.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Harderwyk Church

Mrs. David Alan Prins

The Harderwyk Christian Reformed Church provided the setting for the exchange of nuptial vows by Miss Laurel Buursma, and David Alan Prins, Friday evening before the Rev. Robert J. Holwerda.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Buursma, 278 North 160th Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Prins, route 5. Mrs. Thomas Vanden Berg played appropriate wedding music while the bride's brother, David C. Buursma, was the soloist.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of nylon chiffon having a chantillace bodice with lantern sleeves and modified skirt. Her train - length mantilla of illusion fell from a triple bow of chantillace and was edged with the same lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Herman Tuls, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore a floor - length gown of aqua voile having self-ruffling at the high neck and cuffs of the bishop sleeves. She wore a matching headpiece with bouffant veil and carried a wicker basket of spring flowers. The bridesmaids Marcia Waterway, Gayle Waterway, and Ruth Prins were attired similarly to the matron of honor and carried wicker baskets of spring flowers.

Calvin Prins was the groom's best man while serving as groomsmen were Keith Hulst, Lloyd Koops and Leonard J. Buursma. Lee Karsten and James Smits seated the guests.

At the reception held in the church parlor, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smits and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Bonnema were masters and mistresses of ceremony. Festival Draws Record Crowds Greater crowds than ever before converged on Holland Saturday for the Tulip Time Parade of Bands, a marvel of snappy marching by 54 bands and precise timing by parade marshals.

Spectators lined the two-mile parade route 10 to 12 deep on the walks, plus all upper floor windows, and on those convenient bleachers which have been added in recent years.

The weather was near to perfect, if not perfect. With temperatures in the low 70s, fanned by a brisk wind, both marchers and spectators were comfortable, even though sunburn touched many a brow in the long which saw crowds forming shortly after noon for street events which started with klompen dancing at 2 p.m. and the parade at 3 p.m. It took two hours to pass a given point for the parade.

The 1971 festival had the best weather in years. It started out cold with only 42 degrees for the opening scrubbing ceremony Wednesday, and then advanced under unclouded skies to the 70s for Saturday and Sunday. The only sprinkles during Tulip Time fell a half hour after the klompen dance performance around Centennial Park Saturday night. There was a harder rain later and a brief electrical storm Saturday night and early Sunday.

Some people estimated crowds of 200,000 on Saturday. Back in the 1930s, an enterprising Chamber of Commerce secretary placed visitors at a million for the nine-day festival which spanned two weekends. When Tulip Time was reorganized after World War II into four-day festivals, leaders sought to become more realistic, putting total Tulip Time visitors during May at a half-million.

Whatever figures people choose to follow, there were no dissenting opinions Saturday that the one-day crowd was greater than ever before.

Holland police, assisted by other enforcement agencies, kept traffic moving after the Saturday parade in what some people regarded as magic. A helicopter overhead alerted ground officers on best routes to follow as well as spotting trouble points. Long after the heavy press was eased in the city, tieups on highways far removed from the city were reported.

Tulip Time Manager Dwight Ferris and Tulip Time President James Vande Poel joined in a heart-felt thank-you to Holland citizens and all others who helped make Tulip Time successful this year.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of sheer nylon over taffeta having bands of cluny lace overlaid with light blue ribbon accenting the wide cuffs, stand-up collar, waistline, bodice, skirt and matching train. A camelot headpiece held a mantilla of bridal illusion and she carried three white long-stemmed roses. The gown was designed by the bride and made by the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Bert Brower.

The bride's sister, Gayle Bremer, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Bev Klaasen and Bev Bremer, also a sister of the bride. They wore sheer light blue gowns with the bishop sleeves and stand-up collars accented by embroidered boleros, and carried lily of the valley.

Those whose mothers no longer had their own dresses modeled older women's dresses of the congregation. The oldest dress dated back to 1901. Some amusing events concerning some of the wedding formed the evening's entertainment.

Pat O'Brien, the commissioner of Bay City in Holland Friday on Mayor Exchange, was interested in a visit here 30 years ago by Pat O'Brien, the actor. That was in the days when the Holland Furnace Co. brought in Hollywood Stars to Holland for Tulip Time, and broadcast coast-to-coast.

When Pat O'Brien was here, he played the Irish cop in a sketch with one of the characters who played in the Old Fiber McGee show.

Sidelights

The quantity of post cards headed all over the world mailed from Holland during Tulip Time is phenomenal... almost enough to make the sorting clerks dream in color.

That brings a reminder to everybody that anything mailed Sunday must carry that postal rate boost. It's eight cents an ounce for letter mail and six cents for a post card.

A full house at Dimment Memorial Chapel Thursday night was treated to a fine interpretation of a new work by Norman Dello Joio entitled "Promise of Spring" presented by the Hope College Orchestra, the Hope College Chorus and the West Ottawa Senior Choir.

"Promise of Spring" is part of a longer work entitled "Evocations" commissioned by the Arts Council of Tampa, Fla., and was first performed Oct. 2, 1970.

The monumental work was directed locally by Robert Ritsema, orchestra conductor. Roger Davis is director of the Hope College Chorus and Harley Brown is director of the West Ottawa choir.

Mrs. Ruth Marlow of Granville, Ohio, 92 years old, may be the oldest visitor to Tulip Time this year. She is here to see the festival with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Koerner, also of Granville. The Koerners have a son, Kenneth Koerner, a freshman at Hope College. Mrs. Marlow is enjoying every minute of her visit, touring Windmill Island on Thursday and seeing the flower show today. She is a charter member of the American Daffodil Society.

Judging was done Friday in Holland's tulip planting contest and first prize of a $100 savings bond went to Mrs. Frances Douma for her front yard planting at 943 Grandridge. Second prize of a $50 bond went to Maurice Minnema, 85 West 34th St.

Six third prizes of $25 bonds were won by Ed Berends, 157 West 30th St.; John Karsten, of 880 Paw Paw Dr.; Charles Kuymers, 363 West 20th St.; Roger Vander Meulen, 379 East 26th St.; Gil Van Wylen, 87 East 23rd St., and Landis Zylman, 16 East 29th St. Honorable mention went to Peter Talsma, 160 East 35th St. and Birchwood Manor, 493 West 32nd St. Judges were Jerry Van Egmond and his wife Willemina of Upper Arlington, Columbus, Ohio. Contest chairmen were Park Supt. De Graaf and former Mayor Nelson Bosman, members of the Tulip Time board.

Chief reaction to the Dutch Heritage Show in Civic Center has been how "clean" the entertainment is... and the visitors were not referring to spit-and-polish cleanliness but the simple humor of the show based on Dutch costumes and customs, laced with songs, dances and other surprises.

In displaying costumes of yesteryear, emcee Harry Hockstra interrupts the narrator to say miniskirts can be found in the Netherlands today — and Faith Meilof crosses the stage wearing a miniskirt.

The Ellerbrook twins, Nancy and Diane, always get a hand for their song-dance combination of an old popular Dutch game, "Twee Emmertjes Water Hallen" or "Fetching Two Pails of Water." The twins have done this act at least six years. This year they are aided by Shirley Visscher and Frances Karsten.

John Karsten is very careful about the costume he wore in the Dutch Heritage Show. It is the property of a friend whose grandfather bought it for his wedding in South Holland, the Netherlands, around 1845 to 1850. It is made of a firm fabric and well lined. Yes, it's black. John gives careful instructions when he takes it to the cleaners.

John Verheul, a high school student in the Dutch Heritage Show, is a versatile chap who plays the accordion. This year when the organ music was mislaid John also took over the organ and faked the accompaniments with better-than-average skill. His pal, Cal Holtgeerts, also plays the accordion in the show.

Between 350 and 400 campsites were in use at Holland State Park for Tulip Time with most people arriving Friday between 8 p.m. and midnight. In fact, there were so many campers that park officials are referring the overflow to other camping areas today.

Camping is way ahead of last year, probably because it rained nearly every day during the 1970 festival.

With the rise in popularity of today's low-slung sports cars, the convertible no longer is top-of-the-heap in the great car dream.

In fact, they're really rather scarce, and Buick Motor Division had to scrounge to come up with 20 1971 convertibles for Tulip Time courtesy cars this year. On top of that Vandenberg Buick arranged for 25 more (not all of them convertibles) for use in parades and other functions, all identified with white wooden shoe plastic signs.

Bill Vandenberg Jr. and Clay Ter Haar did the work on recruiting and Ivan Bosman and Dwight Ferris carried on from there for Tulip Time.

riding in three chartered buses, are taking in Tulip Time this year as guests of Zeeland Girl Scouts.

The buses were given a police escort into Zeeland Wednesday and the girls were welcomed by Mrs. Leon Van Harn, neighborhood chairman, Zeeland Mayor Frank Hoogland and Chamber of Commerce President John De Vries. The city of Zeeland was host at a picnic in Zeeland City Park.

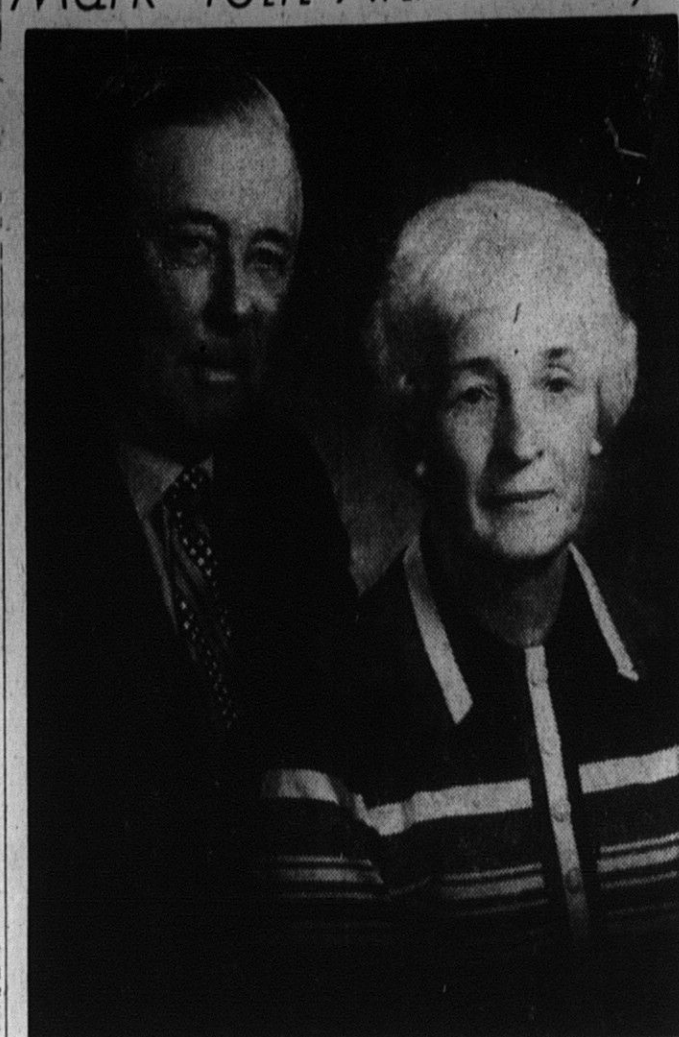

The entire group viewed the children's parade Thursday and two Canadian girls rode on the Zeeland Girl Scout float. The float also displayed a Canadian flag for the event.

With a fine eye for balance, city officials in planning entertainment for the two Bay City commissioners on Mayor Exchange Day Friday included both Holland boat companies. The visitors toured Slickcraft Co. on its tour of the south side industrial park Friday afternoon along with the Beech-Nut Co., and then boarded a Chris-Craft with Chris Smith and Bill Jacobs as crew in the early evening at Kollen Park for a cruise of Lake Macatawa and Lake Michigan before going to Point West for dinner.

The two commissioners, Michael J. Campbell and Pat O'Brien, were remembered with some products made in Holland. There were Seven-Up carriers from Brooks Products Co., Life Savers from Beech-Nut, glass cruets from La Barge Mirrors, pharmaceuticals from De Pree, rusk from Hekman Rusk and assorted pickles and relishes from Heinz.

Barbershop Quartet Show Highlighted by Comedy

A fine blend of melody, comedy and showmanship, plus a lively audience that filled the Civic Center, marked the 25th anniversary program of Barbershop Quartets Friday night, sponsored by the Holland chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc. Gags and stories mingled with melodic chords as the Windmill Chorus, a Holland quartet, the Soundations, and three visiting quartets from outstate presented a program of the merry type associated with the gayety of Tulip Time. Mike Lucas of Evansville, Ind., returned home to serve as master of ceremonies, a pivotal role that keeps barbershop shows rolling.

Visiting quartets were the Sharplifters of Detroit, the Vagabonds of Detroit-Lansing and the Harmony Hounds of Battle Creek, all displaying a fine touch of comedy and gags, counterbalanced by top harmony which points to the many, many hours of practice. The color gold was popular this year with all quartets choosing gold jackets of some type. Even the Windmill Chorus sported gold figured jackets. The Windmill Chorus directed by Mike Oonk did some fine chording in such songs as "For All We Know" and "My Deal" and the Soundations chose such popular favorites as "Till There Was You," "Lone Prairie," and a new arrangement by Willis A. Diekema of "When the Star Spangled Banners Go By." Members are Tom Weller, Dan Vander Vliet, Bob Tubergan and Bob Bos. The smooth Sharplifters of Detroit, in Holland for the third time in four shows, displayed great rhythm in "Old Piano Roll Blues," "Same Old Friends," "After You're Gone," "Winchester Cathedral" (with toy instruments) and "Gonna Build a Mountain." The Vagabonds chose "Good Old Days," "Carolina Mammy," "Try to Remember" and "Coming Up Roses," while the Harmony Hounds, using instruments and props sang "Side by Side," "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie," "Basin Street Blues," and for really fine harmony "The Three Bells." Awards marked the 25th anniversary show. Holland Chapter President Tom Weller presented the Barbershopper of the Year award to Bob Birce. Jack Essenburg who has been with the Barbershoppers for 25 years was presented a special 25th anniversary certificate signed by the executive director of the national association. Willis A. Diekema, longtime arranger and composer of the theme song "Keep America Singing" which closes all shows, received a large framed citation of the caricature type. Clarence Jalving accepted the award in Diekema's absence and led the program finale. Diekema was welcoming a grandson home from Vietnam.

Waukazoo Camp Fire Girls Design and Make Doll House
Mrs. Robert Gonder's sixth grade Camp Fire group from Waukazoo designed and made an eight-room doll house which will be presented to the special education department of Jefferson School. The Indian name for the group is Ke-Ko-Ki which means try-little women. The girls enjoyed being interior decorators; each girl designed and made a room of the house. The girls determined the expense of decorating, furnishing and making their particular room. All the materials for decorating were furnished by De Waards. Girls in the group are Joanne Blodee, Mary De Feyter, Karen Gonder, Lorrie Hutchins, Linda Schauman, Carol Simmons and Lynette Van Dyke. Karen Gonder's grandmother Mrs. Mildred Lewis, from Muncie, Ill. added her special touch to this project by knitting and making doll clothes for all the little dolls who will live in the attractive doll house. The doll house is on display at the Holland Garden Club Tulip Time Flower Show.

Couple Recites Wedding Vows in Spring Ceremony

Mrs. Randall Craig Eding

Miss Janice Sue Schrotenboer and Randall Craig Eding were united in marriage Thursday in an evening ceremony performed by the Rev. Walter Hofman in Hamilton Reformed Church. Providing music for the occasion were Miss Fannie Bultman, organist, and Julian Smit, soloist.

The bride wore a 63-year-old floor-length gown once worn by the groom's grandmother. It was handmade of white cotton batiste and featured a floor-length six-inch center panel of re-embroidered grape design eyelet lace edged on each side with face inch lace. The V-front bodice was of small tucks with eyelet and lace and featured a caplet winged collar made of hand sewn tucks.

The elbow-length sleeves had lace and tuck inserts and were cuffed with three rows of lace which also accented the waistline. The gathered circular skirt had several triangular inserts of tucks, eyelet and lace and six-inch re-embroidered eyelet hemmed the skirt with tiny pearl buttons forming the back waist closing.

The veil, once worn by the bride's mother, was held in place by a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible with daisies and ivy.

Mrs. Bruce Eding was the matron of honor and wore a victorian style dress of green, white and yellow daisy print in rayon flocked and dacron polyester having daisy trim around the high waistband. She carried a basket of daisies and wore daisies in her hair. Similarly attired were the bridesmaid, Miss Beverly Boeskool, and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Mary Schrotenboer.

Attending the groom as best man was Bruce Eding, while Jack Eding and Ray Schrotenboer Jr. were ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lokers were master and mistress of ceremonies at the reception, and Mr. and Mrs. Sherwin Prins attended the punch bowl.

Following a Southern wedding trip, the newlywed couple will live on route 1 in Hamilton.

The groom is employed in the office at Lear Siegler.

PAGEANT FINALE—Part of an audience of parents is seen here in Pine Creek Elementary School in the finale of a children's pageant in which an 85-voice choir in background sang patriotic songs as a tribute to the United States. The pageant was presented last Friday in Civic Center for Tulip Time visitors and was repeated Tuesday for parents. It followed a Michigan Week theme with one part on the early history of Holland, the second part on the history of Michigan and the third part a salute to the entire country.

Tulip Time Pageant Is Repeated for Parents

A Tulip Time pageant with Michigan Week as its theme which was presented in Civic Center by the Pine Creek Elementary School was repeated Tuesday afternoon for parents of the children.

The play, written in three parts, is a tribute to the city of Holland, the state of Michigan and the United States as a whole.

The first section, written by Robert D. Lubbers entitled "Holland Is Our City" was performed by third graders taught by Mrs. John Bloemendaal and Miss Brenda Scott. It reviewed briefly the history of Holland from 1847 to about 1871.

Part two, written by Mrs. George Holt and George Moose, fifth grade teachers, depicted the early history of Michigan, showing the Indians of pioneer days, the struggles with the French and British, and finally the industrial birth in the state.

Part three was a group of patriotic songs by an 85-voice choir directed by Mrs. Terry Vande Water. The choir also sang several numbers in the first sections of the program.

The narrator was Donna Vanden Brink, a sixth grader. Fourth graders, assisted by their teachers, Mrs. George Kinderman and Mrs. Allen Keuning, took charge of the scenery for the Holland portion of the program.

The pageant has become a Tulip Time tradition, providing a touch of local history for Friday visitors to the festival.

ENJOY FESTIVITIES—There are three generations of Boschs that enjoy Tulip Time. They all have Dutch costumes and wooden shoes. The women are dressed in Volendam costumes as well as the men. At left are Mr. and Mrs. John Bosch of 34

East 34th St., and at right is their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bosch of Kalamazoo. Their grandchildren, Sharon and David Bosch complete this family picture.

Calvary Church Observes May Fellowship Day

May Fellowship Day was observed Friday, May 7, in Calvary Reformed Church. The theme for the day, held throughout the country, was "Enlarge the Place of Your Tent."

"Enlarge the place of your tent and let the curtains of your habitations be stretched out; hold not back, lengthen your cords and strengthen your stakes" was the challenge given to the women.

Mrs. Millard DeWeerd, president of the Holland Area Council of Church Women United opened the meeting. A dialog "Focus on the Family in a New Era" was presented with Mrs. Norman Boeve, general chairman for the day, as leader. Other readers were Mrs. Howard Boersen, Mrs. Gus Feenstra, Mrs. Paul Vande Hoef, and Mrs. Marvin Vanden Bosch.

Lewis Weeber, a psychiatric social worker for the Ottawa County Mental Health Clinic, was introduced by Mrs. De Weerd. He delivered an informative speech, entitled "Mental Health and the Family." He explained that mental health is when people feel comfortable about themselves, feel a sense of trust and love towards others, and are able to meet problems as they arise.

The "family" is a most important step towards good mental behavior. Mr. Weeber listed three responsibilities of women: 1) to their children (by showing love, respect, concern, and by setting a good example); 2) to their husbands (by sharing, expressing feelings, honesty, and clear communications); and 3) to themselves (by having respect and love for oneself—this is not to be confused with selfishness. Time is needed for nurture and relaxation to make women have a healthy feeling towards their family and life).

Pressures on families are tremendous with the changing society, business, uncertainty, etc. He reminded the group of 1 Corinthians 13 — Christians have the added resource that God loves them and they must always keep this in mind, and love others in return.

Special music was provided by the Vocal - Aires of the West Ottawa High School Music Department. Ushers were Mrs. Gene Boerman, Mrs. William Huizenga and Mrs. Jon Van Lente.

Food was again collected to supply emergency needs in the community. An announcement was made that clothing and blankets, packed in boxes, may be taken to the Holland Transplanter Company, 510 East 16th St., until June 18 for Church World Service.
