A Lesson Britain Teaches

Great Britain reached its all-time peak of industrial activity during the last year, a survey by the Board of Trade Journal reveals.

The manufacturing industries even beat the previous peak year of 1929 by a considerable margin.

The greatest gains made last year were in non-ferrous metals. Then came iron and steel, quarries and mines, gas and electricity, engineering, ship-building and textiles.

Great Britain led the world in building activity, with Italy a poor second.

And this was achieved without the aid of any such experimental measures as have been introduced in this country under the NRA, with such disastrous consequences to business.

Great Britain has kept its money sound and has not attempted to reform business practices before nursing business back to recovery by protective measures.

American business men are just as competent and just as courageous as the business men of Great Britain.

And if given a chance there is no reason why they should not restore normal industrial activity to the United States.

The Faster the Safer

(Chicago American)

If you are one of those who fear that the dawn of a new era of real speed on American railroads will bring with it a faithful sacrifice of lives, be reassured.

Frank E. Strauss of the Pennsylvania Railroad, addressing the Chicago Central Lions' Club, announced that already the railroads are perfecting new safety devices that will make 100-mile-an-hour trains even safer than those of the present.

The history of railroading bears out his prediction.

Wooden trains, rattling along at thirty miles an hour, or tumbled through fragile wooden trestles, disintegrated into kindling wood and burn up.

Now steel trains, traveling at sixty or seventy miles an hour on double-track lines protected with automatic block signal systems, seldom get into trouble. When they do, the loss of life usually is small.

The faster railroad travel has become the SAFER it has been made.

Probably American engineering genius, having accomplished that in the past, will be able to keep on accomplishing it in the future.

Holland Men on Tax Body

The tax allocation commission of Ottawa county met again on Monday to continue the work of allocating the tax rates for the county and city schools under the 15 mill tax limitation law. The members of the commission, appointed by the state through the probate judge, Cora Vande Water, are Albert Hyma, chairman of the finance committee of the board of supervisors; Ben Mulder of the Holland City News; Gerrit Groenewoud, school commissioner, of Holland and Holland township; John Den Herder, county treasurer; and Ed Van Koeveering of the Zeeland Record.

Mr. Van Koeveering was again named chairman and County Clerk Wilds is secretary.

Superintendent E. E. Fell, William Arendshorst and Henry Geering of the Holland school already met with the commission.

From now on representatives from the rural schools will appear to declare their needs. Meetings are held at the Ottawa county court house on a Monday of each month.

Mr. Van Koeveering has especially given school matters, as this relates to taxation, a great deal of study and he is indeed fitted for this work. Gerrit Groenewoud of Holland is also well versed in the new tax law as is Albert Hyma of the township. Both have made a close study of the law since they have been directly involved.

MORE CENSUS ENUMERATORS

A bill passed by the state legislature recently becomes effective at once and will change the method of taking the 1935 school census. This bill relates to the method of taking school census in districts having less than 3,000 population except in Wayne county. The new law provides that the census in these districts shall be taken by boards of education. For the past four years the enumerators have been appointed according to township. This act returns it to the old system in use prior to 1931, so that in Allegan county there will be this year, instead of thirty enumerators, one hundred and eighty taking the school census.

CHARLES ZOET IS DECLARED WINNER IN STATE FAIR CONTEST

The contest for the Ottawa County State Fair Boys' School contest was held at the Allegan High school Saturday, May 25.

Eleven eighth grade boys entered the contest conducted by Messrs. Ties Pruis and Charles Veldhuis, members of the county board of examiners. At that time and place Charles Zoet, age 14, pupil of the Sherbourne school, Blenden township, was declared winner. In the final school report sent in to the commissioner's office, he is classified by his teacher, C. C. Van Lier as an "A" student.

As alternative, James Boukamp, a pupil from the Toothache school, Polk township, Miss Esther Meindersma, teacher, received the honor followed closely by Wallace Van Lier, pupil of the New Groningen school, Holland township, Lester Wyngaarden, teacher.

Each year the Michigan state fair board holds a state fair boys' school in Detroit, quartered at the state fair grounds under proper supervision as guests of the Michigan state fair during the four days at the fair grounds.

They will be given an opportunity to see everything of interest at the fair, hear lectures, and talk on many educational topics, receive a full course in physical education and will be in charge of competent leaders at all times. Every effort will be made to make the trip interesting, entertaining and instructive.

This school is composed of one boy from each county who are the winners in the State Fair Boys' School contest. The contest consists of answering a special list of questions in agriculture prepared by the state department of public instructions.

Pupils from the following schools entered the contest: Sherbourne in Blenden township; Nunica in Crooktown township; Canada Hill in Georgetown township; New Groningen, Pine Creek, in Holland township; Toothache and Jericho in Polk township, and McDearmon school in Wright township.

The Allegan county farmers voted as follows: Contract signers, 142 yes; 47 no; non-contract signers, 10 yes, 28 no.

SYNOPSIS OF MEMORIAL DAY SERMON

and doings of certain prominent characters. Men have fought for power, as Alexander and Napoleon of a later date. Others have striven for riches as a fabled Croesus and the late czar of Russia. Still others for national solidarity as the Jews of old and Japan a century ago. Popularity, honor and political power have caused others to fight and scheme and plot with or against their fellowmen. But it is always man who stands both at the circumference and the center of the circle.

But an exact knowledge of history reveals man as an instrument in God's hand. Like puppets or marionettes man moves and speaks but he is controlled and directed by an invisible force higher and greater than himself. That invisible force is none other than the Lord Jehovah, who is the true source of our national greatness. What we are as a nation we owe to His sovereign will and His providential acts.

We note some of the elements in our national greatness that are attributable only to an overruling Providence. Those that first came to this country for religious liberty came to America because they could go nowhere else. Out of this divinely controlled fact comes our heritage of religious liberty.

The growth of our nation beginning with the original thirteen colonies was a so-called natural process. But what is nature but the orderly working out of God's will?

That we are the "melting pot" of nations is again a fact only made possible by God's grace. Our natural resources as also the two great oceans that guard our shores are all of them creations of Almighty God.

The extent to which our land is a truly Christian land is once more a result of God's merciful goodness to this specially favored and blessed land. Verily God is the Giver of every good and perfect gift.

But the Lord has His purpose for us. It is the assured conviction of many of His humble followers that God has blessed us and chosen us for service. That service being the preaching of the Gospel to all and the evangelization of the world.

God forbid that the United States should fail, as Israel failed, of fulfilling this divinely given mission. We pray earnestly for pardon for national sins. We pray fervently for strength that, individually and collectively, we, lovingly and willingly fulfill His will.

"CORPSE" PUTS IN CLAIM FOR MORE ALIMONY ACTION

Mrs. Kristine Erboe, not only isn't dead, but she says she would like to have some more alimony.

She appeared in Superior Judge Desor's court in Chicago and said her husband, Carl, had been telling friends he didn't have to pay alimony any more because his wife was dead. "Take a look at your wife and from now on pay her $12 a week instead of $5," said the court.

New State Police Law

The legislature has passed and Gov. Fitzgerald has signed a bill of unusual importance in the field of law enforcement.

This is the measure which creates the "Michigan State Police" as successor to the "Department of Public Safety" under conditions designed to free the police as far as possible from the trammels and entanglements of politics.

Henceforth the official who was department commissioner will be police superintendent, and as such he will be removable and from office only for misbehavior and after trial before the State Supreme Court. Officers in the ranks cannot be removed except for specific reasons and after they have received hearings.

Supported by a law of this sort, the State Police, already one of the most effective and valuable organizations of the kind in the United States, will have a free hand and a great responsibility, and likewise will be under uncommon obligation to use its powers with honesty and discretion.

If it continues to be managed as it has been managed hitherto, the Michigan Police can become an agency for protection of the public from crime, violence and accident that the people of every other commonwealth in the union will envy.

PICK ARBUTUS SPARINGLY; DO NOT UPROOT PLANT

This is the arbutus season, and if you cannot resist picking this dainty, fragrant blossom, use care in its harvesting. The blossoms should be cut off the stem. Never pull them, for this uproots the plant, destroying it.

RATE PORCUPINE

Almost all woodmen—old-timers—bait the porcupine. Joe Fischer of Merryweather gives a trapper's opinion of the porcupine:

"After I kill off all the porcupines in my territory during the winter, the return of spring finds them as plentiful as ever. A porcupine has but one young one a year. How do they keep up the supply? They spoil sets made for fur animals. Chew axes and saw handles. Inevitably they get into the traps, ruin the floors, riddle the blankets. 'Porkies' kill thousands of hardwood saplings each year. The old story of their being the boon of men lost in the woods is silly. You seldom see one on the ground in the daytime. Kill the porkies, I say."

Hen Lays Egg with 5 Cent Piece Inside

The goose that laid the golden egg had nothing on the Athens, Texas, hen that laid the nickel one. When Linton Tucker, a grade schoolboy, bit into a hard boiled egg which he had taken to school in his lunch, his teeth clamped down on a nickel. His teacher and several students vouched for the fact that the shell of the egg had not previously been broken.

AN EGG THAT'S SOME EGG

(Fennville Herald)

"How's that for an egg?" asked C. L. Bills of Pearle, Allegan county, as he laid a huge hen-berry on the editor's desk. This big egg weighed four ounces and was three inches long, and the hen that laid it was a five-pound Barons English Leghorn. Eggs with double yolks are common enough but this one is unusually large even for a double-yolker.

MRS. VAN HEKKEN DECLARED INSANE

Mrs. Tena Van Hekken, 32, Holland township, was declared mentally incompetent by Judge Fred Miles of Holland following a sanity hearing which was completed Monday afternoon in circuit court. He signed an order committing her to the hospital for the insane at Ionia.

Testimony was taken from three physicians, Dr. E. H. Beerning and Dr. C. J. Addition of Grand Haven, and Dr. C. E. Boone, Zeeland, her family physician for several years. All three agreed that the woman was not mentally competent and was not responsible for the act of burning her home in Holland township and attempting suicide, May 6, which she admitted in a written confession given to Sheriff Ben Rosema.

She was taken to Ionia Wednesday morning. On Tuesday several of the neighbors of the family motored to Grand Haven to bid her farewell.

PHEASANTS ARE VICTIMS OF CARELESS MOTORISTS

A beautiful male pheasant was brought to the county jail several days ago by Deputy Tony Gronewald, Holland, for I. A. Anderson, a highway near Holland, abandoned after it was hit by a motorist.

The bird was near where about 75 of them had been released last fall by the conservation officer and had been reared at one of the state farms. The birds are banded and when killed are left at the place so that the officer may check as to how far the birds travel. This one was evidently well contented with his life where there are good feeding grounds.

Mr. Antles recalled that the birds were unused to the open as wild birds are when placed in a cage, and huddled together in rather pitiful fashion. The bird killed was a very beautiful one.

Planting pheasants in Michigan has resulted in a big increase of the birds until there is now a short hunting season in the fall.

During the mating season the females, especially, are very dull and many of them are struck by cars. The males are less so. Mr. Antles urges that motorists avoid hitting the birds if possible, as they usually flatten down in the road if scared by an oncoming car and seldom fly away.

ZEELAND

Mrs. Rihn Zeerip, 57, died Saturday noon at her home a mile northeast of Zeeland after a short illness. She is survived by her husband and two sons, Charles of South Bend, Ind., and William at home. OVERISEL NOTES

A choir of 38 voices from the Fifth Reformed church of Grand Rapids will render a concert in the auditorium of the Overisel Reformed church. There will also be some pipe organ and piano duets. The program will begin at 8 o'clock.

The Girls' League for Service of the local church is sponsoring this concert. The choir will come at its own expense, and the collection will be devoted entirely to missions. Such a fine spirit surely deserves the backing of all our people, and such an evening of sacred entertainment will be time well spent.

Benjamin Brinkhuis introduced the topic for discussion, "The Defense of His Work," in the Young People's society of the Christian Reformed church Sunday evening. The Scripture lesson was the First Epistle of Paul to the Thessalonians, chapter 2, verses 1 to 12, inclusive.

Miss Gertrude Nyhof gave a reading which dealt with Christ's love for us.

At a recent consistory meeting of the Christian Reformed church the following people expressed their desire to make public their confession of faith in Jesus Christ as their Saviour: The Misses Gertrude Nyhof, Henrietta Rabbers, Julia Schrottenboer, Florence Vande Riet and Laura Vee and the Messrs. Albert Broekhuis, Theodore Essink and Edwin Klingenberg.

The Young People's Christian Endeavor society of the Reformed church held a joint meeting with the societies of Ebenezer and of Hamilton, at the Ebenezer Reformed church auditorium last Sunday evening. Holland High School News

In a contest sponsored by the United States unit of Fidae, an international peace organization, Jean Spaulding's essay was given first place in the state of Michigan. This contest was open to high school students all over the country. The question written on was "What Can American Youth Do to Co-operate with the American Legion and Fidae to Promote World Peace?" The main point in this was the Universal Draft.

The state prize that Miss Spaulding will probably receive is a set of books. The essays are judged on English, neatness and thought. Likewise, the winning essays from each state will in turn be judged and a national cash prize will be offered. This cash prize, being a new feature, will induce more people to try to out. The national prize is a $200 scholarship to any university.

For quite a few years these Fidae contests have been conducted; however, the subjects usually chosen were far beyond the interest and the understanding of the average high school student. It is probably for that reason and the fact that the contest has never been announced in Holland High, that there has never before been an entrant from Holland. Success to Jean Spaulding.

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools has again placed Holland Senior High school on its list of approved secondary schools. This action was taken at the fortieth annual meeting of the association held in Chicago, April 10 to 13, and marked the twenty-sixth consecutive year the high school has held a place on this list.

A certificate showing the school's membership and which is valid from April 13, 1935, to April 24, 1936, has been received and has been placed in the office, where interested students may see it.

Oliver Lampen and Howard Beckforst gave De Haan and Jolderma a hard battle but were finally defeated. Lampen and Beck-

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kleinkessel of Fillmore is nearing its completion. The work on the roof is now finished, and likewise the front porch.

Arthur Hoffman of Hamilton, Albert and Jacob Vander Hulst of Haarlem, and Gerald Nykerk of Overisel, have formed an instrumental quartet known as the "Sons of the Pioneers." They gave some special music at the meeting of the Young People's society of the Borculo Christian Reformed church a week ago Sunday. Last week, Friday evening, the "Sons of the Pioneers" entertained the P. T. A. of Russcher's school. They are open for any engagements.

The cars left Junior High school at 1:30 p. m. and met at the Grand Haven High school. Each individual prepared his own lunch, and following the afternoon rehearsal the members met at Highland park beach where the supper hour was spent.

In addition to the same program which was given in Hope Memorial chapel on Tuesday evening the Ludington girls' and men's separate choruses rendered several selections. Professor W. Curtis Snow accompanied the group as guest conductor.

To represent the Holland High school the student council entered a float in the Tulip Time parade which on Wednesday, May 15, and on Saturday, May 18, visitors and local people had an opportunity to see in two of the most colorful parades in the history of this fair city.

The funds to build the float came from two sources. A collection taken by the aldermen in the assembly room was very gratifying and served as a great help in meeting the expenses incurred in building the float. The other sources were the profits made by the council from the 4-H cantenets.

The float was in the shape of a huge wooden shoe and was constructed around Robert Visscher's truck. It

"Don't put a perch on your bluebird or tree swallow house when you build it," says Edward I. Chase, R.R. 1, Fenton. "I found that this perch allowed English sparrows to perch near the entrance hole and every time a bluebird or swallow poked its head out of the hole the sparrows would attack them. They killed two of the nesting birds in this manner."

Rats Eat Heartily—Farmers Pay Bills

It is easy to reduce or eliminate the losses caused by rats and woodchucks on Michigan farms if the farm owner will spend a little time in applying proved methods of control, according to G. C. Oederkirk, U. S. Biological Survey. Rats are particularly troublesome in the spring months when they are tempted to vary their diet by killing and eating baby chicks. Rats have been known to kill as many as 500 chicks in one night; this, of course, is merely wanton slaughter and not a search for food. Expensive poultry foods are favorite rat diets.

Woodchucks prefer to place their burrows on side hills where they may start gullies and always cause trouble with harvesting machinery. They also have healthy appetites for clover and alfalfa.

Rats can be killed with poison baits in which red squill is used as the killing agent. Red squill will not kill other animals unless large amounts of it are eaten. One part of red squill to 16 parts of either a cheap grade of salmon, hamburger, or a mixture of equal parts moistened rolled oats and corn meal makes an attractive and deadly bait for rats. Two or more kinds of baits will accelerate the destruction of the rats.

Woodchucks can be killed by placing calcium cyanide fumigant in the burrows. Place a heaping tablespoonful of the poison in the hole as far as can be reached and close the entrance with a sod or dirt. If the hole remains closed, the animals will cause no more trouble. Carbon bisulphide placed on pieces of cloth which are pushed into the holes also will kill rodents. The burrow entrances should be closed when this fumigant is used. Calcium cyanide forced under concrete floors with a foot pump duster will kill rats hiding there. The gas from either fumigant should not be breathed. There is no danger if the work is done in the open air or where there is good ventilation. Red squill is not a dangerous poison for any animals except rats, but it should not be placed in large quantities where dogs, cats, or chickens can reach it.

WILL FEED HOPPERS A POISONED RATION

Grasshoppers are going to be fed well in Michigan this year but the ration to be furnished them will discourage the insects from all future troubling. Observations made in the field last year indicate that some hoppers will be present in all areas where they were found last season and greater numbers will occur in new places where poison bait was not used. Success in poisoning grasshoppers depends upon putting out the bait before the hoppers have grown much.

The eggs from which hoppers hatch are laid in grass sod and hatch the next spring or in early summer. The young hoppers have no wings, move slowly, but have prodigious appetites. If permitted to mature, the hoppers acquire wings and are able to travel considerable distances. Poison bait should be applied to sod lands soon after the hoppers hatch. They are killed by the poison before they move from the grass and before much damage has been done. The bait should be sown during the morning on warm, sunny days.

The bait is made by adding sodium arsenite to a mixture of salt, bran, sawdust, molasses, water and banana oil. The most economical way to prepare the bait is to mix it in large enough quantities to treat large acreage and have the farmers in that area share the expense of ingredients and mixing. At least part of the poison required in Michigan may be supplied by the federal government and it is possible that some of the other materials in the bait will be furnished. County agricultural agents will have full particulars about the materials given by the government. The agents also will supervise mixing the bait where it is prepared in quantities.

The poison bait is scattered thinly over the ground. Ten pounds is enough to treat an acre but it is difficult to scatter that small amount. Birds, poultry or livestock will not pick up enough poison to injure them in any way. Chickens have been confined for two days without feed and then placed in pens where the poison bait had been scattered as it is on treated land. The hungry chickens were not able to pick up enough of the poison to affect them.

Tools used in mixing the bait and containers or wagons in which bait has been hauled should be washed and the wash water placed where stock can not get it. Cans which have contained poison should be buried.

The important point in a grasshopper control plan is to place the poison on the land while the grasshoppers are small. Wild land in the section should be treated so hoppers will not mature there and migrate later to crop lands.

LOGGERS WANTED; CALL ISSUED FOR WOODSMEN

Woodmen, the sort that swung axes, pulled saws and floated logs down the rivers in years gone by, are again in demand in this part of Michigan. A call has been issued by Leo W. Ippert, NRS branch manager, for woodmen who are needed on Allegan's hydro-electric project and the clearing job connected with it.

Mr. Ippert declares that anyone in the county who knows logging operations and who is not employed should register at once at his office in this city. A job paying at least fifty cents per hour is awaiting him.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brink, 133 East Twentieth street, on May 21, a son, Lyle Vernon.

"OUR DAY OF WORSHIP"

(Psalm 100; John 4:20-24; Colossians 3:15-17)

Henry Geerlings

The first thought in this psalm is that we are to come before the Lord to worship. That much we owe Him. From every consideration of our need we should come. It should be the most natural thing in the world for us to worship him. There is that within the human heart which prompts us to acknowledge One higher than ourselves and to do Him homage. Our completeness is in Him.

In addition we are to worship with a joyful noise, with gladness and with singing. A long and sad face is not required; nor is it in order. The essence of worship is joyfulness. We are to be glad we may come into his presence. The thought of His mercy should fill our hearts with singing.

Our worship is to be intelligent. We are to know whom we worship. We are to do more than to shout into the heavens. Jehovah has revealed Himself unto us so that we might know Him and be able to give a reason why we worship Him. One reason for this worship grows out of our relationship to Him. He is the Creator, while we are His creatures. We came into being at His word. He breathed the breath of life into us. Were He to withdraw we would perish. He is even more dependent upon Him than sheep are on the shepherd.

The psalmist emphasizes the spirit in which our worship is to be offered. When we count His benefits and tell of His mercy, we shall see how befitting the note of thanksgiving is. We have reason to be chastened and humbled on account of our sin, but our thought of His favor toward us reassures us that we may draw near with confidence.

Our hope has its basis in the nature of God. He is good. If he were vindictive, we would flee from him. But He is gracious. It is in the sanctuary that God meets with His people and it is here that true joy is experienced.

In the second part of our lesson the subject of worship is strangely introduced into the conversation between Jesus and the woman of Samaria. She contended that the acceptableness of worship depends upon the place where people worship. He took exception to that view. She was a Samaritan, and worshipped in the temple her people had erected on Mt. Gerizim as a rival to the one the Jews had built in Jerusalem. She was as jealous of her temple as they were of theirs; and she supposed Jesus would champion their view over against hers.

Places of worship in and of themselves meant very little to our Lord. He knew how the people of His race had laid all the emphasis on the place, and next to none on the spirit. He stoutly demolished the notion that places make a man's worship acceptable. He had read how in the days of the prophets the Jews believed that if they merely repeated the words "The house of the Lord," they had done their duty, even though they turned away and went to heathen shrines to worship. Our Lord realized that before he could get the woman to share his view he would have to lead her to see that no one place of worship is superior to any other.

When our Lord told the woman her people worshipped they knew not what, He meant to say they worshipped so many deities they had no idea who was the true one. Among others they worshipped Jehovah, the God of the Jews, and he led to some of the books of the Old Testament at least. The purity of the faith was preserved by the Jews, for since the days of the captivity they had not been idolaters. That is why God continued to reveal Himself to the race from which Jesus sprang on His human side. Though the Jews lost themselves in the abyss of formalism they did preserve the true faith, the sense of doctrine. What Jesus had to do was to rescue it from barren traditions and ceremonies, and to complete it. Up to that time and for a long time afterwards salvation was of the Jews. The Bible was Jewish. Christ was born of that people. The apostles were all Jews. And from this race the early converts to Christianity were made.

Our Lord made it plain that the old order was passing, and that a new order was coming in. Nothing could have been more revealing than these words of His concerning the lack of the spiritual in their religion. It was as condemnatory of their religious practices as anything He ever spoke. They lived and moved and had their being in forms. Their religion sat lightly on them. What Jesus aimed to accomplish was to turn the forms of faith into reality, and unprofitable religion. It was as condemnatory as

"Haunted" House Stories Recalled; Believe There Is No Mystery

Stories of a "haunted house" and warnings to small boys to keep away, given many years ago, were recalled this week with the finding of what is believed to be a human skeleton under the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tooker, who live on the south side in Allegan.

Parts of the skeleton, a few fragments of cloth and what is believed to be an old, rotted, pine board casket were located when workmen started enlarging the present cellar.

County officials started an investigation Wednesday but found that the find has been taken out of town for display.

E. D. Osmun, coroner of Allegan county, was of the opinion that the skeleton, if it is that of a human, was buried many years ago and that there is no mystery.

The house is many years old and because of the depth the remains were found, it is believed that it was interred prior to construction of the building.

Dr. Osmun was of the opinion that if the skeleton, which he has not seen, is that of a human, it is the remains of some old pioneer who died in this part of Michigan.

However, it is said that years ago there were many "haunted" house stories concerning the building.

Beauties Open
Resort Meet At The Tavern

Time festival here, he informed. Col. J. T. Bailey of Benton Harbor showed the results of unforeseen and unsolicited co-operation with the tourist and resort association by the Outdoor Advertisers of the state.

He asserted that the oldest trade association in the state, Outdoor Advertisers, dug in its pocket for cash to place in Florida and other southern states 24-sheet "poster panels." He said the association had given a $25,000 good will donation to the state's resorts.

Mr. Bailey stated that the Outdoor Advertisers of which he has been an official a good many years were not infants in advertising Michigan to the outside public, but they had been at this for 61 years, since the inception of the company.

Mr. Bailey regretted the fact that former Attorney Thomas N. Robinson could not be present as a speaker since just as they were about to go he was called in on a big law case and Mr. Robinson wished Mr. Bailey to express his sincere regrets.

Mr. J. Thompson, president of the Michigan Tourist and Resort association as well as president of the Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce was first called on for a discourse. Mr. Thompson is one of these genial men who creates good will wherever he goes. He is a frequent visitor to Holland and he said as follows:

"Holland is a very substantial city and has always been as long as I've known it. I believe Holland has a great future ahead of it and its past development commercially, civically and its building progress of the past auger greater possibilities for the future. I assure you that Holland needs a Michigan Tourist and Resort association as much as we need you. Holland has long been alive to this need. It is a mutual proposition in which all must help so we can really call western Michigan the 'playground of America.' There is very little that you can do for yourselves unless you do it for the common good of all."

The last speaker on the program was Edwin F. Sweet who has been connected with the Tourist and Resort association for a long time, in fact this is one of his hobbies. He was not slow in criticizing either, for he said, "I'm going to give Holland some constructive advice." He said, "Your Tulip Festival is unique, beautiful and has its individuality. It will be growing from year to year. You must not let the celebration get away from you. Some of the days there was lack of accommodation and of food. That was a bad feature. You should not allow this to happen again for remember a pleased guest is like a pleased customer for you hold him. On the other hand if through discourtesy of a policeman, of which I have not heard in Holland, but does often happen in other cities or lack of accommodations for housing or food such a guest is a displeased customer. You will not find him here again next year."

Mr. Sweet pointed out that last year the tourist and resort industry in Michigan was a $300,000,000 business. A total of 2,600,000 automobiles from out of state entered Michigan, he declared, and each car had an average of three passengers and stayed an average of ten days.

He stated that western Michigan is fortunate to have "the best of the state for resort purposes and is bound to get more than 50 per cent of the business."

He illustrated what a community can do to make its own particular resort region attractive, and reminded Holland that its lake front, like that of many of its neighbors, can stand attention.

The speaker lauded the work of Hugh J. Gray as secretary manager of the association. He declared he believed that the association is "blessed in having him, and long may he stay with us."

Among those introduced were Frank Blakely, field representative of the association; Robert Frakes of Benton Harbor; A. S. Bolthouse of the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce; A. F. McFadyen and Harry Wetter of the Grand Rapids Association of Commerce; Earl Weber of the Kalamazoo Chamber of Commerce; Ben Mulder of the News, and Waddy Spoelstra of the Sentinel.

C. C. Wood, chairman; Vaudie Vandenberg and W. H. Lillard, members of the committee in charge of the meeting, were introduced.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

The American Legion auxiliary wishes to express its sincere thanks to the public for the generous support given the auxiliary in the recent poppy sale. They also express their thanks to those who aided in any special way to make "Poppy Day" a success.

Our next post meeting will be on June 12. This will be the only meeting in June. But, keep in mind that in July there will be two meetings, one for nominating officers and the other for electing them.

The Fifth District association will meet at Sparta on the 8th. This is a Legion party, no business to be transacted; 75c pays for your supper, dance and everything, except a new suit of clothes. The Holland gang could have a good time if we get our heads together and go "en masse." Talk it over with your neighbor members and let's go.

It was gratifying to see the large turnout last Sunday as we marched to church. Numerous comments were heard and all were favorable. We hope there is the same number or more reporting for the Memorial Day parade.

If you have a Legion cane standing around the house, take it with you in the parade. It might come in handy in doffing a few hats in the crowd on the curb.

ators remarked "that Vandenberg might vote for another bill in the interests of compensation for veterans, but I'm not going to tell you what to do, but use your own judgment when Couzens comes up for re-election."

VanZandt briefly commented on President Roosevelt's veto reasons and criticized him for appearing before congress as a lobbyist in behalf of his own legislation to defeat the Patman bill.

VanZandt was forced to cut short his visit to Holland in order to catch a plane for Washington. He said he was forced to cancel every engagement for six weeks in order to protect the interests of veterans in their fight in the spirit of consistency for their rights.

H. F. Marquard in a brief speech complimented the veterans in the leadership of VanZandt to lead their fight. "We'll never admit defeat under his sterling leadership, never defeat in battle and never defeated in the bonus," he asserted.

State Senator Millard Dunkel of Three Rivers represented Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, saying the governor was forced to cancel his engagement due to late adjournment of the legislature. The fact of the matter is that the legislature did not adjourn until nearly 6 o'clock the next morning of the day the governor was to appear in Holland and he stayed at his desk two hours afterward and was too tired by loss of sleep to make the trip.

The William J. Best post of Muskegon won first prize of $60 and the Chamber of Commerce trophy in the musical contest at the athletic field. Muskegon, attired in red coats and blue trousers, closed the review program with a snappy string of maneuvers that drew favor from the judges. Although composed of only 17 pieces, the Muskegon unit was most popular with a crowd of more than 1,000 that witnessed the show.

A 30-piece corps representing the Marley S. Aates post of Lansing, wearing red coats, gray trousers and silver helmets, gave Muskegon a close race for honors and won in second place to take a cash prize of $30.

The Charles E. Cunningham post of Grand Rapids made an impressive showing to take third place and an award of $20. The Twin City post of Benton Harbor, a high-stepping drum major in white, a most popular participant, was presented the Mayor Nicodemus Bosch trophy for fourth place.

Other trophies went to the Annis Flint auxiliary girls' rifle and drum corps of Flint and the Luzon-Aragon post band of Kalamazoo, both of whom played at the park.

The girls were presented the Ben Mulder trophy, while the band received the First State bank trophy. Judges in the contest were Louis E. Estes and Marvin Berry of Detroit, and W. S. Carpenter of Lansing; recorders, Glenn H. Stiff of Detroit, Mrs. R. E. Newton of Lansing, and J. F. Sundin of Holland. After the speaking program and awarding of prizes to bands a short business session was held after which Jimmy Van Zandt flew to Washington to foster another bill for soldiers' bonus to take the place of the one vetoed by President Roosevelt.

Officials attending the rally included Ralph Trotter of Detroit, department commander; Fred Beard of Dearborn, department service officer; R. J. Vandenberg of Highland Park, senior vice department commander; Robert Murchee of Traverse City, department judge advocate; Elmer Handman of Petoskey, junior vice department commander; Glenn H. Stiff of Detroit, department quartermaster; Arthur W. Thomas of Detroit, department adjutant. Auxiliary officers included Mrs. Gladys Mooney of Detroit, national senior vice president; Mrs. Irene Bassett of Flint, department president; Mrs. Pearl Musser of Kalamazoo, department senior vice president, and Mrs. Betty Thomas of Detroit, department treasurer.

NOTES

Four local bands and the Zeeland band marched in the parade of floats, bands, veterans and other groups. The parade was viewed by thousands who lined Eighth street and River avenue and hundreds who were perched atop buildings and filled-office windows with a sea of faces. Dinner was served in Masonic temple; business sessions were held in Holland Armory and Masonic temple; streets were gaily decorated with flags; a spirit of optimism surged the air, and visitors became acquainted with real Dutch hospitality. A dance in Warm Friend tavern closed the day's festivities.

Commander Jimmy Van Zandt is a native of Altoona, Pa., and is of Holland extraction, his grandparents having settled in Manhattan in early Dutch colonization in this country. Holland's color and background of The Netherlands appealed to him, and he watched with interest a performance of costumed Dutch folk dancers staged at the park during the outdoor program.

"I certainly am touched by Holland," the commander declared, "and I promise you that I will be back to visit this city * * * after we get the bonus."

The local committee which has done such wonderful work are Charles Ash, commander and co-chairman, and general committee John Homfeld, Fred Kolmar and John Tiesenga; reception committee, Andrew Hyma, Richard Martin, William Slater and Archie Vander Wall; invitation, John Tiesenga and Watson Lundie; publicity, Ted Baker and John Slagh; Masonic temple committee, Matt Burch and Fred Kolmar; River-view park, Frank Jelson; hotel, Fred Sundin; prize cup; Chris Kooze; finance, Paul Woljohn, John Homfeld and Henry Klomprens.

FIRST STATE BANK

Will Endeavor To Make This State Dustless

DUST-LAYING PROGRAM WILL START NEXT WEEK

The state highway department will inaugurate its annual dust-laying program on the 3,672 miles of trunk line gravel roads next week.

Twenty thousand tons of calcium chloride, the chief palliative used by the state highway department to allay the dust evil, have been ordered for immediate delivery. This order will be supplemented later by additional calcium chloride or oil.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, requisitioned the state administrative board some time ago for the calcium chloride. Delays, however, held up the order until this week when the board's purchasing committee accepted bids at $19 a ton for 20,000 of the 30,000 tons sought by the department.

Commissioner Van Wagoner had submitted his request to the board in sufficient time to have permitted treatment of the gravel surfaces before Memorial day.

The total order was split equally among four companies—The Dow Chemical company, Michigan Alkali company, Solvay Process company, and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company. The bid price was 50 cents a ton under the quotation of a year ago.

Although the purchasing committee has an oil purchase under consideration, a decision on these bids was withheld. The committee was informed by the national code authority that two bidders were not qualified to submit offers.

E. E. Blomgren, maintenance engineer, for the state highway department, said a "first" treatment of calcium chloride will be applied on the gravel trunk lines soon after delivery of the palliative. Subsequent treatments will follow after the state administrative board has completed the order.

"The state highway department will have its gravel roads in good shape for the summer tourist traffic," said Commissioner Van Wagoner. "Although we have been delayed somewhat in starting this program we will see to it that the calcium chloride will be applied immediately after delivery."

"The state highway department is cognizant of its responsibility to the tourist industry of the state, the farmers, and general public in this program. We will leave nothing undone to rush it through."

MISS ANNA M. DEHN IS DEAN AT HOLLAND

(Grand Rapids Press) Miss Anna M. Dehn not only is Dehn in name but also dean of teachers in Holland's public school system. When the school year closes next month she will have completed a service as teacher for 42 years and all but one year was spent in the Holland schools. She holds the position of supervisor of writing in the grades and junior high school. Miss Dehn is a graduate of Holland High school.

OTTAWA FARMERS VOTE FOR WHEAT CONTRACTS

Results of the Ottawa county vote in regard to the future wheat program indicates that growers of the county are particularly interested in the question. A total of 302 signers voted. Of these 166 voted in favor of the program, 136 opposing it. Eight nonsigners voted, of which seven were opposed and only one in favor of a future program.

L. R. Arnold, secretary of the association, states that there are at least three reasons for the rather heavier adverse vote. However, no alibi is worth the vote stands as recorded. At the present moment at time this is written, nationwide returns indicate a large vote in favor of the program.

JAMES CAGNEY NOW NEMESIS OF GANGLAND

The way of the United States Government against the master criminals of the nation has been made into a thrilling drama by First National Pictures, and with James Cagney in the stellar role, will open at the Holland Theater, 3 days starting Monday, June 3.

Those fearless secret service men whose exploits in rounding up the arch desperadoes of the country have been told in newspaper headlines for the past year are called "G Men" and "G Men" is the title of the screen's first dramatization of their battles with public enemies.

The picture follows the career of one of these "G Men" from the time he joined the federal service, through his training period through machine gun battles with gangsters to a thrilling climax in which he finally rounds up and exterminates a gang of murderous kidnappers.

Cagney, heretofore Hollywood's most famous "bad man" now depicts the "G Man" who set the deadly trap for the mad dog of the mobs and brought the "Big Shot," whom no jail could hold, to an ignominious death.

Opposite him is charming Margaret Lindsay who has the part of the sister of Robert Armstrong, Cagney's superior officer, and the girl whom Cagney loves.

Ann Dvorak portrays a night club entertainer who is in love with Cagney, but who, when her affection is not returned, marries a gangster. The role affords her another opportunity to sing and dance for which she displayed surprising ability recently in Rudy Valle's film "Sweet Music."

A. W. Hart, receiver of the Coopersville Peoples Savings bank, announces that funds are available for the payment of a 10 per cent dividend, totaling $46,300, to both savings and commercial depositors. No date has been set, but it is expected that authorization for its distribution will be received within the next 30 days. This will make a total distribution in the savings department of 25 per cent, and in the commercial department of 10 per cent, totaling $89,500.

Epidemic Sweeps Country

Albino Robin

An albino robin has made its appearance this week for the fourth consecutive year in the same neighborhood at Pennville. While not entirely white, it is so plainly marked as to make it recognizable, and it shows a distinct desire to spend its summers here among its many friends.

ZEELAND ALSO TO HAVE OFFICIAL FLOWER

Our sister city, Zeeland, is to have an official flower, but just what flower it is to be is not yet definitely decided.

A contest to get some idea as to preference of flower was sponsored recently by the Zeeland Garden club, with the result that 358 votes were cast, of which 16 named petunia, 73 for zinnia, 16 nasturtium, 3 ageratum, 3 candytuft and 1 iris. It was deemed advisable to choose a city flower so that Zeeland garden lovers could grow that particular flower in greater abundance. According to the ballot therefore the petunia will be the civic flower of Zeeland.

Recently, however, the city of Zeeland was offered enough creeping flox to plant along the curbs of all the paved streets of the city and the city fathers readily accepted the offer made by H. Le Poire, Zeeland florist.

Whether the petunia or creeping phlox is to be the official flower of Zeeland will be decided at a future meeting of the Zeeland council.

HOLLAND HIGH ELECTS OFFICERS FOR ENSUING YEAR

Holland High school students held their annual election Friday afternoon in the high school auditorium and as a result Frank Liveness, Jr., will be mayor of Holland High for the ensuing year, winning over Donald Poppen. Miss Virginia Ellison was elected clerk, defeating Miss Phyllis Tiesenga; Jack Javing won out as treasurer, winning over two opponents, Alfred Joldersma and Bob Vandenberg.

Bill Pruim was elected new chief of police. His opponents were Anthony White fleet and Elton W. Gwennell.

Aldermen of the various wards were named as follows: First—Dorothy Hawley and Billy De Haan; second—Herbert Chapman and Ruth Aarendshorst; third—Liam Blanchard and fourth—Martin Bekken and Jane Anne Vischer; fifth—Lorraine Vrieling and Jack Lokker; sixth—Milton Verburg and Victor Cherven; seventh—Yvonne Weststrate and Jay Kapenga.

Candidates defeated in the race for aldermen were: First—Lois Dykhuis and Donald De Kraker; second—Willard Swenson and Durwood Witterdink; third—Helen Kraker and James Hinkamp; fourth—Donald Blaauw and Lucille Kardux; fifth—Eda Moody and John Mokma; sixth—Jean Wishmeier and Winton Stephan, seventh—Isa Meppelink and John Den Herder.

Willard De Groot, whose term of office as mayor expires, presided. Miss Mary Jane Vaupell, retiring clerk, being in charge of the ballot boxes. Prior to the election campaign speeches were made by the several candidates.

HOLLAND BOASTS "PURPLE MARVEL" AS A RESIDENT

Holland numbers among its citizens Gerrit Neerken, better known as the "purple marvel," because of the color he has acquired while employed in a dye factory.

In addition to handling a dye process, Neerken has charge of drying, packing and shipping of dyes. This work over a period of 16 years has given his hair, mustache and eyebrows a purple tint. His hands and face also are deeply colored with purple.

When asked whether he could remove the dye, Neerken replied, "It would clear up in a week of sunshine and fresh air, but so long as I am working in dyes every day the color clings to me."

In winter time youngsters find it easier to trace the route followed by Neerken than to track down cotton-tails, because every step leaves its purple mark in the snow.

GUESS PUZZLE GET FREE RIDE ON HOLLAND BUS

Netherlands is enjoying a highly entertaining "war" between its government-operated railroads and the thousands of automobile buses in Amsterdam which are trying to cut in on the transportation business.

The government refused to renew the licenses of companies operating motor services between neighboring towns, but the operators refused to accept defeat.

One of the stratagems of the bus lines is to issue "puzzles" to prospective passengers, the correct solution of which entitles the entrant to a free ride. The problem is to fill in the missing letters in a sentence like:

"We think traveling by railway is a very—"

Surely rather unique, but it shows that government meddling into private business is not popular even in staid old Netherlands.

KAMMERAD WILL TAKE GRAND RAPIDS JOB

Peter A. Kammeraad, city manager of Grand Haven, notified City Manager C. Sophus Johnson of Grand Rapids officially Saturday morning that he would be there Monday morning to assume the public service directorship at a salary of $3,600. He will succeed Earl R. Webber, who resigned.

Mr. Kammeraad recently advised the council in Grand Haven that he would remain there. Since that time, however, the fiscal budget had been prepared and projects in progress have been brought to completion. This left Kammeraad free to accept the Grand Rapids offer.

Season Is Open for Cow and Bull Frogs

Bull frogs and frogs of other varieties which are making themselves heard in a raucous chorus from the ponds and marshes, will become legal game in Michigan next Saturday and Holland, with "marshy" environs, should be a happy hunting ground for the frog spearman.

The open season on frogs throughout the state begins June 1 and extends through summer and early fall to October 31, says the Fisheries Division, Department of Conservation.

Frogs may be speared in Michigan without the use of artificial light. Artificial light may be used, however, if frogs are being taken by any means other than the spear. Bull frogs may be captured easily and their legs are considered delicious by many who have eaten them after proper preparation and cooking.

Captures 150-Lb. Shark

Doyle Strickfaden recently landed a 150-pound shark while on a fishing and camping trip to Crystal River, near Ocala, Florida, with a party of Ocala Boy Scouts of which he is scoutmaster, according to an Ocala newspaper. Doyle is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Strickfaden of Pennville.

Dionne Babies Are Now One Year Old

The first birthday of the Dionne babies of Canada has arrived and they are now embarked on the second year's milestone in their life—with the best wishes of the world. They find themselves the world's most famous babies and both "rich little poor girls" and "poor little rich girls."

The $150,000 which now stands to their credit in banks, promises to multiply, through investments and compound interest, to at least $1,000,000 even if it does not continue to be increased by fees from film rights, photographic syndicate rights, etc., at the present rate which, undoubtedly, will be an after consideration.

Quintuplets are a tremendous load for one stock and it takes 30 years for the old bird to bring its precious burden to a single home. Here is a table showing the time table from twins to quintuplets.

Every year 337 pairs of twins are born in the world. Every year 3,700 trips of triplets are delivered by the stork. Quadruplets occur 65 times annually.

But quintuplets are born only once every 30 years or so. These figures are drawn from an analysis of world birth statistics made by a German mathematician. From 1902 until the Dionne sisters arrived in Canada there was no reported instance of living quintuplets. Thus if the average is followed it'll be the 1960's before the world has another set of quints to enthuse over.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT FOR JUNIORS AND BOYS WILL BE HELD HERE JUNE 17-20

(Grand Haven Tribune) Invitations are being sent out daily to all outstanding junior and boy tennis players in Grand Haven, Holland, Muskegon and Muskegon Heights by a committee headed by Joe Zeimet, which is in charge of the annual junior center tournament to be played at Highland Park Tennis club courts June 17 to 20.

It is not necessary that a player receives an invitation from the committee to gain entrance into the tournament, sponsored each year by the United States Lawn Tennis association. Any boy, or junior eligible. Players under 18 years can play in the junior section and boys under 16 are eligible for the boys' section.

Winners in singles and doubles will be eligible to play in the national tournament at Culver, Ind., in August. Miller Sherwood, now a member of the University of Michigan tennis team, is local junior center champion.

FIRE DESTROYS BROODER HOUSE AND 400 CHICKS; BIG MILK PAULS WITH WATER ARE SUCCESS

Fire, which evidently started from a hard coal stove, destroyed a brooder house and about 400 week-old chicks on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ruster, about 2½ miles west of Coopersville about six o'clock in the evening recently.

The Coopersville fire department responded to the call for assistance and although the blaze had gained too much headway to save the brooder house, their promptness undoubtedly did much to prevent the flames from spreading to the barn nearby. The loss is estimated at $150.

This was the first real opportunity to test out the new booster tank at a rural fire, and the wisdom of the change from the old chemical tanks was clearly demonstrated. Now, if rural residents will only take time to fill two or three milk cans with water, and take them in the car when they go to a fire, the Coopersville department will be more able to combat flames, especially in those first few moments when so much is at stake. If adopted, a policy such as this, may save thousands of dollars some time.—Coopersville Observer.

About twenty-five Coopersville people attended the Federation of Adult Bible classes held in the Conklin Reformed church last Sunday. The winners class of the M. E. Sunday school sang two numbers under the direction of Mrs. Don Lillie.

Nearly Every Game Law Has Been Violated

THERE WERE 328 ARRESTS IN APRIL—ONLY ONE CASE IS LOST IN JUSTICE COURT—MANY TO JAIL

Realizing that the advent of spring weather would tempt dynamiters, spear wielders and their ilk to greater activity, conservation officers patrolled day and night during April to cope with what has proved to have been a wave of violations that had unusual proportions.

The list of 328 arrests brought to light infractions of almost every fishing law in the statutes, from dynamiting, spearing, and netting fish to hunting them with a rifle and attempting to take them by hand. Conservation officers "bore down" on the more serious offenders and in most instances received the co-operation of magistrates. Many heavy fines and jail terms were imposed and only one case was lost in justice court.

Three-fourths of the total arrests were for fishing law infractions, including more than 100 on illegal spearing charges. One respondent, C. A. Thomas, 36, of Unionville, paid a fine of $100 and costs of $7 for taking 2,100 pounds of yellow pickerel out of season. This is the maximum fine allowed by law. Another, Winston Grover, 25, Shelby, pleaded guilty to spearing and offering rainbow trout for sale. He was assessed a fine of $25 and costs of $6.50. A box containing 95 pounds of rainbow trout, billed from Grover to Chicago, was intercepted at Muskegon.

In both instances the fish were confiscated by the officers.

Of the 328 arrests made during April, 289 were for illegal fishing, 19 for breaking the hunting laws, and 19 for breaking the trapping laws. One arrest was made for setting a fire without the permit required by law.

Fines totaling $1,962 and costs amounting to $1,837.87 were levied on violators in justice court. The aggregate of jail sentences imposed was 1,300 days. Fines were suspended, however, on probation, 16 offenders placed on probation, five charges dismissed, one certified to circuit court and one lost.

The fishing law violations included the following: Fishing without a license, 82; spearing or attempting to spear on a trout stream, 31; spearing black bass, 28; spearing or attempting to spear on inland lake, 22; spearing wall-eyed, great northern grass pike or pickerel and bluegills, 20; spearing or attempting to spear on a lake, 17; fishing from stream in closed season, 20; spearing trout, 12; taking or attempting to take game fish with gill nets, 10; dynamiting fish, 6; illegal dipnetting, 5; illegal possession of trout, 3; possession of undersize fish, 4; use of fish trap and use of spear without a license, 3 each; attempting to kill fish by hand, attempting to take fish with rifle, illegal possession of black bass, commercial fishing without a license, possession of speared pickerel for sale, offering short perch for sale, taking yellow pickerel out of season, 2 each; selling rainbow trout, altering fishing license, exceeding legal number of fishing lines, netting trout stream, exceeding catch limit of bluegills and attempting to take fish with a snag-hook, 1 each.

Of the 19 arrests for hunting violations, 13 were made on charges of carrying firearms in closed game area without a permit. Two arrests were made for possession of venison and one each on the following counts: Shooting wild duck, shooting at pheasant from car, refusing to show hunting license and training dog on pheasants.

Nineteen individuals were taken for illegal trapping. Of that number five were charged with setting traps without identifying tags; three with trapping otter, two with trapping beaver without a license, two with trapping otter and muskrat, and one each for buying illegal fur and trapping muskrat. Five were taken for trapping beaver in closed season.

Officers confiscated 80 spears, 18 artificial lights, 3 storage batteries, 3 boats, one 30 foot long, 16 traps; 8 rifles, 9 gill nets and 4,000 pounds of illegal fish.

There is also a commercial camp by that name and therefore Ottawa Scout officials are seeking a new name for the Newaygo site. Conservation Officer Harry Plots made the arrest. That's an expensive mess of fish. Having fished in the days when you could drop a hook and line in Black lake any time during the year without being molested, it goes against "the grain" to see such sentences meted out. There may be circumstances that do not appear on the surface demanding a fine as well as a jail sentence—however, to pay such a price for a small consignment of fish—well, "it's out of line," and your editor's stand in favor of reasonable conservation is well known.

Ann May Diepenhorst, 8, and her brother, David, 4, children of Charles Diepenhorst of Saugatuck, formerly of Holland, caused considerable excitement Monday when their parents, unable to find them, enlisted the aid of neighbors and police officers of Saugatuck and Holland in the search. It seems the children were picked up by a motorist and taken as far as Jenison Park where they stayed overnight at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Emma Brooks, who was unaware of the fact that the youngsters were out on "French leave." Tuesday morning they appeared at the home of Mrs. Delia Volkema who instantly notified authorities.

Received Second Place

The float sent to the Blossom Festival in Benton Harbor by the Pokagon Club of Saugatuck received second place in the awards of merit in the cities division. Michigan City was first. In the commercial float the Kroger Grocery & Baking Co. drew first place. This award is a signal honor for Saugatuck as this is the first time the village has been represented in this festival, and it speaks well for those instrumental in devising and decorating the float.

PIGEONS WON'T FLY THROUGH ELECTRIC STORM

Carrier pigeons won't carry on in a storm, thus shattering another cherished illusion of devotion to duty.

An experiment was carried out by French military experts and pigeons fanciers in the Basses-Landes radio station where atmospheric conditions similar to an electrical storm were produced.

This was done by generating a powerful "charged" Hertzian waves of 200 amperes. At the same time several hundred military pigeons were released from their cages.

Sensing an electrical storm, the pigeons hovered about the aerial a few minutes, then flew right back by their cages. They refused to budge until the "storm" was over.

French pigeon fanciers defended their "guilty" charges on the grounds that they don't like to get wet. Military experts replied that, as it was impractical to provide each bird with an umbrella and rubbers, another more reliable means of communication would be used in the future.

MEXICAN FARM LABOR HAS NOT MENACED WORK CHANCES OF OTTAWA PEOPLE

Mexican labor, a target which Grover C. Dillman of the state welfare department is hitting at, does not appear to be serious in this county, according to reports from farmers in many parts.

Mexican labor, which in the main comes from Texas, has been invading Michigan, Mr. Dillman claims, shutting out labor, thereby decreasing the chances of reducing the welfare numbers in this state.

According to one observer the Mexican labor has been hired in this county because American labor refuses to do the type of work required and farmers are forced to use the foreign labor in order to get the work done. The Mexicans are employed for the most part in the pickle and sugar beet fields. The men and women must work on their knees all day weeding and on picking the pickles as no machine has been devised to do the work.

The price of farm produce has not been sufficiently high to warrant good wages for work of this type and it is known that most welfare clients have preferred continuing on welfare lists rather than go into the fields to do the work demanded.

At no time has Ottawa county had more than 20 Mexicans employed during the season, it was reported from reliable sources, and at the present time it is believed there is no labor of the kind here. The Mexicans are said to have come up from the south paying their own way. In the southern section of the state, it is said, they have many times remained in the community to purchase farms or settle down and become citizens.

STATE RIVERS FLOW IN ALL DIRECTIONS

Michigan has a river flowing north into Michigan from Indiana and emptying into Lake Michigan. It is the St. Joseph. The Grand River flows northwest into Lake Michigan. From the watershed in Crawford County the streams flow east and west . . . the Au Sable flowing west . . . though they are but a short distance apart at their source. In the Upper Peninsula many streams flow north into Lake Superior . . . while others flow south into Lake Michigan. Most of these rivers, the highway of the log drives, are today the waterways of the angler, the canoeist and the boatman. Heavily stocked by the State Conservation Department, they offer splendid fishing for trout, for bass, pike and perch. Some of them have produced some muskellunge during recent years.

TAKES SCHOOL POSITION

James Den Herder, son of John Den Herder, county treasurer, formerly of Holland, has accepted a position at Bridgman High school as basketball and baseball coach. He will also teach physical education classes, economics and book-keeping in the high school.

Mr. Den Herder is one of the best known athletes in Grand Haven. He started his career under Coach Gus Cohra when he played three years on the Grand Haven basketball team and did much to establish Grand Haven as a state champion team. He was on the Western State varsity under Coach Buck Read for three years and was co-captain in his senior year at Western State Teachers college. He has coached and played with independent teams in the Central Michigan league for the past two years. A few months ago he returned to Western State for additional work and received his degree in physical education.

SPEED BOAT RECEIVES HELP FROM COAST GUARD CREW

The Phyllis Lane, 30-foot high powered speed boat, was brought into Grand Haven harbor Sunday about 6 p. m. by Boatswain William E. Preston and the members of the local coast guard crew. The ship was owned and manned by F. E. Tower, Cleveland. He encountered engine trouble when about two or three miles off port in a northerly direction.

The boat left here earlier in the afternoon and the lookout noticed that the engine was not hitting properly. A sharp watch was kept and when the skipper signaled for help the crew here was not surprised.

Mr. Tower told William Preston that he was bound for Cleveland in the 200 horse power speed craft. She was an open boat but the owner was in no danger as there was little sea at the time.

Electricity Stops Cows From Fence Jumping

By County Farm Agent Arnold

Many a motorist driving past farm lands may soon wonder how the farmer can induce his cattle and the other livestock to remain in a more or less barren looking field with nothing more than a single strand of wire separating the pasture from fine grazing such as alfalfa or succulent green corn. Heretofore a strongly built, tightly stretched fence was required to keep the stock in. Now a single loosely strung wire will do the trick. This demonstrates that farm practices do change radically at times.

Certainly it is not the strand of wire which prohibits the animal from escaping to richer pastures. Everyone has seen the cow leaning heavily against a fence endeavoring to reach across for better food. But in this case one finds the grass grazed off up to the wire strand only. There is no reaching across the wire. This is due to a charge of electricity coursing through the wire. Upon touching the wire the animal receives a slight shock. In many cases one experience is enough. However, in some cases the animal will repeat the experience with same results. It will thereafter associate the shock with the wire and will take care not to touch the wire.

This new method of fencing eliminates high fencing costs. A suitable fence can now be strung for only a few cents per rod, not figuring in the posts. Posts need not be strong, only strong enough to support the wire. Therefore a great cost is cut out in this way and cheap stakes may be used. No gates are necessary. The single wire will do the trick. Temporary pastures may be set up with only a few hours labor. One man can fence 10 acres in a half day.

The controller, consisting of a couple of bulbs set in a box, may be hung in any building on the farm. The "chopper" cuts the current off and on at a few seconds interval. By this means it is possible to send a safely reduced current through four miles of wire in any weather. One bulb which shows that current is off and on at regular intervals indicates that the set-up is operating perfectly. When not operating for any reason, a continual light is shown. Users of the apparatus state that the cost runs very low, only about 10c per month.

Two or more farmers of Ottawa have tried out this new device with good results. It works equally well for all types of livestock. Information as to cost of apparatus and name of dealers may be obtained at the county agricultural agent's office.

Miller Robinson and wife have returned from St. Petersburg, Fla., to their summer home in Saugatuck. They report having a fine trip from Florida. This completes Miller's fifteenth round trip from Michigan to Florida and back driving his own car.

While there has been considerable complaint about the condition of the Holland-Saugatuck road we find that there has been a good reason for the apparent lack of attention to it. We quote you officially from a letter received from Murray D. Van Wagener, state highway commissioner: "While the new route is being constructed it becomes necessary to use state funds to improve the old route, because of its deplorable condition. In order to use state funds on the improvement of the old route, it became necessary to secure the approval of the State Administrative Board. I have received this permission and we will proceed with the improvement which will take care of the traffic until the new route has been completed." We might say that men are already at work on this improvement.

The forty-acre muck farm owned by the Frank Crane estate near Pennville has been sold to Mr. O. C. Madsen, who has another farm

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE
ALL meats but pork are somewhat cheaper this week, with lamb still the best value. Broiling and frying chickens are comparatively inexpensive. Eggs are moderate in price and continued cool weather has kept their quality unusually fine. Summer sausages are in season.

There are many excellent values available in vegetables including spinach, string beans, carrots, beets, new potatoes, cucumbers, white turnips, summer squash, and asparagus. Cabbage and onions are again a bit higher. Lettuce and tomatoes are rather high.

Cantaloupes and watermelons are cheaper. A watermelon is just the thing for a holiday picnic. Blackberries and cultivated blackberries are in market, supplementing the supply of strawberries. Lemons are cheap. Peaches are in market but are expensive and not yet really good. Here are three menus made up from seasonable foods adapted to different budget levels:

Low Cost Dinner
Chuck Roast Browned Potatoes
Beets and Beet Tops
Bread and Butter
Banana Tapioca Cream
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Baked Broiling Chickens
Creamed Potatoes Green Beans
