Local YMCA Dates Back To 1872

The first formal organization of the YMCA in Holland has been traced as early as the year 1886.

However, several new articles appeared in the Holland City News about YMCA interest as early as 1872.

A YMCA publication dated November 1872 states "the religious young men of the colony of Holland have recently been united in a Young Men's Christian Association. The cornerstone of a new building for the Association was recently laid with appropriate ceremonies."

During these early years, Holland was part of 13 "Holland speaking" Associations in the western part of the state centering in Grand Rapids. These societies were found in churches giving a great deal of time to Bible study "which was helpful to the Holland Dutch class of young men."

In 1886, A. Pieters, recording secretary of Holland Classis reports, "For a long time a crying need was felt by the Christian people of Holland for a YMCA in our city. An informal meeting was held in December and a YMCA was organized. We now have 30 members and have rented a room in a business block." Another YMCA society was organized at Hope College with 54 members and conducted Sunday School three miles from Holland.

Other names appearing in the early records include B. Steketee, president; H. Geerlings, secretary. Delegates to 1887 state convention included D. Holkeboer, J. Mulder, C. De Vries, W. Brusse, W. A. Holley, and J. Van Dyke.

Miner (Stogie) Stegenga was appointed secretary of the YMCA in 1915 for 10 months. The organization flourished until the period following World War I. Hi-Y clubs and other organized programs for high school youth were reported active up to recent history.

In 1960 the current organization of the YMCA was founded and has now developed many varied services to youth and adults which in 1971 recorded a total attendance of over 33,000 with 2,291 enrolled.

The YMCA continues to be an influence in the community without permanent facilities using many community locations. The 21 member Board under the leadership of Ed Goebel, president, will be making plans to provide more adequate facilities for YMCA members and the community.

Other officers include vice presidents C. J. Steketee and Dale Van Lente, secretary, W. J. Roper. The present location of the YMCA is 35 West Eighth St. with Duane Perry as general director.

PICKING UP TRASH — Holland township, in a bid to beautify heavily traveled streets, hired four young men to remove trash from along the roadways and in the first two days 159 large plastic bags were filled in a four mile stretch of Lakewood Blvd. Township superintendent Gerald Michmerhuizen said the four would be working until after Tulip Time removing the junk from along Lakewood, James St., Beeline Rd. and 120th Ave. The four are young people who are part of a singing group that plans a tour into north-west states before attending Expo in Dallas. Michmer-huizen said after the initial sweep along Lakewood Blvd. from 112th Ave. to Division Ave., the youths went back the next week and removed another 104 items tossed out by passing motorists. Michmerhuizen believes much of the roadside trash is deliberately thrown from cars. The men removing trash include (left to right) Paul Slusher, Scott Hamberg and Andy Fierro. Not shown is Paul Schutte. Michmerhuizen said the trash pickup was expected to continue next spring.

The Church's Teaching Ministry
I Timothy 4:6-12;
II Timothy 2:1-2
By C. P. Dame

Education plays a big role in life. Man's knowledge is increasing, there is more to learn and the church has the responsibility of teaching the gospel and making it known to every generation. This lesson summons the church to be a teaching church. Is yours?

I. Consecrated ministers emphasize teaching. Timothy was a spiritual son of Paul (I Tim. 1:2) and was his pupil. The lesson text is from I Timothy and II Timothy, called pastoral letters, and that of the epistle to Titus because they deal with the organizational matters of the church.

Paul had taught Timothy sound doctrine and hence he told Timothy to do the same in Ephesus where he was ministering to a congregation, many of whom had been pagans who had been taught "godless and silly myths."

The New Testament warns many times against false teaching. Today, too, false teachings are peddled. The command to "exercise thyself rather unto godliness" and to become spiritually qualified is still fitting. Paul lived in an age when athletics were popular and physical training was important. He calls these "of some value" for they train the body which will die. Godliness, however, benefits the whole person, body, mind and soul, and is "profitable unto all things." What things would you include?

"This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptance"—it is absolutely trustworthy—so wrote Paul. Similar statements are found in I Timothy 1:15; 3:1; II Tim. 2:11 and Titus 3:8. We can trust God's promises and therefore work and suffer knowing that results will come. Most important is teaching and, hence, the whole congregation ought to be interested in this ministry. Some churches seem to do less and less teaching—the gradual disappearing of the catechetical classes is a proof.

II. A personal example is important. Timothy was still young and inclined to be timid. Therefore, Paul told him to stand up and assert himself and always be a fine example "in word, in conversation (behavior), in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity"—what a challenging list! Leadership is important. What about the present day leadership in the church?

II. The future will need the gospel. Paul told Timothy "to be strong in the grace that is in Christ." Ephesus was a wealthy, wicked, idolatrous city and Timothy had a hard task there. Paul was concerned about the future and therefore told Timothy to commit the gospel "to faithful men who shall be able to teach others also." Let us begin in our families and work and pray that our children and grandchildren will know and teach the gospel. Teach and trust!

Tulip Festival Sidelights

Queens of schools in the Holland area are on the float of the AFL-CIO Labor Council in Wednesday and Saturday parades. The homecoming queens are Debbie Steketee, West Ottawa; Sue Hosta, Holland High and Kathy Van Dyke, Hamilton High. Patricia De Kam represented Hope College as the May Day Queen. Riding in the car was Marie Fisher, Union Label Chairman for the Holland AFL-CIO Labor Council. The car was driven by Chet Harmen, business representative for the Machinists Union.

Persons living on tulip lane are asked not to park on the street during Tulip Time to allow an unbroken view for visitors. The Tulip Time committee has arranged for the installation of 20 Sani-Johns, a self-contained temporary toilet, to be placed in the downtown area for Tulip Time. The company from which the units are rented will maintain sanitation services. Like rest rooms in airplanes, there are no Men or Women on the doors. Each unit is self-contained and locks from the inside.

Among the locations are the Dutch Market, Ninth and Central, Seventh and River, the mass planting on 12th St. west of River Ave., Eighth and Pine, rear of Hitching Post, rear of Reliable Cycle, rear of Model Drug.

Similar units also have been placed at the Wooden Shoe Factory, Nelis Farms and Dutch Village.

Ninth Street Christian Reformed Church, also known as the Pillar Church, again is serving as a hospitality center during Tulip Time as it has for several years. Periodic tours are taken of the entire building, followed by coffee and cookies. The Pillar Church is Holland's most famous landmark, having survived the fire of 1871 which destroyed most of the city.

Mrs. R.F. Keeler, whose story of the William Sake Hofstra family appears on page 8, section three, received special recognition for her work on the Hofstra history in the spring number of Michigan Heritage, a quarterly magazine of biography, local and family history.

Eight pages were devoted to the Hofstra family of Michigan and Hempstead, L.I., (home of Hofstra University) starting on page 125. On page 174, a biographical sketch of Mrs. Keeler lists her as a graduate of Eastern Michigan University, a dedicated genealogist for over 40 years who has done research for her own family and others. 4th Crown In 7 Years For Dutchmen

GRAND RAPIDS — Hope College captured its fourth MIAA track championship in seven years Saturday edging host Calvin by three points in the 81st running of the Field Day classic.

The Flying Dutchmen, with two double winners, put on a stellar performance in the running events after falling behind the leaders at the end of field competition by 10 points.

The final standings were the closest in the history of the league. Hope ended with 54 points followed by Calvin with 51, Alma 47, Kalamazoo 45, Olivet 40, Adrian 21 and Albion 14.

Hope is guaranteed the seasonal track championship. The Dutchmen are 5-0 in dual meet competition and the seasonal finale against Kalamazoo next Wednesday will have no bearing on the seasonal outcome.

Hope junior Greg Daniels of Muskegon chopped more than three seconds off the two-mile run mark with a 9:26.2 clocking.

Hobday and Daniels joined Hope senior Cliff Haverdink as double winners. Hobday captured the 120-yard high hurdles (:15.4) while Daniels took the mile (4:20.4).

Haverdink defended his 440-yard dash title in :49.6 and won the 220-yard dash crown in :22.. He also ran a leg on Hope's winning 440-yard relay team to increase his career MIAA gold medal collection to eight.

Calvin's lone individual winner was John De Jonge who repeated in the long jump with a distance of 22'6 1/2".

Hope owner of a five point lead over Calvin entering the final event of the meet — the mile relay. If the Knights were to capture the meet they needed to win the relay while Hope had to end worse than fourth. The Dutchmen finished fifth, but Calvin could do no better than third as Alma and Olivet captured the first two spots.

Hope's Hudson Wilson, Chet Evers, Chris Gouyd and Haverdink finished first in the 440-yard relay with a fast 43.2 clocking.

Hobday was selected the league's most valuable performer in a vote of the coaches after the meet.

Selected to the all-league team were: Adrian — Bruce Haynes; Albion — Werner Imre; Alma — Jeff Armour and Ike Neitring; Calvin — Randy Veltkamp and John De Jonge; Hope — Greg Daniels, Chet Evers, Chris Gouyd and Cliff Haverdink; Kalamazoo — Mike Blanchard and Emmet Deans; Olivet — Ken Day, Ron Hobday and Ian Livock.

Over Century of Service Given Children's Parade

By George Tatum

Three educators in the Holland Public Schools qualify for honors in their services in the Children's Costume Parade. These three combined have given over a century of dedication to children participating in the parade. At the end of this school year, and many parades, they will retire.

The honored teachers include Miss Fannie Bultman, principal of Van Raalte School; Mrs. Russell Woldring, Longfellow School, and Miss Gertrude Zonnebelt, Van Raalte School.

Miss Bultman has been an educator for 45 years, and has marched in the parade for 30 years. A Hamilton native, she has taught in the Hamilton schools as well as Lincoln School in Holland. She has been principal at Van Raalte School since 1958.

After retirement, she and her husband plan to travel and pursue golfing interests.

Miss Zonnebelt teaches fourth grade at Van Raalte School and claims perfect attendance of 35 years in the children's parade. She has taught for 37 years.

Dutch Rout Christian

Holland High's baseball team avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of Holland Christian Tuesday afternoon by downing the Maroons 12-4 on the losers field.

After three scoreless innings, the Dutch took a two run lead in the fourth on two hits, a passed ball, a stolen base and a sacrifice. Then in the fifth frame, the winners really went to work collecting seven hits, all singles off from the slants of Maroon hurler, Dave Kempers, and pushed seven big runs across the plate.

Christian didn't send a runner across until the sixth inning when they bunched a triple and a single to trail 9-1 going into the last frame.

Both coaches substituted freely in the late innings and Holland added three more runs in their seventh on three more hits and three Christian errors. Christian matched the Dutch with three runs of their own in the last inning on just one hit, a pair of walks and a couple of sacrifices.

Larry Horn was the winning hurler for the Dutch while Kempers took the loss for the Maroons. Horn also paced the Dutch hitters with three safeties in a 13 hit attack. Catcher Bob De Roo paced the Maroons with two of the team's seven safeties. Jess Ruiz had three hits and three RBI's for the Dutch.

Dutch Economist Cheered Over Future of America

"I am not pessimistic over the future of America," Dr. Frits Kuipers, Netherlands economic minister with the Dutch embassy in Washington, told a Chamber of Commerce group at breakfast Wednesday at Point West.

Speaking on "International Economic Relations in the 70's," the Dutch trade expert said the dynamism of America reflected in its highly efficient productivity is still the greatest in the world. He said 15 years ago on his first visit to America he tried to figure out what made this country so rich. He was obliged to cross off resources as the No. 1 item, and concluded it was the efficient methods which spelled the difference.

From the international view on economics, he spoke of two sets of policies, both equally desirable. The first would manage internal affairs as one pleases, and the other would be free international trade in which all nations would produce the things they do most efficiently, thereby maximizing world trade.

He spoke of the Smithsonian agreement on exchange rates, the first time the United States dollar was subject to international disciplines. Before that, the dollar was the leader with all other world currencies adjusting to it.

He spoke of U.S. loans, the balance of payments deficit, the fluctuating price of gold, the Common Market, tariffs, subsidies and the political situations which affect world trade.

He felt that the United States administration was more geared to free trade than Congress and agreed that tariff barriers had led to increasing U.S. investment in foreign countries, something that the Netherlands welcomed. On the other hand, he said Netherlands investments in the United States are third in the nation. Royal Dutch Shell is the greatest investor.

He said rigid wage controls in the Netherlands in 1960 placed wages at one-quarter that paid in America, but now it is one-half.

He said highly industrialized Netherlands is a country of very low tariffs, that international trade is the bread and butter of the nation and that half of the Dutch gross national product is exported.

Andrew Dalman presided at the breakfast and Willard C. Wichers introduced the speaker.

Hofstra College Founder Native of Holland, Mich.

Research by Mrs. Richard Keeler of Holland, well known for her work in genealogies, has provided considerable detail about the Sake Hofstra family, linking Hofstra University of Hempstead, Long Island, N.Y., with Holland, Mich., birthplace of the founder, William Sake Hofstra.

Research revealed that Sake Hofstra, father of William, emigrated from the Netherlands at the age of 24 in 1854 and made his home in Holland, Mich., in a Dutch largely populated by the region, and became a prominent hotelman and land owner.

His son, William Hofstra, for whom the University is named, was born in Holland May 30, 1861, and while in his teens, William started logging and by the time he was 21 had charge of a white pine mill at Saginaw.

In the early 1890s William Hofstra had become a logging contractor in Louisiana where he married, and later moved to Long Island and prospered as a lumber dealer. He and his father visited relatives in the Netherlands about 1900. Sake's grandfather was Dr. Sake Sybren Hofstra (1770-1844), a practicing surgeon at Sneek in Friesland.

The May 14, 1932, issue of the Muskegon Chronicle carried a notice of the death of William Sake Hofstra which occurred at his home "The Netherlands" in Hempstead, Long Island. He had been educated in Muskegon and Grand Rapids and was in the lumber business in Michigan, New Orleans and New York, besides having lumber interests in Canada.

In 1935 the executors of Kate Mason Hofstra founded "Nassau College — Hofstra Memorial" in honor of William Sake Hofstra as a suburban branch of New York University. Beginning modestly with an enrollment of 159 students and classrooms set in the spacious home, the infant school developed rapidly.

Within four years it separated from NYU and commenced an independent existence as Hofstra College. Chartered in 1940 by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York as a coeducational, nonsectarian, liberal arts college, Hofstra and its academic reputation grew as physical plant continued to expand. The college became Hofstra University in 1953.

The Hofstra home, site of the first college, has long given way to a modern campus of 165 acres with 36 buildings, a student body of 12,000 and 597 faculty members. The library, housed in a new 10-story building, has over 600,000 volumes.

In her research, Mrs. Keeler contacted William Dinkeloo, whose home at Eighth and Lincoln, was next to the hotel the elder Hofstra had built on East Eighth St. Dinkeloo knew nothing about the Hofstras but remembered his parents telling about the hotel nearby. It was three stories high in front, two stories in the back and about 100 feet in length. It was built on lot 2, block 24, Original Town, City of Holland, part of E's, according to the City Assessor's office.

Kuyper Term Extended For Seminaries

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. — The appointment of Dr. Lester J. Kuyper of Holland, Mich., as interim president of the Theological Seminaries of the Reformed Church, was extended for one year or until the appointment of a new president, at the annual meeting of the Board of Theological Education of the Reformed Church in America May 8 and 9 at New Brunswick seminary here.

The board's Presidential screening committee presented a new slate of five candidates and reported it intends to determine the availability of these men and their qualifications for appointment.

Dr. Hugh A. Koops was promoted to associate professor, and Dr. William C. Brownson Jr. and Dr. James I. Cook were promoted to professors.

New board officers are Harold Schut, chairman; John De Wild, vice chairman; Ruth Dickson, secretary; Ekdal Buys, treasurer, Jon Hinkamp, Thurman Rybrandt and Paul Ferency. The board approved a policy of inviting one faculty member and one student from each campus in Holland and New Brunswick to be present as observers at meetings of the board.

The crucial issue before the board was response to earlier action of the executive committee of General Synod of the Reformed Church in America which had expressed the judgment that theological education should be carried on at one site.

After consideration which was described as "agonizing" the board reaffirmed its confidence in the bilevel multisite program and its continuation, and implemented this by approving an emphasis on vigorous recruitment of students for the bilevel multisite program.

By these actions, the Board of Theological Education explicitly declared its intention to maintain theological education at both Western Theological Seminary in Holland and the New Brunswick Theological Seminary in New Jersey.

The executive committee had recommended a consultation at the highest levels of the leadership of the denomination to consider the educational social and economic implications of continuing both seminaries with expanded ministries and relationships.

The present committee on location of headquarters and seminaries had volunteered to serve a catalytic role in considering the shape of future structures, and this proposed consultation would include representatives from the Board of Theological Education, the General Program Council, the General Synod executive committee, the seminary facilities and students, plus local and regional church representatives. It is expected this related concept of "denominational centers" will be approved by the General Synod in June.

The next meeting of the Board of Theological Education is scheduled in October in Holland.

Rotary Club Learns About Yugoslavia

Prof. Michael Petrovich, in charge of Balkan Studies at Hope College, gave Rotary members a clearer insight to a little-known country, Yugoslavia, at the Thursday meeting of the Holland Rotary Club.

Yugoslavia, Petrovich said, is approximately the size of Texas and has a population of about 20 million persons, a mixture of five different races, with the Serbs and Croates as the dominant people.

Yugoslavia, he said, is no longer socialist in the real sense of the word. Rather, it is a socialist country with capitalist overtones and has been drifting toward capitalism more and more in recent years. There is some talk of opening a Yugoslavian Stock Exchange. Socialism left Yugoslavia several years ago and what seems to be emerging now is a sort of state capitalism.

Petrovich pointed out that only about five per cent of the population of the country are members of the Communist Party.

He also touched briefly on the American School of Summer studies which he is developing in Yugoslavia for the coming summer which will be located in Dobrovnik, Yugoslavia.
