Hope President Knighted By Holland's Queen

HIGHLIGHT IN TULIP TIME FESTIVAL BANQUET AT THE TAVERN

Decorations of tables were gorgeous; Six foreign flags represented

Easily the highlight in a social way during the Tulip Festival was the banquet Wednesday night attended by the elite of Holland and many dignitaries of foreign countries and of educational institutions. Two events were celebrated one being the Michigan Centennial, and the other the knighting of Dr.
Wynand Wichers, president of Hope College by Consul Jacob Stekette of Grand Rapids. Mr. Stekette conferred upon the president of the local institution the knighthood of the Order of Orange-Nassau.

Undoubtedly the coming last year of Minister Haerema de With of the Netherlands was instrumental in bringing this honor to Mr.
Wichers. Mr. Wichers played an important part in all activities of the Tulip Festival last year, and the prime minister was the guest of Mr. Wichers and appeared often at Hope during his stay. Seven foreign diplomats were at the speakers table, and the flags of all the different nations intermingled with the Stars and Stripes and the mass of different varieties of tulips as table settings, made the large dining hall, which was filled to capacity, a colorful and beautiful scene.
Augmenting this setting, windmills were in evidence everywhere. Mingled among the tulips were colored tapers dimly shining through the cluster of blooms. The tulip motif was followed even in the dessert with tulip formed ices. Landlord

OFFICIAL COUNCIL ON PAGE TWO

The city fathers, because of Tulip Time Festivities and the banquet given in honor of Mr. Wichers who was knighted by Queen Wilhelmina, decided to have the council at a most unusual hour. It was held at 8:15 Tuesday evening in order to get it out of the way for Tulip Time activities.

Considerable business was transacted and Mayor Geerlings dispatched the different matters rapidly.

The official proceedings as compiled by City Clerk Oscar Peterson are found on the next page.

TWENTY SEVEN BANDS WILL APPEAR IN PARADE

Twenty-seven bands not including our local bands will appear Saturday in one of the most gigantic band parades ever seen in this city. Holland has seen some wonderful parades this week and last Saturday, but Saturday coming will undoubtedly be the largest in the tulip festival. Not only will there be a parade but a band review in Riverview Park winding up with a massed band concert in Centennial Park.

Remember that Saturday is the day of all days. The following committee headed by John Riemersma was in charge of all parades and believe us, they did a wonderful job. John Riemersma, Chairman; Henry Geerds, Dr. Wm. Weststrate, Oscar Johnson, Charles Ash, John Bremer, Martin Japenga, R. Smeenge, Harold J. Karsten, Dixie Hyma, C.
C. Wood, Louis Dalman, Jack Schouten, Marinus De Fout, Shud Ahluis, S. Kolmar, Benj. Lieverse, Hub Boone, John Boone, Ted Cheff, Mrs. Jay Den Herder, James Helder, Benj. Kalkman, C. Blom, and Mrs. J. E. Telling.

This Rotarian Scrubbing Music Goes 'round and 'round and Comes Out Where?

We'll call these "rounders", for what else could they be, being Rotarians. The police station in the background surely looks suspicious.

The first man is Neal Tiesenga.
No smile, he must have the blues.
Well, he makes enough of them in his bluing factory so that explains all.

"Jim" Nibbelink leans on the broom but he doesn't belong to the government's alphabetical regimentation. He is a very active business man and he isn't directing a funeral just now—his face denotes that.

Number three is Adrian Van Put-ten. Who'd think that such a "mug" could sell insurance? But he does and then some—that's Mutual.

Next is John Donnelly. It looks as if John just got up, but no, he has a yoke to bear and he carries water to the rest of the elephants.

Then you have Mayo Hadden all set to rush the "can".

Attorney "Charlie" McBride is sixth on the list, way back there playing some joke on Judge Orrien S. Cross right ahead. Judge looks just as austere as when he was on the bench.

"Vaudie" next door has his broom upside down, but Vandenberg doesn't mind a little thing like that. He is going to leave the scrubbing to the other guys.

Louis Hohmann looks rather surprised, possibly wondering what it is all about. He is a good Irish Dutchman.

And what have we here in the middle. Neither "fish nor fowl". He might be a Peter Pan, a Quaker or a Burgeomeester. See the silver buckle peeking out below. He is smoking a Dutch Master and he is the Burgeomeester of the City of Holland. Being a Rotarian, he is all in a whirl because he has just been elected.

See the fellow with the pipe in his face. No that isn't "Bill" Sykes' of Dickens fame. That is "Jim" McLean of the firm that makes Spring Air mattresses, so you can't fall hard for him.

There is genial "Bill" Berg, all gassed up to go. "Bill" has been with the Holland Gas Company for a good many years. He has done a thorough job and so will the streets of Holland be done thoroughly with him around.

Clear back there with head protruding is Jesse Ridenour. What a woe begone look. The usual smile is missing. It must be he lost a Packard sale.

The fourth from the right we have good old Vance Mape. He sells furniture for a living but he can tell a Swedish story better than any Swede or Irishman for that matter. That smile is illuminating.

The big guy, the tallest in the bunch is "Bill" Lowry of the Elgin Manufacturing Co. He is the straw boss, the Simon Legree of the scrubbers. The bloodhounds are tied up in the jail.

John Good is just what his name implies. He is also a water carrier, smokes Dutch Masters, and though thoroughly Irish, has a good Dutch name.

John Van Putten is a real Hollander, and is so effeminate that he can either act as a milkmaid or a waterboy. Take your choice.

Well, there you have their pedigree so we'll let it go at that.

THE CURTAIN RUNG DOWN ON THE TULIP FESTIVAL

This issue of the Holland City News is a curtain ring on the Tulip Festival as far as this newspaper is concerned. The News has endeavored to give its best to this unique annual festivity and has devoted two colorful editions issued during the festival and has given it endless publicity weeks before the event fell due. We feel that we have given our modest help together with thousands of others, and next week the News will issue in the usual way with the Fifty year ago feature appearing in the usual places on page one.

Happy Parade Is Witnessed By Thousands

IT IS A GREAT EVENT FOR CHILDREN DURING TULIP TIME

Mrs. Telling and Miss Rogers honored while parade is in progress.

The Wednesday afternoon parade which started promptly at three o'clock was the midweek highlight of the festival. It was a tremendous affair of marching children from public, denominational and rural schools, all vying with one another in a most colorful turnout. The hosts of the schools were not only beautiful but symbolized the thoughts of gardens, flowers and the great outdoors. The parade more than a mile long presented a sea of happy faces. Not a care in the world. They weren't thinking of the next president, or of inflation, nor of wars or rumors of wars. The light of happiness could be seen dancing in their eyes.
There was plenty of music from the different school bands, all arrayed in fine uniform.

This spectacle was strictly school children, school music, school floats and school recreational features.
Skating, hoop rolling, bike riding, musical clippers, bell ringing, and a great many other innovations were featured. The bicycle brigade in a myriad of color was the best ever presented on our streets and the doll buggy feature was indicative of the first plaything the child is introduced to as the older grows.
This children's display warmed the cockles of every heart. The sidelines simply bubbled over with cheerfulness, for every foot of standing room was occupied by a parent who had a child in the lineup, or a brother or sister of some marcher. A children's parade is a happy occasion for everyone who has good red American blood in his veins.

Many Attend Banquet Given On Shipboard

PLANE FLIES SPEAKER TO THIS CITY. EARNEST C.
BROOKS GIVES INTRO-DUCTION

Monday the E.R.A. convention was held in this city as an aside to the Tulip Festival. It was a very important meeting having to do with the E.R.A. which embraces works relief and relief generally.
The regional committees of District No. 7 comprising 13 counties, had 85 delegates present. Four counties sent commissioners with delegates. Board of Supervisors and Mayors of cities and villages in this district were also invited, and all together about 150 participated in the activities and listened to Dr. William Haber who is head of the E.R.A. in Michigan with headquarters at Lansing.

The convention opened in the morning on the Steamer North American at her Montello Park docks. Both steamers, North American and South American, have been turned into floating hotels and guestrooms have been opened for guests as well as has the dining room. Both steamers have been well filled with guests during the last ten days and it was considered quite a novelty to have the E.R.A. convention also meet on shipboard.

In the morning Mayor Henry Geerlings welcomed the delegates and offered them the hospitality of the city and the provincial key to the municipality was offered as usual.

The banquet was called promptly at 12:15 and it was a fine repast.
Covers were laid at several small tables.

Former Mayor Earnest Brooks, at one time secretary of the E.R.A., was the guest of honor. He was commissioned of the state of Michigan, introduced Mr. Haber, telling of his experience while in that department and dwelling upon the intricacies and trying situations that relief programs have brought about at times. Clashes in nature, selfishness and a great many traits that humanity is heir to, had to be diplomatically combatted.

Mr. Brooks made his introduction short since Mr. Haber who had arrived by plane, had to fly to Ann Arbor where another conference was being held.

Mr. Haber graciously acknowledged the introduction and was unusually pleased to find such a large number of interested people present.

Mr. Haber said in part as follows:

"The problem of relief under the E.R.A. has been with us for three years and in Michigan even longer. It is a question that is occupying the minds of all thinking people. This I think, is a reasonable time to ask the question as to where we are going—behind or ahead."

OF ACRES OF BLOOMS
HOLLAND THIS WEEK

This is the way the Grand Holland Tribune heads its Tulip Time article. Our neighboring paper given Holland a great deal of publicity, augmenting the thousands and thousands of columns of articles and reading matter devoted during the last three months the newspapers and magazines of the nation.

No Festival Then
A far cry, these flowers "shindebarbed Dominie Van Raalte with the challenge "scratch patriots and their country only

And so in the midst of this gotten. The pageant of 1936 production by Hope college, ditizes the heroism of Van Raalte that preceded them. This ful panorama of Holland-An-ing feature during the week.

A Pleasure Cruise

It's a joyous cargo on the President of Hope College Knighted by Queen Wilhelmina

Tavern surely did themselves proud in giving such a lovely spread with the table embellishments typically Holland, under the direction of the committee on decorations.

Special trumpeters accompanied the community singing which included "Wien Neerlandisch Bloed" and "Wilhelmus Van Nassauwen", both national anthems of the Netherlands. In order that the Americans could follow these Holland compositions, Dr. J. B. Nykerk of Hope College had translated both offerings and these were printed alongside the Holland version. The last song that was sung by the audience was "America the Beautiful".

Interpreting the songs was the introduction of representatives from the countries of Italy, Spain, Cuba, France, Netherlands, England, Czechoslovakia, and the United States. Mr. Cornelius Vander Meulen was master of ceremonies and in his inimitable manner graciously introduced these dignitaries from abroad.

It was pleasing to note that one man who has made his mark in diplomatic circles was the Honorable John Bruins, a boy close from home. Mr. Bruins is General Consul at Prague, Czechoslovakia for the United States. Mr. Bruins came here on a visit to see his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Derk Te Roller.
The father, Rev. Wm. Bruins, married a Holland girl named Reka Te Roller, and Consul Bruins is her son. The father received his education at our local institutions and the son as he arose to be introduced could not refrain from referring to this connection and the great love he had for the city where his mother was born. Both father and mother have passed away.

Mr. Vander Meulen first introduced Mr. Edgar A. Guest, Michigan's much beloved poet who represented Governor Frank Fitzgerald, the governor being called to the East on very important business. Mr.
Guest received an ovation when he arose and created a gale of laughter when he found himself in a business suit surrounded with "soup and fish", since it was a formal affair, especially at the speakers table.

Mr. Guest in a pleasing manner offered the excuses for the Govern-

Castle Lodge, Knights of Pythias has their emblem hanging over the entrance in the Holland City State Bank building. Welcome brothers to the Festival. The latch string is hanging out.

"Bill" Connelly has arranged a great system of loud speakers on the principal streets of Holland and in Centennial Park, installed by Ivan Bosman. During the parade yesterday a child of 3 was lost.
"Bill" told the colorful crowd in the street about it and within five minutes the little "tike" was restored to the arms of its mother who had gone to W. F. T. station in the Tavern. There were several lost children located that way.

"Bell boy" "Buddy" Colossal of the Rowe Hotel who is doing his stuff at the Tavern this week, presents rather a paradoxical complex considering his name and stature.

UNLUCKY IS ENTERED IN FIRST TULIP MEETING

In last week's issue the News gave several names of those attending the very first Tulip Meeting held on May 15, 1926, to bring pressure to bear in getting the thing started. The meeting was held in the Tavern and the first three men, as far as we can as-ertain, to get the meeting started were E. L. Leland, Landlord of Warm Friend Tavern, who had been a frequent exponent of a Tulip Time annual; Carl E. Swift and Charles K. Van Duren. They were very enthusiastic in getting a celebration of that nature started.

The news soon spread and it seemed to take hold immediately.
Rather a coincidence is the fact that at a luncheon given by Mr.
Leland there were 13 at the table when noses were counted. Mayor Earnest Brooks, president at the meeting, he being elected as chairman, and they hustled out in the lobby to get a fourteenth member.
They spied Charles Bennett, at that time with the Holland Furnace Company, and the party was filled out.

As near as we can get the names, there were E. L. Leland, Carl E. Swift, Charles K. Van Duren, Earnest Brooks, Raymond Viescher, John Van Bragt, Jake Essenburg, Charles Bennett, Andrew Klomp-parens, Charles McBride, Frank Lieverse, Edgar Landwehr, Vaudie Vandenberg, and Jesse Ridenour.

Your editor was called in afterward to see on the publicity committee, although he did not attend the meeting, and that has been his unofficial job ever since.

It is only fair to give some credit where credit is due and today with the unprecedented success there is credit enough for everyone who has participated in any way in this unique celebration and one of the greatest factors is the fact that the city of Holland as a community, has given its moral and financial support to the Tulip Festival and that means all of us.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Taylor of La-Grange and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Os-tens of Detroit are the guests of Lida Rogers tulip. Talk about reciprocidity. We salute "Lida" and her new tulip!

PRINCE WILLIAM OF ORANGE
From an old wood cut

The little "bell hop" all dressed up ready for "front" has been attracting considerable attention at the Tavern. Although diminutive, he is the most conspicuous figure at the hotel. He speaks to the public over W.F.T. and Connelly has a high stool handy so he can reach the "mike".

Don't forget to attend the Dutch Market. You will see there two score of Holland's merchants selling their wares in garbs they will not be decked out with next week.
Only two days left so hurry and see the creation of "Sipp" Houtman.

The table decorations of the centennial banquet were beautiful and colorful and were arranged by Mrs.
Sears R. McLean assisted by Mrs.
C. H. McBride. Mirrors, banked with grass in which multi-colored tulips were reflected, were used on the speaker's table. Lighted windows also were used to advantage, on the banquet table and in the windows. Large flags of the United States and The Netherlands formed a background for the distinguished speakers. Bowls of variegated tulips with lighted tapers in their midst were used on the tables for guests.

The biggest crowd of the entire festival, a throng estimated by one police attendant to be in excess of 15,000, swarmed into the Dutch market place Wednesday.
Two attendants were kept busy most of the day directing the visitors on a "foot-top tour" of the market in order to handle the throngs waiting to get in. The best day of the week was reported at the marionette show yesterday, while the garden show continued to attract crowds of more than 400.
More than 2,000 were estimated at the village green program last night, the one other daily feature of the festival.

The Federated Women's Bible class of Holland will meet at 7:30 o'clock, Friday evening, May 22, in the First Methodist church.
Mrs. J. Weyer will be the speaker.

MISS KALSBECK, CHINA MIS- SIONARY, SPEAKS AT NINTH STREET CHURCH MEET

The Adelphi Society of Ninth Street Christian Reformed church sponsored a Daughters-Mothers meet Monday evening, approximately sixty being present. A program of music and speaking was carried out, with Miss Wilhelmina Kals-beek of Grand Rapids, missionary to China for the past fourteen years and now on furlough, as the speaker. Miss Grace Holkeboer president of the Young Ladies society, presided, welcoming the guests and introducing the program numbers.

Miss Kalsbeek told of her work among some of the mothers and daughters of China, stating that women and girls in the Orient court for very little. Christianity however brings a wonderful difference in the lives of these women and girls of China. Miss Kalsbeek stated. She cited several pitiable as well as happy instances regarding conditions in Jukos where, she is stationed under the Christian Reformed mission Board.

Music included a duet by the Stoltz sisters with guitar accompaniment; An instrumental string duet by the Sturings sisters; group singing by the audience.

The program was followed with a social hour which included refreshments.

Miss Alyce Dykens who will become the bride of Rudy Lindberg of Worcester, Mass, was commended at a linen shower given by Miss Marie DeReeder and Miss Ethel Mokma at the De Ridder home on E. 11th St. She was presented with beautiful gifts. The guests were Misses Marg Lanting, Florence Stoepke, Marianne Bocks, Joan Mokma, Ethel Mokma, Annagene Raak, Jean Niemhuis and Marie De Ridder.

Miss Cecelia Moomey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Moomey of one of the 24 to be graduated from the St. Mary's Hospital Nursing Training School in Grand Rapids, Tuesday night. The commu-ment exercises were attended by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Moomey, Mrs. A. Moomey and Mr. and Mrs.
Harold Ladewig of Holland.

ATTENTION! TOURIST HOMES

The Tulip Time Committee had considerable difficulty last Sat-and therefore they urge everyone who has sleeping rooms to let, to call them at the Chamber of Commerce, phone 2455, so that the address may be registered.

ahead? Most of us are immediately engaged in the distribution of public money and probably too busy to find out where we are directing ourselves; others, citizens, are not close enough to the picture to entirely appreciate it.

"I think the situation is an extremely healthy one at this particular time. Relief situation in Michigan is a better kind of situation; most optimistic situation than any time in the past three and a half years. The relief load carried by the state emergency relief administration, approximately 66,000 cases for this month; this week is the lowest relief load since January 6, 1936, and is, of course, lower than any time since the organization of the Commission, July 1933. That in a sense is the measure of recovery.—In addition to our own problems since ERA Commission handles only direct relief, Employment on WPA projects is practically 30,000 people less today than March 15, down to 79,000 now as against 99,000 sixty days ago. These two factors, namely—that general employment on WPA projects in all sections of the state and applications of people applying for direct relief from State funds are descending downward and I think a fact of justification confidence and satisfaction on the part of our office. As an official of the State ERA, I cannot help but express a great satisfaction in that situation. Certainly many people try to be critical and have said by way of criticism that people administering relief do not like to see relief problem disappear because their jobs disappear. Some have actually said that the local administrator and officials rather like to hold on to their load. This will be interesting to know that in the last four months there have been separated from the 83 counties relief administrations over 3600 employees. They are gone. To be sure not willingly, but they have gone nevertheless, indicating in a measure the reduction in the problem the ERA has had to handle.
 Primarily this is the significance of these facts—apparently recovering in business and industry which is much less an emergency problem as six months or year ago.
 And if that fact is recognized a second fact must follow that we have a different kind of problem which needs possibly a different kind of thought.

"I do not know how many people in Michigan appreciate the task which we have had in the three years in which we have been affiliated with the ERA. We have spent 227 million dollars, a fact which is staggering in its significance. Tell that to a business man who has all the work of a next week's payroll and it nearly floors him—and it should. The fact which is of tremendous importance from the viewpoint of public finance and taxation is 277 million dollars.

"We do not realize in the second place, that a year ago last January, 16 months ago, we had dependent on public relief 890 thousand people. The population of Michigan is 4 1/2 million. Approximately 18% of State's population receiving support from public funds in one way or another. That is changed at present time to a number of less than 600 thousand.
 300 thousand people in a period of a little over a year have become self-supporting and independent in terms of relief on public funds. I am happy to say this is a situation which looks to be a continuing improvement during summer months.
 I would not be surprised if WPA employment fell 10% of its own accord, and that the emergency relief fell to below 60,000.

"I give you this in introduction, indicating that the job is getting smaller and the more understandable.

Second part is WHAT IS NEXT?
 Where do we go from here? What is likely to be the immediate situation involving the next year or two? That is the extremely significant and important question.

No matter how it is handled, no matter how much or little it is costing, you and I as tax payers have to pay the bill. First thought to those of you who are members of the public body, members of staffs and county commission, is that the problem is a continuing one. Emergency cannot be talked of as an emergency. Somebody may and will ask how long does an emergency last before it ceases to be an emergency. We have now talked about emergency conditions for four or five years. An emergency is a tremendous and immediate situation toward which we need immediate drastic measure.
 These measures have lasted for four or more years. The problem is not an emergency in the sense of being temporary. Here are the facts in the situation. ERA has 66,000 cases. These are families.
 These cases average 4.2 persons per family. That is an actual count.
 These 66,000 families have approximately, we believe, 60,000 families or persons who are unable to work.
 Their relief needs have nothing to do with recovery; that point must be kept clearly in mind. They are destitute now because of age, of illness; emotion or physical handicap or some other reason. In either event they cannot work.

We start with approximately 60,000 cases that stay as relief problems and they must be taken care of either by State, County, Church, sons or daughters, private charity, or what you will. Now on the WPA there are 79,000 cases.
 I do not know how long before they can get jobs in private industry.
 per family. That is an actual count.

Second—we have had a great deal of recovering in the US in the past two or three years. It is obvious there are about 10 million people still unemployed in the US.
 It is perfectly possible to look at the problem in its largest sense.

The Floating Hotels

The Steamers North and South American

We will have a great amount of recovering in next few years and still have a very serious unemployment problem. Why are we in this position? Part of the answer is that our industries, are manufacturing more efficiently and part industrial recovering not spread evenly and part that these people who have been unemployed are less employable than they used to be before the depression. We have to appreciate the fact that we haven't a temporary problem.

The work has been subject to a great deal of criticism—it would have to be. You can't spend over two hundred million dollars and pass out food and shelter to over 90,000 people and have everybody satisfied, least of all the taxpayers but the most dissatisfied person of all is the person on relief, and that is very interesting, because he on the whole is not the same kind of person who used to be on relief. I understand that Ottawa County and particularly the city of Holland is a very generous community and the church and local organizations took care of people.
 These people used to take care of themselves; and we have men and women who used to work for themselves or for somebody else; used to be paid, who attended church; whose sons and daughters attended college. We must treat them in a different manner than we do the usual down and out.

Criticism have been many. First people get too much. Then we have the feeling that many of these people should not be on relief. These abuses are there because they are everywhere. They are part of what we call society. Not every person who belongs to your church is as honorable as the best; not every member of the Chamber of Commerce is above suspicion. This is a cross section of what we call Michigan—America.

"We estimate that 10% of our people are better liars than we are investigators. We are not worried about the 10%. It is the 90% who represent. We will use all the judgment that intelligent records can give us and you can help us. Where are we going from here? Recognizing the long time character of the problem, the fact that the relief that in the upper Peninsula is not going to be over tomorrow where the iron mines and the lumber camps are not employing the people they used to. In Houghton County 46% are still on relief; in Dickinson 40%; Grand Rapids 17% of the population either on WPA or direct relief. In Detroit the relief administrator, Mr. Ballenger, resigned the other day after a very difficult, thankless job for five years. He said, "I am resigning, Mr. Mayor, because the problem has now ceased to be an emergency.
 We have only 18,000 families left."
 When he started there were only 60,000, his is a normal job now and the city must plan on a permanent basis. The point I am emphasizing is this, Detroit, Upper Peninsula, and Grand Rapids, represent the long time problem. HOW SHALL WE HANDLE IT?

Miss Deborah Veneklasen and her entire staff, did wonderful work in arranging the details of the convention as well as of the banquet.

Ottawa County supervisors, the Mayor and some of the city officials, newspaper men, and several citizens took part in the convention and attended the banquet.

The Michigan Horticultural convention which was to have been held here during the Tulip Time Festival was not held as scheduled by the Chamber of Commerce on the S. S. South American. Managers at the boat, however, are planning for a meeting tomorrow and Thursday of the Detroit branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association, and they were of the opinion that members of the Horticultural society would probably be present and that there would be only the one gathering.

THE MESSAGE OF THE POPPY

"What is the message, poppy guy, You bring from year to year;
 What are the words that you would say,
 As you silently appear?"

And the poppy voices this reply, If we but understand:
 "I have a three-fold mission To proclaim throughout the land."

"I speak in tender, loving tones Of those who died of yester-year, Who fell amid the shot and shell, Paying the price full dear."

"For these and all our dear heroes, Sleeping here and 'over there', I speak a silent word:
 I invoke a silent prayer."

"And for the many who returned, To play the broken threads of trade; I bid a bustling world remember The sacrifice they made."

"Then for that countless multitude The shattered, crippled, blind—
 The maimed, the wrecked and broken lives, Whose wounds have yet to find."

"I beg, do not forget this hour, For which war has no end;
 Do not accept the sacrifice, Forgetting to befriend."

"My message is remembrance.
 The words that I would say—'Let us forget' please by and war For these and all our heroes."

RAILROAD EVANGELIST TO SPEAK AT HOLLAND THEATRE SUNDAY

Rev. M. H. Reynolds, pastor of the First Fundamental church of Los Angeles, California, will speak in this city at two services on Sunday. In the afternoon Mr. Reynolds will speak at the City Mission church in the Holland Theatre.

Rev. Reynolds who is president of the Fundamentally Evangelistic Assoc. Inc., has had the privilege to speak to thousands of railroad men along the lines. Visiting them during sickness, he has come to be known affectionately as their "sky pilot" while the association is giving itself to reaching districts through its gospel cars, ten campaigns, and by house to house visitation. It does so with but one thing in mind, and that is "to win as many for Christ as possible." Last week Mr. Reynolds spoke from the Loop services in Chicago which are also broadcast over WJJD.

Reference is made by Luke to the scribes alone, but Matthew includes the Pharisees also. They are frequently classed together. They are depicted here as inordinately loving to be seen of men and of receiving honors from them. The long robe reached to the feet and was worn by kings and priests, probably a symbol of sanctity, and as a means of attracting attention and securing the reverence of the common people. Thus attired they would take their stand in conspicuous places where people would congregate, so as to receive salutations from them.

There were thirteen chests in the court of the women in the temple for gifts of women. On each chest there was an inscription stating for what purpose the gifts in that particular chest were to be used. Matthew tells us that some of the givers made as much noise as possible with their money when they dropped it in as so as to create the impression of having given very generously. The rich and poor alike were making their offerings. Jesus who had taken a position in the midst of the money chests knew what the size of the offerings was. The Jews were generous contributors. Sometimes they had to be restrained.

There was a widow in the group. She was poor. Perhaps her property had been taken away by the unscrupulous scribes. In that case her gift was the more noteworthy. The mite was the smallest Jewish coin, and was made of copper or brass. The two of them were worth less than one half a cent, the smallest offering the rabbis allowed anyone to bring.

What Jesus saw he made the text of a valuable sermon, first, for those who were before him and second for all those who have been bringing gifts from that day to this. He widened his standard of measuring the size of gifts was from those who dropped their offerings that day! I think most of us would have excused her from making any gift at all, but she did not excuse herself; and how the Lord commended her for bringing a love offering of such vast proportions!

The conversation about the temple occurred as Jesus and the twelve were leaving the building in which he had been teaching. We speak of three temples—the one erected by Solomon; the one erected by Zerubbabel after the first return from the captivity; and the one by Herod, which was really only an improvement of the one by Zerubbabel. When Herod had completed the work he had planned to put on it, it was a beautiful building, and well might the disciples call attention to the goodly stones in the building, and to the gifts or offerings, referring possibly to the sacred vessels.

Jesus' reply to what they had said foretold ominous days. Some of those who heard him speak lived to see the fulfillment of his prediction. In the year seventy the temple was utterly destroyed, and the Jewish people scattered, those who were not put to death. It is necessary to be reminded that we dare not place any dogmatic meaning on these predictive sayings of our Lord. Even we, who live long after his day and are in possession of the facts of the unfolding events, have reason to be careful when we come to place a meaning upon some of the things he said.

HENRY GEERLINGS

I believe it is possible for us to see in this lesson that our Lord realized that the end of his work was approaching. There are very definite sayings here and there in his addresses which make it clear that he was not to speak to these people much longer. Many of the things he said were in the nature of warnings. They read much as would the parting words of a father of a family who planned taking a long journey. We should have these things in mind as we study the lesson.

Jesus thought of the company of the disciples that were gathered about him as a little flock that needed his protection. He was in danger more than they, but it was not often that he had his disciples alone. Much of the teaching they received from him was given in the midst of a multitude of people. In this case some of them were present out of curiosity, while others were simply following the crowd, and more important still, there were those who wished to trap him in his words as they could have him arrested and brought to trial. It must be observed that to soften his manner of pointing out their faults.

and expressed his hope that Holland's 1936 Tulip Festival would be as successful as such a unique celebration deserved. He compared selfishness with unselfish living and neighborly helpfulness with an unneighborly spirit. He emphasized these comparisons with one of his homely poems that expressed these differences warmly and effectively. There was no doubt in the minds of anyone present but that helpfulness and neighborliness were the essence of happiness.

Other introductions that created standing applause were the presentation of Mrs. John E. Telling, chairman of the Tulip Festival and Miss Lida Rogers, who more than a year before the first meeting on Tulip Time in a discourse, advised the planting of tulips in the city and the setting aside of a day as Tulip Day.

The main feature of the program was the conferring of the Order of Orange-Nassau upon Dr. Wynand Wichers, president of Hope college, by Consul Jacob Steketee of Grand Rapids. The emblem and letter came directly from the hand of Queen Wilhelmina. The letter was in the Holland language and bore the signature and seal of the queen. Dr. Wichers is the second president of Hope college to receive this distinction, the first having been the late Dr. G. J. Kollen in 1906.

Members of the Detroit consular corps were introduced over the public address system at the Centennial dinner and at the public reception in Centennial park. They expressed high praise for the city and tulips following a tour.

Mr. Steketee just before the close of the meeting asked the president of Hope College to arise and said: "It gives me great pleasure to extend to you this signal honor. I wish to say that when Minister de With was here last year he inquired about you. He saw your methods, your wonderful executive ability, your high place in education, your college and in your state. Queen Wilhelmina knew more about you than you ever dreamed and found in you a man worthy of this knighthood. The Queen of the Netherlands is deeply interested in her subjects who have made good in the land of their adoption, and she follows closely the accomplishments of the children of these subjects. She confers this honor upon you. Remember you must so live and so conduct yourself that it will be an honor to your community and to the Queen who gave it, that you are given the privilege to wear this symbol." Dr. Wichers was visibly affected.

In a brief response, Dr. Wichers attributed the great honor more to the fact that he "happened to be president of the college on the last birthday of the queen" than to his own particular worthiness. "However, in the future as in the past," he said, "we will try to instill in the good American boys and girls at Hope college the finest of Dutch traditions, morality and religion."

Despite the fact that the many talks were brief and the program shortened by few introductions, the dinner was not over until 9 p.m., an hour after the scheduled starting time for the public reception at Centennial park. More

Mijnheer and Vrouw Celebrate Tulip Time in Traditional Dutch Way

—By Winslow, Holland Making Saucijzen Broodjes (sausage bread) is part of the cooking training every Meisje gets in Holland.

Delicious Food Plays Part in Annual Flower Festival

By ALICE BOTER

RIBBONS of tulips in all their colorful glory bob their gay greeting of "Welkom Vreemdelinger!" Hollanders in native Dutch costumes clump through the streets in wooden shoes and little flaxen-haired tots can be seen practicing Dutch dances before the spotless homes.

But that isn't all that recalls the traditions of the motherland in Michigan Holland's tulip time festival. The delicious aroma of Dutch cooking more than makes up for any lack of fragrance in the tulips.

Koffie Kletz is very much a part of tulip festival and also part of the daily routine of the Dutch descendants in Holland. Shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning most of the business men gather 'round for coffee and chat about the town doings.

On festival parade days many can be seen in native garb. Drinking out of a saucer (the Dutch way of treating coffee so they say) isn't a rare thing at Koffie Kletz.

OLD DUTCH CUSTOM

With the opening of the tulip festival Saturday at Holland it would be safe to guess that more than half of the Hollanders and guests ate Erwten soup.

Erwten soup which to us is split pea soup is a dish as much a part of Dutch customs as the wearing of wooden shoes.

In the immaculate Dutch kitchens, many which still have the old type massive iron stove, the delicious soup is divided among members of the family. No one hesitates to go to the kitchen for his share, either.

The soup is more than a meal opener—it's a meal in itself.

Many of the housewives cook a pork roast right in the pea soup and a good-sized piece goes into each bowl.

Then there's hutsput—the dish around which is woven a fascinating story which is believed by some of the Hollanders to be authentic.

CHILDREN TELL IT
Almost any youngster in Holland can tell the story of hutsput. It dates back to the days when the Spaniards tried to invade Leyden. A wall built around the city served to keep out the Spaniards, but it also kept out food supply.

During these days of siege the Dutch housewives turned to every imaginable source of food—but even then there was little enough to serve, and at least partial starvation was feared.

One morning dwellers of the city awoke to find the Spaniards gone. (Later it was learned that they had been called home for another conquest.) In their haste they had left light outside the city wall a huge kettle of hot food.

The Dutch ate the food with eagerness you can be sure and later the housewives initiated the concoction. Out of this came many ways of making the hutsput and that accounts for the wide variation in recipes for this dish.

Ranking close to hutsput in importance as a national food are the saucijzen broodjes which are really sausage bread. Dough is wrapped around sausage meat and then baked.

Buttermilk pap which is butter-milk and barley is also a favorite. Boskool met addappelen runs true to the Dutch idea of cooking foods together. Just in case you can't translate the Dutch this dish is a mixture of cabbage and potatoes and a tasty one too.

For a long time Dutch cooking could be enjoyed only by women familiar with the Dutch methods. Recipes were a bit confusing, but now they have become standard enough so that any housewife can follow them.

From Holland, Mich., come these Dutch recipes originally brought over from the Netherlands but given the added information that makes them a workable guide for any cook:

Tulip Madness

The mania for tulips for which Holland is noted is said to have begun in France. From France it spread to the Netherlands, where it reached its height exactly 300 years ago this spring. So extravagant was the speculation in bulbs that a proclamation was passed cancelling all tulip contracts. In 1636 a single bulb of the Semper Augustus sold for more than $2,000.

Erwtensoep
Fourteen ounces of peas, 3 1/2 quarts water, 4 leeks, 1 stick celery, 3 pounds pork roast (2 pig's feet and 1/2 pound beef sausage can also be used), salt.

Soak the peas in cold water for 12 hours. Put them in cold salted water, bring to boil, add pork roast (or pig's feet), the chopped leeks, the celery, and simmer for 3 to 5 hours, until the pork roast or pig's feet are quite tender and the meat is easily detached from the bone. Half an hour before serving add the beef sausage if the pig's feet are substituted for the pork roast.

Hutsput
One pound hamburger, 3 small onions, 2 cups peas, 1/2 cup uncooked rice, 1 cup tomato soup.

Fry together the hamburger and onions. Place in the bottom of the

He is an outstanding producer of industrial films and is en route to Hollywood where he will direct the production of special films. Mr. Ivan, who will be a member of Consul William J. Tulip Time guests of Mrs. Clara Tuttle were: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith and Miss Dena Wilson of South Bend, Ind., Mrs. Olive Johnson, Miss Dorothy Coone and Milton Finkstaff of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tuttle and Mr. and Mrs. William Hatten of Tawas City, Mich.

"HOLLANDSCHE KOOK BOEK" TO BE TULIP TIME FEATURE

A very unique book of some 36 pages will be issued this week Saturday by the Steketee-Van Huis Printing Company.

It contains hundreds of recipes as these are concocted in the Netherlands. It is a wonderful booklet with colorful cover in four colors showing the river front and a large flower show in progress in one of the seaport cities of the Netherlands. The background is made up of windmills, canal boats and dutch architecture.

Even the chef of the Holland American Steamboat line contributed his share of recipes in dutch cookery.

The book was compiled by Marvin Lindeman and your editor was asked by Steketee-Van Huis to write the foreword which also includes a few sidelights on the "Koffie Kletz."

The Dutch Market will be well supplied with the "Hollandsc Kook Boek."

The foreword, in a small measure, gives the contents of the book and follows.

"PRE-VUE"

This unusual little volume introduces to you, possibly for the first time, a few highlights in Netherlands culinary art.

This is a cook book containing recipes of tasty dainties and more substantial dishes as these are prepared in the Netherlands, and by the dutch housewives of Holland, Michigan.

The pioneer Hollanders who settled here in Holland, Michigan, also had their Dutch dishes, but these were prepared largely through forced economy. They were, nevertheless, nourishing and healthful.

The early Holland settlers and the generation following are well acquainted with "Geldersche Hutspot," "Pot en Breij," "Oliekoken," "Karnemelksche Pap," and "Jan in den Zak."

Many of these are mixtures comparing largely to an English boiled dinner while others are a soup like concoction made from buttermilk and a porridge cooked in a sack. Anyway, from this description you can see that there was substance there that helped sustain the hard working pioneering Hollander.

This booklet goes further afield in cookery. The recipes are well defined and we feel that the time for a publication of this kind is indeed apropos. It fulfills the quest for typical Dutch dishes which are sought for by many of the thousands who are attracted to Holland, Michigan, during the annual Tulip Festival in May and to our resorts in summer.

While delving in the realms of cuisine, it is altogether fitting to relate a custom that is prevalent in the Netherlands and has found root in Holland, Michigan. In the land of dykes the "coffee houses" are an institution where the Holland folk gather to quietly drink their cup of the Queen's East India possessions.

Many years ago at least one of the cafes in this city was designated as the "Koffie Kletz."

Promptly at 9:30 in the morning the march to the "Kletz" begins. Merchants, bankers, tradesmen and professional men get the urge for their portion of caffeine at the cafe or to listen to or take part in the discussion of question covering a wide range or to participate in some of the horse play that these discussions wind up into.

If you can't find a man in his place of business, he isn't far off. Like as not you will find him with a cup of steaming coffee in one hand and participating in an extemporaneous program between sips at the "Koffie Kletz."

The Michigan Bankers association to be held at Spring Lake country club on Thursday will be attended by Mr. and Mrs. Otto P. Kramer, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. J. van der Meer, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Joldersma. About 250 bankers and their wives are expected to attend. There will be a noon luncheon preceded by a business meeting, golfing for the men in the afternoon and bridge for the women and a banquet at which E. L. Pearce, president of the state organization will speak. The district comprises 12 counties in Western Michigan. A complete program is being arranged by a committee headed by F. C. Bolt of Grand Haven. Mrs. B. P. Sherwood is chairman of the committee composed of wives of Grand Haven bankers who are arranging for reception and entertainment.

Meanwhile all the buildings connected with the festival were officially opened, including the Dutch market in Holland armory, the marionette show in Masonic temple and the garden show in the Women's Literary clubhouse. The millions of tulips in lanes and parks and public gardens, now in full bloom, seemingly nodded their assent and the festival was on its way.

Miss Clara McClellan and Miss Beatrice Denton had for their week end guests, Miss Amanda Eibing of Pigion and Miss Sophia Eibing of Detroit.

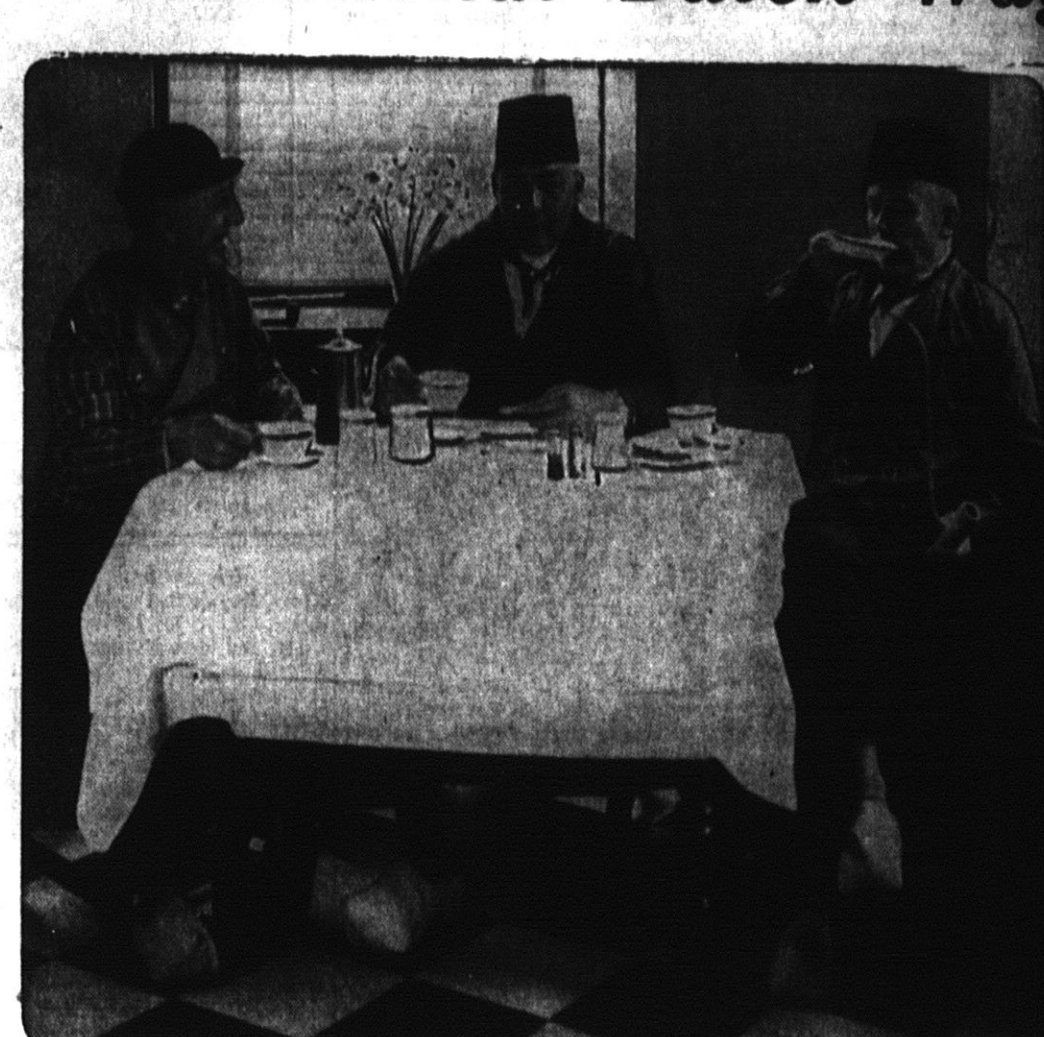

For this, our eighth annual tulip festival, I, your mayor, in company with the common council, have inspected the streets of Holland and now proclaim them need scrubbing. I, accordingly, instruct you, one and all, to forthwith proceed with brush and pail to scour the streets for the awaiting festivities.

Upon their return the members will visit the Beal Botanical Garden at the State College in Lansing. Mrs. Hoyt Nisley, general chairman, is assisted by Mrs. Frederick Huetwell, Mrs. Wm. Yager, Mrs. Preston Hogle, Mrs. Ewald Schaffer, Miss Beatrice Utley, and the president, Mrs. Laurence Sprague.

Five performances of a puppet show will be given daily for the balance of the Tulip Time festival as a new feature of the tulip festival. The show, sponsored by the Michigan Dental society, is designed to afford entertainment as well as education on oral hygiene and is free from direct advertising.

Performances are scheduled at 10:15 a. m., 11:15 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 1:30 p. m. and 2:30 p. m. They are free to the public.

Drinking coffee from the saucer is in order at Koffie Kletz in Holland. Mijneers find Koffie Kletz a good time for joking and discussing town affairs.

The "Koffie Kletz"

And Dutch Cooker

The picture gallery above is not dutch art nor Van Dyke's or Rembrandt's productions. They are photographs taken at Holland, Michigan, two of them in the "Koffie Kletz" (kitchen) and the other shows a corner of the Koffie Kletz.

Those at the "Koffie Kletz" are, from left to right, "Vaudie" Vandenberg, (who could miss him with that big top face projection). The middle man is "Andy" Klomp, not Gump. Something is attracting his attention according to that attentive look, but then, "Andy" is married. The third man is "Dick" Boter. He has eyes, ears and mouth for nothing else but a saucer of amber brew. Sauces aren't really etiquette but "Dick" doesn't care, he is trying to avoid heartburn. That pipe is only a pose but it looks good.

Just spy those "dogs" Klomp has under the table. We never took pains to look at his lower extremities since he has so much above. Some "Klompers" we say. Ether Vaudie is listening to a dry story or that smile too is a pose.

The smaller picture to the left is that of Miss Lorraine Inderbit and the taller is Mrs. John East. Mrs. East, who is making saucijzen, is wielding the rolling pin. She is all prepared for John's appearance for he must eat her covery or receive her blessing with dough roller. They have been married not quite a year and we have heard whether rolling pins have come part of the family daily program, but John says, "Ma's pea soup is wonderful and wife's saucijzen breads are par excellence, probably the rolling pin will lie dormant for a while."

M-40 Cannot Be Paved This Year Says Van Wagener

HE HOPES TO BUILD BRIDGE OUTSIDE OF ALLEGAN IN 1937

(Allegan News)

In a special wire to the Allegan News today, Murray D. Van Wagener, Michigan State Highway commissioner, repeated his statement made to the Rotary Club Monday evening that there is hope of paving the state highway from Allegan to Hamilton this year.

In his telegram, Mr. Van Wagener said, "Our current construction program in Allegan county includes so many projects that it will be financially impossible to place additional work on M-40 during current construction season. However, we hope to continue our work on M-40 on the 1938 Federal Program with money available July, 1937, by building a bridge just outside Allegan."

Mr. Van Wagener pointed out that $1,299,000.00 of highway projects had been completed or programmed for Allegan county under his administration.

"I have been over the road myself and am fully aware of the poor condition it is in," Mr. Van Wagener told Allegan Rotarians at their meeting Monday evening. "and I promise you that it will be taken care of just as soon as possible."

Mr. Van Wagener told the Rotarians that "Your present administration has insisted that no new roads be built if we have to go in debt to build them. With our revenues so small it has been necessary to exert the most rigid economy to be able to match Federal Aid grants. We have been able to do this and in addition have been able to wipe out a large debt. All there has been a cash betterment of approximately ten million dollars in our cash position in the last 2 1/2 years."

A long and detailed account of the work of the state highway department was given the Rotarians by Mr. Van Wagener and although disappointed in his report on the Allegan-Hamilton road, it was reluctantly conceded that he was right in his basic principles.

Approximately 60 Allegan business men attended the Rotarian meeting and heard Mr. Van Wagener's address. In order to accommodate the crowd gathered to hear Mr. Van Wagener, the meeting was changed from its regular quarters at Hargie's to the Episcopal Parish house.

DREESE ARGUES OWN CASE IS ACQUITTED

William Dreese, Ferrysburg, who pleaded his own case in circuit court, was acquitted of the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder by a jury of 12 men late yesterday afternoon.

Officials of the court said that it was one of the few times on record when a defendant had pleaded and won his own case in circuit court. Mr. Dreese was accused of assaulting John Deal, Jr., at the Dreese home on March 8, when a party of seven men came to his home following a fishing party.

Dreese claimed to the jury that he had attempted to redress an assault on his wife when she was slapped by one member of the party, which precipitated a general fight among the seven men present and that in self defense he grabbed his shotgun and hit John Deal so that his arm was injured.

The jury deliberated about two hours and then brought in a verdict of "not guilty." The editor listened to the case for a while and from all the evidence it appeared like a "rough house" among a lot of drunks. Several Holland men were on the jury.

The defendant's wife and infant daughter were in court with him. Dreese would have no lawyer but put on his own defense and made his own plea before the jury. The arrest was made by state police after the trouble at the Dreese home.

Fool Those Rats Before Poisoning

Feeding rats good food for several nights before attempting to poison them is a subterfuge recommended by the home economics extension service at Michigan State College, East Lansing. "It is a good idea to 'prebait' them; that is, use various mixtures without poison for a night or two and then set up poison stations where the rats are known to feed and live in and around homes and barns," department members say. Poison mixtures should be varied because rats become wary of any one food. Bait should be spread on small round cardboard or put into paper bags with the tops tied.

All food should be kept in secure containers and the greatest care is urged that nothing attractive to rats is left about. Pets should also be kept out of the way when the poison mixtures are used, although the poison is not fatal to them. Three mixtures recommended by the department are: One ounce red squill oven-dried powder, 15 ounces lean hamburger meat, one ounce cornmeal; one ounce red squill, 15 ounces salmon or mackerel, one ounce oatmeal; one ounce red squill and 16 ounces cornmeal. The dried powder should be mixed with the cereal before adding the meat or fish. Sufficient water should be used to make it sticky.

Miss Jenna V. Laug, Coopersville High School Senior, Reigned as Queen at Zeeland Chick Show

Miss Jenna V. Laug, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Laug, and a senior in Coopersville high school who began her reign as Zeeland's first chick queen last Tuesday, opening day of the four-day event, was received publicly Thursday night, and was accorded honors befitting a queen at the reception held in the Zeeland city hall auditorium. At the reception, which was attended by nearly 500 persons, Miss Laug was crowned and acknowledged mistress of some 18,000,000 feathered subjects, several hundred of which were the champions in their own right. The coronation service was the climax of the second annual Zeeland chick and egg show.

Attended by Miss Margaret Berghorst and Miss Thelma Van Dyke, both of Zeeland, the Coopersville queen was given an enthusiastic ovation when escorted to her throne.

As her last official act at the Zeeland show Queen Jenna, at one o'clock Friday afternoon auctioned off the first box of grand sweepstakes prize-winning chicks.

Although her active duties as the Queen of the Zeeland show were concluded Friday, Miss Laug further served the poultry kingdom with engagements in Lansing and Kansas City. On May 18 she was received at the capitol by Governor Fitzgerald, appointed her as Michigan's official emissary to Kansas City, where she will invite the International Baby Chick Association, in convention there July 21, to hold their 1937 meeting in Grand Rapids.

George Caball, Zeeland hatcheryman, who was in charge of the queen's contest served as master of ceremonies. The show, which ended Friday, was viewed by more than five thousand people, officials estimated. Besides the auctioning off of hte chicks Friday, the program wound up with the showing of motion pictures entitled, "Hidden Harvest."

Mrs. Jacob Lokker and Miss Laura Knooihuizen attended the May Festival concert in Civic auditorium, Grand Rapids, Tuesday night.

OVERISEL

Miss Goldie Koops was honored at a shower given by her sisters at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edd Koorker. A very pleasant afternoon was spent playing games. A two course lunch was served. The bride-to-be was presented with many useful gifts. The guests were: Mrs. John Immink, Mrs. B. Voorhorst, Mrs. Beo. Schievink, Mrs. William Pyle, Mrs. Ruth De Kate Smith was guest of honor a few days ago at a spectacular celebration in Constitution Hall, Washington, D. C. More than 4,000 guests, including numerous government officials and other dignitaries were on hand to witness the colorful ceremonies which marked the Radio Star's birthday and the fifth anniversary of her first broadcast.

While the massed bands of Washington American Legion Posts played, and the audience applauded, John A. Hartford, President of The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, whose Washington Unit of 1,500 employees sponsored the party, presented Miss Smith with a 300-pound birthday cake, standing six feet in height.

Mr. Hartford requested that the huge cake be brought in after playfully pretending to fumble in his pockets for the "little birthday remembrance" he wanted to give the radio star.

The golden-voiced singer was so overcome by the enthusiastic reception of her "home-town" people and the honors heaped upon her that she was forced to borrow a handkerchief from the master-of-ceremonies, Mr. Harry Butcher. "I'm so happy," she confessed, "that I'm afraid I'm going to cry." Among those paying tribute to Miss Smith were: James L. Frieser, Vice-Chairman of the American Red Cross; Joseph S. Malloy, District Commander of the American Legion; Alfred Jacobson, of the Jewish War Veterans; William S. Poley, President of The Columbia Broadcasting System, and J. W. Barnett, President of the Washington A&P Managers' Benefit Association.

Mr. Malloy and Mr. Jacobson presented Miss Smith with a bouquet and a handsome engraved medallion. Mr. Frieser, on behalf of the American Red Cross, praised her for her work in securing contributions for the stricken victims of the floods, and gave her a parchment scroll in recognition of her services.

Addressing the assembled guests, Mr. Hartford, declared that the welfare of each and every employee was the thing nearest his heart. And when he said, "We are more interested in building men than balance sheets," he received a tremendous ovation.

Miss Smith brought with her to the party a revue which included numerous outstanding stage and radio personalities. The performance was directed by Ted Collins, Miss Smith's announcer-manager, who has been associated with her since her radio debut, in 1931. Kate's Orchestra, led by Jack Miller, was also on hand.

The popular singer acted as mistress-of-ceremonies, and offered several songs, including her famous theme song, "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain." The day following the banquet, she presented the 300-pound cake to the small patients in the Children's Hospital, and the bouquets of flowers to war veterans in the Walter Reed and Mount Alto Hospitals in Washington.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

BEF, butter and broilers are three foods worthy of attention this week. All other meats are relatively high compared to beef. But prices are really very attractive. The new broiler season is just beginning but prices are reasonable. Many varieties of fish are plentiful and cheap. Greens both for cooking and salad are cheap. Other cheap vegetables are green beans, peas, spinach, cabbage and onion. The first peaches and huckleberries of the season have been shipped but it will be several weeks before they are plentiful. Our fruit choice lies chiefly between strawberries, pineapples, oranges and bananas. Rubbers should not be forgotten at this season.

Here are three menus planned for different budget levels.

food manufacturing concern. A tabulation, made by William Fischer, himself a veteran of 54 years' service, shows that each of eight employees has worked for the Heinz company for more than half a century. Thirty-eight have been with the organization from 40 to 50 years; 108 from 30 to 40 years and 276 from 20 to 30 years. The length of service with the company for these 468 workers would average more than 28 years.

Holland Furnace Men Confer in G. Rapids

(Grand Rapids Press)
E. A. Gogolin, a division sales manager, who conducted a regional sales meeting of Holland Furnace Co. representatives in the Rowe hotel Friday, informed them that there is "no more waiting for that long-expected boom in home construction and modernization; it is already well under way."

He quoted FHA statistics for the first three months of this year showing mortgages accepted for insurance totaling $63,043,685, compared with $7,070,013 for the corresponding period last year, and repair notes of $72,486,632 for the first quarter of 1936 exceeded the entire first six months of 1935. Reports from virtually every important community in the country showed operative builders enjoying the largest and best spring opening since 1931.

Expected Many Replacements
"Naturally," said Gogolin, "manufacturers of home-heating equipment stand to benefit substantially from this increased activity, but there are factors which particularly favor our industry. Improved business conditions, for example, will lead to the replacement of many heating plants which owners nursed along with patch on patch during the depression but which they now can afford to discard in favor of new, better equipment. The severity of last winter also created new business for the furnace man. Thousands of heating plants were damaged beyond repair by long continued overfiring during the unprecedented cold spell of January. Others were ruined in recent floods. All these must be replaced in the interest of safety."

Brother Writes Obituary Of Other Brother

PIONEER KOLVOORDS WERE KNOWN IN TWO COUNTIES.
ENTERED COUNTY OVER ICE IN DETROIT RIVER

(By Albertus Kolvoord)

Mr. Bert Kolvoord writes the following as an obituary and a few words of pioneer recollections of his brother, Johannes Kolvoord.

Mr. Johannes Kolvoord was 85 years old and was buried in Battle Creek Sunday. His father came to this country in 1847 with the Dr. Van Raalte Colony. The trip across the Atlantic was covered in 64 days in a sail boat and his father, Jan Kolvoord came as far as Albany, New York in the early spring with an Albert Stageman, where they arrived at Detroit. At arriving at Detroit, they found the river still frozen and they accomplished the rather hazardous undertaking of crossing the river on dangerous ice with the aid of some boards. From Detroit, they walked to Western Michigan and joined the Van Raalte settlement in New Groningen, at the place where the Fish Hatchery is now located.

His father, Jan Kolvoord built a small mill and did some custom grinding for the early settlers in that territory and the usual method of transportation was to carry the sack of grain on the shoulder. This was the beginning of the mill business in this territory and was later followed by his two sons, John and Bert.

Later the mill from New Groningen was moved farther South near Hamilton and operated in company with Jan Robbers and later the mill was converted into a furniture factory and one of the first turning lathes was installed and this was a trade that had already been learned by his father, Jan Kolvoord in the old country, in fact this made him the first manufacturer in the Dutch Colony that established itself here.

Mr. Bert Kolvoord further writes, that his father, Jan Kolvoord had a brother and two sisters, who arrived in Western Michigan a year later, and landed in Grand Haven. A. Mary Kolvoord who later married Geert Lubbers of Drenthe, Mich. and Cornelia Kolvoord who married Jan Robbers of New Groningen and after the death of her first husband, Mr. Robbers, she married Evert Sprik of Vriesland, who later moved to East Saugatuck and was well known in that territory.

The incident is related that when food supplies at one time became rather scarce in the Kolvoord family, at Holland, that there arrived at the Holland Harbor, one night about 10:00, a barrel of flour and pork and this happy shipment was so gratefully received that there was a meal made of it that same night after it's delivery. The brother of the elder Jan Kolvoord moved to Grand Rapids and worked at the furniture trade and died in 1865. The elder Jan Kolvoord died while the children including, Bert, were still young and Mr. Bert Kolvoord, relates that at times food was rather scarce and mentions one incident where one morning they had to travel a considerable distance to the mill to have some meal ground, and on the way home, the boys spilled the meal on the ground and they picked it up again, including some sand, but by noon were able to make a meal out of it, which of course, included some of the sand with it, but nevertheless, it was relished and tasted good, because they were hungry.

Mr. Bert Kolvoord, when 9 years old moved to Overisel and there he received some employment with a farmer, which compensated him at the rate of $12.00 per year (not per month) and 2 pounds of wool. The next year wages were raised to $18.00, including 3 months of schooling, but it was here that all the boys of the family got some employment, including about 3 months of schooling each year.

An incident is related of a brother, Johannes, who—severely punished at school for something for which he was not to blame, and his mother could not persuade him to go to school again, but through the persuasive efforts of Mr. Gerrit Lubbers, he was sent to school, which later made it possible for him to go to Hope College and he completed a 3-year course at this college. Later, brother Johannes taught for 3 years in the North Holland school and from there located in Orange City, Iowa, where he became the editor of a paper. Mr. Bert Kolvoord writes this as an obituary to his brother, and a remembrance of his father and wishes to leave a thought of the hardships of the pioneer life and especially thinking that this might be of interest to some of the older people.

Albertus Kolvoord
Hamilton, Mich.

The climax to the eleventh annual Tulip Time festival will be the review of bands at Riverside Park Saturday. There will be 25 marching musical aggregations, 1200 musicians, from High Schools of the State and Indiana. There are four more bands entered this year than in 1935. Saturday, May 23 at 1 p.m. the review will start and the grand parade will follow at 4 p.m. Prizes and trophies will be awarded in Centennial Park after the parade. Four local units will march but will not compete for the $605 prize money. They are the American Legion, Holland High School, Christian High School and Holland Junior High School. J. J. Riemersma is marshal of the event and is serving his third year in this capacity.

Replica of Smaller Mill Below

This windmill at Windmill Park here, is a replica of one imported from the Netherlands and placed on the beautiful Kellogg estate on Gull Lake. The committee visiting the estate at the invitation of Mr. Kellogg of Battle Creek on April 3, 1934, were Wm. M. Connelly, "Vaudie" Vandenberg, Henry "Dutch" Vander Schel, and Ben Mulder. John Harmsen, a local contractor who built several Dutch mills in the Netherlands was also present. He made a drawing and took measurements and the local Dutch windmill was his creation.

Biggest Camp Year for Ottawa Scouts Certain

214 SCOUTS SIGNED FOR OUT-ING AT NEWAYGO LAKE FROM JUNE 27 TO

The greatest year of camping in history of the Ottawa county boy scout organization is in prospect this summer, M. P. Russell, scout executive at Holland reports. He has 214 scouts signed for camp, 110 of them to stay two weeks. The camp, named Camp Wilderness, is on Lake Pettit in Newaygo county and was obtained for the county council through efforts of William Hatton and cooperation of the Consumers Power company.

Camp opens June 27 and closes Aug. 22. Scouts will pay $4 a week and furnish their own bedding. Should a troop wish to furnish its own food and do its own cooking, camp fees are 50 cents a scout each week. Four new boats are being built in the Holland high school manual training room; canoes are being repaired, tents repaired at Troop 13 headquarters here, and four new wall tents have been purchased.

Mr. Russell said troops would be urged to preserve their identity and camp under their own leadership if possible. Several troops plan 100 per cent attendance of scouts and leaders. Mr. Russell will be camp manager, Gordon Benjamin of Holland who was first aid man in a CCC camp and is now first assistant scoutmaster of troop 6, will be in charge of water activities and first aid. Robert Hannum of this city, acting assistant scoutmaster of troop 13, will assist the camp manager, and Ivan Fosheim of this city and L. J. Harris, Jr., of Holland are to divide duties as quartermaster.

Holland scout work is in good hands and what can be said of Holland and also be said of the rest of the county. Two organizations are a god send to our youth. The "4-H" clubs for our rural boys and the Boy and Sea Scouts for the city boys.

Paul Lewis Veele, 242 W. 17th St. entertained six of his playmates on his 6th birthday anniversary Wednesday afternoon. Guests were Rex Young, Carl Prins, Bernard Wiersma, Warren Exo, Clyde Kehrer and Edward Sjoerdama. Games and contests were enjoyed and each guest was successful in winning a prize. Mrs. M. Veele, assisted by her sister, Mrs. C. Weener, served refreshments.

SHOP BETWEEN PARADES

This announcement may be a little premature for Tulip Time but not a few merchants would like to have the buying public shop early on parade days during the festival.

There will be a parade practically every day and during the preparation and the pulling off of the parade proper and for half an hour afterward there is practically no trading. When customers hear the band out they go with an order half given. After the parade all hustle to be waited on and the jam is more than the sales force can handle in a short time.

We might apply the Christmas slogan, "Shop early." Get your needs in the morning or before the parade, then your mind will be at ease, you will enjoy the parade more and the sales force will thank you who in the last analysis see only a few glimpses of the beautiful Tulip Time pageant of which there will be many during the ten days of Tulip Time.

Miss Dorothy Kamerling a bride-to-be was honored at a personal shower Thursday night at the home of Mrs. C. J. Fox 194 E. Seventh St. Games were played and a luncheon was served. Hamm, Miss Esther Kamerling, Mrs. C. Winters, the guest of honor, and Mrs. L. Kamerling, who assisted the hostess.

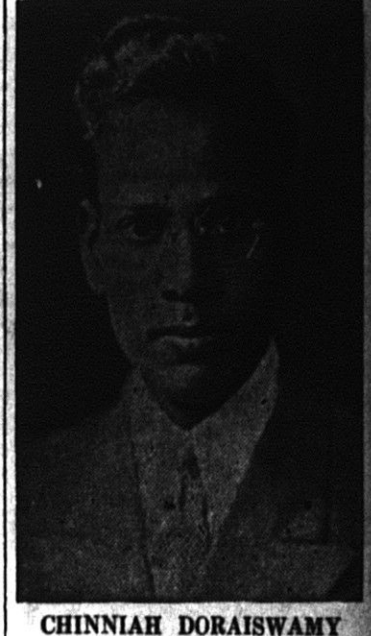

Members of the women's Thursday evening bowling league had dinner in the club room of the Warm Friend Tavern Wednesday evening. Following dinner the group played bridge at the home of Mrs. B. Lievense. Mrs. L. Smith was awarded the first prize, the consolation prize going to Mrs. C. F. Cook. Those included in the group are: Mrs. C. Van Tongeren, Mrs. H. Prins, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. D. Native Addresses Hope Studentry

"The first institution I wanted to know when I came to America was Hope college and I am glad to have this opportunity of coming here," said Chinniah Doraiswamy of Madras, South India, who spoke in chapel, a few weeks ago. Mr. Doraiswamy has been studying in this country for the past four years in preparation for work among the physically handicapped children of his native land. He has studied at Godron college, Clark and Perkins Institution for the Blind, Harvard university and holds an M.A. from Boston university. Mr. Doraiswamy has met many Hope alumni and the youthful speaker declared, "It was from your alumni who were my friends that I learned the way of life and learned to know God."

In discussing America, the speaker said, "Before I came to America I had formed my own opinions concerning this country. I had read American books. I knew about movie stars and gangsters. When Americans asked, 'What do you think about America?' Mr. Doraiswamy confessed that he was disappointed. 'I was disappointed in America because I had had a different background and could not appreciate your country.' After he had changed his viewpoint, he began to like the place.

"Likewise, the people of the world must learn to understand each other," he continued. "We should respect human beings as they are." The world is becoming smaller all the time and it needs "leaders who are strong, who have a Christian foundation."

In conclusion, the speaker said that the "Christian ideal, like the stars, will lead above all difficulties into the charted courses of the world."

GETTING NOWHERE

The man who spends all of his income is like the man who hasn't time to row because he is so busy bailing just to keep afloat.

Take time to plug the leaks. One sure way is to open a savings account with this Bank, and put part of your salary into it every pay-day before you have a chance to spend it for the trivial things you do not really need.

Money-in-the-bank means a reserve to draw on in emergencies, and banishes the constant worry of "getting nowhere fast."

The Escanaba will not be docked at Kollen park during the festival as scheduled. Damage to the placed in dry-dock. Repairs will

Captain LeRoy Reinburg divisional commander of the U.S. coastguard of Chicago, expressed regret to Wm. M. Connelly of Tulip Time Comm. at the inability to assign the ship here during the event. It was pointed out that immediate repairs were imperative, so that the vessel

Chief of police Frank Van Ry appealed to local residents to cooperate with police in an effort to nip the practice of tulip vandalism in the bud. Reports were received at headquarters that persons were seen picking tulips. A description of the car and license revealed that the offenders were from outside of the county but in the state. Last year a $5 fine per tulip was set for those apprehended for picking them, whether on city property or on privately owned property. Chief Van Ry pointed out that this rule will be rigidly enforced. "Call police headquarters if you see anyone picking tulips that do not rightfully belong to them," chief Van Ry urged.

— OUR TULIP TIME —

By Geo. W. Deur
We'll soon 'gain see the passing throng — Upon our Holland streets; We'll marvel as they walk along — At quite so many feet.
The countless number passing there — We cannot help but muse; Such throngs of people every where — All clothed from hat to shoes.

All classes we will 'gain see there — Some old and well to do; While others poor — which show they fare In world's great sea — a meeting rare.
And as we watch this human stream — A thought may cross our mind; What does this mass — what will they plan — Will they here pleasure find?

We wonder just how many came — To see the beauty of a flower; That out this State our tulip fame — The Frost and wind did shiver.
From office, factory and the town — Of tulips new in bloom; They're gathered in our field — To share our joy — we'll gladly yield — As buds we'll fit around.

There's something tender, strangely sweet All human life enjoyment seeks — This is a gift divine.
May all our efforts, beauty show — Be real and natural — not assume.
May friendship, more, and ever grow, Spontaneous — non-assume.

May happy memories linger on — Though tulips dropped their bloom; May thoughts forever mark our town — Be real and natural — not assume.
May traveling on our highways be —
With care and sense proceeding.
No chance take — from passing sea — Sincerely — this resolve.

Holland Man Is Arrested By State Men

CHARGED WITH LEAVING SCENE OF ACCIDENT IN WHICH TOWNSHIP MAN WAS HURT

Dan Sassalos, 42, 11 West 8th St., Holland, was arraigned before Justice Raymond L. Smith at Holland yesterday afternoon by the state police officers, charged with leaving the scene of an accident on U.S. 31 in which Gerhardt Groth, Grand Haven township, was seriously injured. Sassalos demanded an examination which was held recently. He was permitted to appear on his own recognizance.

Fred Diekema, 33, owner of the Crescent garage, 26 West 6th St., Holland was arraigned at the same time, charged with failure to report an accident.

Sassalos contacted the Holland police yesterday. He told them that he did not realize that his contact with a car that night had resulted in a serious accident and it was only after reading the newspapers that he learned what had happened.

He took the car to the Crescent garage for repair. A hub cap and a bumperette were discovered by the police at the scene of the accident. Search was made of the garages in that section to find a Chrysler car, which the police believed, rammed the car in which Groth was riding. William Prelesnik, Grand Haven township, was the driver.

Sassalos told the police that Prelesnik's car had side-swiped his car as it forced him to one side of the road.

Dan Sassalos, 42 years old, local business man, was bound over to circuit court by Justice Raymond L. Smith after examination on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Fred Diekema, 33 years old, garage propi-etor, charged with failure to report the damaged car, was freed on his own recognizance, his examination indefinitely postponed.

Sassalos is also at liberty on his own recognizance. The men were arrested by state police after an accident on U. S. 31 near Agnew avenue, Monday morning in which Gerhardt Groth, 17 years old, of Grand Haven township, suffered serious head wounds. William Prelesnik, 19 years old, of Grand Haven township, in whose car Mr.
Groth was a passenger, suffered minor injuries. The police claim Sassalos' machine sideswiped the Prelesnik car, throwing it into a ditch and wrecking it.

CAR LICENSE SALES SHOW NO REDUCTION IN OLD TIME LIST

Although March 1 was the deadline for purchase of 1936 automobile license plates or stickers for cars in uninterrupted operation, registration activities continue at a high level in the Department of State. About 4,000 plates and 4,200 stickers are being sold daily throughout the some 140 branch offices in the state. In the first 21 calendar days of April, 63,864 plates and 53,740 stickers were recorded on department records as sold.

Titles for new automobiles recorded for March, as compared with March, 1935, showed almost no change, but title transfers, indicating transfer of ownership of used cars, showed a marked gain this March over last.

In March, 1935, a total of 22,471 new titles and 51,491 title transfers were recorded; March, 1936, showed 22,511 new titles and 62,476 title transfers recorded.

RECORD NUMBER CAR MORTGAGES RECOVERY SIGN

A record number of chattel mortgages filed during April with Frank Bottje, register of deeds at Grand Haven, are hailed as a sign of increasing business activity. About 90 per cent of the 547 mortgages filed during the month are for automobiles purchased on the time payment plan. During the same period 61 chattel mortgages have been discharged.

The March filing numbered 373. Chattel mortgages given in townships up to two years ago and a year ago the state law was changed in regard to cities so that now all are filed with the register of deeds.

Chance Plays With Death

Chance plays a great part in the life of every individual but records show that, on occasions, it assumes miraculous proportions in regard to specific individuals.

Every one in a while we read news accounts of accidents, usually involving certain death, but in which no fatality or injury occurs. Along this line, one recalls instances of men falling from high buildings without serious injury.

A recent case is that of an automobilist who missed a curve in a heavy fog and went off a cliff, to plunge 2000 feet. His car tumbled and rolled, occasionally striking projections, and once dropped 200 feet. The driver escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Adrian Van Koevering, Zeeland, was elected chairman of the tax allocation board which met for the first time this year at the court house yesterday afternoon.

The board went over a few matters at hand and adjourned to meet next Monday at 2 p.m. The work of the board will not be heavy until the tax assessments are submitted by the various units of the county and the school districts.

The board includes Mr. Van Koevering, appointed representative of a school district; Ben Mulder, member at large from Holland; John Den Herder, county treasurer; Gerrit Groenewoud, school commissioner; and Albert Hyma, chairman of the finance committee of the board of supervisors. William Wilds, county clerk, is the clerk of the board.

SAYS JACK SPANGLER, CHAIRMAN OF OLD AGE ASSISTANCE BOARD

There are approximately 240 old people receiving aid from the Old Age Assistance Bureau in Ottawa County. The Old Age Assistance Bureau of the State of Michigan is paying to Ottawa County approximately $4000 per month for the aged people. In the near future all cases active under the old head tax set up will be reinvestigated to determine their present need. Some of these old people were receiving very small grants, and these no doubt will be increased. The Lansing office is now handling approximately 24,000 grants for assistance per month.

AGED ZEELAND MAN IS TRAFFIC VICTIM

Lavene Meusen, 81, living on Washington St., Zeeland, was instantly killed on M-21 near the Colonial Manufacturing company factory at one o'clock Tuesday.

Mr. Meusen was walking or crossing M-21 when struck by a Columbia Transfer truck of Grand Rapids. The driver, Jacob Dertien, 27, of 648 Grandville Ave., Grand Rapids, it is said, did all he could to avoid hitting Mr. Meusen, but when he sounded the horn the elderly man jumped in front of the truck.

The body was removed to the Langeland Funeral Home after Corner Gilbert Vande Water of Holland, and Chief of Police Fred Bosma of Zeeland, made a thorough investigation and decided on a later inquest. Mr. Meusen was a life long resident and for many years lived on a farm just north of the city. He is survived by the widow and two sons, Peter of Zeeland, and Daniel of Rusk. Funeral arrangements are to be announced later.

No inquest will be held in connection with the death of Lavene Meusen. Dertien was exonerated by Coroner Gilbert Vande Water's investigation, which disclosed that Meusen stepped back into the path of the truck as he was crossing M-21 to his home. Dertien had sounded his horn, but Meusen, who was slightly deaf, evidently did not hear the warning.

Meusen's body was crushed and both legs were fractured. His body was carried 60 feet. Surviving are the widow, two sons, Dan of Rusk and Peter of Zeeland; three brothers, Johannes of Central Park, Dan of Hudsonville and Sam of Holland. Funeral services will be held today, Friday, at 1:30 p.m. at the home and at 2 p.m. at North Street Christian Reformed church. The body will lie in state at the Langeland chapel in Zeeland until Friday. Burial will be in Zeeland cemetery.

A son, Albert Wendell, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Mills, of Los Angeles, Calif. Mrs. Mills was formerly Miss Helene Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Meyer, 4 W. 12th st.

Those Much Talked of "Tulip Time" Dutch Marionettes

An outstanding feature of Holland's 1936 Tulip Festival will be its Dutch marionettes. The show and exhibition has been especially arranged by the Tulip Time Committee to present a continuous performance from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., daily, except Sunday, from May 16 to 24, which is the duration of the Festival.

Famous puppeteers from Chicago's Century of Progress have designed the stars for this show, which are in keeping with the traditions of the Dutch, Klaas, the clown, entertains with pantomime, Fritsje is a "klompen" (Wooden Shoe) dancer. Tyl Uilienspiegel, who has been faithfully reproduced from the illustrations in the story books, will regale the audiences with his drollery. Collections of various types of puppets will be shown and a professional will discuss on how they are constructed and operated.

Puppetry is a new-old form of entertainment. Centuries ago it was popular throughout Europe and in the Orient. The Japanese of the Dutch colony of Java are experts. The Japanese go in for shadow puppets—the French for the string-operated, which are known as marionettes. The term "marionette" is French and means "little Maria," as the principal character in many of the early religious plays was the Virgin Mary. Marionette shows, in their new and highly-professional form, are patronized by adults as well as children. Tony Sarg, Russell Patterson and other nationally-known artists have brought this type of amusement up to a new plane. These Lilliputian figures are now frequently used in the movies, stage shows and as advertising mediums.

Four men were arraigned before Justice John Galien Monday morning on the charge of picking tulips during the week-end. They were fined $9.60 or 20 days in the county jail. All pleaded guilty. They spent the night in the city jail. The men were apprehended yesterday afternoon in the vicinity of 24th St. and College Ave. by a special officer. Those arrested were Nathan Smith, 33; Clyde Kirk, 17; Edward Baldwin, 29, and Binis Brewer, 28. A fifth youth was bound to probate court.

The program also included musical readings by Miss Mildred Kirkwood and selections by the Holland High school trumpet trio composed of Victor Scherven, Julian Arendshorst and Donald Lieverse. Arthur McGilvra was toastmaster. Dinner was served by a group of the Ladies Aid Society.

Miss Betty Van den Brink, daughter of Mrs. G. Van den Brink of Overisel, and Algot Carlman of Detroit were united in marriage Saturday morning at the home of Miss Edith King in Holland.
