Rezoning Approved By Council

Two zoning amendments were adopted by City Council following a public hearing Wednesday night in City Hall. One rezones a parcel on the southeast corner of 28th St. and Maple Ave. to C-1 neighborhood commercial, and the other rezones a 90-acre area west of the present industrial park to D-1 industrial.

Roscoe Giles, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce and director of the Holland Economic Development Corp., explained that the area known as the De Frel property lies between 40th and 48th Sts. and west of the main C and O line. It adjoins the present industrial park and is under option to HEDCOR.

Following another public hearing, Council voted to vacate the east 200 feet of an alley lying between 21st and 22nd Sts., running from College to Columbia Ave. The rest of the alley had been vacated June 8, 1940.

Council approved a new domestic electric space heating rate for all electric homes and for supplemental heat for an added room to a residence, on recommendation of the Board of Public Works.

The new rate is 1.6 cents per kilowatt hour for all electricity in excess of 600 kilowatt hours per month. The supplemental space heating rate for an added room also is 1.6 cents per kilowatt hour, but will be specially metered. All other electric rates are unchanged.

Council tabled another BPW report recommending that water service be furnished to First Michigan Bank and Trust Co. for its office to be located on East Eighth St. at Clover Ave.

The tabling motion was made by Councilman Morris Peerbolt who felt that recent agreements to provide water to outside customers was an abrupt change from policy followed for many years and he felt Council should have a special meeting to discuss the existing policy and propose changes before additional service to outside customers is provided.

Later City Attorney Gordon Cunningham submitted a proposed draft on water and sewer services to outside customers whereby such customers would pay a hookup charge equal to that charged city users on special assessment. This hookup charge would not affect present rates to outside users. Reimbursement on a 5 per cent a year depreciation basis would be provided if the city terminated the service.

The new policy is retroactive to December, 1956.

The proposed hookup charge would be billed at one time and would not be paid over a five-year payment like special assessments. Council adopted the report on voice vote which was not unanimous.

An application to move a house from 697 Maple Ave. to 560 West 22nd St., tabled from last meeting, was approved. Councilman Eugene Vande Vuse whose real estate firm was involved in the matter was excused from voting.

Council granted a terminal license to Holland Broadcasting Co. to encroach the north half of Fourth St. between Central and College Ave. to expedite building plans. This involves putting two pilings approximately 30 feet high for the purpose of anchoring guy wires to support a 400-foot radio tower.

Council set July 7 for hearing on a recommendation of the Planning Commission to vacate Fourth St. between Central and College Aves. Mayor Nelson Bosman, who is associated with Holland Broadcasting Co., was excused from voting on these two propositions.

On recommendation of the Planning Commission which submitted proposed changes in the zoning ordinance relative to private recreational areas, Council instructed City Attorney Gordon Cunningham to prepare the proposed ordinance.

Cunningham submitted the signed acceptance of the city's offer to purchase the property of Edward and Gertrude Van Spyker immediately west of Herriek Public Library on West 13th St. The offer was outlined at the May 19 meeting of City Council. The property will be used for offstreet parking for the library.

Oaths of office were filed for Winthrop Roser, Board of Public Works, and Margaret Stefens, Library Board.

City Clerk D.W. Schipper advised that the original certificate to copyright the De Zwaan illustration has been received from the U.S. Register of Copyrights, plus a trademark application and power of attorney from patent counsel Price and Heneveld for filing in the U.S. Patent office to register the mark. The clerk was authorized to sign the forms for the city.

Put Out Car Fire

Holland firemen were called to 118 East 35th St. to put out a car fire at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday. Firemen said a short in the wiring caused the blaze. Damage to the 1957 model car, owned by Rock Sherman of Battle Creek, was minor, firemen said.

Part of M-21 Will Become 5-Lane Road

Site clearing was proceeding today on a new five-lane access route from Eighth St. to M-21, scheduled to be completed by next fall.

State Highway Department officials said Chicago Dr., from Eighth St. east to the divided highway, would be torn up and replaced by a five-lane, 65-foot wide access route to M-21.

The new road will be a curb and gutter type of road and will contain four driving lanes with the center lane designated as a turning lane, officials said.

Site clearing is being done by the Lapekas Construction Co. of Decatur. Work on sewers along the new route is slated to begin Friday by the Milbocker Construction Co. of Allegan.

Traffic will be rerouted to the north shoulder of the present Chicago Dr. during the time the old pavement is torn up and before the new five-lane pavement is in, according to highway inspector Tony Vanden Berg.

The new access road will necessitate moving a drainage ditch located on the north side of the present Chicago Dr. approximately eight feet to the north to accommodate the wider road.

The new road will extend approximately one lane north of the present two-lane road and about two lanes to the south.

The 6,800-foot access road is scheduled to be completed next fall.

In addition to the new access route to M-21, deceleration lanes will be installed along Eighth St., M-40 and 32nd St. where these roads join the US-31 bypass.

Traffic islands formed by rounded curbing are to be constructed at the Eighth St. end of the new M-21 access route and at the intersection of the access route with the divided highway.

First Phase Completed In Organization Study

GRAND HAVEN The Ottawa Area Intermediate School District Reorganization Committee has completed the first phase of studies in connection with a reorganization program to assign school districts in such a way that all districts encompass kindergarten through 12th grade.

The latest reorganization meeting was held in Coopersville High School on districts in the north portion of the county. Presentations were made on behalf of Allendale, Spring Lake, Jenison, Bursley and Coopersville districts. A similar fact finding meeting was held in Zeeland earlier in May with presentations made by West Ottawa, Zeeland, Hudsonville and primary districts adjacent to high school districts.

Chairman Jennie M. Kaufman said all primary districts in the intermediate district have filed reports in response to a questionnaire her office circulated in May. The committee will meet early in June to sift this information in preparing a plan for final reorganization of all schools into K-12 districts by September.

Delaney school district has been voted to annex to Grandville and Bursley district expects to vote for a second time June 14 on annexing to Grandville. In coming weeks, other primary districts are expected to petition for annexation elections.

When the committee makes its decision on reorganization, one or more public hearings will be held to explain the plan before it is submitted to the State Reorganization Committee for approval by Dec. 31. After approval by the state committee, persons living in districts altered by the plan will vote. Districts unchanged require no vote. If the final plan provides for alterations in boundaries of every district in the intermediate area, then all districts will vote at the same time on the plan.

$500,000 Suit Filed By Dornbos

GRAND HAVEN — A $500,000 damage suit was filed in Ottawa circuit court late Wednesday by Harold Dornbos and his wife, Beverly, doing business as H. J. Dornbos and Bro., Fisheries, against the Kroger Co. and four trucking firms, as a result of the botulism scare in which the fisheries were involved in the fall of 1963.

The plaintiffs claim that because of the negligence and omissions of the defendants in the shipping and care of 175 pounds of smoked white fish chubs and 125 pounds of smoked salmon, prior to Sept. 1, 1963, the fish spoiled and became contaminated with bacterial poison, resulting in the deaths of several persons and illness to others. Costs are also sought in the case by Dornbos.

Defendants named in the suit are the Kroger firm, which, it is alleged, sold the fish in Tennessee, and Rooks Transfer of Holland, Adkins Transfer Co. of Indiana, the Adkins Cargo Express of Indiana and the Tennessee Cartage Co.

Denny Pilling . . . Montana's top gun

Holland Math Teacher Is Fast Draw Champion

A man's speed with a gun was a life or death matter in the Old West, but for Denny Pilling of 512 Graafschap Rd. and hundreds of other Americans it is now a popular sport.

Pilling, a mathematics teacher at Holland High School, is the current Montana state fast draw champion, and has won 27 trophies since he began competing in fast draw contests two years ago. At a world championship of fast drawing at Toledo, Ohio, recently he finished fifth and sixth in two of the events.

"Reaction, speed and accuracy are all tested in fast draw matches," Pilling said. Shooters compete to see who can draw the quickest, and still hit a target.

Although competition and rules vary throughout the country there are two principle events in fast draw — standing reaction and walk and draw.

In standing reaction the competitor quick draws while standing 15-feet from a target. He fires from the hip, and loses points for missing the target.

HARPOONING THE PIGEONS

Life in large cities has several unpleasant aspects. One of these is the almost inevitable
infestation by companionable birds like the pigeon. There is hardly a metropolis in the western hemisphere where the pigeon population has not become something of a nuisance.

Consequently, various methods have been tried to destroy the pigeons or diminish their number, but every method employed has two weaknesses.
Either it is ineffective or otherwise it runs into opposition from humanitarian bird-lovers.
What is obviously needed, then,
is a humane and effective way
of ridding cities of pigeons.

Among pigeon-ridden cities, Paris is no exception. However, in dealing successfully with the pigeon problem, Paris is unusual. It has devised a method that may be called relocation. Parisians have taken to catching pigeons and transporting them to the hinterland.
The pigeons are caught by ensnaring them in nets which are catapulted over the unsuspecting birds by means of modified harpoon guns. Projectiles are fastened to each corner of a square net, the projectiles inserted into the harpoon gun,
the birds are enticed into range by bait, the gun is fired, and the birds are caught before they can well clear the ground.

There is no harm to the birds;
they are neither crippled, nor killed, nor tortured — merely transported to where the people aren't. If the pigeons can be persuaded to remain outside of the city once they have been relocated, we may find that the Parisians have given the world
an easy and welcome solution
to a widespread and messy problem.

Commission Okays Zoning Changes

The Planning Commission
Tuesday approved changes in zoning for sections on the southwest side of Holland.

The commission will recommend to council at a future meeting that several areas
east of Old Orchard Rd. and west of South Washington Ave.
be changed from suburban residential and agricultural to one-family residential zoning.

Changes in the requirements for one-family zoning were also approved by the commission.
These changes would lessen the requirements for front and side yard area and total area of lots. They will also be presented to council at a future meeting.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, June 6
David and Absalom
II Samuel 15:10-13;
... II Samuel 18:1-33
By C. P. Dame

This lesson is about a delinquent father and a rebellious son. It is a timely lesson for our day, since there are many fathers who are failures and many sons who miss the mark.
This lesson teaches truths for both fathers and sons.

I. Some sons remain immature. This lesson tells us about Absalom who never grew up.
Who was he? He was the eldest son of King David, and therefore the crown prince, heir to the throne. He had extra privileges and some handicaps.
Let us look at his privileges.
He had position which gave him prestige, and he had a good appearance and personality and a winsome way for he stole the hearts of the people, and he was ambitious — unfortunately very selfish. He had handicaps. He was brought up in a polygamous family where intrigue was common. His father's example was bad. He had stolen another man's wife, why could not the son steal his father's throne? And the father was too lenient, and spoiled his children. Some indulgent fathers imitate David and ruin their children.

Some young people can't wait
and they want the privileges of adults but not their responsibilities. For four years Absalom plotted to get the throne.
After Absalom had killed his half-brother he fled the country and remained with his maternal grandfather for three years and came back to Jerusalem where he began scheming and plotting to dethrone his father.

II. Some people are always ready for a revolution. Absalom got some easily — misled people to follow him — "they went in their simplicity, and they knew not anything." Today there are people taking part in demonstrations, riots
and revolutions who are dupes.
However, there were dissatisfied people in David's kingdom.
Evidently the king had lost
some of his drive and interest in the nation's welfare, and showed too much concern for selfish matters.

David was forced to flee from Jerusalem. Two men gave counsel to Absalom, Ahithophel and Hushai. The former told him to gather twelve thousand men quickly and overtake David and his small army and finish the war, while the other man, a friend of David, suggested that all the nation be mobilized and that Absalom lead the army in person. The delay gave David an opportunity to gather his veterans who soon defeated Absalom's forces
and he himself was killed.

III. Children sometimes grieve parents. The news of Ab-salom's death shook David and caused him to cry out, "O my son Absalom, my son Absalom! Would God I had died for thee, O Absalom, my son, my son!" Did David realize his own responsibility for his son's tragedy? Today some parents give their children everything they demand but fail to give them what they need — love, affection, discipline, time to listen to their problems, consideration and thought, and Christian teaching and principles.

In this story both father and son sinned. David failed to teach, to give a high example in godly living, and consequently did not influence his son for good. Absalom was disloyal, disobedient and unresponsive to his father's kindness. Children can bring much joy to their parents and they can also fill their lives with grief and sorrow.

sevoort and family spent the weekend at their cottage on Big Star

The Rev. and Mrs. Chester

dren from Calgary, Alberta,
Canada, arrived here last week

The annual Memorial Day program, held at the local cem-

attended. Harold Vander Zwaag, master of ceremonies, introduced
the Rev. Lambert Olgers, pastor of the North Holland Reformed Church, who gave the address. Mrs. Robert Raak sang two numbers. Len Headley sounded taps and six National Guardsmen from Holland gave the gun salute. More than thirty veterans lie buried here, men who served in the Civil War,
Spanish American War, World
Wars I and II and the Korea
theatre.

a relic of the days when a knight would tie his lady's scarf around his helmet.

2,783 Visit
Windmill

A total of 2,783 persons visited Windmill Island during the holiday weekend, Manager Jerry Fairbanks said today.

A survey of license plates revealed that one-third to one-half of the people came from outside Michigan representing 19 states, plus Canada and Germany. Most cars, of course, have Michigan plates. Illinois runs second, Indiana third and Ohio fourth. The other 16 states were well scattered from California to New York state to Florida.

Fairbanks said 640 persons visited Windmill Island and the historic 200-year-old Windmill De Zwaan on Saturday, 1,123 on Sunday and 1,020 on Monday.

Windmill Island consistently has been attracting the largest crowds on Sunday so far this season, despite shorter operating hours which run from 11:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. On other days, Windmill Island operates from 9 a.m. to dusk.

The return of Jan (Dick) Medendorp from a brief visit to the Netherlands last Friday afternoon resulted in putting Windmill De Zwaan back into operation Saturday. Sufficient flour was ground to meet the weekend demand, amounting to about 300 two-pound bags.

Teacher-Administrator Retiring After 41 Years

Edward Donovan of the Holland Public Schools will retire from the local system on June 11 after 41½ years of service to this community.

Supt. E. E. Fell brought to Holland upon his graduation from Western Normal School, now Western Michigan University, in January of 1924. At that time the present E. E. Fell Junior High School was new, and Donovan started teaching woodshop to high school students when the second semester started. The junior high moved into the building during the spring vacation of 1924.

Donovan continued in the woodshop until 1942 when Holland surged with patriotism and established the War Training program in the present girls gym in the Junior High School building. Donovan was asked to supervise this program which ran 24 hours a day and trained both men and women for wartime employment in local industry. Holland Furnace Co., Holland Hitch, local boat-building plants and many others employed trainees from this program.

When the war was over, the machine shop equipment used in the War Training Program was turned over to the public schools, and Donovan started instructing high school students in machine shop. His stay in the high school machine shop was cut short when he was asked to take over the Veterans Institute and train young men returning from military service. With the help of itinerant teachers and local mechanics, the young veterans were trained in bricklaying, carpentry, upholstery, cabinet making, auto mechanics, bump and finishing for garages, and numerous other vocations.

In 1951 Donovan was made administrative assistant to aid Supt. C. C. Crawford in the supervision of elementary school construction. He continued in this position under Walter W. Scott and set up the present business office and its procedures.

In 1962, Holland instituted an austerity program and cut the administrative staff, and Donovan was asked to take a woodshop classroom. He then moved to the new high school plant and has been there until the present.

One-Act Plays At West Ottawa Move Audience

A touching play, a tale of horror and a short farce are featured on the bill of three one-act plays presented by members of the West Ottawa High School drama department Thursday in the West Ottawa Cafeteria.

The plays were "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," "The Monkey's Paw" and "A Marriage Proposal" under the direction of Jan A. Stucky with Dale Jager as the assistant director.

In James M. Barrie's "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" the plot is a simple one involving a lonely, old Scottish charwoman who pretends she had a soldier son to boast of to the other charwomen.

Rita King portrays the mother who is ultimately "adopted" by a soldier played by Rod Kleis. The three charwomen completing the cast are Sherlene Talsma, Jill Lubbers and Nancy Orr.

It is a tender play bringing out the emotions of ordinary people. It is a moving play in that the author makes one enjoy and interpret the foolishness of human nature.

Rog Stam and Colleen King are cast as Mr. and Mrs. White in the mysterious "The Monkey's Paw." Written by William Wymark Jacobs and dramatized in collaboration with Louis N. Parker, the action begins with a happy family scene between the Whites and their son portrayed by Bob King.

The magic paw which becomes the symbol to depict man's inability to ignore temptation is introduced by an old sergeant played by Jim Bjorum. Al Ver Schure completes the cast.

The actors plus the eerie feeling created by sound and lights kept the audience on the edge of their seats.

Anton Tchekoff's farce, "A Marriage Proposal," featured Jim Bjorum, Nanalee Raphael and Dan Resseguie.

The show centers around a Russian landowner played by Dan Resseguie who proposes to his neighbor portrayed by Nanalee Raphael and what happens as the tempo rises and falls before a decision is made.

Bjorum plays the father who assists his greedy daughter in making a decision.

Chairman of the light and sound crew is Bob Jacobs while Jager heads the set and properties crew. Paula Mitchell is chairman of the make-up crew.

Push Needed In Alumni Fund Drive

Hope College alumni who already have contributed $40,876 in recent weeks are working to boost the figure to $50,000 by Alumni Day June 5 to take advantage of an offer of an alumnus for a gift of $50,000 if the amount is matched by alumni on or before Alumni Day.

This offer was made earlier this year, and a general appeal from the alumni president late in April brought in over $40,000, an exceptionally good return in less than a month.

Robert J. Prins, director of the 1965 Alumni Fund drive, attributes the unusually good early response to interest and sentiment engendered by the college's commencement June 7 in Civic Center.

Organized on an area basis, 23 chairmen throughout the nation are conducting personal solicitation campaigns in their respective areas for the 1965 fund. The overall goal for the year is $150,000 in money, exclusive of the $50,000 which could materialize on a matching basis. So far, the sum raised involves 50 per cent of the alumni.

Last year with 29 per cent of the alumni participating, the Holland alumni contributed $28,000. The 1965 Holland alumni goal is $32,000. To date, 7.2 per cent have contributed $7,487. Donald Hillebrands, local chairman, is urging local alumni to help the association meet the challenge of alumnus by June 5.

Views From The Campus

(William J. Hilmert has been Hope College's Dean of Men, and professor of religious education since 1952. Recently he was appointed Director of Financial Aid.)

Hilmert received his A.B. degree at Hope in 1925, and his B. D. at Western Theological Seminary in 1934. Editor's note.)

By William J. Hilmert
One of the choices every person must make as he approaches adulthood has to do with his life-work. The two terms usually employed in this connection are "occupational" or "vocational." The former of these has a secular ring. It raises such questions as "How do I prefer to make a living?" What is the pension plan here?" "What fringe benefits does this position offer?" "What are my most marketable resources?"

William J. Hilmert

On the other hand the term "vocational" is linked with a religious concept of life. It is a constant reminder of the sacredness of human life and of the obligation to become productive with our divinely given capacities. It thinks of the use of one's resources as a human being in terms of a divine calling rather than personal preference or expediency.

To help young people develop a sense of divine vocation is one of the functions of a Christian liberal arts college. This does not mean merely the training of men and women for church vocations. It means rather that the basic thrust of the Christian college is in the direction of helping young people to discover and fulfill their destiny as children of God.

To accomplish this aim the Christian college does three things. First, it seeks to create a climate which favors the development of each individual's unique differences. Every one is an individual in his own right, with endowments no one else possesses. To develop these unique capacities is the only worthwhile non-conformity.

Secondly, the college provides opportunities for the development of such intellectual capacities as a person possesses.

Thirdly, the Christian college holds up before young men and women the ideal of a life of service.

That the development of a sense of divine vocation is important to both the individual and society ought to be evident. To one who labors "under the Great Taskmaster's eye" (to borrow a phrase from John Milton), no task can be menial or meaningless.

No work done under such auspices can be slipshod or careless.

As Martin Luther put it, "If I were a cook, I would cook as if I were cooking for God Almighty Himself." At this level work and worship become one and all of life is invested with glory.

Such a view of life is to be coveted by every man. And it is to the task of developing in its students this sense of divine vocation that the Christian college is committed and to which a significant portion of its energies are devoted.

Ottawa County 4-H News

By Willis S. Boss
County Extension Agent, 4-H

All of the 4-H Club Agents in the state of Michigan gathered at Camp Kett from May 18 to 21 to discuss the theme of the conference "Research in Our Profession." This conference gave us an insight into sources of knowledge to solve problems, to gain an ability to read, to interpret, and to apply research and to obtain reliable research. The conference was both educational and informative.

Agents exchanged ideas and the general discussion proved very worthwhile. The purpose of the conference is that whatever the agents learn they will utilize their own county program.

In slightly over two weeks we will be starting in our camping sessions which number six this year and all of them are filled to capacity. We will be having more than 100 different boys and girls each session. Members will be doing craft work, outdoor recreation and games, tours and hikes, campfire ceremonies, and swimming in the pool.

The camping program is shaping up well. Counselors are being selected and will be trained along with the cooks and county camp director and entire staff. We are anticipating an enjoyable six weeks in our camp program this summer.

Many of our summer clubs are already under way. We would urge that if your club is not functioning yet, to call your meeting soon.

We have most materials available for summer clubs in our office in Grand Haven. We suggest that you order your materials as soon as possible.

We have held our initial open house for summer leaders to pick up their materials. We have met with the dairy and horse project leaders, members and parents. Plans are under way to meet with summer leaders in foods, cooking, canning, freezing, etc.

If you are planning on leading a 4-H Club this summer, it would be wise to send your name and address to us (4-H Club Dept., Courthouse, Grand Haven) so you will be on our mailing list.

4-H projects are exhibited at the county fairs which will be held as follows: the Marne Fair will be held on July 19-24; the Holland Fair from August 2 to 7, the Hudsonville Fair will be held from August 23 to 27; State 4-H Show is scheduled for August 31 to September 2.

Discuss Plans For Highways In This Area

Plans to convert Pine and River Avenues and Seventh and Ninth Streets to one-way routes were among those outlined by Robert S. Boatman at the Chamber of Commerce early bird breakfast Tuesday in the Hotel Warm Friend.

Boatman, director of the Planning Division of the Michigan State Highway Dept., said conversion of the four streets to the one-way pairs for the US-31 business route would not be done until 1969.

Under the plan traffic would go west on Seventh St., east on Ninth St., south on Pine Ave. and north on River Ave.

The Holland Planning Commission approved the plan for one-way routes through the city in Sept., 1963.

No particular plans are set for M-40, Boatman said, although several have been considered. The department would like to eliminate the two sharp curves in M-40 on the south side of town, but must work out a scheme in conjunction with city plans, he said. One consideration was extending M-40 to Holland State Park.

No work on M-40 will be done for a while, because there are no funds available now for such projects, he added.

US-31 will stay about the same in the Holland area, but plans call for improvement of the route to Ludington. Boatman said that money for this project is also unavailable now.

Top priority work is on Michigan's 1,100 miles of interstate highways. These are 73 per cent finished, and are scheduled for completion by 1972, according to the planning director.

In making highway plans, Boatman said, planners try to integrate the highway system to land use, provide for present and future traffic, insure good routes between major cities, work in with master plans for areas and consider other factors. His department works with local units, conservation groups and other transportation systems in working out the plans.

Harrington Votes June 14

Harrington school district will elect one member to the Board of Education and vote on two propositions at the annual election June 14. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Board member Charles C. Zalsman is unopposed for a three-year term.

Residents will vote on a proposition, "Shall the school district make provision to send eighth grade students to high schools outside Harrington district and provide necessary transportation?"

The other proposition will be one mill for five years to aid in the purchase of three new 66-passenger buses. The buses have been purchased, the bid going to Reliable Garage of Holland, lowest of three bidders. Two old buses, 1957 and 1958 models, will be traded in.

A public meeting is scheduled at 8 p.m. Thursday in the school gym to inform electors on school district reorganization. Miss Jennie Kaufman, county superintendent, will be present.

Albert Luurtsema has been employed to teach sixth grade, succeeding Arthur S. Johnson who will specialize in teaching math and science within the school.

A music teacher and second grade teacher are yet to be employed.

MT. PLEASANT — A Holland woman died Sunday evening in Mt. Pleasant Community Hospital of injuries suffered in a two-car crash which also claimed the life of a Mt. Pleasant man east of Remus Saturday morning.

Killed was 76-year-old Mrs. Agnes Hammett, of 103 Sunrise Dr., who was a passenger in a car driven by her son, Bertram G. Hammett, 51, also of 103 Sunrise Dr.

According to Mecosta county sheriff's deputies who investigated the crash, the accident occurred at 3 a.m. when a car driven by Patrick Leo Lynch, 37, Mt. Pleasant, crossed the center line while travelling west on M-20 near M-66 and sideswiped the Hammett auto. The cars then ran off opposite sides of the road, killing Lynch outright.
