City to Develop New Parking Area On Ninth Street

Holland city expects to develop a new offstreet parking area to accommodate about 105 cars on East Ninth St. between College and Central Ave., City Council was informed at a regular meeting Wednesday night.

City Manager Herbert Holt announced he has reached an agreement with the owners of four parcels in the block on a 15-year lease with the city. According to the agreement, city will surface the area and install parking meters. The yield per meter is estimated at $50 per meter per year, and of this amount it is estimated that some $3,700 will be retained by the city and $1,500 divided among the property owners annually. Owners will pay their own taxes, according to the agreement.

The four parcels are owned by E. C. Brooks, Grossman's, De Fouw's and Mills. The first three parcels will provide parking area from the bowling alleys to Dykstra Funeral Home. The Mills parcel is in the east end of the block.

In other business, Council approved several recommendations advanced by the Civic Center advisory committee. One called for installing a kitchen unit similar to the one in the Green Room in the youth room in the basement, and the purchase of a small radio and movie screen. Cost of the kitchen unit is estimated at approximately $800 installed, and other items can be purchased for a nominal sum. Money for these improvements is available from an anonymous donor.

Council also set a charge of $50 a day for the use of kitchen facilities in Civic Center, and set $5 as a nominal fee for use of the youth room for organizations from outside the city. Mayor Robert Visser and Councilman Robert Kouw dissented on the latter issue.

Council approved a lengthy eight-page resolution for the new hospital addition prepared by Berry, Stevens and Moorman, bond attorneys for the hospital bond issue. Council also approved a hospital board recommendation to retain the services of Louis Schimmel of the town of the prospectus in connection with the hospital bond issue at a fee not to exceed $500.

City Clerk Clarence Greengood reported that five additional voting machines have been received for use in the city of Holland.

The city manager gave several reports on sanitary sewers and water mains and June 15 at 7:30 p.m. was set as date for public hearings in these cases. They involved a sanitary sewer in Ottawa between 24th and 26th Sts., estimated cost, $4,498; a water main in Harrison Ave. from 27th to 26th St. thence west to Cleveland, estimated cost $3,430.19, and hydrant, $341.06.

Also under consideration are the installation of sanitary sewers in Cleveland Ave. from Wildwood Dr. to 32nd St.; 32nd St. east from Cleveland to a point 400 feet west of Harrison; 31st St. from Cleveland to point 400 feet west of Harrison; 28th St. between Harrison and Cleveland Aves.

An offer to City Council from Dwight and Genevieve Ferris to sell the premises at 57 West 12th St. to Holland city for $13,000 was referred to the planning commission for recommendation. The offer will continue for 30 days.

Council okayed a release for a right of way on two parcels of land for the Wildwood drain.

Two applications for moving houses were submitted by Sam McCoy. One request to move a house from 33rd St. to 382 West 17th St. was denied on the basis that the house would not conform with existing houses in the 17th St. neighborhood. An application to move a house from 322 River Ave. to 289 East 11th St. was tabled.

Oaths of office were filed for four members of the panel of hearing examiners: C. W. Madison, one year; Ed Van Spyker, two years; Frank Harbin, Jr., three years; Carl S. Snyder, four years.

Council approved a signed fire protection agreement from the Roamer Boat Corp. in Fillmore township. Later in the evening, Council approved Councilman Raymond Holwerda's motion to reactivate the committee to study outside fire protection agreements.

The clerk presented a letter from F. A. Leamy of the 9th Coast Guard district regarding loading or discharging non-military explosives in the local port. The clerk was instructed to write the commandant that the city feels such action should come under federal control, namely the Coast Guard.

The clerk presented an official notice from the Michigan Municipal League calling attention to the 57th annual meeting of the Michigan Municipal League to be held on Mackinac Island Sept. 8, 9 and 10, with headquarters in Grand Hotel.

Council accepted an invitation from School Supt. Walter W. Scott to attend a joint meeting with the Board of Education and its taxation and school finance study committee June 8 in E. E. Fell Junior High School.

At services Sunday evening at First Reformed Church, Mrs. Nelson Kragt and Mrs. John Tien, Sr. placed stars on the Christian Service Flag for their two sons. The two stars completed the second hundred of First Church people who have entered Christian service.

Earl Kragt, his wife, Hazel, and their baby, Paul Earl, will sail for the Philippine Islands early in September as missionaries to overseas Chinese for the Reformed Church in America. John Tien and his wife, the former Yvonne Ruth De Loof, have accepted the promise of a call to the Bethel Reformed Church of Sterling, Ill.

According to Dr. Raymond R. Van Heukelom, church pastor, few churches of any denomination in the country have been honored with such a large number of volunteers for service either as ministers at home or missionaries abroad. Some of the stars represent persons who were not "born and raised" in First Church, but became members later in life.

When the Academy was associated with Hope College and preparation for the ministry involved spending 11 years in Holland, a number of young men transferred memberships to First Church and maintained membership the full 11 years. No married women are among the 101 names, although First Church has many former members in parsonages in the U. S. and in foreign work. Single women missionaries are included.

John Tien preached the sermon Sunday evening. Earl Kragt preached May 15 on "Our Missionary Mandate." Both were examined by the Classis of Holland for licensure and Kragt also was examined for ordination at First Church May 24. Kragt will be ordained and both he and his wife are to be commissioned missionaries at a public service at the church tonight at 7:30.

At the Sunday evening service, the pastor congratulated the young men and their parents. The congregation stood while the stars were pinned on the flag by their mothers.

Ottawa Beach Is in Full Swing

Memorial Day weekend pushed activities at Holland State Park into high gear and attendance marks are climbing upward, breaking last year's marks weekly, Clare Broad, park manager reported Monday.

A total of 23,726 people visited the park during the three-day holiday and used facilities to the fullest extent. The cold wind kept crowds down somewhat, however.

A total of 97 camp permits were issued last week bringing the total of 198. This is 45 more than the same time a year ago.

One life guard is needed to complete the 14-man summer crew, Broad reported. Anyone interested should contact him at the park.

Kiwanians See Pipeline Film

Holland Kiwanis Club members saw the dramatic pipeline linking of Michigan's Upper and Lower Peninsulas in a film titled "The Deep Inch" at their regular meeting Monday night at the Warm Friend Tavern.

The film, a product of the Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corp., recorded the placement of two 20-inch crude oil transmission lines beneath the four-mile-wide Straits of Mackinac in one "open water" season—the longest and deepest underwater pipeline crossing ever attempted by the pull method.

Completed in less than eight months—between the first arrival of equipment and the annual winter freeze—the twin lines are key links in a 643-mile pipeline extension that for the first time made possible year-around delivery of Canadian oil to a large part of the Great Lakes area.

Kiwanis President Jack Grasmeyer presided and about 45 attended the meeting. Twenty members attended a board meeting after the regular meeting.

Ted Bos' Blast Gives Bareman's Win Over Hulst

A 12th-inning homer by Ted Bos over the center field fence broke up the season's tightest pitching duel in City Softball league play Thursday night and gave Bareman's Service a 2-1 win over Hulst Bros. Co. D National Guards edged Barber Fords, 4-3 in a five-inning non-league game.

Bos' blast came with one out in the last of the 12th. The two teams had battled for 10 innings before denting the plate and both units managed to push single runs across in the 11th frame.

Al Bosch, Hulst Bros. hurler, doubled for one of the three hits given up by Joe Berens with two out in the 11th. He stole third base and scored on a wild pitch. Teammate Jud Gebben got another two-base hit later in the inning but was left stranded along with Kearney Zoerhof who had walked.

Berens tallied Bareman's 11th inning run and in somewhat of a similar circumstance to his opposing counterpart, he doubled with two out, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on an error by catcher Bob Vork.

Both teams got a base hit in the first inning. Zoerhof opened the game with a drive to left but that was the final Hulst safety the 11th.

In the 11th, for the only Bareman hit until the 10th when he singled. Berens and Bos added the other hits in the next two innings for the four-hit total.

Bosch struck out 20 men, the season's high so far. He walked two men and let go with the costly pitch. Berens fanned nine and walked three.

Three home runs highlighted the National Guard-Fords game. Warren Plaggemars and Jun Hop homered for Fords to account for two of the runs and Berens blasted for the circuit to give the Guards their first run.

An error, a double by Roy Streng-holt and a single by Nykamp punched across two more Guard runs in the fourth and a walk to Imminck and a double to Boersen scored the winning run in the fifth inning.

The other Barber run scored in the second. Wayne Hop singled stole second, went to third on a passed ball and home on a wild pitch.

The Guards made seven hits off the slants of Bert Ebels. Boersen had two for three and Hall, Berens, Wierda, Nykamp and Strengholt all had one hit.

Pitchers Skimpy With Hits; Knoper Hurls No-Hitter

Larry Knoper pitched the first no-hit game of the City softball season here Friday night as Hulst Bros. shaded the Moose, 5-1. The performance overshadowed Lum Veldman's one-hitter in the opening game that gave the Vets a 2-1 win over Barber Fords.

Knoper fanned 17 batters in the contest, the high so far this season for a seven inning game. Two errors in the last of the seventh prevented Knoper from having a no-hit game.

Jas De Vries got to second base in the seventh on an error by Jerry Kok, was sacrificed to third and scored on Ed Klinge's error. In the first inning, Don Hulst was the other Moose base-runner, getting on on a passed ball after a third strike.

Home runs accounted for two of the winners five runs. Kok opened the scoring in the second with a homer to left. Rod Brinks round-tripper in the fifth was the second run, preceding Jud Gebben's run. He singled and got to third on an error by Jack Vandenberg and came home on a fly out.

The final two runs came across in the sixth. A walk, passed ball and singles by Al Velthuis and Kok produced the runs.

Nimikowski, Moose pitcher, allowed six hits. Kok got two hits and Velthuis, Brinks, Gebben and Harvey Zoerhof each one. Nimikowski struck out nine and walked one.

Lum Veldman allowed one hit in the Vets-Fords game, a homer to Jay Hop in the fourth. Bob Ebels gave up four hits in the contest, but two of them were first inning homers by Bill Franks and Jay Hoffman, and that was the scoring.

The Fords didn't have another baserunner in the game as Veldman mowed down the side. He struck out 14. Ebels gave up two singles in the fourth, the only other inning the Vets had men on base. He fanned four.

Neither pitcher gave up a walk and let go with a wild pitch. Hoffman led the hit parade for the winners. He got two out of three. Franks and Gerd Barendse got the other Vets hits.

Health Department Checks Resorts

Gold and green signs will tell tourists and vacation-bound Michigan residents which resorts and motels are "health department approved."

About 5,000 Michigan summer spots and roadside motels will be inspected by sanitarians in the next month or so, the Michigan Department of Health said today.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, said resort and motel operators work with the task force of local health department sanitarians, checking everything from room ventilation to bathing beaches.

The "HDA" signs, Dr. Heustis said, "mean that owners of the accommodations and your health department have joined to see that all possible steps are taken to safeguard health in your home away from home."

"While the sign doesn't necessarily mean that the resort or motel is the last word in modern convenience, it is a reassurance on health and safety."

"In the 3 years since this program was started, we're glad to report that the 'HDA' has become a well-known mark of dependability along highways and roads of Michigan."

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

The other day the 200th birthday was celebrated of the birth of Dr. Thomas Bowdler, a Welshman who became famous not as a writer but as a destroyer of some of the writings of England's greatest poet. Bowdler set himself the job of eliminating "sex" from Shakespeare.

Turn to your dictionary and you'll find a word "bowdlerize" with a small "b". The definition reads: "to expurgate prudishly," with the explanation, "from Thomas Bowdler, who in 1812 published an expurgated edition of Shakespeare."

Bowdler was not a poet himself, or even a writer in any true sense. He was a British physician who failed in his profession because he couldn't stand the sight of blood. Because his family had plenty of money, he retired to a life of leisure, adopting a number of hobbies.

Finally he hit on the idea of filling his time with "cleaning up" Shakespeare's plays. Obsessed with the idea that the greatest British poet should not be read in the original because of his frank use of sex in his writings, he took on the job of cutting out all references to sexual matters.

But before long he discovered that mere excision would not do the job. In very many cases the sexual imagery in Shakespeare is so pervasive that nothing short of substitution would serve. To laud the great poet properly, he had to replace many words and phrases that Shakespeare used, with others that could safely be read by what he called "an innocent maiden." Occasionally, it became necessary to rewrite a whole passage.

You can easily imagine what that did to Shakespeare. Bowdler was not blessed with a creative imagination; nature had equipped him only to destroy, not to create. The Bowdler passages in the Shakespeare plays stuck out like a sore thumb.

But he was convinced that he was doing a great service to morality, and he virtually devoted his whole life to the job. The edition of Shakespeare he published is today one of the great curiosities of literature. It is a glaring example of how foolish a well-intentioned man can become.

Even in his own day the project met with ridicule. In the nineteenth century, throughout the Victorian era, sex in literature was constantly under attack, so much so that the writers of that day felt forced to keep more or less clear of it. But in spite of that, even the Victorians could not tolerate the emasculation of their greatest poet by a prudish moralist.

The time came when any attempt to "purify" a great writer was compared with Bowdler's major surgery on Shakespeare. And that led to turning his name into a common verb, so that anyone who engaged in similar activities was said to "bowdlerize." That's how the new word got into the dictionary.

Attempts have been made to "bowdlerize" some other great writers. Notably Chaucer. There have been a number of editions of Chaucer prepared for Thomas Bowdlers "innocent maiden." Not a single one has taken hold in any serious way.

Curiously, no one, so far as I know, has ever attempted to "bowdlerize" the chronicle books of the Old Testament. Yet there is plenty of sex in most of those books. Apparently the "purifiers" of literature have always been overawed by the standing of those documents.

Holland ninth grades lost a doubleheader to the Northend Giants of Grand Rapids Friday night by the scores of 4-2 and 7-6 at Riverview Park.

Sports Attributes Cited by Goebel At Sports Banquet

Paul Goebel, Grand Rapids businessman and former Big 10 football official, set up five attributes to be gained from athletics and concluded with definite obligations which must be met by athletes Wednesday night speaking to 275 athletes and parents at the first annual Holland High all-sports banquet at Durlife Hall.

Goebel singled out athletics as building health, both mentally and physically, creating resourcefulness and initiative in teaching how to make right decisions and creating a spirit of sportsmanship and the importance of learning to work.

He also emphasized cooperation and getting along with others, learning obedience and picking up an inspiration through sports to complete an education.

The former University of Michigan football player told the athletes that "they have an obligation to conduct themselves so that parents and other people will realize that they're better boys for having been in sports. They must be disciples of the program to be a little better than the other fellow."

Goebel interjected into his talk, several humorous incidents; and paid several tributes. He called Franklin (Cappy) Cappon, former Holland High great, "the greatest football player I've seen in 35 years. If Cappy hadn't played all the positions he'd be an All-American in one or two of them." Both were teammates at Michigan.

He praised Fielding "Hurricane" Yost, the late Michigan football coach for his influence. We paid a tribute to coaches of today as "Being better trained and of higher caliber than 25 years ago. Coaches make an impression on youngsters. The coaches can get through to youngsters sometimes easier than parents," Goebel said.

J. J. Riemersma, Holland High principal, introduced Goebel. Spring sports coaches presented awards and Joe Moran, athletic director, presided.

Mother-Daughter Dessert Given

About 150 members and guests attended a Mother-Daughter Dessert given by the Ladies Aid of Trinity Reformed Church Wednesday evening in Terkeurst Auditorium.

Highlight of the event was a presentation entitled "Far Away Places," featuring a fashion show of native costumes during a trip around the world. A newly-organized group of the Ladies Aid was in charge of the program. Mrs. Ted Boeve acted as mistress of ceremonies and narrator for the production. The entire presentation was written, staged and produced by Mrs. Kenneth Weller.

In the production, Mrs. William Venhuizen and daughter Kristi appeared as a typical American mother and daughter who visited other countries where they saw mothers and daughters in native dress.

Representing Japan were Mrs. Simon Steketee and daughter; China, Mrs. Chester Oonk and Mrs. Foster Kooyers and daughters; India, Mrs. Donald Hein and Mrs. John Percival and daughters; Arabia, Mrs. Fred Meppelink, Jr. and daughter; Holland, Mrs. Don Ladewig and daughter; Mexico, Mrs. Stanley Van Otterloo and daughters; gypsies, Mrs. Art Hoedema and daughter.

Mrs. Paul Vander Hill, president of the new Aid group, led devotions. A toast to daughters was given by Mrs. Lester Kuiper. Her daughter, Carol, responded. Mrs. Clifton Dalman, Ladies Aid president, welcomed members and guests. Music was provided by a sextet from the Trinity Treble Choir.

Dessert was served from a table decorated with profiles of a mother and daughter, and colorful individual nosegays for all the guests. Mrs. Henry Visser and Mrs. George Steketee poured.

Voss-Bolman Rites Performed

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin J. Voss

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin J. Voss are now on a honeymoon trip to the Smoky Mountains following their marriage Tuesday at 8 p.m. in First Reformed Church of Zeeland. The bride is the former Carolyn Bolman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bolman of route 5, Holland. The groom, who was graduated last week from Western Theological Seminary, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Voss of St. Anne, Ill.

The double ring wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. John den Ouden. The church was decorated with a double setting of fern, candelabra and altar bouquets of gladioli, daisies and larkspur. The pews were decorated with white satin bows, flowers and greens.

Before she approached the altar, the bride sang "Because." She was dressed in a floor-length gown of tulle and chantilly lace over satin and net. The fitted bodice featured a sheer yoke and lace applique with small standup collar. The scalloped lace skirt extended into a train. She wore a fingertip veil and carried a white Bible with a beautiful lace handkerchief and white carnations and yellow roses. Her double strand of pearls and earrings was a gift from the groom.

Miss Margaret Voss, cousin of the groom, sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt. Elmer Lievens was organist.

Miss Joan Bolman, the bride's sister, as maid of honor, and Mrs. Eugene Davidson as bridesmaid wore identical waltz-length gowns of yellow and white net over tulle. The fitted-bodices featured round necklines and off-the-shoulder small gathered sleeves. They wore Juliet caps trimmed with tiny pearls and white pearl-trimmed gloves. They carried colonial bouquets of green and white carnations centered with a yellow rose. Their pearl chokers and earrings were gifts from the bride.

Donald Voss assisted his brother as best man and William Hoffman was groomsmen. William Bolman and John Nyitray were ushers. Eugene Bolman lit the candles.

Both mothers wore powder blue dresses with white accessories and red rose corsages.

At the reception for 135 guests in the church parlors, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Westerhoff of Holland were master and mistress of ceremonies. Punch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hennings and the gift room was arranged by Betty Nagelkirk, Mert Bosch and Carol De Jongh. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Reynold Pyle, Mrs. Elmer Fyle, Mrs. Bertus Fyle, Mrs. Preston Meeuwse, Mrs. Junior Avink, Mrs. Criston De Jongh, Mrs. Edward Styf, Miss Betty Vand Bosch and Miss Anelene Pul.

Taking part in a program were Miss Jean Vande Wege, Mrs. Lorenz Meengs, Miss Margaret Voss, Miss Normalea Bolman, Jacob Dykstra, Rev. den Ouden and the Rev. John VanderMay.

For going away, the bride wore a powder blue boxy suit with white accessories and carnation corsage. The couple will make their home in Raritan, Ill., where the groom has accepted a pastorate.

The bride, a Zeeland High School graduate, was employed at Holland Furnace Co. office. The groom was graduated from St. Anne High School and Hope College before entering Western Seminary.

Man Bound Over In Assault Case

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—La Verne De Witt, 45, Ferrysburg, was bound over to Ottawa Circuit Court upon examination on a charge of felonious assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder before Justice Frederick J. Workman Thursday afternoon.

The only witness called at the preliminary hearing Thursday was the subject's 11-year-old son, Dale, upon whom the alleged assault took place. The child testified his father had slapped him several times, then threw him into the bathtub causing his head to strike the sink, early last Sunday morning. After the incident the child and his sister walked to Grand Haven to the police department which in turn, took the children to the state police post, as the incident occurred outside the city. Trooper Leland Jones took the child to Municipal Hospital in Grand Haven, where it required at least four stitches to close the head wound.

The father is a barber in a Spring Lake barber shop. The parents are divorced and the mother is in California.

The assault occurred after the father became enraged because the child had played his parent's saxophone. The father had been drinking, officers said.

Bond of $250, which had been reduced by the Court from $500 was furnished and De Witt will be arraigned in Circuit Court June 2 at 10 a.m.

The group was called to order by Alger Cline and the Rev. J. Heccoks gave the invocation. Entertainment following the dinner was provided by baton twirler Sharn Yntema and the Holland Aires, a women's quartet.

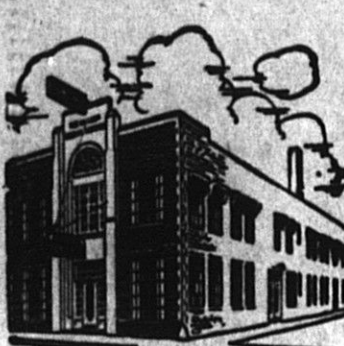

A special agent from the Secret Service, M. G. Martineau, spoke on "Secret Service Functions." Remarks were made by Mayor Robert S. De Bruyn and Rev. Heccoks addressed the group. A business meeting following the program was conducted by Cline.

DRIVE SAFELY

We have a great deal of material
that we are receiving daily concerning safe driving. This suggestion comes from N. C. DeLong, bus line safety director: "IMProper equipment—faulty brakes, tires, lights, horn. IMPoliteness—discourteous drivers are troublemakers.
IMPaird vision—fog, rain, dirty windshield and mirrors. IMPediments—slow farm tractors, crawling, Sunday drivers. IMProper—turns with incorrect signals or from wrong lane. IMPatience—leads to speeding and weaving in and out.
Keep these "imps" from causing trouble over the long weekend by recognizing them in yourself and others."

Our local, county, and state police are asking for the cooperation of all of us. It is a good idea to remember that in outstate there are millions of automobiles, buses,
trucks and other types of vehicles
that will be traveling our highways. Our governor has ordered out 50 National Guardsmen to help with the intensified traffic safety effort.

Commissioner Joseph A. Childs
has cancelled all pass days from noon Friday, May 27, to noon Tuesday, May 31. The cancellation order also includes the Fourth of July and Labor Day weekends.

Let's all drive safely and be alive
after the long weekend just beginning.

LOOKING TOO MUCH ALIKE

As reported in a recent United Press dispatch, Basil L. Walters, executive editor of the Chicago Daily News, thinks that "the biggest trouble with American newspapers is that they all look too much alike." Mr. Walters made the statement to a group of 30 Michigan editors and publishers.

If you wish to confirm the Walters statement for yourself, take a transcontinental trip, reading
local newspapers as you go along.
Obviously the wire service news is very much the same in all of them, because it is prepared for all at central points. But Mr. Walters thinks that newspapers could show more variety in the handling of news and features that originate in their own offices.

In connection with the Walters statement another statement should be read that appeared at about the same time in The Saturday Review, a national weekly. It was by Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer. Mr. Daniels, son of the late Josephus Daniels, expressed the opinion that the hope of individuality in American newspapers lies not in the big papers with hundreds of thousands of readers but in the small dailies and weeklies
with limited circulations.

The big dailies, he agrees with the Walters statement, are, with a few notable exceptions, like peas in a pod. They do not reflect the personality of a community because the mass readership in a large city is like the mass readership in any other large city.

But the small papers, in small communities, according to Mr.
Daniels, are likely to reflect the community spirit. That gives them variety and hence helps to save them from being "too much alike."

Bringing the Daniels principle down to the local field, anyone can see for himself that a community like Holland is quite different in spirit and ideals and manners and customs.

That is all to the good in American Journalism. In spite of the large circulations of big city papers, more than half of American's newspaper readers still live in small communities. The Chicago Daily News editor in looking at more than 30 daily newspapers of Michigan displayed for his study could well come up with this generalization that American newspapers look "too much alike."

This however is not the case specifically. We find that there are a great many different styles in the Michigan dailies. We think this is good. We do find that there is much standardization but this is because of the standard equipment
and standard type faces.

We at The Sentinel are trying for many things in the publishing of our local newspapers. Speed is one of the things. We find that our people want their local paper on time. They are not always so particular about some of the errors that creep in.

There are many things that we would like to do to improve our papers. This we are trying to do daily. We do however, have many problems. With more than 50 percent of the population living in communities the size of Holland,
that we have a very good advertising medium. It would be a good thing for some of the national space buyers to remember when they are spending their clients money.

GETTING FIRST-HAND VIEWS

The appointment of Barbara L.
Lampen, local teacher, to a Fulbright Teacher Exchangeship in the Netherlands, gives this community one more unofficial "ambassador" to Europe. There have been several of them the past few years, sponsored by the Fulbright organization and by various other bodies. They have served as community "ambassadors" in Germany, in Spain, in various other countries, and now in the community's mother country, Holland.
The same thing is going on in many other communities throughout the nation, so that thousands of young Americans get an opportunity every year to live with the people of other lands and to get a first-hand view of what life is like over there. At the same time a good many from over there come here and get an opportunity to find out what we are like in America.

There is no substitute for such first-hand views. In spite of all the techniques that have been developed by way of the printed page, the radio, and television, a foreign country remains to a large extent foreign to those who do not visit it personally. And even temporary visitors get no more than a distorted view of life over there;
only those who live for an extended time in a foreign country have a chance to learn the realities of life in other countries.

And this is a great privilege not only to those who actually serve as "ambassadors"; something of the benefit seeps through to the communities from which they are sent and to those they visit. We here in Holland are beginning to understand several European countries better because of the reports that the "ambassadors" have brought back to us, not merely in their talks but also in their unconscious attitudes. And as over in Europe there are many people today who understand us more truly for what we really are because our ambassadors' lives
among them and unconsciously reflected us.

It is a pity that the process cannot at the present time be applied to the countries behind the Iron Curtain both in Europe and Asia.
If enough grass-roots people from those lands could visit us and live among us, while at the same time
our "ambassadors" visit with them,
not all the dictators in the Kremlin or in Peking could prevent sympathy and understanding that would make even a cold war impossible, let alone a hot one.
It may take a long time, but if life on this globe is to get back on the track, it will need to come eventually.

Herman Besselink, graduate student from Holland (the Netherlands) will work for The Sentinel this summer. Each year there are several of these graduate students at the University of Michigan. This is the second man we have had in our employ. Al Rojnik from Australia in 1931 was the last one.
We hope you remember him. Each year we notify the University of Michigan of our desire to have one of these graduate students. There are however, more positions open than applicants. We do not always have the privilege. When you meet Mr. Besselink remember that he will be another ambassador going back to his country.

day announced that the new Certified Mail service will be available

Manasseh's Sin and Repentance
2 Chronicles 33:9-19
By Henry Geerlings

Manasseh was born during Hez-ekiah's fifteen extra years. Doubtless he had been carefully reared during his father's lifetime. Immediately afterward, he fell under evil influences which completely carried him away. He must have been misguided by members of the party of Jewish nobles, which disliked the strictness of the Mosaic code and favored the laxer morals
and gayer rites of the heathen.

This party must have welcomed the opportunity to assert its power
with a weak monarch on the throne,
which came with the death of Hezekiah and the retirement of Isaiah, due to old age. Thus it came about that young Manasseh was corrupted by evil men. When, therefore, he began to reign personally at eighteen, he became an aggressive idolater, a devotee of many cults and rites, fanatically opposed to the pure worship of Jehovah, and a deadly persecutor of the protesting prophets of Jehovah.

It must be remembered, too, that throughout most of Manasseh's life Judah was a vassal state to Assyria. It paid Manasseh to be loyal and to be faithful in paying tribute. Not only so, but Judah was influenced by aggressive Assyrian monarchs who sought to spread Assyrian ideas and cultures everywhere as the custodians of an old civilization.

The chronicler gives an inventory of the flood of heathen religious practices which overspread Judah.
This popular trend would link
Judah with the proud Assyrian empire. The new worship spread like wildfire. Manasseh worshipped all the host of heaven. The Assyrians and Babylonians worshipped the moon and stars. Loyal to his imperial master he built altars to these popular Assyrian deities in the courts of the temple.

Thus he plunged Jerusalem and Judah into an idolatry and immorality lower than that practiced by the heathen. Notwithstanding his wicked life he sincerely repented. His is a most unusual case,
for he had been extremely wicked,
experienced a genuine repentance,
and manifested a thoroughgoing reformation. He became an Old Testament prodigal son, the symbol of the possibilities of human nature and also, of the grace of God. In his affliction of body and spirit, no longer proud or bent on evil, he first sought God.

Once in the felt presence of God,
he sincerely humbled himself. Then, indeed, he could pray. Although the Old Testament does not give the text of this prayer, an apocryphal book entitled "The Prayer of Manasseh" could well be the prayer of the penitent king. After an invocation to the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Judah, he confessed his sin, asked for pardon, and vowed to praise God forever if the prayer was answered. The subsequent life of Manasseh points to the sincerity of his prayer and the genuineness of his repentance.

Again in Jerusalem, he made efforts to secure the city's defenses.
These fortifications included a strong wall across the Tyropoeon Valley to the fish gate. Besides, he provided military commanders for all the walled cities of Judah.
He was not preparing for offensive war, only for the security of his realm against attack. The times were troubled. War was in the air, and it was only prudent to take these measures.

More significantly, Manasseh
showed the genuineness of his repentance by drastic religious reforms. These were negative and positive, and they involved the king's personal example. He removed all the heathen idols and altars he had before built in Jerusalem. Then he repaired the altar of the Lord which stood before the temple.

After the altar had been readied
and the court cleansed, he offered peace offerings and thank offerings.
The first was a token of right relations with God—forgiveness after repentance and the second an expression of thanksgiving. In the framework of his own religious experience, he commanded Judah to serve the God of Israel.

However, even though he could repent of the past, he could not undo it. For one thing, he had slain many godly people and silenced prophets and teachers. A whole generation doubtless had grown up without religious instruction. This may account for the fact that his reforms failed to reach and stir the heart of the nation. There was no genuine reaction from the ear-

It Just Doesn't Pay
To Ignore Ticket

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Al-
fratz Ferguson, 18, Grand Rapids, has learned that improper use of an operator's license can be expensive business. And ignoring a summons can lead to complications.

Ferguson was given a summons last April 29 by state police for displaying an operator's license
other than his own when stopped on US-16 in Spring Lake township.
When he failed to appear, he was picked up on a warrant by Grand Haven police Tuesday and was taken to the court of Justice Frederick J. Workman in Spring Lake.

On a charge of displaying a license other than his own, he was sentenced to pay $20 fine, $4.90
costs and serve three days in jail.
If fine and costs are not paid, he will serve an additional six days.

On a charge of driving without an operator's license, he was sentenced to pay $15 fine and $4.90
costs, or serve an eight-day sentence.

In 1934, 577,000 veterans were treated in Veterans Administration hospitals where American Red Cross volunteers served.

Dutch Make Five
Errors to Hand
Tigers 5-0 Win

Five unearned runs, all made on errors, gave Muskegon Heights a 5-0 win over Holland High's baseball team at Riverview Park Tuesday afternoon. It marked the second time this season the Dutch have lost to the Tigers on errors and left Holland with a 5-8 season's record.

Lefty Leroy Fogarty struck out 15 Tiger batters, most so far this season by a Dutch hurler, and made two of Holland's four hits.
Fogarty gave up five hits.

The Tigers scored their first run in the third inning. Gould singled and came around on an error by Norm Witteveen, Dutch shortstop.
Three more runs were added in the sixth. Bob Slezak, Tiger pitcher, drew a walk and scored on Willie Dykens' error of Hilliard's hit down the third base line. Hilliard and Perry, who had drawn a walk, scored two more runs on Tom Ragains' error. The final run came in the seventh. John Zarimba was hit by a pitched ball and tallied on Dick Vander Yacht's error.
Holland threatened in the second and sixth when runners advanced third base. In the second Norm Hoeve singled and was thrown out trying to score on Fogarty's single.
Gerry Boeve was safe on an error to open the last of the sixth. Another error moved him to third but three Dutch batters went out in a row and squelched any rally ideas.

John Stryker, Dutch center fielder, opened the last of the first with a single for the only other Holland
hit. Slezak struck out nine Dutchmen.

Five batters got one hit each for the Tigers. Holland made five errors and Muskegon Heights two.

Fogarty gave up one walk and Slezak two. Holland left five on base and the Tigers eight.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Buttles, 2251 Lakewood Blvd., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Baker, 1819 South Shore Dr.

The bride was beautifully gowned in ethereal double tulle over taffeta. The gown was fashioned with a full bell skirt with panels of classic rose patterned lace. The snug bodice of lace molded over taffeta featured portrait shoulder trend and petite short sleeves. The fingertip veil of bridal illusion was held in place by a pearl-trimmed Juliet cap. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Midgene Telotte, who wore a ballerina-length gown of teal organza, styled with portrait neckline, short sleeves and bouffant skirt. She wore a matching headband and short white gloves and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis. Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Donald Baker. Ushers were Rod Boersma and Jeffery Mills.

Many Accidents But None Serious

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — State police processed many accidents during the holiday weekend but none was of a serious nature and most involved out-of-town and out-of-state cars.

At 6:45 p.m. Sunday, a car driven by Wilbur F. Paulson, 28, Muskegon, rolled over in Grand Haven township and the driver was charged with reckless driving. The driver told state police he had a blowout on his right front tire, but police determined on investigation that blowouts on both right tires must have occurred after the car rolled over.

Don E. Kline, 23, of 7428 Lake Shore Dr., West Olive, was charged with excessive speed and failure to report an accident after his car went out of control at 2 a.m. Sunday in Tallmadge township. Kline told officers unbalanced front wheels caused a shimmy together with excessive speed caused the car to go out of control.

James E. Corn, 33, route 1, Spring Lake, was charged with having no Michigan operator's license and failure to report a personal injury accident after his car left the road on 144th Ave. Shortly after midnight Sunday, Corn told state police he was forced off the road by an unknown driver who passed him. Corn was treated for injuries to his left shoulder by his family physician.

Grandstanding...

By Randy VandeWater
Baseball is made up primarily of holler guys but a couple of quiet fellows come in for mention here today.

They are Willie Rink and Ron Boeve. Both were named Wednesday to the all-MIAA baseball team. We went to Hope College to chat with these fellows about the honor shovels their way. We found one, getting ready for a class, but we couldn't find the other. He had gone fishing.

Probably just as well we saw only one because we're sure we would have seen a repeated reaction. The one, Ron Boeve, Hope's catcher and a sophomore, was looking over a physics book and his attitude was a shrug-of-the shoulder smile with a bit of pride seeping out of the corner of his mouth.

Willie Rink... gone fishing

The other, Willie Rink, pitcher, judging from previous interviews, would have run a parallel performance. We've watched the two battery mates this year. They've worked every conference game. Boeve's meeting of Rink and a "keep it up" spoken as the hurler reached the baseline and then the head-downward walk to the dugout together was a familiar sight.

This year some of the innings were a bit lengthy. Hope took it on the chin four out of the seven conference games. Last summer the duo formed the Holland Flying Dutchmen battery. It's a slim possibility that Rink will play for the Dutchmen this season but Boeve, who made the honor team for the first time, will be back at the backstoppost post.

The lads may have taken their final dugout walk together. Rink

Allegan School District Will Vote On Bond Issue

Citizens' Committee Supports Proposed New High School

ALLEGAN (Special) — Allegan school district voters will be given an opportunity June 13 to take advantage of the new state constitutional amendment approved last fall as "proposal No. 3" to finance a proposed $990,000 high school with a 25-year bond issue.

A citizens' committee report recommending this step was approved at a public meeting Friday night in the high school. Dr. Howard C. Workman presided as chairman.

Under the newly amended statute, only taxpayers will be eligible to vote on the bond issue. The question of millage will not be on the ballot. Approval of the $990,000 bond issue, based on an estimated 3 percent interest rate, would result in an average increase of $2.10 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation over the 25-year period.

Donald Summrell, a representative of the firm of Binda and Associates, Battle Creek architects retained to prepare the plans, said the new tax, if approved, would have to be based on state equalized values which are 1.4 times higher than county equalized values.

Bonding attorneys have set up a fluctuating scale of principle and interest payments. Summrell explained, if the bonds are approved, the total school building tax would amount to $9.57 per thousand in 1956, and $9.57 in 1959 it would rise to $11.88, in 1960 to $11.81. From 1961 — when the present school bonds would be retired — until 1981, the tax would amount to $7.48 per thousand.

The school board proposes a 24-room, one-story school with facilities for 600 students in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades, to be located on property east of the athletic field which is on the western edge of the city. The present high school building would be used for 7th, 8th and 9th grades.

If the bond issue is approved, the board plans to purchase an additional six acres of land adjacent to the athletic field. The site was decided on only after an exhaustive check of all available land and was virtually the only location which fell within the state's recommendation of 20 acres of space for a school of this size. The athletic field includes approximately 14 acres which already belongs to the district.

The question of transporting students to the school was discussed at Friday night's meeting and it was agreed that some sort of shuttle service could be provided if there was a real need for it. School Board member Chester A. Ray pointed out, however, that any disadvantages as far as location was concerned were more than outweighed by the advantage of breaking up the present six-grade, junior and senior high school combination.

Tentative plans for the site and building had previously been approved by a committee made up of Kenneth Plotts, Robert Slope, James Pettapiece, Kenneth Bollinger and Eldon Philley, while details of the 25-year bond issue were approved by Dick Nahikian, John Follett, John Young and Clyde McGowan.

Injury Fails to Daunt Ambition of Local Man

Twenty-nine-year-old George W. Prins may be permanently paralyzed from the waist down but his spirit is still very much alive.

George was injured nearly four years ago in Grand Haven in a freak accident when the boom on a truck whipped around and struck him in the back, severing his spine. Since then he has refused to just sit around and do nothing. When he was released from the hospital he headed for Grand Rapids and studied accounting at Davenport-McLachlan Institute.

Upon his return to Holland he has been employed as an accountant with Mainhofer, Moore and De Long.

He drives a car with the use of hand controls and gets in and out of the automobile without assistance.

His lovely wife, the former June Bosch, and their six-year-old daughter, Kathy, are two very important reasons why his future looks bright.

The three lead as normal a life as is possible and don't feel sorry for themselves in the least. Their spirit is catching and the Prins home at 368 West 18th St., has been remodeled on the inside and the exterior sports a brand new coat of yellow paint.

The cheerful color was June's idea but the painting suggestion originated with relatives and neighbors. During the recent holiday weekend a half dozen men arrived with brushes and ladders and when they left the entire house was painted.

All that remains to be done is a little trim here and there. And that will be completed in the next few days.

The interior was remodeled with the help of uncles and friends and George worked right alongside them wielding a paint brush on the portions he could reach.

George also pitches horseshoes with the boys in the evening. In a vacant lot across from his home a lighted horseshoe pit was constructed.

The only concession made for George is a slightly raised ramp which was built to give him a little elevation.

George also carries his cheerful outlook on life to others. Whenever reports reach him of those who have been injured and face life from a wheel chair, he's off. He wheels his chair to the car, lifts himself in, and drives off for a visit to show the usually despondent patient that life from a wheel chair can still be useful and happy.

Three Children Injured In Intersection Crash

Three youngsters were treated for cuts and bruises at Holland Hospital Monday afternoon when a car they were in was struck broadside by another vehicle at 32nd St. and Braafschap Rd.

Nurserymen Urged To Attend Meet

All tree growers in Ottawa County are urged to attend a meeting June 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the West Ottawa district nursery to discuss best methods of controlling the European pine shoot moth.

The nursery is located three-fourths of a mile west of West Olive.

The insect seems to be on the increase in the county and is especially harmful to red pine and Christmas tree plantings, according to Clarence Reenders, chairman of the board.

Recommended control is three pounds of 50 percent soluble DDT in 100 gallons of water sprayed on just after the adult moths have emerged and again in 10 days.

Time of application is one of the keys to control. It appears this season that adult insects will be emerging about 10 days earlier than last year.

Maroons End Year With 3-1 Defeat By Unity Nine

Hudsonville Unity Christian's baseball club posted its 12th win of the season and 11th in a row Tuesday night under the lights at Riverview Park by downing Holland Christian, 3-1. The loss closed Holland's season with a 5-6 record. The contest was a tight pitching duel between Holland's Harve Westbroek and Unity's Len Holstege. Both had fine control, with Westbroek giving up the only walk of the game. The Holland left hander gave up just two hits, while the Maroons managed to touch Holstege for three, two coming in the first inning. The curve balling Holstege fanned 15 local batters, while Westbroek was striking out seven.

At one stretch in the ball game, from the second through the fourth, Holstege struck out nine straight batters, going right through the batting order.

Holland notched its only tally in the first inning. After Bill Vryhof had lined out, Gary Vander Ark smacked a single and moved to third on a timely single by Gord Plaggemars. Dave Klaver then bounced out to the third baseman with Plaggemars scoring on the play.

Unity took over the lead in the fourth frame on one hit. After Holstege was safe on a throwing error, third baseman G. Mulder hit a triple which got by the right fielding who was playing him shallow. Holstege scored with ease. Mulder later scored on a sacrifice fly to center.

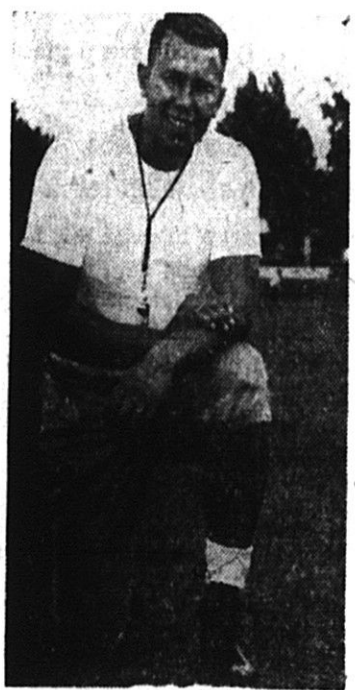

Hudsonville added an insurance marker in the seventh without a hit. An infield error and two passed balls accounted for the run.

Although the Maroons committed three errors, they also turned in some fine fielding plays, sparked by Vryhof who handled several tough chances flawlessly. Unity committed only one error, but had little opportunity to show itself with Holstege retiring 15 of the 21 batters by the strikeout route.

Line score:

	H	U	R	E
Holl. Chr.	100	000	1-3	3
Hud. Unity	000	200	1-3	2

Batteries: Westbroek and Plaggemars; Holstege and Gerrits.

Local Nine Meets Zeeland in Start Of League Action

The Holland Flying Dutchmen and the Zeeland Chix will pry off the lid on the Southwestern Michigan baseball league Monday, June 6 with a tussle at Riverview Park. Game time will be 7:30 p.m.

Both members of the five-team league, this will be the first of four league meetings between the two teams this season. The Dutchmen have been working out nightly at Riverview Park and the Chix, already ready with one win under their belts, are practicing nightly at Zeeland's Athletic Field.

Manager Russ Wolrding is presently moulding his team into shape. "We expect to be somewhat stronger than last year," Wolrding said. Right now, the playing roster is a bit uncertain because of college eligibility, Wolrding reported.

Wolrding has selected a tentative starting lineup. He expects to start Jack Kempker, veteran right hander, on the mound. Kempker was with the club last year. Others ready for mound duty are Wayne Westbroek, also on the team last season, and a newcomer Rog Smith of Grandville.

Veteran Ron Boeve will handle the catching chores spelled by Ron Van Dyke, Holland High School catcher. Boeve, AII-MIAA selection and Dutchmen catcher last year, backstopped for Hope College the last two years.

First base is wide open. Wolrding may have to do some shuffling opening night to come up with a first sacker.

Dwayne Tuesink, former Holland High player, and Gord Gravengood, listing some service baseball, are battling it out for second base while Dick De Freese, Hope College's regular third baseman, and Max Doolittle, former Holland High athlete, recently returned from the service are trying out for third.

Veteran Ron (Otto) Fortney will hold down the shortstop position. Outfielders working out are Ken Van Tatenhove, Harry Holtrist and Jack Shindell.

Wolrding indicated that the lineup is tentative and he'll welcome any more prospects. Workouts will be held again tonight at 6 p.m. at Riverview Park.

Many Top Plays On Schedule for Red Barn Theater

Five well-established summer theater groups will offer stage productions in every section of the West Michigan vacation region this season.

Huge barns converted into attractive playhouses, an historic opera house and other structures conveniently situated at vacation centers will be used by professional actors and college students in the stock companies which will produce the plays, starting in mid-June and continuing through July and August.

This season's summer playhouses include the Barn theater at Augusta, midway between Battle Creek and Kalamazoo on highway M-96; the Saugatuck Red Barn theater on highway US-31, seven miles south of Holland; the Lake Michigan Playhouse at Grand Haven; the Manistee Drama Festival at Manistee, and the Petoskey Playhouse at Petoskey.

The Barn theater at Augusta will open June 14 for its tenth consecutive season with a full cast of professional actors under direction of Jack P. Ragotzy and his wife, Betty Ebert. This is the oldest established summer playhouse of West Michigan, founded by the Ragotzys.

A class A equity company, the Barn company offers a new play each week from 11 to 13 weeks, every evening except Mondays. A former dairy barn has been converted into an attractive auditorium with 450 theater seats, a sloped floor and large louvered windows to provide cross-ventilation.

Excellent stage facilities, a well-developed sound system, a 30-foot opening on the platform and special stage equipment enable the company to present full scale productions.

The summer's schedule of plays will include a musical, possibly "Guys and Dolls." Other productions planned this year include "Oh Men, Oh Women," "The Fifth Season," "The Country Girl," "Dial M for Murder" and "The Rainmaker."

Attendance at the Barn last summer exceeded 25,000 with vacation guests in a wide area of the southern section of West Michigan in the audiences. The theater is situated on highway M-96, a mile west of the village of Augusta, midway between Kalamazoo and Battle Creek.

The Red Barn theater of the Saugatuck-Douglas area was moved last season from a site in Douglas to the new theater three miles north of the Saugatuck vacation community, playing in a huge converted barn on an attractive estate.

James C. Webster is producer-director of the Red Barn company, which is headed by a staff of professional actors. This is the eighth season for this group, which will present a new play each week, opening on Wednesday nights, starting June 22. A season of 11 weeks is scheduled.

The tentative schedule of productions include: "Sabrina Fair," "Miranda," "Yes, My Darling Daughter," "The Four Poster," "Papa is All," "The Innocents," "George Washington Slept Here," and "Time Out for Ginger."

Among the actors who will return to the Red Barn this season are Helen Burdick, Helen Tift, Richard Banks, Paola Vacey, Leslie Harmon, Reva Riley, Muriel Mollaghan, Charles Lynch, Bruce Mills and Joseph Harris.

This season a play-writing contest, open to anyone, will be held and the winning play will be produced by the company.

New talent will be recruited from colleges in Michigan, Indiana and Ohio for the seventh season of the Lake Michigan Playhouse at Grand Haven. It has been announced by William A. Gregory, director.

A series of adult and children's shows, which has been popular since establishment of the theater will be presented again this year. Mrs. Gregory will direct the children's productions.

Adult plays will open each Tuesday night and continue five nights. Children's plays are presented each afternoon and Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

All productions will be on the stage of the Women's club at Grand Haven and a theater workshop again will be offered, with six hours of college credits awarded for the course, which will be directed by Mr. Gregory, professor of drama at Alma College, Alma, Michigan.

Both the Red Barn and the Lake Michigan Playhouse attract vacation guests from a wide area, including vacation centers at Benton Harbor, South Haven, Douglas and Saugatuck, Holland and Lake Macatawa, Grand Haven and Spring Lake, Muskegon, Whitehall and Grand Rapids.

One of the most attractive settings for the summer playhouses of West Michigan is that staged in historic Ramsdell theater at Manistee.

Build by one of Michigan's great lumber barons at the turn of the century, the old Ramsdell Opera House was one of the famous theaters of the country a half century ago and four years ago it was redecorated and refurbished for the annual Manistee Drama Festival, which has proved popular with vacation guests in the Ludington, Manistee, Okama, Wellston, Elberta, Frankfort, Beulah and Bear Lake areas.

Madge Skelly, director of the Kalamazoo civic theater, will return this season as managing director of the series of eight productions, starting Thursday evening July 7.

Many members of the cast of professional actors that appeared last season will return. Miss Skelly has announced, and supporting roles will be assigned students enrolled under a theater study program at Manistee under sponsorship of Central Michigan College of Mt. Pleasant.

This will be the fifth season for the Drama Festival and the school. Newest of West Michigan's summer theaters is the Petoskey Playhouse, opened last year at Petoskey, center of the popular Little Traverse Bay vacation region in the northern reaches of Michigan's lower peninsula.

Under supervision of 25 year old Bentley Lenhoff, producer-director, the theater had a successful season.

A cast and crew of 15 members turned a former garage building in the business section of the city into an attractive theater with a semi-arena arrangement and a proscenium close to the audience, stained glass-like windows and a lobby decorated with art work of professional and new artists.

The Petoskey Playhouse was unique among the Michigan theaters, offering its productions on a stage without a curtain and scenes shifted by the players themselves in full view of the audience. This informality proved popular with large audiences.

In addition to the acting, the staff also did its own lighting, makeup, scene design and construction, assembled costumes and props, made the theater sign out front, prepared its own advertising copy and posters and even did the cleaning of the theater after each performance.

K, 4th Michigan Cavalry, of which E. L. Roades who lies buried here, was a member. The Michigan troops surrounded the camp before dawn, and a group of women fled, attempting escape. Memorial Day Receives Lots of Emphasis Here

The true significance of Memorial Day received plenty of emphasis in Holland during the holiday weekend.

On Sunday evening, patriotic orders of the city joined the congregation of Trinity Reformed Church for Memorial service conducted by the Rev. John Hains. His subject was "Lest We Forget."

On Monday morning, Memorial Day exercises in Pilgrim Home Cemetery followed a parade which led from city hall to the cemetery. The parade listed seven bands, a full contingent of the National Guard, patriotic organizations, Scouts and Camp Fire groups.

In his Memorial Day oration, State Sen. Edward Hutchinson of Fennville called attention to the incident 87 years ago when the suggestion came to decorate the graves of the veterans. He traced development of the tradition through the years in which not only the graves of veterans are decorated but of family graves as well.

"Until recently, Memorial Day was the only day in which the war dead were memorialized, but since Armistice Day on Nov. 11 has been renamed Veterans Day, that day now has added meaning. There is considerable belief that Memorial Day should continue to honor the military dead, and that emphasis on Armistice Day be given to the living," Hutchinson said.

The speaker traced the wars in which American people have participated, pointing out that the war of 1812 was the last war in which this country was invaded by a foreign power. As for the Spanish-American war, that war now seems like a minor conflict in retrospect, but to those who participated in it or those who did not survive it, it was important.

George Lumsden presided at cemetery exercises. Don Jacobusse of Hope College read Lincoln's Gettysburg address and Ronald Chandler of Holland High School read Gov. William's Memorial Day proclamation.

Flags always play an important part in Memorial Day ceremonies as well as at the Sunday night service.

In his talk Sunday evening, Rev. Hains said the history of the world testifies to the spiritual truth that a nation or kingdom that will not serve God will inevitably perish. He said Assyria, Egypt, Babylon, Persia, Macedonia, Rome and all the great nations of antiquity perished because the inner decay caused collapse before the outward pressures of the age.

"A nation to be strong must remember certain things so that it may build on a firm foundation. America as a great nation must not forget that it is God who has made us a great nation and is the source of national blessings. America must not forget her soldier dead who paid the supreme price and gave the last full measure of devotion that America might preserve her heritage of liberty and freedom. America must not forget that others also have sacrificed, and America ought not to forget the principles and truths that can keep us strong.

"The church is the visible and tangible expression of the Kingdom of God upon the earth and one of our most precious freedoms is the freedom of religion. Far too many assume that liberty is license and that freedom of religion ought to be freedom from religion—a gross perversion of what the founding fathers intended. "The power of church and state rests eventually with the individual, and we must be true and faithful, honest, upright and devoted. If we are, our country will never go down. She will be a lighthouse amidst the darkness of this world, and this nation of the people, by the people and for the people will never perish from the earth."
