YOUTH ISSUE IS EMPHASIZED BY LEGION LEADER

Commander and Adjutant Are Festival Guests of Local Post

Receive Klompen as Part of Reception; Wives Are Feted

Carrying engraved wooden shoes as mementoes of their visit to Holland's Tulip Time festival, two state American Legion officials and their wives left Holland today to return to their homes.

The officials were State Commander Everett DeRyke of Milan and State Adjutant Carl H.
Goetz of Monroe. They were overnight guests aboard the S. S.
North American.

The wooden shoes were presented to the legion officials by the Willard G. Leenhouts Post which played host to Mr. DeRyke and Mr. Goetz and legionnaires from the Grand Haven, Zeeland and Coopersville posts at a meeting Wednesday night in the legion clubrooms. Approximately 125 legionnaires from the visiting and host posts, headed by commanders and adjutants, attended the meeting.

In a talk to the legionnaires, Mr. DeRyke described American citizens as "debtors to the past, guardians of the present and trustees of the future." He said that America is indebted to its forefathers who built up this country for a free place to live by their descendants.

As guardians of the present, Americans must be on guard against the dangers which exist in this country today, he said. Contending that the young folks of today will assume command of the country in the future, Mr. De-Ryke said it is "our duty" to see that they receive proper training.

In describing the work of the legion in conducting Boys' States in 26 states, including Michigan, as a way to prepare the citizens of the future, the state commander told a story of an incident which occurred in the camp last year at Springfield, Ill. After the camp had ended, legion officials received letters from two Chicago youths who had attended camp, requesting permission to withdraw their pledges to the flag and support of the constitution which was administered during camp.

Investigation revealed that the two boys had been sent to camp by the Communist party, he said, to undermine the work there. De-Ryke said the boys were so ashamed of themselves they wanted to clear their minds of their work.
As a result, the boys and their parents dropped their membership in the Communist party.

State Adjutant Goetz also spoke briefly in which he congratulated the Holland post on its activities and its large membership. He reported the state department had reached an all-time high in membership with 35,000 members.

The two officials arrived in Holland about 2:30 p.m. Wednesday and were met by Alfred C. Jolder-sma and Mrs. Nicholas Hoffman, Jr., president of the local auxiliary.
Mr. DeRyke and Mr. Goetz were taken to the tulip farms and on a tour of inspection of the tulip lanes by Mr. Joldersma. Mrs. Hoffman conducted the two women on a similar tour.

The two legion officials later returned to the Warm Friend tavern to meet the reception committee from the local legion post.
The group then had dinner aboard the S. S. North American. Those present at the dinner were Mr.
Joldersma, the two state officials, Henry A. Geerds, A. E. Van Lente, Marinus De Fouw, Henry Cook, Ben Lievense, Dr. William West-strate, Dr. E. J. Bacheller, Henry Poppen, Tony Den Uyl, Gerrit Veurink, Simon Meeuwse and Willis Diekema.

Mrs. DeRyke and Mrs. Goetz had dinner at the Warm Friend tavern with Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs.
Joldersma, Mrs. Joan Danhof of Zeeland, state auxiliary president;
and Mrs. Harry Kramer.

Later in the evening, Mrs. De-Ryke and Mrs. Goetz were guests of honor at an informal reception at the home of Mrs. Hoffman, 525 College Ave. Approximately 50 auxiliary members called during the evening.

Those in the receiving line were Mrs. DeRyke, Mrs. Goetz, Mrs.
Hoffman, Mrs. Joan Danhof of Zeeland, state auxiliary president;
and Mrs. Harry Kramer.

Bouquets of tulips were used to decorate the rooms. Punch and wooden shoe wafers were served to the auxiliary members.

Young Dutch Couple Busy at Fete

As cute as dolls, but seriously alive, are these two Holland children who are of Dutch descent. Brown-eyed Beverly Ann Ver Hoef (left), six-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Ver Hoef, 87 East 25th St., and Dale Rodger Zoot, eight-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Zoot, 53 Cherry St., already have been photographed countless times by festival visitors this week. Beverly Ann's Vlieland costume was made by her mother. The garb consists of a gayly-striped shirt, black blouse, a figured apron trimmed in black and a white lace bonnet. Dale, a blue-eyed youngster, is dressed in a costume that is patterned from those coming directly from The Netherlands. He wears a red and white checkered shirt, black pantaloons and black cap.

DENIES CHARGES IN TWO CRASH DEATHS

Grand Haven, May 23 (Special) —William Melcher, 58, route 1, Grand Haven, through his attorney, waived the reading of the information charging him with negligent homicide on his arraignment in circuit court Monday afternoon, and a plea of not guilty was entered. Trial will be held some time during the week of June 3.

The arrest of Melcher in the outcome of a fatal accident on River road about 11 p.m. April 19 when Blanche Taulbee, 22, and William Hegedus, 24, both of Muskegon, who were riding on a

PLEAS MADE AT RALLY HERE TO AID SUFFERERS

Three Speakers Ask Help of Citizens in Raising Dutch Fund

Music by Band and Songs by Choir Are Part of Park Program

Pleas for contributions to aid sufferers and refugees of The Netherlands, mother country of thousands of Holland citizens, featured the theme of the Holland-American rally which was held Wednesday afternoon in Centennial park.

The program originally was scheduled as "Netherlands day" at the Centennial grounds.

FUNDS TOTAL $475.77 Otto P. Kramer, treasurer of the Ottawa County Red Cross Chapter, reported that contributions to the fund being raised for Netherlands relief now totals $475.77.

which Dr. Alexander Loudon, Netherlands minister to the United States, and Dr. Hendrik Willem Van Loon, noted historian and author, were to speak but the Nazi invasion of the low countries forced these two men to cancel their trips to the Tulip Time festival.

Arrangements were then made for Wednesday's rally to boost the Red Cross drive for funds.

As one of Wednesday's speakers, John R. Dethmers, former Ottawa county prosecutor, in urging support of the drive, he said:

"By our deeds of gifts, not by words, we can best give expressions to our heartfelt sympathies for The Netherlands and to an undying devotion for the cause of liberty, freedom and peace, the brotherhood of man and universal goodwill among the nations of the world. Will you help us?"

Mr. Dethmers pointed out that "today we are the world's most fortunate and favored people." American citizens should be glad of the fact they are Americans in a country which respects and protects the rights of its people, he added.

"We are all Americans regardless of where our forefathers or we, ourselves, migrated from. We don't want any part in the old world problems or their wars because America is the only citadel for the preservation of liberty, freedom and peace. We can best serve posterity and the future by preserving these ideals."

He asserted that this country must not "surrender to hatred or madness." He pointed out that the rally was held for the purpose of paying tribute to the name and the customs of The Netherlands and "that we must not forget our gratitude to these people." Mr. Dethmers urged citizens to aid The Netherlands in its present "dark hours."

The Rev. John R. Mulder of Western Theological seminary, as the second speaker, listed three suggestions as "the answer that comes to us from The Netherlands herself on this Netherlands day among us."

"We can help our Dutch friends by sending them financial assist-

BLAZE MENACE RISES IN CRASH AT CITY CORNER

Firemen Guard Area After 4,000 Gallons of Oil Spill in Street

Transport Overturned as It and Auto Collide;
One Man Hurt

The smell of crude oil still hung over Holland in the vicinity of Seventh St. and Central Ave.
Tuesday as the result of an accident which occurred Monday about 6 p.m. at the intersection in which an oil transport truck, belonging to the Rumsey Trucking Co. of Holland, was overturned in the street, causing 4,000 gallons of oil to spill in the street.

The accident occurred when the truck, driven by Norman Dorgelo, 30, of Zeeland, and an automobile driven by Eugene Knoll, 20, 110 East 16th St., collided.

Howard McConnell, 40, of Holland, an occupant of the Knoll automobile, suffered injuries and was confined in the Holland hospital. He suffered a severe head cut and fractures of several ribs.
The hospital said he will be confined there for a few days.

To extinguish any fire that might result, the Holland fire department was called out and stood by for nearly an hour. They would not permit removal of the truck for some time for fear that any resulting sparks might set fire to the oil.

Some of the crude oil which flowed into the storm sewer backed up into the basement of the Holland Battery Station, 9 West Seventh St., and caught fire but was quickly extinguished with little damage resulting.

Local police were informed that the truck was being driven west on Seventh St. and that Knoll was driving south on Central Ave. The force of the impact caused the truck to shove the automobile against a telephone pole at the southwest corner of the intersection.

The truck then "flipped" over with all wheels in the air. The "Knoll automobile was badly damaged as was the cab of the truck.
Knoll and Dorgelo were said to have escaped injuries.

The crude oil was permitted to flow into the storm sewer which flowed into Black river. Conservation Officer Forrest Lavoie was reported to have stated that he could not burn off the oil because of the possibility that the fire would carry up the sewer. It would not be learned whether the oil on the river menaced fish.

Later the street department completely covered that portion of the street which had been flooded by the oil with a heavy coating of sand. The crude oil, having been loaded on the truck at Vriesland, was being transported to the refinery at Muskegon.

Holland firemen responded to another alarm at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Gerritsen home, 509 Washington Ave., when a can of floor wax which had been placed on a stove suddenly caught fire.
There was no resulting damage and the fire had burned itself out when firemen arrived.

Flag Day Observance Is Planned in Holland

Mayor Henry Geerlings reported today plans are being made for a special program to be held in Holland Friday, June 14, in observance of Flag day. The mayor said he will appoint a special committee at a later date to arrange the program.

STOLEN CAR FOUND
Holland police reported today that the automobile of George Gates, route 2, Holland, which was stolen sometime between 1 and 5 p.m. Wednesday from its parking space near the Holland Furniture Co., had been found abandoned at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Governor to Be Here Saturday

This picture was taken when Governor Dickinson was in Holland a year ago to witness the band review and parade. He is shown talking to Mrs. Jacob Steketee of Grand Rapids, Edward Brouwer and Andrew Klompere are with the governor.

Gov. Luren D. Dickinson informed Rep. Nelson A. Miles today that he plans to attend the Tulip Time festival Saturday and witness the annual band review and the parade of bands.

The governor said he will come to Holland with a party of five, including his secretaries and bodyguard. Mr. Miles said arrangements have been made for an escort to meet the governor in Ze-land Saturday noon and escort him to Riverview park.

The governor was first scheduled to speak at festival church services last Sunday night in First Methodist church but was unable to be present.

Futility of Intervention in War Cited by Brooks

Tulip Luncheon Speaker Says 'We Can't Settle
Their Quarrel'

"If the hope of humanity can be found, it will be found under a government of divided, limited and distributed powers," C. Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for the U.S. senate from Illinois, declared Tuesday when he addressed about 500 service club members from five states at the Tulip Time festival's first joint club luncheon in Holland armory.

Under such a government, he continued, there will be assembled all nations, all creeds and all the colors now living in toleration.

In addition to members of Rotary, Lions, Exchange and Kiwanis clubs of Holland, Grand Rapids, Zeeland, Grand Haven, Muskegon, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Benton Harbor, Grandville and South Haven, delegates from Illinois, Indiana, Wyoming and New York were present at the luncheon.

Mr. Brooks, a World war veteran, said the question today is the same as when the country was founded—"What kind of government do we wish to live in?"
This is always a question for free people, he stated, and can only be asked by them.

Centralized power is now showing what it can do, he commented. One step into war, he warned, is a signal to mobilize men, money and industry. People will yield to a central power and what will come then, no one can tell, he said.

He described "our biggest job" as keeping peace with the world, staying out of "their" affairs, and preserving "our divided, limited, and distributed government for posterity."

"In 1917 we were the freest, happiest, and greatest nation of tolerant people in the world.
Then the war came and we turned to take part in the bitterness and hatred of the old world. We know now that we can't settle their differences."

Mr. Brooks told of a trip he made to Europe a few years ago to revisit the battlefields and to view the graves of the men he had seen falling. He and his French guide, who was also a war veteran, visited the Hall of Mirrors in Versailles where the treaty ending the World war was signed. He said he was impressed only by the vastness of this hall and asked his guide why it had been chosen as the place to sign the treaty.

Because, replied the French guide, after the Franco-Prussian war the Germans came to that hall and made the French give up Alsace-Lorraine. Therefore after the World war, the Germans were forced on the same table to give back Alsace-Lorraine.

State officials introduced were Supt. of Public Instruction Eugene B. Elliot and State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner, who spoke briefly. Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly could not be present because of a board meeting. Also present were James Cleary, manager of the Grand Rapids division of the state highway department, George Manning of Holland, who is associated with the highway department, and Alfred Steers, assistant director of state aeronautics.

Mr. Van Wagoner said he realized the difficulty of staging one of the most famous celebrations in the world with a serious war now going on. He commendered Holland for going ahead as usual.

He said that while traveling here by plane he visualized before him a divided highway on M-21.
As soon as funds are available, he promised, the state will take bids and start construction. An increase in gas revenue this year has provided more money and contracts have been much below the estimates, he said in pointing out factors favorable to a start on the M-21 project.

Mr. Brooks, who was wounded seven times, came out of World war service in May, 1919, a lieutenant with the Distinguished Service cross, the Croix de Guerre, and the Navy cross and as a member of the Purple Heart. His father, a former preacher, served as a YMCA worker and his two brothers, Russell and Lawrence, were both killed in service.

He gave everything in the last war and saw no results, Mr.
Brooks said in an interview preceding the luncheon.

They are trying to settle 200 years of differences and they may be fighting a feud among the royal families which we do not understand, he declared.

AWARDINGS TO CLIMAX FETE'S CATTLE EXHIBIT

Seventy-Four Entries Are Displayed at Black and White Show

Beamer to Present Prizes as Part of Program in Park

With 74 head of cattle on exhibit, the "black and white" cattle show was being held on the east side of Centennial park along Central Ave., between 10th and 12th Sts., as today's Tulip Time festival attraction.

Throughout the forenoon, hundreds of persons visited the authentic Dutch cattle "markt" to see the Holstein-Friesian cattle and to witness the judging of the winners. A number of the entries arrived in Holland Wednesday night and were kept in a tent at 10th St. and College Ave.

A parade at 1 p.m. was a highlight of the exhibit. Following the parade, there was to be a brief speaking program and the awarding of prizes to the winners.

Entertainment was to be provided by Monty Dyer, Mary Lou Van Dyke and Charles Bradley.

Throughout the forenoon the two classes of bulls and classes for four, three and two year old cows were judged. Four-H club judging contents also were being held under supervision of L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent.

Two classes of heifers remained to be judged this forenoon before the parade. Grand champions will be selected this afternoon.

The entire show was arranged by the National Holstein-Friesian association through its Michigan branch. Among those present are A. C. Iostertius of Oconomowoc, Wis., national president; Glen M.
Householder of Brattleboro, Vt., executive secretary; E. M. Clark of Wheaton, Ill., chairman of the show; Mrs. Sarah Van Hoesen Jones, president of the Michigan association; and Herbert M. Miller of Ionia, state secretary.

Also present were M. S. Prescott, editor of the Holstein-Friesian World; C. E. Hervey, editor of Successful Farming; and Don Runnels, farm editor for the Booth newspapers.

Mrs. Jones stated today that this is the first show of this nature to be held in Michigan and she hoped that the idea will develop into a permanent "black and white" show.

Elmer H. Beamer, state commissioner of agriculture, will present the awards this afternoon to the 4-H club winners and the winner of the grand champion cow.

WILL ASK NEW TRIAL IN CASE

Defense Plans Move After Jury Favors Vyn in Damage Suit

Grand Haven, May 23 (Special)
—After deliberating about eight hours, an Ottawa circuit court jury brought in a verdict of $17, 000 in favor of John Vyn against Nathaniel Robbins and the Grand Haven State bank Monday at 8 p.m.

Vyn sought $120,000 damages for a loss which he said incurred at the time Robbins bought stock and debentures of The Vyn Co., a motor truck concern, from the Grand Haven State bank.

Louis H. Oosterhouse, a member of the defense counsel, said a motion would be made by defense counsel for a judgment in favor of the Grand Haven State bank notwithstanding the verdict of the jury, based on a motion made at the conclusion of proofs and on which the court reserved a decision.

He also stated there would be a motion for an order to set aside the verdict and for a new trial for both defendants.

Shortly before noon the jury came in and asked for certain testimony to be read to them, and at 3:30 p.m. it informed the court they could not agree upon a verdict. The court then called their attention to the fact that the case had required a week's taking of testimony and that it should return for further deliberation. At 6 p.m. the jury was served its supper.

RECORD CROWD VISITS CITY FOR START OF FETE

Two-Day Throgs Set at Two Hundred, Twenty Thousand

Twenty Five Thousand Is Car Estimate; Exhibits Are Popular

Although the 3,000,000 tulips were not in full bloom and the rains fell, a record crowd of Tulip Time visitors was not deterred from visiting Holland over the week-end. It was the general belief today that the largest attendance in the 12 years of the festival will be marked up this year.

The week-end crowd, estimated on a conservative basis, was placed at 220,000 persons. This included an opening day attendance of 120,000 persons and Sunday visitors of nearly 100,000. The first week-end crowd of 1939 was estimated at 200,000.

Visitors began arriving early in Holland on both Saturday and Sunday. A rain which fell during Sunday forenoon failed to halt the influx of attendance although it prevented visitors from leaving their cars to walk among the tulips at the tulip farms.

The heavy rain left water standing in the lanes about the tulip beds at the Nels farm, producing miniature canals which are a familiar sight along the tulip beds in The Netherlands.

Sunday's motor vehicle traffic was exceptionally heavy. Police Officer Gerald Vanderbeek, in direct charge of the special police force, estimated 25,000 cars traveled over the city streets during Sunday. Thousands of persons walked up and down River Ave. and Eighth St., many of them just "window shopping."

Restaurants and eating places were exceptionally crowded throughout Saturday and Sunday. Novelty shops also did a rushing business.

A force of 38 special police, six regular policemen and 30 boy scouts was employed to handle the record-breaking Saturday crowd. The Sunday traffic was moved over the streets by 20 special officers and six regular policemen.

Deputy Sheriff William Van Etta supervised a force of 12 deputy sheriffs in directing traffic on Lakewood Blvd. and east of Holland Saturday and Sunday. The Holland police department and the sheriff's department reported there were no traffic jams either day as officers had been instructed to keep intersections clear and to keep traffic moving as fast as possible.

Sunday's crowd was augmented by 400 club women from Detroit who arrived at noon and left in the evening aboard a special Pere Marquette train. Deputy Van Etta reported having talked with eight women who rode bicycles to the festival from Milwaukee, Wis. They departed for home Saturday afternoon but the officer did not learn how long it took them to reach Holland.

Newspaper photographers and newsmen cameramen were present in large numbers. The newsmen were forced to quit work prior to the parade as they had exhausted their supply of film before the parade began. One newsmen photographer reported he had covered events all over the country for 16 years but the Tulip Time festival is the only one where he had seen so many amateur photographers.

Various festival exhibits reported record breaking crowds over the week-end.

DUTCH RELIEF

ance in this time of their need. Just what the condition is none of us really knows but that there is need is perfectly apparent to all of us.

His second suggestion was to remind the American people of their high-priced ideals. Materialism is the philosophy of disillusionment but idealism becomes youth and renewed life, he said, adding that there are 21 American republics "which continue to live together in peace, that there are no markers of boundary lines between them except the markers of peace and friendliness."

"And, finally, I think there is the suggestion that we continue to hope. And that hope had best be stayed upon God. One of the greatest dangers of our time is the want of hope."

"I think Germany's past hopelessness is partially explanatory of her present policies. I feel that the disillusionment that has come upon the world has caused it to become so largely hopeless."

Rev. Mulder pointed out that, regardless of the future of the lowlands, the Dutch have made contributions to the life of the world which cannot be erased from the pages of history and which cannot well be surrendered by humanity.

He listed these contributions as political freedom, religious liberty and their profound conviction of the sovereignty of God. Rev. Mulder expressed his opinion that the Dutch government capitulated "so readily to the forces and demands of the invaders because the Netherlands realized that nothing permanent could be won by a stubborn resistance at this point."

"Property could be destroyed but property is replaceable; human lives would be laid upon the altar of folly but human lives cannot be replaced," Rev. Mulder said, adding that in the past 100 years of peace the Dutch have regarded this very highly.

"The Netherlands would not give up the ideals that gave her birth and which she has shared with the nations. Holland's queen felt, I think that it would be better for the House of Orange to cease to exist as a royal family, if that must be, than that the ideals of the House of Orange should themselves be repudiated."

Jacob Steketee, Netherlands consul of Grand Rapids, who was present with Mrs. Steketee, spoke briefly in appealing for aid. He sought to describe conditions in The Netherlands to those of this country in which "we are free and able to live a free life."

Mr. Steketee said that eight and one-half million people in The Netherlands are now homeless and without means of support.

With Cornelius Vander Meulen, a member of the local Netherlands relief committee, presiding, the afternoon program opened with the playing of three numbers by the Holland high school band. The high school a cappella choir sang the Dutch national anthem and "God Bless America." Following the three talks, the high school band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

The program was held from a platform which had been decorated by Mrs. Donald Crawford and her committee. In the center of the stage was a painting of the coat of arms of the House of Orange, the ruling house of The Netherlands, which was painted by Mrs. Martin DeLion of Holland.

Mrs. J. E. Telling, relief committee chairman, and William A. Endershorst, also a member of the committee, occupied the platform.

EVEN EXTENDED SCRUB ROUTE IS NOT ADEQUATE

Festival Crowd Overflows Into Streets, Delays Ceremonies

Long Parade and Dance of Klompen Group Add to Program

Gaiety overshadowed sorrow and indignation of the Holland-Americans over Hitler's seizure of the Netherlands here Saturday when the city's 1940 Tulip Time festival opened before the largest first-day crowd since the festival was originated in 1929.

Although the street scrubbing was extended an additional three blocks, there was insufficient room for the spectators along the sidewalks and the large crowd overflowed into the street, causing a delay in the ceremonies.

Persons who started gathering along the curb lines of Eighth St. and River Ave. more than two hours before the program got under way soon lost their vantage points as late arrivals began crowding in front of them. Regular and special police and Boy scouts experienced considerable difficulty in shoving back the crowds to provide sufficient room for the scrubbers, the klompen dancers, and the kleedracht paraders.

The street scrubbing event extended along River Ave., between Eighth and 10th Sts., and along Eighth St. between River Ave. and Columbia Ave. Due to the brick pavement on River Ave., it was necessary to limit the klompen dancing to Eighth St.

Prior to the start of the afternoon's program, the movie and radio talent which had appeared on a radio broadcast from the administration building of the Holland Furnace Co. rode in open cars behind a police escort to receive the plaudits of the thousands of festival visitors. They returned to their rooms in the Warm Friend tavern to watch the proceedings from their hotel rooms which faced on Eighth St.

Then the group of minneizers appeared on the streets to furnish a program of musical entertainment. At the corner of Eighth St. and River Ave., Young Monty Dyer seated himself upon a folding chair and played the accordion accompaniment while two other girls did a wooden shoe dance. Up and down the streets, other volunteer artists were putting on impromptu numbers.

Following behind the Holland American Legion band, 420 scrubbers, all attired in Dutch costumes of the various provinces of the mother-country (some wore the more comfortable leather shoes), took their designated places along the line of march to await the inspection of the streets by Mayor Henry Geerlings and eight of his 12 aldermen.

When the mayor and aldermen reached Eighth St. and Central Ave., they were temporarily stopped by newsreel and newspaper photographers who took pictures of the mayor pointing out a spot where the street was dirty and ordering a man and woman scrubbers "to get to work." After proceeding to Eighth St. and Columbia Ave., a trumpet gave the signal to commence the street scrubbing. The junior high school band marched behind the mayor and aldermen.

An old model car, occupied by four black-faced members of the Outdoor club, put in a surprised appearance behind the junior high school band. When the mayor stopped in front of the stand for the newsreel and newspaper photographers, the driver killed the engine and had some trouble before he was able to start it again.

The scrubbing continued for about 15 minutes and, in compliance with a request from Tulip Time officials, there were no re-

Klompen Practical as Well as Decorative When Streets Are Scrubbed

Dutch atmosphere or no Dutch atmosphere, wooden shoes are indispensable when Holland's streets are scrubbed at the Tulip Time festival.

The way the water flies is shown in this picture which was taken Saturday at the corner of Central Ave. and Eighth St. Although the klompen keep the scrubbers' feet drier than they would be in leather shoes, considerable water splashes over the tops. The woman in the center apparently had just got a "shoe-full."

TWO PICTURES SHOWN ROTARY

Two sound pictures were presented at last Thursday's Rotary meeting in the Warm Friend tavern. This being the last meeting until June 6, committee chairmen were called on for their reports.

The first picture showed the splendor of the annual cherry festival in Potomac park, Washington, D. C., where crowds of 50,000 a day come to see the rare and beautiful cherry blossoms.

The trees were presented to the United States by the Nippon government as a message of good will. The first one was planted by Mrs. William Howard Taft a few decades ago when it was only a sapling. Since then the trees have grown a great deal and bloom for nearly a month. Several scenes were pictured in which distant government buildings and monuments were framed by branches burdened with blossoms.

The second reel showed the advancement of art in industry and the modern and efficient cooperation among artists, scientists and engineers. The ways in which the straight line, the wavy line, the broken line, the circle, the semicircle, the spiral, and the figure 8, are used in designing were also illustrated.

SALVATION ARMY IS FAVORED BY RULING

Grand Haven, May 23 — Judge Fred T. Miles, in a circuit court ruling Friday afternoon, ruled in favor of the Salvation army of Holland in ordering the religious organization's building which is located on Central Ave. in Holland, be removed from the tax rolls.

The court also ordered past taxes canceled and restrained County Treasurer Fred H. Den Herder from selling the property for delinquent taxes.

The Salvation army's contention that the property, formerly occupied by the City Rescue mission, has never been used for anything except public worship and therefore exempt from taxes was upheld by Judge Miles.

The Christmas tree at the Port Sheldon district school is pronounced by its patrons to be the best ever held there and much credit is given the teacher, Miss Alvina L. The evening was pleasantly spent and organ music was given by Misses Sena Nienhuis and Minnie Elman.

Symphony Program Is Tulip Time Feature

A large and appreciative audience heard a superior musical program in Hope Memorial chapel Tuesday night given by the West Shore Symphony orchestra and chorus under the direction of Palmer Quackenbush of Grand Haven, with Eugene F. Heeter of this city as guest conductor, and with Miss Ruth Van Appledorn as featured piano soloist. Approximately 900 persons attended the concert, which was arranged as a feature of the Tulip festival program.

Holland friends of Miss Van Appledorn were pleased with her brilliant performance of the Debussy "Suite pour le piano," including the Prelude, Sarabande, and Toccata; and the Chopin "Ballade in A-Flat Major," opus 47, her scheduled numbers. Miss Van Appledorn, who is graduating from Oberlin Conservatory of Music next month with signal honors, displayed a sureness of technique and depth of feeling in her playing, as well as a clear understanding of the moderns, which included not only the Debussy number, but the de Falla "Fire Dance," which she gave as an encore.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Appledorn of this city, and a graduate of Holland High school, where she took a prominent part in musical activities.

Mr. Quackenbush proved himself an effective conductor of the orchestra which was organized less than a year ago and is composed of Holland, Grand Haven and Muskegon musicians. The program opened with the familiar and always pleasing Overture from the "Merry Wives of Windsor," by Nicolai, which was played with a nice appreciation for the possibilities of the music.

Mr. Heeter, popular Holland conductor, directed the Haydn "Symphony in D Major," more familiarly known as the London symphony, in which both conductor and orchestra seemed to capture the spirit of the music. The performance was marked by good intonation and a lightness of touch which is essential in the interpretation of Haydn's works.

Following Miss Van Appledorn's solos, the orchestra and an excellent chorus of 30 voices, under Mr. Quackenbush's direction, sang a Choral Fantasia from the opera "Tannhauser," by Wagner, which displayed some fine work by both organizations and soloists.

REVELATIONS AT THE HAGUE

It is about time for the German high command to come forward with "revelations" of alleged documents found at The Hague "proving" that the Allies had made preparations to occupy Holland and Belgium. That the Nazi propaganda bureau has not yet found such documents seems to prove that the machine of Herr Doctor Goebbels is slipping. Sensational "revelations" might have been expected long since.

For the Nazi technique has become so familiar to the world that it would seem even the most elementary sense of humor ought to restrain the Nazi propagandists.
Variety is not a mark of Nazi technique, but perhaps the German people, don't ask for variety in their propaganda, and all such "revelations" are of course primarily meant for home consumption.

The first chapter in the Nazi "revelation" technique came shortly before the invasion of Denmark and Norway. The Nazis pretended to have uncovered documents in conquered Warsaw "proving" that certain persons in the diplomatic service of the United States had "plotted" with Great Britain and France to precipitate a war in Europe. With true German thoroughness the Nazis even produced photostatic copies of documents. Doubtless these copies were convincing enough to satisfy the Germans at home; it is not too difficult to convince people who are eager to be convinced.
And the charge against American diplomats was obviously made to discredit the American government and thus take away the sting of American disapproval of Germany's imminent international banditry in the Scandinavian countries and in the low countries.
Fortunately, so far as the world in general was concerned, the photostatic documents were too weak to be taken seriously.

Hardly had Germany conquered Denmark and Norway when the invaders once more found alleged "documents" proving that the Allies had plotted to do the invading.
In Germany the dodge still worked, but in the rest of the world the announcement was met by nothing better than a grim horse laugh. Not did it merit any better treatment.

Now it would seem to be time for the Nazi machine to justify the ruthless invasion of Holland and Belgium, at least for the people at home, by finding documents at The Hague. That it has not yet been done is rather surprising.
Sooner or later those imaginary documents are sure to show up.
The device is wearing so thin that it is hard to see how even in the homeland intelligent Germans can continue to be taken in by it.

valued at $75 and her glasses.

Mich., reported the loss of his purse, containing between $55 and $60 and his driver's license.

John De Mott, 399 Maple Ave., Informed police his purse, containing $11 and his driver's license, of the Little Dutch delegates was taken from the display, case of Beernink's studio.

Jeremiah Announces the New Covenant
Jeremiah 31: 31-37

By Henry Geerlings

The Old Testament seems, at times, to be more often a record of failure than of success. No sooner were the Hebrews freed from Egypt than they wished themselves back there. No sooner were they in the Promised Land than they began to imitate the idolatry keeping faith with their God. The prophets often look like men trying to sweep back the sea with a broom, for the majority of the people remained heathen and were content to be so.

Jeremiah looked back and saw that though his people had been taken out of Egypt, Egypt had not been taken out of them. They had been taught the law of God, but had not obeyed it from their hearts.
Of course, a great deal had been accomplished in those earlier years, and Jeremiah, under God, was accomplishing much. But evil remained in man's heart, despite the law. Was there no better way?
The prophet looked forward and saw a time when God would be able to work by means of different kind of covenant. This as the New Testament claims was actually done through the death and resurrection of Christ.

This chapter is a confession of failure ending in an assertion of unfading hope. The ancient desired to see things which Christians see, and saw them not.
Covenant means arrangement, or working agreement. Between men a covenant is a bargain, mutually guaranteed. Between God and man there can be no bargaining. God lays down the conditions.

A new covenant does not mean that God has changed, but that men are capable of being treated in a new way. In the childhood of the race, as of the individual, it is necessary to demand unquestioning obedience to rules and give rewards for obedience. But as children grow up, they remain obedient only if their intelligence is convinced and their hearts are won. They must become true sons and not just children. It seemed to Jeremiah that God, too, must work this way. There had been a time when the nation was young, when bare law alone had been reasonably effective. As people grew up, however, they rebelled and became headstrong, feeling they knew best by themselves. It had come in Jeremiah's day to such a pass that the rebellion was leading to ruin. There was no hope unless God could win from his children the obedience of sons.

Jeremiah has been called the Paul of the old covenant, because of his intensely spiritual view of religion. Just as Paul's spiritual view of the gospel singled him out for persecution, so did Jeremiah's preaching provoke the hatred of every class. Not only was he opposed by the wicked, but even those most zealous for a pure worship failed to understand him. He mistreated the fashionable interest in sacrificial worship and the superstitious veneration for the ark and the temple. He called for a sincere devotion to God, evidenced in kindness and justice to men.

How could such a man be a popular preacher? Suffering, failure, and an obscure death were his earthly lot; his glory was in his faithfulness to the message that he had received to deliver.

Throngs at Festival Today Will Get Glimpse of Special Guests

With lovely Dorothy Lamour the center of attention, motion picture and radio stars and four nationally-known golfers come to Holland to take part in the opening day's program of the 1940 Tulip Time festival.

Prior to the start of the Saturday festival program, Miss Lamour, Herbie Kay, her former husband and orchestra leader, Reginald Denny, motion picture star, and Tommy Riggs, twin-voiced radio personality, rode along Eighth St. and River Ave. The group were guests of the Holland Furnace Co. Other guests included Ralph Guldahl, Johnny Goodman, Jack Hutchinson and Will Wehrle, nationally-known golfers, who played a nine-hole exhibition match on the last nine holes at the Holland Country club at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

The furnace company's guests arrived in Holland Friday afternoon aboard a special car, attached to the afternoon Pere Marquette passenger train from Chicago. Due to stopovers at Michigan City, Ind., and Benton Harbor, the train did not arrive here until about 4:25 p.m.

Headed by Mayor Henry Geerlings, the three little Dutch delegates, Mary Lou Buis, Dorothy Weyenberg and Mary Lou Van Dyke, Tulip Time officials and furnace company officials and upward of 2,000 Holland citizens were on hand to greet the honored guests.

An area had been roped off in the park near the station for newspaper photographers who took pictures of the welcome to the guests by the mayor and presentation of tulips by the three Little Dutch delegates.

As Miss Lamour alighted from the train, choruses of "ahs" and "ohs" spread through the crowd. She was among the last to leave the train.

Carrying a large bouquet of tulips, Miss Lamour was escorted to the roped-off area along with the other guests. Within a few minutes, she had donned a pair of wooden shoes for the benefit of the photographers and was graciously posing for pictures.

Mr. Kay and Tommy Riggs occupied the attention of the feminine members of the crowd.

Mr. Denny who also received his share of attention.

It wasn't long before the crowd broke inside the roped-off area to obtain a closer view of the stars as their vision was partly obscured by the large number of photographers.

Miss Lamour had as her traveling companion, Miss Barbara LaMarr, a young motion picture star who is no relation to the famous Hedy LaMarr but is exceptionally attractive.

Miss Lamour and Miss LaMarr traveled by airplane from Hollywood to Chicago. The entire group left Chicago at noon Friday.

The first stopover was made at Michigan City where they were greeted by 250 persons, including the mayor and city officials. At Benton Harbor, 500 persons, including the mayor and city officials, were on hand to welcome the travelers.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies at the depot, the group entered private cars and preceded by a police escort were taken to the administration building of the Holland Furnace Co. The procession traveled west on Eighth St. to River Ave., south to State St., southwest to 22nd St., and east to Columbia and the furnace company administration building.

A small crowd was on hand to greet them. They retired to the directors' room of the building to receive engraved wooden shoes from the furnace company. Mrs. P. T. Cheff, wife of the company's vice-president and general manager, made the presentation.

Even Mr. Riggs' inseparable, mythical companion, Betty Lou, received a pair of wooden shoes.

Mr. Guldahl was accompanied to Holland by his lovely wife.

Accompanying a $10 bill was a letter signed by "a farmer who has relatives over there," in which he said:

"The money may be used to send a cablegram to Hitler, asking him to send a transport plane over here to pick up some of the German sympathizers and Hitler admirers. We have some in Pine Creek, West Olive and Agnew and you have some even in Holland, Mich. They ought to see some of the destruction and misery over there."

Mayor Geerlings also issued a proclamation May 17 in which he appealed to the "various churches in our city and neighboring communities to take an offering one week from the coming Sunday."

"A great calamity has befallen The Netherlands. In less than a week, the mighty German army has crushed this little country. A hundred thousand loyal lives have been snuffed out. This is nearly a quarter of the entire defending army."

"It stands to reason that thousands of Dutch families are in distress and need our help. We are for the most part of Dutch descent and are, therefore, keenly interested in the welfare of these people."

"And I am sure that we will gladly extend a helping hand to alleviate their suffering. I realize that we are constantly being called upon to give to causes that make their appeal to us and we have always done our part."

"The need is great and whatever is being done ought to be done speedily."

Mrs. Vivian S. Harris, staff assistant to the manager of the midwestern branch at St. Louis, Mo., who was in Holland May 16 for a short time, reported that persons making donations may designate it for Netherlands relief. No money will be sent into the country to prevent it from falling into German hands, she said.

She explained that the money is being used to purchase medical supplies, hospital equipment, ambulances, clothing and the like for evacuated refugees.

Mrs. Harris said she had been advised that an additional $50,000 was cabled May 15 to the British Red Cross for use in the purchase of medical supplies in Holland and Belgium. This makes a total of $250,000 the Red Cross has contributed to provide relief in the low countries.

Dr. Alexander Loudon, Netherlands minister to the United States, has expressed thanks to Norman H. Davis, national Red Cross chairman, for the grant of money, ambulances, hospital trucks and surgical dressings.

SCHOOL PARADE LURES ANOTHER THROG TO CITY

Colorful Event Augmented by Numerous Bands and Floats

Barbara Barendse Named as Trophy Winner in Bicycle Unit

School children from public and parochial schools of Holland and from surrounding communities held the spotlight Wednesday afternoon at the annual school parade which was arranged as a midweek feature of the Tulip Time festival program.

More than 3,000 students took part in the parade north on River Ave. to Eighth St., east on Eighth St. to College Ave., south on College Ave. to 12th St. and west on 12th St. to Centennial park. Thousands of persons, including festival visitors, local citizens and older children lined the parade route. The parade required 30 minutes in passing a given point.

Barbara Barendse, 74 East Eighth St., was judged winner of the 18-inch trophy which was awarded by Montgomery Ward and Co. for the best decorated bicycle in the bicycle unit. Judges for the award were Clarence J. Valing, Mrs. J. D. French and Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith.

Announcement of the winners was made following the parade in Centennial park by Mr. J. Valing. The other prize winners, who received merchandise prizes from the store, were Ruth Kruihof, 131 West 28th St., second; Rodger Van Nul, 123 West 13th St., third; Junior Eschbagger, 326 West 13th St., fourth; Leonard Lemmen, 234 West 11th St., fifth; Ellen M. Crowley, 202 East 26th St., sixth; and Kenneth Van Tatenhove, 24 West 15th St., seventh.

Approximately 100 decorated bicycles were entered in the contest. Prior to the arrival of the parade, a group of minnezingers entertained the crowd.

The eight-pony hitch from the Robinson stables of Burr Oak, Mich., also was put through its paces up and down the line of march by its driver who was dressed in Dutch costume. A group of Dutch costumed girls rode in the wagon. Tandem bicycles were also in evidence.

Police found it necessary to tow two automobiles from Eighth St., where they had been left by their owners before the parade.

Following behind two motorcycle policemen, Gerald Vanderbeek and Harris Nieuwma, the Holland Elementary band led the parade. Behind it marched the junior patrol, dressed in Dutch costumes and wearing their ensignia of white Sam Brown belts and white sailor hats. A few of them carried safety placards.

Preceding the kindergarten and first grade group was a windmill float, painted green and with Dutch dolls in the windows. Marching abreast, they kept a straight line with each group carrying staffs. Teachers in Dutch costume marched with them.

Following the Zeeland Elementary band came the second grade. A placard with a wording in tulips, "Grade 2," designated the unit. The girls pushed decorated doll carts in which rode Dutch costumed dolls.

The Beechwood school was preceded by its float which depicted a Dutch canal-boat. A woman in Dutch costume handled the rudder. The float carried out a brown and white color scheme with blue trimmings on the boat cabin. The students carried fish poles to represent that industry while others rode bicycles.

The Zeeland high school band featured five drum majorettes and behind it marched the third grade which depicted the Gouda and delft industries, the students carrying artificial earthenware and plates. Students of the orthopedic department rode in a decorated bus which featured a trolley with flowers.

Following the Fennville band marched the fourth and fifth grades. A float, depicting a flower garden, preceded one group which carried gardening tools and pictures of flowers and vegetables while another float, depicting a vegetable garden, preceded another group. A group of Dutch cheese carriers was dressed in white.

The Holland high school band marched ahead of the sixth grade students and the first bicycle unit. The walking students carried fishing poles and fish baskets. An old-fashioned baby buggy also appeared with this group.

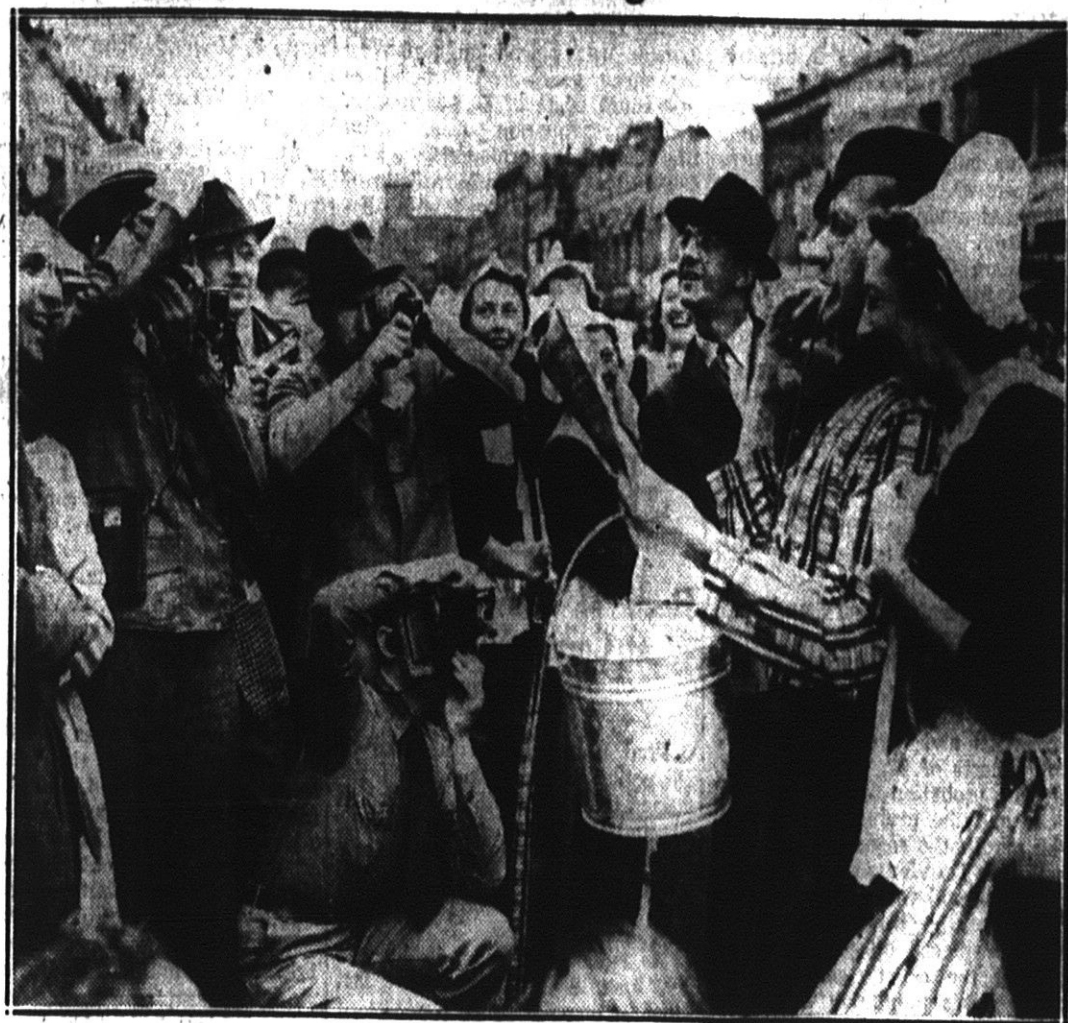

The Hudsonville band preceded another bicycle unit which was followed by the Rotary club farm wagon in which rode a Dutch costumed group. Two Percheron horses pulled the wagon.

The Christian high school band marched at the head of the Christian grade school unit in which several students carrying balloons while others beat on small drums or carried dolls or pushed doll carts.

More decorated bicycles were included in this unit and teachers marched in Dutch costumes.

Behind the junior high school band marched junior high school students who carried flower baskets attached to yokes. There also were dog drawn carts. One cart contained large milk cans while in another rode a girl and two young goats.

Steggerda-Gerritsen Vows Are Exchanged

Before an arch of wedding bells and lattice work of pink, yellow and white, Miss Minnie Gerritsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Gerritsen of 247 West 20th St., Holland, and Floyd V. Steggerda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Steggerda of route 5, were united in marriage in a ceremony Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of the bridegroom's parents. The Rev. C. A. Stoppels read the rites, assisted by the Rev. S. Schipper of Grand Rapids. The single ring ceremony was used.

The arch was banked with palms, ferns and tulips with lighted candelabra shedding a soft glow. The rooms were decorated with bouquets of tulips and other spring blooms.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march played by Evelyn Steggerda at the piano and B. Woldring on the violin. Mrs. G. Gerritsen of Zeeland sang "Because," d'Hardenlot, and "Will You Remember" from Matinee.

The bride was attired in a wedding gown of white satin fashioned with accordion pleating at the neckline and front and a row of satin buttons from the neck to the waist. Designed with a very full skirt and a slight train, the dress had puffed sleeves ending with points at the wrist. A fingertip veil with a taria of seed pearls and a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas completed the bride's costume.

Attending her was her sister, Mrs. B. Woldring of Grand Rapids, who wore blue silk marquisette with a lace collar and bands of lace trimming the long skirt. Her bouquet consisted of pink roses and vari-colored sweet peas.

Earl Steggerda attended his brother as best man. Serving as master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Harris Steggerda.

A reception for 60 guests followed and refreshments were served by Lydia Schuitema, Kay Bakker and Angeline Lam. A three-tiered wedding cake was featured. Among those present from away were Mr. and Mrs. Woldring, Mr. and Mrs. A. Vader, Mr. and Mrs. A. Busser, Mr. and Mrs. O. Steggerda and the Rev. and Mrs. S. Schipper, all of Grand Rapids, and Mr. and Mrs. G. Gerritsen and Mr. and Mrs. A. Gerritsen of Zeeland.

Miss Hazel Steggerda and Miss Berdean Klomparsen were in charge of the gift room. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gerritsen wore navy blue with white lace trim and a corsage of tea roses and sweet peas. The bridegroom's mother was gowned in navy blue.

ARRANGE PLANS FOR BOY SCOUT SUMMER CAMP

Trio of Veteran Leaders Is Appointed to Head Area Staff

Executive Russell Reports on Other Activities in Local Council

Three veteran camp leaders for the fourth year will direct the summer sessions at Camp Ottawa, campsite of the Ottawa-Allegan Boy scout area, Scout Executive M. P. Russell announced today.

David Oughten of Plainwell will be director, assisted by Lloyd Brown of Coopersville and Robert Hannum of Grand Haven.

Mr. Oughten has just completed a second course in waterfront safety under the direction of the American Red Cross and will participate in the camp director's training course for one week in Jackson under the direction of regional and national scout leaders, beginning June 25.

Mr. Brown, scoutmaster of troop No. 4 and senior troop No. 40 in Coopersville, is a lay instructor in first aid for the Red Cross and holds a senior Red Cross life saver's rating. He will have charge of the health of the camp as well as instruction in entomology and handicraft.

Mr. Hannum will serve as assistant director of the water front activities and will be in charge of instruction in boating and canoeing. Canoeing instruction this year will be available to all scouts, who will be divided into three groups according to swimming ability and previous canoe experience. The group with little or no experience in swimming will be instructed in the shallow water of Lake Petit. The more advanced groups, following their instruction at Lake Petit, will take trips down the Muskegon and Little Muskegon rivers overnight.

The health and safety and camping committees of the area has authorized Mr. Russell to purchase two new canoes in addition to many items which will be added to the kitchen, and other equipment, in an effort to make the camp meet the high standards set by the national council through its health and safety committee. The camp last year was rated among the highest in Michigan.

Troop No. 7 of Hope church of which Albert Wolters is scoutmaster, is the first to reserve a week at camp, specifying the week of July 6 to 13.

Seventy-five scouts and leaders of Holland and Grand Haven planted approximately 3,000 trees Wednesday at Camp McCarthy, the short term camp site of the Ottawa-Allegan council, which is located three and one-half miles north of Port Sheldon. Additional plantings are to be made Friday night and on Saturday.

The total number of trees to be planted this spring at Camp McCarthy is 21,000. Next year the scouts will plant another 20,000 which will complete the reforestation of about 18 acres of the 30 comprising the camp site.

Conservation will be taught at Camp Ottawa where a field tower has been erected in which senior scouts will act as observers for forest service during the dry season.

A seed bed will also be stated at Camp Ottawa this year so that scouts will raise and transplant their own evergreen seedlings for use in further foresting work at both camps.

The final session of the special, five-week course in health and safety for scout leaders was held Wednesday night at Camp McCarthy.

At this meeting it was decided that the health and safety committee, with the cooperation of the men participating in the course, will conduct in each of the three districts of the council this spring an inspection of bicycles and will emphasize the hazards of many practices now prevalent among bicycle riders.

Another project which the committee will take up is that of vice corps composed of scouts and organization of an emergency service corps composed of scouts and leaders 15 years of age and over.

To qualify for membership in the corps a scout must have met his first class requirements, held merit badges in first aid, pioneering, safety, life saving, rowing and others and in addition, must be able to tie a number of knots which are used in rescue work.

Members of these rescue squads will be given intensive training so that they may be of real service in case of emergency. While on duty in that capacity, members of the group will be identified with a special insignia supplied by the Red Cross and worn on a red arm band.

Entire School Budget for Holland Totals $345,600

The entire 1940 budget for Holland public schools totals $345,600 rather than the $188,800 which was reported to The Sentinel May 8, Supt. of Schools E. E. Fell explained here following an apparent controversy in Grand Haven over comparison of school budgets for the two cities.

The $188,800 represents the amount to be raised by direct taxation and the difference — $156,800 — is the school board's estimate of funds to be received from tuition, state aid and delinquent taxes during the year, Mr. Fell said.

Of the entire budget figure, $285,600 is for operation and $60,000 is for debt service.

Last year's budget totaled $326,000 of which $286,000 was for operation and $40,000 was for the bond debt service. State aid and the like were estimated last year at $157,000 leaving $129,000 to be raised by direct taxation.

The figures given by Mr. Fell May 8, listed $128,800 for operation and $60,000 for debt service. The 1939 budget, likewise, was reported May 8 as totaling $169,000, with $129,000 for operation and $40,000 for debt service.

A. W. Elliott, president of the Grand Haven board of education, was quoted in last week's Grand Haven Tribune as saying that the $188,800 figure did not give a true picture of the total Holland school budget. His statement was published in defense of the Grand Haven school budget which previously had been announced as totaling $199,800, including an estimated $115,800 in tuitions, state aid and such revenue.

In breaking down the estimated revenue total, Mr. Fell said tuition is expected to produce $32,800, state aid is estimated at $116,000 and delinquent taxes are set at $8,000, a total of $156,800.

Of the directly-taxable $188,800, the sum of $128,800 came before the county tax allocation commission this week for approval. Mr. Fell said the commission approved the local board's request to levy a tax of $10.40 per thousand assessed valuation. The $60,000 debt service fund

Festival

Now is the season when "the tulip from the soil looks up," and from near and far thousands of welcome visitors come to see our gardens and our countryside, bright-patterned in the varicolored bloom that in both the Old world and the New means Holland.

More than these lovely fields in blossom greet our visitors. They see us in Festival mood, decked out in traditional Netherlands attire, Wilhelmina in a half-dozen petticoats, laced bodice and snowy cap, Peterkin in big-buttoned jacket and belled pants. The streets clatter to their wooden shoes. And on doorstep and pavements the scrubbing brushes fly.

In this quaint and unique setting, our guests discover, too, the warm-hearted hospitality of a thrifty people who combine a love of flowers with an admirable industry. Out of this industry they have fashioned this modern city from the hamlet they founded now nearly a hundred years ago. With a passion for orderliness, cleanliness and honest work, they unite a Dutch devotion to peace and liberty—American principles.

We may hope, too, that all who share in this

Festival will note, besides our tulips, the first green of other and perhaps more substantial crops which Holland grows.

They are such food crops as Heinz welcomes to its Holland plant. There is, for example, the harvest of the fuscious cucumbers, grown from seeds carefully selected and nurtured by Heinz, cultivated with Holland-Dutch care, and matured under favoring sun and shade.

In this spotless plant, our Holland kitchen workers convert these first-prize cucumbers into delectable pickles—some sweet with spices Heinz brings from the Dutch East Indies, some piquantly sour, some done up whole, some sliced into jade-green rounds. All precisely flavored with rich and fragrant vinegars by Heinz, and all put up in the same exacting, slow, old-fashioned way your grandmothers made their pickles.

From our Holland factory these unequalled condiments go out under the seal and guarantee of Heinz 57, to grace the tables and delight the palates of the nation. Holland is as proud of them as it is of the tulips themselves.
