CITY AND VICINITY.

Holland was afflicted by an epidemic of hand organs, bag pipes and monkeys this week.

All the wild cherries in and about the city have been damaged by the recent heavy frosts.

W. R. Billings is to have an electric clock placed in the City Hotel to be corrected daily direct from Washington.

All the druggists excepting J. O. Doeburg were willing to enter into an agreement to close their places of business at eight o'clock.

The coupling on the shaft of the Mable Bradshaw broke again on Thursday and she was unable to leave on her last regular trip between here and Chicago on Friday.

Dr. M. J. Cook, the Holland Dentist can always be found at his office over Blom's Boston Bakery, 8th str. Teeth extracted without pain (no extra charge.) All work guaranteed.

Rev. W. P. Law and Rev. M. H. Martin, will hold a special service in Grace Episc. church next Thursday evening, June 6th, at 7:30 p. m. Subject: "Is the Episcopal Church Catholic or Roman Catholic?"

Miss Gertrude Higgins, who for the past two years has taught school at Cadillac, has accepted a position in the Public Schools of Traverse City. Her brother is also located in that place as a dentist, and enjoys a good practice.

As will be seen by his advertisement in another column, James A. Brouwer will for the next ten days offer special inducements in bed room suits and side boards. He promises lower prices than can be obtained of the wholesalers.

Mr. Chris Miller, a former resident of Holland, now of Shelby, Mich., spent Decoration Day visiting old friends here. Chris is now the fortunate possessor of a thrifty fruit orchard in the northern fruit belt, three miles from Shelby. He has 900 bearing peach plum and apple trees, and has added 1,000 more trees to his orchard. He estimates that he will have only half a crop of peaches and apples, on account of the recent frosts, while his plum crop will be a complete failure.

The News has heard some very harsh criticisms of the Holland City Band, in consequence of their failure to turn out on Decoration Day at the head of the procession. Some time ago this band appealed to the citizens for uniforms and the money necessary to pay for them, was promptly provided. There came a request to the city council asking that they be allowed to use the room over the Second ward engine house for practice which was granted. In return for these courtesies the organization demanded $16 for heading the procession and going not to exceed one selection in the College Grove, on Decoration Day. Because the committee declined to put up this amount the band refused to play. The committee did not feel that they were justified in paying this amount as they were compelled to buy many of the flowers used and the expenses were heavier than usual on this account.

Who has the most attractive store-front R. N. DeMerell or F. C. Hall?

The four new stores that are being erected on Eighth street add greatly to the bustle on that thoroughfare.

F. D. Haddock will conduct the gospel meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms Sunday afternoon. There will be some special music.

The new dry goods store of John Vandersluis is kept very lively these warm days, as people are flocking there to buy some of those beautiful new summer dress goods.

Mrs. Knowles and Son have taken possession of the American House, and solicit the patronage of the public. They propose setting a good table and keeping the house in better shape than ever before.

There was a forcible collision on Eighth street Monday night between two bicycles mounted by W. A. Holley and Frank Pifer. Both were quite badly bruised and shaken up and the latter's wheel was damaged to a considerable extent.

Annie Horting, one of the flower girls, lost a gold watch and chain while in the procession on Decoration Day. Mayor Diekema made an announcement to that effect and the lost property was soon afterward returned to her by another young lady who had found it.

An addition 20x28 is being constructed at the 10th street end of the old Christian Reformed church corner College ave. and Tenth st. It consists of one story and a basement and is divided into an organ recess 8x20. Sunday school room 20x20 and consistory room 20x20.

Rehearsals have been in progress this week at Lyceum Opera House for the production of "The Confederate Spy," under the direction of W. E. Stedman the author of the play. The play will be presented under the auspices of the Sons of Veterans on the evenings of June 4th and 5th. Some of our leading local talent will be represented in the cast.

Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present. Many handsome and useful presents were displayed. The bride and groom will occupy the parsonage on 12th str. at once.

The funeral of Wm. H. Finch which took place from Hope church, Saturday afternoon, was largely attended by many who had known him during his 35 years residence in the city. Rev. H. G. Birchby conducted the services and the remains of the old war veteran and comrad were accompanied to their last resting place in Pilgrim Home cemetery by A. C. Van Raalte Post G. A. Mr. Will Lamereaux has fitted up an inviting bath room with all modern conveniences, in the rear of his barber shop.

The old Nibelink house, which has long stood at the head of Thirteenth street, has been moved south and will be made a first-class residence.

L. Van Putten is filling in the lot recently purchased by him, west of Prof. Dosker, on Thirteenth street, preparatory to building a home there.

The 21st annual gathering of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical Society will be held at Lansing June 5 and 6. Hon. G. J. Diekema is down on the programme for a speech.

It will be learned with regret that F. W. Haddock, principal of the high school, is to leave us. He has decided to complete his own studies, and will probably go to Cleveland, Ohio.

While in the city Judge Cahill was the guest of Hon. D. B. K. Van Raalte, one of his old time acquaintances and one of the few left with whom he associated when a resident of Holland.

A real estate man who keeps careful watch of the situation and whose word can be relied upon, says that 100 new houses are now being built or planned for immediate construction in Holland.

During the Whittle meetings a number of hymn books were taken from the Third church. It is requested that they be returned or the value of each, 40 cents handed to Rev. H. G. Birchby pastor of Hope church.

Assessor Pelgrim reports that the number of births in the township of Olive during the year 1894 was 56 of which 36 were males and 20 females. The deaths during the same period were 14, just one quarter the number of births.

Charles Cole an eye glass pedler ran up a board bill of $6 at the American House and took his departure between two days. Marshall Van Ry located him at Fennville and captured him there Tuesday when he not only settled the bill but all costs. The existing hotel law is a hard one for the beats to evade.

Excavations are being made and material placed on the ground for the new houses to be erected for Prof. Gillespie and Henry P. Streng, on Tenth street, opposite the college campus. Conductor Doty, of the C. & W. M. has purchased a lot in the same locality and will immediately begin building, thus making three new residences adjoining each other.

Mr. S. E. Kirk commercial agent of the C. J. & M. Railway and one of his Holland friends perpetrated rather a cruel joke on Mr. C. L. King on Monday. It cost them a quarter to get a Scotch bagpiper to play all the airs he was familiar with in front of Mr. King's office on 10th street, but the latter won't tell just how much he had to pay to get the man to move along.

At a meeting of the liquor dealers of the city held on Tuesday afternoon, a branch of the National Liquor Dealers Association was organized, to be known as Holland Council No. 50. The object of the organization is mutual protection, and the officers elected to serve for the ensuing year are John Sutton, President; C. Blom Sr., vice-president; David Blom, Secretary, and W. R. Billings, Treasurer.

Among the more pretentious houses now in the course of erection or to be erected in the west end of the city can be mentioned those of H. Kamperman H. Van Ark, John J. Cappon, G. A. Kanters, Dr. F. M. Gillespie and Jas. Price. They will all come above the thousand dollar mark, be of modern architecture and fitted out with all the conveniences that make a home attractive and comfortable.

A dispatch was sent out by the Chicago weather bureau Monday warning lake captains that a severe storm was approaching and cautioning all vessels to remain in port. Captain Driscoll of the Soo City could not have been alarmed by the report as he cleared from this harbor without difficulty and reaching Chicago in safety. The Bradshaw was undergoing repairs to her machinery and did not sail.

Adrianus Nyssen, Jr. who has been an inmate of the Kalamazoo Asylum for eight years, died there on Friday and the remains were brought here for interment Saturday on the evening train. He was 43 years of age and a brother-in-law of Martin Klayn and a brother of Mrs. John Dykema. The funeral took place from the home of the latter Monday and was attended by many who had known the deceased during his 30 years residence in Holland.

The basement walls of the Kleinkveld building are ready for the girders.

Some of the fruit growers in this neighborhood feel confident that strawberries and grapes are not so badly damaged as at first reported.

The stars and stripes were displayed at half mast from a number of buildings in the city after the news of Secretary Gresham's death was received.

The city buslines are already doing a lively business in carrying passengers between the C. & W. M. station and the Chicago and resort steamers.

Died at Grand Rapids, Monday evening, Mrs. Jan De Vries, aged 59 years. The remains were taken to Zeeland for burial. The deceased was the mother of Dr. B. J. De Vries and Mrs. A. Keppel of this city.

Fred Wade of the Commercial sends us a very neat souvenir of Saugatuck and its environs printed on tinted book paper and illustrated with thirty half tone cuts. It gives much valuable information about Saugatuck Bald Head Park and other points of interest.

We learn from reliable sources that the H. W. Williams Transportation Co. will early in June start a daily line of steamers on the east shore between Grand Haven and St. Joseph, stopping at all intermediate points including Holland and the resorts. The boats for this route have not as yet been selected.

A joint meeting of the South Ottawa and North Ottawa Teachers' Association will be held in the court house, at Grand Haven, June 8. Among those who take an active part are Supt. Estabrook, Cora M. Goodenow, Prof. Kleinheksel, Seth Coburn, Chas. De Witt and Eunice Cusick.

All of the 10 cent barber shops in this city but one have entered into a compact to close their places of business every night at 8 o'clock with the exception of Wednesdays and Saturdays. Mr. Harmon could not be induced to go into the combine. Those who will close solicit the earnest support and co-operation of their patrons in carrying out the agreement.

Our attention was called this week to the opportunity awaiting some enterprising man in the city. All it requires is a horse and cart of some description large enough to hold a barrel filled with spraying fluid, and to make the rounds of our shade trees killing off the insects that are jeopardizing the life of these trees. Every lot owner will be glad to submit to a reasonable charge to have his trees saved. Many have fruit trees that can be sprayed at the same time.

As the season advances and the dry and hot weather comes upon us, the drainage upon the water supply also increases—which means that this season especially, with the limited means for supply the board of public works is forced to make every water taker live close up to the rules. Because of their having done so in the past few days there is some "kicking," but that's all the good it will do. The hours under the present rules are as follows: For lawn and garden sprinkling, between 5:30 and 8:00 a. m., and 6:00 and 8:00 p. m. For window washing and sidewalk sprinkling on business streets, between 7:00 and 8:00 a. m., and 5:00 to 7:00 p. m. A number of takers have been shut off during the week for violating the rules, and it is hinted more are to follow.

Port Sheldon in 1836,
Now that there is some talk of establishing a resort at Port Sheldon the following correspondence to the Detroit Free Press of a recent date will be of interest:
Perhaps no part of the early history of this section of the country is more particularly interesting than that of Port Sheldon. It is situated on the banks of Pigeon Lake, a beautiful sheet of water surrounded by a forest, and it is only a short distance from Lake Michigan. In fact, they are separated by a narrow strait. In 1836 several eastern capitalists, having a desire for locating towns in the wild and hilly country of western Michigan, located at this point. A stock company was organized and a large hotel built at a cost of $35,000, and furnished in the grandest of style. It was picturesquely located. A mill was built and it is said to have been the largest of its kind in the west. A club house and a number of cottages were also erected. The drives among the forests leading to neighboring towns were beautiful, and the woodland paths charming. In 1838 the place contained about 400 inhabitants. A large sum of money was spent in deepening and enlarging the strait, so as to allow lake boats to land at the hotel wharf. After making these improvements they discovered that it was impossible to keep the harbor open, as the stormy waters of Lake Michigan would always have a tendency to fill it. This discouraged them, the land was sold for a small sum and they disbanded. There is no doubt that they intended to make this the most beautiful lake port town in Michigan.

From the New York Home Journal:

A Royal Leave Taking.
Little Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, aged 14, who has been making a visit to London with the queen regent, has preserved throughout an official incognito, and enjoyed herself riding about in hansoms in a manner that would not have been possible had she traveled under her title. Not until their departure from London on May 9 was the incognito broken. When it was made known that the young queen would depart in semi-state there was a change. They were to leave by the L. C. & D. Railway from Victoria station. Hours before their departure the streets leading to the station were decorated, and thronged with crowds.

At the main line departure entrance of the London, Chatham & Dover Railway Company's terminus at Victoria a guard of honor furnished by the Grenadier Guards, commanded by Captain Cotton, was drawn up, with the colors of the regiment and the full band, Lieutenant Godfrey conducting, at the head of the lines. There were in waiting to receive the royal travelers Mr. J. S. Forbes, the chairman; Mr. William Forbes, the general and continental manager; Mr. John Morgan, the secretary; Mr. John W. Green, station master, and other officials of the company. A succession of carriages drove up, shortly before 7 o'clock, and from these alighted the Countess of Romney, who was followed by the Baron de Golstein, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the Netherlands, and Baron Schimmelpenninck Van der Oye, secretary of the legation. A bar or two of the national anthem announced the arrival of their royal highnesses the Duke and Duchess of York, in an open pair-horsed carriage, and ringing cheers, a moment later greeted their royal highnesses, the Prince and Princess of Wales, with whom were their two daughters, Victoria and Maud. Their royal highnesses withdrew together to the royal waitingroom, which had been prepared for the occasion. A minute later the prime minister drove to the station in a brougham, and with Lord Roseberry was the lord chamberlain, Lord Carrington. Once more a royal salute was given as one of the queen's carriages appeared. In it was Major-General Sir John McNeill, querry-in-waiting to the queen, who was deputed to attend the royal guests to the port of departure. As the Grenadier Guards' band played the Dutch national anthem, the royal open semi-state carriage, drawn by four bay horses with postillions, arrived, the youthful queen of the Netherlands, who was evidently well pleased with the heartiness of her reception, gracefully bowing her acknowledgments. Their majesties were conducted to the waiting-room, where, during the few minutes which intervened, an informal reception took place.

Saugatuck.
Miss Bessie Thew of Allegan will open a kindergarten school in this village about June 20.

After the close of the present session of the legislature Hon. J. F. Henry will go to Racine where he will be associated with the Fish Wagon Co., at the head of which is Otis R. Johnson.

Joseph Randall failed to qualify as superintendent of the fire department and J. F. Metzger has been appointed in his place.

W. White of Peach Belt is the recipient of a very unique piece of work in the form of a walking stick, made by Wm. Shashagay, a Saugatuck Indian. The cane contains 80 pieces of mahogany, pine and oak from the Chocoma wreck, and was neatly carved with the sole aid of a jack knife.

On the cane is carved, "Presented to Wm. White by J. P. Shashagay," the latter being a son of the old Indian for whom Mr. White stood as sponsor at the christening of the boy. The cane is a valuable relic which Mr. White highly prizes.—Commercial.

Allegan County.
The Douglas Maccabees will probably picnic at Macatawa Park June 11—their anniversary day.

The Sunday schools of Allegan county will have a grand rally at Allegan June 26. It will be an undenominational gathering and the first of the kind to be held in the county.

The commencement of the Douglas schools occurs the evening of June 7. Hon. G. J. Diekema of Holland will give the address.

The Wayland school board have re-engaged the teachers in the schools there for the next year. They are E. M. Vroman principal, R. M. Sprague assistant, Gertrude Andrews intermediate, and Irene Sturgis primary.

Chas. Harrington, principal of the Hamilton school, has been engaged for another year. There is some talk of making an addition to the school building.

Chas. Dunn, a soldier of the late war and a resident of Manlius township twenty two years, a man much respected by all, died last week and was buried from the M. E. church at New Richmond.

Circulars are out announcing the summer normal to be held at Wayland It commences June 24 and continues six weeks. If forty of the pupils desire, the normal will continue one week longer.

Judge Philip Padgham delivered the Decoration day address at Center-ville, St. Joseph county.

"Ab." Penn, G. A. R. Post of Fennville in this county, is particularly honored by a presentation of a gavel, made from a century-old oak, planted in 1740, at Plymouth, Conn., by Rev. Samuel Todd, the first pastor of the church at that place.

Muskegon.
A company has been organized for the manufacture of wooden bicycle rims. The capital interested in the new venture is all local.

Muskegon contemplates adopting a "Pineapple patch" scheme, utilizing twenty acres of wasted land adjoining Oakwood.

Alderman Moulton was thrown from his buggy on Third street Sunday afternoon and injured internally.

The new union depot is rapidly nearing completion, and it is thought that it will be ready for occupancy about July 1.

The Crosby line, which first operated the steamer Nyack and then the McVea between Milwaukee and Muskegon, has been wiped out of existence by the action of the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad Co. in arranging with the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee line to interchange traffic at Muskegon. When the Nyack was removed and put on the Milwaukee-Chicago route, Crosby promised to replace her with a steamer capable of doing the work, but the road claims the McVea too small and that Crosby has not kept his word.—Detroit Free Press.

DO YOU EXPECT
To Become a Mother?
If so, then permit us to say that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is indeed, a true "Mother's Friend," FOR IT MAKES Childbirth Easy by preparing the system for parturition, thus assisting Nature and shortening "Labor." The painful ordeal of childbirth is robbed of its terrors, and the dangers thereof greatly lessened, to both mother and child. The period of confinement is also greatly shortened, the mother strengthened and built up, and an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child promoted.

PAINLESS CHILDBIRTH.
Mrs. FRED HUNT, of Glenview, N. Y., says: "I read about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription being so good for a woman with child, so I got two bottles last September, and December 13th I had a twelve pound baby girl. When I was confined I was not sick in any way. I did not suffer any pain, and when the child was born I walked into another room and went to bed. I keep your Extract of Smart-Weed on hand all the time. It was very cold weather and our room was very cold but I did not take any cold, and never had any after-pain or any other pain. It was all due to God and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Compound Extract of Smart-Weed. This is the eighth living child and the largest of them all. I suffered everything that flesh could suffer with the other babies. I always had a doctor and then he could not help me very much, but this time my mother and my husband were alone with me. My baby was only seven days old when I got up and dressed and left my room and stayed up all day."

ECZEMA
From early childhood until I was grown my family spent a fortune trying to cure me of this disease. I visited Hot Springs, and was treated by the best medical men, but was not benefited. FROM When all things had failed I determined to try S. S. S., and in four months was entirely cured. The terrible Eczema was gone, not a sign of it left; my general health built up, and I have never had any return of the disease. CHILDHOOD I have since recommended S. S. MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

Senate.

LANSING, Mich., May 24.—The senate Thursday passed bills admitting all foreign corporations to the state upon the same footing as those organized within the state, and appropriating $10,000 for the support of the food and dairy commissioner's department, increasing the salary of that official from $1,200 to $1,500, and providing for a state analyst. All after the enacting clause was stricken out of the bill, which proposed to tax sleeping, dining and parlor property.

LANSING, Mich., May 25.—The senate on Thursday passed a bill increasing the specific tax upon the gross earnings of railroad companies one-half of 1 per cent, and if earnings are in excess of $5,000 per mile it is increased 1 per cent. It will bring an additional $150,000 to the state treasury. The senate also passed the Donovan interchangeable railroad mileage book bill, which has previously passed the house. Its constitutionality is questioned.

LANSING, Mich., May 27.—The senate Saturday passed the anti-lobbyist bill, which requires the registration of lobbyists at each session and the record of the measure upon which they are engaged. The senate in committee of the whole agreed to the bill establishing a normal school in the upper peninsula.

LANSING, Mich., May 28.—The senate Monday struck out all after the enacting clause of the Waite anti-treating liquor bill, and took the same action on the Wilkes bill providing for payment of taxes semi-annually, and the bill prohibiting extra charges by express companies upon transportation of poultry and live stock. The Alpin bill, providing for the incorporation of trust companies in cities of less than 50,000 population, with a capital of $100,000, from 50,000 to 100,000, of $150,000, and over 100,000 population of from $200,000 to $1,000,000, was lost on passage.

LANSING, Mich., May 29.—The thirty-eighth session of the legislature closed at midnight, having been in session since January 7. The senate tabled for the session the Robinson bill reducing passenger rates on the upper peninsula railroads from four to three cents per mile by a vote of 17 to 9. Both houses passed the general budget bill providing for the general expenses of the state government, appropriating $1,000,000 for 1896 and $1,171,000 for 1897. This will make the total tax levy for the two years approximately $1,500,000.

The most important legislation of the session has been the election of Julius Caesar Burrows to the United States senate to fill out the unexpired term of the late Senator F. B. Stockbridge. The liquor law was amended, making all licenses $500 for both spirituous and malt liquors. The old law was $500 for spirituous and $300 for malt. All social clubs will have to take out licenses if liquor is vended. Much time has been spent amending city charters and every city has come in for a share of some wholesome legislation. The anti-liquor treating bill was also killed. A law was passed to compile the laws of the state by a commission, defeating the "Howell's statutes" plan as well as publication by Callegan & Co. of Chicago. The University of Michigan was granted an appropriation of $25,000. The bill providing for capital punishment was killed. The anti-fusion bill prohibiting the appearing of a candidate's name on the ticket but once, though nominated by two or more parties, was passed. The bill to submit an equal suffrage amendment to the people was defeated.

House.

LANSING, Mich., May 24.—The Waite anti-treating bill passed the house Thursday by a vote of 75 to 17, and was given immediate effect. The bill makes it unlawful for any person to purchase for or give to another any spirituous, malt, brewed or fermented liquors in any saloon, bar-room, club-room or tavern where the same is kept for sale by the drink, or to treat another in any way in any such places to a drink of liquor. It also prohibits the selling of liquor for such purposes, and provides a fine and imprisonment for violation of its provisions. The house passed a joint resolution submitting to the people in November, 1896, the question of reorganizing municipal charter legislation to the municipalities, except that the legislature shall have sole power to limit or restrict the powers of cities and villages in regard to taxation, borrowing money, contracting debts and loaning their credit. The senate capital punishment bill was reported from the committee, amended so that executions will not take place until one year after conviction, and the Michigan instead of the Ohio definition is adopted.

LANSING, Mich., May 25.—The house on Friday passed the Kelley congressional apportionment bill, which corrects the democratic gerrymander of 1891; the bill appropriating $75,000 for the support of the home for the feeble minded and epileptic; the state public school appropriation bill, and the bill creating a commission to locate a normal school in the upper peninsula and making an appropriation of $40,000 therefor. The Wood bill requiring social clubs dispensing liquors to take out a saloon license and pay a tax of $500, and the state university appropriation bill were lost on final passage, the latter for the third time. The senate capital punishment bill was made a special order for Monday.

LANSING, Mich., May 27.—The house Saturday passed the bill amending the fish and game law, authorizing the appointment of three deputy wardens and appropriating $4,000 for the appointment of a deputy in each county, if desired, with compensation not to exceed three dollars per day. The bill providing that no street car lines shall be laid upon any street in Detroit unless consent be obtained from a majority of the property owners was defeated.

LANSING, Mich., May 28.—The house Monday passed a bill requiring all social clubs to pay a $500 liquor tax, but exempts arbor societies having seventy-five members or other societies dispensing liquors to provide a mortuary fund. Although a restrictive measure, it amends the general law to permit saloonkeepers in villages to secure bondsmen anywhere within the township in which the village is situated instead of being confined to the village. The house also passed the Shaw newspaper libel bill by a vote of 73 to 9. Bills prohibiting marriage of females under 18 years of age without the consent of parent or guardian, and prohibiting the keeping for sale of quail, woodcock or partridge, passed. The bill for the punishment of officers of banks who take deposits knowing their insolvent condition, and making stockholders at once accountable for delinquency in insolvent banks, was agreed to in committee of the whole, and the committee struck out all after the enacting clause of a joint resolution submitting to the people the question of leaving the matter of state officers' salaries to the legislature. The house by a vote of 43 to 42 refused to pass the senate capital punishment bill, but the vote was reconsidered and the bill tabled.

LANSING, Mich., May 29.—Another attempt was made in the house to pass the hanging bill, but it failed by a vote of 47 to 47. A similar fate befell the resolution submitting the question of woman's suffrage to the people, the resolution coming within three votes of passing. The house defeated the Detroit Citizens' street railway bill, abolishing the present board of public works of Detroit and substituting therefor a single commissioner of public works.

A Gift to the State.

DETROIT, May 24.—Mrs. L. G. Chandler, widow of ex-United States Senator Zachariah Chandler, of Michigan, has presented to the state the portrait of her husband which hangs in Representative hall at Lansing. It is the work of the late L. T. Ives, father of Percy Ives, the Detroit artist who painted the portrait of President Cleveland now on exhibition at the Art loan here, and who recently restored the Chandler portrait.

Broke His Neck.

PORT AUSTIN, May 29.—Vene Badgley, a farmer near Kinde, threw himself into a well and was drowned. His neck was broken by the fall. Before committing the act he took all the money in his pocket, some $1,400, and placed it on a table.

THE POPE MURDER.

Sensational Evidence in the Trial at Detroit.

DETROIT, May 28.—William Brusseau, the self-confessed murderer of Dr. Pope, finished his testimony Monday in the trial of Mrs. Pope, also charged with her husband's murder. Brusseau admitted having at first told various stories of the crime, but insisted that the truth was that he murdered the doctor while under Mrs. Pope's influence.

DETROIT, May 29.—A sensational feature of Tuesday's session of the Pope murder trial was the statement of David Wright, a paperhanger who declared Mrs. Pope once offered him $5,000 of her husband's insurance money if he would get Pope out of the way. He said he and the woman had been drinking. To appease her he said he would do the deed, but never attempted it. Insurance agents representing various life concerns took the witness stand. They testified to a number of policies taken out by Mrs. Pope upon her husband's life. In one or two instances it was shown that the policies were canceled because the insurance men believed Mrs. Pope had designs upon her husband's life.

A WILL CONTESTED.

Mrs. House Left Much of Her Estate to Public Institutions.

KALAMAZOO, May 25.—Among the beneficiaries in the will of the late Mrs. Emaline A. House are the First Congregational church, of this city, for $1,000; Olivet college, $5,000; Drury college, $5,000; Children's home, of this city, $2,000; American Sunday School union, $500. The Women's Home Union of Congregational Churches of Michigan and the American board of foreign missions are also generously remembered. The remainder of the estate of $70,000 is divided among other charities and relatives. Some of the relatives have filed against the probate of the will, but the First Congregational of this city will defend the will.

WARM RAINS NEEDED.

Michigan Crops Would Be Greatly Benefited by a Little Moisture.

LANSING, May 29.—The weekly weather crop bulletin issued by the Michigan weather service here summarizes the crop situation as follows:

"The past week has been a continuation of cool, unfavorable weather, but with a slight improvement during the last two days. Reports show that the damage by frost to fruits during the previous week is not so great as was at first reported. The grape crop has probably suffered the most. Farm work has been greatly advanced in all sections. Corn and potato planting are nearly finished in the southern section, is well along in the central section, and has a good start in the northern section. Warm rains are much needed in all sections."

Embezzlement Charged.

DETROIT, Mich., May 28.—J. Huff Jones, who died about two years ago, has been shown to have been a defaulter, according to his accounts, in the sum of nearly $50,000. Mr. Jones acted as trustee of two wards, Henry K. Jones and Matilda Thompson, heirs of De Garmo Jones. An expert accountant has been engaged on the trustee's books for nearly a year and on Monday finished his work. The guardian is shown to have died insolvent, although he was supposed to have been wealthy.

Named by the Governor.

LANSING, May 29.—Gov. Rich made the following appointments Tuesday: Member of state live-stock sanitary commission, H. H. Hinde, of Stanton; members of state board of health, V. McAlvay, of Manistee, and Delos Fall, of Albion; members of state mining school board, John M. Longyear and Alfred Kidder, of Marquette; members of board of control of the school for the deaf, Charles S. Brown, of Flint, and W. J. Spear, of Vassar; guardian of industrial home for girls, Frank W. Waite, of Sturgis.

A Judgment for Taxes.

LANSING, May 27.—The state was given a judgment for $4,551.61 against the Wisconsin Central Railway company for the taxes assessed on the company's earnings in Michigan in 1889, payment of which was refused. The tax amounted to $1,566.64, the balance of the judgment being interest and the penalty for non-payment, which is 2 per cent. a month on the amount of the tax.

Bold Horse Thief at Detroit.

DETROIT, May 28.—Fred Wolf, of No. 8 Palmer avenue, reported to the central police station Monday afternoon that at 12 o'clock his father, an aged man, was leading a horse from the barn to the front yard to allow it to eat grass, when a man came along, cut the rope, jumped on the back of the horse, and rode it away. The old man some time later gave the alarm and then the thief had disappeared.

Forest Fires in Michigan.

SENEY, Mich., May 28.—Forest fires are doing a vast amount of damage in eastern Luce and northern Schoolcraft counties. The Perry Lumber company's last winter's cut is a mass of flames. It is all hewn timber ready to ship, valued at $400 per 1,000 cubic feet. Nick Baker's logging camps burned, one man barely escaping death.

Attempted Assassination.

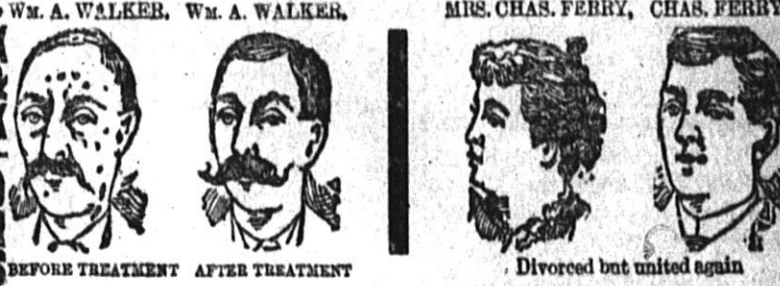

NILES, May 23.—Late Tuesday night while L. E. Culver, a prominent farmer living 8 miles southeast of here, was sitting in his parlor, some unknown person fired through a window at him. Four dumdum shot entered his back, but the wounds are not serious. There is no clew.

Killed in a Mine.

CALUMET, May 23.—Alexander Mattison, aged 33, was instantly killed on the twenty-eighth level of the No. 3 shaft, Hecla branch Calumet and Hecla mine. A large mass of vein rock fell from the roof of the slope, crushing his skull.

To Raise Prices.

HOLLAND, May 29.—Twelve of the principal Michigan basket factories are represented at a meeting here to form a pool for a general advance in prices.

SATURDAY, JUNE 1.

Decoration Day.

For the last few weeks Dame Mercury has trifled with the affections of the people. One day it was almost frigid and on the next the temperature would be up in the eighties. Not so on Decoration Day however. It was mighty warm as one of the old war scared veterans put it but not so hot as when we crossed the chainbridge over the Potomac in 1861 from Georgetown, or on the day we came home from Alexandria, Va., four years later over the old long bridge. Early in the morning people began to come in from the country and neighboring towns and villages and at noon the streets were more crowded than on any previous occasion since Memorial Day has been observed in this community. In the city there was all due recognition given to the sacredness and solemnity of the occasion. Most of the merchants closed their places of business during the greater portion of the day and all of the manufacturers gave their employees a day off. Flags were displayed from all public and many private buildings and noticeable and appropriate decorations were exhibited in the store windows along the line of march.

Shortly after noon the various organizations that were to participate in the parade began to form on River street at the intersection of Eighth under the direction of Marshal G. J. Van Duren, and his assistants Albert Keppel and William Kellogg.

The line of march was east on 8th street to Columbia ave. thence south to the college campus and the order of procession as follows:

Holland Martial Band.
"John Kramer" Camp Sons of Veterans.

The Public Schools.
Young Ladies with flowers and decorations.

Fire Department.
City officials and speaker in carriages.

A. C. Van Raalte Post G. A. R. and Veterans.
Women's Relief Corps.
Officials of the Day.
Citizens in carriages.

Crowds were gathered on the side walks, and porches and at the open windows on the streets through which the procession passed.

Attention was more especially attracted to the girls who in becoming costumes carried the floral decorations that were not only handsome but emblematical, and included designs of a canon and monitor on wheels also harp shields and other appropriate pieces. There must have been 1,000 people assembled in the college grove when the procession reached there and before the exercises began the number was increased to 2000.

The program opened, with the rendering by a male quartette composed of P. A. Miller, F. Ferwerda, Prof. J. B. Nykerk and Dr. A. C. V. R. Gilmore of Major Whittle's favorite song "The call of the Roll on High." Hon. G. J. Diekema, president of the day in his customary off handed and taking manner introduced the orator, Hon. Edward Cahill now of Lansing and ex judge of the supreme court but forty years ago a Holland boy. In doing so he said that those before him had gathered on this sublime and patriotic occasion to pay tribute to both dead and the living and compared the civil conflict for freedom from slavery of 1860-64 to the relief of the Israelites from bondage, and the attempted subjugation of Holland by Spain during the 80 year war.

Chaplain John Van der Meulen followed with a very fervent and patriotic prayer, when Judge Cahill opened his address by reviewing the last recollections of his good-bye to Holland in 1856. Then, he said, there were stumps, logs, sand wind-rows, and a few scattering houses, where now there were substantial brick buildings and comfortable homes, and every indication of thrift, industry, and religious surroundings. Religion he considered the corner stone on which the progress of any community could be based. Below we give as completely as possible Judge Cahill's address which was listened to with the closest attention throughout:

I see before me the representatives of a sturdy race, among whom the seeds of liberty were early planted and to whose watchful care the world is largely indebted for its blossoming and fruit.

It has been common to attribute the free institutions of this country to the growth of English sentiment and the development of Anglo-Saxon ideas. But the later students of American history are beginning to do full-though tardy—justice to the power and influence of Holland in shaping the destinies of the great republic.

It is strange, indeed, that so great a factor, so determinate an influence, should have been so long ignored. New York, that from the first has been the Empire state, was settled and dominated by the Dutch, without trace of early English interference. The descendants of those early founders still rule the greatest city and the greatest state of the union. Yet the remarkable fact that the political traditions and institutions of New York and New England were so nearly identical as to make it certain they must have had a common source, seems to have been overlooked.

The Pilgrims who landed at Plymouth Rock and established in New England the foundations of the free and enlightened states that have served as models for those that have come after, were born in England. But they fled from the tyranny of their mother country and sought an asylum in Holland—then the only civilized freestate.

Being Englishmen it was superficially taken for granted that the institutions they established were of English origin. It was forgotten that these heroic men had lived twenty years among the enlightened spirits and free institutions of Holland after fleeing from English oppression, and the influence of that long sojourn among the Netherlands, was overlooked.

Later and more careful students of our early history have begun to uncover what has been so long concealed, that puritanism, as a political force, began in Holland, asserted itself in New York, and that the name New England was extended to a territory that in truth and justice should have been called New Holland.

To you, then, the descendants of a race that rocked the very cradle of liberty, I feel myself happy to be called to speak on this day that celebrates the sacrifices rather than the triumphs of liberty.

When the hour of peril came to this land of your adoption, you and your sons were among the first and foremost to volunteer in its defense.

This is a day of sentiment. A day when the busiest of us put aside for a few hours at least the cares of everyday business, to live over again in our memories a terrible and yet a glorious past.

It is now more than thirty-four years since the curtain rose upon the first act in the terrible drama which this day helps to commemorate. As I look over this audience, I see a few faces upon whom age has traced its lines so indelibly that there is no doubting that they are old enough to remember the opening scenes in that awful tragedy. I see a still fewer number who were actors upon that bloody stage. But the great majority of those here present belong to a later generation and know only what has been told or written of this greatest chapter in their country's history.

They are not, however, mere spectators of these solemn services, for although the comrades of the G. A. R. will so long as any of them survive be given the place of honor on such occasions, to their children and to their children's children must henceforth more and more be committed the active duties of the day.

For the benefit of this later generation let us take a bird's-eye view of the country thirty-four years ago. In extent of territory, it was the same as to-day, if we leave out Alaska.

In population, it had 31,000,000 as against 62,000,000 in 1890. It had 39,000 miles of railroad as against 200,000 miles in 1890. New York, its largest city, had a population of 800,000 as against 1,500,000 in 1890.

There were then nine cities with a population of 100,000 and upwards, as against twenty-eight such cities now. Michigan had a little over 700,000 inhabitants as against over 2,500,000 now. Detroit had 43,000, we had no other city with 10,000.

We had an army of 15,000 men, many of whom were garrisoning the forts within the states that seceded. Our military equipment consisted of a few thousand stand of antiquated muskets and some old cannon—that had been saved from the former wars. Our navy was made up of a few wooden ships, most of which were sailing vessels, that would not now be recognized as men of war.

So much for our material conditions. But the most difficult thing for one of the new generation to understand is the fact that in this country that boasted of its free institutions and was the refuge of the oppressed of all nations, there existed in fifteen of the states of the union, a peculiar institution which recognized the right of man to hold other men in slavery. To buy and sell men, women and children, on the same terms that we now buy and sell horses and cattle. What is more difficult for them to appreciate is that not only in the states where the peculiar institution existed was it defended as beneficent and wise, but that in the free states, only a minority of the people condemned it as wicked and a still smaller number of them believed in taking any practical steps to overthrow it.

More than once young men have said to me, "It seems incredible that in your life-time and within your recollection, 4,000,000 of human beings in this country were the absolute property, body and soul, of their masters."

Yet this was a terrible fact, and public sentiment, North as well as South, regarded every man as a fanatic if not a traitor, who denounced the institution as a crime against human nature which ought to be put a stop to.

Behold now the power of a righteous and just sentiment nurtured in the breasts of a few steadfast souls, to overthrow the mightiest institution, entrenched though it be in the custom of ages, and defended by all the power that comes from wealth and numbers.

There was a man, born in the slave state of Kentucky, but bred upon the broad prairies of Illinois. He was a poor man, yet his tastes were so simple that he never knew what grinding poverty meant. But poverty and riches are relative conditions that depend not so much upon what we have as upon what we want. This man was a humble citizen in a humble community.

He was wise chiefly in the learning of the fields and in that which comes to the patient and thoughtful man who lives close to nature. To be just to be fearless, to be content. These were his aim and by them he achieved a character which made him while he was yet a young man the accepted leader of the rude people among whom he lived.

In the heart of this simple man of the prairies sprang up a righteous hatred of the great national sin. Men had hated it before, but in the white heat of their hatred they were willing to grasp the pillars of the state and bring the whole fabric of the government to ruin, if thereby they could destroy the monstrous wrong. But here was a man who possessed the genius of common sense, that best and rarest of all qualities for leadership. He would destroy slavery, but he would save the union. He knew that if a virulent poison can be by any means confined, it will in time eat out and destroy itself and that it is only when it is allowed to spread and involve the whole system that it becomes dangerous to life. He believed that slavery as an institution could not long endure if it was confined to the limits of the states where it then existed.

With this thought in his mind, while conceding that the government could not under the constitution interfere with the existence of slavery in the states where it was already established—a concession that was hateful to the extreme anti-slavery sentiment of the country—he yet insisted that the government had the power to prohibit the extension of it into the territories and to thus compel it to feed upon and destroy itself. His judgment, like that of Portia in the Merchant of Venice, yielded to the strict right of the South under the national compact, to take its pound of flesh, but he proposed to compel them to be content with that.

Over against the aggressions of the slave power which knew that it must have room to grow or perish, stood Abraham Lincoln, at the border of the free states and territories, and like the prophet of old declared, "Hither to shalt thou come but no farther, and here shalt thy proud waves be stayed." In this plain, obscure man of the West, the people of the North, by some divine intuition, recognized their leader and anointed him, even as Samuel anointed David, the obscure shepherd boy, to rule over Israel.

What was it that all at once fired the Southern heart? It was not that their rights were threatened by the election of an ambitious and war-like president. Lincoln was a man of peace.

It was not because the new president had been endowed with, or that he assumed new power, not possessed by his predecessors. It was simply that the statesmen in the South recognized in Lincoln the embodiment of an idea—a sentiment in the atmosphere of which they knew slavery could not long endure. And so the war cry was sounded.

With the fall of Sumter, the North arose. When the first gun was fired, its thunder broke upon a strained and solemn silence—a breathless waiting of the public and so tense and drawn that the first shock of war thrilled every soul with instant courage and heroism.

Why was it that the flash of that first gun lighted the fires of patriotism in every hamlet of Michigan; made men of boys in a single day and put it into the hearts of the woman to dare and suffer without complaint?

It was not because danger threatened us here at home. We were far removed from the battle that was on or that could be expected. Long before the waves of actual war could have reached us they must have spent themselves upon the forces that lay between us and the warring states.

It was not for booty or love of conquest. Our people were generally prosperous and contented at home. They had neither training nor passion for war, and were skillful only in the arts of peace.

It was not hatred or revenge that stirred our hearts. The people whom we were to meet in war were our brethren. Some of them literally of our own flesh and blood. None of them were our enemies; many of them were our personal friends.

No, it was not for defense, it was not for conquest, it was not for revenge that we took up arms.

It was a sentiment that inspired, a sentiment that moved to action the vast armies that were soon in the field. Do you know, young men and women of a later generation, the magnitude of the sacrifice for sentiment that was made by the people of that time during the four years of the war? The extent of it can never be fully estimated, for it reached every home and touched every heart. The best that we can do is to note the scars that the graves have made, or that our veterans bear on their bodies.

There are in this country seventy-eight national cemeteries where the bodies of 316,275 soldiers who died of wounds or disease in the service lie buried. In the swamps and forests, where the vigilance of comrades have not found them, lie the whitening bones of other countless thousands. Every cemetery of the Northern states is today dotted with flags which mark the last resting-place of those who have died since they came home—hurried in many cases to untimely graves by the wounds and privations of war.

In every cemetery, a little remnant of the gallant armies that were mustered from 1861 to 1865 has to day gathered to strew with flowers the graves of departed comrades. Some of them are crippled and scarred with wounds, others are disabled by disease. A few only are unmarked by the stern experiences through which they passed.

Young men of a later generation, the burdens and responsibilities of government are already largely, and are soon to be altogether upon you.

You were not born in time to share the sacrifices nor to partake of the glories of the heroic days of which I have been speaking. "But peace hath her victories no less renowned than war."

There are dangers that assail your country more insidious and therefore more to be feared than the open foe that with musket in his hand tried to shoot the country to death.

What are some of the dangers that threaten this government of the people?

There is in politics to-day a thing that is called "the machine." It is a curious combination of the brute and human. It is hydra-headed, Briar-armed and centipede. It has the cunning of the fox; the wisdom of the owl; the devious movement of the serpent. It is operated upon some hidden principle of perpetual motion. It never sleeps and it never tires. It has intelligence and will, but it has neither conscience nor soul.

The inventors of this device guarantee that the owner of it can perform great feats in politics. By it he can make it register his own will as the will of the people, and with so much of the real semblance of popular acclaim as almost to deceive the people themselves. This engine of political corruption is beyond the reach of most of us. It can be manipulated only by two classes, the very rich or by those who possess the power of official patronage and are thus able to command the services of shrewd and wily assistants at the expense of the public.

The vast accumulations of wealth in the hands of individuals in this favored country is, something before unknown in the history of the world. I can remember when there was not a millionaire in Michigan, and when those in the entire country were counted upon the fingers of one hand. Now there are hundreds in Michigan and thousands in the United States.

This is well. Do not understand me as joining in the vulgar and too common trade against wealth and wealthy men. The wealthy men are so, as a rule, because of their industry, their economy or their superior business insight and judgment. They are by their thrift and tact well fitted to be leaders in the world of trade and commerce. But politics do not belong to the domain of trade and commerce. In business, one man may wisely control the time and direct the energies of a thousand men. But in politics under our system of government, every man should act and speak for himself. He owes it to himself, to his children, and to his country, to devote so much of his time and money to the study of politics as is necessary to properly inform himself upon the questions that concern the government which he is to help carry on, and then to act with independence and courage.

A government is not one of the people unless it is also by the people. It is to be government in which the free, uncorrupted and enlightened judgment of the whole body of the electors is declared and executed.

Instead of every man's having and exercising an independent judgment, in public affairs, politics has become a trade, an occupation by which a few men are able to fasten themselves like leeches upon the body politic and to gorge themselves with the blood of their victim. Those men ponder to the ambition and flatter the vanity of the rich, and the rich, yielding to the blandishments of these sycophants, embark in politics on the same principle that they would engage in any other enterprise. The first question is how much capital is needed to set up and work the machinery.

One of these panders in politics said to me a few days ago, "Give me $50,000 and I will control the nominations in any state convention in Michigan, in either party."

There are many men in Michigan who have annual incomes of twice fifty thousand dollars a year. Is it possible that we have sunk so low that we are no longer the rulers of this state, but are the helpless victims of any one of these men who is ambi-

Wheat Has Advanced.

Yes; a startling advance, and of course we had to advance flour too. The consumer naturally asks: Am I benefitted? The answer is easy: Yes, you are, for higher wheat means returning general prosperity, higher wages, better business.

Every grocer keeps our "Sunlight" and "Daisy" brands and we guarantee quality to be always the best.

The Walsh-De Roo Mill. Co.

ous enough and unscrupulous enough to buy the chief office in the state? I do not believe that we have reached that point by any means. The great body of our people of all parties are as yet uncorrupted, but to many of them are in that careless and indifferent frame of mind which is the next thing to personal corruption.

Suppose when armed treason threatened the life of the nation in 1861, every man had said simply: "that is wrong; we have no sympathy with treason and we hope to see it overthrown," but no one had enlisted for active operations in the field. Or what avail would such loyalty have been? In those days loyalty to principle meant action. Every man felt a weight of responsibility resting upon him. He joined a company; the company joined a regiment; the regiment joined the army, which became a vast aggregation of patriotism, originating in the breast of each man in it.

There is another political evil, very threatening but not so dangerous. It is the demagogue, the loud-mouthed, empty-headed, brazen-faced hypocrite who prates of virtue but who deals in guile, who sometimes clutches with dirty fingers the very skirts of respectability that happily he himself is wallowing. He cries out loud against the machine. He would make you believe that the successful, the well-to-do, the cleanly, the respectable, all belong to, train with, and are ruled by it.

Beware of this man. If you follow him to escape the machine, you are likely to fall among thieves and political freebooters, who, if not so harmful to the state, are yet as dangerous, as they know how to have power to be.

My friends I call upon you one and all, but especially do I admonish the young men to guard with zeal and fidelity the sacred trust of the ballot that has been preserved to you through so much suffering and sacrifice.

Form your own judgments. Act upon your own convictions, but act. If the country ever falls into the hands of men who shall betray it, it will not be so much through the designs of actively wicked men, as through the indifference of fairly good men, who are criminal only through neglect of duty.

I appeal to you, fellow-citizens, to set up the same high standards of integrity and purity in politics that you insist upon in all other walks of life. May I ask more? It is not only your duty to have high standards, but it is your duty to make such sacrifices of time and money as may be necessary to defend them from those who would lower and debase them.

If you are not willing to do this simplest act of patriotism, do not call upon me to celebrate with you these solemn services for the dead, who died for their country. It is sacrilege for you to lay a flower upon the grave of a fallen comrade or hero whose virtues you are not willing in so slight a degree to emulate.

Do not understand me as speaking against loyalty to party. Every free people must be governed by parties, and nothing practical can be accomplished in the way of political action

HOLLAND CITY.

1893 and 1894 have been "calmity years" for real estate and all kinds of business but the sun has broken through the clouds and brighter days are dawning. Holland, during the late financial cyclone has grown faster than any other Michigan city and real estate has held its value.

THE GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY for getting the advance in real estate, which must result from new business blocks, new factories, new men and better times in my judgment has arrived. Dr. A. C. Van Raalte after the "great fire" when our people were passing through great trials, said:—"Some day a large city would grow up here at the head of Black Lake and then I will eventually be thankful for selecting this site for a large city." The language was prophetic.

At the Resorts.

THE HOTEL ABOUT COMPLETED AND COTTAGES MOVING IN.

Reverends J. S. Hughes and J. W. Allen of Chicago and their families are located in their cottages at Macatawa Park for the season.

Mr. C. J. Kendall freight agent of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway with headquarters in Chicago has moved his family in W. C. Walsh's cottage for the summer.

John N. Louckes who for a number of years conducted the store on the Ottawa Beach dock has obtained the store and pavilion privilege at Macatawa Park this year. He has already opened the store and will place a delivery wagon on the route at once.

Mr. H. W. Walsh and Mrs. Judd of Grand Rapids are having stone walls placed in front of their cottages at Macatawa.

Mr. Harry Sherwood and his family of Grand Rapids are spending a few weeks at the Park. They have rented their cottage and will go to Canada for the summer months.

Mr. Henry Idema's new pleasure launch is receiving the finishing touches and he expects to bring it to Macatawa Park this week via the Grand River.

One of the most modern and convenient summer cottages ever erected at Ottawa Beach is that just being completed for Mr. Fred Miller of Grand Rapids. It commands an unobstructed view of the bay and other resorts.

Mrs. Mary Ryder has had some material improvements made to the "Georgie" cottage including a basement and additional story.

President Perry has had some very thrifty trees planted on the lawn in front of the new hotel.

The stars and stripes floated from the flag staff over the new Hotel Macatawa for the first time last Saturday afternoon. Both carpenters and painters are pushing the work right along and there is no doubt now but that the house will be ready for the reception of guests by the third week in June. The exterior is virtually completed and the larger portion of the interior is ready for carpets and furniture. Major J. A. McKee the manager is already on the ground, looking after the various details in connection with the opening of this new and modern summer hostelry.

All of the expert fishermen who have angled in Macatawa bay unite in saying that this season has excelled all others within their experience in the way of genuine sport. The recent cold snap stopped the fish from biting for a while but some fine strings have been caught during the past week.

No steps have as yet been taken to clean the sand from the walks or renovate the buildings at Ottawa Beach.

Rev. W. D. Westerveld of Chicago spent two days at Macatawa Park this past week in the interest of the Summer Assembly.

Mr. G. A. Kanters has leased the Phillips cottage at Macatawa Park for the season and will occupy it as soon as the weather warms up enough for rustication.

Mayor J. H. Mykies of Battle Creek was at the park this week with a view to making some improvements to his cottage. He contemplates occupying it during the greater part of the summer and says a good many other Battle Creek people are coming.

There will be lots of sport in store for the owners of pleasure craft on Macatawa bay this summer. An organization has been formed known as the Grand Rapids Yacht Club, which has started out with a membership of over thirty, consisting principally of boat owners at the resorts. The officers are: Commodore, James Bayne; vice commodore, Charles B. Judd; rear commodore, Herman Idema; secretary, C. S. Payne; treasurer, J. P. Creque; fleet measurer, S. F. Griffin; fleet captain, H. N. Moore. Directors—George H. Long, L. C. Stow, A. A. Barber, C.

Good-Bye.

The farewell reception given by the Y. W. C. A. Friday evening to their late president, Miss Josephine Cook, was largely attended, not only by the membership of the association but by representative men and women of Holland, who by their presence desired to manifest the high regard entertained for the guest of the evening. The exercises were in charge of the newly elected president, Mrs. Geo. E. Kollen, and brief addresses were delivered by J. C. Post, president of the Y. W. C. A., who presented a set of resolutions adopted by the board of directors of his association expressing their high regards for the labors and hearty co-operation of Miss Cook, as president of the sister association. He was followed by Dr. Kollen and Mayor Diekema, at the close of which Mrs. Geo. E. Kollen, in behalf of the Y. W. C. A., presented her predecessor with an elegant silver tea service. For once, the environments were too much for Miss Cook and they appeared to obtain the mastery over her. It was only a brief moment though. Feelingly she responded to the many kind words spoken:

Providence has been very kind to me. With trembling heart I succeeded Miss Lizzie Cappon and entered upon the work. You, young women, have made my labors pleasant, while in every young man of Holland I have met a gentleman. Let the mothers of this city know that to their daughters these rooms are a christian home. I leave you as a friend, thanking you for assembling here this evening in such large numbers. To you, business men of Holland, I commit this association, hoping it may soon enjoy a home of its own. To the Y. W. C. A. I convey a message of love. May God prosper you! Girls, should you feel yourself upon the verge of faltering, come to these rooms for prayer, and be ever mindful of the obligation resting upon you towards the younger sisters that are to flock to this city. There is strength in unity and in prayer.

The program was interspersed with some fine selections of vocal music, at the close of which ample refreshments were served by the members of the social committee.

Rev. John Luxen and Miss Josephine Cook were married last evening at the bride's house on South Market str., by the Rev. J. Van Houte of the Market str. Ref. church, of which the bride was an active member. The bride and groom will shortly take up their home at Lansing, Illinois, where Mr. Luxen will assume pastoral charge of the Reformed church.

Michigan Basket Makers.

There was a meeting of the Michigan Basket Manufacturers Association in the parlors of the City Hotel Tuesday afternoon and evening for the purpose of fixing the prices of fruit packages for the season. About 75 per cent of the capital invested in this industry in the state was represented and matters of general interest to the manufacturers were freely discussed. Among those present were: W. A. Wheatley, Ludington; P. A. Dewitt, Spring Lake; Elmer Weed, Douglass; Theo. Wade, Fennville; J. P. Clapp, Glen; John Higman, St. Joseph; Geo. B. Thayer, Benton Harbor; J. D. Edwards, Agnew; P. G. Hillman, Spring Lake; Chas. L. King, Holland. In the absence of President Balow, Mr. Dewitt acted as temporary Chairman. Owing to the principal basket makers the main purpose for which the meeting was called was not accomplished. That was the regulating of prices of packages to the consumers. It is given out however that the cost of baskets to the fruit grower will not be enhanced. In all probability another meeting will be called in a very short time when there will be a full representation and some definite action taken. Mr. P. A. Dewitt of Spring Lake, was elected president and W. A. Wheatley of Ludington, secretary, for the ensuing year. During the afternoon the visitors were taken in tow by Mr. Chas. L. King, driven about the city and shown his extensive basket manufacturing plant on the lake front.

A Fennville correspondent says reports from twenty of the most prominent fruit growers of Western Michigan show that the injury to fruit is not so serious as reported. Peaches, pears, plums, cherries, quinces, currants and gooseberries are only slightly injured. Grapes and strawberries will be less than half a crop.

A BACK BLOW.

The Weapon Small,—but None More
Certain or Effective.

In these times when backs are lame, when almost every other one we meet has aches and pains, "a weak back," "a bad back," a back that makes their life a misery to bear—and still they go on day by day in pain and suffering. Now 'tis the easiest thing in the world to give this played out back "a blow" that will settle it, and put in its place a new one equal to any. It's just like this: hit at the cause; most backaches come from kidney disorders. Reach the kidneys, start their clogged-up fibres in operation; when this is done you can say good-bye to backache.

Here is a case from Battle Creek: Mr. Josiah M. Shoup lives at 51 Broad Street, he was a member of the Battle Creek police force for many years. As a member of the force he served the city well, but the rough weather he was often subjected to laid the foundation of kidney disorder, which has troubled him very much. Here is what he says about it:

"About three years ago, while on the police force, I contracted from exposure a kidney trouble, which has since given me no end of trouble. The pain was right through my kidneys and across the small of my back; if sitting down and I wanted to stand up, I had to arise very slowly and gently to avoid increasing the pain; I had such tired-out feelings all the time, and I was steadily getting worse. About two months ago, hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box. Their action and effect was most complete, they removed the old aching pains for good. I can now get around as quickly as anybody. Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly as represented."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

Mortgage Sale.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE conditions of payment of a certain mortgage made and executed by William Waurooy and Renske Waurooy his wife, of the city of Holland county of Ottawa and state of Michigan, parties of the first part, to the President and Directors of the Ottawa County Building and Loan Association, of Holland Michigan, a corporation organized and doing business under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Michigan, party of the second part, dated the 30th day of February, A. D. 1893, and recorded in the office of the register of Deeds, of Ottawa county, Michigan, on the 7th day of March, A. D. 1893, in liber 44 of mortgages, on page 811, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the time of this notice the sum of Six Hundred Sixty-seven Dollars and Thirty-two cents ($667.32), besides an attorney fee of Twenty-five dollars ($25.00) provided for by law and no suit or proceedings having been instituted at law or in equity, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part of it, and the whole of the principal sum of said mortgage together with all arrearages of interest thereon, having become due and payable by reason of default in the payment of interest on said mortgage on the day when the same became due and payable, and the non-payment of said interest in default for more than six months after the same became due and payable, wherefore under the conditions of said mortgage the whole amount of said principal sum of said mortgage with all arrearages of interest thereon, at the option of the said parties of the second part, became due and payable immediately thereafter, and the said President and Directors of the said Ottawa County Building and Loan Association hereby declare their election and option to consider the whole amount of the said principal sum of said mortgage due and payable. Notice, is therefore hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, and the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale, at public vendue of the mortgaged premises, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage with interest and costs of foreclosure and sale including an attorney fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) paid sale to take place at the north front door of the Ottawa county court house, a the city of Grand Haven, Ottawa county, Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for the County of Ottawa is holden,) on Tuesday the Twentieth day of August, A. D. 1893 at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, the said mortgaged premises to be sold being described in said mortgage as all that certain piece or parcel of land situated and being in the city of Holland, county of Ottawa, and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to wit: All that part of Lot Number Three (3), of Block Sixty-seven (67), in said city of Holland, bounded as follows: Commencing on the North West corner of said Lot Three (3), thence East along the North line of said lot eighty-two (82) feet, thence South parallel with West line of said lot one hundred fifty (150) feet, thence West eighty-two (82) feet, thence North along the West line of said lot one hundred fifty (150) feet to the place of beginning; all according to the recorded plat of said city, of record as of the village of Holland, in the office of the register of deeds of Ottawa county.

STEEL TANKS
We furnish steel tanks with covers, all galvanized after completion, in nests of ten, 8 to 12 feet high and 30 to 36 inches in diameter, at 2% per gallon. They do not rust, shrink, leak, give taste to water, nor allow foreign substances to get in. They can be put in garret or barn and thus are protected from freezing. They take no setting up, are cheaper than wood. Tank substructure of all sizes made to order. Send for price list and designs for substructure and ornamental water supply.

Did you ever stop to think how completely the Armotor Co. made the modern windmill business? How it has monopolized this entire line of manufacture because of its ideas, inventions, designs, quality and price, or forced others to be licensed and service imitators? Witness the steel wheel, the best geared pump, the high geared power mill, the steel tower, stand and tilting, the galvanizing of work after completion, the grinder centrifugal feed, the improved irrigating and other pumps, the all steel pole saw—one of the most popular things we ever put out—the steel storage and stock tanks. Everything we have touched we have bettered and cheapened. It is the thing we have delighted in and it has paid. We have established a score of branch houses, so as to have all these goods near those who want them. The Armotor Co. has but one more ambition. It wants to build and fill one more new building. It has 2 acres of land at its present location unoccupied by buildings. It expects to commence in June to cover that 2 acres with a single building, 7 stories high. This will give it 14 more acres of floor space. Then when the public demand requires more goods than can be produced with this added space, it will refuse to extend further, or make any effort. It will have done its share to supply that demand. It will then turn away all new orders UNTIL THAT TIME IT EXPECTS TO CONTINUE TO SUPPLY THE WORLD WITH THE GREATER PART OF ITS WINDMILLS, TOWERS, GRINDERS, FEED CUTTERS, PUMPS, STEEL FRAME BUSH SAWS, STEEL STORAGE AND STOCK TANKS, STEEL SUBSTRUCTURES, ETC., ETC. GALVANIZED AFTER COMPLETION. IT WILL CONTINUE TO DEAL MOST LIBERALLY WITH THE PUBLIC, FURNISH REPAIRS AT A LOW PRICE, AND BE THE GREAT SQUARE DEALING WIND POWER AND WATER SUPPLY HOUSE OF THE WORLD. except by a union of all those who favor such action.

But there are certain familiar rules of honor and integrity from which political parties are not exempt and every man must judge for himself whether such rules have been violated. And in my judgment, party loyalty is not above personal honor and devotion to principle.

When the leaders of parties come to know by experience that the people will follow them only so far as their flag is clean, they will be less likely to trail in the mire of political corruptions and dishonor.

Within these rules a man's fealty to his party is a private and public duty. All that the state has a right to ask of its citizens is that they shall exercise the right of suffrage intelligently and conscientiously. This is as much a public duty in time of peace as it is to bear arms in time of war.

Young men, through suffering and sacrifice, by the expenditure of great treasure, there has been preserved to you a flag without a star erased; a union of states that is fast becoming a union of hearts; a country that is free not only in name but in fact; a degree of liberty and equality before unknown in the history of any people. The men whose valor achieved all these for themselves and you have gone or are fast passing away. To day you recall their heroic deeds and cover their graves with flowers, but if you shall with devotion and loyalty to your country see to it that this heritage of freedom is sacredly preserved, not simply in form but in spirit, you will offer to them a sacrifice sweeter than flowers and erect a monument more enduring than marble.

Another selection by the quartette and the benediction concluded the exercises at the grove after which the procession again formed and proceeded to Pilgrim Home Cemetery.

Here the flower girls carefully and systematically distributed flowers on the graves of the fallen heroes. Considering that flowers were not very plentiful on account of the recent cold weather the display was fully as large as on previous years. Many private graves were also covered with flowers. After which the following programme was carried out:

Decoration of grave of Rev. A. C. Van Raalte, D. D., by G. A. R. and Veterans.
 Decoration of slab in memory of the absent dead.
 Song—"Tribute to our Patriot Brave."
 By chorus of twenty-five little girls.
 Roll of Honor, by G. Van Schelven.
 Remarks by Mayor Diekema.
 Song—"America."
 Benediction, by the chaplain.

The Grand Haven Tribune says: "John Kerkhof, of Holland City, one of the most popular supervisors of the county, was in the city to-day. Mr. Kerkhof is also secretary of the South Ottawa Fair Society. He says the society will put forth their best efforts this year to make the fair a grand success.

Dr. A. G. Huizinga of Roseland, Ill., has made his contribution towards a nucleus for Hope College museum by sending in a collection of Confederate paper currency embracing all denominations from $500 down to 50 cents. His brother J. G. Huizinga of this city has also made a contribution of 25 microscopical specimens.

A Correction.

In last weeks issue our compositor made a slight error in the advertisement of John Vandersluis. The add should read as follows: WHAT A HAPPY THOUGHT that you can go into an up to date Dry Goods store and know that all the goods they show you are new and up to date. We consider Mr. Vandersluis one of the add. writers in the city and we make this correction in justice to him and his new stock of Dress Goods.
