FORMER POW MAJ. JOSEPH F. SHANAHAN

Tulip Time SIDELIGHTS

Ivan Bosman is a good man to have around Tulip Time headquarters during the festival. He answers telephone, fields questions, runs errands and this year even made two trips to Holland Hospital with stricken visitors, one a woman who had fallen and cut her knee and her head, and a man who had broken out with giant hives. Both returned to festivities after treatment.

And Saturday morning just when everyone was concerned whether those sprinkles of rain might turn into drizzle or worse, he took a call from a woman who said she had some information for Tulip Time. She had one of those oldtime weather house novelties, and she told him "the witch has gone inside and the children have come out to play." The weather would clear, she said.

And, you know, she was right. The weather was lovely Saturday afternoon.

Stanley Sebastian Kresge, chairman of the board of Kresge Foundation, enjoyed being grand marshal of Saturday's big parade. He waved to the crowds, and they waved back.

Earlier in the morning, he watched klompen dancing on Eighth St. from Hotel Warm Friend. No matter where he pointed his camera, he got the Woolworth store across the street as background.

At lunch that noon in Phelps Hall at Hope College, he was presented with a pair of engraved wooden shoes from Nelson Bosman, president of Tulip Time. As Bosman removed the tissue paper, somebody quipped: "Something from the K-Mart!"

Mrs. Kresge was delighted with her gift, a small pewter vase.

Major Joseph F. Shanahan of Kentwood, who represented all returned Vietnam POWs in the parade Saturday, was presented with a special plaque at lunch Saturday, commemorating his presence at the 1973 Tulip Time. He rode in a convertible behind the Chamber of Commerce float. His son Jim marched with the Kentwood Band. Major Shanahan, a prisoner in Hanoi for 4½ years, was released in March.

All 16 bands participating in Saturday's band review in Riverview Park received plaques with their ratings, but Owosso High School Band got a special plaque for participating in the band review for 25 years. Yet, it got a first division rating too.

Charlotte High School Band participated for the 33rd year. It received a 25-year plaque eight years ago. Naturally, this fine Oriole band got its usual first division rating too.

The Charlotte Band which visited Europe for three weeks last summer put on a really fine "Masterpieces in Motion" presentation, combining truly great musical masterpieces with precision marching.

The band, Robert Powell director, attended the Anglo International Music Festival in Coventry, England, last summer and received the highest rating in the festival for a marching band, as well as a trophy in symphonic band competition. It was the honor band the week they attended the festival.

Everett Kisinger of the University of Illinois, miscalculated the time change this year and arrived just a bit late for his chairs as judge at the band review. Chairman Henry Vander Linde meanwhile had lined up Lee Brower, former Zeeland director, to sit in. And for good measure, they were worrying whether the rain would get worse. All turned out well.

Bert Brandt of Palmdale, Calif., who directed the Hudsonville band for 27 years, was introduced from the audience at the band review.

Bert is back for a visit with old friends, and also is preparing to direct a mass band of his former band students at the Hudsonville Centennial in June. Bert just can't quit. We don't want him to.

Ray Roth, one of the band review judges currently with the University of Michigan (Flint branch), was the man who started the Holland band marching in woden shoes.

It was about 15 years ago that he put his junior high band in klompen, rigged up a fancy step to "Tipoe Through the Tulips" and won the show. In time, these youngsters graduated to the high school band and took their klompen with them. Now it is a high school band gimmick.

Ray has completed work on his doctorate in music education at Michigan State University and will receive the degree this spring. He did research in music accountability on primary and secondary levels, and set up tests to evaluate accountability.

Band Review judges gave eight first division ratings in Saturday's band review. They went to Hudsonville, Columbia Central Band of Brooklyn, Cedar Springs, Brandywine High School Band of Niles, Grandville, Charlotte, Owosso and John Glenn High School of Westland.

Second division ratings went to Lee High of Wyoming, Zeeland, Allegan, Cornum, Jenison, Kenowa Hills of Grand Rapids, Northwestern High of Flint, and a third division rating to East Kentwood.

There were no cancellations this year in band review entries and what with rain sprinkles, time ran short, so there was only one mass band selection, directed by Everett D. Kisinger.

Through his 23 years of marching alongside bands during Tulip Time, Henry Vander Linde has found that small children like to reach for his baton. He often touches children lightly with it as he moves back and forth.

Saturday, as he rounded the bend on West Eighth St. near Kollen Park, a youngster grasped the baton and simultaneously both let loose, and the baton went down the grating of a street drain. It all happened very quickly. The crowd roared. Henry didn't need the baton any longer anyway.

Columbia Central Band of Brooklyn put on a cute show at Saturday's band review, replete with Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. At the end of the presentations, seven large boxes at the end of the field released red, white and blue balloons, all sweeping across the field in a fine patriotic climax.

The dwarfs had lots of fun in the parade too, shaking hands with children along the line of march.

At Meeting With Parents

Special Ed Plans For Latinos Told

Procedures for reevaluation and retesting of Latin American elementary students in Type A special education classes in Holland schools were explained by school officials to parents and others at a meeting Tuesday in Lincoln School.

Superintendent of schools Donald Ihrman said the actual retesting process of the Latin American students is to begin and will involve retesting, language, family mobility and educational and economic resources of the family.

Additional persons, including added psychological and bilingual aids, will be used in the retesting procedures.

Ihrman said school psychologist Dr. Eugene Scholten and a bilingual aid have completed home calls with parents of all Latino children in elementary special education Type A classes.

The Michigan Civil Rights Commission in April said they were beginning an investigation into uses of special education classes based on complaints from citizens alleging a disproportionate number of Latinos were being placed in special education classes.

Ihrman said parents of Latino students in special education classes were invited to a meeting along with representatives of the State Board of Education, school board members and school officials. Parents of three students attended the meeting along with about 35 other persons including representatives of the Latin American community.

Ihrman said the state was "pleased with the practice and progress to date" in restudying the special education uses.

Dr. Yonkman Given Citation At Boston U.

Dr. Fredrick F. Yonkman, of Maple Beach and Marion, Mass., was honored last week at a special convocation of Boston University school of medicine when he was awarded an alumni citation commemorating the centennial celebration of the medical school. He and Mrs. Yonkman attended alumni weekend proceedings as well as a reunion for class members of 1933, including former students of Dr. Yonkman.

The citation honored Dr. Yonkman for his achievements in pharmacology, which he "practiced as effectively in an industrial setting as in academia." While serving as an assistant and associates professor of pharmacology at Boston university, he expanded his Ph. D. background by completing the requirements for an M.D. degree. Following his work as head of the department of pharmacology at Wayne University school of medicine, Dr. Yonkman became chief pharmacist for Ciba, at Summit, N.J., later serving as director of research and vice president in charge of research.

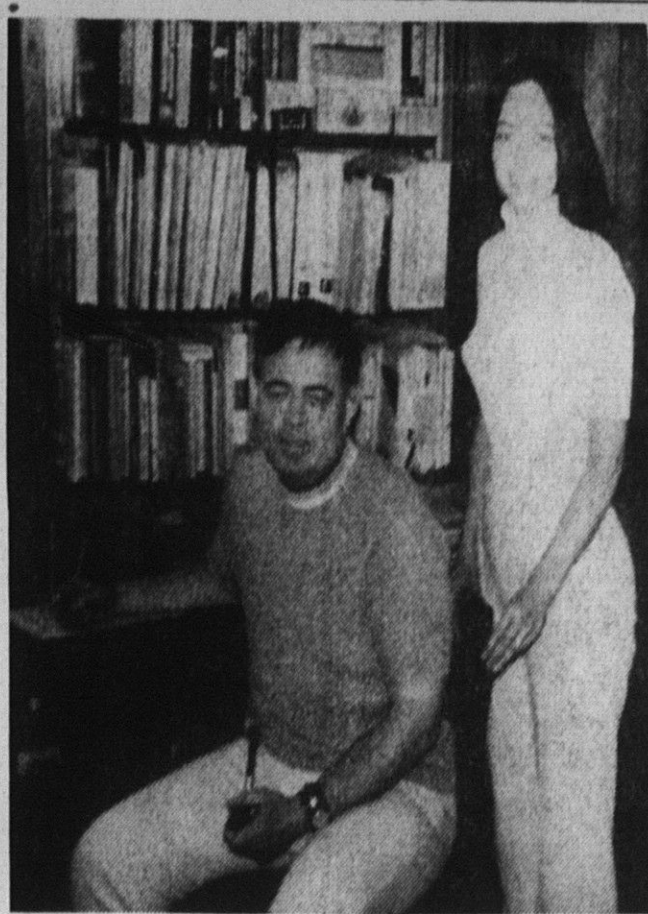

While at Ciba, Dr. Yonkman served as editor of a book on "The Heart," one of Ciba's well known Collection of Medical Illustrations. Recently he and Mrs. Yonkman attended a dinner meeting in Chicago introducing a new book on "Kidneys" for which volume he has been named editor emeritus. This occasion also honored Dr. Frank H. Netter, outstanding medical illustrator.

A native of Holland, Dr. Yonkman is a graduate of Hope College and has served on its board of trustees since 1966. Hope awarded him an honorary doctor of science degree in 1955. He did graduate work at Yale and the University of Iowa, and received his medical degree from Boston University.

ONE YEAR LATER — Francis J. Francomb, 35-year-old Sebawaing educator, feels just fine a year after kidney transplant surgery in the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor. With him is his 33-year-old sister, Joan Gardner, who donated a kidney. She is an x-ray technician at Douglas Hospital. Their mother, Mrs. Earl Francomb, lives in Holland.

Kidney Transplant Patient Feels Fine

Just a year ago, Francis J. Francomb, 35, was seriously ill. He suffered from a kidney ailment and needed a kidney transplant.

Today, a year later, he is in excellent health, thanks to a successful kidney transplant from his sister, Mrs. Joan Gardner, a 33-year-old x-ray technician living in Saugatuck.

Francomb, former Holland resident who currently is community education director for Unionville - Sebawaing area schools, can engage in all physical activities, and returns to the University of Michigan Hospital at Ann Arbor only occasionally for brief checkups.

He said he is living a normal life and doing all the things before his illness, at times more. He has not been ill since the day of the transplant May 24, 1972, in Ann Arbor.

At that time he was released from the hospital 10 days after the transplant to shop in Ann Arbor stores, and returned home June 10, 1972, the earliest any kidney transplant ever left University Hospital after surgery.

Today there are no major restrictions on what he may eat or drink, only a gentle caution to go lightly on salt in the diet.

And Tulips Are Still Beautiful

Tulip Time Ends On Happy Note

Tulips still remained beautiful in Holland Monday following a successful four-day festival which drew huge crowds to Holland for the 44th annual Tulip Time festival.

It was one of the longest blooming seasons on record with many tulips in bloom before May 1. Cool weather preserved the tulips and rain made the stems taller.

Intermittent sprinkles all morning Saturday curbed crowds for a time but by the time the weather cleared in early afternoon, crowds were present and the most ideal weather of the four-day festival prevailed for the big parade of bands which took just over two hours to pass a given point. There were 61 bands in the line of march, plus many new novel entries.

Nelson Bosman, president of the Tulip Time board of directors, today expressed heart-felt thanks to all persons who contributed in any way to making Tulip Time a success, participants and persons remotely involved.

"A successful festival is the work of many hands, and I won't single out all the persons who assisted," he said. "This was one of our better festivals, and the entire board is most grateful," he added.

Crews of the street department and park departments were busy Saturday night clearing streets and parks, so that all was clean and neat for the additional thousands who visited the city Sunday. Street department workers used large blowers on Eighth St., working from store fronts, blowing the debris to the middle of the street.

Even the most ardent environmentalist would have difficulty getting to a trash basket in the parade crowds. There have been years when street litter after a big parade was far worse.

Despite threats of rain Saturday morning, the weather became progressively better as the festival advanced. The Wednesday street scrubbing ceremony, parade and klompen dancing were performed in a cold, cutting west wind. The children's parade Thursday was conducted in warmer, less windy weather. The non-parade day Friday was better still, and the Saturday parade, once the threat of rain dispelled, was best of all, with temperatures up to 68.

Rear-End Collisions Injure 15

At least 15 persons were reported injured in five separate accidents along westbound M-21 at 120th Ave. Saturday afternoon. None of the injuries was serious.

Four persons were injured at 12:54 p.m. in a three-car chain-reaction collision. A car driven by Timoteo Basilio Ponce Jr., 23, of Flint, struck the rear of a car driven by Barbara Lee Clymer, 38, of Mount Morris, Mich., shoving it into the rear of a car driven by John Joseph Gubinski, 51, of Windsor, Ont.

At 1:25 p.m. cars operated by Wayne Craig Ridley, 24, of South Haven, Craig Stephen Gebben, 20, of 239 North Ottawa Ave., Zeeland, and Erwin Clarence Keller, 39, of Reed City, collided and one person was injured.

At 1:53 p.m. cars operated by Robert Clarence Wiswosser, 55, of Flushing, Mich.; Helen Mae Burden, 42, of Stanwood, Mich.; and Kathryn Susan Avink, 36, of Hudsonville, collided. Six persons in the cars were reported injured and all were treated in Holland Hospital and released.

Two persons were injured in a two-car collision Saturday at 2:21 p.m. of cars driven by James Lucian Wilborn, 43, of San Antonio, Texas, and William Lee Bierema, 30, of Spring Lake.

One person was injured at 2:54 p.m. in a two-car collision. The autos were driven by Jesus Lopez Pena, 31, of Lansing, and Cavin Dale Olund, 37, of 8527 89½ Ave., Holland.

Seminar in Safe Driving Planned By Police, Library

A two-day seminar on traffic safety is planned June 5 and 12 for the driving public by the traffic safety division of the Holland Police department and Herrick Public Library. The sessions will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the library. There is no charge.

The seminar, conducted by members of the Holland police department and a representative of an auto insurance company, is designed for adult drivers who have had little or no additional traffic safety training since driver education classes in high school.

Topics included are accident statistics, discussions on assured clear distance accidents, alcohol and driving, local traffic situations, conditions causing accidents and no fault insurance.

Police chief Charles Lindstrom said perhaps the most important topic at the seminar will be no fault insurance which becomes effective October 1 in Michigan.

Lindstrom said the traffic safety seminar is "a practical and effective alternative to enforcement of safety codes" by Holland police.

Among those taking part in the seminar will be Lindstrom, Sgt. Jerold Lubbers, Cpl. Ken Gebben, and Robert Sherwood of the library staff.

Club Receives Award...

A special tribute from the State of Michigan was presented to the Women's Literary Club Monday at a tea at the Clubhouse by State Rep. James S. Farnsworth.

Commending the Club on its 75th anniversary, the tribute reads "Since its inception in 1898, the Woman's Literary Club has served as a means of informing the women in the Holland area on national, state, and local problems. In addition to its basic education role, the Club has provided outstanding leadership and dedicated service to the community."

The name Literary Club is perhaps misleading. The Club does have a literary and cultural program featuring book reviews, art, literature, music, and current affairs. But in addition, the Literary Club also has many committees which provide hours of service to the community.

These committees include The Hospital Sewing committee, a group of approximately 40 women who meet for lunch at the Clubhouse and then cut and sew needed supplies for the Hospital.

The Civic Health Committee was organized in 1918 as a Children's Clinic. However today their main service is given to the American Cancer Society. They meet the fourth Tuesday of every month and make approximately 1,500 to 2,000 dressings for the Cancer Society.

The education committee administers the Kate Garrod Post Education fund, which was established in 1915. They make loans, without interest, to deserving girls who need financial aid to complete their education.

The Philanthropy Committee helps to make life happier for the residents at Community Haven in Eastmanville by providing these lonely people with personal gifts at Christmas and on their birthdays.

The Hospital Auxiliary Hostess Unit is another committee of the Club. Anyone who has visited Holland Hospital will remember these women as the receptionists wearing the familiar cherry, red smock. This group is composed of approximately 65 women.

Membership on these committees is entirely voluntary. With a membership of approximately 400, the Club is capable of staffing all of the committees. In addition, the Club also serves meals to members as well as to outside groups.

The tribute states "The Club has gained a well-deserved and outstanding reputation for active public service and the beneficial influence it has had on the community."

"Throughout its existence, the Club has been fortunate to have had the leadership of a roster of devoted and extremely capable individuals, especially those who have contributed so generously of their time and talents as members of the Board of Directors during 1971-73."

Present at the tea with Rep. Farnsworth were the members who had served on the Board of Directors for the past two years. Rep. Farnsworth shared some of his recent experiences on welfare, the tax cut, Day Care Centers, and other legislation with the group.

Linda Van-Liere Is Wed To Kenneth Vander Kolk

Mrs. Kenneth Alan Vander Kolk

Miss Linda Ruth Van Liere and Kenneth Alan Vander Kolk were united in marriage Tuesday evening during a candlelight ceremony at the North Holland Reformed Church Chapel. They exchanged their wedding vows before the Rev. William Masselink while music was provided by Mrs. Kenneth Zienstra, pianist.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Liere of 5650 106th Ave. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Vander Kolk of 9385 White Pine, Zeeland.

The bride wore a floor-length white satin dress which she designed. Embroidered lace covered the satin bodice which was accented with sheer bishop sleeves of matching lace. The gathered skirt of the dress, cummerbund and cuffs were trimmed with rows of eyelet lace strung with purple satin ribbon. Matching lace trimmed the edge of the bride's shoulder-length veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses and ivy.

The bride and groom were attended by Miss Karen Vander Kolk as maid of honor and Larry Vander Kolk as best man.

The maid of honor wore a floor-length purple satin A-line dress with bishop sleeves. The cuffs, collar and bodice of the dress were trimmed in white satin with rows of gathered white lace. She wore purple statice in her hair accented with a bow and streamers of white lace and red satin ribbon. She carried a white basket of red sweetheart roses, purple statice and baby's breath.

The newlyweds greeted guests at the dinner and reception held at Bosch's Red Room. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vander Kolk were at the punch bowl. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Staat were master and mistress of ceremonies and assisted the couple with the opening of gifts.

Club Receives Award...

A special tribute from the State of Michigan was presented to the Woman's Literary Club Monday at a tea at the Clubhouse by State Rep. James S. Farnsworth.

Commending the Club on its 75th anniversary, the tribute reads "Since its inception in 1898, the Woman's Literary Club has served as a means of informing the women in the Holland area on national, state, and local problems. In addition to its basic education role, the Club has provided outstanding leadership and dedicated service to the community."

The name Literary Club is perhaps misleading. The Club does have a literary and cultural program featuring book reviews, art, literature, music, and current affairs. But in addition, the Literary Club also has many committees which provide hours of service to the community.

These committees include The Hospital Sewing committee, a group of approximately 40 women who meet for lunch at the Clubhouse and then cut and sew needed supplies for the Hospital.

The Civic Health Committee was organized in 1918 as a Children's Clinic. However today their main service is given to the American Cancer Society. They meet the fourth Tuesday of every month and make approximately 1,500 to 2,000 dressings for the Cancer Society.

The education committee administers the Kate Garrod Post Education fund, which was established in 1915. They make loans, without interest, to deserving girls who need financial aid to complete their education.

The Philanthropy Committee helps to make life happier for the residents at Community Haven in Eastmanville by providing these lonely people with personal gifts at Christmas and on their birthdays.

The Hospital Auxiliary Hostess Unit is another committee of the Club. Anyone who has visited Holland Hospital will remember these women as the receptionists wearing the familiar cherry red smock. This group is composed of approximately 65 women.

Membership on these committees is entirely voluntary. With a membership of approximately 400, the Club is capable of staffing all of the committees. In addition, the Club also serves meals to members as well as to outside groups.

The tribute states "The Club has gained a well-deserved and outstanding reputation for active public service and the beneficial influence it has had on the community."

"Throughout its existence, the Club has been fortunate to have had the leadership of a roster of devoted and extremely capable individuals, especially those who have contributed so generously of their time and talents as members of the Board of Directors during 1971-73.

Present at the tea with Rep. Farnsworth were the members who had served on the Board of Directors for the past two years. Rep. Farnsworth shared some of his recent experiences on welfare, the tax cut, Day Care Centers, and other legislation with the group.

CITATION PRESENTED — Rep. James S. Farnsworth presented a special tribute from the State of Michigan to the Woman's Literary Club Monday. Accepting the award are three women who served on the Board

PRESS CENSORSHIP

We have just received a press release from the National Geographic Society that we think is well worth publishing. "Press censorship has been a hot issue in the United States since colonial times.

"Public Occurrences Both Foreign and Domestic, generally acknowledged as the first newspaper in the Colonies, folded after one issue. Published on September 25, 1960 in Boston, it was banned four days later by the governor, because it contained 'Reflections of very high nature' and 'Sundry doubtful and uncertain Reports.'

"The first newspaper regularly published in America, the 'Boston News-Letter,' was started by John Campbell in 1704. Sniping at the competition was common even then. Describing a rival's product, Campbell wrote: 'I pity the readers of the new paper: its sheets smell stronger of beer than midnight oil. It is not reading fit for people.'

"A comprehensive display of news gathering techniques in the United States from colonial days to the moon landing fills a new exhibit hall at the Smithsonian Institution's Museum of History and Technology in Washington, D. C.

"Colonial taverns kept newspapers on hand as amenities. They also served as aids to literacy. One innkeeper was obliged to post this sign: 'Gentlemen learning to spell are requested to use last week's newsletter.'

"Newspapers were deposited at taverns by postriders who supposedly were delivering the mail, the National Geographic Society says.

"Many postriders moonlighted for publishers, soliciting new subscriptions, collecting overdue bills, and dropping off the latest issues.

"Postal inspectors fumed over the extra bundles that delayed regular mail service. Their saddle bags were so 'cramped with newspapers that it is impossible for them to come in time,' complained one official.

"Editors were sharply divided at the time of the Revolutionary War. Of the 37 newspapers in the Colonies, 15 supported England, while the others swayed between independence and continued colonization.

"The first picture of a current event in an American newspaper — 'Rivington's New York Gazetteer' — showed publisher James Rivington hanging in effigy in New Brunswick, New Jersey.

"Early in the Revolution, Rivington began printing arguments against rebellion, and he was hanged in effigy. He commissioned a woodcut showing the event, hoping to elicit sympathy for his stand. His office later was mobbed by the Sons of Liberty.

"Unruly mobs were only one of the problems faced by publishers during the Revolutionary War. Papermakers ran out of rags and bleaches, and by 1779 they had to grind up old printed paper to replenish their stocks. Bluing later was added to hide the inky gray color.

"I thank you for the Boston Newspapers," Benjamin Franklin wrote his niece from Paris in 1779. "They perfectly blind me . . . If you should ever have any Secrets that you will be well kept, get them printed in those Papers."

Sunday School Lesson

Christ Is Our Hope
Acts 1:10-11; 1 Peter 1:3-9;
1 John 3:1-3
By C. P. Dame
Hopelessness is common today. A lesson on hope is therefore timely. Christ is the hope of all who believe in Him and those who disbelieve have no solid ground for a high hope. I. We have the promise of Christ's return. After the resurrection, Jesus remained with the apostles for 40 days, during which they became convinced of His resurrection and were taught by Jesus who told them to remain in Jerusalem until they were baptized by the Holy Spirit. One day Jesus commanded them to be His witnesses and then Jesus ascended to heaven. The birth of Jesus was miraculous; His life was marked by the miraculous; His resurrection was a miracle and His ascension was also a miracle.

The apostles heard two men, angels, say that Jesus would come in a like manner as they had seen Him go to heaven. Only Luke tells the story of the ascension, once in the gospel, once in Acts. Note that angels announced the birth of Jesus, ministered to Him in the wilderness and foretold His return. We know He will come again.

II. We have the promise of an inheritance. Peter's first letter was sent to the exiles, God's people, scattered throughout Asia Minor. These people had been "born anew to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead" — they had experienced the second birth and now they had real hope. Look twice at the word "living."

The word "inheritance" comes from the Old Testament where it refers to the land of Canaan which God gave to Israel. The Christian's inheritance is "incorruptible" beyond the reach of death, "undefiled" beyond the taint of sin, and it is reserved by God for His people who are kept by Him. Although Christians have trials, they should rejoice in view of all their blessings, realizing that trials are for a season and test faith.

III. We who believe will become like Jesus. We have been told by Peter who we are; John tells us what we will become. Christians are God's redeemed children. The word "children" denotes birth, origin and oneness of nature while the word "son," also used in the New Testament of believers, denotes rank, position, legal relationship and standing with God the Father.

Since we are God's children we have a great future. Some day we will be like Jesus, not His equal, but holy as He is. Today it becomes us to act like it becomes the children of God.

The Alumni were invited to review the newly designed laboratory classroom for which their annual alumni gift was given this past year. Red Cross First Aiders Busy at Fete

Red Cross first aid volunteers kept busy during Tulip Time, although not so busy as some years when hot weather results in extensive heat exhaustion and similar complications.

All was quiet for the festivities Wednesday and there were no casualties, despite the cold weather.

On Thursday a woman visitor from Gait, Ontario, tripped and fell. Vern Schippers splinted her arm and took her to the hospital for x-rays which revealed a fracture. After a cast was applied, she insisted on returning to the parade and the chicken barbecue.

On Saturday, the first aiders reported first to Riverview Park for the band review and then to Kollen Park where they awaited weary parade participants. As the day turned warmer after the rain, there were several fainting cases.

On duty at Riverview Park were Randall L. Kleinheksel, Jim Mahaney, Stewart Jackson, David Sova, Michael Gerrie, Gene Kogma, Harold Tregloan, Vern Schipper, Dan Ross, Joe C. Gerrie and Wayne Huhta, short-wave radio operator. Jim Mahaney and Dan Ross dropped off at Civic Center to man the first aid station there headed by Civil Defense for search and rescue.

Working at Kollen Park were Fran and Don Van Alsburg, Bonnie Tregloan, Steve Stegeman, Arlen Harsevoort, Ron Plasman, Mike Kiner, Linda Kallemyn, Karen Manting, Angie De Witt, all of Holland. From Grand Haven came Robert Brunan, Randy Portoluri, Terry Zimonick, George Porter, Richard and Margaret Borer. The Grand Haven group has come to Holland for many years.

Red Cross is assisted each year by the park department and Dykstra and Noter-Ver Lee-Langeland ambulance services.

Foot blisters are one of the main casualties after a long line of march, some of them really serious. It takes an experienced marcher to know one should wear old shoes for a parade.

One marcher had such a bad case of bronchitis Saturday afternoon she was taken to Holland Hospital.

Some of the most exhausted marchers in Tulip Time parades are those who carry flags, particularly in strong winds.

In the second row are Mrs. John Ypma, recording secretary; Mrs. Chester Walz, vice president; Mrs. Carole Crowe, second assistant marshal; Mrs. Bea Hewitt, second guard; Mrs. Dewey Barton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Russell Simpson, press correspondent and historian; Mrs. Gerald Tisdale, second trustee; Mrs. Edward Laskers, third trustee; Mrs. Frank Duffy, first assistant marshal; Mrs. Erwin Bouwens, organist; and Mrs. John Hudzik, financial secretary. Absent from the picture is Mrs. Leonard Marcinkus, first guard.

West Ottawa Provides 1973 Tulip Time Finale

By Gretchen Derksen
"Dutch Is... Beautiful" was proved true by the West Ottawa Fine Arts Department as it brought the 1973 Tulip Festival to a close Saturday night in Civic Center with "Dimensions in Sound."

The students presented their case with their key witnesses being Holland's parks, recreation and lakes; resorts; industry-agriculture; education; religion; culture, and people.

The multi-media presentation included the Senior Choir, Vocalaires, Chamber Orchestra, Wind Ensemble, West Ottawa Marching Band and a three-screen slide show.

The program was written by B. J. Berghorst and at times his narration was accompanied by the choir, orchestra and slides simultaneously. Many of the students participated in two or three musical groups, switching from instrumental to vocal performers.

Highlights of the program included a barbershop quartet composed of three students and a teacher calling themselves the Bored of Education. They sang on original number entitled "Tulip Time Jubilee."

The Senior Choir presented "Once in Love With Amy" and "Cabaret" complete with special sets and choreographed dances performed by three couples. A comedy number was "Pollution," a song about the country's environmental problems which featured two students in gas masks staggering throughout the auditorium.

A crowd-pleaser was the Chamber Orchestra's rendition of "A Summer Place," arranged and conducted by Concertmaster Rick Van Der Meulen, a senior student at West Ottawa.

Two duets were also featured. Randy Johnson and Terry Stewart sang "Dead Skunk in the Middle of the Road," accompanying themselves with guitar and banjo. "Color My World" was played by Rob Daniels on piano and Susan Hiddinga on flute.

As the grand finale, the West Ottawa Marching Panthers performed their popular parade number, "Vehicle" in the middle of the auditorium, bombarding the loud, rousing notes from every corner.

The variety program had a special appeal to the Tulip Time visitors who appreciated the enthusiasm of the amateur performers.

The Orchestra was conducted by Raymond C. Van De Mark while the Choir and Vocalaires were directed by Harley Brown. The Wind Ensemble and Marching Band were under the direction of Tom Updegraff and Gary Lucas.

Dody Fredrickson and Bob Washburn provided visual effects. Jodi Hansen, choreography and choir accompaniment, and John Beem, set design.

School Reading Consultant Speaks to ABWA

Members of the Holland "Charter" Chapter of the American Business Women's Association were addressed by Mrs. Marge Van Wyke, reading consultant for the city schools, at their "box lunch" meeting Tuesday in the Northside Peoples State Bank building.

She told of the work involved in the "Title I" programs used in the local school systems since 1966. This program is of value to children of lower income level families and those whose families move frequently. The program, which receives government support, is presently working in seven "target" schools in the city school system. Audio-visual aids are used.

She explained the changes in reading and teaching reading in the kindergarten and first grades today as compared to years ago. Many things contribute to a child's inability to learn to read, some of which are emotional problems, changing schools and lack of verbal communications, she said. Summer school programs will include a course in creative writing.

Vocational speaker was member Marilyn Bultman, manager of the Waukazo branch of the First Michigan Bank & Trust Co. Miss Bultman started with the bank in 1958 as a teller and worked in the Hamilton branch. She explained details involved in this work.

Business was conducted by the president, Verna Obenchain. It was announced that the national convention will be held in Las Vegas in October and Beverly Hoffman has been given the Hand of Friendship award from the national organization. Scholarship awards will be granted at the next meeting and a Woman of the Year will be chosen.

Overflow Crowd Gives Quartets Big Ovation

By Cornelia Van Voorst

An overflow crowd gave visiting barbershop quartets a tremendous ovation at the annual Tulip Time Parade of Barbershop Quartets Friday night in Civic Center. Even without Holland's Windmill Chorus, the show had all the snap and verve of the best of local shows.

Producing the most laughs were the comic Harmony Hounds of Battle Creek on a repeat visit, first demonstrating their ability to deal with those choice rich chords so dear to the heart of quartet singing lovers, then launching into their trunk of tricks with comic routines, stringed instruments and gags, one member playing the boob.

One choice routine was a poetic narrative (with apologies to Robert Service) about a forgotten island paradise replete with characters resembling Tarzan, Jane and the monkey, all with distinctive singing styles.

Perhaps the best quartet singing was by the Detroit-Lansing Vagabonds who attempted no comedy but produced the best in quartet singing, including a tribute to quartet history, popular at the turn of the century and then all but forgotten until O. C. Cash revived it in 1938, with the result that The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., has 35,000 members today, and supports its own charity for speech defects, with headquarters in Wichita, Kan. Their arrangements gave special bows to George M. Cohan and Irving Berlin, plus spirituals.

Myke Lucas of Evansville, Ind., formerly with the Chord Counts of Holland, returned to serve as master of ceremonies and to sing with a relatively new quartet, the Cardinals, appearing in plushy red velvet outfits and singing their arrangements with all the confidence of true professionals.

Another visiting quartet was the Perfect Arrangement of Rochester, N.Y., combining some soft-shoe comedy with unusual arrangements, calliope sound effects for circus tunes, and fine ballads.

Starting off the program was a local quartet, Familiar Feeling, made up of Fred Schutmaat, Frank Lievens III, Al Walters and Bob Bos, wearing casual mod outfits and singing such favorites as "You're Sorry Now," "Dixie" and "Lucky Old Sun."

As is customary, the program closed with singing the Barbershop theme song, Willis A. Diekema's "Keep America Singing" led by Clarence Jalving of Holland, a former International President. Tom Weller, president of the Holland chapter, welcomed the huge crowd.

Gary Kaashoek, 43, of 769 South Shore Dr., suffered abrasions of the feet and ankles when the motorcycle he was operating and a car collided Thursday at 5:30 p.m. along Eighth St., 250 feet east of College Ave. He was treated in Holland Hospital and released.

Kaashoek was eastbound on Eighth when a car driven by Betty Ann Lemmen, 22, of 46 West 20th St., pulled into his path from a curbside parking space.

Friday evening in North Holland Reformed Church, Miss Laura Marie Vanden Bosch became the bride of Daryl Lee Vanden Bosch. Mrs. Jan Nienhuis was organist for the ceremony while Dan Ritsem was soloist.

The Rev. William Van Rhees performed the rites uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verlin Vanden Bosch, route 1, 104th Ave., Zeeland, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Vanden Bosch, route 1, Baldwin St., Zeeland.

The bride's full-length gown of poly-knit featured an empire waistline with a belted tie in back, bishop sleeves, lace bib front and a stand-up collar trimmed with eyelet lace and velvet ribbon. Her three-tiered elbow length veil was held by an eyelet and velvet headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white Marguerite daisies, lavender baby's breath and lavender streamers.

The maid of honor, Valerie Vanden Bosch, sister of the bride, and bridesmaid, Vivian Steigenga, sister of the groom, wore full-length gowns of pink, yellow and lavender organza accented with white daisies. They featured empire waistlines, gathered skirts, stand-up collars, long sleeves gathered to button cuffs and lavender ribbon belts. Their lavender hats were trimmed with lace and lavender ribbon.

Delwyn Vanden Bosch attended his brother as best man while the bride's brother, Randy Vanden Bosch, was groomsman. The guests were seated by Kelly Vanden Bosch, brother of the bride, and Norm Steigenga, brother-in-law of the groom.

The reception in the Fellowship Room of the church was presided over by Mr. and Mrs. William Overway as master and mistress of ceremonies. Gift room attendants were Rick Smith, Miss Kathy Peters, Arlen Harsevoort and Miss Phyllis Bosch. Mike Machiele served punch.

Following a Niagara Falls honeymoon, the couple will live on Baldwin St., route 1, Zeeland. The groom is employed at Borculo Body Shop.

ECOLOGY PROJECT — This group of Christian Middle School sixth-graders is working in the old city dump behind Riverview Park, Friday where six truckloads of trash was picked up in three hours of hard work. The group was one of seven which included the more than 200 sixth graders at the school who took part in the clean-up as part of an ecology project. The Holland Dept. of Environmental Health provided trash bags and trucks for the project. Robert Visscher, whose Ideal Dry Cleaning business is near the area, provided soft drinks for these workers.

Sixth Graders In Three-Hour Task

The City of Holland received a Tulip Time tidying Friday by more than 200 Holland Christian Middle School sixth graders, led by seven teachers who made a mass assault on the city's streets and illegal dumping spots.

It was a three-hour, muscle-pulling back-wearying ecology lesson as the students with trash bags filled trucks, all provided by the Department of Environmental Health, with the most unsightly of the debris.

The seven groups worked in the area behind Riverview Park, the former Holland landfill; the Industrial Park; 32nd St. and Waverly Rd.; the Graafschap area, 40th to 48th Sts. and 24th St. in Holland Heights between Waverly and Quarterline Rd.

Accompanying the groups were teachers Tony Du Bois, Ron Stepanek, Norm Herrema, Ron Bielema, Miss Barb Vander Veen, Miss Millie Beckman and Miss Rose Bosch.

The project drove home to the students the point that litter is one of the primary ecology problems.

The people on the toll gate at Windmill Island are geared to the unusual, but they did a double take the other day when an out-of-state busload of people were admitted to the island.

The banner on the bus read "Alabama Possum Eaters." Yes, it's the real name of the group and they're proud of it.

Who are we to criticize? What with the high price of meat, those people maybe have something going for them.

It has often been mentioned in Tulip Time sidelights that klomp dancers wear from eight to 10 pairs of socks inside their wooden shoes.

And now we hear one girl wears 17 pairs and another 15. Maybe they have shoes larger than the usual two sizes. If a girl wears shoe size 7 she orders size 9 for wooden shoes.

Visitors are assured again and again that Holland girls don't really have thick ankles. It's those socks.

ONCE A KLOMPEN DANCER, ALUMNI GROUP REPEATS

Tulip Festival Sidelights

How many years of service can a well-heeled pair of wooden shoes be expected to give? Three years? Sometimes. Four years? Maybe. For Mrs. Kristi Knoll, 312 West 21st St., an alumni Dutch Dancer this year, the life expectancy has been stretched for one last dance with strategically placed electrical tape on worn through soles, both inside and out.

Window clerks at Holland post office have a colorful view of Tulip Time since they look at Centennial Park.

But these days, clerks in the back room have plenty of color too. They're dispatching post cards of Tulip Time. And there's color galore.

The sale of six-cent stamps at the post office has been phenomenal. Most of them end up on post cards that are processed locally.

Concerning that sidelight Thursday of a query about the old Oakland Garage in Holland, we learned today that the building now is Holland Reliable Motor Supply, 121 East Eighth St. An old thermometer in a back room carried the Oakland garage name.

Marshals in Saturday's parade of bands were first division, Harold Bremer and Martin Kole of the VFW; second division, Elwood Brush and Paul Fisher of the DAV; third division, Le Roy Sybesma and John Slighter of the VFW; fourth division, Alden Stoner of American Legion; fifth division, William Walezak of VFW; sixth division, William De Haan, Legion. Jim Vande Poel is parade marshal, assisted by James Hoffman.

Tulips bloomed early in Holland this year and it is something of a miracle that large numbers of them are still in fine condition.

But tulip plantings in front of City Hall were really sad a few days ago.

Enterprising park employees replaced them with colorful red geraniums for Tulip Time.

Maybe it's the art teachers, maybe the youngsters, but the children's parade Thursday showed more originality and resourcefulness than ever before.

And how proud they all were! Just about every child carried something, even those kindergarteners clinging to long poles to keep their lines straight. On the poles were fishnets, tulips, pinwheels, flowers, etc.

Schools had special themes... art, architecture, foods, agriculture, gardening, culture and history, and above all the beauty of the flowers.

There were dogs, flower baskets, seals, coats of arms, tambourines, windmills, balloons, cheese, chocolate, rusk, fish, toys and games.

Thursday's parade had more decorated bicycles than ever before and nearly everybody wore Dutch costumes. Teachers learned long ago that once a boy reaches fifth grade, or thereabouts, he doesn't like to wear a Dutch costume, but he will ride a bicycle. The uses of crepe paper still are many and varied.

And now, the unicycles have come into their own too. Not only boys, but several girls rode them in Thursday's parade. It's almost impossible to operate a unicycle wearing a long skirt or baggy trousers.

Are those boys in the Zeeland High School Band really taller than those in other bands, or do they just look that way?

Holland's sister Dutch community to the east turns them out big, healthy and handsome. And Zeeland's majorettes were as pretty as any we have seen.

Holland High School Band's wooden shoes, Dutch caps and Dutch costume overlays really capture the fancy of all Tulip Time visitors. Marching with a dance step to the tune of "Tip-toe Through the Tulips" is utterly captivating. Newcomers never saw anything like it.

Come Memorial Day May 28, and the band will be back in their regular uniforms with military hats.

Cal Langejans, West Ottawa band director, is marking his 25th year at marching in Tulip Time parades.

It started when he was a fifth grader in Holland Christian Schools. Some of those 25 years were under Henry Vander Linde who has been working Tulip Time festivals for "only" 23 years.

That Montello Park school model of the Peace Palace in The Hague attracted a lot of attention in Thursday's parade. It has appeared in children's parades on many occasions. It is still impressive.

A check of the Almanac reveals that it was full moon Thursday night. Longtime weather observers have noted that the full moon cycle especially in the spring is often accompanied by unpredictable weather. Could that account for the chilly winds in midweek?

Although not on the official program, Tulip Time visitors who remain in Holland Sunday are invited to attend the church of their choice. There also is a concert by the Grand Rapids Youth Symphony Orchestra String Quartet at 3 p.m. in Wichers Auditorium on Hope College campus and a hymn singing at 9 p.m. in Civic Center with the Rev. Donald Brandt of Pomona, Calif., as song leader.

A dozen State Police officers from posts in West Michigan are expected in Holland Saturday to assist police in traffic control. A State Police command post will be located in the police station.

Windmill Island still puts its own distinctive postmark on mail deposited there. Otherwise, the Holland postmark is only on local mail deposited in special mailboxes for local distribution only.

Midland Mayor Julius Blasy is now an honorary Dutchman after receiving a pair of engraved wooden shoes from Mayor L.W. Lamb Jr. at dinner Friday night as part of Holland's Mayor Exchange Day. Mayor Blasy was accompanied by City Treasurer Frank Hudson and City Attorney David De Witt.

Park Supt. Jacob De Graaf presented wives of the three men with bouquets of red tulips.

In his response, Blasy was grateful for the "warm hospitality" with special thanks to the two hostesses, Mrs. Lamb and Mrs. Terry Hofmeyer.

The Midland contingent will return home after watching the parade today. The Lambs, City Manager and Mrs. William Bopf and Councilman and Mrs. Don Oosterbaan will visit Midland Monday.

Bryan Chase, the GVSC graduate currently serving as administrative assistant to the city manager for six months, was the willing victim of a bit of playboy at City Hall the other day.

Several girls were preparing to participate in street scrubbing and asked Bryan to go along.

"I don't have a costume," he said.

"We'll get you one," they answered. And he agreed.

But the girls got a girl's costume for Bryan. A good sport, he wore it and scrubbed the streets along with all the other burlers. Yes, he got doused too.

Bryan, who was a trainee in the city manager's office for three seasons while at Grand Valley, is now taking graduate study at Michigan State University.

Mayor Julius Blasy of Midland and his party who visited Holland Friday as an advance to Michigan Week received a gift package, courtesy of local manufacturers. The products came from Heinz, Brooks Products, Parke-Davis, De Pree Co., Life Savers Inc., and Hekman Rusk.

So far, few visitors from the Netherlands have visited Windmill Island this season. Manager Jaap de Blecourt explained that special KLM tours are scheduled later this season. That's when the Old Country Dutchmen visit the Dutch-Americans in Holland, Mich.

Uncle Sam is marching with the Holland Christian High School Band in today's parade.

He is six-foot-two W.E. Leppien of Madison, Wis., who has appeared as Uncle Sam in parades all over the nation for 17 years. With his top hat he is well over seven feet tall.

This is his first visit to Tulip Time, and he and his wife and daughter are staying with Mrs. Leppien's niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Don Kimber.

On Sunday he is marching for the 17th consecutive time in the Syttende Mai Norwegian folk festival in Stoughton, Wis.

Record high water levels leave their mark most everywhere this year, and Windmill Island on the banks of Black River is no exception. But Windmill Island hasn't suffered too much. The city has cooperated in banking up certain areas, and, barring strong winds, everything is reasonably secure.

Of course, the area not far from Winomil De Zwaan where tulips were first planted in 1965, is pretty soggy. Tulips and other plantings for several years have been on higher ground near the Windmill and the post-house.

Windmill Island Manager Jaap de Blecourt expects the one-millionth visitor to Windmill Island in May. Windmill Island was dedicated in 1965 in the presence of Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands.

There will be suitable ceremonies, Jaap said, including a bag of Windmill flour.

Visiting Mayor Julius Blasy of Midland is in his fifth year as mayor and although he has not announced it he plans to seek another two-year term.

Holland Mayor L.W. Lamb Jr. announced recently that he was not seeking another term.

When Mayor Lamb introduced the visitors at lunch at the Country Club Friday noon, he said he hasn't quite lived it down forgetting to introduce his wife Elsie when Princess Margriet of the Netherlands visited Holland last September. And he reflected sadly on his poor memory.

"Maybe that's why you're not running again," the visiting mayor quipped. Blasy served 11 years on City Council before becoming mayor.

Russ Huyser has provided some further information on the old Oakland Garage, subject of a sidelight Thursday.

Russ says the 1921 city directory lists a Hyden - Kardux Agency (Ralph Hayden, George D. and William Kardux) Oakland and Chevrolet Motor Cars, 14 West Seventh St. Its Citizens phone number was 1431 and its Bell telephone number was 41.

Harold Grtman, principal and teacher at Maplewold School for 42 years, just possibly marched his last Tulip Time children's parade Thursday.

But retirement doesn't keep some retired teachers down. Both Marjorie Shackson and Elva Stocker marched in Wednesday's volk parade along with Ramona and Ray Swank.

We keep hearing wild stories of strange things that wild wind Wednesday did to volk parade. Parade marshals say gaps in the parade were due not to any delays but to the inability of quite a few young musicians to make any forward progress in the gale-like winds. Like a young fifth grader manfully carrying a sousaphone and getting caught in a crosswind.

Then there was the story about the trombone player whose slide came off as he was buffeted backward.

As for losing hats... those incidents were legion.

Speaking of band hats or caps, most of them don't fit very well. Most outfits are of more ancient vintage, the hats were designed for short haircuts. So it's only natural that there are difficulties today.

Hats with chin straps were the best answer Wednesday.

Leon Wiersema of Naperville, Ill., formerly of Holland, has a special interest in today's parade. Some 30 years ago he was a regular participant in Tulip Time parades, and this year he will see his oldest son, Brian, a percussionist, march with the

Tulip Time Echoes

Holland area and its famed Tulip Time festival are cited as top state travel destinations in the May Motor News magazine of the Michigan Automobile Club. The local attractions are listed in an article titled "What to See and Do in Michigan." Aside from Tulip Time, Holland with its colorful gardens, wooden shoe factory, and giant windmill imported from the Netherlands is a top Michigan tourism attraction.

If you're interested in making Dutch krakelingen (butter figure-eights) be sure to use four cups of flour (not sugar) in the recipe which calls for a pound of butter and a half cup water. A printer's gremlin botched up the recipe in Wednesday's Tulip Time edition.

Krakelingen are mixed just like pie crust. Strips looped around into the distinctive pattern are rolled in sugar before baking. Crisp fresh krakelingen are just about the best thing this side of paradise.

Holland observed its Mayor Exchange Day last Friday while the rest of Michigan marked it Monday. On Wednesday, there will be an exchange of chairmen of county commissions. William Winstrom, chairman of the Ottawa County Board of Commissioners will be in Hillsdale County, while the Hillsdale Chairman whose name is Fitzgerald will be in Ottawa county.

Plans call for spending the morning in Grand Haven and the afternoon in Holland with visits to District Court, the local branch building on North River Ave. and Windmill Island.

Among the marshals working Saturday's big Parade of Bands were Howie Busscher who has been helping for 12 years and Chuck Biolette, a veteran with five years' parade experience.

There's always a difference of opinion of how many people visit Tulip Time, but there's no argument that the Tulip Time crowds last week were as large as usual — some say even more. In general, it is believed that the tulips attract some 500,000 visitors to Holland during the month of May. We really couldn't accommodate many more.

A group of 34 senior citizens of Knoxville, Ky., was supposed to arrive for Tulip Time Wednesday but they didn't make it. Their bus broke down and they spent an adventurous two days and even slept in a hospitable church before arriving Friday . . . and then they couldn't even stop because they had to get on to Windsor, Ontario.

They had written well in advance saying they would like to present a dogwood tree to Holland since Knoxville celebrates its own Dogwood Festival in April. The Holland Chamber of Commerce assured them the tree would be welcome and if any choice were allowed, Park Supt. Jacob De Graaf would prefer a red dogwood tree, state inspected, of course.

The bus stopped at the Dutch Village Friday and called the Chamber of Commerce. John Bloemendaal went down, welcomed the group and accepted the dogwood tree with thanks. It's already planted in Centennial Park. The visitors were members of the McCalla Ave. Baptist Church in Knoxville.

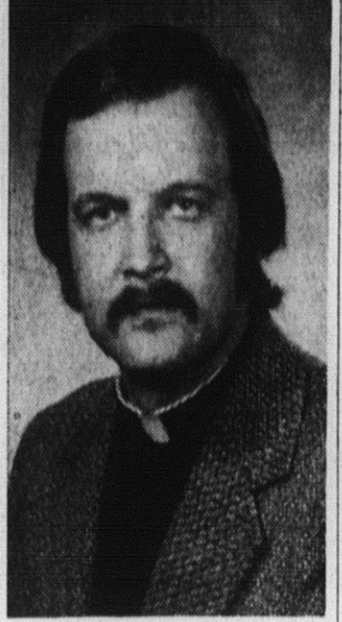

Windmill De Zwaan, open to the public at its New World home on Windmill Island here since 1965, continues to receive attention in various periodicals. The New York Times carried an extensive story on windmills all over the world April 29, with a good share on Dutch Windmills. Windmill De Zwaan in Holland, Mich., also was mentioned.

Under "letters" in the January Rotarian, W. K. von Weiler of Royal Oak, Mich., brings the record up to date on a previous article on Dutch windmills, pointing out that a Dutch Windmill was exported to Aruba in the Netherlands Antilles in the Caribbean, and another, Windmill De Zwaan, now stands in Holland, Mich. Windmill De Zwaan is pictured.

Prior to his appointment in Holland, Fr. Downer was associate pastor at St. Francis de Sales Church in Muskegon. He graduated from St. Joseph's Seminary in Grand Rapids and Following his ordination Rev. Downer was appointed associate pastor at St. Mary's Church in Manistee and was a teacher at Manistee Catholic Central high school.

Cars driven by Ernest Henry Weber, 25, of 1214 Beach Dr., northbound on Van Raalte, and Curtis Dale Dokter, 20, of 66th St., eastbound on 15th St., collided at the intersection Saturday at 5:31 p.m.
