WARM WELCOME ENGULFS FORD

TOWARD END OF PARADE—A happy President and his family wave to crowds near the end of the parade on Van Raalte Ave. near 24th St. Saturday. Susan, at left, had joined her parents on 21st St. after viewing the parade. With the President, First Lady and Susan is U.S. Rep. Guy Vander

'Good to be Back Home,' President Says

Quarter Million or More Biggest Crowd on Record

Holland rang down the curtain Saturday night on the most successful Tulip Time festival in the 47 years it has been operating.

It was the visit of President Ford, the First Lady and their daughter Susan that capped the climax of Saturday's big Parade of Bands.

Despite a gentle rain that fell most of the day, Saturday's record crowd was estimated at 250,000 or more. The rain stopped just as the President's motorcade entered the line of march midway through the sixth and last division.

The President's motorcade formed a parade within a parade with more than a dozen police cars, vans and other vehicles preceding the Presidential limousine, and dozens of Secret Service men surrounding the President, followed by more vehicles.

As Gerald R. Ford, longtime friend of Holland, Mich., and the First Lady waved to the crowds, deafening cheers went up from the crowds which had waited patiently for hours in the rain, and this all-encompassing roar continued all the way to the terminal point at 24th and Van Raalte.

At 21st St., they were joined by their daughter Susan who had served as honorary grand marshal of the parade, riding at the head with Tulip Time Chairman Mike Gormy. Susan had viewed the parade from a protected stand at that intersection.

"It's good to be back home," the President told Mayor Lou Hallacy as the mayor, his wife Madeline and four of their children.

ren, presented wooden shoes and tulips at Tulip Time airport just before the Ford's departed for Grand Rapids by helicopter.

Ever since it was announced on Wednesday that Susan Ford would be Saturday's grand marshal, the town had been swarming with Secret Service men, and the number greatly increased Thursday night when it was learned the President and First Lady would ride toward the rear of the parade.

The President had requested that his visit be regarded here as a "return home" for the 16 years he represented Holland and Ottawa county in Congress, and thus it was. A political speech would have been anticlimatic.

Many people lining the parade route were unaware that the President would be in the parade, but word quickly spread as Susan Ford rode at the head of the parade.

The parade was postponed 30 minutes to accommodate the change in plans, started exactly at 3:30 p.m. and covered the 2½-mile route ending at 24th and Van Raalte in 47 minutes.

The President arrived in Holland in the third big White House helicopter, the earlier one carrying the national press and staff. He entered the White House limousine immediately and press people followed security vans to the M-40 intersection on US-31 bypass, then north on Lincoln to 24th and around Prospect Park to Columbia Ave.

At the marshaling area at Lincoln Park, photographers transferred to a flatbed truck which then preceded the President in the parade. At the close of the parade at about 27th St., the top of the limousine was closed, the pressmen returned to vans, and the motorcade proceeded to 32nd St., then west to Ottawa, south on Ottawa to 40th St., and back to BR-31 and the airport.

Parade Chairman Roger Stroh said crowds poured into the parade route after the President passed, but created less confusion than most people thought. The last half of the sixth division continued after a bit, and a good share of the patient crowd remained to cheer the last five bands and floats. Tulip Time officials were highly pleased over Saturday's events, agreeing that the President's visit was well worth the extra effort, particularly during the nation's Bicentennial year.

Honorary Grand Marshal of Band Parade

By Cornelia Van Voorst
Susan Ford, a pretty 18-year-old who happens to be the daughter of the President, had a busy and exciting time in Holland Saturday.

An honorary grand marshal of the climaxing Parade of Bands, Susan gamely braved the elements, sometimes under a bubble umbrella, and then watched the parade from a special reviewing stand at 21st St. and Van Raalte Ave. until the President and Mrs. Ford arrived toward the end of the parade, and then joined her parents for a trip to the Tulip City Airport.

Tall and blond like her father, Susan is prettier than her pictures. Wearing her hair in a long bob and sporting a blue and white jacket and skirt knit outfit with navy shell, Susan moved easily with her hosts at a brief visit to the Tulip Time market.

She watched wooden shoe carvers at work with a great deal of interest (her special interest is crafts) and she met each of the 12 klompen dancers, sharing laughter as she autographed wooden shoes.

On arrival, she was taken to the Willard C. Wichers home for lunch and relaxation and then, flanked by Wichers and Mayor Lou Hallacy, walked the short distance to the Tulip Time Market where Hallacy presented her with a pair of wooden shoes.

Later came a reception of 110 guests in the lounge of Phelps Hall on Hope College campus to meet city officials, civic leaders, selected college students, and GOP leaders. Although the President represented Holland and Ottawa county for 16 years as 8th district Congressman, Susan has always lived in Washington, D.C., and attended school there.

But she expressed a certain nostalgia for the summers the family spent at Ottawa Beach when she was growing up.

"I wish there were time to go out there and see the cottage," she said. Alas, there wasn't time.

"Thanks for wearing a President Ford button," she said on ending the interview. "I thank you for myself, and for my father."

Zeeland Eyes Disposal Of Park Area

ZEELAND — City Council Monday directed an appraisal of the Huizenga Park area for possible disposal of the 37-acre site along M-21 in the wake of apparent voter rejection of park development.

City Clerk Leon Van Harn said disposal of the property was one of the alternatives under study by council for the park.

Voters last November rejected two to one a $142,500 proposal to develop the park with the use of federal funds and local monies. In the past week a questionnaire showed a majority of those responding turned back a suggestion that minor improvements be made in the park.

The park now has a picnic area, a large fishing pond and a storage building and basically remains undeveloped.

In a related development, the resignation of Larry Dickman as chairman and a member of the Huizenga Park Development committee was accepted.

Council approved a cost of living adjustment of $210 annually for full time city employees.

City council approved two moving permits and the moving and restoration of an old ticket office but decided to develop guidelines for future transplants of "historical" structures.

Permits were granted to move a small office building and a metal dust bin. Approval also was granted for the moving and restoration of an old inter-urban ticket office to be placed at the Park View nursing home property as an historical structure.

WOODEN SHOES FOR FORDS — President Ford sports a Dutch cap as he and Mrs. Ford pose with Mayor and Mrs. Lou Hallacy and four of their children at Tulip City Airport

150 Area Officers Involved in Presidential Measures

Ford Security Plans Thorough

Holland Police chief Charles Lindstrom said as many as 150 area law enforcement officers were involved in security measures for the Presidential visit Saturday in addition to Secret Service agents. The officers represented several State Police posts, sheriff's departments in Ottawa and Allegan counties, police from Zeeland and Hudsonville, reserve officers from Holland and National Guard.

The overtime costs to the police department in Holland and necessary materials for Tulip Time and the Ford visit amounted to $14,000. Lindstrom said the Ford visit cost the police department $3,000 in addition to the normal costs for Tulip Time.

A few telephoned threats against the president's life were received by police and Secret Service while Ford was in Holland. In addition there were other reports of threats relayed from other states.

The Secret Service operated three teams of Personal Incident investigators which handled reports of threats and bomb threats. Such reports were referred to one of the three teams which handled the complaints.

A joint command center to coordinate law enforcement and Secret Service communications in Holland was installed in the emergency operations center in the basement of the police department. The center is designed for use in case of emergencies and with all the added equipment and personnel Lindstrom said the room became a little stuffy.

A White House switchboard to handle White House communications was installed at the telephone company office and additional telephones were installed at key locations along the parade route within quick access to the president.

Extensions of the local White House switchboard were at the hospital and Tulip City airport.

A number of persons were "evacuated" from a building at Eighth St. and Columbia Ave. after they were observed engaged in "heavy" drinking. Lindstrom said the group was removed from the roof of the building as a precaution.

The Secret Service special agent in charge of making local security arrangements was Larry Buendorf who was the agent who apprehended "Squeaky" Fromme during her alleged attempt on Ford's life in California. Buendorf was in charge of security until the President arrived and then command passed to the President's special agent.

Program On Environment Given for DAR

Dr. Jerry Dusseau of the Hope College biology department presented a program for Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton Chapter, DAR, at its final luncheon meeting last week at Sandy Point.

A hobby photographer, Dusseau illustrated his program, "Revolution in Caring," with his own slides. His "revolution" of 1976 would be a change in attitudes on conservation and environment. Our resources, he sees them, are wild life, the earth and people. Caring about each other on this earth should lead us to a wiser use of our air, water and minerals, he said.

His slides showed timber lands which should accommodate recreation and retail the aesthetic value through good management. Our lakes and streams can be used and enjoyed for generations, if not abused. The arid areas of clean air, our wild life and vegetation must be respected and preserved in a manner beneficial to all.

Finally, he said this revolution would motivate each person to exercise his choice in caring by working in a united effort for the benefit of all.

Dr. Dusseau, a graduate of Louisiana State with a Ph.D. in biology, has been at Hope for six years. Last year he spent three weeks in Kenya and Tanganyika on a photographic safari.

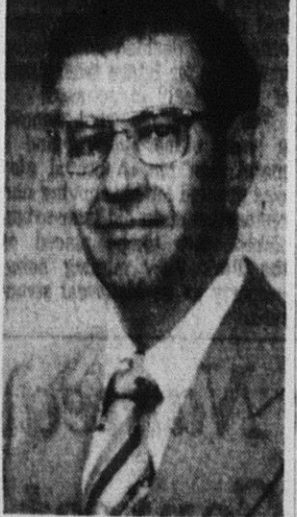

In DAR business, Mrs. Coleman Sanford was elected delegate to the state DAR convention, with Mrs. Albert Nutile as alternate.

Guests were Ms. Norma Bos and Mrs. A. W. Bremer of Saugatuck and Mrs. Gordon Aller and Mrs. Charles A. Letkin of Fennville.

MAILMOBILE — Lear Siegler, Inc. Automated Systems division in Zeeland unveiled an automated delivery system for office mail and supplies. The self-contained unit follows an invisible guidepath through office areas on a pre-selected route and timetable bringing interoffice mail and supplies to various office work areas. The unit which sells for $10,000 - $12,000, was under development four years and is being produced at LSI's new Zeeland facility.

LSI Shows New Delivery System

ZEELAND — An automated delivery system for office mail and supplies using an invisible floor guide path has been announced in New York and Zeeland and will be produced in Zeeland by Lear Siegler's new Automated Systems division.

Called Mailmobile the device is self-propelled and uses a patented guidance system to follow the guide path on carpet or other flooring materials to bring mail and supplies to office areas on a pre-determined time schedule.

The unit was shown Friday at a news conference in Zeeland at the LSI facility but formal announcement was made today in New York.

Two LSI employees designed and developed the product after LSI charged the Instrument Division in 1972 to produce a new product for commercial and industrial applications.

Several ideas in the robot delivery system were studied and in 1973 Jack Cooper and Carl De Bruyn developed the mail delivery system in cooperation with a Chicago firm which was looking into the robot system for its new office building.

Prototypes were delivered to the Chicago firm in June, 1975 and since then other office buildings have ordered the LSI system.

Mailmobile travels at a speed of about one mile per hour and signals its presence with a pair of flashing blue lights and a soft beep tone. Safety features allow for emergency stops should a person or object get into the path of the device.

The unit is 51 inches high, 58 inches long and 24 inches wide and is powered by motors using commercial type storage batteries which are rechargeable. Each Mailmobile sells for $10,000 to $12,000 depending on options included.

The system is designed to shorten delivery time for interoffice mail by allowing the sorting of mail at each stop into trays coded for various office departments. Interoffice mail travels only from department to department.

The guide path can be rerouted to fit various layout patterns and requires no structural changes to the building or floors. The guide path is an invisible fluorescent chemical applied by brush, roller or spray gun.

The Zeeland plant producing the Mailmobile opened in April and employs about 36 persons, 24 of whom transferred from Grand Rapids. Officials said once production is increased an additional 40 to 50 persons could be hired.

It takes two months to produce one unit, officials said.

The new facility is located in Zeeland's Industrial Park at Riley St. and Centennial St.

Officials said future plans call for entry into material systems handling where larger units could be used to transport materials for industry.

Right to Life Committee Hears State Officer

Dr. Joseph Kinkaid of Bronson Hospital, Kalamazoo, vice president of Michigan Citizens Right to Life, addressed a meeting sponsored Thursday evening by Holland Right to Life Committee.

The instructional meeting followed the local committee's regular business meeting in Faith Christian Reformed Church.

Speaking on "The Right to a Natural Death," Dr. Kinkaid traced through scriptures the prescriptions which demand respect for life and quoted many church groups on positions toward euthanasia. Although he does not advocate the necessity for unnatural, extraordinary means to prolong life, he warned that the pro-euthanasia group is encouraging passive euthanasia, possibly leading to active euthanasia and then assisted suicide.

A discussion period covered many phases of questions surrounding death.

Mrs. Howard Kolk, local committee president, introduced the speaker and Mrs. David Roelofs gave the opening prayer. In the preceding business session, Cherie Timmer, secretary, and Mrs. Cal Timmer, treasurer, gave reports and Mrs. Roelofs requested volunteers for a booth at the Ottawa County Fair. Mrs. Kolk reported on a recent regional meeting.

Next regular meeting will be June 24 in Faith Church.

WELCOME, MR. PRESIDENT
Gerald R. Ford has been in Holland many, many times.

But never like his brief visit Saturday.

His appearance with Mrs. Ford toward the end of the big Tulip Time Parade of Bands was a parade within a parade, and what a parade it was! And what a warm welcome it was!

Cheers from the multitudes, estimated by some at a quarter million or more, deafened the music of the bands, some 60 strong.

And the rain, which had fallen gently all day, ended as the President entered the line of march.

Holland was in Gerald R. Ford's 5th Congressional district when he served from 1943 to 1948 and then became part of the 9th district served by Robert P. Griffin, now U.S. senator, and incumbent Guy Vander Jagt.

It was a big day for Holland, hosting the first incumbent President of the United States in the city's 129 years of existence. And it all happened during Bicentennial Year.

Despite the all-day rain, Saturday's huge crowds were most patient, even though a good share of visitors had no knowledge the President would be in Holland. Word spread quickly, particularly when Susan Ford rode at the head of the parade as honorary grand marshal.

The crowds were happy to greet the President as an old friend and President Ford was genuinely happy to be back with the home crowd. It was Holland and Ottawa County which gave him a plurality back in 1948 to offset an incumbent's vote in Kent County.

And Jerry Ford never forgot it!

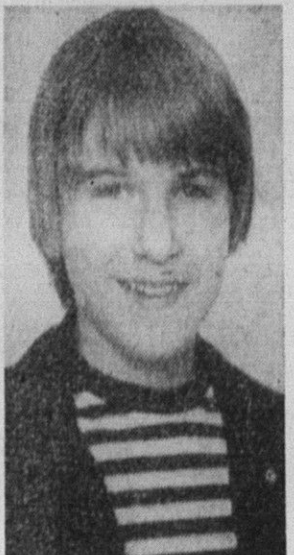

Real, Charlie Brown Is A Winner at E. E. Fell

By Arkie Van Raalte

A boy named Charlie Brown ran for president—and won.

This real-life Charlie Brown, unlike the one of Peanuts Gang fame, was a winner last week in his bid for the presidency of E. E. Fell Junior High School. He got help from the originals, however, by employing Snoopy, Linus, Lucy and the rest in his campaign.

Charlie, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Charlie Brown
... a real winner

James K. Brown, 1299 Heather Dr., will be 14 in June, when he completes eighth grade at E. E. Fell. He'll assume the school's top office later this month at the annual honors assembly.

Our Charlie had his own "Lucy," who prodded, aided and abetted him as his campaign manager. This spunky "Lucy" is Libby Williams, who managed the entire campaign from her home, where she was recuperating from serious injuries sustained in a fall from a horse.

Backbone of the campaign strategy was the skit based on "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown." Libby ably managed the Peanuts bunch, including Theresa Geary as Snoopy, Ingrid Olbrich as Sally, Gail Brummel as Schroeder, Steve Schrotenboer as Linus and Kathy Daniels, doubling for Lucy. Carol Wojahn was stage manager and Kevin Brady, script advisor.

Billed by his backers as "not a blockhead but an honor student," this Charlie Brown does not believe in the cartoon boy's loser image. When the votes were counted on May 7, he really was the winner and he took his "gang" to a pizza parlor to celebrate the victory.

Charlie has a dog named Barney, a sister named Holly and his game is tennis, not baseball. He's also on the school swim team and he serves as an acolyte at All Saints' Church in Saugatuck.

In June, he'll attend leadership camp with the rest of the newly-elected E. E. Fell officers, Vice President Joan Hillebrands, Secretary Theresa Long, Treasurer Beth Koop and Chief of Police Dan Bazan.

Charlie Brown now knows what Happiness Is.

Ottawa County Tax Sale Lists 176 Parcels

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa County's annual tax sale was held May 5 and 6 and of the 60,000 parcels of property in the county 176 went through the tax sale. Only 17 parcels were not sold.

County treasurer James K. Dressel said the low number of parcels sold for taxes in the past "certainly reflects the economic responsibility which is ingrained in the citizens of Ottawa County."

The sale was for property on which 1973 taxes have not been paid. Dressel said the persons making bids for the property are given certificates which must be held for one year to allow the property owner time to pay the back taxes. If the back taxes are not paid at the end of the year the certificate holder may request a tax deed and pay the back taxes for ownership of the property.

Kent Probate Judge Addresses Advisory Council

The Honorable Randall J. Hekman, Kent County probate judge, addressed the Citizens Advisory Council to the Ottawa County Juvenile Court Monday, at a dinner meeting on Hope College campus.

Judge Hekman emphasized the importance of both justice and fairness in dealing with juvenile crime. He stated that rules laid down should be followed and if there is no response by the court there is no real law. He said that when rehabilitation is the only goal, justice takes a back seat.

In Kent County he has initiated the practice of sending letters to victims of crime asking for cooperation in making work projects available by way of restitution for damages done. His "get tough" policy has resulted in more juveniles being institutionalized and hence a bigger budget, but he contends the juvenile crime rate has dropped.

Graham Duryee introduced the speaker and welcomed the guests.

Sue Hekman reviewed briefly the history of the Advisory Council, its accomplishments and goals for the future. She expressed appreciation to retiring Judge Fredrick T. Miles for his inspiration and encouragement and presented him with an inscribed scroll as a memento.

New officers of the Advisory Council are Rick Van Til, chairman; Eric Elliott, vice chairman; Hugh Veltman, treasurer; Sharon Yonker, secretary, and Jim Piers, member-at-large.

Tulip Time Sidelights

Holland's historic Pillar Church was full for the authentic Dutch church service Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. Simon Vroon of Zeeland, who serves as associate pastor for Central Avenue Christian Reformed Church, wearing an old swallow-tailed coat, delivered a brief sermon in Dutch.

Dutch psalms were sung and an offering, earmarked for local charities, was taken in the long-poled collection bags. A member of the Dutch Immigrant Society of Grand Rapids sang two Dutch selections. The service also was held at 4 p.m. Thursday.

The Pillar Church, built in 1856 and which survived the big fire of 1871, is open for tours from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. during Tulip Time. This church is Holland's most historic building and the congregation has done an excellent job in preserving it. After tours, cookies and coffee are served in the lower levels.

On Saturday, the church closes at 3 p.m. when the big Parade of Bands starts.

The Zeeland Chamber of Commerce entered its Bicentennial float in Wednesday's folk parade and will return for the Saturday Parade of Bands. Zeeland High School Queen Kelli Wybenga and members of her court ride on the float. Members are Rosie Hulst, senior; Kathy Schreier, junior; Linda Kamps, sophomore, and Beth Vanden Belt, freshman. Dick Timmer headed the float committee.

Many Tulip Time visitors who find accommodations in the homes of local citizens can attest that Dutch hospitality is more than a myth. They are often treated the same as "visiting family" and many form lasting friendships with their hosts. Local concern for guests goes beyond the "creature comforts" required.

One woman was alarmed when she realized her assigned guests' arrival time was too late for the Wednesday parade. She wrote them immediately, they changed their plans and arrived Tuesday night, in plenty of time to enjoy the full opening day festivities.

One frustrated Holland mother reports that her seven-year-old daughter's month-long enthusiasm for first time marching in the children's parade was dampened when she dressed in her long and somewhat bulky costume.

It seems her daughter insists the Dutch children years ago couldn't have had much fun.

Her daughter remarked sympathetically: "How did they play Chinese jump rope? (a current fad which moves the rope up to anatomical areas of the body for high jumping.)"

"They could do 'ankles' she speculated — and maybe 'kneesies' if they held their skirts around their hips, 'but how on earth' she exclaimed 'did they do butties'."

If female members of the Holland High School concert band appeared a bit rumpled in their Dutch costumes Thursday night, the reason is understandable.

At 7:15 p.m. the girls danced the rigorous 15-minute klompen dance around Centennial Park, scrambled to the high school where they grabbed their instruments in time to be seated in the orchestra to play five numbers.

It's all hard work but from the beaming smiles on the young faces, it's obvious they thrive on it.

Parading isn't the "breeze" it used to be, according to veteran grade school marchers (fourth to sixth grade).

Parents watching perky paraders at mid-march areas who scurried to the parade route's end noted a diminished wealth of energy, though rarely enthusiasm.

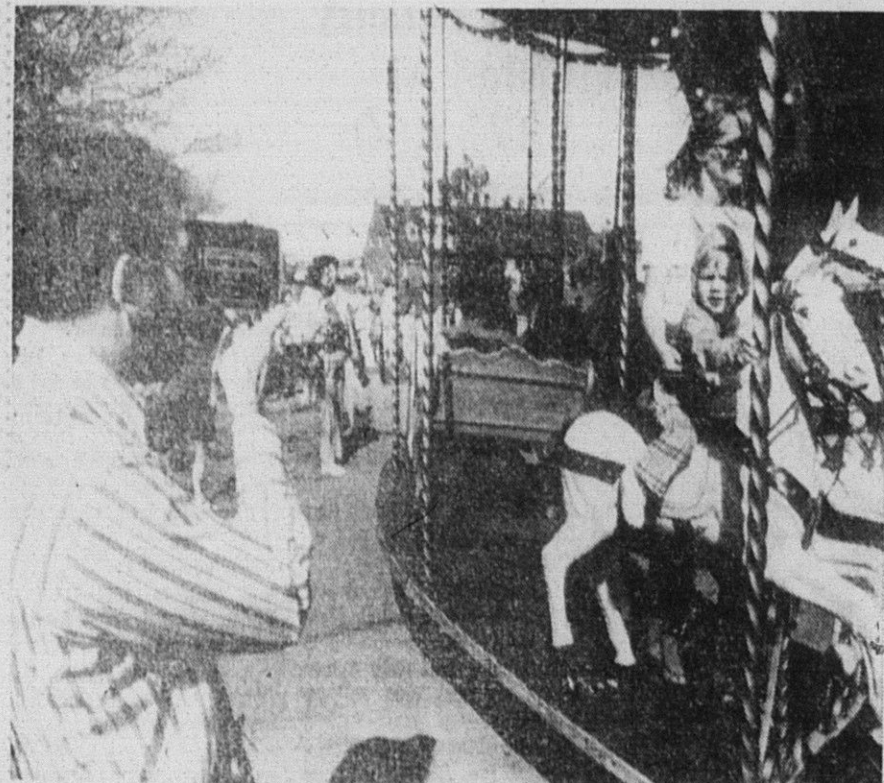

Area moms undoubtedly owe a debt of gratitude to Tulip Time officials who extended the route this year. Likely little fuss about staying up later when bedtime came Thursday night.

THE BIG DUTCHMAN SALUTES TULIP TIME COMMITTEE

Their dedication and pride in our community has once again made this year's Tulip Time a great time for our community and the thousands of visitors it receives.

Tulip Time Sidelights

Happy Birthday sung in eight languages greeted Donna MacVane Thursday as she danced the Klompen dance at Centennial Park. It was her 18th birthday. The 22 exchange students were in Holland as guests of local families and schools for two days are part of the Youth for Understanding program and gave her signs saying Happy Birthday in each language. Countries represented were Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Germany, Brazil, Chile, Netherlands, Australia and Finland.

Donna has been dancing three years with her klompen group and they presented her with gifts while a birthday cake decorated with klompen dancers and a windmill was served while the dancing continued.

Netherlands Consul General Johannes Tjaardstra and his wife of Chicago who were Tulip Time guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willard C. Wichers left Thursday night and are headed next week for Orange City, Iowa, another Dutch-American community which is celebrating Tulip Time too.

The Tjaardstras will be in Orange City May 19-21. The consul general will crown Orange City's Tulip Time queen and will ride in Tulip Time parades.

Last week, the Tjaardstras were in Pella, Iowa, which also celebrated Tulip Time.

Park Supt. Jake De Graaf has every reason to be well pleased with the condition of the tulips in the city. Last month when temperatures rose to 82 on Easter Sunday, Jake was beset by worriers afraid that the tulips would be gone by Tulip Time.

Jake remained calm, at least outwardly. He learned long ago (after one heart attack) that worry doesn't help anything. Some tulips are past peak, but there are some still in tight bud. The blooming period really is long this year.

The Holland High Dutchman Band has been growing in impressive numbers the last few years and this year, with 135 members, it is the largest ever. The band wears its traditional Dutch uniforms and klompes. Carl Dephouse is the director. Riding in the wooden shoe at the head of the band this year are five-year-old Leigh Ann Schmidt, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Schmidt, and three-year-old Todd McDaniels, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph McDaniels.

Dephouse also directs the Ninth Grade Band this year, the smallest of the public school bands with 95 members. This band is wearing new red blazers and dark slacks this year. It earned top ratings at the West Michigan Band Festival this spring.

Mt. Pleasant Mayor Ed Johnson and his wife Edythe and Commissioner Carol Scherer and her husband Steve were honored at dinner Friday at Point West at the conclusion of Mayor Exchange Day.

Park Supt. Jacob De Graaf presented Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Scherer with bouquets of tulips. Johnson and Scherer were given decorated wooden shoes.

Council members and their spouses, city officials and the media were guests at the dinner. Mayor Lou Hallacy, Councilmen Don Oosterbaan and Hazen Van Kampen and their wives will visit Mt. Pleasant Monday.

When the President goes anywhere, a lot of things go into action automatically.

One of them is emergencies involving a hospital.

The White House medical unit has checked out emergency facilities at Holland Hospital, has relayed blood types of the President, the first lady and Susan (All O positive) and checked possible sites for helicopter landing.

President Ford's personal physician travels with him. There also is a backup medical helicopter.

Visiting Mayor Ed Johnson of Mount Pleasant, in Holland for Mount Exchange Day Friday, and his party had lunch with the noon optimists at Durfee Hall on Hope College campus.

He said Mt. Pleasant and Holland have many things in common — advantages and problems — but he envies Holland for two reasons: its fine heritage and its Tulip Time festival, the latter involving much work and sacrifices, but worth every bit of it.

"I've felt the warmth of your hospitality, and you are indeed privileged to have the President visit you Saturday. I'd like to be here myself and can think of only one thing bigger than seeing the President — my daughter's graduation from Central Michigan University!"

His daughter Judy gets her degree in elementary education Saturday from CMU.

The visiting mayor also gave a plug for Central Michigan University in this college town. "When you have filled up Hope College, come to Mt. Pleasant and we promise to take good care of your sons and daughters. In Mt. Pleasant, it's safe to be on the streets at midnight or even 3 a.m. The crime rate is low and we believe in having a good police department."

Larger crowds than ever (up to 1,000) have been attending the Dutch Heritage Show in Civic Center, one of Tulip Time's many unique programs. Most of the members of the show wear original costumes.

U.S. Rep. Guy Vander Jagt rode in Saturday's Parade of Bands twice.

First he appeared in Dutch costume in a convertible with his wife and daughter Virginia, also wearing Dutch costumes, and later in dark business suit with the President and Mrs. Ford.

Guy was one of the few cars with top down in the earlier part of the parade.

He said, "If the klompen dancers can get wet, I can get wet." Fortunately, the rain stopped as the Presidential limousine entered the line of march.

Holland people — and visitors too — were tremendously impressed by the work of the Secret Service. They were everywhere, eyes darting all over the crowds, before and during the President's visit.

It was said 135 security men travel with the President, and there were more earlier in the week for Susan Ford's visit.

With all hotel and motel rooms taken by Tulip Time visitors, there were some difficulties obtaining accommodations for the earlier group. The same condition prevailed in Grand Rapids, and a college dormitory was turned over to the staff.

One security man appeared particularly apprehensive over those huge crowds, and he had good reason.

He had been with President Ford in California during both those attempts on his life — "Squeaky" Fromme and Sara Moore.

Excited as they were over the President's visit, everybody seemed happy to have him on his way to Grand Rapids — safely.

Just in case you don't think the Secret Service was effective, ask Congressman Vander Jagt.

As the President called to Vander Jagt to join him in the Presidential limousine as he prepared to enter the parade route, a couple of security men shook him down as he approached the car.

It took intervention of the President to see Guy safely through.

With a 24-hour notice, Warner De Leeuw who operates a lumber yard north of town came through with a good truck and platform for the photographers riding just in advance of the President in Saturday's parade. Some of the crew reported for work at 6 a.m. Saturday.

Photographers who have followed the President many places, said it was one of the better, sturdier trucks.

Bob De Nooyer provided three cars to get the photographers back to Tulip City airport.

"You know, we just saw the head man of the strongest country in the world!"

That comment and variations thereof was heard again and again among the crowds seeing President Ford in Saturday's parade.

Tulip Time Echoes

Lloyd (Cotton) Rogers was on dispatch duty at Holland police station at 2:25 a.m. Sunday when the telephone rang. It was ABC radio in Los Angeles, and would be available for a live broadcast on Saturday's Tulip Time events. Yes, he was available and they briefly discussed subject matter. "We'll call you back in exactly 32 minutes," the Los Angeles man said.

At 3 a.m. the call came through and "Officer Rogers" talked for four minutes about Ford, listed the city's population at 27,000 and Saturday's crowds up to 300,000. All went well.

Five minutes later, the phone rang again: "Hi, Cotton, I just heard you on radio."

It was Bill Bopf, former city manager calling from Los Angeles, or rather Tustin, Calif., where he is city manager.

"We talked five or six minutes and Bill wanted to know all about everything, the crowds, the tulips, President Ford, and I said everything went fine with the possible exception of the rain, and that didn't really matter," Cotton said. It was midnight, California time.

Bill Bopf left Holland a little over a year ago after serving as city manager here for 5½ years. His arrival in California a year ago coincided with interviews for the Rose Bowl parade, and Bill served as liaison for Holland city in all the transactions. "He saved us at least two trips down there," Mayor Hallacy said.

The Bopfs also hosted the Hallacy family during the Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day.

There are those who think Bill acquired a little Dutch blood during his years in Holland. He has always maintained his interest here.

Cotton Rogers has been with the Holland police department since September, 1957, which he put him through some 19 Tulip Time festivals.

But this year's was far and above the largest, most of it due to President Ford's visit, Cotton said.

And despite the rain, the crowds were better natured than ever before. This year on Saturday, he helped work traffic at 24th and Van Raalte and found the going rough because band were breaking up and all the band members wanted to stay around to see the President. But there was plenty of help at the intersection, and the road was kept clear.

If it hadn't been clear, the President's motorcade would have turned west on 22nd St. (perhaps even before) and taken some other route back to Tulip City Airport.

Cotton said he had his worst experience three years ago while working Tulip Time traffic at Eighth and Lincoln, where all the visitors turn for Windmill Island. A car drove up behind him and the driver was asking directions.

As Cotton bent down to talk, he found a big boa constrictor was coiled about the man's neck and the snake's big head inches from Cotton's face. It was a horrid shock!

Mickey Vanden Bosch, who used to work housing for Tulip Time years ago, was back in the Tulip Time swing Saturday. She lives at 21st St. and Van Raalte Ave. and the special reviewing stand for Susan Ford was set up only a short distance from the picture window of her home.

First a National Guardsman stopped and asked if he could store some helmets in her home. She was glad to and suggested he keep his motorcycle in her garage. That was fine.

She knew the stand was reserved for Susan Ford, but all kinds of people made themselves comfortable. When she told them it was reserved for the President's daughter, they paid no attention. But they jumped when the police and Secret Service came around.

A Secret Service man asked to use her telephone. He made a long distance call and left $1 on the stand.

"We had lots of relatives and visitors," she said. "We were all terribly excited and had a wonderful time."

Lots of local people remember Jerry Ford's last visit to Tulip Time in 1967 when he served as grand marshal, but oh, the differences!

Nine years ago he was a Congressman, and not even serving Holland and Ottawa county any longer, but he always maintained warm ties with the area he represented for 16 years.

Accompanied by an army of Secret Service agents, President Ford just can't be casual about any appearance these days.

"Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory" as sung by Lynelle Pierce drew loud applause at the last program of the Dutch Heritage Show in Civic Center Saturday morning, the last of four shows which have attracted large crowds each year. Director Harry Hoekstra has been particularly pleased with the response of the visitors this year to the hour-long program of Dutch costumes and customs.

Clymer, N. Y., held a Tulip Festival Friday and Saturday, emphasizing authenticity and Bicentennial. Clymer's festival started in 1953 as a street cleaning day to rid the streets of the winter dirt.

The 1976 festival had a children's parade Friday afternoon listed as "A March Through History" for grades K-6. A program on "Dressing Up American History" was held in the evening.

The Saturday program listed Klompen dancing, a chicken barbecue, a grand parade with scrubbers and klompen dancing, antique baby buggies, queen candidates, bands and antique cars; a variety program, square dancing, films and at night, crowning the 1976 tulip queen.

On his visit Monday morning the congenial Jack Ford was asked what he considered the most unusual question he faced during an interview.

A reporter in Illinois asked if he was married, he said, and when hearing he wasn't, she continued and asked "Will you marry me?"

"I was speechless," the young man with an answer for almost every question admitted.

Told that his father had "never seen a Ronald Reagan movie," Jack Ford said that he "may have seen one . . . but they aren't exactly classics."

Sometimes visiting bands are herded around to eating establishments and the parade started with little observation of what the Tulip Festival is really famous: the tulip.

As one pretty majorette in the John Glenn band rounded the corner near Kollen Park she eyed the row of tall, beautiful pink tulips.

"Look, there are tulips," she exclaimed to her friends. She grinned with embarrassment, as the crowd roared.

Regular secret servicemen wear the identifying little buttons on their lapels, not so much to identify themselves to the crowds but to identify themselves to each other. With more than 1,400 secret servicemen in the corps, the need is obvious.

Jack Ford, maybe kiddingly, maybe not, said he would like to be Grand Marshal next year.

Are you listening Tulip Time board? You'd make a lot of women residents happy.

Someone asked Jack if he was given a pair of wooden shoes. "No," he replied "but I had a pair when I was a kid."

No worry. Surely if he needs a pair now he can borrow them from his father. At last count the President had four pairs.

At least one secret service agent left Holland with a favorable impression.

Not prepared for the rainy weather the agent was getting drenched when a person along the parade offered his rain coat. The gentleman noted that he had an umbrella as well.

The secret service agent donned the coat, returning it at the conclusion.

Harmony, Showmanship Mark Quartet Parade

By Cornelia Van Voorst

The Tulip Time Barbershop Quartet has become so popular in Holland that two separate programs were held Friday night, complete with shuttle service.

And the barbershop chords were as great as ever, the enthusiasm of the crowd greater (if possible) and everybody had a ripsnorting good time.

Since there were more reservations than could be handled in Civic Center, another program was set up in Christian High School a half hour in advance, occupied almost entirely by a single out-of-state tour group.

Four topnotch out-of-state quartets provided the best in barbershop harmony. Main headliner was the current International Champions Happiness Emporium paying a return visit after winning plaudits here last year. This Minneapolis-St. Paul quartet mixed smooth harmony, humor and novelties with championship ease, choosing old favorites, spirituals, new numbers and completely melting the crowd with an all-time local favorite "The Three Bells."

The Citations of Louisville, Ky., demonstrated a wide range of talents with "Where Or When," the durable "Family Circle in the Sky" and a bit of audience participation in a novel arrangement of "On Top of Old Smokey."

The Four-n-Legion of Ohio, hailing from four cities (one 180 miles away), chose a crazy novelty about Nellie hanging onto the bell clapper (with comic bumps) and a story-song about the preacher fighting the grizzly bear, and then a tender number called "Jenny Rebecca" in which a father sings to his four-day-old daughter.

The Return Engagement of South Bend, Ind., covered a wide range of ballads, novelties, paying tribute to Willis A. Diekema of Holland, composer of the Barbershop theme song, and then sang a reverent religious tune, "I'll Walk With God."

Barbershop programs in Holland are always opened by the Windmill Chorus, this year wearing snappy candy-striped coats and white straw hats. Under the direction of Del Doctor, the chorus sang "Rosie," "Mother Machree" and "Old Love Letters" and then returned at the close of the program to sing "Battle Hymn of the Republic," adding one more patriotic touch to a program which had many patriotic touches.

For the finale, all barbershoppers in the audience were invited on stage to join in the barbershop anthem, "Keep America Singing" led by the composer, Willis A. Diekema. Among longtime barbershoppers was Clarence Jalving, a former international president.

Tom Damm of Muskegon served as master of ceremonies at Civic Center and Jim Horton at Christian High auditorium.

Piano Students Honored By National Society

Sixty-two piano students from the studios of Mrs. Claudia B. Huisinga of Grand Haven, Mrs. Catherine Van Wyk of Zeeland and Mrs. Barbara Veurink and Mrs. Carol Wolf of Holland received membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians in auditions held Friday and Saturday on the Hope College Campus.

Mrs. Jane Palmer of Zenda and Beloit, Wis. served as judge and awarded gold pins and national honors to Mary Ten Harmsel, Joan Beelen, Mandy Hoffman, Gabriela Alfaraz, Beth Lemmen, Michelle Jousma, Mike McVicar, Lilli Ann Wolf, Amy Bloemendaal, Diane Bergstrom, David Berkompas, Nancy Berghorst, Corine Willyard and Lori Hoffman.

Mrs. Palmer awarded silver pins and state honors to Nancy Moore, Lynn Schrotenboer, Sue Leaske, Jeffrey Borton, Kristi Koeman, Earl Ermatinger, Debbie Huxhold, Sandra Huxhold, Shelly Larsen, Karen Tallman and Kenneth Beelen.

Bronze pins and district awards were given to Betsy Bloemendaal Nancy Buehner, Eli Coats, Jr., Chris De Vries, Ann Farley, Mendi Petter, Shelly Rogers, Dan Carl Young, Kim Knoper, Kornelius Cramer, Christine Cramer, Kimberly Warren, Miriam Luebke, Kathy Schipper, Karen Jekel, Richard Pease, Nancy Atman, Karelene Bolte, Debbie Stevenson, Mimi Bonzeler, Elizabeth Smith, Kathy Haak, Bill Leaske, Anne Harrington, Karen Thompson, Joel Tanis, Kathy De Voe and Janet Lound.

Bronze pins and local awards were given to Michele Schrotenboer, Kris Leaske, Mary Schaap, Sarah Birdsall, Crystal Smith, and students pledging membership only were Shelly De Vries and Linda Harrington. All students must renew their memberships each year in May by playing from two to 20 memorized pieces from Classic, Romantic and Contemporary periods of music for an examiner sent from another state by the National College of Musicians, Teacher's Division, and by receiving a qualifying score from this music critic.

Jack Ford Here To Get Out Vote

By Ann Hungerford

The younger the girls, the wider the grins.

Jack Ford, second eldest son of President Ford, elicited giggles from many of the young women he greeted in Holland Monday. He charmed them all much as his father did back in 1948.

Though the aura was often light and giddy, Jack's appearance was an earnest appeal for support for his father.

He greeted most passers-by with "Hi! I'm Jack Ford. Hope you get out to vote Tuesday." Never an expression of "vote for my father."

"We know this area is for my father," the tired but enthusiastic young man explains. "What we have to do is to make sure that after the let down of Tulip Time they take the few minutes necessary to vote."

Each plea to vote is followed by a request for the voter to bring along a friend.

"The country will be watching how western Michigan supports my father, so we need a strong showing," he said.

A waitress in Russ' asks if he would like to see a menu and Jack's "President Ford" button catches her eye.

"Did you see the President Saturday?" she asks.

"This is his son, Jack," someone says.

"Oh, then 4 guess you did," she chuckles. I thought you looked familiar."

Jack admits that the fact he isn't always readily recognized, is no handicap. "It doesn't really matter," he says reassuringly.

Many people wondered if Jack was a Tulip Time leftover. "Susan gets the fun jobs; I come in when the festivities are over. The stars come in on Saturday and I come in on Monday," he says.

He's also campaigning, he says, to repay his father for "all he's done for me." He admits that if he weren't campaigning he would rather be pursuing a career in forestry but since 95 per cent of the jobs are federal government the nepotism law applies.

Traveling with an entourage of secret service agents, Jack admits that he has been living out of the back seat of the car. "We just got through cleaning up all the McDonald's wrappers."

The number of agents traveling with him is kept classified but he admits that he has adjusted to their constant surveillance.

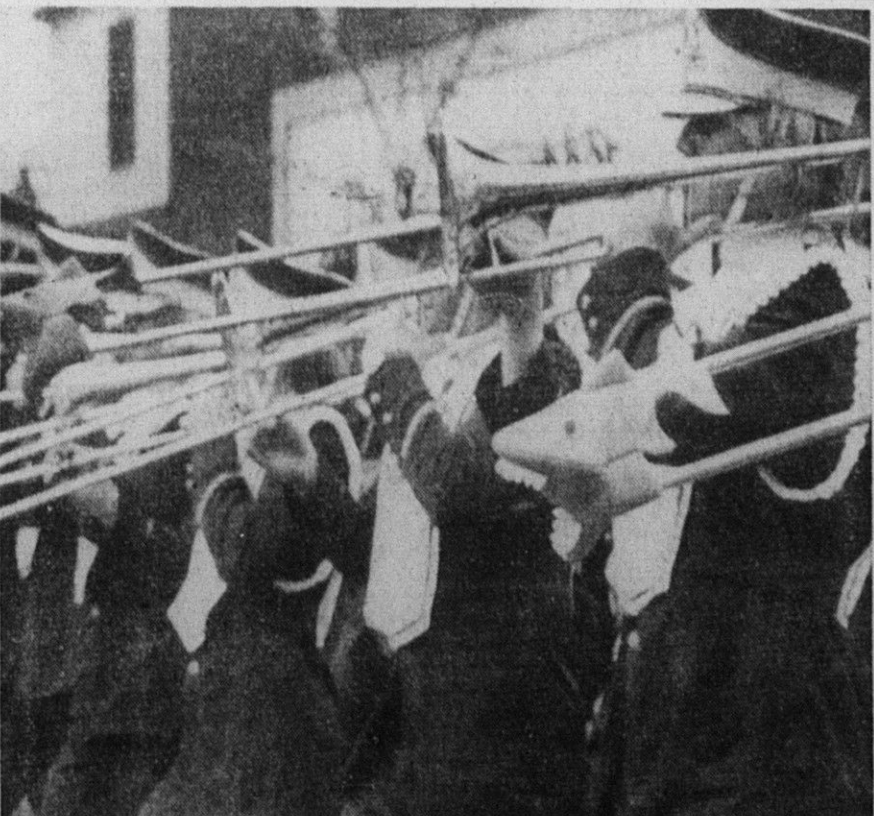

"Usually when I'm in a residence, they don't come inside but they watch outside."

The secret service men agree that within the limits of their guidelines they try to provide him with as much freedom as possible. "He's cooperative," one adds.

Though President and Mrs. Ford will have secret service protection for the rest of their lives, the children will not. "Then freedom," exclaims the 24-year-old bachelor.

Linked with starlets who have been accused of courting his friendship for publicity, Jack gallantly explains that in most instances it is not true. "Pointing the finger at Bianca Jagger is unfair. The pictures were released by someone behind the scenes."

Jack vividly recalls watching Tulip Time parades as a young-

Top Athletes College Bound
Any college athletic recruiter would love to have a lineup of Scott Tubergan, Doug Wabeke, Brian Bouwens, Kathy Arendsen, Dave Van Langevelde, Mike Busscher, Phyllis Kramer, Sue Bush, Dawn Israels, Sally Rozeboom or Pat Lunderberg.

The above are just some of many outstanding senior athletes from Holland, Holland Christian, West Ottawa, Zeeland and Hamilton, that will be displaying their athletic talents in college this fall.

We might miss a few athletes that will be participating in college sports but we thought it would be worthwhile to mention where the ones who do know may be playing college sports in 1976-77.

Tubergan, a two-time West Ottawa all-state selection received a full ride football scholarship to Western Michigan University and Holland's Bouwens a grant-in-aid to Hillsdale.

Some of the other athletes that we'll mention, will receive some type of aid but not nearly as much as Tubergan and Bouwens.

West Ottawa's Dave Beckman may play football and compete in swimming at Michigan Tech. Sam Angell will play football and participate in field events at Tech.

Harry Nelis is heading south to South Bend, Ind., Notre Dame University, to try his luck in swimming. Swimmer Mike Murphy is undecided between Central Michigan University, Michigan State University and Grand Valley State Colleges.

Sally Coppersmith plans on trying out for basketball and softball at CMU and Kramer for basketball at Hope College.

Ron Wetherbee, counselor said, "there could be some other athletes planning on going out for college sports but that's all the ones we're aware of."

Holland Christian
Ed Heethuis, counselor at Holland Christian reports that tennis player Dan Pott, and soccer players Dennis Nagelkirk, Ron Geerlings, Scott Wesseldyke, Tim Kiekover and Terry Eggeboom, will be attending Calvin College.

Geerlings and Kiekover are also expected to run in track while Linda Waterway and Denise Vandenbosch, will probably go out for both softball and basketball at Calvin.

Norm Geerlings is a softball prospect at Hope while Dave DeVries could end up running in track at Calvin or West Point.

Calvin is also seeking the services of both Arendsen and Van Langevelde. Although Van Langevelde may go there or to Hope to play round ball, Arendsen, will probably end up at GVSC. Arendsen is definitely the best pitcher in the area and is also a fine basketball cager.

Holland High
Gordon Van Wylen is the president of Hope College but his son Dave could end up at St. Olaf in Minnesota.

Pat Lunderberg, gymnastics and track flash, plans on attending Hope College.

Mary Long of Holland, is expected to participate in tennis at Michigan and Deb Mulder at Hope College. Ann Price may play on the women's track team at U-M.

Much sought after Loren Schrottenboer, has been accepted at Hope but may wind up at Lake Superior State. Schrottenboer would be a prize catch for the Dutchmen and we would hate to see him get away.

Another Dutch round ball star — Dennis Lawson will try the hardcourt at Dartmouth in the Ivy League. Lawson hopes to do as well as ex-West Ottawa flash Lynn Loncki did while playing for Cornell.

Ross Nykamp will make a name for himself in football at Hope, as Coach Ray Smith gathered this prize prospect. Jim Voogd plans on playing tennis and Steve Serrano baseball for the Flying Dutchmen.

Planning on attending Grand Valley State Colleges is basketball whiz Sue Bush. Bush might also try her luck in softball for the Lakers.

Sally Rozeboom will try her hand in basketball and softball at CMU and Bill Borgman and Tom Borgman in tennis for the Chippewas. Ron Brondyke will play football at Hope.

Dawn Israels figures to be a great assist in both basketball and track at Michigan Tech while Kerri Armstrong plans on playing round ball at near-by Northern Michigan University.

Rick Elzinga and Joe Fojtik have indicated they will go out for football at Grand Rapids JC and Dale Boven in wrestling and tennis at Muskegon Community College. Tracey Driesenga may also play tennis at CMU.

Van Wylen could end up at Hope like his Holland teammate Todd De Young. Dave Cuperly may also swim at Michigan State.

Rich Walker could compete in track at Ferris State. Kim Kuipers will attend Hope but isn't sure if she'll be a member of a Dutchmen outfit.

Four other Dutch athletes — Paul Nolton, Martha Webb, Teresa Wyckoff and Kathy Oosterbaan haven't decided at this time where they will be performing in the 1976-77 season.

Hamilton High

Four seniors at Hamilton — Mike Busscher, Don Dubbink, Gary Immink and Jerry Overbeek are expected to give their respective colleges help in sports starting this fall.

Busscher will play football and compete in track at Saginaw Valley State while Immink will participate in basketball and baseball for the Dutchmen.

Overbeek will venture into the collegiate ranks in tennis and basketball at Northwestern College in Traverse City and Dubbink in football and wrestling at Ferris State College.

Zeeland High
Ken Postma, assistant athletic director at Zeeland, says the 1976 graduating class has to rank as having some of the most talented seniors ever.

Doug Wabeke, who was voted the most outstanding athlete, has narrowed down his choice to Florida Manatee Junior College, WMU and Grand Rapids JC. Dave Janssen will attend either MSU or GRJC.

Steve Lambert is headed for CMU. Tim Peterson to GVSC or Chicago-Circle. Kevin Schepel to MSU. Dick Schipper to GVSC. Mark Schout to Ferris, Phil Taylor to Hope, Ross Compagner to Ferris, Tom Vanden Heuvel to Ferris, Jon and Paul Vanderlagt to GRJC and Mike Walters to Hope.

Five File Petitions In West Ottawa

The board also adopted "American Industries" as a nine week course in senior high school and approved the redesign of the one year horticulture classes into two semester of indoor plant growing and floral design. A new history text was also adopted.

Henson announced that the vote of secretaries, clerical assistants and school aides to organize was defeated by a vote of 41 no to 36 yes. Henson explained that another vote cannot be held for 12 months.

The superintendent also reported that a telephone survey is under way in the district to answer questions about the June 14 millage issue. Henson noted that it was an attempt to reach each home in the district with a registered voter. Call backs will also be made on election day to remind residents to vote.

Carl Schaftenaar and Henson will attend the visitation of special education schools in the district on May 25.

Asst. Supt. Peter Roon reported that the district had received approval of funds for $75,000 for the summer migrant program which will employ 33 full and parttime people for the anticipated 133 students.

Wayne Nyboer, principal at Pine Creek and North Holland presented background on the elementary schools biennial tour held recently. A synopsis version of the projects and programs were presented following the meeting in the gym.

Tulip Time Sidelights

Chuck Conrad, an ardent supporter of President Ford, put up special welcome signs at the Thermotron plant on West 12th St. viewed easily by all persons touring tulip lane through Kollen Park.

"Welkom President Ford and other Tulip Time Visitors" the sign on both the north and west sides of the plant read.

Karen Barber, the "nurse of the year" riding in a convertible in Saturday's parade had a bouquet of tulips in her arm. As the parade rounded the curve near Kollen Park she noticed a crippled girl in a wheelchair. She asked the driver to stop, got out of the car and gave the tulips to the girl. Spectators nearby cheered.

The Charlotte High School Band, one of the more durable bands performing in the band review well over 25 years, won a No. 1 rating again this year at the big band review at Riverview Park Saturday afternoon, which held to schedule despite a gentle rain.

Other bands in the invitational event winning top ratings were John Glenn High School Band of Westland, Owosso High School Band, South Haven High School Band, Jenison High School Band, Chippewa Hills High School Band, Corunna High School Band, Columbia Central Band and Lee High School Band.

Winning second division were Zeeland, Allegan, Hudsonville and the L. M. Powers High School Band.

Henry Vander Linde was band review chairman.

Roger Stroh, chairman of Saturday's Parade of Bands, rode in the last car in the last division.

He said the parade started promptly at 3:30 p.m. from Columbia and Eighth and took 47 minutes to reach the terminal point at 24th and Van Raalte. It took two hours and 10 minutes to pass a given point.

Local school bands, once completing the line of march, were assigned to various places along the parade route to play appropriate music as the President passed. Band directors arranged transportation, some bands by bus and some on foot.

Holland Christian High Band played at Eighth and River, West Ottawa High School at Eighth and Pine, Holland High at Civic Center, E. E. Fell Eighth Grade at the VFW Hall, West Ottawa Seventh Grade at the triangle of Eighth and Ninth, Christian High Elementary at Kollen Park, E. E. Fell Ninth Grade at Kandu at 13th and Van Raalte, West Ottawa Ninth Grade at 16th and Van Raalte, Christian Middle School at Van Raalte School, and West Ottawa Eighth Grade at 22nd and Van Raalte.

Stroh said a special thank-you goes to property owners who allowed bands on their property, and to the street department which "knocked itself out" putting up stakes and ropes for the areas, no easy job on a parade route choked with visitors estimated at a quarter million or more.

All the way from New York state came the Holland High School Flying Dutch Band of Holland, N. Y., a community half as large as Zeeland located 25 miles south of Buffalo. Band Director Carl Stith said the band has been raising funds for over two years to pay $6,000 in expenses.

Surprisingly, Holland, N. Y., is not Dutch, it's Polish. The band marched in the sixth division, two bands ahead of President Ford.

Bob Powell, director of the Charlotte High School Band, retiring this year after directing the band for 33 years, received a special plaque at the Band Review Saturday. The Charlotte band has been in the Tulip Time band review for 36 years.

Lee High School was awarded a special 25th anniversary plaque during the presentations at the Band Review Saturday.

Also awarded a special plaque was W. A. Butler and The Holland Evening Sentinel.

The young national guardsman manning an intersection along the parade route Saturday related the bad news to his pretty wife seated in the crowd.

"They just told us we can't watch the President," he moaned. "We have to watch the crowd." The situation was an obvious disappointment to him.

Whether he performed his duty or peeked at the President will go unrecorded in The Sentinel.

This reporter was too excited watching the president to watch what the guardsman was watching.

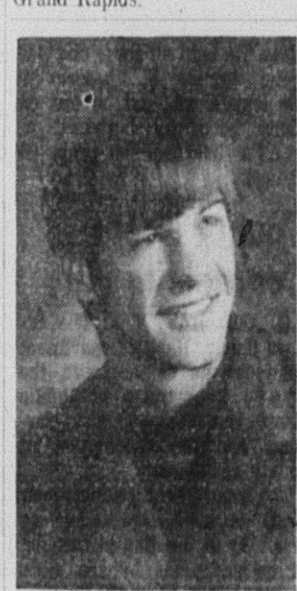

Jimmy Carter's son, Jack, was reportedly campaigning for his father Saturday, on Eighth St. between River and Central Ave.

Hannes Meyers of Zeeland, chairman of the 9th GOP district, rode on the Presidential Express Saturday from Kalamazoo to Niles, and chatted briefly with President Ford just before he boarded a helicopter for Holland and the Tulip Time Parade of Bands.

"Crowds were large and enthusiastic in Kalamazoo and Niles, but probably nothing like the parade crowds in Holland which I was sorry to miss," Hannes said.

He added that the weather cleared after an all-day drizzle just as the President and First Lady left for Holland.

A scrapbook about President Ford and Betty Ford since 1943 made a hit with the First Lady at Saturday's parade. Beth Barton of Holland, formerly of Grand Rapids, compiled the scrapbook and one large colored picture of the Fords attracted Mrs. Ford's attention. Alicia Harris of Grand Rapids was holding the book open to that page and when the President's car passed her, Mrs. Ford leaned over and snapped a picture of the little girl, Mrs. Barton and Mrs. Ford were models in Grand Rapids.

ENLISTS IN NAVY — Wayne Plank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Plank, 9980 Bingham St., Zeeland, has enlisted in the U.S. Navy's delayed enlistment program. Plank will enter the Seafarer program when he leaves for active duty in June. He is a senior at Zeeland High School.

Seminary Graduates 41 Seniors

"Man is no longer a chance creature in the texture of time, he must will to risk and thrill to create!"

With these words, Dr. Samuel Terrien, Davenport Professor of Hebrew at Union Theological Seminary in New York City, addressed the 100th graduating class of Western Seminary Monday night in Dimnent Memorial Chapel.

Speaking on the subject "The Renewal of the True Elite," Terrien based his address on the Biblical passage found in I Peter 2:5, 9, stating "we have now entered a planetary age, and we are witnessing the headlong clash of opposing forces. This is true in the economic, political, cultural, and religious spheres of life. In the presence of a global society which witnesses some withdrawal from technology, and which exhibits social formalism compared to eccentric individualism, the Christian church is called to create the renewal of a true elite."

He defined the true elite as those who inseminate tomorrow and plant the seed of the future. "We are called out," he declared, "to prepare the next century, to prepare by God's grace that there will be a next century."

He described the graduates as aristocrats who should transcend man's categories to proclaim God's kingdom, describing them as the leaves of a new elite. He quoted Karl Barth, "The Gospel of Jesus Christ always goes against the grain of secularism."

Dr. I. John Hesselink, Western's president, presided and academic dean Elton M. Eenigenburg, announced the names of the candidates. The colorful hooding ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Ronald Geschwendt, a member of Western's Board of Trustees and pastor of the First Reformed Church of Zeeland.

Professor Roger J. Rietberg of the Hope College Music Department was organist. Thirty-eight graduates were awarded the Master of Divinity degree, two were given Master of Religious Education degrees, and one was awarded the degree of Master of Theology.

City Council Okays Election

Hospital Authority Vote Slated Aug. 3

City Council passed the necessary resolutions Wednesday night to set in motion a public vote for a Holland Hospital Authority at the Aug. 3 primary.

Specifically, the proposals list Holland city and the townships of Park, Holland, Laketown and Fillmore as associates in the authority but the vote to be effective need embrace only Holland city and at least one other governmental unit.

Atty. Jack Marquis who was serving as associate city attorney at the time the authority study was undertaken explained that the Aug. 3 vote would be in three parts (1) the authority, (2) repealing chapter 13 of the city charter concerning the city hospital, and (3) amending the charter to provide for an authority.

In other business, Council passed an ordinance amendment prohibiting pets in city parks with the exception of dogs for the physically handicapped. The measure passed 7-1, Mayor Hallacy dissenting not because he did not favor control but he felt enforcement would be most difficult and he does not want to clutter up the books with ordinances which cannot be enforced.

Councilman Hazen Van Kampen, who proposed the ordinance a few weeks ago, expressed the hope that enforcement would not be left only to the dog catcher, but that police would help inform pet owners that city parks are off limits. Councilman Bea Westrate said she had heard from many supporters and said such an ordinance not only was to alleviate "messes" but as a lover of dogs, she is concerned with contagions, not only to other dogs but also to persons.

A letter from William W. Coupe pointed out that it would appear Council would prohibit persons from transporting dogs, cats or other domestic animals by motor vehicle through a public park. He also suggested that posts without signs on South Shore Dr. be used to post the ordinance.

A request from LABRO Co. for permission to install a man-sard-type overhang at 107 East Eighth St. was granted subject to a revocable license similar to

Township Okays Fire District

SAUGATUCK — Residents of Saugatuck township, including the villages of Saugatuck and Douglas, approved creation of a township fire district Tuesday. The vote was 499 in favor and 162 against.

Fire departments in Saugatuck and Douglas have been responding to fires in the township on a per fire basis and creation of the fire district will spread the fire protection over the township with township residents paying a tax to support the fire department.

Details in the formation of the fire district governing board are being worked out and the tax levy has not been determined.

Township voters Tuesday also approved continuation of a road improvement assessment of one mill for five years, 410 to 245.

Mayor Hallacy said it was one more example of the erosion of home rule at the hands of the state which formerly let home rule cities make their own determination of all liquor licenses. He said the city still controls table top licenses in which liquor is sold by the glass. He said all these changes come through bill passed by the legislature, and he has on many occasions appeared at state hearings on proposed changes.

BPW Hikes Approved By Council

Increases in utility rates effective July 1 and thereafter, were approved unanimously by City Council Wednesday night.

A detailed rate structure was submitted by Frank Whitney, general manager of the Board of Public Works, generally calling for 10 per cent in electrical service and wastewater treatment and 11.3 per cent in water service.

Councilman Kenneth Beelen expressed regret that rates were increasing but saw no other alternative. Councilman Russell De Vette said Holland's rates even with increases are still lower than in other communities.

A transfer of $2,500 for waste treatment equipment for the Board of Public Works also was approved.

Council also unanimously approved continuing a summer Comprehensive Employment and Training Program (CETA) sponsored by Ottawa county for the employment of economically disadvantaged youths 14 to 21 years old. It was indicated there is no cost to the city for participating in the federally funded CETA program which is operated from June 1 to Aug. 31.

De Vette expressed some concern that CETA people may take the place of regular employees but City Manager Terry Hofmeyer said most are seasonally employed in the summer recreation program and at Windmill Island.

The city manager reported on previous action which referred to him for study a communication from the Liquor Control Commission on an application for a new SDD license at 20 West Eighth St. He reported that the Department of Environmental Health, police department and city treasurer had indicated no objections to the proposed new license.

Council voted 6-2, with Al Kleis and Hazen Van Kampen dissenting, to forward the information to the Liquor Control Commission, following a discussion which brought out that the city has no real voice in such licenses which are issued by the state. LCC Communications to City Council deal only with compliance to city ordinances, etc.

Mayor Hallacy said it was one more example of the erosion of home rule at the hands of the state which formerly let home rule cities make their own determination of all liquor licenses. He said the city still controls table top licenses in which liquor is sold by the glass. Ironstone Topic At Quester Meet

The Etta Fox Chapter of Questers met Monday at the home of Mrs. A. W. Vanderbush. Mrs. C. Neal Wiersema was co-hostess.

Mrs. Vanderbush, an authority on antiques, presented a program on "Ironstone." Ironstone was first made in England by Miles Mason, a potter, who began making ceramics about 1780. His son Charles took out a patent in 1813 for a stoneware containing iron slag, ground in water to a powder and mixed with ground flint, feldspar and other ingredients. The iron slag was a refuse from blast furnaces. Mason called it ironstone. Other companies copied this popular table ware.

Mason's patent found acceptance by all English potters. Royalties were paid to the Mason families for 40 years. In 1851 the Mason Ironstone patent and designs were sold. The new companies were more successful than the Masons in exploiting the tableware.

Throughout the 19th century great quantities were imported to America and a number of factories here began making such ware. It gained popularity over other wares as it was cheaper. Around the turn of the century the Beach Milling Company of Holland included a blue-flo stoneware dish in their boxes of cereals.

By the beginning of the 20th century Ironstone went completely out of vogue except as hotel china. When Hollywood stars such as Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor began collecting ironstone for their ranch houses, all types of this ware became popular again. Now it is seen in antique shops at very advanced prices.

Mt. Pleasant Shows Great Hospitality

Mayor Lou Hallacy had a great time in Mt. Pleasant on Mayor Exchange Day Monday.

"They are really great people, and I learned a lot of new ideas, many of which can be put to use in Holland," the mayor said.

It was a matter of exchange hospitality for Holland and Mt. Pleasant. Mt. Pleasant Mayor Ed Johnson and Commissioner Carol Scherer and their spouses spent Friday of Tulip Time in Holland, and experienced the excitement not only of the festival but the developments that went with President Ford's plans to visit Holland Saturday.

Hallacy and his wife and Councilmen Donald Oosterbaan and Hazen Van Kampen and their wives, were hosted at a reception Sunday evening by city officials and staff and on Monday toured several industries and the State Hospital for Mentally Retarded and Handicapped People. They also toured the campus of Central Michigan University, Clark Memorial Library and the new physical education center. A community lunch was held at noon.

In the evening, Mayor Hallacy chaired the entire meeting of City Council as acting mayor.

Two Holland area safety patrolers will be among 90 patrolers from Michigan traveling to Washington D. C. as guests of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

They are Jeffrey Thompson, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Thompson, 328 West 18th St., a student at St. Francis de Sales school, and Jack Ensing, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ensing, 2849 Woodlawn Ct., a patroler at Lincoln School in Zeeland.

The 90 taking part in the trip May 19 - 23 were chosen by the Auto Club from among 55,000 safety patrolers in 2,400 schools in Michigan.

The first leg of the journey takes students by chartered bus to Gettysburg, Pa., and then to Washington. In Washington the group is to visit the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, Arlington National Cemetery and the Washington monument among other memorials and buildings.

The Auto Club has sponsored trips for the state's top patrolers each year since 1937. This year's trip marks a return to Washington after a seven-year absence during which students journeyed to the annual Canadian National Safety Patrol Rally in Ottawa.

Eight Injured In 2-Car Crash

Eight persons riding in one car were injured in a collision Saturday at 6:31 p.m. at James St. and US-31. All were treated in Holland Hospital and released.

Ottawa county deputies said a car driven by Rodolfo Labao, 36, of Mt. Clemens, was eastbound on James and pulled into the path of a car southbound on US-31 driven by Christopher Thomas, 19, of Muskegon Heights.

All the injured were in the Labao car and included Labao; Elisa Labao, 35; Ronald Labao, 2; Alfredo Orozco, 30; Dominga Orozco, 30; Ramon Orozco, 3; Thelma Rodriguez, 29; and Antonio Navarro, 4.

Whitney said higher electric rates would bring in an additional $200,000 from residential customers and another $300,000 from commercial and industrial users. An additional $70,000 would come from the higher water rates and $64,000 from the waste water rates.

The BPW said it would work with industry on a program to keep peak electrical use periods down in controlling demand for electric power. Whitney said such a peak period use plan for residential customers would be done only at the satisfaction of the customer.

"If he is not satisfied with the demand program we can't do it," explained Whitney.
