"Let us not be deceived—our peril is real," Hon. John R. Dethmers tells the hundreds gathered for Memorial Day exercises Wednesday at Monument square in Pilgrim Home cemetery. He was referring to the Korean war and what America's course shall be. He advocated making America physically and morally strong, with a return to religion, morality and honesty. The rostrum was decked with ferns and foliage for the occasion. In the rear is the Rev. C. G. Reynen, chaplain for the day. (Sentinel photo)

Dethmers Urges Return To Morality, Honesty

"We must return to religion—to morality and honesty—and we must have an abiding conviction in the righteousness of our cause and in the advancement of American democracy."

So said Hon. John R. Dethmers, justice of the Michigan Supreme court, as he addressed local citizens in the shady area of Monument Square for annual Memorial Day exercises Wednesday morning.

The cemetery program came after a parade featuring six local bands, marching veterans, patriotic organizations, city officials and large marching units of Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls. The line of march proceeded over 12th St. instead of Eighth St., cutting the route more than a half mile and making re-formation unnecessary.

With ideal weather prevailing, the impressive services moved quickly with no hint of delays or dragging. It also set the stage for real holiday activities and picnics became the order of the afternoon. Many persons expressed chagrin over predictions of cool weather and thundershowers.

In his address, Justice Dethmers said, "No praises we can utter can match the valor or deeds of our veterans, living and dead, but the true value of this day is to be determined by the effects of its observance upon us and Americans everywhere."

"Even today, final victory is not won and the Korean outbreak may well portend World War III, and freedom of mankind again is at stake. Let us not be deceived. Our peril is real!"

"Shall we consider appeasement? That has proved fatal. Shall we be content to hope for the best? No, America must be made mighty for possible war. Taxes must be paid and controls accepted cheerfully. This is not the time for pleasures and business as usual."

"But physical might is not enough. This is a war of ideologies and must be waged in the realm of the spirit. We must make America mighty in spirit. American living must be cleansed of moral decay to insure a greater degree of justice and equality for all. Then we may hope to hasten the day of hope of fulfillment when Abraham Lincoln said that this nation may indeed under God have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth!"

Alfred C. Joldersma of the American Legion presided at the exercises. The Rev. C. G. Reynen served as chaplain. K. Don Jacobson of Holland high school read the governor's proclamation and Don Lubbers of Hope college gave Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Boy Scouts decorated graves of the veterans.

Following graduation exercises Friday Midshipman Alexander, an honor student, will receive his commission as ensign in the Navy and will be assigned to the Atlantic fleet after graduation leave.

The gas tank of the scooter caught fire and exploded while the boy was riding it in the yard of his home just north of Bloomingdale at about 6 p.m. The lad, his clothes aflame, started running toward the house where a brother-in-law smothered the flames.

Ottawa County Extends Drive

The American Cancer society fund raising campaign in Ottawa county has fallen short of the $6,500 quota, however, the drive is scheduled to continue through the month of June or until the goal is met.

Complete returns from some of the outlying county areas have not been received to date and it is therefore difficult to determine the exact amount needed to meet the quota, according to campaign chairman John H. VanDyke.

"We hope that those who have not contributed to the Cancer drive either directly or through their local Community Chests, will send in their gifts at once so that Ottawa county can join the 31 counties in the state who have met their quotas," chairman VanDyke said.

The address of the Ottawa county unit of the American Cancer society in Cancer, Box 602, Holland, Mich.

Fifty-cents out of every dollar contributed remains in Ottawa county for use in the educational and service programs, 10 cents goes to the state organization and 40 cents is used by the national society for research and education.

Missionary Family Readies for Work In Philippines

Rev. Walter de Velder And Family Will Work Among Amoy Chinese

The Rev. and Mrs. Walter de Velder and their five children will leave Holland this summer for a new field of religious endeavor in Manila, the Philippines, after several years of service in China.

In Manila, they will work among the Amoy speaking Chinese who have been emigrating from China for several decades. These Chinese speak the same dialect of the people among whom the de Velders had worked in Amoy, and the new assignment allows the missionaries to continue their work without learning a new language.

Already in the Manila field are the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph R. Esther and their four children who also had done missionary work in China. Mrs. de Velder and Mrs. Esther are sisters.

In Manila, Rev. de Velder will serve as pastor for the Westminster Student Presbyterian church which grew out of a Sunday school started in the Westminster high school some years ago. The church is associated with the United Evangelical church of the Philippines. Rev. de Velder is assigned by the Reformed church in America. Headquarters for the Reformed church and the Presbyterian church are in the same building.

Rev. Esther who has been in the Philippines for about a year has been teaching and doing youth work as well as pastoral work in the district and assisting in a survey of the northern part of the Philippines. Tena Holkeboer, another long-time missionary worker among the Amoy Chinese, has been in the Philippines a few months and expects to go to Java soon.

Rev. de Velder has been doing missionary work in China about 20 years. His wife, the former Harriet Boot, was a missionary nurse. She is a member of a missionary family and was born in China. Four of the five de Velder children were born in China and the fifth was born in India.

The family will leave Holland June 26 and will travel to the west coast in a station wagon, a gift of several churches in the area. Taking the station wagon with them, they will sail July 20 on the Pacific Bear from San Francisco.

They expect to remain five to seven years, and hope eventually to return to their former field in Amoy.

Mrs. de Velder and the children, Philip, Margaret, Dirk, David and John, have been in Holland since September, 1949, and Rev. de Velder joined them last Thanksgiving day.

Fords Swamp Two Teams First Week; So Does Pelon

Barbers' Fords served notice on the City Softball league this week that they are going to be tough this year. The Fords clouted out two lopsided victories during the first week of play, by scores of 16-1, and 12-1.

The first was at the hands of the Green Hornets and Friday night it was the Tulip City Merchants.

Meanwhile, Pelon's Sunoco, last year's champion, was less impressive in the scoring column, taking two wins by scores of 12-3, and 6-4. The first win for Pelon was Monday against the Merchants, with the second victory coming Friday over the Green Hornets.

Tony Bouman powered the Fords to victory over the Merchants Friday, getting two doubles and a single in four trips. Walt Wlodarczyk got two singles for the Fords, while Gil Bos, Chet Johnson, Ron Appledorn, Ben Jansen, Just Vander Zwaag, and Norm Boeve each got one hit for the Fords.

On the short end of the score, Merchant Jerry Kruthof was the heavy hitter, getting two singles. Merchant teammates Don Sundin, Lyle VanderMeulen, Jerry Popejoy, and Rog Northuis each got singles.

Norm Boeve went all the way on the mound for the Fords, while Al Van Iwaarden chucked the first six for the Merchants and accepted the loss. Earl Buscher pitched the final inning for Tulip City.

In the second game, The Green Hornets pressed hard in the final inning and nearly overcame the Pelon lead, but were finally quelled by pitcher Cels Veldman. Veldman only allowed four Hornets to bat safely, though one of these was a triple by Bob Fortney. Rich Wolters, Pete Welling, and Bill Oosterdyke were the other Hornets to clout safe hits, all singles.

The championship Pelon team collected eight safeties off Bob Fortney, Hornet pitcher. Vern VanderWater and Will DeNeff each got two of the nine, with Wayne DeNeff, Harry DeNeff, Ken Matchinsky, and Veldman each getting one hit.

The Pelon club committed six fielding miscues, which tied for high error count for the first week of play. The Tulip City Merchants also had six errors earlier in the week.

THE MALE AS A HOUSEMAID

Aristocratic Yale University is to get along next year in its men's dormitories without maid service. President Griswold has announced that 70 maids will be laid off, beginning next September, and that the men occupying the rooms will have to make their own beds and do other such menial jobs that have until now been the responsibility of a small army of maids.

The institution's president—Griswold himself—is relatively new, and it will be interesting to see if he can make the policy stick—explains that it is an economy move. Also, he gives assurance that it "will not materially reduce or impair the living conditions of the student body." Presumably doing the work of the maids will become a "must" for which students will be given credit or assessed discredit.

From any sensible point of view this policy might be justified from other considerations than those of economy. For although many of Yale's students come out of a rather aristocratic background, they have no more assurance than anyone else has in this near-socialistic world that they will not have to fend for themselves in ways that will make what is called "service" an unattainable luxury. Any man's ability to do for himself in the simpler forms of housework is already an asset and it threatens to become a necessity. In many families there is no longer what may be called a housewife, because the woman is as much an industrial worker as the man. In middle income families at least "service" is beyond the reach of the family's income. Those men as well as women who have acquired the knack of doing the simpler forms of housework for themselves will be increasingly in luck as the years pass.

The Yale boys inhabiting the dormitories today who think that later on they will let servants do the domestic work are likely to be in for disillusionment. If therefore they get training in such household tasks, along with training in French verbs and chemical reactions they may find that the dearth of maids will not be the least important feature of their college education.

Education takes many forms, and the greatest geniuses have usually not scorned to do the most humble work as a normal part of life. The Yale experiment to go without housemaids will be watched with interest.

It can work. Many a young man will find bed making just one of the jobs if he is lucky enough to have a bed to make when he enters the Army. Economy moves in this day and age are always wholesome. Might we have economy in government.

The Restoration of Jerusalem
Ezra 1:2, 3; 6:14-16;
Nehemiah 8:1-3
By Henry Geerlings

Conditions in both Jerusalem and Babylon were much the same when Nehemiah heard the call to go up and help his people as they were when Ezra, thirteen years before, led a band of pilgrims back to the city of his fathers. Artaxerxes, was on the throne of Babylon. The Jews enjoyed his good will as before. There was no general desire among the captives to return to the Holy Land. Their brethren in Jerusalem were undergoing the same hardships as seventy five years previously. They were few in numbers and discouraged, and most of them were poor, and the building enterprise was still incomplete.

But some things had been accomplished. At least a simple form of orderly government had been set up. Homes had been constructed for the people to live in. The temple had been built and dedicated and the regular observance of the morning and evening sacrifice and of the feast days was again instituted. Business relations were established and trade carried on. But the moral tone of the people was not good. Corruption had crept in. The temple services were neglected. The laws governing usury and intermarriage were still numerous. In short, it was not going well with the little Jewish commonwealth in Jerusalem. Ezra had not succeeded in accomplishing all he had hoped to get done. Nehemiah heard of those conditions and laid his plans accordingly.

His visit had an electric effect on the discouraged band. They had been whipped by their enemies. They did not have the heart to set about building the wall about the city. All they needed was the inspiration he was able to bring them. They all set to work, with one mind and will, and in an incredibly short time they had half of the wall finished. Those who had opposed the rebuilding became all the more determined in their opposition when they saw the Jews return to their task with an enthusiasm that predicted success. Nehemiah was not blind to the opposition, but what he and his associates did was to pray against it and commend their interests to God.

But the work was heavy. It was necessary that a vast amount of ruins of the old wall be removed before even the foundation could be laid, and the men worked so hard at this that they were nearly exhausted. This had the effect of lowering their power of resistance against the sneers and the threats of their enemies. Nehemiah called upon them to defend their homes and country, and if need be fight for their liberties.

The attack of Sanballat and his comrades in evil had planned for some good reason was not carried into effect. It is probable they were on their way, but when they heard or saw that the Jews were prepared to offer resistance, and were armed and in perfect order, they knew that what they thought was a secret had been revealed by some one to Nehemiah. They deemed it wise to abandon the attack. The Jews thanked God, took heart and went back to work.

But whether danger seemed near or far, Nehemiah never failed to take proper precaution. He trusted God with all his soul, but he was aware that God would not do for him what he could do for himself. There was an armed guard to insure his protection, as is the custom in the East to this day. This guard he divided into two parts, which alternated in watching and working. Those who watched were well armed both with offensive and defensive weapons. Their necks and shoulders were covered with coats of mail, which consisted of tough leather into which pieces of metal were sewed. The rulers or captains stood in the rear, where they could give direction to the work under way, or in case of need lead the armed men into battle.

The wall upon which work was being done surrounded the entire city, and therefore was long. Workmen were located on all parts of it, hence they were scattered. In addition, being busy at their work they might not see the enemy approaching until it would be too late for them to get together for self-defense. Hence the need of the trumpet, and when it sounded all were to drop their work and hasten to the place whence the sound came. They would not be able to offer any effective resistance if they were scattered. Thus having done their best to defend themselves they could count on God for the rest.

The policy of watchful working was kept up. The wall advanced toward completion as rapidly as it did because the men toiled from daylight till dark. The wall which must have been several miles long was completed in the incredibly short time of fifty two days. The laborers were united and in earnest.

Educator From Austria Visits American Schools

An Austrian educator is learning a lot about American educational methods on his first trip to this country.

Dr. Hans Kapitan, principal of three secondary schools at Horn, Austria, a town of 5,000 lying 60 miles northwest of Vienna, arrived in the United States a month ago to spend three months studying school methods.

Holland, Mich., is one of four American cities he is visiting for high school study. Similar study was carried on in Emporia, Kans., and Wheat Ridge, Colo. After a week's stay here he will go to Milwaukee, Wis.

Before leaving the United States he will study student council work at Wellesley, Mass., and will visit Pennsylvania State college, as well as the Office of Education in Washington, D. C.

In Austria, everybody goes to school eight years, and if the student has talent and wants to continue schooling beyond the age of 14, he must pass some rigid tests—tests which are becoming more and more rugged since secondary schools and universities are crowded and professional fields are over-supplied in many cases.

Dr. Kapitan's trip here was arranged by the U. S. State department. His primary interest is the field of educational administration with secondary interests in educational publications, English language and American literature.

Speaking English far more correctly than the average American, Dr. Kapitan responded well to the modern pace in this country. He was well prepared for Manhattan traffic and the displays of goods in the modern American supermarkets, but one thing that really impressed him was the beauty of Washington, D. C.

"I've seen pictures of your capital, your buildings and your monuments in books, but I wasn't quite prepared for the real beauty. And when I walked up the steps to the Lincoln memorial..." His inability to express himself on that score is repeated time and time again by most people who find that beautiful monument hard to describe.

And fresh milk... the never ending supply in this country made the visiting educator marvel. For the first time in years he can drink all he wants and it's wonderful. At home, the limited supply of milk goes to his five children.

Holland Hitters Explode in Face Of Benton Harbor

Dutch Pummel Tigers For Second Victory Of Conference Season

The Holland high school baseball team unleashed all the thwarted hitting emotion that had been fairly well muzzled so far this year as the Dutch pummeled hapless Benton Harbor Friday in a conference game, 20-2.

Holland pounded out 15 hits and took advantage of seven errors and seven walks to win the game. The Dutch scored in each inning but the third, and left only five men stranded on the bases.

Meanwhile, Roger Eggers and sophomore Dean Vanderwal were combining pitching efforts to fashion a dazzling two-hitter—one off each pitcher. Eggers gave up a first inning single to Roger Findley that scored both Benton Harbor runs, and Vanderwal was the victim of a slithering grounder through the infield in the seventh off the bat of catcher Paul Schlender. Eggers worked the first four frames, and Vanderwal the last three.

Holland tucked away the victory in the first inning with an eight run outburst. For good measure, the Dutch added five in the second before going scoreless in the third. Two runs crossed in each the fourth and fifth, and three in the sixth.

The Tigers' only two tallies came in the first when two walks and Findley's slice into right resulted in the brace of counters. Eggers walked only two men and fanned seven in his four innings. Vanderwal walked one and whiffed two.

The Tiger batsmen hit only three balls to the outfield all day. Little Willie Schillinger started on the mound for Benton Harbor, and failed to last the first inning. He pitched to 11 batters and could only get two of them out. Fred Henry relieved Schillinger, but failed to weather the storm in the second. Henry was followed by right-hander Bill Fowler who completed the game.

Everyone in the starting Dutch lineup except Bob Tasma hit safely. Tasma was up officially only once, having walked three times.

Leading the hit parade was Warren Plaggenburg, who got a triple and two singles in three trips. Jack Kempker had a single and triple, while Don Schut contributed a double and single. Eggers and Max Doolittle had two singles each. Jerry Victor, Maurice Witteveen and Alden Klopars all had singles, and Ron Bekius rounded out the hitting with a double.

Coach Bob Stupka threw in 15 players during the contest, and at one point in the game had eight men playing who will return for next year's team. Benton Harbor also substituted freely, using 14 players.

The victory brought Holland's conference to the .500 mark, with victories over Benton Harbor and Muskegon Heights and losses to Muskegon and Grand Haven.

Members of the International Relations Workshop, a Hope college group, are shown in a happy mood shortly before the opening of the mock United Nations security council meeting they staged Thursday. The smiles faded, however, when the session started. Left to right at the table are James Blane, representing Turkey; Ketema Yfru, representing the USSR; Marge Feldman for the United States; Jack Johnson for the United Kingdom; Vern Schippers, for Yugoslavia; and Ezra Gearhart, advisor to The Netherlands delegate.

Hope Students Conduct Mock Meeting of UN

A pseudo-Jacob Malik twice exercised his veto power in a mock United Nations security council meeting Thursday afternoon, thereby plowing through the majority design of the council.

It all took place not at Lake Success or in the new UN building in New York, but in the basement room of Hope Memorial chapel. The mock meeting was sponsored and carried out by the international relations workshop to show how the actual council operates. A group of students and teachers witnessed the meeting. Students acted as delegates.

First order of business was the agenda problem. The U. S. delegate was generally opposed to any move made by the Soviet delegate. The two countries were obviously at outs, with the other nine council countries lined up predominantly on the side of the United States.

After preliminary discussion, the Iranian oil problem was dismissed from the proposed agenda, although the Soviet delegate "fumed" at the voice vote that overrode him.

The British delegate, reasoned that the Iranian problem was an internal and legal matter of contract breach and should not be included in the UN agenda.

Then the Indian Pakistan-Kashmir issue was voted out by the council. The problem also was ruled an internal affair. After that came the question of whether the recognition of Communist China would come before the Korean war question. Russia wanted the China question first. If passed, the Nationalist and pro-Western China delegates would be ousted from the council and a Red delegate seated, increasing the Communist voting power on the Korean question.

After discussion and a vote, the Korean war problem took precedence. Then the Western bloc called for an immediate economic blockade of both China and Russia because of the Korean war, and the Russian delegate vetoed.

"Malik" then walked out of the meeting at which time the council agreed the president of the session had made a procedural error, and called for another vote while the Russian delegate was absent.

But before the vote could be taken, the Communist had returned to his seat to veto the economic blockade question for the second time.

The Council adjourned at this point because of the lateness of the hour, leaving the Korean question for the next meeting.

"His insight into the deeper things of literature and life has helped many a student surmount the difficulties that confronted him," Wolters said. "His sense of humor and understanding of students' problems will make him linger in our memories," he concluded.

Driver Waives on Negligence Count

Grand Haven (Special)—Melvin Robert De Witt, 19, route 2, Grand Haven, waived examination when he was arraigned on a negligent homicide charge before Justice George Hoffer Thursday night. He furnished $1,000 bond for his appearance in circuit court June 11.

The charge resulted from a fatal accident in Robinson township Wednesday night which claimed the life of Margaret Kline, 16, route 1, West Olive, who was riding with De Witt. The crash occurred on Green St. near 136th Ave. at what is commonly known as Clark's Corners.

De Witt, who came here some months ago from California, has been living with an uncle, Ray Beekman, while employed by the Keller Tool Co. in Grand Haven.

He was driving a '37 model car belonging to Dana Kline, a brother of the victim. Investigation revealed that he engaged in something of a race or a get-away from Dana Kline who was riding in another car shortly before the crash. Prosecutor Wendell A. Miles said De Witt admitted excessive speed.

The roll top desk was invented about 1850 by Amner Cutler.

Wedding vows were spoken Wednesday at 8 p. m. by Miss Mary Ruth Sandy and Dale N. Van Langevelde in a double ring ceremony in Central Park Reformed church. The Rev. LaVern R. Sandy read the rites in a setting of ferns and bouquets of snapdragons, gladioli, phlox and peonies.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sandy, 647 West 22nd St., and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Van Langevelde, 136 East 19th St.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Leon Sandy, organist, who also accompanied the soloist, Tom Weller. He sang "O Promise Me" and "Because" preceding the service and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

Miss Joyce Van Langevelde, the groom's sister, was maid of honor and Misses Marlene Vischer and Connie Keel were bridesmaids. Vernon Van Langevelde assisted his brother as best man. Ushers were Roger Koning and Daniel Wright.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin styled with Chantilly lace Peter Pan collar and scalloped lace panel with covered buttons down the front accenting the sculptured bodice. The long sleeves were pointed over the

Maroon Nine Raps 11 Hits to Beat Invading Club

Holland Christian's baseball team unleashed a powerful hitting attack at Riverview Park, Thursday afternoon to swamp a fighting Fennville club, 9-2. The Maroons collected 11 hits of all varieties to subdue the invaders.

Coach John Ham's club had to do it the hard way inasmuch as Coach Bill Sexton of Fennville sent his ace, southpaw Jack Turner, to the mound. Fennville has lost only two games in 9 starts this season and Turner is one of the big reasons why they have had a successful season. He is a clever pitcher and a powerful hitter, as his "cleanup" position in the batting order testifies.

Ironically enough, Holland Christian has been the only club to stop the Fennville crew this season. In their first meeting with the locals came home with an 8-3 decision.

Floyd Brouwer was the winning Christian hurler as he hurled a two hitter. He was seldom in trouble, retiring the first 12 men in order.

Four singles, an error and a fielder's choice provided the Hollanders with four runs in the second frame. After Bernie Mulder fanned to open the inning, Daryle Meinema, Wilbert Venema and Chet Warner came through with base hits. A costly error by the Fennville catcher allowed two runners to score and then a fourth single by Brower sent the other two across.

Christian added two more in the fourth inning on two solid base hits, a walk and an infield out. Warner and Gene Gort provided the safeties during the mild up-rising.

After Brower had retired the batters in order for the first four innings, the versatile Turner smacked the first ball pitched for a long double to left center field. He moved to third on an infield out and scored a minute later on another out at first base.

The locals finished their scoring in their fifth inning when they pushed three runners across. Singles by Meinema, and Tony Diekema plus some sloppy Fennville fielding did the damage.

The final Fennville tally came in the sixth when leftfielder Martin opened with a walk. Warner overthrew first base, permitting the runner to take second. He finally came into score on shortstop Morse's single.

Pacing the Maroon assault were Diekema, Meinema, Warner and Brouwer with two hits apiece. The visitors committed three errors compared to one local misplay.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Is Held

Wearing a native costume, Dr. Anna Korteling, missionary to India, drew interesting comparisons between life in India and in America at a mother-daughter banquet Friday night in Sixth Reformed church. The annual event, sponsored by the Girls' League for Service, attracted about 135 persons.

"It would be impossible to have a function of this type among the Hindus and Moslems in India because daughters are not welcome in their households," Dr. Korteling said.

Skilfully selecting anecdotes which would be of interest to all ages, she explained marriage habits, family customs, food and worship among the native in India. She said there is considerably more freedom for women since the growth of Christianity, but higher education and professional training for girls affects only a small percentage.

Spring flowers adorned the tables and banquet programs were in the form of tulips. Miss Myra Mulder served as toastmistress and Mrs. Henry A. Mouw gave the invocation and led singing. Miss Ann Wiersma gave a toast to the mothers and Mrs. Harry Wiersma responded with a toast to the daughters. Marimba selections were given by Miss Shirley Smith.

Mrs. Marinus Brandt was presented with a gift for having four generations present at the banquet. Mrs. Simon Scheerhorn received a gift for having one daughter and three daughters-in-law present; Mrs. Albert Johnson, 79, was the oldest mother present, and Mrs. John Mokma the youngest mother. The presentations were made by Miss Joyce Van Langevelde.

Chicks Judged In Contest; 4-H Boy Wins

Curtis Eubank, Marne, Enters Best Chicken To Capture Top Honors

Curtis Eubank, 4-H club boy from Marne, has won Ottawa county's first Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest. The contest, a 4-H broiler production project ended Thursday, May 17. The entry birds were dressed and judged at the Zeeland Poultry Processing plant in Zeeland.

Mary Hudson, Coopersville was second place winner. Leon Devisers, route 2, Holland, and Arthur Brems, route 2, Grand Haven tied for third place. Fifth place went to Warren Fought, route 2, Holland.

The fifteen members enrolled in the 4-H project purchased day old chicks and have kept records of their death losses, feed costs, brooding cost and other income and expense items. The project lasted for 12 weeks.

Each member selected 15 of their best birds, and these were their entry in the contest judging. The chickens were dressed and then the members selected their 12 best carcasses and these were judged competitively against the other contest members.

Total scores of the member were based on both the marks they received on their records and story as well as on the entry birds. William Aho, poultry extension specialist of Michigan State college and P. G. Lundin Ass't State 4-H leader were the judges.

The other 10 entrants were: Don Bronkema, Verne Bronkema, Gordon Hoek, Marjorie Fockler, of route 2, Holland; John Brack and Fred Brack, Hudsonville; Ray Boonstra, Marne; Bill Spencer, Coopersville; Fred Busman, Jr., Nunica; Dale Mohr, Jenison.

The entry birds of the first and second place winners were drawn and quick frozen. They will be kept in storage till the State 4-H show in East Lansing during the last week of August. There they will be judged with other county winners throughout the state.

Another Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest will be started next spring. All boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 are eligible to become 4-H members.

The Chicken-of-Tomorrow is just one of the many educational and recreational projects sponsored by 4-H.

Young Man Guilty At Second Trial

Allegan (Special) — Eugene O'Connell, 21, of Otsego, acquitted on a breaking and entering charge in February, was convicted here Wednesday on a second charge growing out of the same incident.

After the youth was freed by the earlier jury, Prosecutor Dwight Cheever had ordered O'Connell's arrest for forgery as he left the court room.

Wednesday's jury found him guilty. This action brought a comment from Judge Raymond Smith, who presided at both trials, "This is a very unusual situation, since we have been trying a respondent on almost identical charges in which a previous jury found him innocent," the judge said. "I want to tell you I think this jury is right, and the other one was wrong."

O'Connell was first tried on breaking into the W. V. Merideth warehouse office in Hooper, and stealing blank checks. Later the checks, written on a defunct organization began appearing throughout this area as paychecks.

For his second case against O'Connell, Prosecutor Cheever presented as a witness, Jack Brennan, Otsego, who also was acquitted on the breaking and entering count.

He admitted in court he was guilty of a felony and told of O'Connell taking the checks. O'Connell was convicted of forging a specific check in the name of John C. Martin.

He is free on $1,000 bond and is to appear Monday for sentencing.

Spittle Bug Injury Bad For Strawberries

Spittle bug injury on strawberries can become quite serious cautions L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent. In past years some growers have had serious infestations of this insect.

Ray Jones, entomologist, Michigan State college, advises the use of chlordane up to the time the berries are 3/8 of an inch in diameter. Application after this period may result in off-flavored fruit. One pound of actual chlordane per acre is enough. No more than this amount should be used.

When there is doubt about use of chlordane, turn to rotenone, using three pounds of the 5 percent or 3/4 pound of the 4 percent concentrate to 100 gallons of water. A natural wetting agent should be used with rotenone sprays. If the grower wishes, he can use dust, 3/4 percent of rotenone. Rotenone works best when the temperature is 65 degrees or above.

The strongest muscle of the average person is the one that closes the jaws.

The Holland Evening Sentinel lost one of its oldest and most trusted agents recently when Roger Winkels retired from his Sentinel route in Zeeland after spending half his life delivering Sentinels. Roger started on the route when he was nine years old and gave up the route nine years later just after turning 18. During his tenure as the dean of Sentinel newboys, Roger worked up his route from the original 57 customers in 1942 to 153 customers when he quit. He will graduate from Zeeland high school in June, and plans to get a full-time job before enrolling at Hope college in September. Roger's old customers will be served by two boys, Stan Gebben and Earl Machelle will share the divided route. Roger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Winkels, 38 East Main St., in Zeeland.

Moose and Main Auto Take Wins In Softball Tilts

Four runs in the third were too much for the Vets to overcome in late innings as they lost to the Moose Thursday night, 5-4, at the Third street softball diamond.

In the second game, tight pitching by Jason Ebel gave his Main Auto team a win over the Holland Furnace team, 4-1.

For the Vets, it was too little, too late, though they worked hard in the late innings to beat down the Moose advantage. The Vets threatened in the fourth, and the Moose had to force a man out at the plate to stop scoring. And the bases were loaded when the final out was made that inning.

In the sixth, the Vets got to pitcher Matt Numikoski for two runs before the Moose relieved him and brought in Herk Cramer, who threw one pitch to retire the side and end the Vets' threat.

Paul Fortney was the power in the Moose lineup, collecting three hits in four trips to the plate. Jack Schregerdus and Bill Zych each got two, one of Zych's being a homer.

Stu Baker, Walt Hudzik, and Don Hulet each got one hit to complete the Moose hitting.

Don Van Duren got two hits to pace the Vets, one of which was a double. Only two other Vets hit safely, Ted Bos and Chick Zych each getting singles. Doug Harmsen went the mound distance for VFV.

In the second game, Ted Vandenberg paced the Main Auto club with a single and a homer, although Ernie Prince also got two hits, both singles.

Roody Taka, Howard Glupkera and Mel Koenes each got one, Glupkera being a triple in the third inning.

None of the Holland Furnace batters got more than one hit and only one man hit a double. Mel Sjaarda swatted the double in the final frame, but the rally was short-lived. Others to hit for the Furnace were Bill Prins, Ray Morren, Wally Hasty, and Bill Franks.

Hope Lists Top Batters for Year

The Hope college baseball team ended its 1951 schedule Wednesday afternoon with one hit in the 400 class and two others above the 300 mark.

Con Boeve, Dutch right fielder, ended the season at the top of the batting list with .422. Jim Harvey, veteran catcher, was second with .342 for season batting and Bob Dennison, Dutch pitcher, ended with a .304 average.

Others on top of the team for batting are: (all with 10 times or more at bat) Gene Schroteboer, .290; Tom Van Wingen, .243; Jim Van Hooven, .232; Dave Kempker, .219; Jerry Jacobson, .185; Fuzz Bauman, .176; Bob Piersma, .166; Jim Willyard, .162; and Don Hoffman, .111.

Graveside services were held Tuesday afternoon for William Van Zonneveld, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Van Zonneveld of Holland who died shortly after birth in Holland hospital Monday night. Local Soldier Wounded

The Defense department revealed Tuesday that Pfc. Leonard Smith has been wounded in action in Korea. Pfc. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto B. Smith, route 4, Holland.

Buccaneers Blank Holland Nine In Non-Loop Game

The Holland high school baseball team rolled over and played dead for Grand Haven pitcher Dick Berg Monday afternoon and lost a 2-0 non-conference game to the invading Bucs at Riverview park.

It marked the first time in recent memory that the Buc baseball team swept the season's two-game series with the Dutch. Grand Haven won the season's opener from Holland, 5-0, again behind Berg's steady hurling.

Berg doled out four measly singles to the Dutch swingers, including two solid blows by shortstop Maurice Witteveen. Only once did Holland advance a man as far as second base when the center fielder bobbled B-b Tasma's single in the second frame. The Dutch had only six men on base all day.

Meanwhile, lefty Glenn Kamper was shacking the Buc batters with five safeties, including two of the definite scratch variety.

One of the blows was a questionable home run by Pat Kamhout in the second frame that proved enough to win. Kamhout leveled a solid blow to right center that bounced into the draping shrubbery along the fence. While the Dutch gardeners were looking for the elusive piff, Kelly Kamhout trotted around the bases for the first Grand Haven run.

The second counter came in the seventh on a walk, an infield error and a dropped fly ball in the Dutch outfield.

Kamper had good control. He walked only three men — each time shortstop Phil Yedinak was the beneficiary — and whiffed 11 Buc batters. After his second inning homer, Kamhout whiffed three times in a row.

Berg was in good form, also. He walked only one batter and fanned nine.

Besides the weak hitting attack, Holland was guilty of five fielding misplays.

For Holland, Witteveen had two hits, and Tasma and Kamper one each. Kamhout's homer paced the winners, while Emory Holzinger contributed a triple and Berg, McPhee and Gleason each hit safely once.

Tasma turned in the star fielding play with a running one-handed catch of a long fly in deep center off Holzinger's bat in the fifth.

Holland winds up the 1951 baseball season with a home game on June 4 against defending champion Kalamazoo. The Maroon Giants will be fighting for second place in the conference. Muskogean already has sailed away the bunting.

By beating Kalamazoo, Holland could tie for second spot in the standings. If the Dutch lose, coach Bob Stupka's men will end up in a tie for third spot.

Township Firemen Brought to Court For Parade Action

Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff has brought disorderly conduct charges against three members of Holland township fire department number three as result of the water-squirting episode in last Saturday's Tulip Time parade.

Department Chief Bert Schuitema and firemen Gerrit Sprink and Herbert Bader pleaded innocent in Municipal Court Thursday to the charges. Trial was set for June 5 at 3 p.m., and no bond was requested.

The charges were brought under the city's disorderly ordinance which cites as a disorderly person anyone who "drives or rides a vehicle along any public way so as to molest or interfere with the person of another."

The complaints name two members of the state police, Wilson Agar and Lt. Verne Dagan, plus "sundry other persons whose names are unknown." The complaint alleges that the firemen "did eject from the equipment on (the township fire truck) water so as to wet, molest and annoy" Agar and Dagen.

Chief Schuitema, while admitting the squirting of the water, outlined today how the horseplay began.

While lining up for the parade, Schuitema said, several members of the Owosso band asked if they could get some water from the truck. So the firemen let them have drinks of fresh water from a five-gallon conservation kettle on the side of the truck.

Then when the parade got under way, Schuitema continued, "the boys just kept it up. You know how those things go."

Schuitema was riding in the cab of the truck, and he said the crowd seemed to enjoy the horseplay. He said that after checking the equipment after the parade, about two gallons of water remained in the kettle. "That makes only three gallons we used on the whole parade route," he said.

Schuitema, who also is a deputy sheriff, said that nobody asked either him or the men on the truck to discontinue squirting water.

"I'll swear to that," he said. "We certainly didn't do any harm. Intentionally," the chief said, "it was all done in the spirit of fun."

Red Cross Reactivates Its Clubmobile Units

Washington — Red Cross clubmobile units, popular during World War II, are being reactivated for duty with the troops in Korea, at the request of the Department of Defense.

E. Roland Harriman, Red Cross president, announced today that 28 mobile canteens similar to those which carried snacks, songs, and smiles to millions of American servicemen in World War II are being readied for operation in Korea.

The Red Cross, he said, has been operating a large club and two small mobile canteen combinations in the Pusan area since last November. Military authorities said their request for extension of the service resulted from demands by combat troops. Mobile units were favored over permanent installations because of the fluid state of the war.

Holland High Golfers Edge Bucs in Final Meet

Grand Haven (Special)—Holland's golfers ended their high school season happily at Spring Lake country club Monday afternoon by edging Grand Haven, 385-389.

The Dutch ended the season with three wins and six losses, although three of the losses were caused by a total of six strokes.

In Monday's encounter, Frank Van Dyke shot 102 in No. 1 slot for the Dutch, with Don Newhouse shooting 92 behind him.

In third slot, Bob Holt had low medal for the day with 91, while Frank Klompars was rounding out the Dutch squad with 100.

Seek Missing Man

The Holland police department has received a letter from Sheriff Melvin Brund of Clearwater county, Bagley, Minn., asking for help in locating a John Moulder, who walked away from a home for the aged in Minnesota about a week ago and indicated he had relatives near Holland. Chief Jacob Van Hoff pointed out that the name might be "Mulder" and asked for information from any person who might know the man involved.

California farmers are the largest users of aerial crop dusters in the United States.

Miss Edna Mae Heemstra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Heemstra, 367 East Fifth St., and Clarence Tamminga, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Tamminga of route 2, exchanged wedding vows Friday, May 25, at 7:30 p.m. The double ring wedding was performed by the Rev. William Haverkamp in the parsonage of Central Avenue Christian Reformed church.

Wedding attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Nella Ruth Heemstra, and the groom's brother, Henry Tamminga.

'Mystery Tourist' Case Is Finished

Holland police have written "closed" on the case of the mystery tourists.

Detective O. A. White of Iowa City, Iowa, called Holland Tuesday to say that Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gallagher are being held there on a breaking and entering charge. White wanted to know if Holland had any charges against the couple, but Chief Jacob Van Hoff decided to let the Iowa authorities handle the so-called "mystery tourists."

The Gallaghers are suspected of rifling several coin-operated machines in Holland and vicinity in March. Warrants were issued for Nita and Donald Gallagher of Sacramento, Calif., by local officials following a wave of nickel thefts from area stores. The Gallaghers were described as the persons who changed nickels into bills at several Holland business places early in March. One of the places was a tourist home, thus bringing out the "mystery tourists" angle.

A second man, who was with the Gallaghers in Holland, was not mentioned by Iowa police.

County Agent Arnold Cautions Berry Growers

Strawberry and raspberry growers who wish to sell planting stock in 1952 are cautioned by L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, that application for inspection should be made now for such inspection. No applications will be accepted after June 10. Application should be made to C. A. Boyer, Bureau of Plant Industry, Lansing, Mich.

Two inspections must be made during the growing season.

Arnold reports that every year some growers are disappointed over inability to sell plants due to failure to have had previous inspection. He urges growers not to delay in making application. Arnold also reports an increase in acreage over 1950. Blossoms are in full bloom. Some frost damage has been observed but prospects for a good yield are good.

Square Dance Club Ends Season With Dinner Party

Greatest of All Sacrifices Cited In Memorial Talk

"We are grateful for the supreme sacrifice made by soldiers and the sacrifices by living veterans, but we must not forget the greatest of all sacrifices—the supreme sacrifice of Christ on the cross."

So said the Rev. C. G. Reynen, pastor of Bethel Reformed church, at annual Memorial Sunday services in Bethel church auditorium Sunday night for local patriotic organizations.

The colorful procession was headed by a color guard, followed by Common Council, Spanish American War veterans, auxiliaries and veterans of World Wars I and II, filling the central section of the church.

"Memorial day has an enduring significance and an inescapable challenge," Rev. Reynen told his large audience. "It represents the tremendous price paid for liberty, freedom and deliverance," he said.

He quoted some statistics of World War II, listing casualties in France as 2,428,000; Great Britain, 832,000; United States, 912,000 (or 1.7 per cent) and Russia, 20 million of 11.9 per cent. He said U. S. casualties in Korea alone so far list 11,112 killed, 43,506 wounded, 9,621 missing and 115 captured.

"How may we insure peace in our own nation and in the world so that these dead shall not have died in vain? Not by increasing our Armies, our Navies or even our supply of Atom bombs. We can do so only by increasing our obedience to Almighty God and have faith in Him and the Lord Jesus Christ, the prince of peace," he said

Sentinel Writer Visits Berlin With an American Jewish Woman

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

Berlin, Germany (Special)—I saw Berlin with an American Jewish woman.

She didn't find quite what she had hoped to find in this city where a degenerate dictatorship led by a madman was able to reduce the Jewish population from 65,000 to 7,000 people in a short seven years.

My companion, Mrs. Joseph Willen, education chairman of the National Council of Jewish Women, is a sensitive woman. That she came at all on this trip with the other organization representatives to see post war Germany is evidence of her desire to forget the tragic past and look ahead.

"I came to Germany," she said, "because my organization felt we must all do our part in developing constructive elements in German society. I had hoped the suffering of the German people had helped them sympathize with the first victims of Nazism, and today's treatment would prove that cruelty to the Jews came only from a lunatic minority."

Trying valiantly to dwell in the present, she discovered the Jews left in Germany are not having an easy time. I know what she means because we went together to visit three Jewish institutions.

The famed Berlin lilacs were blooming in front of the hospital but there was no beauty inside the patched up walls, which were patched up, incidentally, with Marshall Plan funds. Money had to be spent on top necessities. So the operating rooms were modern and well equipped. The beds had clean linen but the blankets were of all sorts. We ached to buy a can of paint and start painting the walls, the beds, the chairs.

The petite Jewish matron, with 50 years of service, was not removed by the Nazis because the hospital was a way-station for Jews rounded up for the concentration camps. The experience has left its mark on her deep-lined face. This Jewish hospital set a record for suicides because patients preferred to take their lives than be lugged off to humiliation and suffering.

Right across the street is a Jewish Old People home. Here our intense curiosity induced the tender daughter of the oldest Jew in Germany to wake him up from his afternoon nap in an armchair, shawl over his face. Somehow he had managed to survive three years in a concentration camp and to return to his beloved Berlin to celebrate his 100th birthday last December.

In this Old People's home is a synagogue made from what was left of the ruins of 24 synagogues destroyed by the Nazis. The marble doesn't match the altar isn't quite orthodox. I was told. The chandeliers aren't perfect. But it is a place to worship, heart breakingly rich in the history of our time.

Our bright spot was found at the Jewish Community center where we were taken by the only Jewish member of Parliament, the energetic Jeanette Wolff, whose husband and three children were killed by the Nazis. In spite of six years in a concentration camp herself, she brings to her work a vital and stubborn belief in the possibilities of a democratic Germany and a free world.

This sparsely furnished community center is the place every Jew in Berlin with a problem can come for help. Those who came from the Russian sector and who cannot go back without danger are given shelter and food. They are helped to become established as "political" refugees to make them eligible for jobs and civil status.

Next door we could hear the happy voices of children being cared for while their parents were at work. "Better than the screams of women," said Frau Wolff who had heard too many such screams in her life.

All the stories we hear that day saddened Mrs. Willen, who said with the exception of the fledgling Council of Christians and Jews, the mass of German people reject the Jews. Tragic as this difference is to the Jews, Mrs. Willen feels the consequences are serious for all people.

Local PEO Chapter Hears About College

Opportunities for girls to secure a liberal arts education at a reasonable cost were outlined for members of BW chapter, PEO, Monday night in the home of Mrs. William Schrier, assisted by Mrs. Larry Towe and Mrs. Leonard Swartz, and pointed to Cottey Junior college at Nevada, Mo., and the PEO loan fund.

Cottey college, founded in 1869, is operated by the PEO organization and is fully accredited and equipped. Color slides of the school were shown with Mrs. George A. Pelgrim assisting. Hundreds of girls have taken advantage of low tuition rates and loans to attend college when lack of funds made other schools prohibitive. There are now 260 girls attending the two-year school.

Mrs. Buys presided at the meeting, the last of the year. A picnic for members and their husbands is scheduled for June 22. The hostess served refreshments.

More than four million acres in California were crop dusted by air in 1950.
