Residents Ask More Light On Closing Street

SUPERINTENDENT FELL PERSONALLY ASKS THAT TIME BE EXTENDED TO GIVE INFORMATION

Legal publicity has been given to close 23rd St. between Washington and Maple Aves. Some time ago this property was acquired by the Board of Education, who were far-sighted in selecting a site for an erection of more school buildings later on, since the city was growing in that direction. But, in the meantime the Board felt that the ground could be utilized for outdoor activities in the way of tennis, a running track, and other lighter, outdoor sports.

Whether the ground was to be used for these sports now or for a school building later, it is essential that 23rd St. be closed for that one block, since it would be inadvisable to build on ground or to have athletic activities on the same ground subdivided by a street. This would not only be dangerous, but not very economical.

Therefore, recently the Board asked that the one block be closed and that part between Maple Ave. and Washington Ave. be converted into one school campus as it were. However, a committee of residents in that neighborhood came to the council meeting—not so much to protest, but rather to get new light on this whole transaction.

Former Ald. George Damsen made it plain that he was not opposing such a move, but was asking for information. He said that perhaps the Board intended to build a school, and that is well and good, but they did not approve of the building of a stadium. He said if he was not asking too much, he would like to get more information, and if necessary, defer action for a time, until they have studied the question. A stadium is not an essential thing just now, since Riverview Park is as fine an athletic field as any city of this size can boast of.

The committee, represented largely by Mr. Damsen and Mr. Henry Boersma of the Holland Furnace Co., stated they wanted to co-operate fully with the Board of Education. However, they also wanted to be sure that whatever was done on that property should not depreciate the value of adjacent property, which has become quite a home center.

Superintendent E. E. Fell, who happened to be in the audience, allayed any fear of a stadium being placed there. He stated that 12 years ago the Board of Education acquired that property primarily to have a site later on for school buildings should the city grow in that direction as it has been doing.

In the meantime, it will be some years before these buildings are to be built, and the Board of Education conceived of the idea of having the street closed, which must eventually happen anyway; have the grounds leveled off, possibly through a PWA project, and convert this campus into a play or recreational grounds. With a street dividing it, it would be unsuitable for any such purpose. However, with the street eliminated, the lighter sports could be moved further in the center where they would be ample room, and further removed from the adjoining homes. In other words, the sports would be centralized on the property.

It is also considered to put on a circular track for running purposes; but none of the big sports, such as baseball, football, and kindred games would be permitted there. Mr. Fell stated that the thought was to beautify the whole campus, which would be a credit to the neighborhood rather than a detriment.

Henry Boersma, when called upon, stated that like Mr. Damsen, he was seeking information, and he believed that the information received was satisfactory; however, a little more delay in order to give more thought would be welcome.

Ald. Brouwer then asked that the matter be delayed for two weeks, until the next council meeting. Mayor Geerlings stated that the Board of Education had in mind only a playground and that the ultimate outcome would be beautiful surroundings.

Mr. Fell, when asked, said there was no reason to hasten this matter, and it was perfectly agreeable that the committee of residents meet with the Board of Education, together with a committee appointed by Mayor Geerlings from the council. Mr. Damsen and Mr. Boersma, together with the council committee, comprised of Aldermen Smith, Huyser, Menken, and Vogelzang, will gather to get further information on the proposed improvement, which includes closing one block on 23rd St., which cuts through the school property.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan De Pree and son of Mishawaka, Ind., spent the week end and Memorial Day at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter De Pree at Zeeland, and Mrs. Harold De Pree of Holland were also guests at the De Pree home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Tyse and Mrs. E. Van Peursem and daughter of Chicago spent the week end and Memorial Day at the home of their parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Van Peursem at their home on E. Central Ave., Zeeland.

Members of the Philatelic Society of Third Chr. Ref. church, in Zeeland, enjoyed a party at the Bert Meekes cottage at Tennessee Beach on last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. John Bommers of Holland and Mrs. Andrew Koolen of Hudsonville were guests of Mrs. D. M. Wyngarden at her home on East Main St., Zeeland, recently.

Old Veteran of 94 Celebrates With Holland

The above pictures are of Swan Miller, for many years a resident of Macatawa and California. When Swan comes to town after four months in sunny California, he is considered the harbinger of spring in Holland. He stays here most of the year, and even at his advanced age of 94, is still active at Pilgrim Home.

John Douma, considered Holland's only living G.A.R., is 91 yrs. old, but was too feeble to attend the Memorial Day exercises at Pilgrim Home cemetery. Swan A. Miller, however, has always considered that he was one of Holland's G.A.R.s, and often he has participated in the activities here covering a period of years. He was present again this year and gave an appropriate, short talk when he was introduced, and received a round of applause.

In the first picture Mr. Miller is seen with his niece, Miss Georgia Miller, who has been his constant companion for some time. Mr. Miller and Miss Miller were just snapped as they walked toward the speakers' platform at Pilgrim Home. The second picture shows Mr. Miller, Mayor Henry Geerlings, the chairman of the day; and Henry Van Lente, Spanish-American War Veteran, who was in charge of the final exercises at the cemetery, which included the decoration of graves, the recitation of the soldiers' roster of those who have thus far passed away. See Memorial Day story elsewhere.

Council Notes

Mayor Geerlings led in prayer, and this prayer was followed by the pledge of allegiance to the American flag by the Junior high Citizenship class, in charge of Miss Ruth Geerlings and Miss Beatrice Denon. The audience division of the council room was filled to capacity because of the presence of this class. It was a real impressive service, inspiring patriotism.

The Michigan Gas and Electric Co. gave their regular report, which was excellent and was referred to the Board of Public Works.

Merrick Hanchett, head of the Federal Baking Co., invited the mayor and common council and other city officials to their plant, where some new equipment, new ovens, and a general rejuvenation has taken place. There was a real open house and the visit through the plant after council meeting was enjoyable indeed. Many groups have been visiting the plant lately, coming from as far as Allegheny, Pennville, Saugatuck and other points.

Former Sheriff Cornell Dornbos, in a letter, thanked the common council for appointing him guard at Kollen Park.

Ald. Drinkwater, chairman of the building committee, recommended that the city hall be painted and the windows puttied. Ald. Brouwer called attention that Engine House No. 2 in the first ward also needed attention and asked to have that included in the paint job. It was unanimously decided to call for bids on both jobs.

"Casey" Kalkman asked that the light at Pine Ave. and 7th St. near the Grand Rapids Motor Express be placed in the middle of the street for more safety. Said "Casey," "If you don't put a light there you go head over heels in the ditch or on the railroad. I want a safety sign there and a 'flicker' too," (meaning a wig-wag light). Ald. Vogelzang, who was in favor of changing the light, asked to have it referred to the committee on lights and the Board of Public Works. It was shown that without the proper lighting, motorists heading north are liable to overlook that it is a dead end street and go over the embankment.

Ald. Ed Brouwer, chairman of the civil improvement committee, brought in a report that the legal department of the Armour Leather Co. of Holland and Chicago, has fully approved of the tannery's rights as this relates to the "island" and the harbor improvement work. It was shown that without the proper lighting, motorists heading north are liable to overlook that it is a dead end street and go over the embankment.

Mayor Geerlings appointed Ald. Menken of the 5th ward as a member of the Netherlands Pioneer and Historical Foundation.

Windmill Park is to be beautified. A large floodlight will be especially focused on the windmill. Ald. Brouwer asked for $100.00 to complete this lighting arrangement. He stated that the best, and coming over the bridge, tourists would see this beautiful place at night and possibly forget what mood meet their gaze a block further down—undoubtedly meaning the sewer disposal district. Anyway, it will mean a worthwhile civic improvement. We only hope that at some future date the old mill wheel will turn.

Ald. Prins brought up a matter that fires were all too frequent in the city dump, and he felt that a

Peter Pfanstiel informs us that he has bought the timber on the land of Mr. Henry D. Post, located on the north side of Black Lake east of Pine Creek Bay, and that he has several men to work cutting logs, brush, etc., and that he needs more men to haul and cut logs. Now this sounds like business and little hands can find employment. Note:—This land must have been in the neighborhood of the present "Hazelbank" where the "Warm Friend" family have been making their homes into veritable parks. The place is well wooded at present, however these trees must have been second growths left and growing for sixty years. Logging at that time was quite extensive.

Patience often told me how he as a lad cut trees at "Sipera" for Van Patten and De Vries mills, "Sipera" meaning Point Superior (Marigold Point) today. This beautiful tract of forest is more appropriately named Waukazoo after the Indian chief whose tepees skirted the shore and whose campfires lighted the bay at night, whose fishing and hunting grounds then extended in every direction. Coming back to logging, the writer remembers a strange looking tug, in reality a flat scow with a "donkey engine," drawing rafts of logs from Point Superior and from as far away as Saugatuck and making them up Black River to the De Vries mill, then located just south of the large bridge on the old Zeeland-Holland road near the Holland Country Club. The mill pond and log boom was just below the bridge and the strange craft was used to take place every last day in the week. If we had a town jail we would surely have more peace and quiet, according to its lamentations. Note:—That was 30 years ago—it is doubtful if the village has ever had a jail. Those Hamiltonians are law abiding and thrifty folks. Even through stressful times they always seem to make a go of it—and minding their own business is their motto.

Families desiring to be supplied with ice this season should leave orders with Prof. George P. Hummer. See business local—which reads as follows: "Ice-season 1888 ice, furnished for family use $1.50 per month; $6.00 for the season. $2.00 extra per season when placed in a refrigerator. Leave your orders with or address postal card to Geo. P. Hummer." Note:—Mr. Hummer not only was an efficient educator and an able industrialist but also an ice man. His ice houses were located where the Donnelly-Kelly Glass Co. is now at the foot of 2nd St. There were few phones in those days—48 in all—therefore Mr. Hummer requested that he be notified by postal card. Ice boxes, too, were few and only those who could afford such a luxury had to put in their own ice or pay for having it put in. Electric refrigeration went into general use 40 years later. Ice 50 years ago was not weighed out but "chucked" out the ice houses being large and the lake gave unlimited supply. As far as I can remember Mr. Hummer was the first man who made a regular business of delivering ice. If ice was needed badly Anton Seif, a cake free from his beer cooling supply.

Lane Kanters of Holland is erecting one of his "Diamond Windmills" for Dr. Beart in Zeeland. It is expected that this mill will supply the doctor and his family with running water in his home and enough left for watering the grass and the playing of a fountain in the yard. Note:—The old Dr. Beart home is still standing, a landmark and imposing structure of brick ornamented with wood. The windmill has long since disappeared. However, an old fountain with an image still adorns the large lawn. It may be the fountain referred to. It has stood as long as the writer can remember. Mr. Kanters belonged to the prominent Kanters family who were harbor builders here 60 years ago. Later they were hardware dealers and built the Kanters Block, now the Knoll Plumber's Block. He was chief of the fire department for some time and was secretary of the Holland Fair when the fair was still at the west end of Holland, extending from the now Kollen Park to 16th St., including the Holland Shoe Co. property.

Strawberries made their appearance in the Holland market just four days after a heavy, unseasonable snowstorm came on May 15. Snow seems to agree with fruit this season.

While engaged in house cleaning at Albert Vander Hulst's at Zeeland, two green window shades were blown into the barnyard. Two cows got hold of them and ate them. The result—two dead cows. Note:—Moral—Shades from the past—it is a "dum" cow that can't tell a green shade from green grass.

Tuesday morning at Zeeland, while Tony De Kruij's hired man was driving "Confederate Maid," a reliable trotting mare, to the pasture she stumbled and fell to the ground. As she did not make any effort to get up he discovered that she had broken her neck and had to be shot. She had a record of 2:29 3/4 and was valued at $1,000.

Gerrit Verhoof and Albert Elders were arrested by Officer Sam Meeuwse for riding their bicycles on the sidewalk at 12th St. Thomas De Vries was arrested later in the day. All three each paid "5 spots." Note:—Arrests for sidewalk riding are a thing of the past since Holland is nearly 100 per cent paved. Riding on the sidewalks before was often justifiable with mud in the street a half foot deep.

This week the police "black list" disappeared because there was no more use for one since saloons are all closed after the 18th amendment, a war measure which went into effect through the nation. Note:—The so-called "black list" was posted up in every saloon. It contained the names of habitual drunkards who could not control their appetites for liquor. Either the police, a good friend, or members of a family had these names posted. These names were also on file at police headquarters and were to the liquor dealer caught selling "booze" to a "black list" person. These, when they did get liquor, got it through a friend who purchased for them. However, if the friend was found out, it generally went hard with him. The writer was a member of the police board at that time and on his motion all lists were burned so no evidence of their unfortunate past would remain in the hands of anyone. The motion was sustained by all members. The lists were collected from the different saloons and destroyed. There were 48 on the list.

Coach Fielding H. Yost of Michigan came to Holland to be at Riverview Park to see the Boy Scouts perform. He, together with Adolf (Germany) Schultz, were the headliners. This was when Geiger was still Scout Executive. The Sea Scouts were then in charge of Skippers "Dixie" Hyma, Charles Ash and Charles Vos. One Zealand boy excelled in archery, hitting the "bull's-eye" constantly. This attracted Yost especially and he was impressed. He said, "My lad, let me see you do that again." Scout Cabell said, "All right, here goes for you and Troop 21," and he made a 100 per cent "bull's-eye." Yost wanted to know where the youngster got the bow from. He was told that Cabell had made his own bow, 6 feet long, with pulling pressure of 60 pounds. He had felled a small osage orange tree, cutting the bow out roughly by machine and finished it by scraping it with glass and a rasp. The boy should be called Robin Hood or William Tell.

Swarms of bees gathered on Wall of Masonic Temple; Attract Many Spectators

Bees swarming near the Masonic Temple at Grand Haven caused considerable excitement and much dodging by passersby when they heard the loud hum of thousands of the insects who were getting ready for the summer season of honey making but chose an odd place to begin operations.

There were three big clumps of them attached to the walls of the Masonic Temple at first but they finally located on the south east corner near the foundation.

Charles Retzlaff, a Grand Haven bee man, was called. He donned a bee bonnet and with a hive scooped the insects with his bare hands. Mr. Retzlaff apparently knew how to handle them for he emerged with no stings and took the bees off to a place where they will probably be more contented than clinging to the walls of a brick building.

The swarming began about 3 p. m. and many youngsters gathered. As the bees settled on the walls, stones and bricks were thrown that way which angrily aroused the bees. Henry Bore reported recently he found hundreds of bees on his lawn and the swarm apparently must have come from bees in that section.

Common Council Struggles With Old Question

PERMIT TO BUILD GAS STATION NEAR CHURCHES HAS BEEN REJECTED

Several years ago builders of gas stations had considerable difficulty in getting permits to build stations on corners adjacent to the First Reformed Church. At that time the controversy ran rife, all manner of complaints being filed. The Standard Oil Co., however, did build a station, and later the Vander Berg Bros. Oil Co. built one right across the way, and, still later, the Livewense garage added a third.

The disagreement continued indefinitely and injunctive suits were threatened, but eventually the ordinance was changed so that the stations were built, the argument being that no individual or group could prevent progress; and the property owners who owned desirable property for that purpose were placed at a disadvantage in disposing of or using their property, while taxes and expenses continued. However, that was some time ago. Nothing was heard of the oil stations for some years until the one formerly owned by Vander Berg Bros. Oil Co. was razed and the Nu-Way Service Stations, Inc., who acquired the property, planned to build a commodious station there to take the place of the one dismantled.

A few weeks ago the officials of the First Reformed church filed a protest against the granting of a permit, and this protest was supplemented by Immanuel Church, who hold services in the Armory directly west. The protest stated that the operation of a service station was annoying to the parishioners while services were in progress.

Charles Kuyers last evening augmented the protest, informing the members of the common council that the constancy of the First Reformed church desires to keep the corner quiet, since such a business operation interferes with the services in the church. Mr. Kuyers is vice president of the constancy.

Ald. Henry Prins, when the communications were read and the personal application was made, moved that the application be rejected. He was supported by Ald. Kleis of the first ward.

At this juncture Atty. Nelson Miles, who is representing Mr. Enig of Muskegon, proprietor of the Nu-Way Co., stated that there was no ordinance or law that would prevent the building of a station there at this time. Mr. Miles stated that there had been three stations there for a long time, without any protests being made, and with apparently no annoying results. And while there is no law to prevent operating a station on Sunday, Mr. Enig, his client, was perfectly willing to close his station on the Sabbath, he states. Mr. Miles also pointed out that the Appeal Committee had given a decided majority in favor of approving the application, and he felt that the council, after receiving such approval, should grant this application.

Ald. Kleis then arose and stated that Major Henry Geerds, head of the National Armory, also made a protest, stating that the Armory for church purposes and for other functions is often crowded to capacity; and while the building is fireproof, a sudden fire or flare-up in a nearby station might endanger the lives of many people.

The matter finally came to a vote and the common council rejected the application of the Nu-Way Service Stations, Inc. Atty. Miles did not say definitely whether his client would go ahead with the building of the station and await injunction proceedings and allow it to become a court matter, or take the matter up with the council again at the next meeting to ascertain if some amicable settlement could not be reached. Mr. Miles at least hoped that such a course would be the final outcome.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY BRINGS OUT NETH- ERLANDS CUSTOM

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Westra recently celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary at their home at 284 East 11th St. when their children and several friends came to offer them congratulations. The Westras were married in Vriesland, The Netherlands on May 21, 1898 the ceremony taking place in the city hall, the mayor of the province presiding, as required by law in the land of dikes. Mr. Westra states that this custom is also followed today, and that no marriage is regarded as legal unless performed in the city hall. Even Princess Juliana and her husband were legally made man and wife according to this custom.

Mr. Westra is 63 years of age, and Mrs. Westra is 62. Mrs. Westra, who was Miss Agnes Van Dyk prior to her marriage, is the youngest of seven children, having two brothers, both of whom make their home in this vicinity, and four sisters, all of whom live in The Netherlands. It is quite a coincidence that of the seven brothers and sisters, all of whom are married, the sisters and brothers together with their husbands and wives are living, and that death has thus far not made inroads in so large a group.

The oldest brother, Theodore Van Dyk will be 74 years old next February. He together with his wife live in Allenland. The older brother, Frank Van Dyk and his wife make their home on East 15th St., Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Westra are the parents of four children, Mrs. Jessie De Witt, Mrs. Gertrude Huyser, Mrs. Jennie Van Dyk, of this city, and Frank at home.

Holland Has Thousands Of Book-Takers

LOCAL FOLK ARE SURELY DEVOTED TO READING REPORT SHOWS

Miss Dora Schermer, our able librarian, gave to the common council a report of more than passing interest. It shows that Holland is a town of readers when it is considered that 58,606 volumes were taken from the library during the last year. Of this number 17,375 were children's books. There seems to be considerable reading for a town of our size.

The library was open for circulation 306 days of the year, and for reading only, on Sunday afternoons the year around, with the exception of two months in the summer, namely, July and August. Altogether, there were 866 volumes added during the year, of which 800 were purchased, 16 were gifts, 15 were transferred from the rental collection, and 34 were added by binding. During the year, 650 volumes were withdrawn, the books either being obsolete or worn to such an extent that they were unfit for circulation. The total number of books in the library now is 16,836 volumes.

Among the readers, 739 new book-takers' cards were issued, making the total, 4,992 registered borrowers having used their cards during the year. That shows conclusively that Holland is a great reading town, for that number of registered borrowers means more than one book to a family. The reading rooms were also well patronized by juveniles as well as adults, since 5,741 persons used the library for reading and studying during the evening.

Of all the volumes, 430 were reserved by our patrons, while Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind" led in the number of reservations, having had the longest waiting list. A close second was Dale Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

In the reference department the "Americana" encyclopedia has been replaced with a 1937 edition in 30 volumes, a most convenient, ready reference to library patrons. During National Book Week several classes from the public schools and from other schools visited the library, and in turn Miss Dora Schermer was also invited to the schools to review some of the new books for the students there.

The library receives through gifts and subscriptions, 130 magazines and newspapers. The library has subscribed to three new magazines this year. For the adult reader, "Parents Magazine" and "Fortune"; and "World Horizons" for the young people. "Christendom" and "The Digest" were dropped and the periodical list. A four-month's file of all our newspapers is kept and our local papers are bound.

Plans for the coming year include an entire re-registration of borrowers for a three-year period. This re-arrangement will include a more up-to-date charging system and other technical changes in cataloging.

The financial report for 1937 to 1938 shows a balance on hand in the library fund of $3,358.87, as of June 1st. The total receipts for tax collections, delinquent taxes, state fees, library fines, non-resident fees, income from book rentals, and fees for new books, subscriptions and periodicals, binding books and magazines, light rent and supplies, totaled $6,711.92.

Our city library is a wonderful institution. It is self-evident that it is an educator, since good books are taken in nearly every family. The librarian and the library board have seen to it that books of high caliber are found on the shelves, and the magazines of similar caliber are conveniently placed in the reading room.

Miss Dora Schermer, head of the library, has for assistants, Minnie Marsjle, Jeanette Hoffman, and Velda Blair. The library board is composed of Henry Geerlings, Albert Hoeksema, and Mrs. Catherine Van Duren.

Despite the great work being done by our public library and the great pleasure it affords our citizens, this institution is economically conducted and we are proud of it as well as we are of those who are supervising it.

This morning, two U. S. government officials are in the city to inspect the proposed site for the new $123,000 coast guard station being considered for erection in Holland. They are G. W. MacLane, chief of staff, Chicago division; and W. W. Bennett, commander of 10th district coast guards. Capt. E. J. Clemons of the Holland coast guard station, and Vaudie Vandenberg, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, were to accompany the officials to the proposed site this morning.

A New 5c Nickel

That five-cent piece, good for a soft drink, a cigar, or a candy bar, is in for an interesting week, featuring a birthday and a face-lifting.

Authorized by act of Congress just 72 years ago this week, the nickel has undergone several changes of face, the last in 1913 when it acquired the Indian design which has been called the most beautiful in U. S. coinage.

But now the nickel is to feature the face of Thomas Jefferson. As a result, a Chicago sculptor was able to trade a nickel for $1,000, his nickel being the winning design selected as pattern for the new five-cent piece.

New face or not, the nickel is still 25 per cent nickel and 75 per cent copper, and still a coin of the realm worth just so much when paid for food, candy, or taxes. New design or old, it's those little letters that read "Five Cents" that form the most interesting design for most of us.

Advice from a Gunsmith

Carlstrom, the gunsmith in David Grayson's book, "Adventures in Friendship," gives sound advice when he says, "When I feel like finding fault I always begin with myself and then I never get any farther."

What a great old American custom back-passing is! The man under our buck is always innocent. Our mistakes and failures can always be so conveniently placed on the shoulders of someone else and then we can go our way in peace.

To ancient man all things were animate. When a boulder fell on his toe, the boulder meant to do so! Even to this day when we stumble over a chair we may kick the chair in disgust. It was the chair's fault, not ours, that we stumbled!

If men and women would just follow the old gunsmith's advice this old world would be transformed. Most of us could keep quite busy finding and correcting our own faults.

Ibex

A group of Arizona hunters, arrested for killing mountain sheep out of season, were released by the court when they claimed the animal killed was an ibex. Several years ago Theodore Roosevelt released a few of these animals in Arizona that he had secured from Africa. But no trace was ever found of them. They resemble our native mountain sheep. After this verdict was rendered the president of the Arizona Game Protective Association offered $100 for anyone who would capture an ibex in Arizona. There are no takers as yet. Well, Michigan hunters kill elk for deer and meadow larks for pheasants; that is, those who practice shooting at anything that flies or runs.

Re-elected to the position of assistant secretary of the board of trustees of Calvin college and seminary was the Rev. D. Zwier, pastor of the Maple Ave. Christian Reformed church of this city. Rev. Zwier has served in his present capacity for eight consecutive years.

COUNTY RATES ANNOUNCED FOR CROP INSURANCE

Crop insurance which will guarantee insured wheat growers three-fourths of an average wheat crop in 1939 will cost Ottawa county farmers at an average of 6 cents bushels per acre, Glen E. Taylor, chairman of the Ottawa County Agricultural Conservation Committee, announced today.

For insurance on the 1939 crop that will guarantee 50 per cent of an average yield, the Ottawa county rate will be 1 tenth bushels per acre.

County premium rates, received today, reflect the average per acre loss in Ottawa county during the 10 years, 1928-1937. The premium on any individual wheat grower will have to pay for insurance will depend half upon this county rate, and half upon the crop losses on his own farm. Rates for each farm will be computed in the branch office of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

The average yield per acre for the county during the 10-year period was 20.1 bushels. However, the cost of insurance is not based upon the average amount of yield, but on the year-to-year variations in yield.

"Two farmers with the same average yield for the 10-year period would not necessarily pay the same premium for the same percentage coverage," Mr. Taylor pointed out. "The farmer who suffered but little crop loss would pay less than the farmer who suffered frequent and heavy loss, even though their average yields were the same."

The county rates will be available in the offices of all county AAA committees, about which the county crop insurance program will center.

The figures farmers need for calculating their insurance will also be available in the county committee offices for farms which participated in the AAA wheat adjustment programs. The county committee will arrange for an appraisal on farms for which these figures are not available.

The premium a farmer pays covers only the actual cost of the insurance. Administration costs and costs for storage of insurance reserves will be paid by the Corporation.

Wheat Insurance Plan to Be Explained

L. R. Arnold feels that all wheat growers should know the details of wheat insurance. Farm meetings for discussion of this have been scheduled for the entire county. County Agricultural Agent Arnold and Sam Rymer, secretary of the soil conservation association, will explain this to wheat growers.

Following is the schedule, all meetings called at 8 p. m.:

Frog Can't Frog Around Much More

FROG SEASON OPENED YESTERDAY AND THE BIG ONES MUST WATCH OUT

This frog question lends itself easily to many puns. For instance, it might be said that from now on no wise frog will do much frogging around in the open spaces, because the open season for taking frogs began yesterday. Or, putting it another way, that's the beginning of the season when the bigger the croaker the more likely he is to croak, if he doesn't keep under cover. In other words, every frog should look before he leaps, or he might jump right into somebody's frying pan.

The frog hunting business is fairly good in Michigan. Many frogs are taken each year for table purposes and also for laboratory use, colleges and universities and drug manufacturers being the largest buyers in the later category.

But the frog rearing business isn't so good, fortunately. Many people have concluded that advertisements promising great wealth through artificial frog rearing are of dubious character. Some who didn't think so in the past have since raised a bigger racket than even the frogs themselves make at night. Now to take up any premonition plans such as those which claimed that by buying breeding stock, a client could take a course in frog rearing, receive a "diploma" and be launched on the road to riches.

Of the six species of frogs found in Michigan, four are edible. They are the bullfrog, the greenfrog, the leopard frog and the pickerel frog. The other two, the wood-frog and the milk-frog, wouldn't do anybody's table any good.

Nevertheless, the frog season opened June 1 and extends through Oct. 31, in Michigan. No license is needed to take them, but the use of artificial light while spearing is illegal.

ZEELAND CHICK TRADE BOOMING AT THIS TIME

After getting away to a poor start, the Zeeland chick hatching business is better than in several years.

George Caball, Ottawa county veteran hatcheryman, said that last year the hatching season ended two weeks before Memorial day, whereas this year local hatcheries still are setting eggs and hatching will be made in June and July.

General conditions within the industry are better, partly due to eggs being considerably higher than at the opening of the hatching season. Caball said hatcherymen were able to dictate baby chick prices this year, but in 1937, he added, they were virtually compelled "to give away chicks."

A new "wrinkle" in local hatchery circles is importing of Japanese chick sexers. They are members of the International Chick Sexing association of Fresno, Cal., and were trained in Japan. The Japanese guarantee 98 per cent perfect sexing.

Local hatcheries have spent thousands of dollars training local aspirants to the sexing trade but thus far have not had much success.

All hatcheries now are engaged in custom hatching of turkeys, geese and ducks.

His 82nd birthday anniversary was quietly celebrated last Wednesday at his home at 146 East Seventh St., by John Brewer. For the past 70 years, he has been in Holland as a resident. ## Some Old Art Treasure Go To Haven School

FIVE BASE RELIEFS FROM AKELY HALL PLACED AT CENTRAL BUILDING

Five beautiful base reliefs, formerly the property of Akely Hall, Grand Haven, have recently been hung at Central school, which are a splendid addition to the school and create an atmosphere of beauty in the stairway and halls where they have been placed.

They were purchased many years ago by the late Susan Hill Yerkes, a lover of art, and presented by her to Akely Hall when she and her sister, Mary Helen Yerkes conducted that former well known Episcopal school for girls in Grand Haven which had a student body of at least 250.

When the school was discontinued during the depression, these treasures were stored in the gymnasium on the third floor of the former brick building and left there to become covered with dust and dirt.

Entrance was made to this building time and again as the building stood uncared for several years. Miss Julia Soule, a Grand Haven teacher, learned of the treasures stored there that were being damaged by dust and she contacted William Hutton, chairman of the Akely Hall board, and requested that these base reliefs be given to the public schools and saved.

Mr. Hutton realized their value and quickly acted to see that they were turned over to the school. They were taken to Central school and stored in the upper region for several years. Recently they were brought to light, frames were made by the manual training department, they were cleaned and placed on the walls.

The one on the stair landing is a copy of a section of the Frieze of the Parthenon. Others are Greek subjects and it is believed they were all made by the Scandinavian sculptor Thorwaldsen.

Two of equal length with Green figures and baby lambs have been placed on the stairway leading to the elementary grades which are especially appropriate and the others have been hung on the stair-landing and in the upper halls the subjects fitted appropriately to the age of the students.

POLICING "TULIP TIME" COST LESS THIS YEAR

Total payments of $604 were reported for special officers during Tulip Time this year, at the meeting of the board of police and fire commissioners at the city hall on Tuesday at 5 p. m. According to City Clerk Oscar Peterson, last year $1,002.31 was paid for services of special officers, this year's total showing a decrease in expenses of $398.31 over last year.

Officer Jay Dalman was commended for his efficient handling of the traffic situation during Tulip week by Commissioner John Donnelly, chairman of the board. The police department was praised for its work over the Memorial Day week end, no accidents having been reported, according to Police Chief Frank Van Ry. A standing award of $24 to anyone apprehended turning in a false alarm in the city was authorized. For their work in leading to the arrest of a culprit who recently turned in a false alarm, Mrs. L. Vanden Bos, 668 Central Ave., received $20, and Harm Brink, $5, from the board.

Motion was made by Commissioner Fred Kamferbeek and seconded by Commissioner Hymus that recommendation be made by the board to the board of public works, that water mains on East Fifth St. be extended to ease fire fighting in that vicinity. Oaths of Harvey J. Murray, new police officer, and of special officers, were filed. Chief Van Ry reported disposal of 30 cases and 53 traffic warnings issued. ## THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Serving by Personal Devotion—Mark 14:3-11.

Henry Geerlings

What striking contrasting attitudes toward Jesus! He was hated and He was loved. Some wanted Him out of the world, and some wanted Him in the world. Some were afraid of Him and some felt at home in His presence. Our attention is arrested by the fact that His enemies are plotting how they may with subtlety kill Him. His friends have made a feast for Him. He goes to it knowing that He is soon to die. But this hospitable home is a refuge in time of storm. It is an oasis in the desert. It is peace in the heart of tumult. It is sweet music on the edge of life's anguishing discords. It was a quiet suburb of love just a little removed from the heart of the city of hate. We must often feed our souls on our friendships while the world is cold and cruel and critical.

Jesus felt the need of some heart balm now when cruel men were plotting how they might encompass His undoing and hang Him upon the tree. So Jesus went to the feast in the house of Simon where hospitality opened the door to Him and where love soothed His troubled spirit. I have no doubt He felt it was good to be there. The world was not all dark. There were light spots. Hate and misunderstanding had not captured all hearts and minds. There were some that understood and cared.

One likes to look upon this scene in Simon's house. It is different from other scenes in other homes where Jesus was present. There is a pleasing absence of the critical mood and the unfriendly mind. He was as welcome in this home as love could make Him. He was the guest of honor whom true hearts would crown with the royal diadem of love's adoration. This feast is unique and memorable and rich because of what a woman did. She broke over His precious person the costly ointment. It was her way of saying how much she honored and loved and appreciated Jesus. We say "say it with flowers." This woman said it with perfume. It was an outpouring of her heart and her soul went with the spikenard. It spoke a language that the tongue cannot speak. There are some things that we cannot put into language. No words have ever been invented upon which we can place the tumultuous and tender feelings of our hearts. Words sometimes are about as successful carriers of our feelings as humming birds of the commerce of great cities. So we have need to use some other means of expressing ourselves foolish in the eyes of ourselves. We may make some people. They may and likely will misunderstand totally our purpose and intent. They do not notice that the perfume of our souls is bathing our strange deed. They cannot see that it is carrying the warmth of our hearts. This was the case of some of the guests at the feast. They missed the meaning and the beauty of the anointing woman's deed. To them it was sheer, unjustifiable benefit. They justified their attitude in the thought that the precious ointment might have been sold and the proceeds given to the poor. But the critics of the anointing woman did not care half as much about the poor as she did. If I wanted the poor cared for I would ask this type of woman to do it. She who had an impulse for such a beautiful deed as this anointing would have heart and money for the poor. People who buy flowers for coffins generally have some money and disposition left for charity. The people who build beautiful churches and are willing to pay for good music generally subscribe liberally to orphan's homes. Husbands who take flowers home generally have some money left for needed furniture and window hangings. The man who has no sentiment generally has little left. Those who would take all sentiment out of life would rob it of many of its most eloquent deeds. Love may do some queer things, but they are not queer to the heart that answers in the language of love.

Well, Jesus gave fine hospitality of heart and mind to this deed of the anointing woman. He understood and there is so much in being able to understand. He defended the woman against the unfeeling and slow-minded critics. He took it as an anti-mortem honor. Some people wait until after death to do honor to those whose hearts are hungry for the human touch. This woman anticipated death and she made her heart speak to the living. She believed in ante-mortem flowers. Post-mortem are good but the other kinds are better. She built a monument to herself that will last.

POLICE GUIDE IS VALUABLE ASSET TO LOCAL OFFICERS

Mr. Kendall of the International Association of Police Chiefs is in the city making contacts for memberships and receiving subscriptions towards a Police Guide that has been so beneficial to officers of the law everywhere. Chief Van Ry states that the Guide of 118 pages is a ready reference book, and is subscribed to by all officers in the Holland department.

Mr. Kendall is soliciting for what is known as the Police and Sheriff's Association of America; and this association proves to be a valuable insurance to all officers of the law in case of accident, sickness, or death.

Chief Van Ry states that the listing of all chiefs of police, county sheriffs, state officials, governors of the different states, department of justice, U. S. Marshals, G-men, having to do with law enforcement, is found in this official guide and how to reach them. Mr. Van Ry states that they have used this ready reference for years, and it has been a great help in tracing criminals.

The Guide also has a department of crime detection that helps in ferreting out murders, giving chemical analysis of burned bones, finger printing, and the different problems that come up at different times in certain crime cases. The Guide describes this minutely so it can be a national guide should cases of that type arise.

Mr. Kendall stated that all too often a police department is "kicked around like a football" by brainless people, or is embarrassed by politicians. It is naturally hated by criminals. Folk unthinkingly say disparaging things about the police department. They seldom come in for all the grief, but seldom for the praise they so richly deserve. It is doubtful whether that is true in the city of Holland. As a whole, the police department is in high standing. Their efficiency is born out of the fact that Holland does not have what is called a "crime wave"; and while there may be complaints occasionally, the majority of Holland folk, who say nothing, are pleased in their hearts that the city is so well guarded by the "minions of the law."

Mr. Kendall will be in the city for the greater part of a week getting memberships which will be published in the Guide. It is a law and order move, for the benefit of this association and for the republishing of the Guide from time to time.

"THROUGH EIGHTH STREET" IS AGAIN SUBJECT FOR DEBATE

Upon motion by Ald. Edward Brouwer, common council Wednesday concluded debate on the matter of making Eighth St. from Rivier Ave. to Washington Blvd., Lake St., from Washington Blvd. to Van Raalte Ave., and Van Raalte Ave. through 17th St., "through streets." Brouwer's motion, accepted by council, suggested the naming of a committee by Mayor Henry Geerlings, to inspect the matter. Next meeting of council, June 15, members appointed to the committee by Mayor Geerlings included Ald. Brouwer, Ald. Henry Prins and Ald. Cornelius Kalkman, Sr., who resides on Eighth St., near Maple Ave., where Albert Eisen was killed in an automobile accident May 23, 20, opened discussion on the matter at Wednesday's meeting. Discussion of the matter was the renewal of a fight for a similar proposal, waged at the Sept. 1, 1937, meeting of council.

Kalkman's motion to make the streets mentioned "through" did not pass, since it was not seconded. Problems of policing the street and eliminating speeding, if the streets should be made "through," were encountered in the discussion. Kalkman stated that a speed limit of 20 miles per hour should be enforced along Eighth St. "slow" signs are now painted at various intersections on the pavement. Kalkman was informed.

Ald. Ketel stated during the course of discussion on the matter that he felt installation of "slow" signs would remedy the situation and that the streets in question would not have to be made "through," since vision is clear in all directions at intersections on the streets.

Following discussion, a counter-motion by Ald. A. P. Kleis to refer the matter to the committee on streets and crosswalks, was defeated. Speed limit signs were suggested by Ald. James A. Drinkwater for North River Ave., out of which, he charged, "drivers are making a race track."

Reviews of All Our American Wars Step by Step

"ALL FOUGHT FOR FREEDOM,
LIBERTY FOR OURSELVES AND OUR NEIGHBORS"
—Dethmers.

There are groups who would destroy our rich heritage—this shall not be if we are to honor those who fought and died for this nation and what it stands for.

Features of the Memorial Day services, witnessed by almost 1,500 people at Pilgrim Home cemetery Monday were the reading of Governor Frank Murphy's proclamation by Miss Norma Becksfort of Holland high school; the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address by Dean Dykstra of Hope college; selections by a Hope college double male quartet, composed of Albert Shiphorst, Gordon Vanden Brink, Oliver Lampen, Bill Rottschaeffer, Howard Lubbers, LeRoy Ellerbrook, Chet Wing and Jack Leenhouts; and the address of the day by Prosecuting Attorney John R. Dethmers. Mr. Dethmers' address follows:

"Seventy-five years ago, on an occasion such as this, Abraham Lincoln gave expression to the ultimate in memorial addresses. No man can say, on this day, the things that ought to be said without saying some of the things which were so much more effectively, concisely, and beautifully expressed in Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. He then gave voice to the text, as it were, for all subsequent occasions of a like nature.

"In 1776, our Revolutionary forefathers declared our national independence. They were then in the midst of a great conflict and struggle for freedom and liberty and independence.

"In 1812, another generation of our national forebears again engaged in mortal strife for the cause of freedom.

"In 1861, once again the arm of the American people was raised

ATTY. JOHN R. DETHMERS
Speaker of the Day

for freedom and many of those who were our grandfathers struggled and suffered and many there were who made the supreme sacrifice, testing, as was said by Lincoln, "whether this nation or any nation conceived in Liberty, can long endure."

"And again in 1898 another generation of America's youth lifted the sword for liberty. Having won and enjoyed the blessings of liberty and freedom for itself, the American spirit could not tolerate the denial of those inalienable rights to a small, defenseless neighbor.

"And so to the stirring times of 1917 when the flower of American youth once more hazarded health and wealth and life to make the world safe for democracy, for freedom, for liberty.

"Such has been the record and purpose of our wars. Our course in times of peace has been no different. Whether we be statesman, or leader, or ordinary citizen, we have loved liberty, we have loved freedom. And the love of these have animated our entire national existence.

"Today we are met to pay our respect and tribute to our honored dead and the living as well, who fought and sacrificed for the high ideal of freedom.

"It is well that we do so. For this priceless heritage which we still enjoy did not come to them automatically or without cost. This portion of liberty, freedom, and happiness, which we now so richly enjoy, would not have been ours, had they not won it at a great price. Our gratitude and thanksgiving must be to them and to a kind loving Divine Providence, who placed in their hearts the willingness and desire to suffer and die for their belief.

"But, we can raise here no memorial that will add to the glory of their deeds and memories. Their lives and their deeds are their own monuments, erected beyond our power to add or detract. There is little that we can do for them whom we now would honor, except that we pass on to our children and succeeding generations, untarnished and undiminished, the rich gift of freedom which they have committed to our keeping.

"In the words of Lincoln, it is rather for us the living to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead, we take increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave their last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the People, by the People, and for the People, shall not perish from the earth."

"This unfinished task of which Lincoln spoke, the task of preserving freedom, remains unfinished still today. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

"We need but to look across the ocean to see liberty stifled and freedom destroyed in nation after nation. This has become a day and age of dictators and governments by one man. Religious freedom, freedom of speech and of the press and individual liberty are no longer known in many of the nations of

CULVERT WENT OUT AT SAUGTUCK

The culvert on Holland street, Saugatuck, went out with the rainstorm on Thursday night last, blocking the north route out of town. A good sized hole was left in the pavement and the culvert was rebuilt by putting a four foot tubular sheet metal conduit through the old culvert. Through traffic was routed over the new road during the repair of this stretch of road.

The daughter born May 26 to Mr. and Mrs. John Galien, 276 West 23rd St., at Holland hospital, has been named Karen Faye.

Mrs. William Palmer of Osego, recently spent a few days in Holland, visiting Mrs. Edsel Gale.

Europe, America is one of the few remaining citadels of freedom.

"Today, as we stand here for a patriotic purpose, there exist in our own land organized groups, sworn to substitute some foreign form of dictatorship for our own system of representative government.

"Would we honor those who fought and died for country and for us? Let us then live for country and for those who must follow us.

"Upon us rests the responsibility of whether our children and our children's children shall enjoy the blessings of liberty and freedom and peace, transmitted to us by those who have gone before. Toward us are directed the eyes of the people in the many nations where freedom has been destroyed.

"We, we are the hope of the peoples of the world today, and of generations as yet unborn.

"God grant that we may be faithful to our trust.

Graves of deceased soldiers and of Dr. A. C. Van Raalte were decorated. While the procession marched to Monument Square, the American Legion band rendered "Nearer My God to Thee."

Next followed a dirge by band. Salute by colors. Decorating of Civil War monument by daughters of World War veterans—Jacqueline Bremer, Marie Kluwarsma, Ruth Barkema, and Myra Fortney.

The Rev. William Van't Hof, chaplain, pronounced the invocation and the benediction. Franklin Van Ry played taps. Henry Van Lente, U.S.W.V., was in charge of exercises at the cemetery and read the roster of the absent dead and those who are buried in our local cemeteries.

John Douma the only living Holland G.A.R. was not able to attend because of feeble condition.

The Rev. William Van't Hof, pastor of the Third Reformed church, was the main speaker at Sunday's Memorial services in Hope Memorial chapel. His subject for the occasion was "Let Us Forget." Veterans and auxiliary members of local veterans organizations attended the services in a body.

The local pastor bemoaned the past war and preparations for future wars. Blamed as the causes for the past World War were "propaganda" and "super-patriotism." Causes of the war, the speaker maintained, are never known until after the war in question is past. Actual motives of the past war were kept concealed. Instances from the Sino-Japanese conflict and from the Ethiopian struggle were used by Rev. Van't Hof to illustrate his points.

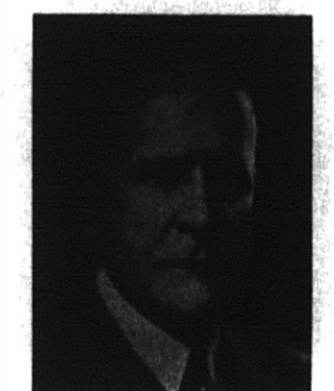

"The soldier was enlisted or conscripted to kill, trained to kill and commanded to kill but he was not trained how to die. Death is only incidental in war. That brings to our minds a question. Have we a right to kill, whatever the cause? There is no question about right to die, but there is a question about killing. Down through the centuries came the cry, 'Thou Shalt Not Kill.' Being made to kill, we soothed our conscience because we believed we were killing to save democracy. We know better now. The world was never so safe for Fascism as it is today and the war made it so. Little by little the nations of the world have been succumbing to totalitarianism. The Versailles treaty is to a great extent the cause. It made Hitler and Mussolini what they are."

"Love your enemies," the speaker stated, "is the new way. War is the old way. Concluding, the Rev. Van't Hof stated:

"The need of the day is not revolution but evolution, evolution into the spirit of militarism and into the spirit of Jesus. That was the need of the day. That was the lion may lie down with the lamb, that the sword may be made into a plowshare and the spear into a pruning hook is the intense yearning of the hearts of God's people."

Yost and Crisler "Highlights" at Athletic Spread

TWO BIG UNIVERSITY
COACHES GAVE 200 GUESTS
A GREAT EVENING AT

Jim De Pree and Cappy Cappon Recognized in talk by Fielding Yost Their Old Friend

The formation of a local University of Michigan club was the direct outcome here last Friday night of the Yost-Crisler-Oosterbaan banquet, held at Warm Friend Tavern, under the sponsorship of the Holland Rotary club. The affair was held in honor of Holland high and Hope college basketball teams.

Establishment of the local chapter entitles the Holland University of Michigan alumni to the privilege of naming two or more high school graduates for scholarships at the University. The local high school faculty and the president of the University pass on the eligibility of candidates for the honor. The scholarships are based on scholastic standing, leadership and athletic ability of the graduate named. Clubs of Michigan alumni have already been established in Muskegon, Grand Haven, Grand Rapids, and nearby cities.

Clubs are divided into eleven districts. District No. 9 includes Detroit, Bay City, and Ann Arbor, and District No. 10 takes in alumni in the rest of the state. Howard Wickert, principal of Grand Rapids Crestline high school, president of the Grand Rapids University of Michigan club, attended Friday night's meeting here. Armen S. Kurkjian, sales manager of the Oliver Machinery Co. of Grand Rapids, 10th District president, was instrumental in organizing the Holland chapter.

The organization meeting was held following the regular banquet, attorney Clarence A. Lokker being in charge. Upon motion made by Mr. Lokker, Dr. R. H. Nichols was unanimously elected president; James De Pree, vice-president; and Peter Boter, secretary-treasurer. Junius B. Wood was the first applicant for membership. Prospects are bright for a large local chapter, about twenty having signed for membership at Friday's meeting.

William Nies, president of the Holland Lions club presided at the banquet held prior to the organization meeting. The meeting opened with singing of the National Anthem by the group, followed by prayer by the Rev. William Van't Hof and a word of welcome by Mr. Nies. Keen disappointment was felt when it was announced to the approximately 200 guests who attended that Benny Oosterbaan, head coach, could not be present, since his wife was seriously ill. Jerry Houtling led a lively song service. Bill Diekema serving as pianist.

Upon his being introduced by Attorney Lokker, toastmaster for the evening, "All American opera writer" Bill Diekema entertained with several solos, and led the group in singing a number of Michigan favorites.

Honor guests of the Lions included Fritz Crisler, head football coach, who presided at Michigan Fielding H. Yost, athletic director at the University; and Earl Martineau, Princeton man, who is assistant to Crisler.

Following a delicious steak dinner provided by Landlord Lillard's staff, Toastmaster Lokker introduced the 25 high school basketball men, and the 13 college cage stars. Present as Holland high representatives were Coaches Rex Chapman, Fred Weiss and Ed Damson; managers Baldus and Slag; and players Eensenburg, Grissen, Hof, Deur, Dyke, Carl Van Dort, Nieuwma, Cunningham, Tappen, Dalman, Rowan, Kemper, Oosterbaan, Serier, Terpema, Vandenberg, Oonk, Nienhuis, Van Dort, and Jalving.

Hope's representatives were Jack Coach Milton Hinga; manager Jack Burckett; and players Don Thomas, Paul Boyink, Les Brannock, Bob Marcus, Ade Slikkers, Bob Vandenberg, Ken Honholt, Ed Heneveld, Ray Lokker, Bill De Groot and Howard Becksfort. Applause followed the introduction of the guests.

A tribute "in absentia" was paid to Oosterbaan by Toastmaster Lokker. He also stated that the discomfited feeling that Fritz Crisler had Dutch blood in his veins. Yost's spirit and initiative were commended by Mr. Lokker who added: "What Man O'War is to the horse family, Fielding H. Yost is to coaching."

"War Admiral" James DePree, who has known Mr. Yost as a personal friend for 35 years, introduced Mr. Yost, characterizing him as "the director of the greatest athletic plant in the world."

Mr. DePree explained that Yost's nickname, "Hurricane," had been derived from the fact that Yost always sang as the players went slowly to the locker rooms, "You're always behind like the old cow's tail."

Mr. Yost responded with a speech alive with humor and charged with energy, which belied the age of "the grand old man." Jim (DePree) is a very enthusiastic animal. Mr. Yost began, "I might better have stayed at home if I was that good." Yost described his 38 years at Ann Arbor, his years of coaching before that at Ohio, in West Virginia, in Nebraska, and at the University of Kansas.

Western Michigan Scouts On Big Outing Today

Another Missionary Sees Bombing of Amoy, China

A communication was received recently by Mrs. J. Brinkman, rural route No. 6 from Miss Jean Nienhuis, her sister, who is a Reformed church missionary nurse at Amoy. The China Clipper carried the message to America for $1.80 postage charges. It was written May 12 at Hope hospital, Kulangsu.

Excerpts from the letter follow. They are self-explanatory:

"About 3:30, the Japanese soldiers appeared across the harbor and we saw their flags and knew the game was up. What a let-down! Everyone in the place had the awfullest 'woe begone' discouraged look. It was so pathetic. We have about 130 wounded soldiers in. They started coming Tuesday afternoon and everyone worked with a will—long hours without a murmur—the spirit of determination.

"Today there's a bit of courage in some of them again. The forts have not yet been taken, they're not fresh reinforcements are coming and hope has been kindled in some hearts again. Others feel it's hopeless.

"All the awfulness, the horror and distress war brings is real to us now. And the sadness and sorrow and heartache! Just saw our dear old language teacher this afternoon. What a sad face. Her daughter and family are in Amoy or on the island and have not been heard from. The husband is a man of influence and she feels he's surely killed if he didn't get out before the Japs came. And there are dozens of stories like that all day.

"But there is another side—the spirit of loyalty, of helpfulness and working together is great. Nurses, doctors, servants, volunteers, workers, first aid, etc. Everyone ready to do his part. All our girls are still here though some have had a hard struggle between duty and the appeal of our dear ones to flee to a place of greater safety. Some, yes, may of our servants had to meet the same test. It was indeed an inspiration to work with that kind of material."

Major operations were submitted to recently at Holland hospital by Henry Dokter, East 11th St., and Henry Banger, East 16th St.

end, tackle, and fullback. "Michigan has men from every state in the Union," Yost concluded, "and from 40 foreign countries. But I wouldn't give one cent toward a boy's coming to Michigan. Every boy must be in the university that will be of the most value to him in living his life. He must go where he will have the most happiness and contentment."

"The rainbow over the horizon," "one of God's real men," Fritz Crisler, was next introduced by Toastmaster Lokker. Mr. Crisler spoke in defense of athletics, aiming his remarks at "reformers," as he called them, "who trace the history of Sparta and Rome as being coincident with the participation of these lands in athletics. The downfall of athletics was the downfall of Sparta," he stated. "The Romans lost their national virility when they left sports." Crisler paid a tribute to Stagg, "under whom I started my athletic career, and to Yost, 'under whom I am having the privilege to finish.'"

The concluding number of the program was a motion picture film on the Michigan-Northwestern game, in charge of Mr. Martineau, showing of which was interspersed with Mr. Yost's clever remarks, such as, "Yes, we completed a great many passes in that game, but Northwestern caught them all."

In closing the meeting, Mr. Nies thanked the Michigan alumni association for their cooperation in planning the meeting.

Mr. Crisler left directly after the meeting, while "the grand old man" stayed for some time after the meeting to chat, informally, with those who wanted to speak with him. He generously submitted to the pleas of autograph seekers, and newspapersmen for informal discussion.

The committee in charge of arrangements for Friday's banquet included Bernard Arendshorst, chairman; Dr. Roland Shackson, and Russell Vander Poel. Nearby cities sending delegates to the meeting included Allegan, Grand Haven, Grand Rapids, and Muskegon.

Among those who became charter members of the club at Friday's meeting were W. S. Merriam, Mr. Lokker, Ervin D. Hanson, Titus Van Halstams, Dr. William Tappan, Cornelius Tiesenga, Prof. A. E. Lampen, E. R. Heeringa, Mr. Wood, Dr. Nichols, Mr. Boter, Mr. De Pree, Charles McBride, Peter Duren, Stanley Curtis, L. W. Schoon, and Milton J. Cook. In addition to the above, all Michigan alumni who sign for membership this week, will be considered charter members of the local club.

Zeeland Drives For Industrial Well-Being Here

Industrial Committee Brings In Another Prospect for Furniture Factory
(Zeeland Record)

Prospects for Zeeland are again a little brighter as far as employment is concerned, although matters have not arrived where there is any great certainty. However, during the past week contacts have been made by which it is hoped another industry will be secured for Zeeland, which will materially solve the labor problem here, so far as opportunity for work is concerned.

We are not permitted to release all the information that we have, but there are negotiations under way by which it is hoped Zeeland may acquire a furniture manufacturing company that will employ about 300 hands and will occupy all of the vacant or idle factories in Zeeland.

The interested parties were here during the week and have inspected the Dutch Woodcraft plant, which, according to their expressions, is an excellent plant for their purpose, but it is not large enough to accommodate all their business. Added to that is the probability of utilizing the old "Wolverine" or Herman Miller Clock Co. factory, and this will provide the necessary room. The owners of this property, as well as the owners of the Dutch Woodcraft factory have indicated their willingness to cooperate fully in trying to get both these factories running again.

Labor trouble is the greatest incentive for this company to get out of the large city where it is now located, and Zeeland is of the mood that it will stand by the factory owners and workers who want to work, so that Zeeland may lick the depression all by itself.

It is expected that within the next week further negotiations will take place on this matter, but nothing is certain about that. There are many difficulties to be overcome to get this move to a successful conclusion, as well for the company to move out of its present location as it is for Zeeland to make arrangements for receiving them.

We are hopeful that this deal may come through successfully, at which the Industrial Committee is leaving no stone unturned to bring this about.

TRACT FOR DUMPING GROUND
An eleven-acre tract east of Fennville has been purchased from George Bushee to be used jointly by the Village of Fennville, the townships of Manlius and Clyde, and the canning factory as a dumping ground. BILLIONS OF BEES BEG FOR FEEDINGS
Billions of bees in the state are almost begging out loud for a little extra sugar syrup to get over spring colds. They'll repay the attention a thousand-fold as soon as clover starts blooming, reports R. H. Kelly, extension beekeeper on the staff of Michigan State College.

No one has ever taken an exact bee census and no one ever will, but it is probable there are at least 2,750,000 colonies in the estimated 185,000 colonies in Michigan. By midseason the honey-makers likely will number nearly 10 billion. A cool spring has left the bees wondering where to find food. Strengthening them now with half sugar and half water, perhaps a gallon to a colony at the rate of a pint every other day, is prescribed by Kelly as insurance of thrifty colonies for June and July. The work is sprinkled over the comb with a sprinkling can.

With no honey in immediate sight he also recommends getting extra supers ready. He cites the "wet May fills the barn with hay" idea to indicate Michigan may get a bumper honey crop if colonies are ready to go out and gather the materials.

June 15 to July 15 is usually the period in which about half of the surplus or marketable honey crop is gathered by bees. If they are not ready to get out and hustle when warm weather arrives, Kelly warns beekeepers, they will have to build up strength of the colony before going to work for the owner.

Big Bug Battles Start in Gardens

From ants to wire worms. That's the alphabet of garden and truck crops pests that is ready to form new or revised cuss words for many of Michigan's amateurs and experts.

Get ready for the battle in the gardens of Allegan and Ottawa counties, is the advice of entomologists of Michigan State college. Prevention may save nine-tenths of the crops while a cure may leave only one-tenth. In rendering the killing of a bug in time may save work later on nine to 900.

Different types of attacks are recommended. First are the chewing insects which mainly are the cutworms and grasshoppers. For these the stomach poisons are applied, usually arsenate of lead. Either a spray application or poison bran feed is effective. Some gardeners use a dusting application, mixing 10 parts of calcium arsenate with 90 parts of hydrated lime. It takes different attack methods to get at the sucking insects. These are the plant lice, leaf hoppers and squash bugs. A cabbage louse is a typical plant pest hard to control. Contact insecticides are used. Forty per cent nicotine sulphate, a table-spoonful, can be mixed with a quart of still warm water for small gardens.

Maggots are still another problem. Treating the seed and the soil and cultural methods are all used for control or prevention. Tar paper disks often help. Corrosive sublimate (bichloride of mercury) is a violent poison and corrodes containers but seems effective. One ounce to a gallon of water is used. Take one part and again dilute to a gallon of water, applying at the rate of a half teaspoon about the roots of each plant.

Dog Owners Must Help To Protect Birds

PHEASANTS AND QUAIL ARE KNOWN TO NEST IN CITIES AND TOWNS

Dog owners, in the cities no less than on the farms, have an added responsibility these days in preventing their pets from destroying the nests, eggs and chicks of pheasants, ruffed grouse and other ground-nesting birds.

The number of pheasants which can be found living within the limits of cities is surprisingly large. Vacant subdivisions seem especially to their liking, a taste which some times results disastrously. The department of conservation, for instance, has received a number of complaints of dogs molesting pheasants inside the city limits of Lansing. One case investigated revealed the destruction of 11 pheasant eggs. In another, nine chicks were killed.

Even the bob-white quail is often an urban dweller, too, as in the instance of a covey seen on a main thoroughfare on the outskirts of Detroit recently.

The majority of pheasants complete their nesting and hatching by the first of July, but a percentage nest even in August. The bird is persistent and if one nest is destroyed before the eggs are laid, it will build another. Pheasants have been known to make two and three nesting efforts, which accounts for the immature birds which are sometimes seen during the fall hunting season. The final nest is made so late that the chicks do not have much time to grow before the hunting season opens.

A combination dinner-bridge party was given last Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Van Putten and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hohmann, at the latter's home on West 12th St., in honor of Miss Myra Ten Cate and Bruce Van Leeuwen. Mrs. John Stryker and Mr. Donald Crawford won prizes at bridge. TELEPHONE COMPANY'S AD-
VERTISING BOOMS RESORT
DISTRICT

For the eleventh successive year the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., through its advertising and publicity department is to tell people of Michigan and of other states through the 250 weekly and daily papers which it has chosen as the medium to bring these matters before the public, of the great natural advantages and resources which the state of Michigan offers to the people who are vacationers.

While other agencies take it upon themselves to acquaint the people of far away states with the vacation advantages of Michigan, the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has always taken it upon itself to tell the people of the state itself of these pleasures which can be found right here at home with no need of long trips to find something less attractive, less beautiful and which affords far less pleasure to the vacationist.

The series of advertisements—which prove show to be very attractive, interesting and well gotten up—will start running in the papers throughout the state the latter part of this month. Readers of the Holland City News may read the first one in an issue which will soon appear, as well as the rest of the series as they are released, the News having been chosen as one of the papers to carry this message to Michigan residents.

PURCHASE MORE LAND
FOR ALLEGAN PROJECT

M. L. Moore, of the federal land project in Allegan county, said Friday that options were being taken up by the government to increase acreage of the tract.

An additional $28,000 grant last winter, made possible the acquiring of more land than the original 35,000 submarginal acreage purchased by the government.

Moore also announced the Allegan office would adopt a tentative budget for the continuance of development in fire clearance and reforestation developments. It was at first thought the project would be closed down because of lack of funds.

CUT IN PAY RECOMMENDED FOR HEALTH UNIT BECAUSE OF GOVERNMENT CUT

A reduction in the salaries of the staff of the Ottawa county health unit will be recommended by the committee of public health of the board of supervisors, following a meeting recently to consider ways and means of meeting the reduced budget due to a 54 per cent reduction from the U. S. department of health.

A reduction of $500 on Dr. Ralph Ten Have's annual salary and a reduction of $200 on the salaries of the staff of the Ottawa county health unit will be recommended by the committee of public health of the board of supervisors, following a meeting recently to consider ways and means of meeting the reduced budget due to a 54 per cent reduction from the U. S. department of health.

Dr. Ten Have stated this morning that he recommended a reduction in salaries rather than in the public health program as outlined by the federal, state and county government which support the unit.

The budget will be sent to Dr. Gundakust, state health commissioner, for approval before it is adopted. The meeting recently held was attended by Hunter Hering of Crookery twp.; Lester Martin, Wright; George Heneveld, Park, and Charles Lowing, Georgetown, chairman of the board of supervisors, and Dr. Ten Have.

Word was received a few days ago that the reduction in federal aid would be effective July 1, making it necessary to reduce salaries by that date.

CROP INSURANCE THE LATEST
THING IN OTTAWA COUNTY

Crop insurance is a subject long discussed by farm leaders. An amendment to the 1938 farm program provides for such insurance to wheat growers of the United States. It will go into effect in 1939.

Much of the work in carrying on the program will fall upon the county committee of the Soil Conservation program. The Ottawa committee, Glen Taylor, Sam Rymer, C. L. McNitt and county agent Arnold spent Monday in Lansing, and Wednesday in Kalamazoo to obtain information. It will be necessary to inform farmers just how such insurance can be secured. For instance, if the farm average were 20 bushels to the acre, the government would insure for a yield of 15 bushels. If the crop were entirely destroyed the grower would receive full payment of 15 bushels for each acre or a cash equivalent. If the yield were 10 bushels the grower would receive the difference; that is, five bushels per acre.

Insurance will be based on past 10 years' records. Rates will be determined for each county. These rates will be much less in some sections than in others. Rates in Michigan will be quite low. The minimum rate for three-fourths insurance is one-half bushel per acre, for one-half yield, three tenths bushels per acre. In western states the rates are high due to past records showing failure.

Mr. Arnold states that full explanation must be made to farmers so that they can decide before planting this fall whether insurance will be taken out. No crop will be insured after planting. In applying for insurance the grower must insure all wheat on the farm. He must designate fields to be planted. If more than one farm is owned by a grower he need not insure on all farms where insurance is desired must be included. After planting a check of insured farms will be made. Premiums may be paid in wheat or cash.

Misses Marian Te Roller and Vivian Paulus, both of this city, are on committees for arranging the appearance of the Women's Glee Club of Western State Teachers college at Kalamazoo tonight.

Dr. John K. Winter has spent the past three weeks at Cook County, Ill., attending the School of Surgery at Chicago. He returned to Holland Wednesday evening, accompanied by Mrs. Winter.

FOREBEAR OF THE THRESHING MACHINE

"RACING" the chaff away from the grain is a primitive method of threshing still employed—along with hand ploughs or ox-drawn ploughs on native farms in the highlands of South America. The grain is piled in a circular place fenced so that it can't escape and horses are driven rapidly through it until the chaff is scattered and blown away—a method employed with variations, many centuries ago, by the Incas. Such sights as these add interest to the weekly cruises between New York and Peru.

Primitive as some phases of their agriculture was, the Incas developed an amazingly efficient system of irrigation, fertilized the soil, and handled the problem of soil erosion so expertly that representatives of our own agricultural department were sent to South America to study the famous stair-step, or terraced farms, constructed in pre-Inca days. The Incas were among the first users of fish fertilizer, placing a head of a fish in every hill of corn to enrich the soil. Such fish fertilizer was a forerunner of guano, the fertilizer produced by the thousands of birds who feast on fish found in the waters off Peru, and cover the islands nearby with the deposit called guano, which is brought up here and sold to our farmers.

A POLICEMAN

By A. Van Ry

Now he patrols his beat.

He looks for fingerprints; he sees.

Neither he nor the dog is wrong.

So he again sings his song.

Back to the office he must go.

To the Chief he then will show.

Both were speeding much too fast.

One or the other could have passed.

Then the fire alarm whistle blows;

Now he's out, just set for fun.

Just to see the engines run.

Then the report a car is stolen.

He soon gets his auto a'rollin'.

He goes down the highway he goes.

He's hunting the number of the car he knows.

Go at once to Northern Hall.

That was the man who was.

A student tapping with a stick.

On the girls, just playing a trick.

Then a robbery is reported;

By the manager is reported.

He looks for fingerprints; he sees.

Neither he nor the dog is wrong.

So he again sings his song.

Back again he just sits down.

Then a call from the bus lawn;

A window peeper has been found;

A frightened lady there is found.

Back to the office and reports;

A telephone call from the reports;

He's here, and then he's there.

Two nothing but dumb as can be.
