Youth Is Killed as Part Of Monument Collapses

Eight-year-old Arvin Ronald Visser who has three brothers in the service, was fatally injured during Memorial day services at Pilgrim Home cemetery Wednesday morning when part of a 9-foot monument fell, resulting in the child's death at 12:15 p.m. in Holland hospital less than an hour after the tragedy occurred.

The child, youngest of the seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Visser, 148 East 17th St., apparently had climbed the monument on the Verbeek family plot to gain a better view of the exercises, according to sheriff's officers who investigated. The monument was located 50 to 75 feet directly south of Soldier's monument.

Officers were unable to locate any witnesses who definitely saw what happened, but the monument shows some marks to a height of 64 inches. In that position, the child likely grasped the top ornament for support and it fell down with the boy. The 20-inch high ornament resembling a draped urn weighs about 75 pounds.

According to officers, the child got up after the fall and ran 25 feet and then collapsed. He was rushed to the hospital in a sheriff's car. Accompanying Chief Deputy Edward Brower were Scout Executive Donald E. Kyger, Cecil Van Dyke, 177 College Ave., a former hospital orderly who rendered first aid, and Mrs. Lester Den Uyl, a neighbor of the Visser's. Exact cause of the boy's death has not been fully determined since his body, according to the physician and undertaker, shows no bruises aside from a slight bruise on the knee. Hospital authorities listed internal injuries on the child's records.

Cemetery Supt. Howard E. Reussing said two Boy Scouts had told him they had ordered the youngster down twice before the accident. The monument likely has been on the cemetery since before the turn of the century since it is made of Waverly sandstone which was not produced here after 1900. One date on the monument was 1897. The monument, consisting of four or five different pieces, measured 74 feet not counting the top ornament.

Arvin, pupil of the 2-2 class of Christian school, had gone to the cemetery with his two sisters and Arvin Ronald Visser, the Den Uyl children, neighbors who were accompanied by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Den Uyl.

The three brothers in the service are Marine Pfc. Henry Visser, 19, now on Okinawa, who has spent 13 of his 19 months in service overseas; and the 18-year-old twins, Seaman 2 C. Delmar Harvey, who left the country four weeks ago for overseas service, and Harvey Delmar of the merchant marine on the Great Lakes who joined the service two months ago.

Other survivors in addition to the parents are three sisters, Elaine Roth, Albert Joyce and Betty Joan; and two grandmothers, Mrs. A. Visser, of Forest Grove and Mrs. H. Zoet of Beaverdam.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. from the home, private, and at 2 p.m. from Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed church with Dr. R. J. Danhof of Grand Rapids officiating. Members of Arvin's Sunday school class, taught by Mrs. E. Bareman, are asked to meet at the church at 1:45 p.m. to attend the service in a body.

The body will remain at the Langeland Funeral home until tonight. Friends may call at the Visser home Friday afternoon and evening. Burial will be in Pilgrim Home cemetery.

Record Shipment Of Chicks From Local Hatcheries

Zeeland chick hatcheries set a new record Monday, May 21, when they shipped out 350,000 baby chicks.

In Holland, where hatcheries of the area ship about half the amount sent from Zeeland's hatcheries, a record 80,000-chick shipment was sent through Holland post office in a day last week. Previous high at Holland post office was 70,000. Railway Express here shipped 100,000 last week, but this was no record. 150,000 having been sent in a record day in 1943 and 1944.

The Zeeland total snapped a record of 300,000 set in 1943 and was further evidence of the ever-growing chick business in Zeeland and surrounding territory. Zeeland post office handled 200,000 of the total, the railroad express about 100,000 and hatchery trucks about 50,000.

In 1943, chicks shipped from Zeeland totaled 11 million, the record for any year. It was believed that record would stand for several years and even prominent chick men predicted at the start of this year that 1945 would not be as big as 1943. But it now is approaching the 11-million mark and it is expected that a new record will be established this year. Chick shipments start as early as February but are highest in April, May and June.

The chicks are shipped in strong cardboard boxes which contain between 50 and 100 chicks which means on the big day, when the Zeeland post office shipped 200,000 chicks, they handled over 2,500 boxes.

Both the Holland and Zeeland post office handle the big chick rush with their regular help but the Zeeland office puts in considerable overtime working Saturday afternoons and nine or 10 hours per day.

The Michigan Cooperative Crop Reporting service announced this week that the largest production of chicks in one month—9,500,000—was recorded by Michigan commercial hatcheries in April. Zeeland probably accounted for close to 2 million of this total.

Biggest day of chick shipment from the Zeeland and Holland post offices is Monday. The Zeeland office handling in the neighborhood of 100,000 on that day and the Holland office about 50,000. They both go strong on Tuesday, too, but then it tapers off more in Holland than in Zeeland where there is a more steady flow due to the fact that 25 hatcheries are shipping on all days of the week. Daily shipments vary considerably.

Cornelius Karsten, secretary of the Holland-Zeeland Chick association, said there are sections of this country that produce more chicks than in Zeeland but there is no place in the United States where as many chicks are produced in such small areas as Zeeland. There are 25 hatcheries in the immediate vicinity of Zeeland and 40 hatcheries within a 10-mile radius.

Karsten predicted that there would be a shortage of eggs for food next fall because the demand was not as great for White Leghorns, which is considered one of the best egg-producing hens.

Dawne M. Wyngarden, now deceased, started the chick business in Zeeland. It was somewhat forced on him.

He sent for a lamp incubator in 1906 and when the company, from which he ordered, took considerable time in filling the order, he sent a letter canceling the request and ordered from another company. However, both incubators were sent and he kept them.

Thus he raised more chicks than he had planned to and due to the demand for more chicks he soon ordered more incubators and even this increased production failed to meet the demand. He then sold some of his incubators to others and had them raise chicks which he bought and sold.

In 1917 Wyngarden purchased a new type hot water incubator capable of hatching thousands of baby chicks. This increased his production and with it his business grew. Soon others, because of Wyngarden's success, went into business for themselves. And from that Zeeland has developed into a prominent chick center and it's still growing.

Zeeland hatcheries were first to ship chicks by plane. When air service was first begun out of Grand Rapids, chicks were shipped from this point to Milwaukee, Wis.

Prior to the war Zeeland hatcheries exported pullets and other matured stock to Ireland and Argentina. Several orders of breeding stock were also shipped to the Philippines.

About 11 years ago George Cabell, owner of Cabell's Superior Poultry farm, sold 18 matured birds to King Alfonso of Spain. The deal was completed at the World's Poultry congress held in London, England.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Postwar Conditions

Arthur Raab of Lansing talked to Holland Rotarians Thursday noon at their luncheon in the Warm Friend tavern about industrial relations in the postwar period. He stated that many people will be finding their own employment and instead of 60 million jobs, his totals, taken from various records, show that there will be approximately 42 million employables.

Holland, Allegan Men Killed in Philippines

Two more soldiers of Okinawa and Allegan counties today were added to the list of war dead. They are:

S/Sgt. Chester H. Arnold, Charles Brinklaw, of Allegan. Besides the sister and parents, he is survived by three brothers and two sisters.

Sgt. Brinklaw entered the army Jan. 6, 1943 and went overseas in February, 1944. He was a member of the 112th cavalry division. Before entering the army, he was employed by Blood Brothers in Allegan.

Two Persons Treated In Holiday Accidents

Two persons were treated in Holland hospital on Memorial day as the result of separate accidents.

Henry B. Van Kampen, 33, route 4, was treated for body bruises and a fractured left collarbone at 12:15 p.m. after he fell from the motorcycle he was riding at the corner of Lakewood Blvd. and US-31.

Young George Miles, 31-year-old son of Mrs. Evelyn Miles, route 4, was treated for a three-inch laceration on the left side of his scalp after he was struck by a merry-go-round at Kollen park about 5 p.m. Both were released.

Padnos Says Germans Well Fed

Although the prisoners of war captured by the Germans—British, Americans, French, Dutch, Poles, Russians, Serbs, Danes and Italians—suffered, died and became ill due to lack of food, the German populace apparently was well fed, according to a letter received here by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Padnos, 188 East Eighth St., from their son, Pfc. Stuart B. Padnos, who was captured Dec. 15 in the great German counter-attack.

In a nine-page letter written May 4 on a German portable typewriter from what was once a luxurious German officers barracks, Pfc. Padnos described in detail his experiences from the time he was captured until his liberation by the Russians April 23.

He said upon being liberated that he and some other Americans went outside the wires of the prison camp to find food.

"We soon discovered that the Germans were not living as poorly as our propaganda would have us believe," he said as food they found began to pour in on carts—"bags of sugar, flour, fresh meat, preserves of all sorts, sweets, pudding-powders and a million other food items that we had not had for many months."

Padnos lost 50 pounds during his four months as a German POW. He said it was a terrible feeling to be surrounded by the enemy that Dec. 15. "They were in a mad rush to get our cigarettes and 'D' bars. They also took my glasses and broke them so that for the last few months I have been without glasses."

However, he said the Nazis treated his trench-foot in a hospital and "I must say I received the very best of care."

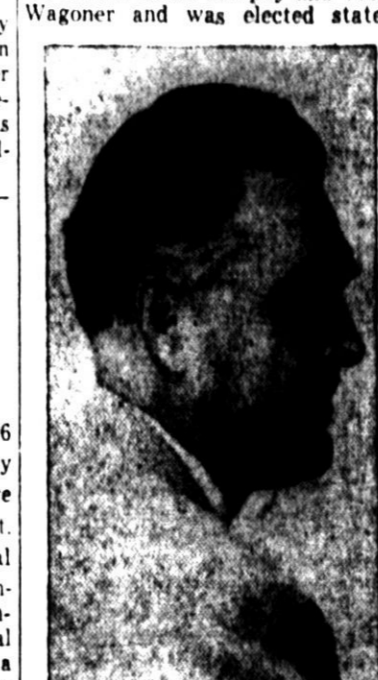

He was shipped from camp to camp during his stay in Germany and the food varied a great deal. In one place, he said, the food was excellent, and in another it was so bad—stale bread and four turn-

Brooks Elected Chairman of Tulip Time Program

The appointment of Ernest C. Brooks, former Holland mayor and state senator, as Tulip Time chairman was approved by the board of directors of the Holland Chamber of Commerce at its monthly meeting Monday night.

The appointment had previously been announced by C. of C. President Alfred C. Joldersma at a meeting of the Dutch Blub Growers association and the Tulip show committee last Thursday in the Warm Friend tavern. Public announcement was withheld pending the board's formal approval.

Brooks, former chairman of the Democratic state central committee, has a long record of public service, both in Holland city and throughout the state. He served as mayor here from 1928 to 1932 and as state senator from 1936 to 1938, returning to the senate in 1940. He held many positions under former Govs. Murphy and Van Wagoner and was elected state

Ernest C. Brooks, central chairman in 1943. He resigned this position less than a year after he was defeated in the primary election as candidate for governor.

As Tulip Time chairman, Brooks will plan towards a possible revival of the festival in all its phases next year, the time and other conditions permitting.

He succeeds Marvin C. Lindeman who has served as chairman since the suspension of the festival in 1942.

Brooks' first appointment for the 1946 activities is Mrs. J. W. Hoback as chairman of the Tulip show, succeeding Mrs. L. G. Stallkamp. She will appoint her own committee.

Based on experience gained this year, members discussed plans for next year's flower show and were unanimous in the opinion that the success of future shows depends on local exhibitors growing their own tulips for their arrangements and exhibits. An active program for this purpose will be inaugurated.

Announcement was made that $71.12 was contributed by Tulip show visitors to the wishing well, and a check for that amount is being forwarded to Percy Jones hospital for the flower fund.

Harry Nelis is president of the Dutch Bulb Growers association which to a large degree directs the financial end of festivals. (See: Memorial Day—Page 1.)

The state park, located seven miles west of Holland in the midst of towering sand dunes, comprises 43 acres, according to a travel bureau publication on Michigan state parks. It has an excellent beach of a quarter mile on Lake Michigan as well as frontage on Lake Macatawa. Perch fishing is a great attraction and bath house and other accommodations are among the best in the state.

Grand Haven State park located about 20 miles north, also in Ottawa county, with an area of 44 acres, offers the same attractions at Ottawa beach and has attracted the largest crowds of any state park for many years.

Jones Family Hit Anew As Son Dies on Okinawa

Mrs. F. Harley Jones, now residing in Douglas, who lost her husband and 15-year-old son, Billy, in December, 1943, when the fishing tug Gotham foundered near the Saugatuck breakwater with the loss of five men, received word at 5:30 p.m. on Memorial day that her eldest son, Pfc. Harold Leon, 21, of the 6th marine division, had been killed on Okinawa. No date was listed in the wire but his last letter dated May 7 was received by his mother May 15.

Pfc. Jones had been unable to come home on furlough since his enlistment with the marines Sept. 7, 1942. With his last letter he sent home a can opener which had served him faithfully in opening ration cans all through the campaigns in the southwest Pacific. He had expected to come home this summer.

He trained at San Diego, Cal., and then joined the marine raiders at Camp Pendleton, Cal., going overseas in February, 1943, to the New Hebrides. He engaged in his first battle with the raiders on Marine harbor on New Georgia and then joined in the assault on Emira Island. From there he went to Saipan, and then to Guam. After the Guam campaign, he was sent to a rest camp and landed on Okinawa on Easter Sunday.

A brother, Marine Pfc. Hugh, is now on Midway, and another brother, Seaman 1/C Harmon, is a seabee on the Philippines. Hugh who entered the navy just a month before his father and brother were drowned came home at the time of the tragedy. Harmon is now home on leave the following February. It was then that his mother who had collapsed shortly after Hugh entered service was able to leave her bed. There are three other

Pfc. Harold Leon Jones, children in the family, Joy Ruth, Larry Paul and Beverly Lett.

Harold was born Aug. 4, 1923, at Villa Grove, Ill., and came to this section when he was 12 years old. He attended Douglas school, and Saugatuck High school. He was well known as a musician, singing in the Douglas church choir and as an accordionist. He had written a song, "I Met You in a Dream Last Night" more than two years ago and planned to take steps for its publication when he was to come home this summer.

His father enlisted with the marines at the age of 17 just one month before World War I ended. His body was recovered from Lake Michigan March 27, and Billy's body was recovered July 11, 1944 from the tug.

Asks Lasting Gratitude As Memorial to Heroes

"The highest honor we can bestow upon our heroes is the lasting gratitude of a united and peace loving nation, a national reverence for our flag and for all it implies, and sincere efforts for a living Americanism." Prof. Egbert Winter of Holland told about 2,000 local residents who gathered in Pilgrim Home cemetery Wednesday at annual Memorial day services.

Speaking on "The Challenge of Memorial Day," Prof. Winter said America values its freedoms more highly because of the price paid in sacrifice and blood.

"We, as Americans, are rightly proud of the rich resources of our God given land. We are proud of our freedoms, our opportunities, and the honors place we hold among the nations of the world. But all these achievements which we prize so highly have been attained by sacrifices in meeting the challenge of the times. Read the pages of our history and you will learn that our splendid heritage has been achieved at a tremendous price."

"Out of the sacrifices of all four of our wars in the past 84 years has come something of betterment in our national life. Out of our Civil war has come a union cemented more firmly together. The Spanish war brought an end to tyranny in our western world and accomplished in reality what the Only living monuments endure, and the most enduring monument we can erect is a living Americanism. We must keep alive in our hearts the foundation stones of our national life, liberty, justice, equality, religion, humanity and peace, for which they gave their all."

"The American Legion had led the procession to Monument square where Alfred C. Joldersma presided at the program. Miss Luella Pyle of Hope college read Gov. Kelly's proclamation and Jay Weener of Holland High school read Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Rev. C. A. Stoppels gave the invocation. Flower girls who placed wreaths at the monument were Patty Overway, Ann Appleford, Myrna Joy Cook and Betty Jean Israel. Joldersma read the roll call of comrades who died during the past year and the entire list of 88 who died in the present war. World war veterans fired a military salute and Robert Burton and Roland Van Dyck played tape."

Infantry Show Coming To Holland on June 14

Residents of the Holland area will witness the operation of the U. S. infantry in a special bond feature on June 14 in Riverview park when "Here's Your Infantry" will appear in the city. The infantry show is brought to Holland by the bond committee for the 7th war bond drive.

A platoon of overseas veterans will stage an attack on a Jap pill box and destroy it.

A group of 39 veterans will visit Holland representing all the theaters of war in which the army has been engaged. Each has won citations or medals.

Besides the battle scene, the show will also bring equipment and

Capt. Koskamp Killed in Raid by Allied Planes

Capt. Rowland A. Koskamp, 29, U. S. army chaplain who was listed as a prisoner of the Germans late in March after being reported missing since Dec. 20 in Luxembourg, was killed in action in Germany April 5, according to a war department telegram received Thursday night by his wife, the former Florence Vandenberg, 331 Columbia Ave. Latest word received by Mrs. Koskamp from her husband was a letter written the middle of February from a prison camp in Germany.

Capt. Koskamp was killed by Allied planes which accidentally bombed a large group of officer prisoners in enemy territory.

Details of the tragedy were learned in a telephone call Friday to Rev. Eugene Osterhaven of Raritan, N. J., who is supplying the Third Reformed church from which Capt. Koskamp had leave of absence.

According to information given Rev. Osterhaven by a Sommerville, N. J. newspaper reporter, Capt. Koskamp was released with 1,500 other officers from the prison camp by an American armored division which had broken through German lines March 27. On the journey back to the American lines, the convoy ran out of gasoline. In a decision agreed upon by the officers, 200 were delegated to stay with the equipment, 100 sought to reach the Rhine, and 1,200 attempted to return to the prison camp.

Capt. Koskamp was with the latter group and was one of 30 killed when Allied planes mistook the men for Germans. News of the incident was brought back by survivors of those who stayed with the equipment. They were about 100 miles from Nuremberg and approximately 60 miles from Allied lines, according to reports.

Capt. Koskamp was the holder of the Bronze Star award for meritorious service in France, Belgium, Luxembourg and Germany. He was promoted to the rank of captain more than a year ago while overseas with a medical unit, a first battalion aid station with the 28th division. He was the youngest chaplain of his class at Harvard following his enlistment in April, 1943.

The chaplain came to Holland from Oostburg, Wis., and was graduated from Hope college and Western Theological seminary. Besides the widow, he is survived by a small daughter, Karen Jane, his father, Dennis Koskamp of Oostburg, and four sisters.

Holland Christian Drops 8-2 Game To Grand Haven

Grand Haven's high school baseball team exerted themselves very little Thursday afternoon to take an 8-2 victory over Holland Christian in a game played in Grand Haven. Six errors by the Maroons gave the Bucs an easy time of it and they only had to get five hits to give them 8 runs.

Lefty Mahder was on the hill for the Havenites and he set the Maroons down with three hits but the Maroons bunched them to score two runs in the fifth. Successive singles by Bud Boeve, Kearney Zoerhof and Jim Lampen scored the two Maroon runs.

Grand Haven garnered a run in the opening frame on two singles with a couple of stolen bases. They added two more in the third without getting a hit while the Maroons made four misplays. They got another in the fourth on a walk, a fielder's choice and a double. They added a fifth run in the fifth the same way as in the fourth and then topped it off with three runs in the sixth on a hit, two errors and a walk.

Holland's Industries Do Their Share In Long Campaign to Defeat Nazis

While not forgetting that there is yet a war to be won in the Pacific, local industries today looked back over more than three years of war production with the feeling that Holland has done its share in the long drive which defeated the Axis in Europe.

A survey, carried on by the Chamber of Commerce and The Sentinel, today revealed that Holland, while holding her share of prime war contracts, is best known for the sub-contracts held here. The products produced are widely varied ranging from landing barges to metal products, leather shoes, machinery, clothing, castings and marine ware.

Holland has had the major share of $39,428,000 in prime war contracts in Ottawa county from Pearl Harbor to Jan. 1, according to the latest figures available from the war production board in Detroit. This amount included $37,907,000 in war supply contracts for ordnance, ships, aircraft and other materials and $1,521,000 in facility contracts covering industrial and military construction. Sub-contracts are not included in the figures.

Allegan county had a cumulative total of $379,000 in prime war supply and facility contracts, broken down into $187,000 in supply contracts and $192,000 in facility contracts. Of the $217 billion of federal contracts, the Detroit WPB region, covering three states, has a cumulative total of $23,988,828,000. Ottawa, Kent and Muskegon counties have a cumulative total of $671,606,000, not including sub-contracts.

A later figure, provided today by United Press, revealed that on a cumulative basis by last February, Michigan war production contracts amounted to $22,871,300,000, approximately 10 per cent of the nation's $217,191,987,000 total.

The WPB also has announced that needs for beating the Japs and wounding up military matters in Europe will be considerably less than the past peak production. The war output is scheduled to be cut progressively from 10 to 15 per cent in the next four months, and from 35 to 50 per cent the following nine months, according to United Press.

Virtually all local firms have "big plans" for the post-war period and are looking forward to the period when war will end in the Pacific and to the release of materials by the WPB for manufacture of civilian goods, demands for which are expected to surpass all records.

Three local firms, Chris-Craft Corp., Western Machine Tool Works and Fafnir Bearing Co. have received the Army-Navy E, a high award given jointly by the army and navy for excellence in production. Several white stars, each denoting a similar award, also have been received.

The Holland division of the Chris-Craft Corp., which has manufactured approximately 5,000 LCPV's (landing craft, vehicle, personnel) for the navy since war contracts were first accepted, will perhaps be least affected by V-E day since about 99 per cent of its boats go to the Pacific. Early in March the three divisions of the firm in Holland, Algonac and Cadillac were commended by navy officials for turning out 10,000 boats for the navy. The type turned out locally are 36 feet long. The Holland plant is prepared to return to its prewar product of pleasure craft and cruisers as soon as government restrictions are lifted. The plant employed 350 before the war, 662 at the peak of war production and 430 at present.

Holland-Racine Shoes, Inc., has manufactured approximately 11 million pairs of service shoes since several months prior to Pearl Harbor. About a year ago, the firm launched into manufacture of combat boots, an improved type of footgear for infantrymen, and many shipments went directly overseas. Cost of manufacturing the combat boot is $6 to $6.50. Although government contracts engaged the major portion of employees, the company also manufactured some shoes for civilian wear, and for a time parachute flares and precision instrument cases. Anticipating a great civilian demand for shoes in the postwar period, the company is prepared for greater production than ever before. It employed 318 before the war, 375 at the peak and 339 at present. The plant will not close for reconversion.

Holland Precision Parts Corp., one of Holland's newest and largest factories, has been turning out an average of 500,000 motor bearings each month, 90 per cent of which are released by the government for use in the manufacture of war machines elsewhere. The remainder are used for replacement. The company employed approximately 550 before the war, 575 at the peak and approximately 475 at present and "we could use 200 more," according to the superintendent. The plant will not close for reconversion.

The Holland Furnace Co. which employed 950 persons at the peak of war production in its two plants has shipped out approximately 25 million pounds of armor plate for M-4, M-5 and M-8 tanks approximately 30 million pounds of stud-length anchor chain, or approximately 1 million feet. The latter, contracted by the maritime commission and the navy, was used for Victory ships, Liberty ships, landing boats and floating power stations. The company which before the war manufactured warm air furnaces and accessories shifted into war production about three years ago starting on armor plate. Two years ago it started anchor chain, manufacturing both a half year and then concentrating on anchor chain. The plant employed 510 before the war and about 450 at present. The main plant in the city will not close for reconversion but plant 5 on the north side is indefinite depending on government relaxation of civilian items and availability of machines and raw materials.

The Holland Hitch Co. as early as 1937 was engaged in developing coupling devices for the army for which it produced thousands of pieces prior to Pearl Harbor. It also was commissioned to do research of related nature for the British government. It has produced a million large pintle hooks for the army in addition to several hundred thousands of "jeep" hooks. None have been known to fail although they are being used on every battlefield by the armies of the United Nations. To date 137 employees have entered the armed forces. Before the war, the firm employing 70 persons manufactured agricultural hitches, truck and trailer equipment. It will continue manufacture of these products in the postwar period beside turning into production for a new corporation known as Feather Ride, Inc., which will handle trailer suspension axles, brakes, fifth wheels and trailer dollies. During the peak the plant employed 350 and employment at present is 350. It will not close for reconversion.

The Hart and Cooley Manufacturing Co. has filled various war contracts for the production of 37 mm and 40 mm coiled cups for steel cartridge cases, 60 mm mortar shells and various small metal stampings for its part in the war effort. Products manufactured before the war were warm air registers, air conditioning grilles and accessories for heating. Management plans to return to this manufacture after the war and will not close for reconversion although it may take four months to attain full production. The plant employed from 450 to 550 before the war, 700 at the peak and 350 at present. It plans to employ about 450 in the postwar period.

The Holland division of Fafnir Bearing Co., a relatively new concern in Holland, manufactures ball bearings for aircraft. It employed 996 at the peak of production and employs 600 at present. It was awarded the Army-Navy E in April, 1944. Future plans of the plant, which is located in the Hart and Cooley building, are uncertain.

The Holland plant of the H. J. Heinz Co., manufacturers of pickle products and vinegar, has turned over a considerable part of their products, particularly pickles of all kinds and relishes, to the armed forces during the past three years. Pickles besides having a certain quality which is said to prevent scurvy are also used by servicemen to whet the appetite. Contracts are let through the quartermaster department and the product is sent directly to army and navy depots. Demand for military uses has been particularly heavy the past few months, officials said. The plant employed about 400 before the war and 650 during the peak season. It employs about 285 at present.

The H. L. Friedlen and Co., located at 13th St. and Van Raalte Ave., has been manufacturing machine knives and field jackets for the army since December, 1941, having turned out more than a half million garments to date. In the postwar period, the company which has been employing about 100 persons consistently expects to return to its prewar products of machine knives and jackets and sportswear of all kinds. No halt in production is contemplated for reconversion.

Doughnut Corporation of America, which took over the former Lakeshore Sugar Co. a few years ago, perhaps should be credited with one of the most remarkable accomplishments of the war, for it was in the Holland laboratories that chemists developed a dextrose sugar from wheat. From 60 to 80 per cent of the dextrose produced locally goes into doughnut mix for the army, navy and Red Cross. The local plant is rated a critically essential food plant by the WFA. The firm employed about 20 men prior to the war and 225 at the peak. At present it has 115 regular fulltime employees on three shifts seven days a week. The plant will not close for reconversion and expects to expand after the war.

Baker Furniture, Inc., has been about 60 per cent war production since war was declared and has manufactured ribs of all sizes for CAA gliders used in landings in Normandy and France. The plant also turned out another aircraft part, a complete stabilizer for Curtiss-Wright reconnaissance planes used for scouting aircraft and taking out wounded. These stabilizers, about 8 or 9 feet long, resemble a small wing near the tail of a plane. In addition the plant manufactured boxes for navy navigational instruments and bow ramps for navy landing craft. Government contracts for specific quantities have been renewed each time after completion. After the war, the plant will return to the manufacture of furniture and will not close for reconversion. It employed 275 before the war, 325 at the peak and 300 at present.

The Charles R. Sligh Co. which manufactured household furniture and desks before the war continued the manufacture of desks for the army together with parts for B-17 and B-29 bombers. It employed from 75 to 100 before the war and employs 58 at present.

Other firms which have diverted most or part of their products to the war effort include Buss Machine Works, manufacturers of wood-working machinery; De Pree Co., manufacturers of pharmaceuticals, vitamins, etc.; Western Foundry Co., light grey iron castings; Bolhuis Lumber and Mfg. Co., wooden and plywood boxes; Holland Ladder and Mfg. Co., ladders for military and essential civilian use; Dutch Novelty Shops, military food boxes and souvenirs; Armour Leather Co., manufacturers of shoe leather; Western Machine Tool Works, manufacturers of machine tools; Clawson and Bals, pickers of bearings.

While not forgetting that there is yet a war to be won in the Pacific, local industries today looked back over more than three years of war production with the feeling that Holland has done its share in the long drive which defeated the Axis in Europe.

A survey, carried on by the Chamber of Commerce and The Sentinel, today revealed that Holland, while holding her share of prime war contracts, is best known for the sub-contracts held here. The products produced are widely varied ranging from landing barges to metal products, leather shoes, machinery, clothing, castings and marine ware.

The Crampton Manufacturing Co., located at 12th St. and Harrison Ave., has been on war contracts since early in 1942 manufacturing parts for army tanks. Since November, the plant has turned out a part for the 4.5 rocket shell at a rate of about 2,500 per day, in addition to continuing production for tank parts. The particular part for the rocket shell, secretive until recently, is the propelling part known as the nozzle plate. The company came to Holland in 1937 and manufactured plumbing hardware and die castings. It will return to this production in the postwar period and does not plan to close for reconversion although it may take 90 days before full production can be attained. The plant employed 50 before the war, 215 at the peak and 200 now.

At a meeting of the Holland Tulip show committee in the Marine room of the Warm Friend tavern Thursday night, the Holland Tulip Garden club was formed with the purpose of perpetuating an interest in Tulip time and promoting local residents to raise more tulip bulbs. Three persons who were picked up early on Saturday on drunk charges were arraigned before Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith and arranged to pay their fines.

Richard Wentzel, 37, route 1, Hamilton, charged with driving while drunk after he allegedly drove his car on the wrong side of River Ave., was assessed fine and costs of $104.15. His operator's license will be revoked and his name will be placed on Holland's liquor black list.

Gerrit Zuverink, 34, and his wife, Martha, 29, 89 West Eighth St. were arrested by police near their home, virtually across from the police station, and were charged with drunk and disorderly conduct. Both were assessed fines and costs of $14.15 and were placed on probation for a year. Their names also will be added to the black list.

WARTIME SCANDALS

The newest graft plot uncovered in connection with war financing has the usual cynics rearing on their hind legs declaring that honesty has become an unknown quantity and that just about everybody is for sale. The new scandal has been revealed in connection with a $500,000,000 loan in gold made by the United States to China to stabilize the shaky financial structure of that ally of ours.
It appears that certain Chinese, with the help of certain Americans, have helped themselves to a considerable slice of that money.
Taken in conjunction with the graft uncovered in France a few months ago, this latest development does not look very pretty.

But it is always well to preserve perspective. The grafters are always so small in number that on a statistical basis they almost disappear. In wartime as well as in peace a million are reasonably honest for ten who are grafters and who take advantage of wartime conditions to line their own pockets.

If it is unreasonable to charge that whole services are rotten because of the delinquencies of a few, it is still more unreasonable to suggest, as is being done, that the people of today are less honest than were our fathers in the past.
We glorify and romanticize the people of the Civil War and of the American Revolution. The average citizen assumes that all the soldiers who served in Lincoln's armies and all those who served under Washington were men of unspotted virtue. Moreover that the civilians of those days were men of unquestioned integrity who would rather be right than rich.

All you need to do is read the details of history to shoot such pretty theories full of holes. Many an American in the time of the Revolution lined his own pocket at the expense of the soldiers who fought for him. During the Civil War mammoth scandals in the sale of spoiled beef and unfit material for clothing for the soldiers were uncovered. In both civil and military life there were quite as many scandals in those wars and in all our wars, as there have been in today's war. War merely provides opportunities that crooks take advantage of. We are no worse than our fathers and grandfathers.

The American people have forgotten the scandals of those older days, and properly so. In the perspective of time they show up as mere tiny spots not worth paying much attention to. The vast masses of the people of those days, both in civil life and in the ranks of the military, were honest. History will certainly show that that is true of today as well.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Church attendance is a vital factor in the Nation's crime prevention program. The Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation during the past twenty years said, "I have been profoundly impressed with the fact that the "church-going people" are the most substantial group of citizens in the nation. Church attendance and crime appear to be like the ingredients of oil and water—they do not mix."

The conclusion is that to be a good citizen one ought to be a "Church goer."

Why not accept the invitation and go to church next Sunday?

Tigers Defeat Holland, 7-2, In Season's Final

Benton Harbor took a 7-2 decision over the Holland High school baseball team Monday afternoon at Benton Harbor, marking the end of the season for the high school boys.

Holland jumped off to a two-run lead in the first inning and held the lead until the fourth when Benton Harbor tied it up. Then in the fifth two errors, two walks and three singles gave the Tigers a 7-2 advantage.

Lou Humbert pitched for HHS and did a creditable job although walks got him into trouble in both the innings. Benton Harbor did their scoring. Ernie Victor relieved him in the fifth.

Bud Davis was on the hill for Benton Harbor and gave up five safeties in gaining revenge for an 8-0 plastering the Dutch gave him in a game in Holland earlier this season.

Victor played centerfield for the high school crew until the fifth and led the Dutch at bat with two hits in three trips to the platter, including a long double against the rightfield screen. Leftfielder Johnson got two for Benton Harbor.

Prins Station Has Complete Service

Prins Service Station is under the management of Bud and Don Prins, sons of Herman Prins who organized the business in 1908. The station is located at 160 East Eighth St. In 1930 a super station was added to the original business giving car owners more complete service on their cars.

Kelley-Springfield tires and accessories are sold at the station in addition to Texaco products. An internal motor cleaner is available at the station which flushes crank cases and cleans rings and cylinder walls of sludge. This cleaner machine should be used at least twice a year, preferably in the spring and fall when changing to heavier and lighter oils, for a smoother running motor. The station also repairs generators, starters, electrical equipment, ignitions, carburetors and fuel pump replacing.

In the years the Prins station has been operating and serving the public, it has acquired many friends and has given continuous satisfactory service to a great many automobile owners.

"Positively no dogs will be tolerated," officers said.

News of Local Men in Action In Pacific Area

Pfc. Gerald W. Dornbos, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dornbos, 359 Pine Ave., S. Sgt. Max Welton, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Welton of Holland and T. Sgt. Edward C. Holleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holleman, route 3, can lay claim to the title of World War II's real veterans after starting their fourth year overseas with Michigan's famed Red Arrow division.

Recently on Pangasinan province on Luzon, the three men all are battle-wise veterans of six campaigns against the Japanese. Their fields of action extend from Australia to the Philippines along the long "road back" through New Guinea and the Netherlands East Indies. They first helped stem the Jap advance on Port Moresby, New Guinea, then took part in the epoch battle at Buna, then at Sidor and at Aitape before going on to Morotai in the East Indies, Leyte and then Luzon. Now they have been fighting among the 5,000 foot peaks of the Caraballo mountains in northern Luzon.

The 32nd division has been in actual combat for more than 500 days, almost half of the total time this nation has been at war. The local men have more than 12,000 hours of combat to their credit.

Corp. D. Slotman, 22, route 3, is a radio operator with the 672nd amphibious tractor battalion which transported two regimental combat teams of the 37th infantry division through the surf of Langayan gulf in the Philippines. Infantrymen, veterans of Guadalcanal, New Georgia and Bougainville, said it was their first dry landing. In a later dash to Manila, the 672nd ferried infantry, artillery, supplies and equipment across ten rivers, shutting casualties to waiting ambulances.

Don F. Olthoff of Holland was recently promoted to sergeant while serving with the 3rd attack group, veteran A-20 outfit of the fifth air force in the Philippine Islands. He entered the army in August, 1942, and studied airplane mechanics at Sheppard field, Tex. then went to the Martin bomber plant in Maryland for advanced studies. He left the States in May, 1943, and after 22 months overseas became a crew chief. His parents reside at 111 East 20th St.

Lambert Lubbers whose wife, Elaine, resides at 143 West 13th St., has been promoted from technician fifth grade to technician fourth grade while serving with a signal corps unit with the 6th army on Luzon. He is a telephone installer of the 16th signal operations battalion which has been awarded the meritorious service unit plaque. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lubbers, reside at 45 East 18th St.

S. Sgt. Andrew V. Busse, son of Mrs. Clara Busse, route 6, is receiving America's oldest award, the Purple Heart, for wounds received near Rosario, Luzon, while fighting with the 130th infantry, member of the 33rd division, driving on Baguio, the pre-war summer capital of the Philippines.

Fireman 2 C Oscar M. Johnson, whose wife, Mildred J. Johnson, lives on route 1, Spring Lake, is aboard a new cruiser somewhere in the Pacific which went into battle for the first time March 18 against the Japanese.

Storekeeper 3 C Robert S. Hall, route 3, is one of the navy men assigned to the naval supply depot at Pearl Harbor which funnels supplies to the vast Pacific fleet. All problems of logistics are handled by the depot which is an important Pacific link in the chain of supply for the navy. Before enlisting with the fleet, he was a student at Hope college and a student at Michigan college in Kalamazoo.

Machinist's Mate 3 C Roy Donald Klompars, 27, whose wife, Jean, lives at 167 West 11th St., is a crew member of a sturdy oiler which brought vitally needed fuel into two Jima and Okinawa and chugged up its 100,000 mile of two-ocean operation in 16 months. In addition to two and Okinawa, the ship transported fuel and lubricating oil, aviation gasoline, ammunition and even belly tanks for navy fighter planes into the water of Leyte gulf, Surigao straits and the China sea. Before going to the Pacific, she supplied ships in the Normandy invasion.

Baker 3 C James Rozeboom, 288 West 12th St., is a crew member on a modern hospital ship which in six months of active duty established a remarkable record of only 14 deaths out of more than 5,000 cases taken aboard. Last September, the ship arrived in Leyte gulf and in two hours and 45 minutes placed nearly 500 patients aboard.

T. Sgt. Frederick J. Bakker, route 2, an ordnance section chief with the "Burma Bridge Busters" with the 10th air force in Burma, in addition to a 13-month-old daughter Jo Ann, whom he has never seen, has another daughter, Patricia Gale, 21 years old. The latter's name was omitted in a recent story.

Second Lt. Robert B. Wolbrink of Ganges, B-25 pilot of a medium bombardment squadron, has arrived at 11th AAF headquarters in the Aleutians. The squadron to which he has been assigned has distinguished itself many times in sea searches and patrol missions of the North Pacific. Wolbrink attended Holy Cross university before entering the service.

Holland Officer Dies of Wounds in Pacific Area

Mr. and Mrs. John Van Dyke, 84 West 19th St., who were notified May 20 that their son, Ensign Gerald William Van Dyke, 26, was seriously wounded in the Pacific area, received a message from the navy department on Tuesday that he had died of the wounds. No dates were listed. His last letter was dated May 3.

Ensign Van Dyke, communications officer aboard a carrier, went overseas the latter part of January. Last June 30 he married the former Isla Meppell of Holland, a teacher in Lincoln school, and the following day he received his commission as ensign. He reported the middle of July for his indoctrination at Plattsburg, N.Y., and later went to Harvard university. Completing his study there the latter part of December, he was home here on leave the first part of January.

Born in Holland Feb. 12, 1919, he attended Holland schools and was graduated from Hope college in 1941. He was awarded a scholarship in chemistry at Syracuse university which he attended for two years and received his master's degree. Before entering service he was employed by the Dow Chemical Co. for a year, working in plastics. He was a member of Trinity Reformed church.

Surviving besides the wife and parents are a sister, Esther, also a teacher at Lincoln school, and a brother, Elmer, a teacher in Covert school near South Haven.

Van Raalte School Wins Safety Cup

Jack Houtman, captain of Van Raalte school safety patrol, is the proud winner of a $25 war bond because he and his group of safety workers won outstanding recognition in safety work during the year.

Kemper removed his parachute and, clinging to the bomb rack with one hand, skillfully released the bomb, making it possible for his aircraft to return safely to base."

Prior to his entry into the service in March, 1943, Lt. Kemper was a student at Hope college, Holland.

Lt. Kemper has completed 19 missions and in his last letter, dated May 13, to his parents, he informed them that he has been trying out the new Douglas A-26, the fastest American attack bomber. It can be flown with crews of two or three, and gain altitude on one of its twin engines. Because of the excellent performance and economy in number of crew the army is planning gradually to replace many B-25 and B-26 medium bombers and the A-20 attack bomber with the A-26, known as the "Invader."

Below 5,000 feet the A-26 will run away from most fighters, thanks to the power of its two 2,000-horsepower Pratt and Whitney double Wasp engines. It can make bombing runs at more than 300 miles an hour and land at 420 miles an hour. Low-flying attacks are made possible by small parachutes which retard the descent of bombs.

Kemper was one of a group which was especially picked to try out the new plane.

Since the end of the war in Germany he and other fliers have made flights to various parts of Germany to see at their leisure the results of their raids on the reich.

Horse Is Killed When Hit by Car

A 1,400-pound draft horse owned by Chris Hoogendorn, route 3, was killed instantly about 1:45 a.m. Sunday when it was struck by a car on M-21 within a quarter mile of the Hoogendorn home.

Driver of the car was Harry Conley, 26, Grand Junction, who was traveling east on M-21. He was accompanied by Miss Blanche Nevins of Allegan.

Conley told sheriff's officers that he did not see the dark brown horse until he was within two or three feet from it. The force of impact, officers believed, threw the horse completely off the road and also resulted in considerable damage to the front and right of the Conley car. The car continued approximately 400 feet before it was brought under control and later in the day was hauled away by a wrecker.

Officers said Hoogendorn's horse and one owned by John Van Dam were kept in a well fenced area near the accident scene. Both horses were loose, but how they got out could not be determined since there were no breaks in the fence. Hoogendorn estimated value of the horse at $100.

Ex-Manager of Holland Telephone Co. Retires

W. B. Kellogg, who was manager of the Bell Telephone Co. in Holland from 1879 to 1907, has retired after 50 years of telephone service of which the past 38 have been in Houston, Tex.

Kellogg, 65, was born in Grand Rapids and attended school in Holland. While attending school he slept at what was then called the Citizens Telephone Co. and served as night operator. Citizens was located above what now is the Penny store on the corner of River Ave. and Eighth St.

When he started out in 1885 as a night operator he received $4 a month. In the system then used a bell would ring and wake him when someone wanted to place a call. He worked from 6 p.m. until 8 a.m. six days a week and every other Sunday. He attended high school during the day.

At that time Holland had two telephone systems.

After graduation, he became manager of Bell Telephone which was smaller than Citizens and was located above what now is Bruggers Furniture store. At that time Bell had about 300 phones in Holland and Manager Kellogg had three girls working for him. The company occupied three rooms.

The manager had to be a general handyman and did everything from fix telephones to collect bills. It was often his duty to climb telephone poles in the dead of winter and untangle the telephone lines. Bell grew and in 1923 was able to buy out its competitor. Now the telephone company in Holland employs about 53 and the city has in the neighborhood of 6,800 phones.

When Kellogg went to Houston in 1907 there were about 100 employees in the southwestern division of the telephone traffic department. There are now about 2,600 in that same division over which he presides. The division serves about 111,000 people in greater Houston.

Recently he was visited in Houston by William Brusse, now 89, who was mayor of Holland when Kellogg was the night operator here. Brusse was visiting his son, Lester Brusse, of Houston.

Kellogg has three children: W. B. Kellogg Jr., Houston architect who built the army camp at Salinas, Kan., was disqualified physically from accepting the rank of major in the army. Edward Kellogg of Flint, discharged from the army at the age of 41 and a daughter, Mrs. Maria E. Park, who makes her home with Kellogg in Houston.

Kellogg was honored at a banquet in Houston recently at which time several prominent Houston citizens and Bell executives spoke in his honor. He was presented with a chest of silver.

Mrs. and Mr. Kellogg plan to build a rambling ranch house at Hutto, Tex., on the Guadalupe and spend their "honeymoon" there.

Dutchmen Out-Hit Battle Creek, but Are Beaten, 2-0

Suffering their first shut-out before home fans in several seasons, the Holland Flying Dutchmen dropped a 2-0 holiday opening game to Battle Creek Wednesday night in Riverview park although out-hitting the Clark outfit, 8-4.

The local boys couldn't have picked a worse time to go on a runs-batted-in strike because Ernie Victor, promising rookie left-hander, was pitching his heart out to make an impressive showing before more than 700 local fans in his debut with the Flying Dutchmen.

The fans filled every available seat in the stands and the late-comers were forced to stand or sit in the grass out beyond the third-base line stands.

Victor was charged with the loss but couldn't have turned in a better performance, limiting the hard-hitting Clark boys to only four safeties and fanning nine in going the entire nine innings.

Lefty "Chuck" Halsey was on the hill for Battle Creek and was tough with men on bases but he had some help due to some faulty base-running by the locals as two were caught at Third base Mike Van Oort by overrunning the base and Wayne De Neff on a steal.

Halsey scattered the Dutchmen's eight hits into six innings and did not pitch to more than four men an inning until the ninth when he faced five. He fanned eight men and did not issue a walk.

It marked the end of a three-game win streak Holland held over Battle Creek and it was Holland's second straight shut-out. They were blanked by Jess Elart, a colored crew in the 1944 final in Grand Rapids.

Lloyd Driscoll and Rookie Shortstop Al Van Meeteren each got two hits for the best hitting of the day. None of the B. C. team got more than one safety.

Manager Benny Batema said that the locals would have a real today and then on Friday night and throughout next week have plenty of hitting drills. Their next game is Thursday, June 7, but after that it will probably be two games a week.
