Township Studies Dial-A-Ride Plan

The Holland township board Thursday heard reports on possible expansion of Dial-A-Ride service into the township and purchase of a replacement vehicle for the township E unit.

Supervisor Jacob Jongekrijg said he had received several calls from township residents asking for the service similar to what is being operated in Holland city.

Jongekrijg said representatives of the townships and Holland city planned another meeting Monday with Zeeland aides to discuss the matter.

The sheriff's department in a letter, told the board that the E unit was in its third and final year of a federal grant and that the supporting townships would have to replace the primary E unit vehicle within the coming year.

The board adopted a resolution pertaining to construction of sanitary sewers as part of an area wide wastewater collection and treatment system.

A hearing was set June 16 at 7:30 p.m. for expansion of a water district in the area of Paw Paw Dr., Chicago Dr. and 164th Ave.

The board adopted an Equal Employment Opportunity resolution to pave the way for participation in the CETA jobs program.

A request for a SDM beer and wine takeout license for a proposed convenience food store near the northeast corner of Butternut Dr. and James St. was tabled until the June 16 board meeting.

The board rejected a planning commission recommendation to deny a rezoning change requested by Kirk Steketee for a doctor's office in a residential neighborhood and sent the matter back to the planning commission.

Steketee now operates a chiropractic office from his residence and proposes to vacate the residence and convert the structure into full use as a doctor's office.

Petitions for a street light district were received from residents in the Dunbrook Acres subdivision north of James St. and east of Beeline.

The planning commission reported on two situations developing in violation of the township ordinances.

Trustee Lloyd Van Doornik said a business was operating from a temporary trailer while a permanent building is under construction but use of the temporary trailer was in violation of township codes.

Van Doornik said the codes also prohibit the deposit of fly ash in the township, even in driveways and indicated a possible change in the code to allow such uses.

The board received a request to rezone about one and one half acres of property along Felch St. west of 136th Ave. to allow multifamily uses and the board agreed with a judgment with the state tax tribunal concerning tax assessments and taxes levied against the U. S. Industries Big Dutchman property near Zeeland which recently was sold to John Thomas Batts of Zeeland.

Police Notes

Jewel Mayberry, address unknown, reported the theft of winter clothes, valued at $100, and car registration and proof of insurance from his car parked in the parking lot of Eddie's Bar, 129 East Eighth St. at 9:47 p.m. Tuesday, according to Holland police.

State Economy Cheers Damman

By Cornelia Van Voorst
Lt. Gov. James J. Damman, in Holland on a brief visit Wednesday, is finding much to be encouraged over Michigan's economic picture.

Representing Gov. William Milliken in visits to study economic development in Michigan, the lieutenant governor said the move to the sunbelt state over the last few years has become less and less interesting to a lot of businesses which moved to escape high labor costs and organized labor problems, only to find rising tax rates and new labor organization.

"Michigan has a lot going for it," the lieutenant governor said. "We have an advantageous location, access to markets, raw materials and natural resources, and we have a stable political and social overall economic climate. Don't underrate our economic potential."

Damman was in Grand Haven Wednesday noon addressing the Committee for Economic Development, and then visited the Holland Sentinel and its new publisher, Donald Skoglund.

He is carrying out a program begun by Gov. Milliken who has always taken an interest in Michigan's economic health, and Damman usually spends a day a week, sometimes two days, in studying local situations in areas all over the state.

News like last week's groundbreaking at Holland Life Savers for a $15 million addition was music to Damman's ears.

"That's the sort of thing we're encouraging in Michigan—jobs for Michigan people... that's the bottom line!" he said.

He spoke of the measures the state has adopted to make Michigan a more attractive place to do business, to encourage new business to locate here, and existing businesses to expand. And dialogue with people through the media helps, he said.

On other subjects, Damman fully recognizes the serious problem confronting area people over possible use of the St. Augustine Seminary as a medium security prison facility.

"The prison population in Michigan next year will be in excess of 15,000 and our capacity in the present system is roughly 12,000, leading to serious problems in terms of controls and management.

"Many areas have been studied and some would welcome such a prison, but do not have facilities available for quick use. Planning and other work would take up to five years and the need is now.

"I suppose our main alternative is to scour the state for facilities that can be quickly and practically used for such a prison. St. Augustine Seminary meets those specifications, but I also understand the sharp concern of people living in the area.

"The prison issue is currently in the hands of the joint capital outlay committee consisting of both House and Senate members. It needs favorable action by this group, and if such is forthcoming a bill would be presented in the House or Senate. Ultimately the entire legislature would vote on the appropriation. The governor, of course, has veto power. The Corrections Department wants quick action, but the legislature has no schedule," he said.

As for Damman's future in politics, it's all interesting, and he is available.

"Senator Robert Griffin's decision not to run again has sparked political interest all over Michigan much earlier than usual," he said. "Yes, I am very interested in what Gov. Milliken will do, whether he will be a candidate for reelection or for the Senate. I have some interest in whatever office the governor will not be running for, but that is not to preclude my running again for lieutenant governor."

The lieutenant governor is concerned over the issue to change the drinking age to 19 from 18 and his feelings are mixed. "I was very much in favor of giving 18-year-olds their full rights when that issue came up a few years ago, but now I am concerned about developments, and I am prepared however reluctantly to accept reality if the law is changed. There probably will be no action until fall."

On the abortion issue, Damman has a clear record on the issue, adhering to the belief that taking human life is wrong. "I am concerned over resolving the issue in Michigan's constitution, and I would like to have it resolved in another way. I don't see the Senate passing the current resolution."

And Damman expects the legislature will adjourn in late June or early July.

Court Halts Prison Plan

By Paul Van Kolken

ALLEGAN — The Prison Action Committee (PAC) won a preliminary injunction in Allegan Circuit Court Wednesday temporarily preventing the state from proceeding with plans to acquire and develop St. Augustine seminary for a medium security prison.

The court action prevents the state from exercising its option to buy the 550-acre Lake Michigan property in Laketown township, stops additional planning for the conversion and ends further discussion or meetings on the project.

A planned meeting in Saugatuck Friday called by the state to discuss with the public the environmental impact statement has been cancelled, the Department of Management and Budget said in Lansing this morning.

But attorneys for PAC and the state said Wednesday after the injunction was granted they were not sure what meetings were affected by the court action.

PAC attorney Lewis Drain said he was "pleased" with the restraining order.

Assistant Attorney General Mark Blumer said today in his Lansing office he has not received a copy of the order and has not decided whether to appeal the restraining order.

"The point the judge made was that he isn't convinced that there isn't a significant issue here and his injunction was an effort to preserve the status quo pending a trial," Blumer added.

Circuit Court Judge George Corsiglia said trial in the matter would be held in July or August.

The restraining order was against the Department of Corrections, its director, Perry Johnson and the Department of Management and Budget. The order was sought by PAC, a group of area citizens who oppose the planned medium security prison.

PAC contended in the suit that information and documents pertaining to meetings and decisions concerning the proposed conversion were not properly furnished under terms of the Freedom of Information Act and the Open Meetings Act.

Drain claimed in court some documents still had not been furnished by state agencies.

The court said those would be some of the matters dealt with during the trial.

In his summary Corsiglia said the state Freedom of Information Act apparently was patterned after the Federal statute but does not contain exemptions in the federal act or the same definitions as the federal act.

"I don't disagree with the philosophy of the act," said the court. "I don't think the legislature thought out the procedures and did not lay out guidelines for request of information as thoroughly as the federal statute."

He criticized the Department of Corrections officials who were aware of the state act but decided on their own which items could be made available to PAC.

"The day has come when government cannot act by itself without answering to the people," he court continued.

He pointed to conflicts within state departments regarding exemption of material for release and said some items considered classified by the Corrections Department were released by the Department of Management and Budget.

In his summation Drain claimed the public should be allowed participation in decision making processes by state agencies before commitments are made and the only way for citizens to take part is to be informed of all meetings pertaining to the issue.

Charles Hackney, one of two lawyers from the attorney general's office, claimed the court had the authority under the act to order compliance with the act but lacked the injunctive powers.

During testimony at the hearing which began at 1:30 p.m. and was a continuation of a June 2 hearing, Herbert C. De Jonge, deputy director of the management and budget bureau, explained the 13 special units in his department scattered in ten locations in Lansing and the procedures for obtaining information from each.

He said it took 16 persons about 100 man hours to prepare the documents requested by PAC at a cost of $1,300.

One of the items requested by PAC and not received were blueprints of the seminary septic tank drain field and De Jonge said they were not in his office.

He explained they were used by a state appraiser but later said the Augustinian fathers had requested the prints not be made public.

He also said the state's option for the property has been extended into October.

Dr. Barry Mintzes, administrative aide to the corrections department, testified he handled the PAC request for information from his department and under questioning by the court defended a decision not releasing a draft program statement concerning the seminary property.

Drain questioned whether a draft copy or working papers of the proposed program statement existed before a May 19 meeting at which the St. Augustine statement was adopted by the Corrections Commission.

Mintzes said the draft was available May 4 and not furnished to PAC because the draft was subject to change until the Corrections Department acted on it.

"To give out the (draft) information would have been inappropriate," he maintained.

"If we had released the draft program statement it could have been misinterpreted by the public and could create problems if the statement was changed before official action was taken," Mintzes explained.

"Is not input of the public important," asked the court.

"Yes," replied Mintzes, "but after the program statement has been acted on by the department then there is public response."

"How can the public give input," the court asked. After a pause the court made his own reply. "They can't."

Drain asked why the corrections department could not supply information on escapes from state prison facilities.

Mintzes said it would be "too burdensome" to compile figures since 1960.

PAC, in its letter to the Corrections Department, asked for "reports, statements, depositions, etc. of all escapes which have occurred" at state correctional facilities since 1960.

Mintzes said he considered the PAC request more inclusive and would have meant a search of 6,000 escape records, studying the files of each prisoner involved to determine which information would be released and contacting other prison personnel.

Drain produced a document furnished by the management and budget office listing the escape figures.

The hearing lasted for more than four hours in the courtroom whose limited seating was filled with an estimated 50 to 60 persons.

Saturday Deadline for Absentee Ballots

Saturday is the deadline for obtaining absentee ballots for the annual school election of Holland district Monday, June 13. The city clerk's office in City Hall will be open Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The clerk's office is open through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m.

City Clerk D. W. Schipper said 120 absent voter ballots have been issued to date. Last year, 209 ballots had been issued through deadline and Schipper expects this year's request will match that figure.

There are two issues on this year's ballot, one calling for 19.7 mills for three years for school operation and the other to elect two trustees to the Holland Board of Education. Two candidates, incumbent A. James Prins and William Coupe, are unopposed.

Deadline for obtaining absentee ballots available in the administrative building of the West Ottawa School district is Saturday at 2 p.m. The office is also open week days from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Although eight names will appear on the ballot as candidates for the positions vacated by Don Ladewig and Louis Van Slooten, only six are actively seeking the posts.

Two candidates, David

Godfrey and John Getz withdrew after filing petitions but announced their decisions too late to remove the names from the ballots.

Seeking the posts are Corneal Israels, Maynard Miedema, Robert Linn Jr., Thomas Wieling, Anna Angell and Wayne Pynnonen.

Also appearing on the ballot will be a request for one mill for five years for a building and site sinking fund.

In an April 18 board resolution the West Ottawa board reduced the 1977 bond indebtedness one mill from the current 5.7 to 4.7 in anticipation that voters would approve the request for one mill.

Supt. Brad Henson stated that reduction of one mill and request for a mill is a transference of funds and will not increase the millage rate.

The deadline for picking up absentee ballots for the Hamilton school election is 4:30 p.m. Friday. For both Saugatuck and Fennville school district elections the deadline for obtaining absentee ballots is 2 p.m. Saturday.

Absentee ballots are available in the superintendent's office

Accident Kills Local Man

A 21-year-old Holland man became Ottawa county's 13th traffic fatality of the year early today after he lost control of his car in Port Sheldon township.

David Scott Meurer, 16145 Riley St., was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident at 3:39 a.m. on Lakeshore Dr., 1/4 mile south of Butternut. Meurer suffered multiple chest and neck injuries, according to Ottawa county sheriff's deputies.

Deputies report Meurer lost control of his vehicle southbound on Lakeshore Dr.,

veered off the right side of the road, crossed the road, went off the left side, striking trees. The accident still is under investigation by police. The Holland-Parktownship E unit, as well as Ottawa county sheriff's deputies assisted at the scene of the accident.

Meurer is Ottawa county's 13th traffic fatality of 1977, compared to 9 at this time last year.

Meurer was born in Holland and was a graduate of Holland Christian High School, employed at Sealed Power in Zeeland. He was a member of

David Scott Meurer

Harderwyk Christian Reformed Church.

Surviving in addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Meurer of Holland are four sisters, Mrs. Milton (Mary) Beelen of Holland, Mrs. Robert (Hope) De Jonge of Jenison, Mrs. Ray (Helen) Lewis Jr. of Grand Blanc, Mrs. James (Dorothy) Quick of Austin, Texas and two brothers, James R. Meurer of Austin and Ned R. Meurer of Battle Creek.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. from Harderwyk Christian Reformed Church with the Rev. Lawrence Veltkamp officiating. Burial will be in Lakewood cemetery.

Relatives will meet in the church basement at 1:15 p.m. Friends may call tonight and Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Noter-Ver Lee-Langeland Chapel.

An auto driven by James M. Spencer, 19, 669 Lincoln, hit a parked car owned by Sharon Mahood, 183 East 28th St. while traveling west on 28th St. east of Columbia Ave. at 2:47 p.m. Tuesday.

EPA Threatens Area Sewer Plan

The federal government has tossed a potential stumbling block that could force the abandonment of the area wide wastewater treatment program under study by Holland city and the townships of Holland, Park and Laketown, the Board of Public Works was informed Monday.

BPW general manager

Frank Whitney said the Environmental Protection Agency apparently has decided that governmental units must show a potential health hazard exists before federal funds will be available for a wastewater treatment project.

Whitney said the apparent ruling appears to be a reversal of previous EPA philosophy. BPW officials and representatives of the townships are to meet with EPA officials in Grand Rapids next week Tuesday to clarify the latest EPA ruling and Whitney said if the restrictions are true, it could spell the end to the local program.

Under the timetable for completion of the various steps in the federal program, final plans are to be submitted by July 1 for application for construction funds.

But Whitney said the apparent new guidelines will require a survey of each septic tank system in the townships to determine contamination and health problems.

The time required for such a survey would make it impossible for Holland to meet the July 1 deadline for its project, Whitney said.

The project was designed to install a sanitary sewer collection system in the areas immediate to Lake Macatawa and expand the treatment facilities in Holland.

In other business the BPW recommended two water expansion projects to city council. One would be in Maple Ave. between 34th and 35th Sts. and 35th St. from Washington Ave. to Maple. The other would be in 40th St. between College and Columbia Aves.

The BPW recommended adjustments in water and wastewater rates for persons who let their water tap run to prevent frozen water pipes during the past winter.

The adjustments were allowed only to those customers who applied for the rebates in writing.

The average adjustment for the quarterly billing for wastewater will be $14.29 while the average adjustment in water rates will be $7.03.

A vehicle driven by Dorothy A. Zuverink, 63, RR 2 52nd St., Hamilton, was traveling east on 17th St., where it collided with a vehicle driven by David S. Walters, 19, 381 Fairhill, traveling north on Van Raalte Ave. at 5:40 p.m. Friday.

Medical Education Trends . . .

Trends in medical education with particular regard to family medicine were described by Dr. Donald E. De Witt of Kalamazoo, formerly of Holland, at a Chamber of Commerce Early Bird breakfast this morning in Warm Friend Motor Inn.

Dr. De Witt, who left Holland last year to become family practice coordinator at the Southwestern Michigan Area Health Education Center, said family practice, the newest specialty in the state, aims for continuing comprehensive family care rather than crisis situations.

The family practice residency program which he heads is a three-year post-doctorate training program beyond medical school. There are 317 such residency programs in the United States.

Dr. De Witt said federal goals for 1980 state that 50 per cent of all medical school graduates shall enter primary care by that time, covering family practice, general internal medicine, obstetrics, gynecology and pediatrics.

His current faculty appointment is associate professor of Michigan State University, operating a mini medical school campus encompassing Kalamazoo Borgess and Bronson Hospitals, for both Michigan State University and the University of Michigan.

He said current trends call for increased emphasis on preventive medicine and outpatient care, in an effort to take care of 90 per cent of all health problems, leaving 10 per cent for specialists. Surgery has already been cut 50 per cent in the United States.

The program also is aimed at a redistribution of family care physicians in the country and De Witt hopes that 85 per cent will remain in Michigan, reversing a trend of 85 per cent leaving the state, partly due to high malpractice premiums.

He voiced the opinion that if large city conglomerates of physicians in cities like Chicago, Detroit, New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles were dispersed to smaller communities there would be no shortage.

He warned of encroaching governmental control and said if the private sector cannot do it on its own, these controls will be forthcoming.

He also said the AMA has been unjustly criticized for holding down the number of medical students, that 15 years ago medical schools nationally graduated 6,994 MDs and in 1976 there were 13,561 graduates. He also predicted financial problems in view of the fact that 15 years ago four years of medical training was in the low five figures, whereas today for one year only, the cost is $20,000.

Chamber President Bill Smolenski read a resolution adopted by the board of directors encouraging support of school millage by a "yes" vote at the June 13 election. He also called attention to a Governmental Affairs breakfast June 13 at Beechwood Inn and asked that reservations be made calling Chamber headquarters.

MARCH OF DIMES—Two Kalamazoo doctors involved in March of Dimes programs to prevent birth defects addressed the annual meeting of the Ottawa County chapter Monday at Sandy Point and explained research work being conducted to learn more preventative measures. Left to right are Cal Prince, chapter chairman; Dr. John Hartline, director of the neonatal intensive care unit, Bronson Hospital; Dr. Donald Johnson, chief of pediatrics, Borgess Hospital, and Dr. Derick Lenters, medical advisor to the Ottawa county March of Dimes. Doctors Explain Birth Defect Research by March of Dimes Kalamazoo doctors Donald Johnson and John Hartline, working with infants in Borgess and Bronson Hospitals, explained the importance of March of Dimes work with birth defect prevention Monday at the Ottawa County Chapter's annual meeting.

Dr. Johnson, chief of pediatrics at Borgess, said birthdefect emphasis now is placed on nutrition of the mother and infant, drugs used by the mother, teen aged pregnancies and resources for genetic counseling.

Dr. Hartline, director of neonatal intensive care at Bronson hospital, said the March of Dimes has provided more than $7 million into research and clinical research programs in 1975 to develop and understanding of the birth defect problem and to begin treatment areas that show promise.

In addition $10.5 million was spent on clinical care programs to assure quality life for persons under polio and birth defect care.

The doctors said the March of Dimes was providing education to expand the role of nurses in working with newborns to recognize and deal with birth defect problems earlier.

Loretta De Weerd said $68,600.07 was raised during the 1977 campaign or nearly $3,000 more than 1976.

Maplewood public elementary school received a trophy for raising the most money per capita. Four fourth grade students in Harold J. Mouw's class completed the 15 mile trek in the Walk-A-Thon and raised a total $271.

The West Ottawa Middle school received the traveling trophy for having 42 walkers, the most per capita.

Board members Jean Baker of Allendale and Diana Van Kollen of Holland were cited for their service on the board and elected to the board from Holland were Denise Haiker, Marge Kars, Phyllis Ryzanca and Jan Hann. Elected from Zeeland was Jackie Lawrence.

Officers elected at the annual meeting include Barb Crouse of Nunica as chairman, Marge Kars of Holland as vice chairman, Pat Wiersma of Zeeland as secretary and Denise Haiker as treasurer.

Holland Woman Attends College 70-Year Reunion

There were seven members present—one of them was Mrs. Herbert W. Hines of Holland.

The occasion was the 70th class reunion of the 1907 graduating class of Mt. Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass.

Mrs. Hines, who is 90 years old and lives at Resthaven with her husband (he'll be 90 in August), was the youngest in that 1907 class of 186 graduates. Only 18 are still living and the seven who gathered for the reunion considered the turnout a good one.

Mrs. Hines' daughter, Mrs. Louis Schuler of Clear Lake, Iowa, drove her mother to Massachusetts for the reunion, which took place May 27 and 28 on the college campus. They also spent several days visiting relatives in the Boston area.

Mr. and Mrs. Hines have lived in Holland for about 12 years. He served on the Hope College faculty.

Mrs. Hines, a mother of 10 children, two girls and eight boys (nine are living), won recognition in 1948 when she was named American Mother of the Year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hines have left for Shelby, where they will spend the summer at their cottage. Mrs. Schuler took them to Shelby before returning to her home in Iowa.

Doll Room Is New Museum Feature

By Dorothy Voss

A stunning new permanent display has been opened in Zeeland Historical Museum.

Viewed for the first time at a recent meeting of Zeeland Historical Society, the Doll Room featured Mrs. James C. De Pree's collection of hand-made Dutch costume dolls. They are displayed in a large, permanent case.

During a trip to the Netherlands in 1970, Mrs. De Pree researched provincial costumes and fabrics at various museums, including the Groningen and Arnhem Open-Air Museums. After returning to Zeeland, she constructed each of the 19 dolls individually, including hand-crafted heads and appropriate hair styles to blend with the distinctive headgear.

The dolls range in size from 16 to 23 inches, excellent sizes for displaying the colorful costumes.

Provinces represented include Overijssel, with a plaid shawl and flat cap with gold ornament, and Drenthe with a sedate black taffeta dress and checked apron. The cap is similar to that of Overijssel.

Groningen is represented by three dolls. A typical costume features a print dress with bell sleeves, lace apron and large lace bib. Her headpiece resembles a short bridal veil.

Another Groningen grande dame wears a brown taffeta dress and black lace shawl representing a Parisian import popular for a time in the Netherlands. The third wears a large cape over her print dress.

The Utrecht doll wears a severe black dress and hat, with white collar and cuffs, typical of women in 17th century Dutch paintings, the Golden Age of Dutch Art.

North Brabant is represented by mother and daughter. Mother wears an elaborate black dress and large white headpiece trimmed with flowers. Her daughter wears a plain black dress, checked pinafore and a plain black hat to show that she is unmarried.

Two Zeeland dolls display Protestant and Roman Catholic garb. A slight difference in the construction of the cap indicates the difference, although both wear the distinctive gold "blindens." Another portion of Zeeland province, Vlaanderen, is depicted by a woman in black and beige, carrying her Bible and woolen shawl to church.

A spirited Limburg doll sports a ruffled cap, a bodice with a bustle and a large apron.

More familiar costumes are worn by dolls representing Marken and Volendam. One Volendam doll carries a bolt of cloth for making new petticoats.

Two Friesland dolls display sharply varying styles - one almost Scandinavian in DUTCH DOLL DISPLAY—A fascinating display for doll admirers of all ages is the new permanent collection of dolls in Zeeland Historical Museum. appearance (except for her ice skates) and another distinctly Dutch with an unusual close-fitting head-dress.

The woman from Gelderland wears a plain black dress with plaid crossed-over bodice, and a simple cap with gold decoration.

The remaining doll represents South Holland, and appears in a fine black dress with fringed collar and a lace hat.

Answer School Items

The Holland School District's Hot Line, designed to answer citizen questions concerning school operations, funding and needs in preparation for the school millage election, has received a number of calls since the Hot Line was established.

Questions received from the callers were routed to appropriate administrative office personnel for answers which were given usually within 24 hours.

Among the questions and comments received and answers given between May 15 and June 3 were the following:

Comment: There are at least 2,000 students attending the Christian schools and the state gives money for each child to the public school district. How can there be a shortage of money when the public schools are receiving the extra funds?

Response: The state does not give money to the public schools for children attending the Christian schools or other private schools. State funds are allocated on the basis of enrollment in the public schools only. The public schools are obligated by law to provide a number of services to the non-public schools such as special education programs, speech therapists and psychological services. The private schools contract with the public schools for some programs and services, for example, bus service.

Question: Why was it necessary for my assessed valuation to increase by 35 per cent in order to cover school budget increases of less than two per cent?

Answer: The recent reassessment was part of a state wide program to equalize valuations across the state and not directly related to schools. While funds from schools are based on the state valuation for property voters must approve taxes for the local school operation. All voter-approved taxes for school operations in the Holland Public School system have expired and the election June 13 will ask approval of 19.7 mills to operate the school program.

Question: Why can Holland Christian schools educate their children for less than the per-pupil cost in the public schools?

Answer: The public school cost per pupil includes a number of programs required by state law and which are considerably more expensive to operate than regular classrooms. Many of the programs are provided by the public schools to the private schools and are not included in private school budgets or figured in their cost per pupil computations. Some of the required programs include special education, psychological and social work services, speech therapy, transportation, bilingual education, community education, driver education.

Question: How may I see a complete accounting of money spent by the school board?

Answer: Copies of the school budget are available from the school district offices, 633 Apple Ave. The public is encouraged to attend all Board of Education meetings and they are advertised in advance.

Question: I would like to have an open meeting where citizens could ask questions about the costs of education and are all those programs I see listed in the telephone directory necessary programs?

Answer: Each year a public hearing is held on the proposed school budget with the budget discussed in detail and questions answered. The hearing is advertised in The Holland Sentinel. Many of the programs listed in the telephone book are expensive and necessary to meet the special needs of students in the community. Most of the programs are required by the state as well and many of the programs are also provided by the public schools to local private schools under requirements of state law.

Question: What will be the decrease in enrollment in the 1977-78 school year?

Answer: The schools are planning for a decrease of between 50 and 80 students in grades K-12. In anticipation of the decrease a staff reduction has been started.

Question: Will the summer recreation programs be affected by a millage defeat June 13?

Answer: The city recreation director said the summer recreation programs will be conducted to the extent possible should the public school buildings not be available for use.

Question: What will happen to driver's education this summer should the millage fail?

Answer: If the millage is approved the program will begin June 20. More than 50 per cent of the cost of the driver education program comes from the funds requested in the millage election.

Question: How will our child in the Federal school area get to Lincoln school after Federal school is closed?

Answer: Your child will be transported from Federal school to Lincoln school.

Seek Candidates

Holland needs more candidates for City Council. So far, only two candidates have filed petitions and four others are circulating petitions. What this city needs is more qualified persons seeking positions of mayor and councilmen.

This is in no way a criticism of office holders seeking reelection or of newcomers to city politics announcing such intention, but the numbers are few and choice is always a desirable factor in a political race.

Not long ago there was a real flap in Holland over the public disclosure act passed by the Michigan legislature under promotion of Common Cause. Persons serving in minor appointive positions on city, county and township boards were apprehensive over declaring their financial interests in connection with unpaid public service.

Since then, the public disclosure act was found to be unconstitutional because of its all-inclusive subject matter, and new legislation and interpretations have stilled original fears to the point people feel they can live with the requirements.

Holland has been most fortunate in its city leadership throughout the city's history. There have been periods of progress and periods of catching-up, and this city has maintained a stability and a sense of progress that has been envied by many another city of similar size. And Holland has Tulip Time as a stellar attraction, a unique symbol uniting past and present and preserving heritage.

Many fine citizens serve in appointive positions involving no political races. Perhaps such people should have the experience of a stimulating contest.

So let's have more candidates. Deadline for filing petitions for mayor and four councilmen is 4 p.m. Tuesday in the Clerk's office.

Leo Martinosi

Christian Athlete

The old saying goes that "records are made to be broken" surely was the case when Archie Griffin played at Ohio State University.

The former Buckeye standout was in Holland Thursday evening to speak at the men and boy's "Good Buddy Banquet" of the First Reformed Church.

Griffin, a rookie last year for the Cincinnati Bengals of the NFL, not only broke several school and NCAA marks but actually obliterated them.

The 22-year-old Griffin is the only double winner of the prestigious Heisman Trophy, symbolic of "The Outstanding College Football Player in the Country." He was a first team selection on every All-American football team in 1974 and 1975. He was named most valuable football player in the rugged Big Ten for two straight years, thereby becoming only the second athlete in history to accomplish this feat.

In four seasons, Griffin rushed for 5,496 yards, the most in OSU history and in the entire history of the Big Ten before being stopped by Michigan in his final college contest, he had rushed for over 100 yards in 31 straight games, also a national record.

Even though he failed to reach 100 yards against the rival Wolverines, Archie said that the Buckeyes stunning 21-14 win, was the highlight of his college career.

"We were tied at the half but trailed 14-7 entering the final period," Griffin recalled.

"That fourth quarter was something else," Archie said he has been a Christian since his junior high days. His pastor in Columbus was responsible for him turning to God.

Griffin said winning the Heisman the second time meant more than the first time because of the pressure in trying to repeat and that he was constantly keyed on in every outing.

The Bengal star compares Woody Hayes his coach at Ohio State to Cincinnati mentor Bill Johnson.

"They both are dedicated men, that want to win very badly. Woody would work from 6 a.m. to 12 o'clock every day," Archie offered.

"Woody is not only concerned with you as a football player but as individual too. He's sort of a fatherly type of person."

Archie Griffin, the man, has more impressive records than Archie the football player. Archie is an outstanding civic leader, capable of reaching crowds of impressionable youth as well as groups of businessmen.

He graduated from Ohio State with a degree in business administration. Archie has been an accomplished spokesman for such organizations as the State of Ohio Department of Education, March of Dimes, Ohio Youth Commission and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. And we're sure he made the same impact with the youngsters from First Reformed Church.

The former Ohio State star made the evening complete for the family of Dwayne Teusink by spending the night with them.

Archie Griffin proved to us that he is an outstanding leader, whether it's on the football field or just sitting around chewing the fat.

Two File Petitions

June 14 is the deadline for filing petitions for city officials. The deadline is 4 p.m. for the five posts to be vacated this year: mayor, one councilman-at-large and councilmen of the first, third and fifth wards.

Petitions must be filed with the city clerk on the second floor of City Hall.

To date, Councilman James Vande Poel of the first ward and Councilman Ken Beelen of the fifth ward have filed petitions.

Petitions have been taken out for Mayor Lou Hallacy, incumbent Don Oosterbaan of the third ward, and Rebecca Rivera and Al McGeehan for councilman-at-large.

Primary election is scheduled Aug. 2. If not more than two candidates file for any given position, no primary will be held. The general election is Nov. 8.

BIG THRILL—Jeff Johnson (right), son of Rev. and Mrs. Larry Johnson of Holland is pictured here with A.J. (Anthony Joseph) Foyt, the Indianapolis 500 mile winner prior to the big race. Foyt posted an unprecedented record of four wins at the 1977 Indy 500. His other victories came in 1961, 1964 and 1967.
