Red Cross Plans Limited Swimming Program in 1950

A limited summer swimming program will be carried on this year by the Ottawa county Red Cross chapter, officials decided today.

The swimming program is reduced on somewhat the same basis as other services of the chapter, after the county failed to meet its fund campaign goal this spring. The county budget has been reduced accordingly.

Swimming instructors this year will be Robert A. Mella who has been associated with the local program the past three years and Caryl Curtis, who joined the staff for the first time last year.

Classes will be held at Port Sheldon starting June 26. There will be two four-week sessions. Because of transportation difficulties, some students will be able to attend classes only twice a week and thus cannot secure a certificate in one session.

The program lists classes for beginners, intermediates, swimmers, and junior and senior life savers. Minimum age for beginners is eight years, with preference for older children who have not yet learned to swim.

Arrangements have been made to charter a bus for students attending classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays, the charge amounting to $2.50 per pupil. Last year, the Red Cross chapter underwrote part of the cost, but lack of funds this year put the responsibility on the student. Transportation tickets may be obtained from Red Cross headquarters after June 5. Since tickets are limited to 60 for each session, those who purchase tickets early will be assured of transportation.

Application forms, which must be signed by a parent of each student, may be obtained from Red Cross headquarters. All applications should be returned by June 17 so that students may be assigned and all schedules completed before the program begins on June 26.

Accident Occurs South of Holland; Auto Demolished

National Death Toll
Mounts as Motorists
Clog All Highways

One man was fatally injured and three others were seriously hurt in a head-on car-truck crash 8:45 a.m. Saturday on US-31 about five miles south of Holland just west of the big curve.

Manus Pitts, of 1931 North Lynn, Mishawaka, Ind., died shortly before 11 a.m. in Holland hospital. He was riding with two other men in a '37 model car which crashed into the big empty semi.

Pitts 20, was owner of the car. Also in the car was Jonathan Williams, 20, of 1405 Van Buren, South Bend.

Driver of the truck was Arthur B. Craft, 415 East Main, Benton Harbor. He received head injuries and remained in the cab. The three occupants of the car were all thrown from the car by the impact.

James Keeling, 27, Benton Harbor, riding in the truck, escaped with a few scratches. In a state of shock, he could not recall the name of the truck driver, but said he had driven with him to Grand Rapids early today to deliver a load of steel. They were returning to Benton Harbor, and the truck driver was slated to go on to Gary, Ind.

Clayton Forry, Ottawa county chief deputy, was the first officer on the scene, and assisted Fillmore Deputy Earle Tellman who arrived soon afterward. The injured were taken to Holland hospital in three local ambulances.

Keeling told officers that the oncoming '37 model occupied by the three men crossed the centerline and crashed almost head-on with the empty truck. Impact backed the car 60 feet and sent the truck 89 feet into a drainage ditch on the left. The car was demolished and the truck was badly damaged. Pieces of the car covered a wide area.

Officers listed Dale Gumsier, route 4, and Tommy Aye, 355 West 32nd St., as witnesses, along with Keeling. Gumsier and Aye were traveling behind the truck.

State Criticizes Minnow Dumping

Lansing —Anglers dumping unused minnows into lakes are sabotaging conservation department efforts to better fishing conditions, fish division chief Fred A. Westerman declared today.

Dumping minnows in lakes and streams is also against the law, Westerman added.

"The reason for our concern is that fishermen dumping unused minnows are in effect putting fish which we have spent years trying to get rid of in lake," he explained.

"Each year we find certain lakes containing minnows of species we have poisoned out in the past," he declared. "Such practices on the parts of anglers are impeding our efforts to better fishing conditions."

56,500 Visitors Jam State Park During Week-End

Heart Attack Is Fatal For John Van Tongeren

John Van Tongeren, 77, of 663 Lugers Road, died Sunday night at Holland hospital. He was admitted to the hospital May 19 following a heart attack.

Surviving are the wife, Margaret; four sons, John of Conrad, Mont., William of Grand Rapids, Henry of Davisburg and Neal of Detroit; five daughters, Mrs. C. Steketee, Mrs. Henry Ter Haar and Mrs. Howard Armstrong, all of Holland, Mrs. John W. Hertel of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Fred Gebelle of Detroit; 29 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren; also one brother and two sisters in the Netherlands.

It looks like everybody went to the beach during the week-end, but while driving through Holland, they were careful in getting there.

An estimated 56,500 persons jammed Holland State park at Ottawa during the four-day holiday, but just three auto accidents of more than minor importance were reported by city police. Officers from sheriff's departments in both Allegan and Ottawa counties reported mostly minor collisions.

Park director Clare Broad broke down the 56,500 figure this way: Saturday 7,500; Sunday, 12,000; Monday 17,500; Tuesday 19,500.

"And that's a conservative estimate," Broad added.

At one point Tuesday, he said, cars entering the park were clocked at 700 an hour. A total of 5,524 cars entered the park Tuesday, with 4,920 going in Monday.

Camps in the park averaged 20 per night, Broad said. Sunday 23 trailers and four tents were there overnight. So far this year, 64 permits for camps have been issued.

"We didn't have any trouble or arguments out here," Broad said. "Everything went smoothly."

Air temperature Tuesday was 76 degrees, while the water was 60 degrees. Quite a few swimmers tried the surf, Broad said, but most persons were sun bathing. The beach was crowded at any rate, he added.

The three accidents in Holland all happened Tuesday.

The only injury reported was to Joann Van Wingeren 15, of 640 Central Ave. She was treated for knee and head bruises at Holland hospital after the car she was driving hit a tree at 19th St. and Central Ave. Tuesday at 2:45 p.m. She was cited by police for failure to have her car under control and for driving without an operator's license. Her father, John Van Wingeren, was given a ticket for allowing an unlicensed person to drive his car.

Gerrit Klingenberg, 53, of route 2, made a left hand turn at the corner of Lincoln Ave. and Eighth St. Tuesday at 3:30 a.m. in front of a truck driven by Claus A. Walford, 43, of Grand Rapids. Klingenberg's car received $300 damage, while Walford's truck received $100 worth. Klingenberg was given a ticket for failure to yield the right of way.

Calvin W. Swart, 22, of 180 East 11th St., pulled away from the curb on Columbia Ave. near 11th St. Tuesday at 1:35 p.m. and a car driven by Jennie Smith, 54, of Grand Rapids struck the Swart vehicle. Swart was given a ticket for pulling into the lane of traffic.

Allegan Birdwatchers Spy Five Cormorants

Allegan (Special)—Allegan's chapter of "Unorganized Sidewalk Birdwatchers" had the season's first sighting of cormorants last week after someone most conversation-provokingly espied five double-crested cormorants.

They were perched in a white-barked dead tree in the Kalamazoo river at the bend which crosses Higginbotham hill. The corner of Ida and River streets provided a grandstand view of the large birds.

Orland Haugen, manager of the Swan Creek experimental station, identified them as a bird most frequently seen on the east coast, but which does migrate to the Great Lakes section.

The five, he speculates, have paused here en route farther north. They are a sure-fire attraction in a land of robins and wrens, for they perch in an upright spread-eagle fashion.

They are fairly large, probably four or five pounds, and could be around 30 or more inches long. A distant relative of the pelican, the cormorant has the same expansion chin strap of that bird, but the bill is smaller.

They dive for fish in the river, and swim like loons — body deep in the water and the bill tipped sky-ward.

VOLLEYS FROM AMBUSH

Another Tulip Time has come and gone—and what a successful festival it was. Never before did the weatherman co-operate so well by giving so many days of super weather.

As for the tulips—even experienced growers still are marveling how the retarded plants came through with blooms for the festival. Never before did Holland have tulips, Japanese cherry blossoms, magnolia blossoms, flowering shrubs and leaves on the trees all at the same time.

Manager Willard C. Wichers and Chairman C. C. Crawford were highly pleased over the festival and joined in giving all the credit to the hard working people who made the festival a success. "I think we must have had more people working on the festival this year than ever before," Crawford said.

Fuzz Van Faassen, helping to outfit visitors with wooden shoes at the wooden shoe factory, outfitted Gov. Williams' three offspring when the family visited here.

To his next costume, he remarked those were the governor's children.

She was unimpressed. "They live only a block away from me," she said.

Neal Houtman made this observation as the barrel organ passed by in Saturday's parade of bands: "The two fellows on the float working the hardest were named Murphy and Kelly."

The Sentinel has been receiving quite a few bouquets on its 56-page Tulip Time number.

One such note came from one of the boss's friends at the Detroit News enclosing that page on the futuristic layout on "Here's What You Can Expect During the Next 50 Years."

A plaintive note on the margin wondered whether the next 50 years would take care of the dues problem settlement too.

Chris Van Bragt, whose tulip farm on the north side was visited by thousands and thousands of visitors last week, said not one flower was picked by the crowds, nor did he find any evidence that any bulbs were stepped on.

Centennial park, already beautiful with tulip beds, will receive further attention Monday when park department workers will put hundreds of plants in the central fountain. This is usually done just before Memorial day. Tulip Time is just a bit early for some of the varieties which take more kindly to the warm weather.

Memorial day reminds us of Gold Star mothers...and 14 such ladies were honored at a little social event early this week of the Legion auxiliary at Leg-ion Memorial park. A yellow and white theme was carried out in room decorations and on the table arranged by Mrs. L. G. Stalkamp. Mrs. A. Leenhouts, first president of the auxiliary and mother of the first Holland man killed, joined Mrs. Henry Klomparsen, present president in pouring. Each Gold Star Mother was presented with a yellow carnation corsage.

City police were called out to an accident the other day, and after the cars were taken away they cleaned up the sand and broken glass.

"This is the only town where I ever saw policemen do that," an outsider remarked.

With Memorial day rolling around Tuesday, it might be well to brush up on flag etiquette. As cities go, Holland is perhaps better schooled in the propriety than most, and yet there are a lot of men who don't remove their hats when the flags go by.

And so from the best authorities available—the leaders of local patriotic orders—this in what must be done: As colors pass, men remove hats and place over heart; women place right hands over the hearts.

This mark of etiquette is shown only to the "colors," the American flag with the fringe that is at the head of the band or marching unit.

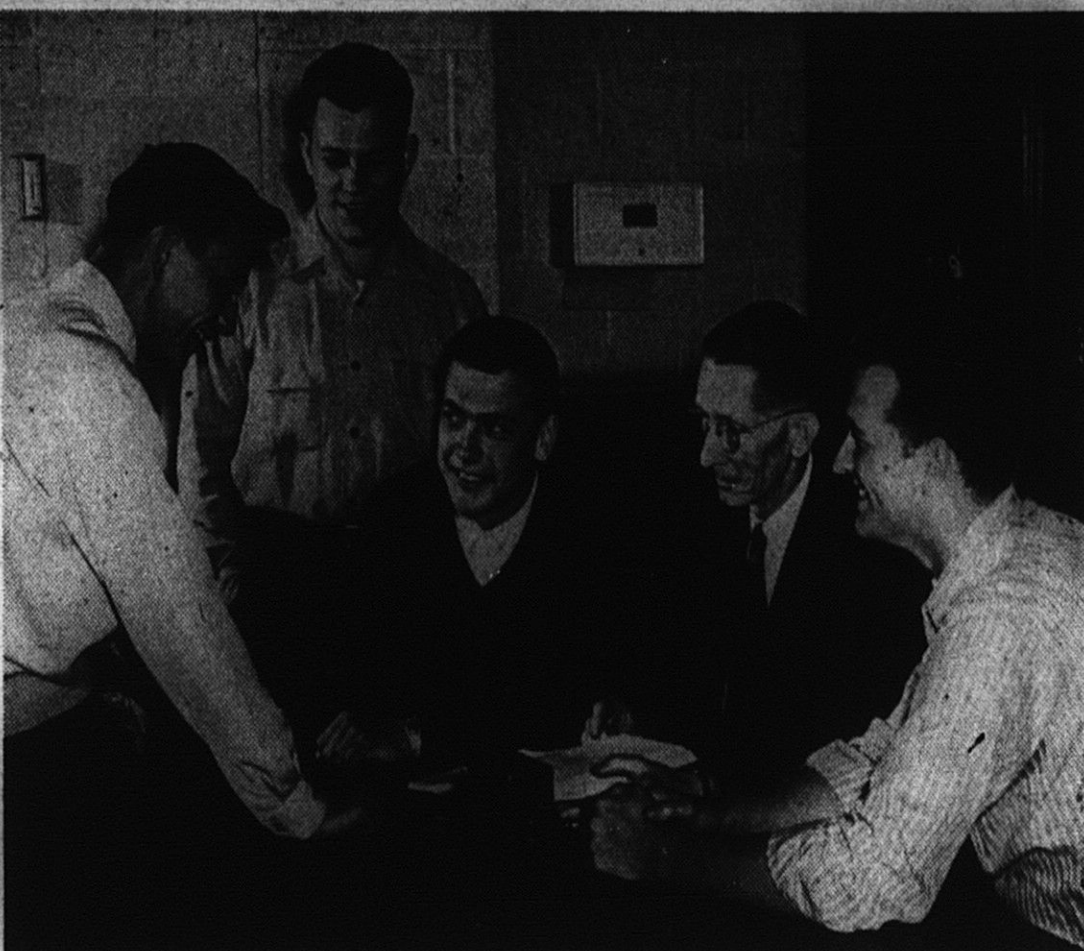

It used to be the Civil war veterans who were dying off one by one...but now it's the boys from the Spanish War who are breaking ranks. John Homfeld of the local post points out that 112 Spanish war veterans died in Michigan during the last three months of 1949.

Vogelzang Hardware Co. received a surprising letter this week. It was from an elderly man living in Michigan who had done business with the local firm many years ago. Enclosed was a $10 bill and an explanation that he had at one time shortchanged Vogelzangs. It was signed only with initials.

Vera Larson's dreams are getting better all the time. An iron lung polio patient since last fall, her condition has improved so rapidly during the last few months that she now can be out of her lung as long as four hours at a time, sometimes for a total of seven or more hours a day.

Her daytime nurse of late has been Anne Norman—who grew up with Vera on the east end when Anne was a Zuverink and Vera a Vanderbeek. Both went in for careers as registered nurses.

Now Vera often dreams Anne is the polio patient and Vera is her nurse.

Bernice, who was stricken with a severe case of polio last August, is receiving treatment at the Kabat-Kaiser foundation and Rev. Brunsting reports that her condition shows progress.

The child spent some time at the Mary Free Bed guild in Grand Rapids. Mrs. Brunsting remained in California to be with the child and her return to Grand Haven depends upon the progress of the treatment.

Rev. Brunsting's mother, Mrs. Luke Brunsting, of Sioux Center, Iowa, during the absence of Mrs. Brunsting, is staying with her son and grandson. Rev. Brunsting will conduct services in the First Reformed church Sunday.

HHS Tennis Team Surprises Western With Upset Win

Holland's net team, with three singles men playing superb tennis, defeated Western State's class B state favorites in matches on the local courts Friday.

The 4-3 victory is sweet revenge for Joe Moran's crew and established them as dangerous adversaries for the Western Staters in the state skirmishes starting Friday at Kalamazoo.

In nothing the win, the first two singles men, Dale Van Dorple and Dave Moran, surprised in the way they breezed by Western's top singles boys.

Steve Fast and Jim Pore were ranked high nationally in boys tennis last year.

Tom Maentz playing fourth singles played fine tennis to win his match.

The scores were: Singles—Dale Van Dorple (H) def. Jim Pore (W) 6-1, 6-2; Dave Moran (H) def. Steve Fast (W) 6-3, 6-3; John Littig (W) def. Bob Piersma (H) 6-0, 6-3; Tom Maentz (H) def. Bob Dalm 6-1, 6-4; Jerry Knowlton (W) def. Roland Vander Ven (H) 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

After five cormorants created a stir in Allegan this week, Orlando Haugen dug out the specimen added to the Swan Creek station's collection in 1938. By comparing with the wood duck, the size of the bird may be seen. It has glossy black plumage, with brownish wings, and a fairly long neck.

Formal Party Held by CHS Juniors, Seniors

Members of the junior class at Holland Christian high school, entertained the senior class, the high school faculty and their wives, at the annual formal banquet Friday night.

Following dinner in the high school gymnasium, a program was presented at the Woman's Literary club house.

Theme of the banquet was "Some Enchanted Evening." The gym was attractively decorated with a false ceiling of glittering stars and a yellow moon at one end of the room. Walls were decorated with large branches of apple blossoms and appropriate drawings. Pastel runners and lighted tapers and bouquets of lilacs centered the tables.

Dinner music was provided by Misses Cherie De Pree and Eleanor Hoogland, pianists.

The invocation was given by Henry J. Kuiper, junior class sponsor. Calvin Bolt, president of the junior class, welcomed the guests and the senior class president, Charles Dykstra, responded.

The program at the Literary club house included music by a cornet trio composed of Lloyd Boerman, Roger Nykamp and Dale Wolters. A girls' chorus sang "Lamps of Evening," and the boys' chorus sang "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "How Can I Leave Thee." The combined groups sang "Beautiful Dreamer."

A three-act play, "What Happened to Uncle?" by Robert Ray, was presented by members of the junior class, directed by Marinus Pott. Taking part were Agness Beagle, Milton Beelen, Anita Le Fevre, Edwin Roels, Paul Wolters, Genevieve Keuning, Rotha Alofs, Marla Lanning, Calvin Bolt and Floyd Brower.

Dr. Bert P. Bos, superintendent, led closing devotions. Junior class officers are Calvin Bolt, president; Gerald Kok, vice president; Anita Le Fevre, secretary, and Joyce Koops, treasurer. Class sponsors are Kuiper, Marinus Pott, John Ham and Miss Gertrude Vander Gugten. Charles Dykstra is senior class president; Norman Unema, vice president; Helen Van Halsema, secretary, and Ruth Ann Topp, treasurer. Church Repaired After Being Hit by Lightning

Zeeland—Repairs to First Reformed church, damaged by a bolt of lightning during a sudden electrical storm early last week, have been completed and Sunday services were held according to regular schedule.

The bolt made a shambles of an electric meter on the wall in a basement room. Fire started but virtually snuffed itself out because of lack of oxygen in the closed room.

The fire was discovered by custodian Harry Vredeweld who happened to be at the church that day to do some painting. Vredeweld called firemen. Aside from wiring, a blackboard frame was burned and the edges of about 150 anniversary books commemorating the church's centennial in 1947 were charred.

In making repairs, electrical men installed a lightning arrester to prevent a recurrence.

New York led the nation in paper and paperboard production in 1946.

DECORATION DAY
We hesitate to even write about the proscription made by the National Safety Council that 290
persons may be killed in traffic
during the four-day Memorial Day week-end.

Ned H. Dearborn, Council President, states that good weather
would bring thirty million vehicles onto the highways. He also states the death toll will be especially heavy if many persons are released from work on Monday. Further information indicates that the Council's estimate of casualties
applies only to immediate deaths and does not include persons who will die later of injuries suffered over the long week-end. The Council seems to think that the toll would be cut in half if motorists met the holiday hazard with extra precaution and courtesy.
Dearborn said "this year, motorists ought to honor the dead on Memorial Day by protecting the living."

The State Police Commissioner
Donald S. Leonard has issued an urgent plea for drivers to be especially careful. "Although traffic deaths have shown a decrease in Michigan," he said, "there have been substantial increases in the number of accidents and persons injured." Drivers are the ones who must be depended upon to reduce these figures. There were fourteen persons killed on Michigan highways during the Memorial holiday period last year and this was five less than the 1948
total of nineteen but nine more than the lower record of five in 1944. We should aim at an even lower record than that of 1944.

Therefore, won't you please start your trips early both ways?
Check your car to make sure it is in good operation. Drive with the normal flow of traffic. Observe all traffic rules and regulations.
Other than that, if you do not have to travel, stay in the near vicinity of your home. At any rate, use all precautions and, perhaps we can reach the goal that the State Police has hoped for.

According to other figures received from the Safety Council, last year over-all deaths from traffic, drownings and air crashes totalled 408.
Each individual should bear in mind the fact that good sense
will also help to cut death tolls, so won't you please be careful not only on the highway but in all endeavors.

At 10 a.m. today, 256 persons had been killed in accidents since Friday.

Habakkuk Teaches Trust in God

Habakkuk 1:1-4, 12-13; 2:1-4

By Henry Geerlings

Habakkuk's frankness is rather startling. We wonder how he could speak to God as he did.
However, to the prophet's credit
was his willingness to be directed.
He did not want to remain in doubt. He wanted God's purpose to be made clear. He was sure that if he knew God's purpose in using the pagan Chaldeans in punishing Israel, he would see through what God was doing, and easily supplant his doubt with faith. We do not think he at any time lost confidence in God.
Though he found fault, he was willing to let God explain.

Probably all of us have worried through similar experiences. We are prone to find fault with God.
We try not to be discourteous to God, to be indecent complainers.
Our personal plans are thwarted and we find it easier to accuse
God of not being true to His love for us, than to see some fault in self. Maybe every disappointment should be our urge to let God show us His purpose. His purpose is always reasonable.

Habakkuk puts God on the spot.
He accuses Him of inconsistency.
He must explain. The prophet reviews his high conception of God,
and points out that God has not lived up to it. God has allowed reckless destruction, as Jerusalem is besieged by Chaldeans. How can God use pagan people to overpower and suppress Israel? How can He justify His ways with His people? How can He let the wicked prosper at the expense of His people? Is there any justifiable purpose back of these strange ways?

Using the figure of fishermen with their nets, Habakkuk attempted to clarify his complaint about God's ways. As fishermen look on all they catch is within their power to be used as they choose, so the Chaldeans regard the people of Jerusalem. As their conquerors, they can treat them as their selfishness suggests. The prophet about reaches the limit of blame, when he says God tolerates idolatry. As fishermen worship these nets, so the Chal-
deans worship their war implements. They set them up as idols.
How can God let Himself be supplanted by these pagan people?

As a sincere doubter who never lost hope in God's having a sound reason for all He did, the prophet tried to throw off doubt and find faith. He was open to explanation.
That was his wonderful trait. He really put himself to considerable inconvenience to give God a chance to explain His ways. He was ready to take God at His word. If necessary he would reverse himself, going before the people to whom he had boldly declared his complaints about God,
and telling them God's explanation of His ways.

Habakkuk preferred upholding
the honor of God, to being able to uphold his own complaints. The prophet's stand for God, his declared faith in God, would be of far greater worth to the people than any other attitude he could show. There is something challenging to us in this picture of the prophet on his watch tower. We too should give God a chance. No hindrance should we allow between us and what God has to show. We should seek God's purpose. We should always be alert and receptive to the facts and truths about God's ways. An impulse to complain should be held back until we understand what the purpose of God is.

God's answer was too important to be lost. It was to be written clearly as a permanent record. It was to be in large letters easy to read, so that any who passed by, even in haste, could read it. The fate of the Chaldeans was indicated. Though God used them to punish His people that fact did not prevent them from meeting their fate, their prosperity was not to be permanent. It was but a temporary delay of their fate.

The great truth in God's answer was that the righteous in Israel would come through the sad times, living on because of their faith, justified in the presence of God. The purpose of God was the establishment of Israel in faith and their return to righteousness. This purpose was so high and holy that it justified ways which bordered the prophet.
God's use of the Chaldeans did not free them from guilt.

Here then is the great contrast emphasized the contrast between the wicked and the righteous, between those who have no standing before God and those who are justified in so doing. This is God's marvelous doing. It is too much of a puzzle for most of us to understand. But regardless of anything that takes place, we can keep on trusting God. His ways are all just and His purpose pure.
He has no plan but for our good,
though we are not always able to see His purposes. The satisfied prophet is our example. He had bitter complaints and grave doubts, but he let God explain and so came through doubt to faith.

Dutch Lose Shortened Golf Match to Western

Western State's linksters carved out a one-stroke victory over Holland high in a match which was curtailed to nine holes because of rain Thursday. The scores were 171-172.

Bob Burwitz was medalist with a 37 total. The remaining Dutch scores were Jim Von Ins 41, Bill
Kramer 43, and Dale Von Ins 61.
The match ends the golf season
for M.J. Mackay's boys.

Results of some of the heavy traffic Monday
are pictured above, with a Grand Rapids car resting half-way in mid-air against a guy wire following an accident Monday afternoon three and a half miles south of Holland on US-31. According to Allegan deputy sheriff Henry Bouwman, who investigated the accident, two cars slacked up their speed, and a truck, driven by Sam McBride
of Grand Rapids, caught the car pictured above
in the rear, causing it to roll over to the right of the highway, and end suspended on the guy wire.
No one was injured. McBride was given a ticket for failure to have his vehicle under control.
Deputy Bouwman spent a busy week-end. He also was the first officer at the scene of Saturday's fatal car-truck crash.

Allegan Radio Amateurs Check TV Interference

Allegan (Special) — Killing off Tennessee Valley Indians may sound like a grim sport to the uninitiated, but to radio "ham" operators, it's a by-product of television.

Since the dot-and-dash men
can't resist a group of letters
without giving it a funny trade
name, TVI became the Tennessee Valley Indians right away. But to the average living-room radio viewer, TVI is television interference and a pesky nuisance at that.

When a new TV set owner settles down for an hour and faces on his screen become blurred it's a possibility that the neighborhood
"ham" is giving his equipment a workout, although many sources of TVI other than an amateur transmitter cause trouble also.

In Allegan, and in many cities
about the state, the job of hunting down the TV Indians has been accepted voluntarily by the radio amateurs, who want to keep TV fans happy, and off their necks.

The Allegan area radio club has made each member a TVI detective, able to distinguish by the slant and curl of the video streaks just what is probably causing the disturbance. So successful is their work in adjusting their own equipment and helping TV viewers, the Indians may soon virtually disappear, says Irving Weston, engineer in charge of the FCC monitoring station at Allegan.

Allegan Plans Sinking Fund Vote

Allegan (Special)—Reluctant to adopt a "do-nothing" policy after four "bond issue elections have been defeated, the Allegan board of education voted Friday to offer a five-year sinking fund proposal to the voters at the regular June 12 school election.

The plan would merely continue a five-year five-mill payment into a sinking fund which has accumulated about $100,000 since it was adopted the first time in 1945. The last payment was made in the last winter tax, and if adopted, the new sinking fund tax would be payable next winter. With increased valuations, the five-year accumulation would amount to slightly more than $100,000 and would be earmarked, with the present sum, for site and building of new school construction.

Zuverink Slants Best PCL Game For Fifth Victory

George Zuverink hurled the best game of his short PCL career early last week in setting the Hollywood Stars down with three scattered hits and winning 2-1. Zuverink's record is now leveled at 5-5 and the Padres are leading the league by three full games. George not only pitched superb ball but slugged in the winning counter on a long fly ball. Only a walk spoiled a shutout for George. He walked three and whiffed five.

Last Ditch Rally Falls One Short In Thrilling 9th

Borgman Leads Locals With Three Safeties In Heartbreaking Loss

Amidst intermittent drizzles Memorial Day evening, a fair-sized crowd watched a thrilling Flying Dutchmen rally fall one short and the locals went down to defeat 6-5 at the hands of the Brooklyn Cuban Giants.

Behind 6-3 in the ninth, the Dutchmen staged a two-run rally and brought lanky left-hander Bud Mitchell in to put the damper on the chances and keep the victory for Cleo Phillips who started for the Brooklynites.

The buses were loaded when Mitchell struck out Gene Schrottenboer and picked Ron Fortney off third to end the ball game.

Clyde O'Connor opened on the mound for the Dutchmen. He surrendered four hits in the six innings he worked. Little Lou Humbert relieved in the seventh and gave up the last two runs.

Lou Borgman was the star at the plate for the locals pounding out two doubles and a single in five trips. He performed smoothly in the field coming up with some fine plays.

The Giants opened the scoring in the second with two runs on one hit, an error, and a hit batsman.

The Dutchmen got one of them back in the bottom of the third. With one out, Whitey Witteveen walked, and scored when Phillips passed three men in a row.

Ironically all the runs for both teams were scored in the same inning. In the sixth the Giants scored two on a hit by Henry Smith, a walk to third baseman Joe Mitchell, and successive hits by Koney Williams and Bill Green.

The Dutchmen came right back for a brace in their sixth. Borgman got his second hit, advanced to third when Frankie Wlodarczyk's bouncer bounced over the shortstop's head for a hit. Frankie went to second on the throw-in trying to get Borgman. Borgman scored and Wlodarczyk advanced to third when Schrottenboer hit a fly to left. And Wlodarczyk tallied on Witteveen's single to right.

The Flatbushers scored two in the ninth setting the stage for the Dutchmen rally.

First up, Lefty Van Wieren drew a pass. Humbert smashed a single to left. Fortney bloomed a Texas leaguer in center to load the sacks with nobody out. Mitchell came in at this point.

Jack Van Dorpe then injected a timely single over second for the two runs. Borgman forced Van Dorpe at second. Wlodarczyk then beat out an infield hit to the pitcher loading the bases again.

But Schrottenboer struck out, and with Witteveen up, Mitchell calmly picked Fortney off third for the third out and the game.

The Dutchmen outlast the invaders 11-10.

Head-Stander Off to Adventures--As Clown

John G. Nichols, young American adventurer who gained national recognition by standing on his head in front of all the capitals in the United States, is off to another head-standing spree--this time as a clown in a circus.

In Holland for a brief stay, Nichols who has been knocking around for three years left Monday for Chicago and then for California to play a circus circuit. In his varied career as gold prospector, cub reporter, lumberjack, ranch hand and actor, the clown assignment is a new one.

Standing on his head has become Nichols' trademark during the past year which for the most part has been one of lecturing and writing. He has been speaking mostly to high school assemblies, women's clubs and men's service clubs. Because of the nature of his talk, he usually finds the high school crowd the best audience. "Teen-agers have tremendous imaginations," he said.

Nichols forsook the conventional life three years ago when he decided to take his adventure first-hand, not just the synthetic thrills one finds sitting on the edge of his seat in the theater.

His first two years took him to a Trappist monastery, to Leavenworth penitentiary (where he made history by being the only inmate to pay $4 a day board), to Kansas where he spent three weeks as a reporter on the nationally famous Emporia Gazette, to the Black Hills for panning gold, to Reno to work in a gambling casino, to Washington state to work with the lumberjacks, to Frisco to spend 10 days in Skid Row, and many other places.

Since his visit here last year, Nichols went to Kennebunkport, Me., for summer theater, doing everything from scene shifting to appearing as actor. As a waiter in one play he had to tussle with the leading man every day for seven performances and ended up black and blue. The waiter, of course, had to lose the fight every time. Then he went to Coney Island to work as a shill at a freak show. This consisted of being among the first to buy a ticket after the Barker's peel. The ticket man carefully gave change in the amount the shill plunked down for the ticket. "Sometimes there were more shills than customers," he recalled.

One of his rougher experiences was as an employee for 10 days in the emergency ward of St. Vincent's charity hospital on Manhattan where 200 to 300 unconscious down-and-outers are admitted daily. Saturday night is a big night and the number is closer to 500. Standard fee is $2.

"What impressed me most at first was the apparent callousness that the doctors and nurses regarded death," he said. "There would usually be seven or eight a night and while a priest usually moved about to give last rites, the death scene was terribly matter-of-fact."

"Did you get used to it by the time you left?" he was asked.

"Oh my, yes. It took me only two days to get over that idea. After all, it's the living who need help."

This summer, Nichols plans to walk from Havana to Santiago, the length of Cuba, in six weeks. Then he plans to write a few articles for magazines and resume lecturing in the fall.

Coach Jack Schouten and his Hope baseballers brought the current season to a successful culmination Monday with a close 7-6 victory over Western Michigan's Freshmen at Kalamazoo.

Paul Buckhout, fireballing right-hander, went all the way for the Dutchmen and doled out six hits and struck out nine men.

For one of the few times this season, Hope's bats resounded and they slammed out a total of 11 safeties off leftlander Dalton and Rudy Hill. The Frosh down 7-3 in the ninth, scored three runs to make the game close.

Catcher Jim Harvey, Buckhout and Gordie Van Hooven led the Hopeites at the plate. Harvey and Buckhout each got three hits, and Van Hooven plastered a triple and a double.

The Dutch tallied two runs in the third. Buckhout tripped to right center. Jack Marema was safe on a fielder's choice when the Frosh elected to play on the safe-sliding Buckhout at the plate. Marema stole second. He scored when Hardy Ensing singled.

Behind 5-2 in the fifth they tallied two more. Ensing singled, Van Hooven doubled, and Don Brinks walked to fill the bases. Harvey batted a single to center to score Ensing and Van Hooven.

They took the lead in the eighth when Harvey singled. Ron Apple-dorn was hit by a pitched ball and Buckhout aided his own cause by sending a long single to center to score both runners who were going with the pitch.

Van Hooven took care of the clincher in the ninth. He parked a ponderous triple, inches from a home run, 400 feet in left, and scored on a wild heave by Hill.

For a change, the Dutchmen played errorless ball in the field.

State 4-H Leader Awarded National Honor for Work

A. G. Kettunen Is Cited For Superior Service In Special Ceremonies

For building one of the most effective state 4-H club programs in the nation, A. G. Kettunen, state 4-H club leader at Michigan State college, received national recognition Thursday in Washington, D.C.

In special ceremonies at the Sylvan theater on the Washington monument grounds, Kettunen was presented the superior service award by Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture. The award is given by the United States Department of Agriculture to outstanding workers in the department who are elected for the honor by a special committee.

Unanimously recommended for the award by a Michigan committee appointed by C. V. Ballard, director of the co-operation extension service, Kettunen was cited as state 4-H club leader for 25 years and member of the 4-H club staff for 33 years.

Among his more outstanding achievements cited were the establishment of county 4-H councils, securing of a state 4-H club allocation fund through the state department of agriculture and legislature, building of state and county 4-H club camps and inauguration of one of the nation's outstanding 4-H Club shows.

Kettunen joined the Michigan extension staff as an assistant state leader following graduation from Michigan State college in 1917 and was soon placed in charge of 4-H club work in the upper peninsula. He became state 4-H club leader in 1925 and has headed the program that has reached nearly two million youth since that time.

4-H Calf Starts Guernsey Herd

What started out in 1928 as a 4-H calf project has developed into 26 head of registered Guernsey cows for Henry A. Modderman, route 2, Marne.

Modderman bought his first 4-H calf in 1928, reported to be the first Guernsey to be used in 4-H club work in Ottawa county. The life of the cow, which has some 36 descendants now in his herd, was 16 years. During her life span she gave birth to 12 calves — eight bulls and four heifers.

The cow produced 8,279 pounds of milk and 465 pounds of butterfat at 10 years of age. Her eldest daughter completed her last record in 1948 when 16 years of age, totaling 10,553 pounds of milk and 469 pounds of butterfat.

A bull, which is a son of the original cow, is the highest index sire used in the herd. Another cow mothered by the original, now 14 years of age, has a record of 8,213 pounds of milk and 460 pounds of fat. Another daughter of the original cow, which is nine years of age, has a record of 9,727 pounds of milk and 443 pounds of fat.

Erosion Causes Extensive Ruin

Many farmers still fail to realize the tremendous loss from wind and water erosion remarks L. R. Arnold, Ottawa county agricultural agent. Tremendous efforts have been made by the extension conservation district to bring service and the West Ottawa Soil conservation district to the attention of farmers.

In many cases farmers are becoming alarmed over the loss of soil. This is true of the farmer in Georgetown township whose field was badly eroded. There were many other of similar sights throughout the county this year. Strip-cropping, grassed waterways, more grass, windbreaks, plowing against the slope are urged as measures to save soil.

Arnold was pleased over the remarks made by farmers from Polkton, Tallmadge, Jamestown, Georgetown and Zeeland townships at the recent public hearing before the State Soil Conservation committee. These farmers urged action for the inclusion of the five townships into the West Ottawa Soil Conservation district. They realized that definite efforts are necessary if our farms are to remain productive.

DESTROYS WEEDS

Spring is a good time to start killing weeds with the selective weed killer, 2, 4-D, say Michigan State college extension specialists. Be careful not to let the spray drift to shrubbery and flowers.

County Farm Conditions Good, Agent Arnold Says

L. R. Arnold, Ottawa county agricultural agent, reports farm conditions good despite adverse weather conditions.

Fruit growers are satisfied. If frost does not spoil the picture, a good fruit crop is in prospect.

Truck crop growers are hit rather hard. They are one month behind schedule, due to inability to work the wet ground. High winds did some damage recently.

Oats went in late but good weather may save the crop. Wheat has picked up well, although some wheat was hurt by winter rains and icy conditions.

Grass got a late start but is coming along fine, Arnold says.

George Myaard, Jamestown township, may have been the first farmer in Ottawa county to plant corn. He got in his fields May 13th. Francis and Peter De Witt, Zeeland, planted corn May 18.
