BIG DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST F. BERTSCH SETTLED

RESULT OF A BAD AUTO WRECK NEAR MUSKEGON IN OCTOBER

Fred Bertsch, living on the Park road and the living of Old Dutch Cherry Cider, is a happy man today. Last October while driving his car from Muskegon to Holland he collided with a car belonging to Wm. Thomas, occupied by Mrs. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Jack La Forge of Fort Wayne. All in the Thomas car were seriously injured, some remaining in the hospital for three months.

Damage suits were brought for $45,000 tying up all Mr. Bertsch's earthly possessions. The case has dragged along for several months and yesterday a settlement was made with the complainants of Fort Wayne, and Mr. Bertsch settled the suit for $5,000 through his insurance company.

Mr. Bertsch gives Frank Lieveens of Holland full credit for handling the case as an insurance expert. Mr. Bertsch states that the several suits have seriously handicapped his doing business, but now he is ready to go right ahead with his cherry cider making and has already a large number of orders booked for immediate delivery. He stated that while he was handling this suit Mrs. Bertsch was taking care of the cider trade and she made a great success as a business woman considering the handicaps. Both are now putting their shoulder to the wheel and the cider will be given the entire attention.

HOPE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION IS RICHER $450

The Hope Athletic association has received a boost of about $450 as a result from the present Senior class. The decision to dispose of the class fund in this manner was arrived at in a class meeting held on Friday of last week.

The money represents the proceeds from several showings of the class play, "The Enemy," and according to custom it has been given to the college for a definite purpose designated by the class. Financial aid for the Athletic association is timely coming a bit close at the end of the first year of membership in the M. I. A. at a time when this added stimulus will exert an influence toward keeping Hope in the running.

YNTEMA OF UNIVERSITY OF ILL. TO BE GUEST HERE

ALUMNI BANQUET AT HOPE WILL HAVE G. J. DIEKEMA AS TOASTMASTER

The program this year instead of being represented by each decade in a speech, will call on each member to give and present himself so that all may see his or her classmate. It is also unique in that all seniors are invited to attend with their parents, thus giving the present senior class an introduction to the alumni. Miss Cornelia Nettling will sing and will be accompanied by Miss Lokker.

All reservations for the banquet must be in by Saturday morning to either Mr. Lampen or Mr. Kleis. The supper will be served by the girls of the Y. W. C. A.

PROVISIONS OF NEW TRAFFIC ORDINANCE

On June 20 the new uniform traffic ordinance goes into effect in Holland, placing Holland in line with traffic laws in most of the other cities of the state. To give the readers of this paper a chance to become acquainted with its provisions, the law is printed in full on page five of this issue. The two main differences between the new and the old ordinances are that half-pin turns will be prohibited and a right-hand turn may be made against a red light, provided the state car first comes to a full stop, to give pedestrians a chance to cross the street.

MICHIGAN FARMERS HAVE A GOOD CHANCE

The outlook for the Michigan farmer is encouraging, according to R. S. Shaw, dean of agriculture at Michigan State college at East Lansing.

While admitting that some farmers of the state "have succumbed to the stress of the times," Dean Shaw asserted that the state's agriculture is in a position to meet the demand for food products at reasonably profitable prices. The Michigan farmer will still be able to meet that demand as the state still has enormous areas of valuable tillable land and other agricultural resources.

Dean Shaw declared, "only 50 per cent of Michigan farms are mortgaged to but 33 per cent of appraised valuation."

Summing up the situation, he said he believed the state's agriculture to be passing through a period of reconstruction and that the net result will be better, sounder agricultural industry.

A NEW METHOD OF MEASURING HEIGHT

Anyone looking out of the windows on the tennis court at the high school on Thursday, May 19 would have thought that someone was hurt or probably killed because there, his full length on the ground, lay a high school student. However this thought was soon quelled when another person moved a stick away from the heels of the supposed dead one and he moved forward. The reason for these queer actions is that three students from the fourth hour physics class were sent by Mr. Leddick to determine the height of the high school building by geometry. They were successful and got the exact height of the building—Maroon and Orange.

GUARD YOUR CAR AGAINST THIEVE

Despite the great increase in thefts of automobiles last year, recovery of such cars has proceeded at a much higher rate. Cars stolen last year amounted to 95,225, more than in 1918. But only 11 per cent of these were not recovered, while the recovery in 1918 was all but 21 per cent.

WHAT YOU SAW IN THIS PAPER FIFTY YEARS AGO

General Grant, visiting London attends a banquet given in his honor by the Duke of Wellington.

Mr. John Lesman, of this place and Mr. J. Mieras of Grand Haven, will start on a pleasure tour to Nebraska in a few days. We wish them a very pleasant time and a safe return.

The Queen of the Kingdom of the Netherlands is dead.

We are told that Mr. Veneklaasen has purchased that part of the brick yard belonging to A. Bolks & Bros., and will now conduct the business under his own name.

One of the finest and largest wagon shops in this county was built and almost completed by Mr. Wiggers in the village of Zealand. It is quite an addition to the village and is indicative of the enterprise contained in this line.

Two ragged little Holland urchins were standing in the gutter looking at a lady who had just fallen down on the pavement. "It isn't so much that I like oranges," observed one of them, "but what a lot of people you can bring down with the peel!"

Mr. Millard Harrington claims to have a breed of Buff Cochins, that is so well proven to his neighbors that they are now buying eggs from him to raise the same breed. Potato bugs stand no show on his farm, and he deems his fowls invaluable.

Our city council took warning we think from what the News of last week has to say about this economy, and this week we behold a square, laid back down in the shape of increasing those salaries that were really too low. The committee of the whole reported the salary bill for the fiscal year 1877. It was then placed upon the order of third reading of bills, then after some sharp debate reconsiderations, etc., the bill was adopted as follows: City marshal, $300.00; clerk, $200.00; city physician, $100; city attorney, $50; director of the poor, $25; chief engineer, $15; health officer, $15; and street commissioner, $200. The city attorney was instructed by the common council to draw up ordinance amending the existing ordinance relative to licenses of liquor dealers, which are considered "season keepers," shall pay a city license.

FOUR HOLIDAYS ARE REPORTED IN HOLLAND OVER SUNDAY. George Evans and Simon DeWitt were relieved of $18, a gold watch and fob and chain. Roy Lachaine was robbed of two rings and some small change taken. A Hollander by the name of Banthe who was held up, kicked the robber and the latter fled. The hold up man flourished a revolver when he commanded his victims to throw up their hands. Lachaine who refused, was knocked down with the robber's gun. The highwayman was caught in Muskegon by Chief Kamferbeek and the watch recovered.

Calling out Company F, Grand Haven Monday night undoubtedly saved scores of people from serious injury. When firemen were unable to keep a crowd away from a burning plant owned by the Leather Co. Heavily had the guards forced the onlookers to a safe distance when six deafening explosions occurred sending bricks and brands of burning timbers in all directions. EXCHANGEITES GO TO KAZOO IN WOODEN SHOES

Tonight the band of Exchangeites ala Netherlands are to meet at the armory at 8 o'clock for dress rehearsal. The stunt to be pulled off at the state convention to be held at Kalamazoo by this organization is to go in Dutch costume, wide trousers, blousey skirts, dutch caps and wooden shoes, just like you see in the land of dikes.

There will be about 50 of these shiny faced Hollanders from Holland, Michigan, and they will klump along behind the Holland high school band in the big parade that is to be one of the features of the convention.

Andy Klemp is marshal of the day and he will pass out the Dutch pipes with long stems, and do the other commanding with his stentorian voice.

THE HIGH SCHOOL BAND WILL ACCOMPANY THE LOCAL ORGANIZATION

Surveys, conducted by members of the state department of agriculture indicate a very high percentage of tuberculosis infection among the state's poultry flocks. It is a known fact that swine sometimes contract the disease from stray barnyard fowls.

Among the means of eliminating the danger of infected flocks offered by experts in the field are the following: confinement of the flock in a restricted space; disposal of old stock young birds and absolute cleanliness in the handling of large flocks of poultry.

All phases of animal tuberculosis will be discussed at the conference. A banquet at the Hotel Olds, Lansing, will end the two-day meeting.

TWO ECLIPSES AND SIGHT OF COMET TO COME WITHIN MONTH

June promises to be a Roman holiday for those astronomically inclined. Two eclipses will come this month. A total eclipse of the moon on the 15th, which will be visible throughout the United States, and will be seen in parts of Europe and Asia. The lunar eclipse will begin at 12:43 a. m. central standard time, on June 15. Totality ends at 2:35, and at 4:06 a. m. the moon will be entirely out of the shadow.

OTTAWA-ALLEGAN HERDS IN FINE CONDITION

CITY INSPECTOR, HENRY BOSCH, HEARS FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT

It appears that Ottawa and Allegan county herds are in wonderful condition, according to a letter to Henry S. Bosch, city inspector, from B. J. Killham, state veterinarian.

Mr. Bosch wishes it stressed that all herds where re-actors are found will be taken care of by the state, but where no re-actors were found in a previous test, these must be taken care of by a reputable local veterinarian.

The letter sent to Mr. Bosch follows below:

"Mr. Henry S. Bosch, City Inspector, Health Department, Holland, Michigan.

Dear Sir:

"Reference is had to your letter of June 4th addressed to Mr. H. W. Norton, Jr.

"It is not probable that the Department of Agriculture will be directly responsible for any tuberculosis tests conducted in southern Ottawa or northern Allegan counties in the near future, except insofar as the results of infected herds is concerned. Ottawa county is now classed as a Modified Accredited Area; the percentage of tuberculosis in the cattle of the county having been reduced to below one-half of one per cent. And until the three year period of accreditation has elapsed, only herds with previous history of infection will be retested.

"Allegan county will be cleaned up and in the same status as Ottawa county very soon.

"I would appeal that all the herds supplying milk to your city have been tuberculosis tested under state and federal supervision and practically free from disease. If your department feels that additional tests should be conducted, it will be necessary to employ local, approved veterinarians to make such tests.

"Yours very truly,

B. J. KILLHAM, State Veterinarian."

GRAND HAVEN MAN GETS VERDICT IN MUSKEGON COURT

JUDGE GOES TO SCENE OF AUTO ACCIDENT TO GET THE TRUTH

A motorist making a left hand turn off a trunk line highway is required to protect himself against traffic from both directions. That was the ruling made by John Vanderwerp in an opinion given Tuesday at Muskegon in Muskegon in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Richard Streng of Grand Haven against Geo. W. Atkinson of Muskegon. A judgment of $368.05 was given.

The suit resulted from an automobile accident on US-31 at the Fruitport corner many months ago. The plaintiff was traveling north on the trunk line and Rev. and Mrs. Atkinson were driving south intending to turn on the Fruitport road. As the defendant turned, the cars crashed.

Judge Vanderwerp held that the defendant was negligent and that the plaintiff was not. The defendant testified that he did not see Mr. Streng's car until it was almost on him. Judge Vanderwerp held that if he did not see the car it was because he did not look and that it was his duty to look.

Rev. Atkinson testified that he extended his arm in making the turn. The court points out that those in the plaintiff's car did not see the extended arm and occupants of another car failed to see the signal. Judge Vanderwerp went to the scene and as a result of his observation and the testimony held that the defendant cut the corner. This was decided by the location of a telephone pole at the scene of the wreck, and the testimony given.

The defendant filed a crossbill in the case asking $1,000 damages to his own car. The crossbill naturally was dismissed.

SULLIVAN WITH PERE MARQUETTE A HALF CENTURY

PASSED THRU HOLLAND DAILY FOR 35 YEARS

Holland will remember that pleasant, erect, soldierly-bearing conductor on the Pere Marquette, who for 35 years, up to three years ago, came thru this city every day. That was John H. Sullivan who has been with the local railroad for a half century.

Mr. Sullivan is now traffic representative for the road and still comes to this city from time to time. His fiftieth year with the railroad was celebrated recently.

Mr. Sullivan began his career as a fireman June 4, 1877, for Chicago, Michigan & Lake Shore road, when the main line was from New Buffalo to Pentwater, and there was a branch from Holland to Grand Rapids. He was identified with the Chicago & West Michigan railroad, one of the lines later incorporated in the Pere Marquette, and his service has included passenger brakeman, freight brakeman, freight conductor, passenger representative. Mr. Sullivan is married, resides at 456 Union ave., SE, Grand Rapids, and has two sons. He will be 70 years old July 8.

STATE ORDERS CLOSE SEASON ON PARTRIDGE

The conservation commission meeting yesterday at Lansing, authorized an order closing the season on partridge for one year following a motion of a noted writer, James Oliver Curwood, of Owosso, a member of the commission. The original motion of Mr. Curwood requested a closed season for two years, to which W. H. Louitt of Muskegon and Harold Titus of Traverse City objected.

The motion of Mr. Curwood to close the season on black, gray and fox squirrels and on spike horn deer, and to limit the season on rabbits were held until investigation can be made by the department.

The commission approved the plan of Mr. Titus to institute a reel inspection by the state game wardens to determine if possible, the number of fish in the state's lakes and streams. The plan includes a report of all fishermen to continue for a number of years in an effort to determine not only the size and quantity of fish in the lakes and streams, but to check the frequency and range of the game warden's department. Mr. Titus believes the plan constitutes the first technical scheme to be put into operation which will give the department a fair estimate of conditions throughout the state.

BOAT IS RENAMED FOR GOVERNOR FRED GREEN

The name of the screw steamer, Graycroft, built at Ecorse in 1918, is to be changed to Fred W. Green, according to a notification received from the Commissioner of Navigation at Washington by W. L. Phillips, deputy collector of customs of the Grand Haven port.

The boat is of 2,292 gross tonnage, larger than any of the boats running out of that port with the exception of the carteries. It was at one time owned by the U. S. Shipping Board. It is present in Muskegon undergoing repairs and will run between Charlevoix, Fox Island, Chicago and Milwaukee. She will carry gravel and sand.

POOR LEPERS CRAZED WITH GLEE OF MOVIES

LEPERS OF PHILIPPINES TO GET 250,000 FEET MOTION PICTURE FILMS

The constant shadow of tragedy that hovers over the leper colonies of the Philippine Islands and the Virgin Islands will be lightened soon by the arrival of 750,000 feet of movie comedy film.

Five thousand afflicted persons in these colonies eagerly await the pictures, which have been sent by Motion Picture Producers, Inc., Los Angeles, of which Will Hays is president. Among the gifts are news reels, to bring a glimpse of the world to those patients who must spend the remainder of their lives away from civilization.

Most of the lepers are illiterate; few speak the same language; practically none will be able to read the subtitles. Yet the colonies are wild with joy at the prospect of a break in the monotony of their tragic lives. They have it all figured out that 750,000 feet of film means 300 pictures, almost one a night for a year. And by that time they will be ready to see them all over again.

CHICAGO HAS 152 COURSES

A golfer would have to play a course a day from April 1 to Aug. 30 to familiarize himself with Chicago's golf links. There are 152 courses in and around that city, used, it is estimated, by 300,000 golfers.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT STILL HOLDS THE BOARDS IN COURT

FRANK BOLHUIS WAS THE STAR WITNESS WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Tells the Story of Differences Between Himself and Frank Essenburg

The principal witness in circuit court yesterday in the Bolhuis-Essenburg damage suit was Frank Bolhuis, head of the old firm. He claimed that strife, misunderstanding, disloyalty, and conspiracy were rampant and did great damage to the Bolhuis Lumber & Manufacturing company.

He stated that the whole atmosphere about the office and the plant seemed mysterious, that he was surrounded with disloyalty during the years 1925 and 1926. He stated that in element of suspicion was cast on everything, that men acted coldly toward him and there seemed to be a spirit of disruption in the organization.

He stated that he was very much on "the outside of the company of which he was the head, that there were secret meetings and whisperings as he came into the various rooms of the company.

He said that the old companionship that formerly existed seemed to be gone and that suspicion and discord was missing; the intercourse and exchange of opinions of old seemed to be out of the picture.

He stated that Mr. Essenburg and himself had many heated discussions in which Essenburg claimed that he was the brains of the firm, and this would be evident should he sever his connection with the old firm.

Mr. Bolhuis claimed further that complaints from customers never came in until this disruption was in the old firm was evident, and he blames it to faulty construction and slipshod work. Since Mr. Essenburg was the head of this department, Mr. Bolhuis said, the blame should be laid at his door, claiming further that Mr. Essenburg had been devoting himself to other things, including real estate, and he felt sometimes as if his offices were real estate offices instead of lumber company offices.

He stated that because of this condition his nerves were broken down, he was tired and sick and was down and out for several months, greatly mistaking the confidence and the friendly spirit that formerly prevailed, especially between Mr. Essenburg and himself.

Mr. Bolhuis stated that one of the great troubles between Mr. Essenburg and himself was the system of book-keeping. Mr. Essenburg wanted to keep the building operations and the business in the lumber yards separate. Mr. Bolhuis stated that he wanted to place the thing under one big system. The two partners could not agree as to policy on this phase of the business.

Mr. Bolhuis stated further that during 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1925 there was a substantial profit made by the firm, amounting to several thousand dollars, but he said that the old firm showed a loss of $17,600, while the four years before the profits were even more than that amount each year.

Mr. Bolhuis stated that he received a salary of $8,000 a year and that Essenburg received a guaranteed salary of $5,000 a year, besides commissions.

Mr. Bolhuis claimed that in 1926 he offered to buy the Essenburg stock at book value at 114 a share, providing Essenburg would agree not to go into a competitive concern. He stated Mr. Essenburg refused to do this.

Mr. Bolhuis also stated that Essenburg offered to buy the lumber for the new Essenburg company from the Bolhuis Lumber company, but wanted a discount of 10 per cent, but he said he would not give a discount not to give a margin of this kind.

Bolhuis stated that at one time he offered to let Essenburg and Vander Ven manage the Holland plant in order that he might take care of the Bolhuis Lumber and Manufacturing company interests at Gr. Rapids and at Muskegon, but it appears that nothing came of this.

James Klomp, parents who was also a member of the old firm and later a member of the new Essenburg company, was called to the stand and stated that he had at one time thirty of the Bolhuis plans in his possession but needed them to do business with. Lester Essenburg was also called to the stand. He was questioned relative to letters that his father had sent him while he was a student at the University of Michigan, and while he admitted that the letters from home related to business matters connected with the firm, he denied that the contents referred to disruption of the company. The attorneys for the plaintiff asked that these letters be produced but Lester Essenburg could not produce them, and this fact bore sarcasm from the Bolhuis attorneys.

GOLF HOLES AT MUSKEGON PARK ARE BEING PLANNED

The holes in the golf course at the Holland country club were officially christened Tuesday evening at the annual dinner that marks the opening of the season. Jim De Pree was the officiating master of ceremonies at the christening and a considerable number of the members of the club were god-fathers or god-mothers to the holes on which names were bestowed.

At the course of the opening dinner, President G. Vander Meulen announced that the only speaking activities of the evening would be the announcements of the committee chosen to pick the winning names. Recently Mr. Vander Meulen announced a contest to the membership for appropriate names, winners to receive golf balls as prizes. Nearly every member submitted a set of names, some of them proposing several names for the same hole. The committee, headed by Jim De Pree, chose the winning monikers, which are as follows:

1. Grand Canyon, 2. Lookout, 3. Warm Fridge, 4. Wooden Shoe, 5. Bob White, 6. Big Elm, 7. Circle Limb, 8. Shynety Duvell, 9. Kerplunk! Kerplunk!, 10. Marathon, 11. The Swale, 12. Shady Nook, 13. Bad Friday, 14. Punch Bowl, 15. Wedding Cake, 16. Death Valley, 17. Last Splash, 18. "Oh Mm", 19. The Swallow.

The dinner marking the opening of the season at the country club was a happy event. It was in charge of Mrs. J. C. Rhea, chairman of the entertainment committee. While the club has been open for several weeks, Tuesday night's festivities marked the official opening.

After a most delicious dinner, prepared in the style for which the country club has become famous, the floor was cleared and many of the members and guests indulged in dancing, while many others gathered at the bridge tables. There were between 20 and a hundred members and guests present.

The naming of the golf holes aroused a good deal of interest. Each of the names has real meaning for those who play the course. A great many names were submitted, some of them so appropriate that it seemed a pity to the committee that they could not all be chosen.

PARISH HALL FREE OF DEBT

The congregation of Grace Episcopal church was made happy today by the announcement of Father D. D. Douglas that the last check was paid off today on the debt on the parish hall. The building was erected less than three years ago at a cost of $5,000, and the debt was incurred when it was raised since that time by the small congregation which numbers no more than 20.

Father Douglas has been working on this project of paying off the parish hall debt for some time and has already started work raising the funds with which to pay off the remaining debts on the rectory and for repairs to the church.

DAUGHTERS AND MOTHERS HOLD JOINT BANQUET

A mothers-daughters banquet was held in the church parlors of the Maple Avenue Christian Reformed church Tuesday evening, 63 mothers and daughters being present. The banquet was put on by the young ladies' mission circle.

The decorations were sweet peas and colored lamps, the color scheme being yellow and white, with yellow and white napkins. A great many names were submitted, some of them so appropriate that it seemed a pity to the committee that they could not all be chosen.

COLLEGE SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL INITIATION

The Pi Kappa Delta chapter of Hope college held its annual initiation last night after a pleasing dinner in the private dining room of the Warm Friends Tavern. After short inspirational talks by Professor Brown Lubbers, coach of debate, and Professor Simon Heemstra, Mr. Wm Tuttle, the retiring president, performed the ceremony which officially made Kenneth Hyink, Gerri De Koning, Howard Stuyter, John Soper, Neil Van Oostenburg, and Russell Damstra members of the organization. The other members present were: John Mulder, Henry Burggraf, Jay Wabbe, and Vernon Ten Cate.

FROEBEL SCHOOL PICNIC WILL BE HELD FRIDAY

On Friday afternoon of this week the pupils of the Froebel school and picnic on the school lawn. The picnic will begin at 1:30 p.m. and the school is dismissed at about 3:30 and it will continue throughout the evening.

The picnic is staged by the P-T club and all the parents of the pupils are invited to join in and enjoy a good time. The committee has been hard at work to make the picnic a success. They will spare no expense to make the picnic a "good one" and to provide plenty of refreshments and games of all sorts. The sports committee has been particularly busy. The program of athletic activities will be under the direction of Mr. Moody.

The rights of a negro to equality were upheld in a Grand Rapids case where the lower court was ordered to hear the action of a negro refused a lower floor theater seat. This was the decision of the supreme court.

MRS. SNYDER EXAMINED IN SING SING PRISON

Ossining, N. Y., June 8.—The spirit and noise which carried Mrs. M. Brown Snyder through the trial for the murder of her husband has collapsed and alienists are examining her. She talks little, reads nothing, but sits on her cot staring at the wall. Doctors also will examine her condemned lover, Arthur Judd Gray.

The Prudential Insurance Co. has started suit to avoid paying Mrs. Snyder the $95,000 policy on her husband, Albert, who proposes to return her the premiums.

TELLS OF GROWTH OF THE PARENTS TEACHERS CLUBS

The Washington P-T club held its first regular meeting in the new building Tuesday evening. Bert Van Vliet, former president, had charge of the meeting in the absence of Chester Beach, the new president. Community singing was led by Gertrude Sanford. Mrs. Whitman interestingly told of the state convention at which she was a delegate. She was also a delegate to the first state convention at Battle Creek nine years ago. Then there were 75 delegates. This year at Flint there were 920 delegates, and many guests. In 1928 the state gathering was held at Battle Creek.

Mrs. D. B. K. Van Raalte beautifully sang "Homing" and "Happy Song," accompanied by Mrs. Martha Bobbins. Then the meeting was turned over to the fathers and the following talks were given, which were both interesting and instructive: "A Father's Attitude Toward His Child," Prof. P. E. Hinkamp; "What Is a Boy?" G. Groenewoud; "What It Means to Be a Father in P-T Work," R. M. Leun; "What Missed by Not Coming to P. T. A.," Henry Geerts. Mrs. Daugherty gave two fine readings, "Every Man's Home" and "Roads." Mr. Hartman conducted an examination for the fathers on questions pertaining to their children. Mrs. Whitman was appointed chairman of a committee to equip the kitchen during the summer. Refreshments were served by the fathers.

GRAND HAVEN HARBOR COMMISSION TO ORGANIZE SOON

The first meeting of the Grand Haven Harbor Commission appointed by Mayor H. H. Hillman recently will be called for organization and election of a permanent chairman, by Paul R. Taylor, city manager, some time during the coming week. Mr. Taylor had been delayed in this wishing to accommodate Capt. McClaren, superintendent of ferries for the Grand Trunk Co., who is a member but lives in Milwaukee.

At this time a chairman and secretary will be appointed, and definite plans will be discussed as to the way in which the body can best turn its attention.

N. J. MAN IS CLASS PRESIDENT

Through his election as president of the Hope college class of 1928, Lester Bossard of Riverdale, N. J., also will assume the presidency of Hope's student council. The student council is composed of the following: Eugene Damstra of Holland; secretary, Geraldine Walvoord of Holland; treasurer, Julius P. Schipper of Holland, and members of the student council, G. V. Clichoupol of Sodus, N. Y., and Jeanette Vander Naald of Cicero, Ill.

The class of 1928 presents possibilities of being the first class with a membership exceeding the century mark. Its present enrollment is 110.

NO OIL AT 1,937 FEET, DRILLERS STILL GO ON AT MUSKEGON WELL

Disappointed in their expectations of finding oil at a depth of 1,937 feet, drillers sinking the well of the Muskegon Oil corporation's test well Tuesday night continued drilling in soft limestone and had progressed several feet below the old level at a late hour.

A strong odor of oil is evident near the well; oil appears in every scoopful of "mud" drawn up from the well bottom, and the mud itself smells strongly of oil, yet crude petroleum has not been found. Drillers are prepared to go another thousand feet down if necessary.

Officials of the company still have a strong belief that oil in paying quantities will be found. They base their belief on the unmistakable odor of oil and the quality of the sand.

TO SHOW PUBLIC HOW SERUMS ARE MANUFACTURED

Holland can well be proud of her health record. This city is well at the head of the list in the matter of prevention of the acute contagious diseases. Credit does not belong to the health board and physicians alone, but belongs as well to the general public for their hearty cooperation in all matters of health.

Practically the entire present school population, and the immediate preschool children as well, have been protected against small pox and diphtheria. A program for immunizing all school children against scarlet fever is well under way and will be completed this fall. These are measures which add years to the average span of life. Such a health program as Holland has launched upon in truth makes the city a place where folks really live, and really live as near to the allotted "three score and ten years" as any where in this country.

No doubt many have often wondered how these "little shots" the children have been getting are made. On next Tuesday evening, June 14th, at eight o'clock at the Masonic temple, you will be invited to see just how toxin-antigen and all the other things are manufactured. The Ottawa County Medical society was very fortunate in getting a moving picture film showing every step in the manufacture of these truly life-saving products. This film has been shown in only a few places in the state such as Detroit, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, and Battle Creek, and everywhere it has been received with much enthusiasm. The film was made purely for educational purposes and not for revenue. No admission fee is charged. The Ottawa County Medical society kindly invites the various Parent-Teachers clubs, all school teachers, nurses, and those of the general public to be their guests at the portrayal of this highly educational picture on next Tuesday evening.

SAW LINDBERGH'S PLANE ARRIVE ON AVIATION FIELD

At least one man from here was present on the aviation field in Paris on the day when Charles A. Lindbergh arrived there on his historic flight. This person was Tony Paveis, who, while not now a citizen of Holland, once lived here and attended Hope college. He has written an interesting letter about the experience of his brief visit to Paris. Tony Paveis has been traveling in Europe for some time.

The letter was dated May 22 and in part reads as follows: "I am keeping up with it but it does seem the day is so soon gone by and our accomplishments so little. Have been here in Paris about 2 weeks and find it just as difficult to get around it as before. The time at that angles and the name of it changes every few blocks; then too, I know no French and that surely is a great hindrance; but as it is, we get some joy out of it."

These days the American flag is very much displayed in Paris, that is on account of Capt. Chas. A. Lindbergh having made the record flight across the Atlantic and is here at the present time. Last Saturday some 50,000 and myself went to the Boulogne aviation field to greet him on his arrival. You may know that is some people, and very few of them got anywhere near to see him, though well, when all was over and the people started to go home, they found it such a mixed up jam that it took us from 10:45 to 12:15 to get to a side road, having moved only about 3 short blocks in a short trip on the night I did not get to bed until 2 A. M., and we were by no means the last ones getting home. The aviation field is about 5 miles out. This coming Thursday I am planning to go to Germany and a short trip to the Rhine, and then to Holland and England. All told, this may last about 2 more months and then I'll be heading for home."

DEFENDANT GETS VERDICT IN ALLEGAN ROOFING CASE

In the suit of J. M. and L. A. Osborne company of Allegan, contractor, to collect payment of $844.16 for roofing sold to defendant, the jury in Allegan circuit court Tuesday awarded $175 damages on his recoupment claim against the company.

The testimony of the plaintiff, Ehle, refused to pay for roofing received in July, 1926, until adjustment was made on a previous adjustment which he alleged was defective. Evidence introduced was of a technical nature and several experts testified.

CITY LAND TITLE SUIT DECIDED FOR VAN ZYLEN

The chancery case of Peter Van Zyl against Charles Bahr of Grand Haven in regard to title to some property in the extreme north end of that city was decided by Judge O. S. Cross in a written decree this week.

The plaintiff, Peter Van Zyl, was given the property under adverse possession although Bahr claimed he had a title record.

The land had been occupied by the plaintiff openly and upon this feature of the law the decision was made. This case has been in the court for some time and interested many acquainted with its features.

The testimony of the fence in question failed to show there had been an agreement that it was built upon the true boundary line.

A MONUMENT FOR FIRST OTTAWA TRAPPER

Members of the Kent county road commission Tuesday asked the county finance committee to transfer $100 to the road fund to meet the cost of erecting a monument of Rix Robinson, first trapper in the county.

The Kent board of supervisors, Rix Robinson was the first white man to come to Ottawa county establishing a trading post on Grand River at what is now Grand Haven.

DRESS REHEARSAL FOR EXCHANGE CLUB AT ARMORY

Exchange club committees having in charge the features for the parade to be put on by the Holland group of Exchange clubs who are going to Kalamazoo state meet Monday have requested that all those members who have their suits ready meet at the armory for "dress rehearsal" Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Andrew Klompers and Heinie Reids are in charge. All members are urged to be present and see the fun and make suggestions that might aid to these features.

HOLLAND LAD IS IN- JURED FOR THIRD TIME

Although only just in his teens, Lester Hopkins has figured in three accidents, each of which resulted in fractured limbs. When a lad of 4 years he fell off a porch and suffered a broken arm. Three years later he tumbled out of a tree and sustained a fractured leg. The third accident occurred Tuesday when he stepped on a little box. The box tipped over, causing him to lose his balance and he suffered a fracture of his other arm.

Three years ago Lester underwent an operation for appendicitis. He is a son of Clifford Hopkins, clerk in the Holland postoffice.

RUSSELL DAMSTRA WILL TEACH IN HONOLULU

Hope college will in the coming year have a representative in Honolulu, Russell Damstra of the graduating class has recently accepted a position as an instructor in one of the high schools of the country, and expects to begin his work in the fall term.

A graduate of Holland high school and a student at Hope for four years, Mr. Damstra has to his credit an excellent scholastic record and a worth while college career. As winner of the Raven oratorical contest of last year he represented Hope in the contest in oratory of the Michigan Oratorical League where he won second place and later he carried first honors in a Provincial contest of the Pi Kappa Delta.

GENERAL SYNOD CLOSES WORK TUESDAY NIGHT

General synod of the Reformed Church in America, meeting at Assembly Park, N. J., finished its business after the public meeting Tuesday night and adjourned to meet next year in the Church of St. Nicholas, New York.

The board of education reported gifts of more than $100,000 for the first time. Of this sum $72,000 was given to institutions.

Hope college doubled its membership in 10 years and now has 330 students. It has more than $800,000 endowment.

The synod established a pulp exchange to bring churches and ministers together under the board of education and the board of missions. The synod also voted against the resolution to hold its session every two years.

Domestic missions were the chief topic of Tuesday afternoon's session. Contributions of $292,340 in gain of $8,465; receipts were $452,341.

Two hundred churches were helped in part, 7 new missions were begun, 6 churches were organized and 8 churches were reorganized.

The reformed church now is preaching the gospel in more than 12 languages. The synod ordered that churches except in exceptional cases. The synod also voted against the resolution to hold its session every two years.

Washington, June 8.—The supreme court has just decided that carelessness with fire need not be confined to forest lands, in order to constitute a criminal offense under Section 53 of the United States Criminal Code. Leaving a fire near a federal forest without totally extinguishing it even though the fire is started on private land is a criminal offense in the eyes of the court, and punishable by fine or imprisonment if National Forest timberland is endangered.

The decision is especially important to National Forest protection, according to the Forest Service, for their many thousands of miles of boundary are subject to the grave danger of fires that originate on adjacent private lands outside and may sweep into National Forest land.

The decision, coming at the very beginning of our main forest fire season, will be a powerful factor in preventing carelessness with fire on private lands within and near the National Forests, according to John H. Hatton, acting district forester of the United States Forest Service, Denver.

"The careless camper or owner can no longer plead private ownership as an excuse for leaving a live fire which escapes to government timber," said Mr. Hatton. "The fact that the law applies equally clearly and forcefully to fires abandoned on government land, gives a strong weapon for combating this phase of the fire problem."

The Forest Service co-operates in fire protection with many private owners whose lands adjoin or intermingle with National Forest land, but there are many other owners and many visitors who are careless with fire. The fact that the law applies equally clearly and forcefully to fires abandoned on government land, gives a strong weapon for combating this phase of the fire problem."

MERCHANTS ARE NOT SPLIT ON CLOSING

In the Grand Rapids Press of Wednesday an article appears stating that the merchants are split on summer closing. From this item it might be assumed that there is a difference between the merchants, which is far from the truth.

The back street merchants have always set aside four months in the summer for half holiday. This dates back some years. A few years ago the downtown merchants also wanted a half holiday and tried it out for two months in the summer.

The only change that was made was that the downtown merchants agreed to close on the same afternoon with the back street merchants during their vacation period. This was heartily endorsed by all store keepers and there was no disagreement in the matter. This program was agreed upon again this year, at the last merchant's meeting in May.

ALLEGAN COUNCIL FAVORS MUNICIPAL LIGHT PLANT

The Allegan city council adopted resolutions Tuesday night that it is expedient for the city to construct works to supply the city with electric lights and ordered an estimate of construction expenses to be secured and placed in records of council proceedings.

A special election to bond the city for building a dam and power plant on a site six miles above Galkins bridge on Kalamazoo river will be held at an early date. It is expected.

SCOUT NEWS BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Troops One and Five Tie in Memorial Day Inspections

Troop One of the Grand Haven Presbyterian church and Troop 5 of the Grand Haven Methodist church tied for first place in the Memorial Day inspections. Troop One won 14 points largely on numbers present and in regulation uniform, while Troop 5 scored heavily on its troop equipment, including patrol flags, etc. Both troops are now the worthy of the honor. They earned fourteen points apiece.

The standings of other troops are: Troop 4, Coopersville, twelve points; Troop 9, Holland Haven Episcopal church, 8 points.

Troop 6, Holland First Reformed church, 8 points; Troop 11, Holland Sixth Reformed church, 7 points.

Troop 10, Holland Methodist church, 6 points; Troop 7, Holland Third Reformed church, 6 points.

Troop 16, Grand Haven Second Christian Reformed church, 6 points; Troop 9, Holland Hope Reformed church, 4 points.

Troop 17, Holland Episcopal church, none.

Troop 2 and 14 did not have inspections in their communities.

Troops 8 and 12 were not eligible to compete, their registrations having expired.

The fact that the first four places were won by north district troops is a just credit to the leaders of that district.

Holland Ship Wins Seascout Inspection

Both the Holland and Grand Haven seascout ships made exceptionally fine showings and rendered valuable services during Memorial Day activities.

Ship Paul P. Harris of Holland won the competitive inspection among seascout ships by earning fourteen points against nine earned by the Wm. E. Presto of Grand Haven. The Paul P. Harris mustered twenty-eight men, three leaders and three committeemen, and was uniformly completely.

President Church Scouts Fete Dads

A father and son banquet was held last Friday evening for the scouts of Troop 1, Grand Haven Presbyterian church, and their dads. The tables were spread in the new church house and the fathers enjoyed the necessities for a high morale.

Dr. J. J. De Kraker presided. Following supper the program was launched by every scout introducing himself and father. Short talks were made by city commissioner Jay Dykhouse, and Scout Executive E. J. Geiger. Major Olson presented a troop flag given by the Challenge Refrigerator Co. in honor of Robert Hillman.

The troop offered a most striking appearance with over thirty scouts present, all perfectly uniformed. And their high spirits were equally as striking as their appearance. This troop which was organized only two years ago has established a record which is fitting for any troop to strive to follow.

Council President O. T. Schubert presented the charter, and advanced awards, which the scouts accepted with pride. The scouts were then presented with a record which is fitting for any troop to strive to follow.

Here's the Proof!

Backing Every Statement With Values Is Our Idea of Making Good!

Who Gets Your Salary This Month?

To Worried Housewives:

When you sit down with that first-of-the-month stack of unpaid bills, don't you think it would be wise to do a bit of calculating.

Cash will always get you a lower price than credit. Always, since the world began, you have had to pay for the use of money. A dozen articles are purchased more cheaply than one, and if you could buy a thousand dozen you would get still closer to the actual cost of manufacture.

Every bit of merchandise sold in a J. C. Penney Company store is bought for cash and the resultant saving passed on to you. That means that the average family in a year can save from $50 to $100 by the Pay-As-You-Go plan, and spend this money on some luxury they could not otherwise afford.

"Charge it" is one of the most dangerous phrases in the English language. "I'll pay for it" on the other hand makes you a shrewder judge of values, curbs useless purchases and is a sure cure for those First-Of-The-Month-Blues.

TOURIST RESORT BOOK IS ISSUED, VERY ATTRACTIVE

Thousands of beautiful booklets, entitled "West Michigan Vacation Directory," have been printed and are being sent broadcast, many of them coming to Holland. It is an artistic job of printing and emphasizes the spirit of vacation—fishing, boating, golf, bathing, and rambling in the open.

Holland is often mentioned in the book as an ideal place to go to spend the summer. The large road map also indicates this city and its resorts plainly marked on two trunk lines, M-31 and M-21.

A large map of Michigan in colors showing means of transportation by water and land is also found in the book besides the places where campsites are available. This city is also plainly indicated on this large map showing too that we have camp sites here for tourists. The directory gives a list of all Holland and resort hotels as well as the guarantee of the city where tourists can be accommodated. Restaurants and cafes are also tabulated, as are the local service stations.

The highway from Grand Rapids to Holland is fully described, as is the West Michigan pike, and incidentally the book states that there are 21,566 miles of improved roads in Michigan.

Macatawa, Ottawa Beach, Black Lake, the Getz Farm and other show places are written up, and an inventory is given of the sights to be seen and the advantages that the tourist can enjoy in this vicinity.

The book contains many beautiful resort pictures, and altogether it is a piece of advertising that attracts and is worth saving.

Besides this directory there is a special Western Michigan automobile road map in time card form, also gotten out by the Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, a concern that has been organized not for profit but to boost Western Michigan as the "Playground of America." The road map is filled with general information, highway information, Michigan game laws, which roads are improved, and which are not. It indicates the free state parks and other parks where golf links are to be found in Western Michigan. The Holland Country Club and the Ottawa Beach Country club are mentioned, together with fifty others.

Newspaper men of note have contributed articles to this advertising matter, which are short but interesting and tell why thousands of tourists from every part of the United States come to Western Michigan to play in the summer.

Michigan has had these resorts for a half century but for the greater part of that time only a small number of people came annually. The trouble was they did not know what Michigan had to offer in the way of a summer recreation spot until the Western Michigan Tourist and Resort Association got busy with its attractive advertising and publicity early in the spring and summer in the big metropolitan dailies of the middle west and south.

The first year when this publicity was started in a small way the results were already apparent. Today Western Michigan is nearly overwhelmed with resorters in the summer time. A motorcade from early morning until late at night crosses over the bridge from the mainland to the state of Michigan from every direction. These tourists are leaving millions of dollars here and facts and figures show that the tourist crop is the biggest crop that Western Michigan has.

This being the case, Western Michigan must also help the tourist and resort company to pay the advertising bill and the administration of its affairs. The men back of this organization are well known and past experience would indicate that they merit the support of every resort town and county along these shores.

Holland is in that class and for that reason a meeting was held in Warm Friend Tavern and a large committee was formed to solicit funds to help along this publicity. Holland's quota is $1,200 and the committee in charge has been instructed to visit every public spirited business man and to pay a visit especially to those who directly benefit because of this big tourist trade, and include all Holland. The resort hotels and the places of amusement will also be visited.

Mr. F. V. Blakely of Grand Rapids will be in the city for a week accompanying committees who are in charge of the publicity and give every phase of publicity and give all details of the work of this organization, and answer all questions that may be put to him.

Hugh Gray, formerly with the Per Macquette and well known in Holland, is the secretary and manager of the Western Michigan Tourist and Resort Association.

COMPOSER TELLS OF HIS WORK

The parable of the prodigal son which will be sung in oratorio form next Sunday afternoon at 4:30 in Carnegie hall, is well known to everyone. Yet because of its familiarity it has often lost its effectiveness and forcefulness. Arthur Sullivan throws a new light upon the parable and adds to its meaning by setting it to music. He has nicely arranged it in choruses, quartets and solos. The following are excerpts with which the composer prefaces his production:

"It is a remarkable fact that the parable of the prodigal son should never before have been chosen as the text of a sacred musical composition. The story is so natural and pathetic and forms so complete a whole; its lesson is so thoroughly Christian; the characters though few are perfectly contrasted, giving an excellent opportunity for local color."

"The prodigal himself has been conceived of not as naturally brutish and depraved disposition, but rather as a buoyant, restless youth, tired of the monotony of home and anxious to see what lay beyond the confines of his father's farm, going forth in the confidence of his own simplicity and ardor and led gradually away into follies and sin which, at the outset, would have been as distasteful as they were strange to him."

The combined glee clubs of the college will give this oratorio next Sunday at 4:30 o'clock. The time has been set at 4:30 so no one will be prevented from going because of a service at his church. Mrs. Fenton will direct the singing, with John Lloyd Kollen as accompanist.

SAYS HE DID NOT START THE BOLHUIS CO. FIRE

Pleading guilty in Grand Rapids police court Tuesday to a charge of kindling a fire on property of the Columbus Lumber Co., near the Michigan Central railroad tracks, Grover Parmenter, 33, formerly of Ludington, was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail. The jail sentence was started Monday.

Police officers Droger and Tinney arrested Parmenter late Monday night after receiving word that a stranger was seen firing a pile of crates. The officers said Parmenter had obtained a pile of crates from the yard, had broken it into small lengths and was near the fire.

Parmenter denied to Detectives Van Koughnet and Schenck, investigators Sunday morning's blaze in the Columbus Lumber & Manufacturing Co. yards, that he knew anything of the origin of that fire.

SPRING LAKE WOMAN LOSES TWO DIAMOND RINGS

Mrs. Ella Wood of Spring Lake reported to the State Police and Sheriff Kamferbeek Tuesday morning the loss of two diamond rings, a gold wrist watch and a small sum of money from her home on Saville st., Grand Haven, sometime during Monday afternoon. Suspicion is attached to George Bernard, who had been living with her for a week and who has disappeared without a trace as to his whereabouts.

Mrs. Wood took this boy, who is 18 years old and a companion John Vander Meiden, into her home a week ago when they came from Flint looking for work. Vander Meiden found work in Ferrisburg night but the other lad was still unemployed. She told them she would do all she could to help out but they refused to leave her lawn. She went for a ride in the afternoon and when she returned, 10:30 p.m., looked as was her custom for her jewelry. The loss was discovered and a thorough search was made through the house. When Vander Meiden returned he found his suit and suitcases also missing and further established suspicion that Bernard was implicated in the theft.

Mrs. Wood had other money in the house which had been concealed but the sum lost belonged to the Cemetery Board of which she is treasurer. The sheriff thinks the youth took the Milwaukee boat Monday night.

The rings, besides being valuable, were heirlooms highly prized by the owner and the loss is deeply felt. Her kindness in trying to help the young man, if he be the offender, was returned by the loss of the week's board bill as well.

FRUIT CROP TO SHRINK, BELIEF

Radical reduction in the size of Western Michigan's fruit crop and smaller yields of corn and potatoes in the western part of the state this year are indicated in estimates announced by crop experts today.

Extensive damage to the peach crop of the western counties is reported. Winter killing and spring frosts have dimmed the prospects for peaches in the western counties. The excessive moisture and cold weather have seriously affected the outlook for corn and potatoes.

Not more than 25 per cent of the average corn acreage has been planted to date in Western Michigan while approximately 25 per cent of the early potato crop has rotted in the ground.

June 1 is regarded as the deadline for planting corn in all counties along the western lake shore are unfit for planting, dry weather of the last week is aiding the farmers and planting operations will be in full swing within the next ten days.

The value of all Michigan farm crops last year was $254,000,000 and this was somewhat less than figures for the two preceding years, according to the United States department of agriculture.

Production of corn in Michigan amounted to 54,162,000 bushels, more than 10,000,000 less than in 1924. Indications are that corn, one of the leading crops of this section, will yield a smaller crop this year.

The state potato yield last year was 29,880,000 bushels. This year potato production may drop to the 1925 level of 24,411,000, representing the smallest potato acreage planted in Michigan in 25 years.

Apple production in Michigan this year is expected to be near last year's crop of 9,045,000 bushels. The pear crop this year is expected to be well behind the 1928 yield of 889,000 bushels.

Prospects for a good grape crop cannot be foreseen at this time. Last year's crop totaled 60,900 tons.

ALCOHOL-OF-THE-FIRE CALLS MUST BE COMPENSATED

When recently Fire Chief Blom made a number of recommendations to the council in his annual report the matter was referred to the ways and means committee. This body Wednesday night made its report on the recommendations, as follows:

May 18, 1927
To The Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of Holland.
Gentlemen:

The committee on Ways and Means presents herewith its report on the annual report of the Fire Marshal, to which committee this report was referred.

1. That the erection of a new fire engine house be deferred until such time as when the department acquires new equipment.

2. That the purchase of an Aerial Truck be delayed for the present. The committee notes here that no provision was made in the budget of the fire department for this purpose.

3. That inasmuch as no provision was made in the budget of the fire department to cover the reconstruction of No. 1 pumper from 3000 gallon pump to a 750 gallon pump we would recommend that the Board of Police and Fire Commissioner be requested to submit to their convenience an estimate of cost covering such reconstruction.

4. The committee recommends that the entire matter of attendance of the fire department on out of the city fires be referred back to the Board of Police and Fire Commissioner.

5. The committee further recommends that the Board of Police and Fire Commissioner be requested to prepare a schedule of prices covering such services, and that they shall determine in the schedule the service shall be rendered. ## ISSUE MEMORIAL TO DR. DOSKER

Christian Intelligencer—Professor Henry E. Dosker, of the department of church history in the Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary, died December 1, 1926, at the time of his death he was in the 60th year of his age.

He was a native of the state of Ohio and he had been brought up and to which he gave years of effective service before entering the Presbyterian denomination.

A tribute to his memory has recently been issued in the shape of a booklet, in which are gathered together the addresses delivered at the funeral of Dr. Dosker and at the memorial service held in the Louisville Seminary.

To these are added the brief personal notes delivered on December 5, 1926, the last editorial he wrote for the Christian Observer, and a poem he wrote, inserted to show the fine poetic gift he possessed. All in all the booklet is a beautiful gift to a great Christian, whose impress will be felt for many years in widely separated places.

Friends of Dr. Dosker who desire to obtain one of the booklets may address Mr. C. Dosker, c/o Paul Steketee & Sons, Grand Rapids, Michigan. There is no charge.

RUSH SCENIC ROAD BUILDING WORK

Completion of five and one-half miles of the 10.63-mile scenic highway now under construction between Whitehall and Muskegon by July 1 is the goal set by the Sloan-Lyons Construction company, I. J. Lyons announced Monday.

Concrete has been laid to a point south of the Duck Lake channel today. The Duck Lake bridge was completed last week. Construction at the end of one-half mile a week is the average progress estimated for the present month.

The S. S. Craycroft, ocean-going freighter engaged by the Sloan-Lyons company to haul sand and gravel from Fox Island near Charlevoix for use on the highway, is being fitted out with loading equipment including two 30-ton derricks.

The cost of the equipment is estimated at between $30,000 and $40,000.

When the north half of the highway has been completed, building materials will be moved from Whitehall to Muskegon by pack trail. The materials will be unloaded at Bay Mills when work commences on the south end of the project.

BLUEGILLS AND BASS ILLEGAL UNTIL JUNE 16

Game wardens are calling attention to the law on bluegills, small and large mouth bass, and rock bass to the effect that the season on these fish does not open until June 16.

And if anybody is caught with these fish, they will get a stiff fine, for there is no excuse for catching them now the wardens contend. The fish enumerated are now spawning, which is reason enough for closing the season on them.

Inland lakes in Michigan's southern counties are closed to fishing until June 16. If you do want to fish a lake, drive north to Antrim or Wexford county, where the prohibition does not apply on perch, suckers, mullet, carp and grasspike.

The state police arrested Klaas Katt, 59, of Perryburg for violation of the liquor law. He was arraigned this morning on a specific charge of sale and possession.

As this is the second offense it is apt to go hard with him. The police raided his little garage down by the river and found a small

SAUGATUCK AGAIN TO HAVE TWO MAILS DAILY

Once more Saugatuck is having the privilege of two mails a day having had but one each day since the discontinuance of the interurban railroad.

Ben Weigert of Douglas has taken the contract for four years to carry the mail out to Saugatuck, between Holland and Saugatuck, Douglas, Macatawa and Castle Park, which was established by the government when the Holland interurban ceased operations.

GRAND RIVER ONCE OPENED

There was once a waterway open from Grand Haven to Detroit as this recent revelation in a Detroit paper recalls:

Samuel R. Brown the industrious compiler of the information for the "Western Gazetteer," dated 1817 mentioned briefly that about 25 years before two piquets had been "detached" from Detroit and sent across southern Michigan, lake to lake, until the necessity of making a carry.

This appears to have been the route the boats followed: Down the Detroit river to the mouth of Huron river, up the Huron to Portage lake, from Portage lake into Little Portage lake, up Portage river to the marshes near Stockbridge, from which water on the west flowed into what is now called Orchard creek, a tributary of the Grand river; thence to Lake Michigan.

Even as late as 40 years ago, the marsh waters in the vicinity of Stockbridge were frequently in a state of delicate balance. The divide was so low that in very wet seasons, obstructions, such as floating logs, or the influence of high winds, could cause the flow to take either a western or an eastern direction. The advantage of such a condition was no doubt seized by the agent of the fur traffic, saving as it did, not only labor at the carries, but also the long way by the Maumee-Wabash-Ohio-Illinois route, and the dangerous one around the end of the lower peninsula of Michigan.

The speeding up of the draining of the land has closed that waterway. Rain hardly more than falls nowadays before it is in the drain pipes of the farms, into the ditches, creeks, rivers and lakes, making headway on its journey to the sea. It is partly the same system by which the Michigan river is hurried, that is responsible to the present unusual floods in the Mississippi valley. Hundreds of small streams, tributary to a score of great ones, are discharging in the Father of Waters, all at the same time and are more than the Mississippi can carry. Consequently banks are overflowing, levees are broken and the chief business of the inhabitants of the bottom lands is to bundle together what possessions they can, and hot foot for high ground.

THE COOPERSVILLE CARRIERS HAD 18,794 PIECES OF U. S. MAIL

Coopersville Observer—Few people realize the total amount of mail handled by the rural mail carriers out of Coopersville. Each year the post office department makes a count of the number of pieces of mail delivered by each rural carrier. The first fifteen days of May is the time chosen for this count, as it is thought that by this time the average for the year is struck. The Christmas mail, of course, is many times larger than this figure, but there are times when the figure falls below the first of May.

The count in the Coopersville post office shows that 18,794 pieces of mail were handled by the four local carriers, during the specified time. The amount is divided as follows: W. J. Bennett, R. 1, 5,278; Fred Hicks, R. 2, 4,023; Harold Laug, R. 3, 4,688; Leon Reynolds, R. 4, 4,805.

AT LEAST 150 MILES OF GRAVEL ROAD IN OTTAWA COUNTY

A regular meeting of the Ottawa County Road Commission was held in the court house with little new business coming. After a careful inspection of the county roads it was decided to inaugurate a resurfacing campaign in which 150 miles in this county which are gravelled and 50 miles a year is the amount the commission hopes to cover. The worst places were marked on the previous year's inspection trips. These bad spots will receive attention immediately. The cost will be about $500 a mile.

STATE PLANS FINGERINGS BLUEGILL FINGERINGS

Michigan's first attempt to raise bluegill fry to fingerling size will be made during the coming summer at the state hatchery at Hastings, unless there is a hitch in present plans. The conservation commission has given its approval to a program laid out by Superintendent of Hatcheries Fred Westerman and it is probable that at least one bluegill rearing pond will be in operation this year.

HUDSON-ESSEX HOLD FIRST PLACE WITH FEDERALS

The Hudson-Exsex team defeated the Vaca-Taps last night, eleven to three. Temple, star pitcher, has not lost a game for the automobile team this season. Haght also worked well for the Vaca-Taps but was not given the ball for the sixth out.

The feature of the game was two base hits by H. Ter Haar, J. Overweg and Hick Hoyer.

On Thursday night the Heinz and Federals will cross bats and on Friday night the Van's Insurance Boosters and the Shoes will mix. The Federals are leading the league with the Hudson-Exsex and all the fans are anxiously waiting for the meeting of these two teams.

An admission of ten cents is charged to all games and the players and fans are all well satisfied with this way of handling it.

H. & D'S MOVE UP TO THE FOURTH PLACE

The H. & D's went into a tie with the Vaca-Taps last night by defeating the Butte Grays six to two. The game was well attended and it was an interesting game from start to finish.

A big game is scheduled for tonight when the Hillsdale league leaders with the Federals will cross bats with the fast Vaca-Tap team. Either Temple or Lefty Vanter Bunte will work in the box for the Hudson-Exsex.

There will be a meeting of the managers tonight at Van Tongeren's store at eight o'clock. Important questions are to be discussed so all be out.

EAST HOLLAND IS BEATEN BY THE WOLVERINES

Playing before a large crowd, the Wolverine Stars triumphed over the fast East Holland Independents by a 5-4 margin. Although the Stars outlived the easterners by a 12-8 margin, they were only able to win the game by clever playing in the last of the ninth. The Wolverines netted three runs in the second when, after Westerhof and Spoelstra had singled, Norlin drove them in with a long triple. Wednesday night the Stars scored all their runs in the fifth on four hits and an error. In the seventh C. Wolters tied the score at four all with a slashing double that scored Umena. Finally, in the ninth, with the sack loaded and one out, Japlings laid down a pretty drag bunt and Slighter scored the winning run. Umena pitched wonderful ball for the Stars, allowing six hits and striking out 11 men. Besides that he hit 3 out of 4 and scored a run. Crispel pitched fair ball for the Hollanders in keeping the 12 hits well scattered. Russ Boeve hit best for them getting 2 out of 4.

Score by innings:
East Holland ..... 000 040 004 6 3
Wolverines ..... 030 000 101 5 12
Batteries: Crispel and Dozemant; Umena and Westerhof.

On Wednesday night the Stars are booked at 19th when Graafschap will give them a return game. Last time the game was called when neither team could break the 2-2 deadlock. The game will start promptly at 6:00 o'clock.

H. & D'S DEFEAT HEINZ IN THE FACTORY LEAGUE

The H. & D's walked over the Heinz team last night to the tune of twelve to two. The game was very interesting even though the score does not indicate it. Dell Fogarty, who plays with the H. & D's, was injured sliding to first base. The Star player of the evening was Brant, second baseman for H. & D.

Tonight the Vaca-Taps will play the Van's Insurance on the nineteenth street grounds.

It is a disappointment to the players that some of the fans will not even drop in a nickel or dime for a bag game. The fans will have to loosen up if they care to have a factory league.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT AT GRAND HAVEN AGAIN RESUMED

BOLHUIS LUMBER & MANUFACTURING CO. SUES THE FRANK ESSENBURG CO. FOR $85,000

Many Witnesses Have Testified During the Five Days of the Trial

The Bolhuis Lumber & Manufacturing company which sued the Frank Essenburg company for $85,000 alleging on 12 different points that the newly organized concern was endeavoring to wreck the Bolhuis Lumber & Manufacturing company in different ways has been occupying the attention of circuit court for the past ten days.

During that time there was an adjournment of 4 days, but the case was resumed yesterday. During this period matters of importance that were brought up in this suit are in substance as follows:

Former Alderman William Vander Ven, who was grilled for nearly five hours Wednesday, was recalled Thursday for further examination. John Van Dyke, now head of construction for the Bolhuis plant, who took the place of Mr. Vander Ven when he left, was also recalled. Mr. Van Dyke testified that the Essenburg company endeavored to hire away from the Bolhuis Co. their most able men and best workmen, in that way to handicap the firm where they were employed and to help the firm where they were to receive positions.

Gerrit Geerts, who is at present sales manager of the Bolhuis Lumber & Manufacturing Company, testified that he and others of the staff, with Deputy Sheriff Beekman went to the offices of the Essenburg Lumber Supply company and demanded plans and specifications which, they claimed, the new company had taken from the offices of the Bolhuis company, 108 in number.

It is stated that Mr. Essenburg, who was present at the office, did not object to the search made and that more than 100 plans were found, besides a plumber's book used in estimating, and a figure system was also found. This system facilitated making estimates on houses and other jobs and thru this system a great deal of time could be saved. The contention of Mr. Essenburg is that this system had been worked out by him while he was at the Bolhuis plant and he considered it his property. These plans have been held up, up to the time of the trial, in the vaults of a bank in Holland, but were in evidence on a large table in the courtroom at Grand Haven during the trial. John Van Dyke, at present with the Bolhuis Lumber Co., testified that he had been told that plans and specifications in controversy had been taken from the Bolhuis Lumber company office by a member of the new company and were handed through a window to Lester Essenburg, a son of Frank Essenburg.

Harold Vander Ble, a witness, who was questioned relative to this part of the testimony denied that such a thing ever took place; however, he did admit that he had a half dozen plans of the Bolhuis company in his possession that he was working on at home nights, that he had a drawing board on which he did drawing at home. He stated that he turned these plans over to the Essenburg company but claims to know nothing about the other more than 100 plans found in the Essenburg office. The Bolhuis Co. claims that the plans taken were found with the Bolhuis name cut off.

The plaintiffs claimed further during the trial that false statements were circulated about the Bolhuis Co. relative to financial conditions, methods of home building, and other things that gave a wrong impression of business methods, that brought big loss to the company and might have wrecked it completely in time.

Mr. Wm. Vander Ven, who was also recalled, did not deny that certain statements he had made to attorney Fred T. Miles at Lansing, taken down by a stenographer at the time, were virtually true. This statement on the part of the plaintiffs seemed to be a surprise to the defendants.

Towards the close of the day a detective by the name of Hiram Hendrick of Grand Rapids was called to the stand and he stated that he was hired by Attorney F. T. Miles to make certain investigations and to get evidence against the Essenburg company relative to statements that were alleged to have been made by them to ruin the Bolhuis company. Hendricks claimed in his testimony that he went to Mr. Essenburg, asking him for figures on a cottage to be built on the lake, and stating that the Bolhuis company would build this cottage for $1,800. He stated, when questioned by Attorney Lokker for defense, that he did not intend to build a cottage but went thru this form to ascertain what might be said by those identified with the Essenburg company. He testified that the cottage in question could not be built for less than $5,000.

Thursday, Martin Vander Ble, of Holland, was called to the stand and testified to the discussion that existed between the two partners, Frank Bolhuis and Frank Essenburg. Mrs. Vivian Visser was also called to the stand to testify relative to some jobs that had been done by the Bolhuis company having bearing on this particular case.

Ralph W. Palmer, another detective, was called to the stand to testify, he being a partner of Hiram Hendricks.

Herman Vander Noot, court stenographer, states that this case will be an unusual one for length in the Ottawa county court. When court adjourned Friday night he showed 420 pages of shorthand in his note book, bearing out that this will be a record breaker. Judge Vander Werp, however, told the attorneys for both sides that they must hurry along. If the case is not finished by next Friday night sessions are to be held Saturday, which is unusual.

Friday testimony was given by Detectives Kendrick and Palmer, of the United Detective Agency of Grand Rapids, who were employed by the Bolhuis company to work amongst the employees and members of the Essenburg firm to see what they were saying. They testified that they have evidence that the members of the new company did make derogatory statements about the members of the old company. They said they had had repeated conversations with many connected with the new firm. Severe cross examination by the attorneys for the defense made an interesting diversion in the court room Friday.

George Zuverink, of Holland, now construction superintendent for the Bolhuis company went at some length into the quarrels and disagreements that Frank Bolhuis and Frank Essenburg had. He testified he had heard several threats on the part of Essenburg that he was going to leave and start a company of his own.

predicting that the Bolhuis company would soon feel the effects of the other company being in business. He also testified that work was neglected by some of the members who joined the Essenburg firm while they were still working in the Bolhuis plant.

Zuverink also testified relative to the Don Lackie stock deal in which Frank Essenburg was endeavoring to sell his stock to Lackie, a suit that has already been recorded.

Zuverink went thru a terrible ordeal when the batteries of attorneys for the Essenburg company grilled him in cross examination. He stuck to his story, however.

Harold Vander Ble, one of the defendants in the suit and now connected with the Essenburg company, testified that he cut the name of the Bolhuis Lumber & Manufacturing company from several plans found in the office of the Essenburg company, when Gerrit Geerts and Deputy Beekman and others searched the office. He said his reason for doing this was that he did not want to mislead his clients who might possibly think, in going over plans, that they were doing business with the Bolhuis company, instead of with the Essenburg company. He admitted that he knew the plans were originally in the offices of the Bolhuis company.

Rather an unusual piece of testimony was given by Martin Vander Ble, now associated with the Essenburg people, when cross examined by the attorneys for the plaintiff. He testified that for seven years he had worked for the Bolhuis company but never knew it, as he came with Frank Essenburg and considered that he was working for him.

Other witnesses called were Mr. and Mrs. Merrick Hanchett, Mrs. Raymond Visser and Peter Sellas, and others for whom the Bolhuis company did work. These witnesses were brought by the attorneys for the plaintiff. He endeavored to show that some of the work was neglected and that statements were made by men supervising the work damaging to the Bolhuis company, and who afterward joined the new Essenburg company. John Gallen, secretary of the Frank Essenburg company, was also called as a witness.

Judge Vander Werp of Muskegon opened circuit court at Grand Haven yesterday when the Bolhuis Co. damage case for $85,000 against the Essenburg company was resumed at 9 o'clock.

The usual array of legal talent was present for both sides and the witnesses called Wednesday morning included John Gallen, secretary of the Essenburg company and a former employee of the old company. Gallen dwelt at some length on the difficulties that the two partners had, and was cross-examined on other details by the testimony of other witnesses, already published.

Miss Martha Veltkamp, stenographer at the Bolhuis company, was recalled as a witness and was also questioned about the difficulties and discord that existed between Frank Essenburg and Frank Bolhuis.

Lester Essenburg was called to the stand and denied that he was handed plans of the Bolhuis company that were claimed to have been given him through an open window of the Bolhuis offices and that he deposited these in an automobile, later taking them to the offices of the new concern. He stated that this never happened to the best of his knowledge and belief.

Shortly before noon Wednesday Frank Bolhuis, head of the old company, was called to the witness stand and went into details as to the organization of the company, what year it was organized and many other details that have to do with the upbuilding of the Bolhuis Lumber & Manufacturing company up to the present time.

Court adjourned promptly at noon. Mr. Bolhuis again took the stand at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the attorneys continued examination of the witness.

This in substance is the testimony brought in up to Wednesday noon during the last ten days. No doubt the Essenburg witnesses will bring in a mass of contradictory testimony and it is well to reserve passing judgment until Judge Vander Werp gives his verdict after the case is finished. The findings of the judge will be printed in full.

NORTHERN TRANSCONTINENTAL TELEPHONE LINE NOW LINKS THE EAST WITH TERRITORY OPENED BY LEWIS AND CLARK

By JOHN B. C'BRIEN

THREE transcontinental telephone lines now span the American continent.

The first of these was opened for service on January 25, 1915. The completion of that line was regarded as an epochal event in the history of telephony. Gradually the range of transmission had increased, following the first Long Distance telephone conversation on record which occurred on October 9, 1876, between Boston and Cambridge, a distance of two miles. By 1890 the range of conversation had extended a distance of forty-five miles from Boston to Providence, and in 1884 New York and Boston were connected by telephone. Then the march westward began. Buffalo was reached in 1889, Chicago in 1892, Omaha in the early years of the present century, Denver in 1911, and Salt Lake City in 1913. Finally, by 1915 telephone engineers had perfected their art to such an extent that the Atlantic Coast talked with the Pacific for the first time.

At the time this first transcontinental telephone line was placed in service it was expected that it would prove adequate for many years to come, but telephone service across the continent developed to such an extent that within the next seven years another line was projected and started in the South terminating at Los Angeles, and now, at the beginning of 1927, a third or northern line has just been completed, connecting Chicago and Seattle.

The original transcontinental line runs due west from Chicago through Omaha, Denver and Salt Lake City to San Francisco, and it is an interesting fact that the transcontinental air mail practically follows this pioneer telephone line, not only from Chicago to San Francisco, but between New York and Chicago, the route being by way of Reading, Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, and then through Ohio and Indiana. The southern transcontinental line runs from New Orleans to El Paso, connecting at New Orleans with Long Lines circuits and points on the Atlantic Coast, and at El Paso to Los Angeles and points on the Pacific. The new northern route after Chicago is reached runs west and northwest to Minneapolis, Fargo, Bismarck, Glendive, Billings, Helena, Missoula, Spokane, Wenatchee and Seattle.

The northern transcontinental telephone line, formally opened in January, provides high grade facilities for the growing telephone business between points in the northwestern part of the United States and cities in the central and eastern part of the country. About one-third of the entire line between Chicago and Seattle lies within the state of Montana, where, after following the Yellowstone River for a distance of 350 miles, it passes over the Bozeman Mountains at Bozeman Pass, with an elevation of 5,572 feet, while over the Transcontinental Divide at McDonald Pass it reaches an elevation of 6,359 feet. From there it runs down the west side of the main range of the Rocky Mountains to Elliston, where it encounters and follows pretty generally the tributaries of the mighty Columbia River. The path follows on through Garrison and Missoula, passing the famous Bitterroot Valley, down the Missoula and up the Saint Regis Rivers, over the Bitterroot Mountains to the Idaho state line, at an altitude of 4,738 feet; thence it proceeds to Spokane and on to Seattle.

At various points along the route the new line connects with toll lines running north and south, while at Helena connection is made not only with Idaho and Utah, but with the new line recently installed to Calgary, Alberta. The tying together of these transcontinental lines by north and south connecting routes at certain points makes a sort of gridiron of the entire nation, so that with such a network it will be difficult to isolate any one section of the country telephonically, for, in the event that a storm makes it necessary to divert traffic, it can simply be re-routed around such storm area as might occur at any point in the network.

It has been necessary to build the line so that in so far as possible it will withstand deep snow and temperatures of fifty degrees below zero at some points, and temperatures of more than one hundred degrees above zero at other points. At certain places along the line there is also the hazard of forest fires, so that it has been necessary to take adequate measures to prevent interruptions of service from that cause.

In general, aerial wire weighing 435 lbs. to the mile has been used throughout. The pole lines are of standard type construction, consisting principally of creosoted pine or eastern cedar timber in the eastern part of the line, and western cedar timber in the section west of the North Dakota-Montana state line. The wire load on the pole line in different sections varies from one crossarm and ten wires to five crossarms and fifty wires.

Hitherto telephone conversations across the continent or from places in the east or middle west to points in the northwest have been routed via San Francisco, where the first or central transcontinental line terminates. Now, they will go direct via the northern route. The new circuits provided include the following: Chicago-Seattle, Chicago-go-Fargo, Minneapolis-Helena, Fargo-Billings, Billings-Helena, Helena-Spokane and Helena-Seattle. Repeater stations with the necessary telephone, telegraph and power equipment have been established at Tomah in Wisconsin, Minneapolis in Minnesota, Fargo and Bismarck in North Dakota, Glendive, Billings, Helena and Missoula in Montana, and Spokane and Wenatchee in Washington.

In the building of this new line all modern machinery available has been utilized, as, for example, pole hole diggers, heavy trucks equipped with winches and pole derricks, pole trailers, cable reel trailers, etc., a number of which have come into use since the first transcontinental line was laid out and constructed and which have enabled the engineers to carry on their work with much greater facility and speed than otherwise would have been possible.

From Bismarck to the coast the northern transcontinental line follows very closely the route of the Lewis and Clark Expedition of 122 years ago; not only that, but it has required about the same length of time to complete the work of building the line as it took Lewis and Clark to cover the territory in the year 1804-05. Through the country where these hardy pioneers made their difficult way on their historic expedition, the result of which led eventually to the development of all the country between the Great Bend of the Missouri and the Pacific, now runs this new transcontinental telephone line, an important link in the commercial backbone of the world's greatest civilized nation. The building of this line, made necessary by the demands of a rapidly growing and prosperous territory, is a monument to the worth of the service rendered the Union by Meriwether Lewis and William Clark.

Trunk Lines Shos Farmer' Thinks 'Michigan Business' Run Through Towns Even If Longer Way Round

Michigan Business Farmer—We believe there is an old saw, "The longest way around is the best way home," referring to a fellow and his girl when they are out for a ride. Maybe we haven't quoted it exactly but that is the general meaning at least. Now we could apply this to our state highways.

If you are going some place to transact business and are anxious to get it over and back home, of course the shorter the distance the better you like it. But how often for you or anyone else on this highway? Seldom. We would say then when you are taking your time as you travel along you are interested in the scenery, are you not? We are and we have no reason to believe that we are any different than the rest of the folks. We would rather take a route 125 miles long through several towns and villages than reach a certain point than a direct road 100 miles long with no municipalities along the way, although it would probably take an hour or more longer. We believe that most people would agree with us as to which was the most desirable route.

Cities, towns, and villages are in the best parts of the country. Best farms of any section are usually near municipalities for at least two reasons: the founders of the city, town or village chose that location because of the desirability of the spot and surrounding country, and the farms become better than they were at first and continue to lead because of the nearness of the market for the products.

Then if our state highways lead through our municipalities, even though they have to be a few miles longer and cost a few thousand dollars more, our visitors and our town folks travel through the better parts of our fair state. Particularly does this appeal to our visitors, the tourists from other states, who are possibly seeing Michigan for the first time.

Gov. Fred W. Green has stated that he is in favor of such a policy, which is contrary to the one adopted during the Greenback administration, and we commend him for his stand. He had an eye to the future.

While the subject of names, as Holland seems to be just at present, the Holland country club is staging a contest for names for the eighteen golf holes on the course. President C. Vander Meulen has launched the contest in a letter to the members of the club, which contains the information about the method of choosing the names and the kind of names wanted. Here it is:

Members of the Holland Country Club:

We have 18 beautiful golf holes, and we want you to help us select names for them. For example, No. 1 might be called "Grand Canyon," or "Devil's Gap," or "Valley of Tears," No. 15 quite naturally is "The Wedding Cake." Each hole is different and has its own peculiar characteristics, and there surely is an appropriate name for it. We want to print the names on our score card, so they must be short.

Perhaps you haven't been over the course yet this year. If not, may I suggest that you come out within the next few days. Whether you play golf or not, a stroll over the whole 18 holes is delightful. When you have looked over the course, submit your choice of names.

For every name you submit and which is adopted by the committee you will receive a prize of one golf ball, or, if you prefer, a piece of "Mini" strawberry shortcake. And think of the honor of being god-parent to a beautiful golf hole.

As a committee to make the final selection I have appointed the three past presidents of the club—Mr. James De Pree, A. H. Landwehr, and W. A. Diekmann.

I am enclosing a card on which to write your suggestions. The names must be in by Saturday, May 25th.

Cordially yours,

Holland Country Club,

C. Vander Meulen, Pres.

TELLS ABOUT MOSAIC DISEASE

The most effective means of controlling the mosaic disease of cucumbers, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, consists in the elimination of the agencies by which this destructive disease is carried over the winter.

The cause of the disease is unknown, but diseased plants contain a form of infection which may be transmitted to healthy plants by such insects as the melonaphis and the striped cucumber beetle. The disease does not live in the soil and is not carried in the seed of cultivated cucumbers, but is known to live from year to year in certain wild plants, some of which occur in most of the cucumber-growing sections.

The known wild plants which carry the disease are the wild cucumber, milkweed, pokeweed, two species of wild ground cherry, and catnip. The disease is carried over winter in the roots of these plants, except in the case of the wild cucumber which carries the infection in the seed. Insects feeding on these infected wild plants in the spring and on the cucumbers in the field spread the mosaic disease. In a number of fields where the average mosaic infection had been approximately 40 per cent, eradication of the wild host plants in and near the fields reduced it to 3 per cent.

Before planting, the field itself and all land within 75 yards should be carefully inspected and all wild host plants, whether healthy or diseased, should be pulled out. If the cucumber field can be surrounded by other cultivated crops, the work of eradication will be simplified and insects are likely to be less prevalent.

Mosaic cucumber plants are dwarfed, the younger leaves are mottled with green and yellow, and the fruits are mottled and misshapen; the darker areas forming warty projections on the surface. When such plants appear early in the season they should be removed immediately to prevent further spread of the infection by insects. It is also advisable to use insecticides to reduce the number of insects. Where several fields are adjacent to one another it is essential that all growers co-operate in removing the wild host plants about their fields.

An outboard Pere Marquette passenger train from Grand Rapids, struck and seriously injured an unidentified man at the Stevens street crossing Sunday morning. His skull is fractured and his chest is crushed. He is said to have stepped in front of the locomotive in attempting to dodge a freight train. A marble was his only possession.

WOULD FOREGO RAIL PROFIT OF TEN MILLIONS

WASHINGTON, June 8.—O. P. Van Sweringen, prime mover in the plans by which the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad seeks to take control of the Erie and Pere Marquette systems, took the witness stand before the interstate commerce commission Tuesday to declare his own willingness to forego $10,000,000 in personal profit in order to insure the merger's success.

The difficulty in the way of the consolidation, Van Sweringen explained, lay in a market situation by which the Chesapeake & Ohio took options several months ago to purchase the controlling interest in the Erie and Pere Marquette, after which the market values advanced sharply. At the same time the options which the Chesapeake & Ohio holds on Erie and Pere Marquette shares expire in part on July 1 and cannot be renewed.

A part of these Erie and Pere Marquette shares, Van Sweringen said he owned personally and was willing to sell to the Chesapeake & Ohio at any time at the cost to him, although this cost is below their present market value by $10,000,000.

The Nickel Plate railroad and a number of individuals own additional shares particularly of Pere Marquette, however, he said on which the Chesapeake & Ohio option expires July 1, and it might not be possible for these options to be renewed.

Apparently one element of this case which is being discussed is the price which the Chesapeake & Ohio should pay for the shares of Erie and Pere Marquette covered by the so-called Van Sweringen option. Van Sweringen said, "That price was fixed by a special committee without consultation with me. I believe it to be fair; it is nearly $10,000,000 below its present market value. If, however, the committee had fixed the price at cost I would have accepted it. If the commission now thinks that I should sell the shares covered by the option at cost I will be equally content."

"If I hope this commission if it finds the proposed acquisition to be in the public interest will find a way to pass on the question in time to allow the company to avail itself of the Nickel Plate option on the Pere Marquette shares reserving if necessary for fuller consideration the price upon the so-called Van Sweringen shares."

Henry W. Anderson, attorney for the Chesapeake & Ohio minority stockholders who oppose the merger, took Van Sweringen over for cross examination. He cited testimony given by the witness during the Nickel Plate merger hearing of two years ago, in which it was declared that an official of a railroad should not take a profit from the sale of property to his "ad. Van Sweringen under the option would take a profit from the Chesapeake & Ohio in the sale of Erie stock should the merger go through.

"The option figure does show a profit," Van Sweringen said, "but again I repeat this is an option, and the price named was fixed by a committee of Chesapeake & Ohio directors entirely independent of me. However, I have filed here the audit showing the actual cost of the Erie stock which I hold and if the commission desires the price can be fixed at cost."

BOEHUIS PLANT AT GRAND RAPIDS IS RAZED BY FIRE

Early Sunday morning fire completely wiped out the buildings and yards of the Boehuis Lumber & Manufacturing company at Godfrey Ave. and Hall street, Grand Rapids. The fire raged for about four hours before four of the fire companies of that city had the blaze under control.

The fire was first discovered by a woman who is living near the plant. She said she saw a small blaze on one end of the building, and when she looked up again and the entire structure seemed to be afire in many places.

Shortly afterwards Sergeant Knowlton, who was walking along Godfrey Ave., saw the flames and stated that the fire seemed to flash to all parts of the yard instantly. He immediately turned in the alarm and a minute afterwards it appeared that the blaze seemed to spring up from several parts of the building and yards at once.

The contents of the building and yards are of such a nature that fire could spread easily and as an added protection against fire the Boehuis Lumber & Manufacturing Co. had a fire wall built through the middle of the long buildings, so that if a fire started in one part, the other section might be saved with the help of firemen. But even this safeguard apparently did not help for fire seemed to be everywhere on both sides of the fire wall.

The buildings proper were 144 by 200 feet, one story, and the fire made a clean sweep of this structure. Saturday a carload of expensive oak flooring had been placed in the building for delivery, and the fire was in the building during Sunday and these were also burned.

From all appearances, the fire started on the west side of the building near the fire wall. At least this is what the report came from. The first blaze, the fire in the burning building soon spread to the lumber yards outside, and the contents of these yards were partially destroyed.

A crowd gathered as the flames shot up from 30 to 40 feet, casting a glow over the sky. The crowd stepped back, however, some distance from the flames when a barrel of paint blew up, and shortly after a still louder report came from the explosion of a barrel of alcohol.

A brisk wind fanned the flames and fire companies one, six, eight and twelve had their hands full fighting the fire and protecting nearby factories and dwelling houses.

After several hours of fighting, the blaze was subdued, although one stream of water was kept playing on the burning embers until late Sunday afternoon.

Frank Boehuis, Gerrit Geerds and other heads of the company, of Holland, did not know about the fire until late Sunday morning when they rushed to Grand Rapids by automobile in order to ascertain what damage had been done. They found that while the plant was burned the beautiful offices some distance away were untouched by the flames.

Plant was in charge of Stewart Boehuis, a brother of Frank Boehuis. Frank Boehuis stated late Sunday afternoon that the plant would be rebuilt immediately, and that the cleaning up of the debris will start as soon as the insurance adjusters had gone over the property. He thought building operations for a new structure and yards would start before the end of the week and that an even more convenient and a better building would be built up.

A lumber yard has already been started on adjacent property which the fire did not touch, and this yard is already in operation. Mr. Boehuis stated that the company will not be handicapped in serving everybody as before. A fleet of trucks has already been secured to run between Holland and Grand Rapids and Muskegon, where the company also has plants.

Not much machinery was burned in the Grand Rapids plant as nothing but the rough cutting in all building operations was done there; the finishing was done in the Holland plant.

It will not be long before the new machines will again be in operation in the Grand Rapids plant, but in the meantime the Holland and Muskegon plants are amply able to take care of all building operations now on hand and new contracts that are coming in daily. An extra force of men will be put on both at Muskegon and Holland, and at Grand Rapids the employees of the plant will be kept at work.

The Boehuis plant, together with all the other factories in the neighborhood, but are given extra protection thru the United Detective Agency. This concern has special officers who not only make beats through the yards of all factories but patrol the factory districts with an automobile squad.

The Boehuis Lumber & Manufacturing company, together with all other manufacturing plants of Grand Rapids, pay the detective agency for this service. This was deemed necessary in 1923 when firebugs started fire in several manufacturing plants, some being burned, others badly damaged. As a result several arrests were made, confessions were secured and these young men are now languishing in state's prison. The total loss incurred in fires at that time approximated a half million dollars.

The Grand Rapids Herald of Monday morning gives the following: "The origin of the fire is undetermined, according to Fire Marshal George T. Boughner and Mr. Boehuis, who are pushing an investigation. Mr. Boehuis declared that the circumstances surrounding the conflagration appear suspicious."

"The blaze authorities state, began in at least two places. It raged with equal intensity on both sides of a concrete fire wall within a few minutes of the time it was discovered and before it could possibly have had time to spread by means of sparks."

OTTAWA COUNTY STATE POLICE CLOSE A SIDE SHOW

State police from the Ferrysburg station today began a side show at the carnival operating on Henry St. just outside the Muskegon Heights city limits, and may prosecute the operators and principals under the state laws.

A boxer and wrestler were engaged by the show to take on all comers in bouts to which admission was charged. The police contend that the show operated without a license, failed to pay either a state or federal tax, and allowed athletes to enter the ring without a physician's examination.

TWO EXPLOSIONS IN NIGHT BLAZE AT GRAND HAVEN

Arie Warnars paint store at Fulton and Fourth-sts., Grand Haven was badly damaged by fire Saturday evening. Origin is blamed upon a careless fire thrown cigarette or some such cause. Loss was not estimated Monday.

The interior was badly damaged by flames and by two explosions, one of which occurred near where firemen were working. But no one was injured. A five gallon can of naphtha and another can of explosive paint mixture exploded.

The building was a two-story frame structure and gave the firemen a three-hour battle.

NON-STOP FLIGHT MARK IS BROKEN BY CHAMBERLIN

Cablegrams from Berlin, Germany, state that Clarence Chamberlin and Charles Lavine reached Berlin with their Bellanca plane, "Columbia," at 8:35 Monday morning. Berlin time, which is 3 o'clock, Holland time.

The plane left New York unexpectedly at 6:05 Saturday morning. Even Mrs. Lavine was not aware of her husband's going until he waved her good-bye and with a cry she fell in a dead faint and was taken care of by friends.

Radiograms kept sifting into Holland last Sunday afternoon, the first being at 4 o'clock announcing that Chamberlin's plane was seen gliding over Plymouth, England, and a later dispatch announced that Chamberlin and Lavine were over Paris, having crossed the channel, and were heading for Rome. This announcement, it appears, was incorrect, as the "Columbia" settled down on Tempelhof field, Berlin, where the flyers were greeted by thousands.

Nineteen planes had left Berlin in a westerly direction when dispatches sifting in that the flyers had passed over England.

Chamberlin passed over the Dortmund airfield at 4:08 this morning being at 6 o'clock announcing that "To Berlin! To Berlin!" upon which the aviation police signalled the direction to Berlin, which was 260 miles away.

The distance from New York to Berlin is 3930 miles, and the water jump is 1900 miles, which was covered in 21 hours. The "Columbia" was sighted 33 hours and 15 minutes after it had left Roosevelt field at New York.

Passengers on the Mauretania had a thrilling Sunday afternoon. Shortly after 3 o'clock the world's fastest liner caught up with and passed the United States cruiser Memphis, carrying Charles A. Lindbergh back home. The Memphis could be plainly seen at a distance. Although capable of speeding thirty-four knots an hour, the Memphis has restricted herself to twenty-three knots an hour since leaving Cherbourg. The Mauretania will therefore beat her to the American coast easily.

A hour and a quarter later came the biggest thrill of the afternoon. What at first appeared as a mere speck in the sky quickly loomed larger and larger. It was the Bellanca plane carrying Chamberlin and Lavine.

The vessel was just 340 miles from Lands End, Hals, books and umbrellas were thrown wildly in the air by the excited passengers.

The "Columbia" descended to within 150 feet of the ship's masts, and its number, 357-146, put at rest any doubt as to the machine's identity. The cheering became frantic. Chamberlin calmly made a complete circuit of the Mauretania, coolly examined her name, and then went off eastward at a terrific speed. Within three minutes he was out of sight.

The Columbia's engines were working magnificently. The Mauretania relayed news of the wonderful spectacle to Capt. Lindbergh on the Memphis at his request. The Memphis was out of sight of the Columbia.

Mr. F. A. Hemphill, formerly advertising manager of the Vac-a-Pop company left Monday for his home in Ballston Springs, New York.

HAMILTON BELIEVES IN OUTDOOR SPORTS

Although a village of only a few hundred inhabitants, Hamilton residents have accomplished what many towns of much larger size have failed to do with respect to playgrounds.

Hamilton has only a four-room school building and the school population is less than 150. Yet when the proposition of establishing a playground for the children was considered it did not take residents long to fall in line.

Financing the project proved no great task for in three days more than $400 was pledged.

A merry whirl has been installed and tennis courts soon will be built. Other devices for amusement and recreation are being considered.

ALLEGAN JUDGE OF PROBATE DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Judge of Probate of Allegan county, Charles E. Thew, died in California as a result of an operation for appendicitis, according to word received in Allegan.

Judge Thew left Allegan last Wednesday for the coast to make a visit to his mother, but reaching there found it necessary to undergo the operation which caused his death.

The late judge has been a popular citizen of Allegan and spent the greater part of his life there, being born near Douglas. This is his first term as probate judge.

His wife passed away Nov. 20, 1926, after an illness of several weeks and he is survived by a daughter, Miss Della Thew, art instructor in the Allegan public schools, and a son, Ensign Joseph Thew, of the U. S. naval academy.

This death makes the second vacancy in the courthouse offices within a few days. Judge Thew's remains probably will be brought to Allegan for burial.

Forty-five years ago Mr. Thew was a resident of Holland. For some time he studied at Hope college.

LOCAL CHURCH TO CELEBRATE ITS 25 ANNIVERSARY

The "silver" anniversary of the founding of the Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed church will be observed on Thursday evening, June 23, with a meeting of the congregation in the church.

The actual date of the church's organization was June 25 but since that comes on a Saturday night it has been decided to hold the celebration on the Thursday evening before that date.

The congregation was formed 25 years ago out of other Christian Reformed churches in Holland. It was the first congregation of that denomination that used the English language exclusively. During the quarter century of its existence the church has grown rapidly. The first pastor was the late Rev. D. R. Drukker. Other pastors who served the congregation were Rev. P. A. Hoekstra, Rev. Herman Hoeksema, Rev. J. Vander Kieft, and the present pastor, Dr. William Masselink.

SAUGATUCK TWP. VOTES ELECTRIC FRANCHISE; ONLY 77 BALLOTS CAST

By a majority of one, Saugatuck township Monday voted the Southern Michigan Light & Power Co., a 30-year franchise.

Only 77 votes were cast in the two precincts, Douglas and Saugatuck, and of these Douglas cast but 13. Nine were for the franchise and four against it. A total of 39 voted in favor of the franchise, while 38 were against it.

The company already has a five-year franchise in the villages of Douglas and Saugatuck. This will give them power to extend their services to rural communities.

SCHOOL PAPER ADVOCATES NEW SIDE WALKS

Maroon and Orange—The junior and senior high schools combined are in need of a new sidewalk on Fifteenth street between the adjacent schools. The present sidewalk is inadequate and too small for the students passing to and from the buildings. During the passing of classes many of the students are forced to walk on the neighboring lawns, thus ruining them along the walk. This danger of damaging the schools and other people's lawns could easily be avoided by the widening of the sidewalk. Since the students are strictly ordered to stay off the school's lawns, the authorities of the schools should provide a way, so that the passing of students between the buildings could go on in an orderly manner and not damage other lawns. The present sidewalk is forcing at least one-third of the passing students to damage the lawns. If the sidewalk should be widened or another walk built so the students would be only one-way traffic on each walk, there would not be the same questions asked of so many students "Why were you late?" and damaging of the neighboring lawns would cease. So why put anything off to a future time which should be done today?

The committee on county officers of the Board of Supervisors met Friday afternoon in the court house to look over the policing of the county. The chairman is John F. VanAnrooy. The members of the committee are John F. VanAnrooy, of Grand Haven, James Chittick of Chester and Simon Klein of Holland. The sheriff is usually called to attend these meetings.

WANTS CHILD IN OPEN-AIR ROOM

How much more is set by Holland's new open-air school room in the Washington school building was illustrated when the city nurse and local physicians held a "round-up clinic" to ascertain who should be enrolled in the new room. A woman came all the way from Muskegon to have her child enrolled. She had had much experience with open-air schools, first in Peoria, Ill., later in Muskegon. This summer the family will move to Holland and so the mother came with her child hoping to have an opportunity to have the pupil enrolled in the open-air school here, knowing that there child would have the best opportunity to advance.

About 40 mothers came with their children and the work of classification was put in train. The mothers showed great interest and the success of the open-air school here seems assured.

SECOND PARK OVAL AT LAKE MICHIGAN GETS UNDER WAY

The Globe Construction company has started the construction of the second oval at the Pere Marquette park, near Muskegon, Lake Michigan. The company has purchased new equipment for the concrete work. It is expected that the oval will be ready for the heavy traffic of the summer.

A pavement will be constructed along Beach street to the coast guard station also. The government a few weeks ago authorized the city to proceed with the work. The completion of the job will provide two large ovals at the park on the shores of Lake Michigan. Despite unfavorable weather conditions the one oval has been a popular place this summer. It is said that several hundred cars visited the oval last Sunday despite the cold weather.

LAKE MICHIGAN .36 FOOT HIGHER THAN IN APRIL

Lakes Michigan-Huron are 0.36 foot higher than in April (since 1880 the May level has averaged 0.30 foot higher than April); they are 0.08 foot higher than the low May stage of a year ago, 0.99 foot below the average stage of May of the last ten years, and 4.38 feet below the high stage of May, 1886. Based on past records, the monthly mean level for June is likely to be about 579.4 and not less than 579.1.

TWO NEW OFFICERS FOR OTTAWA COUNTY

The supervisors committee on county police which met Friday at the court house authorized Sheriff Kammerferke to put on a motorcycle traffic officer June 16 for three months. He will patrol county highways. The county also will again have a deputy on the Getz farm on the shore near Holland, the famous Lakewood zoo and resort.

1ST CAR ARRIVES OF EQUIPMENT OF LAWRENCE BROS.

The first carload of the machinery and equipment of the Lawrence Brothers Paper Box company has arrived in Holland from Chicago and it will immediately be installed in the plant north of the lake. Two more carloads are on the road and will arrive soon.

"The Executives Club News," published in Chicago, contains cuts of the two partners this week, and gives the following article about their careers:

They were born three years apart, but because they are always seen together and look much alike, most people think of them as twins. The both are in the 60s, there's scarce a gray hair between them, and anybody who takes either of them on for a game of billiards is tempting providence.

In Rotary they are known as "Jack" and "Les" and they like that sort of monicker a lot better than "Mister." Jack—C. J.—is president and general manager of C. J. Lawrence & Brother, Inc., and "Les"—L. G.—is vice-president and sales manager.

Jack was born at Clark and Polk streets in 1883; went through the grade schools and started to work at a grating wheel in the old Chicago Link Belt foundry. Other boyhood jobs were: Clerk in a law office, messenger for a Board of Trade firm, general clerk in the Chicago Postoffice in 1880, leading up to the foremanship of the West Madison St. station in 1883.

Jack's merchandising experience began with the management of a department of James H. Walker Co., Wholesale. Fortunately for him, that concern failed, and threw him on his own resources. Always a born "trader" he became a broker, handling a variety of lines.

How one of these lines—a minor one—soon shaped the lives of both brothers, we shall see later.

Leslie Lawrence was born at No. 23 Michigan Ave. in 1886, went through the grade school and got his first job with J. V. Farwell & Co., the then leading wholesale dry goods house of the West. Later the worker for Davis & Co., manufacturers of pipe and fittings, going from that firm to its then upstart rival, the Crane Co.

It was about 1907, when the brothers became partners. One of their brokerage lines was paper boxes which "Les" started to sell the printers for packing letter heads. Then Jack got a contract with Montgomery Ward & Co. for all their suit boxes—totaling about $75,000 a year.

As their source of supply could not take care of so large a business, they had to start a factory of their own. This initial plant with 2,000 square feet of floor space and five employees was started in 1909 on a cash capital of $75, at 50 Plymouth Place. A year later they moved to quarters at 12th and Washburn with 5,000 square feet of space, which they later doubled in size.

In 1915 they equipped the first unit of their present plant at 23rd and Archer with 20,000 square feet of space. This was later enlarged to 60,000 square feet, employs 150 hands, and doing a business close to the half-million mark.

As the business grew, its scope was widened, so that it soon embraced the whole range of "set-up" and folding boxes. A year ago they added a wholly new line—a patented milk bottle cap, with a handy ear at its edge, which the housewife or maid can grasp with thumb and fingers. Two wonderful automatic machines are now producing these caps at the rate of a million a day! And several additional machines will soon be delivered. This branch of the business will be incorporated as the Sanitary Milk Cap Co., with $100,000 paid-in capital.

Now comes the big news—The Lawrence Brothers have just purchased a big factory at Holland, Mich., for this summer, will move the manufacturing end of both their enterprises to these new and larger quarters. Coincidentally, they have reincorporated C. J. Lawrence & Bro., with a Michigan charter, and a paid up capital of $250,000. The general offices and warehouse will remain at the same old address, 2307 Archer Ave.

Jack was married in 1885, and lives at 74th and Bennett. He has a daughter of sixteen. Les was married in 1896 and lives at 1007 Lake Ave., Wilmette. He has two sons and two daughters, all married—and a flock of grandchildren.

When you begin advertising in this paper you start on the road to more business. There is no better or cheaper medium. We can also provide Printing of every description.

WASHINGTON GETS READY FOR LINDBERGH

Washington is making grand preparations to welcome Charles A. Lindbergh, who is to arrive at Washington Saturday, June 11, if all goes well. His passage over this time will not be by airplane but on a warship sent by Uncle Sam.

After making a flying trip to Belgium and England, he is now in France, packing up his medals and tokens, and there are oodles of them. He is also making ready to transport his plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis," on the battleship Memphis. Lindbergh will come directly to Washington and will be greeted by his mother and President and Mrs. Coolidge first. Mother and son will be guests at the White House, and shortly after these functions are over and young Lindbergh has been decorated with the flying cross, the first one ever to be struck off by this nation, President and Mr. Coolidge will leave for their summer home in the Black Hills in South Dakota. The emblem of honor is a bronze cross bearing a four blade propeller.

No definite program will be arranged on this side until Lindbergh or his friends can be contacted. Washington is to have a holiday when Lindbergh comes and great preparations are being made in the way of decorations.

New York is planning a welcome greater than has ever been given any private citizen, and Chicago is not going to be outdone, according to Mayor Thompson and the aldermanic staff. That St. Louis is to stage the greatest holiday ever given in that city goes without saying for the "spirit of St. Louis" winged its way over the Atlantic under the guiding hand of the fearless Lindbergh.

The United States navy is also making preparations to greet Lindbergh for a large fleet of planes and dirigibles will meet the battleship Memphis 100 miles out at sea.

The honors that will come to Lindbergh are many. It has already been decided that he will be made a knight in the Missouri national guards when he returns to St. Louis. This statement is made by Gov. Sam A. Baker of that state.

The St. Louis chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution announces it will dedicate a memorial chair in honor of Captain Lindbergh in the hall of a new two-million dollar building erected in Washington, D. C., by the national D. A. R.

Charles Lindbergh, ever since he was a mere boy, was interested in flying machines. When the Wrights were carrying on their experiments Lindbergh was intensely interested, although only a lad 12 years old. He was also a player of the late President Roosevelt, son of the late President Roosevelt, who was in the American air service during the World war and was shot down in a battle with a German plane. Young Roosevelt and the still younger Lindbergh were both deeply interested in flying.

HOPE SOCIETY HOLDS BANQUET IN GD. RAPIDS

Mr. John J. Riemersma was the special attraction on the program of the thirty-seventh annual banquet of the Cosmopolitan society of Hope held June 1 at the Grand Rapids country club. Mr. Riemersma was a very active member of the society while at Hope. He spoke of some of his former experiences while in college and he cited many men of his class who have since made a name for themselves. He urged those present to make character building of primary importance in school life.

The program of the banquet was cleverly worked around Longfellow's poem, "Hiawatha." With wigwag shaped programs and with a real Indian menu, worked up by George La Mere, together with other decorations characteristic of the red man, a real Indian atmosphere was created. The toastmaster, Russell Damstra, was given the name of "Hiawatha" and he aptly introduced the other toasts. Paul Schutt, as "Iago," toasted the freshmen; Adrian Ter Bouw, as "Kwasind," directed his remarks to the departing seniors; Lee De Pree, as "Mondamin," responded on behalf of the graduating members; and Jacob Pelton took the name of "Minnehaha" and toasted to the ladies. Mr. Riemersma was "Gitche Manitou," the wise man, a part which he played to perfection. A vocal solo by Oscar Holkeboer and a "cello solo" by George La Mere furnished music for the occasion. The pow wow finally disbanded with the advice of "Gitche Manitou" still in their minds. "All your strength is in your union. Let your discord be discord. Therefore be at peace hence forward, and as brothers live together."

OTTAWA LAND IN BUILDING LOAN COMPANY

The Sunset Terrace Resort company, Building and Loan company, which Milo Schulteme, 516 Cambridge blvd., SE, Grand Rapids, is president, has filed with County Clerk Neumann its articles of association.

The concern has an authorized capitalization of $200,000 of which $150,000 has been subscribed and $100,000 in all but $1,000 of which is represented by 1,125 shares of Ottawa county real estate including the Reichen, Saul, Pagels, Connell, McCarty, Jackson and Sheehan farms in Grand Haven and Olive townships.

Other officers are: Vice president, Henry L. Adzitz, 512 Morris ave., SE, secretary, Lee H. Bierce, 2111 Jefferson ave., SE, and treasurer, T. C. Bradbury, 356 Woodmere ave., SE, all of Grand Rapids. The directors include the officers and Fred Z. Pantlind, 439 Washington St., SE, Grand Rapids, who, as trustee, has been holding the real estate; George C. Thompson, Washington St., SE, and Will Curtis, Reed City.

Certificates of dissolution have been filed by John E. Reenders and Herbert I. Duthie, former partners in the firm of Reenders & Duthie, and by J. H. Thielke and Floyd Lowell, former partners in a garage business at 411 Scribner ave., NW, Grand Rapids.

State inspection of Muskegon county raspberry farms is being asked by growers to comply with state law which makes it mandatory that plants must be inspected before they can be transported.

Growers are interested in the inspection by experts as a means of improving the quality of plants and berries more than for the sale value.

BYRON REYNOLDS IS FENNIVILLE'S CLASS PROPHET

Byron Reynolds is to give the prophecy of the senior class of Fennville high school at class day exercises next Tuesday night. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Reynolds. Byron has earned five years' credit during his four years in high school, an "B" in basketball, and stands third in his class. Out of school hours he has operated a linotype machine in the Fennville Herald office, owned by his father, and plans to take a college course in journalism.

AIR MAIL LETTER WELCOME STAGED FOR LINDBERGH

Postmaster E. J. Westveer has received a postal bulletin from Postmaster General Harry S. New outlining a plan whereby every man, woman and child can have a part in the welcome that will be extended to Charles A. Lindbergh, when he arrives in America. Mr. New points out that not everybody can go to Washington to welcome Lindbergh personally but every one can send him a message of welcome via airmail.

Arrangements have been made for handling these special messages. A special way so that they will be on hand to greet Lindbergh on his arrival in Washington not later than June 13. An air-mail message is unusually appropriate because of the fact that Lindbergh was employed by the air-mail service for some time before making his historic flight to Europe.

An air-mail message costs ten cents for half an ounce. Postmaster E. J. Westveer is requested by the postmaster general to call this matter to the attention of the patrons of the local post office. The same thing is done all over the United States. In this way it is expected that millions of air-mail messages will be secured for Lindbergh's arrival in America, thus making the welcome truly national in scope.

Postmasters have been authorized by the postmaster general to distribute a circular among their patrons, in addition to making the facts known through the newspapers.

These air-mail messages, provided they carry ten cents in stamps and are marked "via air mail only" may be deposited in any postoffice box. They will be given special handling. Post office patrons however are advised to mail their message without delay to ensure its arrival before Captain Lindbergh arrives in Washington.

MAKES APOLOGY TO H. S. STUDENTS

Earnest Franks, during a recent baseball game when the high school band paraded the field, made a stammering remark about the boys as they marched by the bleachers and his remark was resented by John Van Tatenhove, who dared him to repeat it with witnesses present. The man did repeat it and was shortly afterwards arrested. Franks was charged with disturbing the peace and pleaded guilty. Justice Charles K. Van Duren fined him the cost and thirty days in the county jail. The jail fine was remitted, however, providing Franks made a public apology to the students of the high school, which was done by him and the incident is closed. Mr. Riemersma states that he had a long talk with Franks, that the man seemed very penitent and stated that it should not have been said but was said in the heat of the moment.

He also left a written apology which the school authorities have on file.

HOLLAND GIRL IS HONORED AT KAZOO

Miss Fannie Bultman of Holland was chosen for the daisy chain committee for the annual women's breakfast at Western State Normal Saturday, a highly prized honor among the freshmen co-eds. The women's breakfast, the first of the June commencement functions, is attended only by upperclass women. The daisy chain carried in the procession preceding the breakfast, however, is prepared by a committee of freshman girls chosen by the faculty, and the honor goes only to those of exceptional scholarship.

HUNDRED WOMEN FROM ALL PARTS OF U. S. GUESTS

About 100 women, delegates to the biennial council meeting of the General Federation of Women's clubs of America, came to Holland Saturday afternoon and were royally entertained at the Woman's Literary club building by committees of the local club. The visitors came in a big motorcade, the cars for which were provided by the Grand Rapids chamber of commerce.

The trip was called a "dune party." The delegates were eager to see the famous Michigan dunes. They were taken to Castle Park, and later to Lakewood Farm, via Waukegan. At Castle Park and Lakewood Farm they had a good opportunity to see the dunes at their best. They also were given an opportunity to see the Lakewood Farm zoo and other interesting features of that place.

The company arrived at the club house in Holland about two o'clock in the afternoon and they remained until about 4:30. Complete preparation for their entertainment had been made. The club house was beautifully decorated. The downstairs decorations were in charge of Mrs. W. J. Olive and the decorations upstairs in charge of Mrs. Clarence Lokker. The entertainment and reception committee was composed of Mrs. G. E. Kollen, Mrs. S. R. McLean and Mrs. George A. Pelgrim.

The gathering at the club house was informal and there were no speeches. The women were made very welcome and every detail of their stay in Holland a pleasant one. Many of them expressed their deep appreciation of the efforts made by the Holland club women for their entertainment here.

Many prominent women were among the guests entertained here. There were many state officers from Maine, Texas, Minnesota and several others states, and a number of the federal directors were also present at the meeting. Delegates were present from many sections of the United States.

PIONEER DIES HERE SUNDAY

Albert Dainling, aged 83 years, died Sunday at the home of H. H. Boeve in Fillmore township, where he had made his home for about three and a half years. He was born in The Netherlands and came to America 55 years ago. He lived in Jamestown and Drenthe for many years. He is survived by his wife, six sons and two daughters.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock, fast time, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Boeve, and at 2:30 o'clock at the Drenthe Christian Reformed church. Rev. Mr. Roseboom officiated at the house and Rev. Benj. Essenberg at the church.

TOURNAMENTS OPEN JULY 11 AT COUNTRY CLUB

In the blind bogey Saturday afternoon at the Holland country club D. Van Raalte won first prize, C. Vander Meulen and Chas. Kirchen were tied for second, and P. H. Crowell landed in third place.

The June and July tournament will open on June 11th. Prizes will be donated by the three Holland clubs.

HOLLAND'S TAX JUMPS $1.64 A $1,000 IN YEAR

City Assessor Casper W. Nibbelink has completed the annual assessment roll and the summer campaign for collection of taxes will begin July 6. Holland's assessed valuation approximates $17,486,885 an increase of about $400,000 over the amount of the previous year. The total amount to be collected in taxes is $449,906.31, of which $235,000 is for schools.

The tax rate will be $13.44 per $1,000 assessed valuation for schools and $12.24 for city, or a total of $25.68 per $1,000 assessed valuation. The rate shows an increase of $1.64 per 1,000 over last year.

M-21 TO OPEN ABOUT JUNE 11 AT GRANDVILLE

The Kent Co. road commission's office states that the new M-21 highway at Grandville will be opened for public service about June 11th. Concrete has been completed some time ago, but it requires 21 to 28 days before it accepts the pavement and officially opens the road.

The road when opened will shorten the route to Grand Rapids and eliminate a very dangerous grade crossing.

The Burton Highway connecting at the east intersection in being graded, preparatory to constructing a 20 foot highway.

PASSENGER-TICKET AGENTS ON VISIT HERE ON SUNDAY

A representative party of railroad passenger and ticket agents from the middle western states, a number of whom accompanied their wives, visited Holland Sunday. They were the guests of the Goodrich Steamship Lines on a week-end outing to the resort territory along the West Michigan shore.

Leaving Chicago on Saturday evening's steamer, the delegation was met at Holland by Greyhound, and the morning of the day was spent in visiting Holland, Saugatuck, Grand Haven, Spring Lake and Highland Park. Reaching Muskegon at noon the party, after a brief sightseeing tour of that city, proceeded to White Lake where a picnic luncheon was served by the hotel men's association.

Continuing northward on M-11, brief stops were made during the afternoon at Shelby, Hart, and Pentwater. Returning to Muskegon, the party boarded the S. S. Alabama for dinner and the night trip back to Chicago.

The majority of the passenger men were strangers to our attractive summer region, and from the enthusiastic comments heard on all sides it was evident they were more than favorably impressed with what Michigan has to offer her summer tourist visitors.

Mr. Park Robbins, passenger traffic manager of the Goodrich Transit Co., assisted by his passenger men, C. V. Howard, assistant passenger agent, P. Robbins, Jr., city passenger agent, J. A. Russell, city passenger agent, and passenger representatives, E. A. Hoppestead and W. H. Siemers, of Chicago, and J. A. Johnson, division freight and passenger agent of Holland, acted as hosts for this occasion.

The Goodrich Line's enterprise in bringing such a delegation of prominent passenger and ticket agents on a visit to our section should result in an increase in summer travel to our delightful vacation land.

Among the more prominent cities represented were: St. Louis, Mo., Omaha, Neb., Des Moines, Ia., Sioux City, Ia., St. Joseph, Mo., Dubuque, Ia., Indianapolis, Ind., Evansville, Ind., Springfield, Ill., Peoria, Ill., Cincinnati, O., and Terre Haute, Ind.

COLLEGE PREPS HOLDS BANQUET

The junior-senior banquet of the Hope Preparatory school was held Friday evening in the Trinity church parlors. The juniors had charge of the entire program, which was very much enjoyed by all. Everybody enjoyed the toasts given by the chaplains, Miss Ramaker, instructor, and Mr. George Damsen, a former Hopeite. The program, under the direction of Theodore Schapp, proved that there was some real talent in the "B" class, both in music and speech. The "B" class musicians, going under the name of Kolkovsk's band, played several selections that kept the Preppies spell-bound.

After the program the entertainment committee, with Daniel Boone as chairman, led the students in some very interesting games.

The hall was decorated in blue and white, the senior class colors. The tables were placed in the form of a large H. The best part of the program, however, was served by the young ladies of Trinity church. The Prop. play, "The Strenuous Life," will be given at Carnegie hall June 10.

DON'T SIGN GAS BILL PETITION GREEN WARNS

Gov. Green Monday warned Michigan voters not to sign referendum petitions on the Leland 3c gas tax. If they go through only a small amount of roads in addition to the present program can be built this year or next. It was reported the Detroit council would lead circulation of a referendum, tying up the new law until the fall election in 1928.

Michigan's highway fund will be $100,000 July 1, due to manipulation by the last administration, Green said. Greenback virtually used all of the estimated receipts of the 2c gas tax and weight tax also. All this year's finances are mortgaged in contracts under which Greenback has the future in his political ambition.

The 3c tax was sought so some new roads could be built. To net an estimated $6,000,000 it was passed on a compromise after a preliminary defeat.

STUDENTS HONOR MISS PARKYN IN THE 1927 ANNUAL

For the first time in the history of Holland high school "The Boomerang," the high school annual, is an all Holland product. The school has been in the habit of sending the annual out of town, to be printed by a firm in one of the larger Michigan cities. This year the job was done at home by the Steketee-Van Huis Co. The volume was distributed among the students Tuesday.

The annual was dedicated this year to Miss Hannah Parkyn in the following words: "No one except a student can fully appreciate the heights of achievement implied in the term 'successful teacher.' It is earned by endless hours of patience and by the expansion of great effort to no immediately apparent good. Such spirit constitutes the backbone of all progress and betterment. Among us we have such a spirit who, by her kindness and interest, has won our hearts to such an extent that graduation will prove no barrier to a continuation of our friendship. We, the class of 1927, respectfully dedicate our book to Miss Hannah Parkyn."

The book also contains an appreciation of their patroness, Miss Mabel Anthony, and their patron, Mr. Milton Hinga, which reads: "All of us know that everything the Senior Class has undertaken to do during the past year has met with huge success. Naturally we wonder who is responsible for this. It is true that our president and several individuals have worked very hard to promote the activities of the Senior Class, but our patroness, Miss Anthony, and our patron, Mr. Hinga, have devoted a considerable amount of their valuable time and effort to the welfare of the Senior Class. The seniors take this opportunity to express their sincere appreciation to Miss Anthony and Mr. Hinga for all they have done to make the year 1927 a most successful year for the Senior Class of Holland high school."

The book is beautifully printed and is bound in art leather. It contains 128 pages. The table of contents includes: dedication, appreciation, faculty, classes, activities, societies, music, athletics, dramatics, Junior High, humor and ads.

TWO SOCIETIES TO STAGE PLAY

Carnegie gymnasium will again be the scene Friday evening, June 10, of the annual play of the Melphione and Minerva societies of Hope Preparatory school. They will present "A Strenuous Life," by Richard Walton Tully, a play in three acts. The leading roles will be played by Mr. Henry Roon of Jamestown and Miss Harriet Onk of Holland. Both are popular students at Prep and have a reputation for being excellent performers. Other members of the cast include Peter Meurer, Jay Humberg, Anne Hoeman, Henrietta Kuiszenga, Margaret Kuyser, Daniel Boone, Jack Just, Raymond Schapp, Karl Feenstra, Bernard Ekerlieden, Grace Witterlind, and Ernest Keizer. The cast has been carefully selected and according to present indications the play will be even a greater success than last year's. The players are being coached by Miss Mildred E. Rasmussen, instructor in the department of English at Prep.

The main floor will be reserved but tickets can be secured free of charge from the members of both societies. The play will be given entirely free of charge but in order to partially cover the expense connected with the production, frost bites will be held between the acts. The play will begin at 7:45 daylight saving time.

The "A" class program will be given Monday evening, June 13, at 8:00 o'clock in Winants chapel. This is also free of charge and the public is cordially invited to attend.

TO EVANGELIZE THE REFORMED CHURCH, PLAN

The general synod of the Reformed church in America, holding meetings at Asbury Park, N. J., was thrilled Monday with the evangelistic idea. Delegates unanimously were in favor of visitation evangelism. A plan will be worked out for putting this method at work in every church. The Sunday school report was most encouraging. Weekday education, publication and teacher training all were advanced during the year.

Dr. S. P. Cadman spoke on co-operation among the denominations. He said there was a challenge to Protestantism to uphold the dry cause. He called William the Silent the most noble Protestant of all times, while he pictured Elizabeth of England as the most miserable specimen.

He suggested forty of the ablest ministers in the land be released to go to the colleges to combat the materialism found there. The afternoon was given to foreign missions. Reports showed in the past year the receipts were $510,977, of which churches and Sunday schools gave $240,497 and the woman's board, $128,515 in spite of all gifts, the board has a deficit of $32,000 in the year's work.

Missionaries of the denomination in China, suffered very little in the recent disturbances, it was reported.

Decision on the status of three suspended officials of the Michigan Soldiers Home at Grand Rapids is expected Wednesday when the board in control meets at Benton Harbor. Col. William T. McCurnan, commandant, Adjutant O. W. Archard, and W. J. Remus, pharmacist, were charged with irregularities in investigations by the attorney general and the legislature. The board conferred with the governor Friday but no definite action was taken.

Joe Kovach of Los Angeles, Cal., driving a Studebaker touring car, crashed into George Van Stratt of Grand Haven, driving an Essex coach, Friday evening as he was coming from the north about 150 feet over the big bridge near Ferrysburg. Both cars were damaged considerably although the occupants were uninjured. Kovach, driving alone, was reading a road map and driving rather slowly, trying to find a route to Coloma, Mich., where he has a son living. He had been driving for two days and evidently forgot himself for the car veered away off to the left forcing the Van Stratt car off the curb and smashed up both cars considerably. Wheels were off of both cars and the running boards and sides were considerably damaged. Kovach took all the blame for the accident. The state police sent the cars to Grand Haven garages and soon cleared up the traffic which at that hour quickly piled up on either side.

Several girls were riding with Van Stratt but no one was hurt due to doubt to the fact that both cars were moving slowly.

EASTERN MAN IS NAMED HEAD OF REFORMED SYNOD

General synod of the Reformed church, in session at Asbury Park, N. J., since June 2, will close its deliberations on Wednesday of next week. At Thursday's session Rev. J. Addison Jones of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., was elected president of the one hundred and twenty-first general synod of the Reformed church in America in the place of Dr. S. C. Nettinga, of the Western Theological seminary, whose term of office expired. Rev. J. Harvey Murphy of Hudson, N. Y., was elected vice president. Thus the officers who will arrange for the territorial celebration of the founding of church, which occurs next year, come from the historic Hudson valley. There were 21 candidates for president on the first ballot.

Dr. Daniel J. Poling, president of the International Christian Endeavor, was the leading candidate, but declined the office. One hundred and eighty delegates answered the first roll call, the largest number ever present on the first day. Rev. J. Heemstra, of Holland, Mich., was named chairman of domestic missions.

Rev. S. C. Nettinga, professor in Western Theological seminary, presided at the opening session Thursday afternoon in the Reformed church, Asbury Park, N. J. He preached the synodical sermon Thursday evening as retiring president of the synod. The sermon was based on the text taken from 1 Cor. 15:58. "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain."

Third Reformed church of Holland, Mich., has furnished seven presidents of general synod, six within the space of 10 years and three in consecutive years. The men thus honored were Rev. James F. Zwemer, Rev. E. J. Bleekink, Rev. P. Moordijk, Rev. A. Heemans, Rev. S. M. Zwemer, Rev. John E. Kuisenga and Rev. S. C. Nettinga.

"In trying to decide upon some message I might bring, appropriate to the occasion that brings the representatives of the whole church together, I finally decided upon this glorious call of the great apostle," said Prof. Nettinga. "For one reason, because it gives expression to a thought which has been the inspiration of my own ministry for wellnigh 25 years."

"Few words of the sacred Scriptures more frequently find me on to the task to which we as ministers of the church of Christ have dedicated our lives. And I would like to commend them anew to all my comrades in the ministry as well as to all others who are trying to serve the Lord Jesus Christ."

"Then another thing. We are again standing on the threshold of another year of faith and prayer and labor and hope. We have come together to review the successes and the failures of the year that is past and to plan for the year to come."

"We know not what the year may bring in store for us, but of one thing I am confident upon the basis of my own experience and that of others that in these words of Paul we have the secret of success."

"For while every hope may not be realized and every undertaking may not be fully accomplished, there will be at least such a measure of success that when we come together next year to commemorate the twentieth of our church we shall not sing funeral dirges to the songs of victory."

"The question may be asked at this point, why this call to loyalty. One answer is because of the attacks constantly made upon the truth, whereby the church is endangered. One needs no large acquaintance with present-day church life to know how many are swept from their moorings, religiously and morally—some through the subtle speculations of a worldly wise philosophy; some through great waves of religious excitement; others through the shibboleths of religious demagogues, and still others through the very confusion which this strife and conflict on the fundamental issues of life produce. The field of history is strewn with the wreckage of men and women who have made shipwreck of their faith."

"Another reason for it is because historic Christianity is the remedy for the world's moral and spiritual needs. And let me add, so far as I know, nothing else can meet those needs."

"Then, too, this call is urgent because of the unprecedented opportunities to extend the kingdom of God at the present time."

"To this we may add as a third reason for this urgency: The spirit of the age. This is an age of intense living. Men are throwing themselves into their pursuits with a pleasure with an energy that knows no bounds."

"And the church must show that it can work and play just as intensely at the eternal issues of life; that it can adjust itself to every condition of human existence; that it needs of the age in which it lives. Some old methods may have to be scrapped, but what of that?"

"What shall we do about it? You have come together to deliberate, to plan for tomorrow. And justly so, for it is one element in success. But I say it with all the earnestness of which I am capable, it will come largely to naught unless we can all catch the spirit of this great battle-cry; unless the whole church is willing to make Christ and His great enterprise the first, the big, the supreme thing in life. I know this is not easy saying, but so far as I know nothing worthwhile in all the world ever was."

GEORGE F. GETZ TAKES HAND IN CHICAGO DRIVE

All the Chicago papers are picturing George Getz, of Lakewood Farm and Chicago, as one of the great moving spirits that are going to make Chicago a greater, cleaner and a happier city.

The slogan that has been adopted is "The Happiest City in the World." George Getz is pictured reading an outline of the plans that a citizens' committee of 300 are to follow. Mayor Thompson is the center figure in the picture and others are Elmer T. Stevens, W. R. Abbott and Charles Fitzmorris, former chief of police of Chicago.

The Chicago American says that the first meeting of the 300 has been held first meeting of the 300 has been held, with George F. Getz presiding. The Chicago Tribune states that after Mayor Thompson and his campaign for mayor, George Getz conceived the idea of organizing this committee of 300, and meetings are repeatedly held where the work of different committees and what has been accomplished is reported.

It is felt that the city of Chicago is not making fullest use of its resources. One fact that was brought out at a recent meeting by Mayor Thompson was that Chicago must be a seaport town. In his appeal the mayor of Chicago said:

"If Chicago's to go forward," she's got to be a seaport. Our merchants have suffered and easterners have benefited by the Panama canal, built with our money, and we must have a water freight rate. I believe with the opening of the waterway—given us by the bill we fought so hard to put through congress—in January, 1929, Chicago will be a greater, more prosperous city, with a happier, healthier, lot of people. This committee can do much to hasten that day."

The city of Chicago is to have many slogans, it appears from the Chicago papers, one of them being:

"So long as you are for Chicago, we are for you."

LOCAL PIONEER PASSES AWAY AT FREMONT

One of the pioneer settlers of this community died Wednesday evening at 8:30 at his home in Fremont when death came to William Deur, at the age of 69 years, after a long illness with a complication of diseases. Mr. Deur had suffered long with asthma, bronchitis and liver trouble. This developed into tuberculosis of the throat which caused his death.

Mr. Deur was born on the old Deur homestead a half mile southeast of Holland. He has been a resident of this community all his life, with the exception of about 15 years. He is survived by his wife and six children: George W. and John of Holland, Morris and Mrs. J. Michmichsen of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Fred Bosch and Daniel of Fremont; also by three brothers, G. J. Deur of Holland, and Dick and Henry of Fremont, and one sister, Mrs. Gerrit Schuurman of Holland.

Mr. Deur has always been very active in business and church life. He opened the store that is now the Kardux Grocery, corner seventh and River, built the double store at 7 and 9 West 16th street and served as foreman in factories. He also conducted farms at one time and another. He served as elder in three or four churches and helped to organize the 16th street Christian Reformed church in Holland. He was serving as an elder in the Fremont church.

The funeral was held on Saturday forenoon at 10 o'clock at the home of Daniel Deur, Darling avenue, Fremont, and at 10:30 in the Second Reformed church there. The body was brought to Holland and services were held at the home of George W. Deur, 14 West 18th street, at 3 o'clock. Friends are invited. The services were conducted by Rev. J. De Haan of Holland and Rev. Mr. Holtrop of Fremont.

Grocers from Muskegon, Oceana, Newaygo and Ottawa counties are to be guests of the Muskegon grocers tonight to hear a talk by Mr. J. W. Grist, Chicago merchandising expert. The meeting will be held at the Occidental at 8 o'clock.

exercises to be held in the high-school

this year's class are men, Mrs. Veryl Shields, in charge of the school, reports a very successful year from every standpoint. Training in instruction has been the key feature of the method employed in the department this year. Under this system students teachers studied and analyzed a child's faults and defects in given subjects and then used special methods to correct these errors. In this manner scientific accuracy is applied to teaching the individual child. Practically all members of the 1927 class have secured positions for teaching in the county next year.

HOLLAND CITY NEWS

GRAND HAVEN TO BUILD FILTRATION PLANT THIS YEAR

The city of Grand Haven, before the close of the year, will erect a new water filtration plant at a cost of about $100,000. The city has been bonded for $115,000, but it is expected that all the money will not be needed. Pearce, Greeley & Hansen of Chicago, the firm that drew up the plans for Holland's sewage disposal plant, has prepared the plans for the Grand Haven concern.

The main building or "head house," is to be two stories high 45 by 42 feet constructed of brick and stone preserving a dignified and practical appearance with high arched windows and doors fitting to the style house.
This structure will house the pumps, offices, laboratory and tool room. To the east of this a single story 54 by 42 foot building will hold four filters, an operating floor and mixing basin. Outside of this building but connecting with the mixing basins are the coagulating vats and aerator. This wing eventually will be duplicated, adding many thousands of gallons to the capacity of the plant.

The normal capacity of the building will be 2,000,000 gallons a day but with the added units as planned 8,000,000 gallons of water can be supplied providing for 50,000 people.
The large water filter in steel basin at the brick construction will correspond with the brick on the light plant. The walks and landscaping will make it an attractive as well as a utilitarian building. It will face Sherman street and be located back of the present light plant.

Outside of the building are the aerators and coagulating basins 75 by 54 by 131 feet. These are two of these which can be worked simultaneously or separately.

The process of filtration starts with the water as it is pumped into the plant from the lake wells or river.
It enters through the aerator or man-ifold from which the water escapes through orifices in the pipe and is thrown into the air permitting the gases or odors to escape and beginning the purification. From here the water flows into the mixing basin where it comes in contact with alum which causes the sediment to gather in large pieces and rapidly settle to the bottom of the tanks. Passing from this tank to the coagulating basins more coagulant is used and further sediment drops to the bottom. The water remains here long enough for 90 per cent of all foreign matter to settle. This water is then drawn off from the top to filters where any remaining sediment is taken out. It then is pumped into receiving basins with a capacity of 100,000 gallons.
From this large tank it is pumped into the city mains where liquid
chlorine is added to kill any bacteria which might have escaped the preceding processes.

KALAMAZOO COLLEGE DIAMOND WARRIORS CAPTURE TWO TITLES

Decisively whipping Albion college, 10 to 5, Kalamazoo college Saturday afternoon won both the season's and the title of the M. I. A. of N. Y.
Watson performed an "iron man"
stunt for Kalamazoo when, inspite of walking 13 men, he won his second field day game in as many days. He turned back Hope Saturday.

Albion used three hurlers. In the first inning Collins received a "split finger" when he attempted to intercept a hot liner. Capt. Jimmy Lightbody succeeded Collins. He was relieved by Lovejoy in the third.

CANE FIGHTS KEEPING SENIOR STUDENTS BUSY

Grand Haven Tribune—As a result of a base ball game between the Seniors and Juniors of the High School, so rumor has it, the Juniors are determined to capture the swagger sticks and canes, so proudly swung by the Seniors, paint their colors on them and then burn the collection in a bonfire where they may sing and yell and gloat over their conquests as only Juniors can who are soon to step into the shoes of the Seniors.

To date there have not been many captures and James Wiegink is the only Senior who has been vanquished thus far. There is no date set for the final celebration but anyone seeing a fight need not be alarmed as it is but a High school prank.

POOR LADY WITH SIX MILLION WANTS TO STAY POOR

"Chicago's Hetty Green," Mrs. Ida Sayer Garrett, lived in abject poverty in a small Chicago loop hotel disregarding an estate valued at $6-230,000, a probate court inventory disclosed today.

A few months ago, Mrs. Garrett, who is 74, was found in a cheap room in the hotel, half starved and dressed in frayed and tattered garments.
Friends who had known her since childhood and when she was known as "Chicago's Hetty Green" and "belle of the North Side," rushed to her assistance and in spite of her hospitality, placed her in St. Luke's hospital for mental treatment and observation.

Today, Abel Davis, conservator for her property, filed an inventory in probate court which showed Mrs.
Garrett, the owner of $1,500,000 in cash, $4,500,000 in real estate, $190-000 worth of stocks and bonds and notes for $40,000.

The Garrett fortune dates back to pre-civil war days, when Mrs. Garrett's grandfather, Justice Butterfield was appointed federal land commissioner for Illinois, defeating Abraham Lincoln for the appointment. At his death, he left a number of tracts of Chicago real estate which have doubled in value again and again.

Mrs. Garrett has no near relatives.

AMERICAN FLYER IS MUCH ADVERTISED

Three minutes before he made his history-making flight, Charles A.
Lindbergh thought perhaps some of the newspapers might say something about it. So he signed a contract with Walter Hyman & Co. for the clippings. Today it estimated that by the time he receives his welcome home in Washington and New York
the newspapers will have published one million columns about him, or enough printed matter to fill two freight cars to capacity.

The universal interest in the appearance of the Atlantic by the lone aviator is shown by the range of these clippings, newspapers as far away south as South Africa, Tasmania, New Zealand, India, Egypt, the Philippines, Borneo, and a little Guam, away into the Pacific, made first page stories of the flight. In one day, Mr.
Hyman's force of workers clipped 27-000 columns of matter.

"In all Mr. Hyman's 30 years' experience in publicity and clipping bureau, no client has ever received so much publicity," said Edward Carey Cohen, 1440 Broadway, Mr. Hyman's counsel. "At the time of Woodrow Wilson's death, Mr. Hyman made the memorial compilation of newspaper clippings for Princeton University.
These filled 39 volumes, which, up to the Lindbergh flight was the high spot for any individual."

"Normally Mr. Hyman employs a force of from 50 to 60 persons. Because of the Lindbergh story, he had to augment his staff by 30 additional clippers and 25 additional readers almost exclusively deaf and dumb girls and this gives them an opportunity to make a living, as the work requires neither the faculties of speech or hearing."

To handle the 150 mail bags of clippings which Lindbergh's stories which are being received daily he has been obliged to call on graduates of at least 20 deaf and dumb schools.
The volume of printed matter is so great that the readers are 10 days to two weeks behind on the newspapers.
"These clippings are being forwarded as fast as possible to the flyer's mother in Detroit. At time of signing the contract he said, 'I don't know where I'll be, so send them on to my mother.' The contract was signed just three minutes before he hopped off and, at the time, he did not think that the newspapers would pay much attention to his flight."
