Liver is King.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want.

Bucklin's Arnica Salve.

The best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Chapped hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all kinds of Skin Eruptions. This salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Price 25 Cents per box. For Sale by Heber Walsh, Holland, Michigan.

A Wonderful Discovery.

Dr. King's California Golden Compound, and what is still more wonderful it costs nothing to give this great remedy a trial. It will positively and speedily cure Dyspepsia, Constipation, Sick Headache, Coming up of Food, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Biliousness, General Debility, Drowsiness and Low Spirits. This wonderful remedy will positively cure, and that where every other remedy has failed. To prove that it will do all we claim for it you are presented with a trial bottle by your druggist free of cost, by which you will readily perceive its wonderful curative qualities, and which will show you what a regular one dollar size bottle will do. For sale by Heber Walsh, Holland, Michigan.

Glimpses of Kansas.

LAWRENCE, Kan., May 26, 1878.

MR. EDITOR:—Knowing that there are some admirers of Kansas in your city, who have for some time past agitated the question of coming hence, perhaps my opinion of the country, together with glimpses of that section over which I have traversed may come acceptable; trusting that you will grant space in your columns for the same.

In my travels over Illinois and Missouri, I was not very favorably impressed with the country. Missouri more particularly, presents but little of interest to the eye of the traveler, especially that section traversed by the Missouri Pacific R. R., which runs directly across the State, from St. Louis, to Kansas City. The fullest source of agricultural wealth, and wonder at its immensity, begins after you leave the State of Missouri, where a sort of ship-shod state of cultivation exists, and there is much that indicates neglect and shiftlessness. Missouri has no inducements to offer the immigrant, which Kansas cannot duplicate, and Kansas can offer one hundred inducements which Missouri has not; the latter is receiving but few accessions to its population, while the influx of immigration to the former, is unprecedented and hitherto unheard of. It is estimated that Kansas will add 300,000 to her population during the present year, and could you see the crowds and mountains of baggage which daily accumulates in the depot at Kansas City, you could then form some idea. "Seeing is believing." I know not how big a story my readers will believe, but please clear away your doubts, for I cannot tell the half. I will admit that my first impression was formed during the most favorable and promising season of the year, and I may reverse my opinion ere the summer is out, although I hope not. My travels and experience have thus far been confined entirely to the Eastern and more thickly settled portion of Kansas, and not the section to be sought by the immigrant generally; as the Central and Western part of the State, with its thousands of unoccupied acres, and new and prosperous villages, offer far better inducements; and I may regret some day that I did not heed the lamented Greeley's advice, seek quarters nearer the setting sun, although the place where I am at present located is better adapted to my business, and which you will see by the heading of my letter, is Lawrence; of which I will give you a brief description:

The city is one of the oldest in the State and boasts of a population of about 10,000. It also has the credit of being the handsomest city in the State, to which, in my opinion, it is justly entitled; situated as it is in the lovely Kansas valley, with many imposing residences, and fine streets lined with handsome trees, render it inviting to a new comer. As regards business and society, Lawrence offers many advantages, although like the rest of her contemporaries, she has suffered from the effects of the late financial crisis, and the disastrous failure of three of her Banks during the past year, has placed her business men in rather precarious positions. Socially, there is a frankness and cordiality about the society of Lawrence, which is refreshing to one coming from the more precise and cautious East. The manner of the people is simple, courteous, delightful. There are many families of culture and social distinction in the city, among whom I can mention those of Ex-Governors Robinson and Sharon, and Hon. J. P. Usher, Ex-Secretary of the Interior, under Lincoln. The State University is located here, with Dr. James Marvin as Chancellor and a competent corps of professors, among whom I can mention Prof. J. H. Caulfield, a Michigan man, who occupies the chair of English Literature, and to whom I am indebted for courtesies extended during a recent visit to the Institution. The University is still in its infancy, and like the Michigan University, has suffered much at the hands of political demagogues, and the State Legislature, notwithstanding she is fast attaining notoriety and is destined to rank among the Universities of our land. They have about 450 students in attendance, and have adopted the system of co-education. A new building costing over $100,000 has just been completed, containing a chapel and lecture rooms. In this connection let me say, that the school system of Kansas generally, is very complete and efficient, and the ample provision for education in so new a country, justly excite the admiration and surprise of all who visit the State for the first time. Fine large school houses, with all the modern improvements are to be seen in every village and town, which goes to indicate the intelligence, enterprise, and morality of its people. I say morality. Why! there is more piety to the square inch in Lawrence, than in any city outside of Brooklyn, (you need not infer that I cast any reflections on Holland). In a historical way, Lawrence has no small record; as previous to the war it was the scene of border ruffianism of the very worst type, and during the war, it was a bone of many contentions—crumbling ruins in various parts of the city, call to your recollection the ravages of the notorious Quantrill and his gang of cut throats, who, in 1863, reduced the city to ashes, and murdered in cold blood a goodly number of its citizens. Despite all this she stand to-day one of the representative cities of Kansas and the only thing detrimental to its choice, as a place of residence, is its one-fifth negro population, but you will find the same thing to contend with in all the towns of eastern Kansas.

It was my privilege a few days since to attend the re-union of the Grand Army of the Republic, at Leavenworth, and the trip hence over the Leavenworth, Lawrence and Galveston R. R. was one of much interest, as the road passes through the three "crack" counties of the State, Leavenworth, Douglas and Jefferson, which gave me an opportunity of seeing some of the best farming lands of Kansas. The face of the country is nearly uniform, being one continuous succession of undulating ridges and valleys; which upon this occasion were clothed in their gayest garments. The landscape salutes you in all the loveliness of a blossoming prairie, in its fresh luxuriance of green under the morning sun. The flowers are numberless, when you have counted a couple of dozen, you find you have only begun. Vast fields of waving wheat, in bodies of from 50 to 600 acres, greet you on every side, large herds of cattle crop the clover, without lifting their heads, as you pass by. And you can rest assured that I entered the Leavenworth depot with grander ideas of the immensity of Kansas agriculture, than I had ever indulged in. I found the city literally packed with "Old Vets," from all corners of the globe, but owing to an incessant rain, during both days of the re-union, the pleasures of the occasion were somewhat dampened, and all outdoor exercises had to be dispensed with. The citizens placed all the Halls, and numbers of private houses at the disposal of the crowd, who indulged in speechmaking and dancing, and enjoyed themselves as best they could under the circumstances. While here I paid a visit to Fort Leavenworth, the headquarters of the Western Department of the U. S. Army; was one of the attractions. It is situated about three miles from the city, and a more lovely and picturesque place could not be imagined, occupying as it does a commanding position on the bluffs of the Missouri River. One would imagine at the East, life in a border fort dull and monotonous, but such is not the case, as Fort Leavenworth presents altogether a different picture, within its inclosure. A large and spacious parade ground, as level as a floor, and clothed in its luxurious carpet of green, surrounded on two sides by the large and pallid residences of the officers, in and around which, luxury and contentment preside, while the humble barrack of the privates grace the remaining sides. With the 25th Infantry Band discoursing popular airs on the lawns and a courteous guide, commenced a tour of inspection. On the verandah of the first house in my path, General Pope (the officer in command) was enjoying his evening cigar, with a fair specimen of American beauty dangling on his arm, while through the lace curtains which adorned the windows of the adjoining house, various officers can be seen indulging in the giddy mazes of the waltz. A lawn in the distance presents a hotly contested battle in progress, and the implements of warfare used, are the croquet mallet and ball, gorgeous turnouts with liveried drivers drive swiftly by and a guard meets you at every doorway with his characteristic salute. Such is life in a western Fort, while Uncle Sam foots the bills. But for the poor private with his small competence of $13 per month, and the same routine day after day, life is dreary enough. I devoted a few minutes to a visit to "Chief Joseph" and his tribe of Nec Perzes Indians, who, it will be remembered, led the U. S. troops in such an unrelenting chase through the wilds of Montana some months since, and were finally captured and are now under military surveillance. In response to an introduction, "Chief Joseph" greeted me with his customary "how." He talks English fluently, and is surprised at the civility he is receiving at the hands of the whites. Would like to give you a description of Topeka the capitol of the State, but I have already written more than I intended doing. In brief let me say that my impression of Kansas from the first, has been none other than the best. "Scotty" is content, "and don't you forget it." The climate is exceedingly healthy and agreeable, and I "swing the beam" at an increase of 10 lbs over my Michigan weight. As for Wynne, he is as happy as you please, and is rapidly assuming aldermanic proportions; while an increased growth on the top of his head, "the place where the wool ought to grow," indicates the fertility of Kansas soil, when properly fertilized. A good place for you, Mr. Editor. Will give you something from Central and Western Kansas in another letter, until then, Ta, Ta.

HOLLAND CITY, MICHIGAN.

WEEKLY NEWS REVIEW.

THE EAST.

GEORGE R. WATERMAN, the former Paymaster of the Pacific Mills, at Lawrence, Mass., has been convicted of stealing $111,000, and sentenced to twelve years in the State prison.

THE Philadelphia Commercial Exchange has petitioned Congress to increase the standing army. There were ninety-five failures in May in New York city, with total liabilities of $5,686,806, and assets $955,483. The aggregate liabilities were $2,000,000 less than the total of the previous month.

BURGERS entered the house of the President of the Canton (Pa.) Bank, a few nights ago, and compelled him to accompany them to the bank and open the doors. They then commanded him to open the safe, threatening to murder him if he refused. As he did not know the combination he was unable to do so. They then commenced beating him, which aroused some young men who were sleeping in the building. The latter arose, armed themselves with clubs, sallied out, and boldly attacked the burglars, who in turn commenced firing at their assailants. Nobody was hurt, but the whole town was aroused, and greatly frightened at the hubbub. In the excitement the robbers escaped with $2,500 in bonds which they picked up in the bank.

THE WEST.

THE Hon. J. Scott Harrison, the son of President Harrison, and the father of Gen. Ben Harrison, of Indiana, died suddenly at his residence, near Lawrenceburg, Ind., a short time ago. He was nearly 70 years old.

A PARTY of four masked men entered a sleeping car of a Union Pacific near Percy Station, Utah, a few days ago, and relieved the passengers of a considerable portion of their money and valuables. They fired three shots in the sleeper without injury to the passengers. They struck one passenger with a pistol, cutting the scalp some.

A PARTY of four masked men boarded a passenger train on the Union Pacific railroad, near Percy station, Utah, entered one of the sleeping cars and robbed the passengers. They fired three shots in the sleeper without injury to the passengers. They struck one passenger with a pistol, cutting the scalp some. On the farm of Robert Lynn, four miles from Hillsboro, O., a portable saw-mill engine exploded, the other day, killing three and severely scalding several others. One man was thrown completely over a tall tree. The boiler was found 300 yards distant. Edward Webb, a black desperado, was executed at Mansfield, Ohio, on the 30th ult., for the murder of an old gentleman named Wm. S. Vinney in December last. While a charivari was being given a new-married couple at Wallace, Ohio county, Ind., the bride, Miss Sowers, was shot and instantly killed by a paper was fired from a musket.

A TERRIBLY destructive tornado visited the town of Richmond, Mo., a few days ago, causing a distressing loss of life and property. The storm leveled everything in its path, a breadth of at least 600 yards, demolishing buildings to their foundations, stripping trees of their bark and foliage, and leveling everything as if swept by a torrent. Over 100 houses in the town and vicinity were swept away. Twelve persons were killed outright, and upward of 100 injured, many of them beyond hope of recovery. The cyclone was the color of steam and at times the funnel-shaped cloud would break open in places and emit what appeared like black smoke, then gather together again, and, with increased force, continue on its march of destruction. At first it approached slowly, not faster, perhaps, than a man could walk. Then it moved faster, leveling everything in its path with the ground, and producing almost complete devastation. The sound it produced was infernal, resembling that of a great cataract. Amid the wails of women and children and the groans of the dying, strong men shed tears to witness the general destruction, and the death and suffering of relatives and friends.

A SHOCKING tragedy is reported from Springfield, Mo. A Mrs. Thompson, while laboring under a temporary fit of insanity, arose from her bed during the night, went to the room of her 17-year-old daughter, and cut her throat from ear to ear. She then ended her own life in the same manner.

ADVICES from Idaho Territory report an uprising of the Bannock Indians. Gen. McDowell has ordered a detachment of troops to the scene of the disturbances. The four desperadoes who recently robbed the passengers of a train on the Union Pacific railroad have been captured by a party of eleven men from Rawlins, who went in pursuit of the robbers. The stolen valuables have been recovered.

MAR. GEN. McDOWELL, commanding the Division of the Pacific, telegraphs Gen. Sheridan at Chicago that Gen. Howard reports that the Bannocks are raiding the overland stage road seventy-five miles south of Camas prairie. They have destroyed King Hill station and several ranch buildings. Families are fleeing.

THE SOUTH.

A SLEEPING-COACH on the Louisville and Nashville railroad ran off the track at Nolin, Ky., a few days ago, killing two persons and injuring five others.

A BLOOD-CURDLING tragedy was recently enacted near Americus, Ga. A man named Caldwell, while laboring under a fit of insanity, seized a smoothing iron and slew his entire family, consisting of wife, three children, and his sister. He then committed suicide by jumping from the top of his cotton gin-house. Half of the business part of Rock Hill, in York county, S. C., has been burned. Loss, $100,000; insurance, $60,000.

POLITICAL.

REPRESENTATIVE ALEX. H. STEPHENS has written a letter in reply to the statement of Congressman Potter touching the object of the pending Presidential investigation. Mr. Stephens views the whole proceeding as "unwise, unfortunate and mischievous," and thinks "its effect will be to disturb the peace, harmony and quiet of the country." In closing his letter he says:

My own opinion is, as I have repeatedly said, that this affair will prove in the end either a contemptible farce or a horrible tragedy. Whether it will lead to the reorganization of our Federal republic, the result must show; but I say, as I said on another recent occasion, that all soft words instilling in the mind of the people of this country the idea that Mr. Hayes can be peacefully unseated by Congress are as delusive and gilded as the whisperings of the great arch-demon, in the shape of a snake, in the ear of Eve, from which spring all our woes.

The Democratic Congressmen from Tennessee bitterly denounce Postmaster General Key for writing a letter in opposition to the investigation. They assert that it was prepared for him, and that the only choice left him was to sign it or leave the Cabinet. Mr. Key protests that he wrote the letter with the best of motives, without dictation from or consultation with any one, and that, if he had the thing to do over again, he wouldn't alter a word of it.

THE Iowa State Democratic Convention met at Des Moines on Wednesday, May 29, and nominated the following ticket: For Secretary of State, T. W. Walker; Auditor, Col. Eiboeck; Treasurer, E. D. Fenn; Register of the State Land-Office, T. S. Bardwell; Judge of the Supreme Court, Judge J. C. Knapp; Clerk of the Supreme Court, M. V. Gannon; Reporter of the Supreme Court, J. B. Elliot; Attorney General, John Gibbons. The platform favors a tariff for revenue only, opposes the granting of subsidies by the General Government, denounces the financial system of the Republican party as responsible for the misery and want that now afflict the country, favors the repeal of the Resumption act, opposes any further retirement of United States notes, and demands a "thorough examination into the election frauds of 1876."

THE Prohibitionists of Pennsylvania have placed a State ticket in the field, as follows: Governor, Gen. E. H. Lane; Lieutenant Governor, John Shalleross; Secretary of Internal Affairs, Calvin Parsons; Supreme Judge, Daniel Agnew.

THE Democrats of Alabama have nominated B. W. Cobb for Governor. James G. Blaine has been re-elected Chairman of the Maine Republican State Committee.

WASHINGTON.

THE President has nominated Crowley P. Dake, of Michigan, to be United States Marshal of Arizona.

THE bankers of the Syndicate have completed their purchase of $50,000,000 of 4 1/2 per cent. bonds.

THE June public-debt statement is as follows:

THE Treasury Department finds it very difficult to get the new silver dollar into circulation, there being but little demand for them. Another effort is to be made to get them into circulation by the Government paying the expense of their transportation in bulk from the mints to the sub-treasuries. The subject of Indian troubles is the source of great attention at the War Department. Secretary McOrary regards the situation as very serious, and army officers coincide with him.

GENERAL.

THE Grand Lodge of the World of the Independent Order of Good Templars has just held its annual session at Minneapolis, Minn. The report of the Right Worthy Grand Secretary states that the total membership of the order at the last report was 404,642. The number of members now reported is 516,717, with estimates for lodges not heard from of 467,403. The number of lodges at the last report was 6,439. The number at present is 6,738.

PRESIDENT HAYES visited Gettysburg on Decoration day, and was waylaid and pumped by the irrepressible interviewer. Nearly the whole interview relates to the Potter investigation. "Does it give you as much alarm as the letter of Mr. Key to the people of the South expresses?" asked the correspondent. "It gives me no more personal alarm than any other citizen. But I have learned to look with apprehension on the growth of caucus influence in America. I am endowed with a trust which I must discharge like a magistrate. Mr. Key did not exaggerate the case when he wrote: 'No man need hope that the schemes of the men who have engineered the movement to unseat President Hayes can be carried out without a bloody civil war.' That was what Mr. Key wrote," said the President. "Such schemes cannot be carried out without war. I swore to preserve the constitution of the United States, and will deliver the executive office in its integrity to my successor." "You do not admit, then, that Congress has any power to displace you from office?" "They can impeach me in the House of Representatives, and try me in the Senate. There is no other way in which I will recognize any attempt of Congress to remove me. It is my desire to administer the government kindly and wisely. But there is a point at which I may say, 'Go thus far, if you will; not farther.'"

DURING the month of May 3,590,000 silver dollars were coined at the various mints. Most of the mints will suspend work for about thirty days, on the 15th of the present month, to make the annual settlement and repair their machinery. Visible supply of grain in the States and Canada: 7,508,000 bushels of wheat; 8,902,000 bushels of corn; 2,301,000 bushels of oats; 508,000 bushels of rye, and 1,158,000 bushels of barley.

FOREIGN NEWS.

As a reason for moving his army a little nearer Constantinople, Todeleben explains that malarial diseases prevail to a terrible extent in the region between San Stefano and Adrianople. The Russians have lost 15,000 men in that region from fevers in the last two months.

A TERRIBLE marine disaster occurred in the English channel on the morning of the 31st ult. The German squadron, consisting of the ironclads Prussien, Grosser Kurfurst and Konig Wilhelm, were steaming down the channel, on route for Plymouth. When opposite Ludgate, England, about five miles from the shore, the Konig Wilhelm ran into the Grosser Kurfurst. The shock was terrific, the latter vessel filling and sinking within five minutes after the collision. To add to the horrors of the situation, the boilers of the vessel exploded, scattering death and destruction in every direction. The ill-fated vessel had on board 600 persons, about 400 of whom were lost. The Grosser Kurfurst was built in 1874, and was one of the most powerful ironclads in the German navy.

A SECOND and more serious attempt has been made upon the life of the German Emperor. While the aged sovereign was driving in the avenue Unter der Linden, the assassin fired two charges of a double-barrel shot-gun at him from a window of his apartments. The Emperor was wounded in one arm and on the cheek by buckshot and small shot. The would-be assassin is a Dr. Nobeling. When his door was forced open he fired upon and wounded the hotel-keeper, and tried to commit suicide, but was secured. The Emperor's personal attendant jumped into the carriage and supported him until the carriage reached the palace. The Emperor was conveyed to bed and several grains of shot extracted, causing great loss of blood. He suffered great pain, but never lost consciousness.

THE steamship Idaho, of the Williams & Guion line, went on the rocks on the coast of Ireland, during a heavy fog, and in twenty minutes after striking foundered in deep water. Through the coolness and courage of the officers every passenger and the entire crew were saved. The ship and cargo are a total loss. The passengers and crew lost all their baggage, the passengers saving only what they had on their persons.

A CABLE dispatch says the Berlin congress for the discussion of the San Stefano treaty is composed as follows: Bismarck and Count von Bulow, for Germany; Lords Beaconsfield, Salisbury, and Odo Russell, for Great Britain; Count Schouvaloff and M. D. Ontril, Russian Ambassador at Berlin, for Russia; Count Andrássy and Von Haymerle, for Austria; M. Waddington and De St. Vallier, for France; Count Corti and Count de Launay, for Italy. The Turkish representatives are not announced as yet. Berlin dispatches deny that Nobeling is either a Socialist or an ultramontane. They say he is a Protestant of good family and fortune. He had accomplices, who had been plotting the assassination of the Emperor for six months.

THE late attempt upon the life of the Emperor of Germany was attended with quite a chapter of fatalities. When the enraged populace broke into the assassin Nobeling's apartment he fired upon them, severely wounding Holfour, an inn-keeper. The crowd, seeing him bleeding, supposed he was the assassin, and fell upon him, and he was so roughly handled before the people discovered their mistake that he probably died. Nobeling, before he was seized, fired two bullets into his head, producing a mortal wound. He was immediately seized and placed in a prison van. While the van was passing rapidly through an archway at the entrance of the house, the driver struck his head against the arch with such violence that his neck was dislocated, producing instant death. The Emperor, at last accounts, was recovering from his wounds, nearly all the shot having been extracted.

PROCEEDINGS IN CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, May 29.—SENATE.—Mr. Windom, from the conference committee on the Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation bill, submitted a report, which was agreed to, and the bill passed. The River and Harbor Appropriation bill was reported from the Committee of Conference. It provided for the expenditure of $80,000 more than the House bill. The larger portion of the day was spent in considering the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill.

HOUSE.—The House voted to amend the Senate resolution for the final adjournment of Congress by substituting June 17 instead of June 10 as the date. Mr. Atkins, Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, reported a bill appropriating $20,000 to defray the expenses of the Select Committee on Presidential Elections. The Republicans filibustered to prevent the passage of the resolution.

FRIDAY, May 31.—SENATE.—The bill authorizing the President to appoint an additional Judge for the Seventh United States Judicial Circuit, embracing Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, was passed. The Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill was passed.

HOUSE.—The bill appropriating $20,000 to defray the expenses of the Presidential investigating committee was passed. The Senate bill for the relief of settlers on public lands, under the pre-emption laws, in reference to the computation of time for perfecting titles, was also passed. A larger number of private bills were disposed of.

SATURDAY, June 1.—SENATE.—The House resolution fixing June 17 as the day for the final adjournment was concurred in. The Senate devoted the entire day to the discussion of the Halifax fishery award question. Nearly every Senator spoke. Mr. Edmunds' resolution expressing a desire on the part of the country to terminate that clause of the treaty of Washington which gives our fishermen the right to the Canadian fisheries and gives the Canadian fishermen the right to bring fish into our market was passed, as was the resolution, thus amended.

HOUSE.—The following bills were passed: Authorizing the Solicitor of the Treasury, with the consent of the Secretary of War, to cancel certain contracts for the sale of land made at Harper's Ferry in 1869, to resell the same, and to sell, or lease, all other real estate or riparian rights owned by the United States at Harper's Ferry; giving Circuit Courts supervisory jurisdiction in certain criminal cases. The bill appropriating $500,000 for the construction of a fresh-water basin for iron-clad vessels at the Norfolk Navy Yard was referred to the committee of the whole, after which the House discussed the bill amending the internal-revenue laws.

MONDAY, June 3.—SENATE.—Mr. Edmunds moved to take up the bill relating to Presidential elections, and to provide for and regulate the counting of votes for President and Vice President and the decision of questions arising thereon. After a lively discussion the motion was defeated by a vote of 14 yeas to 27 nays. The House joint resolution providing for the issue of arms to the Territories was passed. The Post-Route bill was under consideration in the Senate. The amendment of Mr. Hamlin restoring the franking privilege was rejected by a tie vote—29 to 29.

HOUSE.—Bills were introduced and referred: By Mr. McMahon, enlarging the powers of the accounting officers of the United States in regard to bounty claims; by Mr. Bland, authorizing the issue of $50,000,000 in United States treasury notes for the improvement of the Mississippi river, from St. Louis to the Gulf of Mexico; by Mr. Culberson, to restrain the Secretary of the Treasury from paying outstanding 6-20 bonds except in legal-tender treasury notes; by Mr. Wright, of Pennsylvania, authorizing the issue of $400,000,000 United States notes, to be known as "national money;" by Mr. Ellis, levying a tax of 15 cents per pound on tea. The bill amending the internal-revenue laws was discussed. An evening session was held for the consideration of the Life-Saving bill.

TUESDAY, June 4.—SENATE.—The select committee to inquire into and report on the condition of affairs between the United States and Mexico was continued until the next session, and authorized to sit during the vacation. The House bill supplementary to the act of March 3, 1859, to carry into effect the convention between the United States and China, concluded at Shanghai on the 8th of November, 1858, and to give the Court of Claims jurisdiction in certain cases, was passed. The Senate bill to provide for the construction, maintenance and operation of a military telegraph in Dakota and Montana Territories passed. The Senate insisted upon its amendments to the Legislative, Judicial and Executive Appropriation bill, and a conference with the House was requested. The Post-Route bill was discussed.

HOUSE.—The Senate amendments to the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill were concurred in. Mr. Knott, the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill for the relief of the purchasers of land sold for direct taxes in the insurrectionary States. Referred. The following bills were passed: Fixing the election for Representatives to the next Congress from Colorado for the Tuesday after the first Monday in November; exempting municipal and county buildings, used as such, from levy and sale; providing for the appointment of a District Judge for the Western District of Tennessee, and for a division of the district; providing for holding terms of the United States District and Circuit Courts at Fort Wayne, Ind., and Toledo, Ohio; attaching the Assistant Attorney General for the Postoffice Department to the Department of Justice; exempting employees in the postal service from military and jury duty; providing that the election for Representatives to the Forty-sixth Congress from West Virginia be held on the second Tuesday of October; fixing the election for Representatives in Congress in North Carolina on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November; reorganizing the life-saving service. The Tariff bill and the Mexican Award bill were debated.

MICHIGAN ITEMS.

THE dog tax of Jackson will amount to $730.

THE Isoco County poor-house is without an inmate.

THE eighteenth annual convention of the Michigan State Sabbath-School Association will be held at Flint, June 25, 26 and 27.

A FIRE near East Saginaw, the other day, destroyed two frame buildings and 50,000 staves; total loss, $3,200; insurance, $3,600.

JOHN G. WHITTIER has written a letter to ex-Lieut. Gov. Holt, thanking him for his interest in Jonathan Walker, "the man with the branded hand."

PITUS ROMBACH died at Eagle river, Lake Superior, last week, from wounds received in an altercation with Frank King, a month ago. The latter is in jail.

THE annual reunion of the Sixth Michigan Heavy Artillery will be held at the Burdick House, Kalamazoo, June 20, the day of the sailors' and soldiers' reunion at that place.

IT is understood at East Saginaw that James F. Joy has expressed himself as ready to commence operations on the Saginaw and Vassar railroad, and all that remains is for East Saginaw to say the word.

THE Flint Globe says that ex-State Senator Peter White, of Marquette, has been sorely afflicted by the death of three children—two sons, aged 4 and 12 years, and a daughter 9 years old.

THE Marquette Journal states that out of sixty hemesteads taken up through the land office at that place, forty-seven were located in Chippewa county. The settlers are mostly from Canada.

THE night express south on the Chicago and Lake Michigan railroad was ditched the other night near Manlius by a wash-out. One car was burned, two totally demolished, and the engine thrown into the ditch.

MRS. MARIETTE GIBSON, mother of Dr. W. A. Gibson, a resident of Jackson for over forty years, died last week from the effects of injuries received a year ago by falling from a step-ladder while picking cherries. She was aged 53 years.

THE Assistant Manager of the Detroit Opera House was hauled before the Police Court last week for marking seats as taken when, in reality, they were not reserved. The law provides that any manager found guilty of this offense shall be fined not less than $1 and not more than $5 for every seat so marked.

SOME boys in Marland started a show in a cellar. The admission was 2 cents. The performance ranged from recitations to somersaults, and a feature was marksmanship of the kind that killed Volante. A 10-year-old boy held an apple on his head for a larger boy to shoot at, but the attempt was a failure. Just as the marksman took aim, the target-boy felt the apple slipping off, reached up to catch it, and had a bullet-hole put neatly through his hand. The wounded lad's mother made a raid on the show and closed it.

THE following is a tabulated statement of the receipts of the Tax Department of the Auditor General's office during the month of April:

THE Gratiot Journal says that at the June term of the Supreme Court a mandamus suit will be tried in behalf of the county against the State of Michigan. Prosecuting Attorney Whitney will ask that Auditor General Ely be required to show cause why he should not draw his warrant on the State Treasurer for the money due Gratiot county as per cent. interest on one-half the swamp lands sold in that county since 1858. The sum claimed for Gratiot Jan. 1, 1878, was $6,834.24. At the last session of the Legislature Representative Turk, of Gratiot county, introduced a resolution, which passed the House, but was lost in the Senate, for the distribution of this interest among the various counties where it appeared to be due, the total being then $74,738.28.

Gold Lace.

Gold lace is not gold lace. It does not deserve this title, for the gold is applied as a surface to silver. It is not even silver lace, for the silver is applied to a foundation of silk. The silken threads for making this material are wound round with gold wire, so thickly as to conceal the silk; and the making of this gold wire is one of the most singular mechanical operations imaginable. In the first place, the refiner prepares a solid rod of silver about an inch in thickness; he heats this rod, applies upon the surface a sheet of gold leaf, burnishes this down, applies another coating, burnishes this down, and so on, until the gold is about one-hundredth part the thickness of the silver. Then the rod is subjected to a train of processes which brings it down to the state of fine wire; it is passed through holes in a steel plate lessening step by step in diameter. The gold never deserts the silver, but adheres closely to it, and shares all its mutations; it is one-hundredth part the thickness of the silver at the beginning, and it maintains the same ratio to the end. As to the thinness to which the gold-coated rod of silver can be brought, this limit depends on the delicacy of human skill; but the most remarkable example ever known was brought forward by Dr. Wollaston. This was an example of solid gold wire without any silver. He procured a small rod of silver, bored a hole through it from end to end, and inserted in this hole the smallest gold wire he could procure; he subjected the silver to the usual wire-drawing process, until he had brought it to the finest attainable state—being, in fact, a silver wire as fine as a hair, with a gold wire in its center. To isolate this gold wire, he subjected it to warm nitrous acid, by which the silver was dissolved, leaving a gold wire one-thirty-thousandth of an inch in thickness—perhaps the thinnest round wire that the hand of man has yet produced. But the wire, though beyond all comparison finer than any employed in manufactures, does not approach in thinness the film of gold on the surface of silver and gold lace. It has been calculated that the gold on the very finest silver wire for gold lace is not more than one-third of one-millionth of an inch in thickness—that is, not above one-tenth thickness of ordinary gold leaf.—Coventry Standard.

ANOTHER has lately been added to the "infallible cures" for hydrophobia. Two Russian doctors who had been called upon to see a girl 12 years of age who had been bitten by a mad dog, and whose wound had been cauterized with nitrate of silver, without preventing the appearance of unfavorable symptoms, prescribed the inhalation of three cubic feet of oxygen, which produced immediate relief. Two days after, fresh symptoms of the malady occurred, difficulty of swallowing, etc., when a fresh inhalation of the oxygen was made, which again had the desired effect, and the girl is said to have recovered perfect health in a few weeks.

AGRICULTURAL AND DOMEST

Around the Farm.

PASTURE is the most natural, as it is the most universal, food of sheep. In some countries sheep never get anything else; though feeding artificial food to a certain extent is remunerative.

A CORRESPONDENT of the New England Farmer induced the striped bug to "leave at once," by simply placing "on the center of each hill a handful of ashes moistened with kerosene."

SEEDS will germinate quickly at a temperature of 60 deg. Fahrenheit; but, for growing strong and healthy, a temperature of 50 deg. is better. Peas and beans germinate quicker, and are less likely to rot in the ground, if soaked for twelve hours before planting.

It should be borne in mind that every farmer who will take the trouble to keep up a tasteful appearance about his house not only performs a good work for his own family, but stimulates his neighbors to imitate him. Nothing is more contagious than the desire for gardening when once it gets a footing.

RAT AND MOUSE EXTERMINATOR.—A sure cure for rats and mice on a farm is a good supply of cats. It looks rather expensive to see fourteen or fifteen cats running around on a farm, but in the end you will be surprised to see the amount of grain they have saved you. I speak from experience. We have had as many as fifteen cats at one time, and the amount saved by them would enable us to keep three or four times as many, if necessary.

The Scientific American gives the following, which our readers, who raise poultry, will do well to heed: "Put a tablespoonful of sulphur in the nest as soon as the hens or turkeys are set. The heat of the fowls causes the fumes of the sulphur to penetrate every part of their bodies; every louse is killed, and, as all nits are hatched within ten days, when the mother leaves the nest with her brood she is perfectly free from nits or lice."

The Live Stock Journal decides general questions as to cow food: "We have seen pumpkins fed quite freely, with excellent result in quantity and quality of milk; but it is not fit or economical to feed too largely of any one food. Potatoes, fed in moderation, are excellent for milk; but, given in too great quantity, they will reduce the yield. Turnips or beets must not be given too liberally; corn-fodder, given as a sole ration, is unprofitable; but fed with half pasture will keep up the yield of milk and add largely to the profit of the season."

HOW TO FEED CORN TO SWINE.—Although grains of undigested corn are but seldom seen in the excrement of hogs, the long experience of some of the fatteners of hogs would go to show that for fattening purposes ground corn is considerably more valuable than the unground. With the former the process of digestion goes on more rapidly, and the animals steadily increase in weight with a diminished amount of aliment. But the time consumed in getting the grain ground, and the miller's toll—one-tenth—must be taken into the account.—Germantown Telegraph.

TO STOP A HORSE FROM CHEWING HARNESS.—This and similar habits are among the consequences of some often-trivial derangement of the digestive system. The use of salt, and of some antacid, is generally sufficient to abate the nuisance. Keep the horse for a few months loose in a comfortable box stall, in one corner of which, upon a small shelf, place a piece of stone salt, and in another corner, also on a shelf, keep a supply of powdered chalk. At the same time, mix plenty of powdered aloes into the harness-blackening smeared on the parts of the harness or strap that he is in the habit of chewing.—Western Rural.

I NOTICED a few weeks since, in the Atlanta Constitution, the following remedy for blind staggers in horses: "Turn up the tail of the horse and cut to the bone, crosswise, from hair to hair, about three inches from the root of the tail," which it was said would afford immediate relief. Some two weeks ago, I had a mule taken with the blind staggers, and so violent was the attack that, had he belonged to any other person, I would not have given one dollar for him. As it was a desperate case, I thought I would try the remedy. He bled freely, and was better in two minutes, and was entirely well in a short time. Please insert this in your paper, and for the benefit of the public I hope it will be extensively copied.—Cor. Rome (Ga.) Courier.

SELF-CLEANING STABLE.—E. W. Stewart has contrived a self-cleaning stable, which for twenty cows costs $70, and pays for itself in two years in the saving of labor. An iron grating is placed for the hind feet of the cows to stand on; the fore feet stand on plank. The grating is composed of iron bars resting on iron joists. The iron joists rest on an angle-iron sill at the back side of the platform, and the other ends on a wooden joist under the plank. The bars are an inch thick, an inch and a half wide, and an inch and five-eighths apart. The platform is raised twelve inches, the gutter sunk eight inches. The droppings all pass through into the gutter below. The manure no longer soils the cows; that which had adhered to their flanks disappeared. The cows did not slip on the iron bars.—Country Gentleman.

About the House.

TEA HAIR TONIC.—Strong infusion of black tea, one pint; bay rum, four ounces; oil of lavender, one drachm; alcohol, four ounces; glycerine, four ounces.

TO KEEP LEMONS.—Lemons can be kept a long time in silver sand perfectly dried. Place the stem end of the lemon down, and have them three inches apart. Keep in a cool place.

ANTIDOTE TO LAUREL POISON.—Strong green tea is a remedy for sheep poisoned with laurel. A teaspoonful of green tea boiled in water sufficient to make a cupful of the liquid, and given from a bottle when cool, is sure to cure.

CABBAGE SALAD.—One cup of vinegar, one teaspoonful of mustard, one tablespoonful of melted butter and one egg; heat the vinegar and add the butter; beat the egg, to which add the mustard; then stir into the vinegar, and pour over shredded cabbage.

FRENCH LOAF CAKE.—Two and a half cups of sugar, one and a half cups of butter, one cup of raisins, one cup of warm milk, five cups of sifted flour, three eggs, half a wine-glass of wine, a little nutmeg, a small teaspoonful of saleratus; mix butter and sugar to a cream, add part of the flour and yolks of eggs, then the other part of the flour and whites of eggs.

RICH WAFFLES.—Take a teacup and a half of rice, which has been well boiled, and warm it in a pint of rich milk, stirring it until smooth; then remove it from the fire, and stir in a pint of cold milk and a little salt; beat four eggs very light, and stir into the mixture in turn, with sufficient flour to make a thick batter; bake in a waffle-iron, butter them, and send to the table hot.

CLEANSING BEDS.—We have been renovating our hair mattresses this spring and finished the last one yesterday. They look as good as new and I am pleased to say cost us nothing except our time and labor. The mattresses were ripped on three edges, the hair taken out, put on the grass, well pulled apart and beaten with long whips. The ticks were washed and ironed and their hair put back evenly. Then, with a long upholsterer's needle and strong twine, the mattresses were tacked down tightly in diamonds, the same as before, with a roseate of blue or red worsted tied in with each tacking. I found it rather difficult in the first one to spread the hair evenly. The mattress, when tacked, was high in the center and with scarcely any hair in the corners so that I was obliged to undo part of the work. Profiting by this experience, I had no difficulty with the second.—Mrs. E. B., in Rural New Yorker.

The Laugh on Mark Twain.

Dr. Riggs, a dentist of this city, is the man who first administered laughing gas when the discovery of that anesthetic was made by the late Dr. Horace Wells. A public exhibition was given at which Dr. Wells was present, and the gas was taken first by Sam Cooley, who had a tooth pulled by Riggs. Several weeks ago the Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, pastor of the Aylum Hill Congregational Church in this city, sat for a good part of two days in Dr. Riggs' dental chair having his teeth repaired. Riggs is chatty, and while at work gave Mr. Twichell a detailed and interesting account of Dr. Wells' discovery and of the Cooley exhibition. There were so many rare and funny things in the narrative that Mr. Twichell repeated them from memory to Mark Twain, who thought it would be well to see Riggs himself, and get the yarn first-hand, as he might work it up with some embellishments for publication. A few days afterward the distinguished humorist appeared in Riggs' office, saying that, as he was going abroad, he would like to have his teeth overhauled somewhat, though he really had no idea that very much tinkering would be necessary. What he wanted was the story. After being well seated in the operating chair he succeeded in getting the doctor started, and, between the story and the work performed two days were occupied. Mark rejoiced over his good luck, and took the earliest opportunity to inform his clerical friend that he had succeeded in getting just what he wanted.

The day he sailed for Europe, however, he was astonished to get a bill for services from Dr. Riggs amounting to $200. He did not know but it might be a joke, a greater charge being made on account of anesthesia than for actual professional work. He soon satisfied himself, however, that the doctor intended the bill to cover mechanical services only, and then he was mad, particularly as all he wanted from the doctor was the story. He passed the bill over to Mr. Charles E. Perkins, attorney, who still has it. Mark, meanwhile, will not probably prepare his version of the discovery of laughing gas until he knows precisely what he has got to pay for the materials.—Hartford (Ct.) Times.

His Undying Loves.

"Did I ever love any other girl?" repeated a prospective bridegroom, in answer to the tearful inquiry of his intended. "Why, no, darling; of course not. Could you ask such a question? You are my first and only love. This heart knew no awakening until the sunshine of your love streamed in and awoke it to ecstasy." And then he kissed her tenderly, and went home, and said to himself, "I must hurry those things out of the way right off, or there'll be a row." And he collected together a great pile of letters, written in all kinds of feminine hands, with lots of faded flowers, and photographs, and locks of hair, and bits of faded ribbon, and other things; and when the whole collection had been crammed into the kitchen grate he drew a deep sigh and said to himself, "There goes all that's left of fourteen undying loves. Let 'em flicker."

The Baptists.

The National Convention of the Baptist Church was recently in session at Cleveland Ohio. From the annual reports we learn that there are now in this country 1,048 Baptist associations, 23,908 churches, 14,506 ordained ministers, and 2,024,224 church members. The denomination has 10,492 Sunday schools, with 903,367 teachers and scholars. It is estimated that the total number of Baptists in the world is 2,472,400, America having 2,116,969 of these, and Great Britain only 269,836.

Marriage of a Woman to a Woman.

Marancy Hughes was married in September last to a person who was known as Samuel M. Pollard. Her relatives opposed the match, and she eloped and was married without their knowledge, and a short time after their marriage Pollard confessed to her that she was a woman; that she had trouble with her relatives in the East; had lost her property, and assumed the disguise of a man for the reason that avenues for making money would be open to her in that character which would be closed to her as a woman. Pollard has never given her any particular reason for doing her this wrong, but is believed to have been actuated by a foolish pride in appearing in the character of a married man. The victim was ashamed to acknowledge that she had been so imposed upon, and shrank from admitting the truth. Pollard, without actually threatening her life, repeatedly intimated that it would be bad for her if she exposed her, and so she kept silence until a fortnight ago, when her aunt got an intimation of the fact, and questioned her closely, and she related to her the whole story. The victim says that the woman's real name is Sarah M. Pollard, and that her trunk is filled with feminine apparel. A complaint was filed yesterday by J. C. Howerton, accusing Pollard of perjury in swearing, when he took out the marriage license, that he was a male.—Tuscarora (Nevada) Times-Review.

A Romantic Career.

Mr. Isaac Johnson, of Port Penn, has fallen heir to a fortune of $150,000, $100,000 being invested in United States bonds, and $50,000 in property in the City of Mexico. Mr. Johnson's life has been an eventful one. At the tender age of 10 years his nautical propensities induced him to pilfer a washbasin and set himself afloat on the broad bosom of the Delaware. He drifted down the bay and was picked up by the bark Henry Young, commanded by Capt. John Hall, since deceased, and taken to the City of Mexico, where he was adopted by a wealthy Spaniard, named Don Hidalgo Hernandez, who gave him a liberal education and established him in his business, but being a strong advocate of Maximilian I. he had to escape to Texas. At the beginning of the civil war he espoused the cause of the rebellion, and entered the service as aid-de-camp to Gen. Sidney Johnston. At the close of the war he engaged in an extensive shoe manufactory in Philadelphia, but owing to the perfidy of his partners he was reduced to poverty, and was compelled to return to his native town of Port Penn.—Dover Sentinel.

Birds, Flies and Apples.

A French paper, earnestly deprecating birdnesting, says: "A bird's nest contains, on an average, five eggs, which would, in the natural course, become five little birds. Each little one eats daily fifty flies or other insects, and this consumption extends over four or five weeks. Taking it at an average of thirty days, we shall find the number of flies destroyed by each nest of birds to be 7,500. Now, every fly eats daily a quantity of flowers, leaves, etc., equivalent to its weight, until it attains its maximum of growth; in thirty days it will have eaten a flower a day—a flower which would have become fruit. Each fly—the term is used, we presume, for insects generally—having, we will say, eaten thirty fruits in thirty days, the 7,500 flies which a nest of birds would have consumed cause a loss to us of 225,000 apples, pears, apricots and peaches. We commend this view of the matter to the parents of marauding children."

Speaker Kerr's Disease.

The late Speaker Kerr's illness was something like Mr. William D. Kelley's, the member from Philadelphia. Mr. Kelley can neither smell nor taste. He can't discern the difference in taste between coffee and tea, though he drinks them. Mr. Kerr had an affection of the mucous membrane, which kept him spitting a good deal, though he never spat blood. He was called to Washington to a conference of the Democratic party leaders somewhere about 1872, and they met at Walker's restaurant and dined together. Mr. Kerr walked home in his dress coat, considerably heated, in the night air. He took a cold, and the mucous membrane of his whole body became inflamed. He consulted Dr. Rogers as soon as it became serious, and was told he could not live a year. But he survived the doctor, and lived more than two years, and was elected Speaker, a mortally-stricken man.

Battle on a Ball Ground.

A game of base-ball was played near Passaic on Sunday afternoon by young men from Passaic and Paterson. A dispute arose, which ended in a fight between a Passaic and a Paterson man. There were 300 spectators, who formed a ring, and the fight was continued until one of the men struck the other a blow that was considered foul. Then the respective friends of the fighters pitched in, and the fight became general. The Passaic men had the bats, and that gave them the advantage. They vanquished the Patersonians and drove them from the field in confusion, with several broken noses.—New York Sun.

BORDER LANDS.

Oh, good the air of border lands;
Oh, dangerous dear their subtle spell;
Where thralldoms stretch uncertain hands
And careless, happy outlaws dwell.
Twist dawn and day, twist day and night
In blissful, shadowy realms they lie;
Sweeter than dark, sweeter than light,
Too swift the moments hurry by.
Twist hearts that wait and hearts that love
Their sunny, vague horizons round—
Who would not journey back to prove
Once more the joys within that bound
Twist life and life, twist death and death,
Rise this life's narrow, viewless strands;
Who knows how much it entoreth
Our joy that they are border lands!
—Helen Hunt, in Atlantic Monthly for June.

Murdered by Harsh Words.

The Providence Journal says: "A curious and painful case occurred at New Bedford, Mass., Thursday, which might raise the question whether manslaughter may not be caused by threat and demonstration of violence, and the consequent effect of fear on a feeble constitution, as well as by actual bodily harm. As to the moral guilt of the criminal there can be no doubt. One Frederick Jenney, a middle-aged man, addicted to liquor, had been maltreating and abusing his wife until she had been compelled to ask the interference of the police. She was in feeble health, and her mother, a woman of nervous temperament and 70 years of age, was in attendance upon her. Thursday evening Jenney came into the house and addressed the old lady in such abusive and threatening language that she left the house and fled to a neighbor's for protection. She returned at a later hour, in the hope of attending upon her daughter unmolested, but the man attacked her again so wickedly with threats that, although a neighbor was with her as a protector, she was seized with a tremor of terror, and, in a short time, fell to the floor dead, her thread of life having been undoubtedly snapped by fear and excitement. The violent brute was arrested, and, although such an extraordinary case is probably not included within the provisions of the law of manslaughter, he is undoubtedly as guilty as if he had struck the feeble woman with his fist and she had died from its effects."

Beautiful Paris.

There is no other city in the world where the picturesque and beautiful is studied as it is in Paris. The work of improving and ornamenting is always going on. When a handsome building is erected it is never allowed to be otherwise than handsome. If erected to-day it will be found ten years hence just as bright and free from blemish as it was on the day it was finished. In London they admire a structure that is begrimed with smoke and soot, and would regard it as a desecration if any one was to propose to clean it. Even the white marble statuary is allowed to become coal black, and receives a fresh coat of soot every year, until it is difficult for a stranger to discover whether it is marble or bronze. The Parisian is always cleaning and polishing, and striving to make that which is white whiter, and that which is bright brighter. New York boasts of its Broadway, but Paris has a hundred Boulevards extending through every section of the city. But its narrow streets are well paved and kept as clean as the great boulevards. The spirit of cleanliness is universal, but it cannot be said that "cleanliness is akin to godliness" in that beautiful city.—Cor. Baltimore American.

A Tortoise's Age.

Mr. D. H. Willard, No. 51 Capital avenue, says that in the year 1838, on the east farm, half a mile south of the Newington railroad junction, he came across a very large and beautiful spotted box or hinge tortoise (so called from its power to close its upper and under shells firmly together.) Turning it tip-side down he inscribed on it his own initials, and the date, letting him free. In 1862 he found the same fellow again half a mile west. He had crossed two bridges or forded the streams, and three railroad tracks. The new date was then added, the first inscription being very distinct. He has not seen him since until last Saturday, the 18th, when he espied him on his west farm, near the New Britain line, about one and a half miles from the first point named, looking as hale and hearty as ever, but not increased in size perceptibly. He was duly marked 1878 and sent on his way with this query: "At this rate of travel, when will you reach the Pacific coast?"—Hartford (Ct.) Times.

Intemperate Water Drinking.

Improper drinking has killed thousands. There have been instances where thirsty armies, after long marches, have come to some river, when the men would lie down on their faces and quaff an inordinate quantity of water, with these results; some died almost instantly, others become crazy and staggered like drunken men. Avoid drinking water as much as possible, while walking. When you feel thirsty, rinse the mouth with water, but do not swallow it. Drink only when resting. Men, when heated, should not drink anything cold. Drink slowly; half a tumbler of water will suffice the thirstiest man in the world, if he drinks it by sips. In fact it is almost impossible to get down a full glass of water taken in this way.

In a Perilous Position.

A few days since an Auburn (Me.) builder ascended to the top of High Street Church spire to do some work, and suddenly felt nausea and dizziness. He was alone, 150 feet from the ground, on a narrow scaffolding, but had presence of mind enough to fall flat on his back on the narrow board upon which he stood. He lay there half an hour with his head swimming, but gradually the nausea and dizziness disappeared, and he ventured again to rise, finished the work he had begun and descended. It was an experience, however, which he does not care to have repeated.

SATURDAY, JUNE 8TH, 1878.

REV. ABEL T. STEWART, D. D.

Appropriate services in commemoration of their deceased pastor, were held by the congregation of Hope Church, on Sunday morning last, under the direction of Rev. Dr. Crispell, notwithstanding the rain storm that came up just before the hour of meeting, the church was well filled by an audience which seemed to take a deep interest in the mournful occasion. Letters of sympathy were read from members of the Classis of Michigan, and from Rev. R. Pieters of the 1st Ref. Church. Rev's. Prof. Beck, Coplin and Uiterwyk joined in the exercises, and expressed their high appreciation of the character of their co-laborer in the gospel.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Prof. Scott, and from it we gather the following facts concerning one who has lived and labored in this city, for twelve years, and who was deservedly held in high estimation.

Dr. Stewart was born in 1822, in Somerville N. J. and was favored with a pious and excellent mother, who was widowed when her children were young. Being converted to God, at the age of 16, he entered upon a course of education to fit him for the ministry, at New Brunswick, N. J., where he graduated from the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Dutch Church, and was licensed in 1846. Even as a student, he was considered a young man of cultured tastes, and of social and gentlemanly qualities of more than average merit. His first settlement was in a small church, called Greenville, in Westchester Co., N. Y., where he did an excellent work for the Master, and for his denomination; and where he remained over five years, and near which he also organized and took the charge of a second church, called Bronxville. The two became self-supporting, and the latter built their house of worship, and entirely freed it from debts.

In July 1852 he removed to the old church of Tarrytown, on the Hudson, the well known location of Washington Irving's "Legend of Sleepy Hollow." The antique building where some six generations had worshiped, and around which their dust was lying in the grave, had become unfitted for use and hence the great labor of his pastorate was to secure a new church and parsonage. The effort was crowned with complete success, and when all was finished and paid for, (and the two were worth over $30,000,) he left his pleasant home, and his attached people and came to the 2nd. Ref. Church in this city.

He was called to Holland in 1865, making a visit of inspection that summer, and again in Feb. 1866, he accepted the call, and came to Michigan about June 1st, of the same year. Since then he has been the faithful pastor of Hope Church, and now goes to his reward in heaven in the very vigor of manhood. His congregation here, small first, has grown to a membership of over 100. As in previous settlements he has had to give his energies very much to the temporalities of his people, and the convenient parsonage and fine church edifice on 11th street, built mainly through his efficient co-operation, will remain with us as a monument to his memory.

He was a warm friend of all denominational efforts for the extension of God's Kingdom, and was especially interested in Hope College. For the twelve years of his pastorate he was among the most active Trustees of the Institution and Secretary of its Council. The suspension of the Theological Department by the last General Synod was a sad blow to his heart and often depressed his spirits. The students had a valuable friend in the pastor of Hope Church.

The public and private character of Rev. Dr. Stewart was thus summed up by the preacher, who has known him for nearly forty years.

As a preacher he was not eloquent nor brilliant, in the common acceptance of those terms, but was studious, careful, a great lover of the truth, and often very forcible and effective in his pulpit discourses. From pastoral labors he never shrunk, and for ministerial work anywhere was ever ready. As a man he was remarkably sincere in his convictions, and sympathetic in his nature. While the former often made him appear as too unyielding in his opinions, the latter made him one of the most benevolent and kind hearted of men, and one of the most faithful of friends. He was also the soul of uprightness, and honor, and in no kind of transactions could willingly join in or bear with acts or principles that seemed beneath the dignity of a true humanity. He was incapable of intentional deceptions. In all the relations of life he maintained a character which was above reproach, and his name will live in this community as a worthy citizen whose loss will be felt and deplored. His buried dust lies in beautiful Greenwood.

He was honored with the degree of D. D. by Rutgers College in 1873, and in 1874 represented the General Synod in the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church South.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for July comes to us more richly freighted even than usual. It contains some forty separate articles and more than seventy illustrations. The opening paper is upon "The Homes of St. John," by Rev. John P. Hurst, D. D., President of Drew Theological Seminary, illustrated with views showing the present appearance of all the places, from Bethesda to Patmos, which can be identified as having been the successive abodes of the Beloved Disciple. Among the other articles are an interesting paper on "The Armenians," by George Smith; "The Leper of Aosta," a thrilling story, translated from the French by Miss Clara de Graffenreidt; "Oliver Cromwell and the Puritans," by Alfred H. Guernsey; and "Rose Elliot," a Scottish story, by Jane G. Owston. Rev. Dr. Deems, the editor, contributes the regular sermon, the subject being "God's Glory shining in Jesus;" "Popular Exegeses," of several passages of Scripture. There are editorial comments upon "Anniversary Week," and other current topics of interest; and critical notices of several leading books of the month, etc., etc. Taken all in all, this number of the Sunday Magazine full fills the implied in its title—that of a magazine of a distinctively religious character, while in its general literary tone and in the profusion of its illustrations, it is fully up to the mark of the foremost magazines of America and Europe.

Each number of this brilliant periodical contains 128 quarto pages of delightful and instructive reading and the illustrations, which number over seventy, are of a highly interesting character. The annual subscription price of the Sunday Magazine is but $3, postpaid, and single copies may be obtained for 25 cents. Address Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, corner of College Place, New York.

Sheriff's Sale.

STATE OF MICHIGAN: The Circuit Court for the County of Ottawa—in Chancery.

Ellis Thompson, Complainant.

Susan Thompson, Defendant.

By virtue of an execution, issued out of and under the seal of said Court, tested on the 13th day of May, 1878, and founded upon a decree entered in said cause on the 4th day of April, 1878, against the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of Ellis Thompson, the complainant, and in favor of Susan Thompson the defendant therein named, I did, on the 13th day of May, 1878, levy on all the right title and interest of the said Ellis Thompson in and to the following described lands situated in said County of Ottawa, viz: the south-east quarter of north-west quarter of section twenty-four in town eight north, range fifteen west. Notice is hereby given, that I shall expose said lands for sale at public vendue to the highest bidder to satisfy the amount due on said execution, including costs and collection fees, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Grand Haven, in said County, on the thirteenth day of July, 1878, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

Dated, GRAND HAVEN, May 22nd, 1878.

Mortgage Sale.

DEFAULT has been made in the conditions of a mortgage, executed by Orville O. Sparks and Mary Sparks to John Spoon, dated June 25, 1875, and recorded in the Register's office of Ottawa County, Michigan, September 30, 1875, in Liber V. of mortgages on page 323, upon which mortgage there is claimed to be due at this date, thirteen hundred and eighty-one dollars and thirty-nine cents, besides an attorney fee of fifty dollars provided for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure thereof. No suit or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. By such default the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative. Therefore, Notice is hereby given, that said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the land therein described or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due thereon, including said attorney fee and the costs of foreclosure and sale, at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of the Court House in the City of Grand Haven in said County of Ottawa on the 24th day of June, 1878, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; said premises are described in said mortgage as the north-east quarter of north-west quarter of section twenty-nine, in town eight north, range fifteen west, in said County of Ottawa and State of Michigan.

Dated, March 25th, 1878.

Mortgage Sale.

DEFAULT having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed by Peter H. Chappell and Elizabeth Chappell to George W. Woodward, bearing date the 6th day of April, A. D. 1872, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Ottawa County, State of Michigan, on the fifteenth day of June, A. D. 1872, at half past seven o'clock P. M., in Liber T of mortgages on page 608, through non-payment of a part of the money secured to be paid by said mortgage, by way of which the power to sell in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date hereof the sum of two hundred and forty-six dollars and four cents, and also an attorney fee of twenty-five dollars provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof; Notice is therefore hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale at public vendue of the mortgaged premises described therein, to-wit: all that certain piece or parcel of land situated in the County of Ottawa and State of Michigan, known and described as follows: to-wit: commencing at an iron post in the Grand Rapids and Muskegon State Road four chains and fifty-four and one-half (54 $\frac{1}{2}$) links north-westerly from a grind stone in the first angle of the said state road running from the east line of section thirty-four and running from thence south, thirty minutes west, one chain and sixty-one links; thence north, eighty-nine degrees and thirty minutes west, three chains; thence north, thirty minutes east, three chains; thence south forty-nine degrees and forty-five minutes east, two chains and sixty-one links along the said state road to the place of beginning; Also that piece or parcel of land situate in the County of Ottawa, State of Michigan, known and described as follows: commencing at a point in the Muskegon State Road said point being the north-west corner of a lot owned by the said Elizabeth Chappell and running from thence south, along the west line of the said Elizabeth Chappell, situate the south-west corner of said lot; thence west to the half quarter line; thence north on said half quarter line to the centre of said state road; thence south-easterly along the centre of said state road to the place of beginning, and being a fractional part of the south-east quarter of section number thirty-four, town eight north of range thirteen west; all containing about one acre and a half of land more or less, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, situate in and adjoining to the front door of the Court House of said Ottawa County, in the City of Grand Haven in said county, on the twenty-fourth day of June, A. D. 1878, at two o'clock in the afternoon, to pay the sum due on said mortgage with interest and costs including said attorney fee.

Rev. N. M. Steffens, of Silver Creek, Ill., has accepted the call to Zeeland, Mich.

As soon as "the logs come down" the shingle mill of Pfanstiehl & Griswold will commence running night and day.

Rev. C. Van der Veen left this week for the East, to attend the session of the General Synod of the Reformed Church.

PRESIDENT Hayes has signed the bill forbidding any further contraction of the legal tender notes. That is one good job to the credit of the present Congress.

REV. Dr. Phelps left on Friday of last week, and Revs. R. Pieters, Jas. F. Zwemer and Elder T. Keppel on Monday last to attend the session of the General Synod of the Reformed Church.

Mr. P. Zalsman, whose hotel burned not long since, has left for parts unknown. It is presumed that he settled in some way with the insurance companies, but he has evidently forgotten to settle all his little bills around town.

SOMEBODY writing over the signature of "Correspondent" had an article published in De Grondwet of last Tuesday, to which we will reply as soon as the writer will throw off his mask and sign his own name. Anonymous writers are beneath our notice.

WHEREVER we go or drive, we find people engaged fixing up the roads, filling up holes, cleaning out ditches, rounding up and grading, and on a piece just south of the city limits, on the continuation of River street, claying and graveling is being done.

THE building of sidewalks at Vriesland and Drenthe seems to have become more and more popular. One is being laid from the Vriesland church to the townhouse, and another reaching almost from Drenthe to Vriesland. That region is very prosperous and is destined to become rich.

WE glean from the minutes of the last session of the Common Council that Alderman E. Van der Veen has petitioned for street room for building purposes, which was granted. As soon as his brick arrives work on his new block will be pushed forward. The carpenters are hard to work making preparations.

THE base ball club from Douglas visited this city on Saturday last and played a friendly match game with our college boys on the College Campus. The visitors were victorious, and the score at the close stood 20 to 13. The Douglas club was accompanied by several gentlemen from Saugatuck and Douglas, including Mr. Chas. F. Wasson, editor of the Lake Shore Commercial.

FOR excursions at any and all times, arrangements can be made with Capt. Frank Brouwer. His boat, the steamer Twilight, was rebuilt and enlarged last winter by the master hand of A. Anderson, and is now a handsome boat, and well calculated to accommodate small parties. For Sunday School picnics he has a large barge which can be fitted up to accommodate a vast amount of children in perfect safety. His prices are very low.—See advertisement.

A GRAND excursion is to come off on Monday, June 24th, on the large and staunch propeller Mary Groh. Although under the auspices of Unity Lodge, 191, F. & A. M., the invitation is extended to the public in general. The boat will go several miles on Lake Michigan, leaving parties at the harbor to ramble over the hills, if they wish, and will take them on board on the home trip—the whole ride amounting to about 30 miles, for the small sum of 25 cents. It will certainly be one of the finest opportunities of the season, and will be largely participated in. There will be a hop at the City Hotel in the evening, for the lovers of quadrille, and ample arrangements are being made for first-class meals and accommodations.—See posters around town.

WITHIN the past few weeks we had occasion to learn from parties residing outside of this city that after their most diligent search for the cheapest place to procure sash, doors, blinds, etc., they concluded that they could do better in every respect at the Phoenix Planing Mill, of which H. W. Verbeek & Co. are proprietors, than at Grand Rapids, or any other of the villages or cities surrounding us. This is an important fact, and should be well known throughout the colony. Tell your neighbor, that if he wants to build, he can buy cheaper in Holland than in Grand Rapids, and not alone in sash, doors and blinds, but this city is at present underselling Grand Rapids in dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, hardware, paints, oils, drugs and medicines. This idea of running to Grand Rapids for everything, on account of cheapness is effete—that time is passed. Holland, at present, undersells Grand Rapids in most all the necessities of life, and this is no mere assertion, but can be proven by several parties who have taken the trouble to test it practically.

WHEAT is heading out nicely and rye is beginning to ripen in some favorite localities.

"CASE" Wiersema will have a grand opening, at his restaurant this (Saturday) evening. Don't fail to try his cream.

THE steam yacht Sea Gull was libelled on Saturday last, and tied up to Harrington's dock by the U. S. Marshal on Wednesday morning last.

List of letters remaining in the Post office at Holland, Mich., June 6, 1878: Walter Watterson, Henry Smith.

WM. VERBECK, P. M.

THE new store for Mr. Wm. Van Putten's drug business is assuming a finer aspect, the carpenters and painters vying with each other in finishing and beautifying the building. When finished, it will be a fine drug store.

CHAS. Kellogg, a deaf and dumb boy, who was formerly to work at the City Hotel, but lately in the shingle mill of Pfanstiehl & Griswold, was unfortunate enough on Tuesday last to saw off the forefinger from his left hand, and damaging two more fingers severely.

THE Hollander is still harping about that petition, and don't seem to be willing to believe our statement that we had nothing to do with the "getting up" of that petition. If you know anything different, neighbor, then bring your proof, like a man, and cease your silly insinuations.

AN 18-year old son of Mr. A. Viissers, residing about four miles north of this city, fell from a swing and broke his arm last week. Swinging seems to have become very popular recently, and we hear rumors of several accidents in consequence, the particulars of which we could not ascertain.

THE new steamer Rogers called at this port for the first time on Saturday last, and although the boat is not completely finished, she looks like a fine boat, having a good model and a very fine engine in her. The Rogers is intended for the route between Saugatuck and this city, and when all is ready the captain will say a few words to the public himself.

DEFINITE advices from the Oregon election indicate that the democrats have carried off the substantial fruits of victory, namely, a member of each house of congress. Whitaker, the democratic candidate for congress, is elected, as is also a legislature which will not return Hipple-Mitchell to the senate. This is a result upon which the country is to be congratulated—unless Cronin should happen to be chosen in Mitchell's place.

THE Beach Brothers have opened a regular commission business in the store recently occupied by Mr. H. Gezon, in the first ward, and will give their attention principally to buying wheat. They will also handle flour and country produce, and this will add one more market where farmers can expect to get the regular market value for their grain. We hope the Beach Brothers will succeed in forcing the confession from our farmers that they can do just as well in Holland as in Grand Rapids.—See their card on another page.

It will be painful to the friends of Mr. Eliza Hopkins, of whom there is a large circle, to learn that the ulcer on his left jaw, on which he had an operation performed several weeks ago, by Dr. Sheppard at Grand Rapids, has been pronounced to be cancer. As a sort of last resort, Mr. Hopkins, on Monday, resolved to consult some of the eminent surgeons at Chicago. Dr. F. S. Ledebor and other friends accompanied him, and the above discouraging report of the result of the consultation held there saddened all hope entertained for his recovery.

AT the Vriesland cheese factory everything seems to be working well, and it is expected that the building will have to be enlarged yet during the present season. Between putting water in the milk, and using wooden pails—contrary to requirements—there is no little fun and a good deal of gossip among the farmers wives and daughters, and whereas all the points of honesty and cleanliness are readily exposed, according to adopted rules, and the means at hand to test milk, we may safely look forward to some more sport among the dairy maids of Vriesland.

A second attempt to assassinate the Emperor of Germany has happily failed, although the old man is suffering considerably from the many wounds inflicted, and from loss of blood in consequence of surgical operations, the latest dispatches express the hope of his complete recovery. The sympathy felt for him throughout his empire and the city wherein he lives, and, in fact, throughout the civilized world, will prove a balm and solace to him of no common power, and is so universal that it produced astonishment at the best centres of information. This second effort to murder the head of the German nation will doubtless act disastrously on socialistic and communistic proclivities, as the dispatches already indicate. For original dispatch see inside.

THE bridge across Black River, known as the "Scholte Bridge" is being overhauled.

FERNANDO Wood's efforts on a new tariff bill were all in vain, the bill was killed on Wednesday last.

GLASS eyes for horses are now made with such perfection that the animals themselves cannot see through the deception.

ON Sunday last the frame of Klaasen & Roost's kiln, near their new brick yard was blown down, creating some delay and damage.

It is proposed to annex Paraguay to the Argentine Republic, and the project finds favor with the Paraguayans, who think their country is in such a bad way that annexation alone can save it.

WE tender our thanks to Profs. Scott and Crispell for the assistance rendered and valuable information furnished in connection with the obituary article of the late Rev. A. T. Stewart, D. D.

WE would like to see some young man enterprising enough to put a good sprinkler on River and Eighth streets. We think that if the right kind of young man takes hold of it at the right time, he could make a successful start.

TO DAY (Saturday) "Dan" Riley takes his old place as drug clerk for Mr. Wm. Van Putten. We must congratulate Mr. Van Putten in securing a clerk so efficient, and at the same time so well acquainted with the customers trading at his store. Welcome back to Holland, Dan!

WE have received a sample of cheese of the first made at May Station, and, of course, allowing for everything being new, and made with a great deal of haste, looks very well. We sincerely hope that their efforts will be unceasing in the direction of excellence, as the quality of the article will decide the question—"does it pay."

JUDGING from the report in the Allegan papers about the Temperance Mass Meeting on Decoration Day, our friend Geo. W. McBride, Esq., of Grand Haven, has made quite a hit in the two speeches he made on the same day. This only goes to show that Holland City has had, and still has, young attorneys that are not to be sneezed at.

"DR." Bosio has turned up at Denison, Texas, where he advertised extensively his peach-branch remedy and himself, did considerable business, borrowed money, obtained goods on credit from stores, and suddenly decamped, it is supposed for the Pacific coast. The News of that city says "His trunk, which he had left at his boarding-house, was discovered perfectly empty; even the leeches had gone with him."—Allegan Journal. Wonder if he took his monkey along this time.

THE national greenback party met in state convention at Grand Rapids, on Wednesday. Three hundred and sixty delegates were present, and nominated the following state ticket: Governor, Henry S. Smith, of Grand Rapids, lieutenant-governor, Lysander W. Ward, Oakland county; secretary of state, Geo. H. Bruce, Lenawee county; treasurer, Herman Golschell, East Saginaw; auditor general, Levi Sparks, Berrien. The convention adopted a platform, as follows: "First the unconditional repeal of the so-called resumption act; second, the issue of all paper money to be a full legal tender for all debts, public and private; third, that no more interest-bearing bonds of the government of any kind or class, be issued, and that all bonds now outstanding be paid as speedily as possible; fourth, the enactment of such laws as will best protect the industries of this nation, and confer the greatest good upon the greatest number; such legislation should be had that the number and hours of daily toil be reduced, giving the working classes more leisure for mental improvement and social enjoyment, saving them from premature decay and death; fifth, the coinage of silver to be placed upon the same footing as that of gold; sixth, the repeal of the national banking law. We deprecate all efforts to redress wrongs by the violation of law, and believe that through the ballot-box alone must we look for justice. We demand that all government lands be reserved for actual settlers only."

THE OLD HOME.

It is not a castle olden,
Standing in the sunlight golden,
Relic of the past,
With a deep moor moaned and hoary,
And a ray from bygone glory
O'er its ruin cast.

But a mansion fair and pleasant,
Known alike of peer and peasant
For its kindly cheer.
With its glades and leafy covers,
Ferry haunts of loitering lovers,
And the shy wild deer.

Crimson blossoms redly glowing,
Flickering shadows, here it throwing,
Well the lichen's stain;
Sunset gleams of rose and amber,
Where the fairy's gentle clamber,
Flash each gleaming pane.

Lurks no ghost behind the arras,
Happy midnight dreams to harass,
Wakes no Banshee's wail;
Tapestry, near antique lumber,
Doth its sunny hall incumber,
Shield nor quit of mail.

Morning wakes its household noises,
Busy footsteps, laughing voices,
As in days of yore;
Burns its warm heart too brightly,
Where the gay groups gather nightly,
Though it knows no more.

Heard by other lives supplanted;
Steps, that once its precincts haunted,
Hushed by mount and sea;
Only my sad heart remembers
Flowering June and dark December,
Sweet old home, in thee!

Shadows place the garden alleys,
Joiner with me through the valleys,
Wander my woodland walk;
And by the streamlet yellow-shaded,
Where the songbirds serenaded,
Parted lovers part.

Idly walking, idly dreaming,
With the sunlit waters gleaming
Golden at their feet,
While the fair-haired children plunder,
Bony-mouthed, with blue-eyed wonder,
Fruitage wild and sweet.

When I stretch my hands in greeting,
Each familiar name repeating,
Straightway from my sight
Back to angel bowers they vanish,
Even as beams of morning vanish
From the night.

HAUNTED HOUSES.

The Black Ribbon on the Wrist.

home; she visited no family but that of a clergyman who resided in the same village.

The clergyman's family consisted of himself, his wife, and one son, who, at the time of Sir Martin's death, was quite a youth.

To this son, however, Lady Beresford was after a few years married, notwithstanding the disparity of years and the manifest imprudence of a connection so unequal in every point of view.

Lady Beresford was treated by her young husband with contempt and cruelty, while at the same time his conduct proved him to be the most abandoned libertine.

By this, her second husband, she had two daughters; after which, such was the baseness of his conduct, she insisted on a separation.

They parted for a few years, when, so great was the contrition he expressed for his former conduct, that, won over by his supplications, promises, and entreaties, she was induced to pardon, and once more reside with him, and was in time the mother of a son.

The day on which she had been confined just one month, being the anniversary of her birthday, she sent for Lady Betty Cobb (of whose friendship she had long been possessed) and a few other friends to request them to spend the day with her.

About 7, the clergyman by whom she had been christened, and with whom she had all her life been intimate, came into the room to inquire after her health.

She told him she was perfectly well, and requested him also to spend the day with them; "for," said she, "this is my birthday. I am 48 to-day."

"No, madam," answered the clergyman, "you are mistaken. Your mother and myself have had many disputes concerning your age, and I have at last discovered that I was right. I happened to go last week into the parish where you were born; I was resolved to put an end to the dispute; I searched the register, and find that you are but 47 this day."

"You have signed my death-warrant," she exclaimed; "I have then but a few hours to live. I must, therefore, entreat you to leave me immediately, as I have something of importance to settle before I die."

When the clergyman left her, Lady Beresford sent to forbid the company coming, and at the same time to request Lady Betty Cobb and her son (of whom Sir Martin was the father, and who was then about 22 years of age) to come to her apartment immediately.

Upon their arrival, having ordered the attendants to quit the room, "I have something," she said, "of the greatest importance to communicate to you, both before I die—an event which is not far distant."

"You, Lady Betty, are no stranger to the friendship which subsisted between Lord Tyrone and myself; we were educated under the same roof, and in the same principles of infidelity."

"When the friends, into whose hands we afterwards fell, endeavored to persuade us to embrace the Christian religion, their arguments, though insufficient to convince, were powerful enough to stagger our former feelings, and to leave us wavering between two opinions."

"It was, then, in this perplexing state of doubt and uncertainty, that we made a solemn promise to each other that whichever died first should (if permitted) appear to the other, and declare what religion was most acceptable to Heaven."

"Accordingly, one night, while Sir Martin and myself were in bed, I suddenly awoke and discovered Lord Tyrone sitting by my bedside."

"He was dressed as when I had last seen him, in the evening costume of the day."

"It is I," he said; and the tone of his voice, always soft and low, was now softer and lower than ever, and likewise marked by an indescribably solemn gravity."

"Astonished, yet not absolutely frightened, but with a bewildering sensation in the brain, I screamed and endeavored to awake Sir Martin. 'For Heaven's sake,' I exclaimed, 'Lord Tyrone, by what means or for what reason came you hither at this time of night?'"

"Have you, then, forgotten our compact?" said he.

"I died last Tuesday at 4 o'clock, and have been permitted, by the Supreme Being, to appear to you, to assure you that the Christian religion is true, and the only religion by which we can be saved! I am further suffered to inform you that you will soon become the mother of a son, who, it is decreed, will marry my daughter."

"Not many years after his birth, Sir Martin will die, and you will marry again, a man by whose ill-treatment you will be rendered miserable. You will have two daughters and a son."

"But, just one month after the birth of this son, you will die, in the 47th year of your age!"

"Just Heavens!" I exclaimed, "and can I prevent this?"

"Undoubtedly you may," returned the apparition; "you are a free agent, and may prevent it all by resisting every temptation to a second marriage; but your passions are strong—you know not their power; hitherto you have had no trials. More I am not permitted to reveal; but if after this warning you persist in your infidelity your lot in another world will be miserable indeed."

"May I not ask," said I, "if you are happy?"

"Had I been otherwise," he replied, "I should not have been permitted to appear to you."

"I may then infer that you are happy?"

"He smiled."

"But how," said I, "when morning comes, shall I know that your appearance to me has been real, and not the mere representation of my own imagination?"

"Will not the news of my death be sufficient to convince you?"

"No," I returned; "I might have had such a dream, and that dream accidentally come to pass. I will have some stronger proof of its reality."

"You shall," said he; and, waving his hand, the bed-curtains, which were of crimson velvet, were instantly drawn up through a large iron hoop by which the tester of the bed was suspended. "In that sign," continued he, "you cannot be mistaken; no mortal arm could have performed this."

"True," said I; "but sleeping we are often possessed of far more strength than when awake; though waking I could not have done it, asleep I might, and I shall still doubt."

"Here is a pocket-book. In this," he said, "I will write my name; you know my hand-writing?" I replied, "Yes."

"He wrote, with a pencil on one side of the leaves."

"Still," said I, "in the morning I may doubt; though waking I could not imitate your hand, asleep I might."

"You are hard of belief," he rejoined. "I might, by a single touch, leave a mark in your flesh that would forbid the possibility of further doubt; but it would injure you irreparably; it is not for spirits to touch mortal flesh."

"I do not," said I, "regard a slight blemish."

"You are a woman of courage," replied he; "hold out your hand."

"I did so; he grasped my wrist; his hand was cold as that of death; in a moment the sinews shrunk up, every nerve withered."

"Now," said he, "while you live let no mortal eye behold that wrist. To see it were sacrilege!" He stopped—I turned to him again—he was gone.

"During the time I had conversed with him my thoughts were perfectly calm and collected, but the moment he was gone I felt chilled with horror; the very bed moved under me."

"I endeavored, but in vain, to wake Sir Martin; all my efforts were ineffectual, and in this state of agitation and terror I lay for some time, when a shower of tears came to my relief, and I dropped asleep. In the morning Sir Martin arose and dressed himself as usual, without perceiving the state the curtains remained in."

After a long pause, Lady Beresford resumed her narrative in the following manner:

"When I awoke I found that Sir Martin had gone down. I arose, and, having put on my clothes, went to the gallery adjoining the apartment and took from thence a long broom (such as cornices are swept with); by the help of this I took down, with some difficulty, the curtains, as I imagined their extraordinary position might excite suspicion in the family."

"I then went to my work-box and bound a piece of black ribbon round my wrist. When I came down, the agitation of my mind had left an impression on my countenance too visible to pass unobserved by my husband."

"He instantly remarked it, and asked the cause. I informed him that Lord Tyrone was no more; that he died at the hour of 4 on the preceding Tuesday, and desired him never to question me more respecting the black ribbon, which he kindly desisted from doing. You, my son, as had been foretold, I afterward brought into the world, and in little more than four years after your birth your lamented father expired in my arms."

"After this melancholy event I determined, as the only probable chance to avoid the sequel of the prediction, forever to abandon all society—to give up every pleasure resulting from it, and to pass the rest of my days in solitude and retirement."

"But few can long endure to exist in a state of perfect sequestration; I began an intimacy with a family—with one alone; nor could I then foresee the fatal consequences which afterward resulted from it."

"Little did I think that their son, their only son, at the time a mere youth, would be the person destined by fate to prove my destruction."

"In a very few years I ceased to regard him with indifference; I endeavored by every possible way to conquer a passion the fatal effects of which I too well knew. I had fondly imagined that I had overcome its influence, when the evening of one fatal day terminated my fortitude, and plunged me in a moment down that abyss which I had been so long meditating how to shun."

"He had often solicited his parents for leave to go into the army; and, at last obtaining permission, he came to bid me farewell before his departure. The instant he entered the room he sank upon his knees at my feet, told me that he was miserable, and that I alone was the cause."

"At that moment my fortitude forsook me—I gave myself up for lost—and, regarding my fate as inevitable, without further hesitation I consented to a union, the immediate result of which I knew to be misery, and its end death! The conduct of my husband, after a few years, amply justified a separation, and I hoped by this means to avoid the fatal sequel of the prophecy; but, won over by his reiterated entreaties, I was prevailed upon to pardon, and once more to reside with him, though not until I had, as I thought, passed my 47th year. Alas! alas! I have this day heard, from indisputable authority, that I have hitherto labored under a mistake with regard to my age, and that I am but 47 to-day!"

"Of the near approach of my death I therefore entertain not the slightest doubt. No—I cannot doubt! When I am dead, as the necessity of concealment closes with my life, I could wish that you, Lady Betty, would unwind my wrist, take from thence the black ribbon, and let my son, with yourself, behold it."

Lady Beresford here paused for some time; but, resuming the conversation, she entreated that her son would behave himself so as to merit the high honor he would in future receive from a union with the daughter of the late Lord Tyrone.

She then expressed a wish to lie down on the bed and endeavor to compose herself to sleep. Lady Betty Cobb and her son immediately called her domestics, and quitted the room, having first desired them to watch their mistress attentively, and, if they observed the smallest change in her, to call them instantly.

An hour passed, and all was quiet in the room. They listened at the door, and everything remained still, but in half an hour more a bell rang violently.

They flew to her apartment; but, before they reached the door, they heard the maid exclaim, "Oh, she is dead!"

Lady Betty then bade the servants quit the room, and herself, with Lady Beresford's son, approached the bed of his mother.

They knelt down by the side of it; Lady Betty then lifted her hand and untied the ribbon.

The wrist was found exactly as Lady Beresford had described it; every sinew shrunk, every nerve withered.

The black ribbon and pocket-book were formerly in the possession of Lady Betty Cobb, Marlborough buildings, Bath, who, during her long life, was ever ready to attest the truth of this narrative.

The whole of the Tyrone and Beresford families also have ever done the same; and their representatives, at the present day, would themselves regard with wonder any person who should express a doubt concerning such well-authenticated facts.

Need we add that the black ribbon which bound the withered wrist, and the pocket-book wherein the apparition inscribed his name, are treasured as sacred yet awful relics by the senior members of one of these families.

The Sorrows of Genius.

The night is waning, and the hush of inspiration makes the sanctum solemn. The news editor had just written himself a New York dispatch telling all about the sea serpent. The political editor is just closing a crusher full of blood and thunder, and winding up with a terrific exposure. The proof-reader is opening a new case of pencils for the purpose of marking all the errors in six lines of proof. The funny man, from the tearful expression of his sorrowful countenance, is known to be in the throes of a joke. The joke is born, and this is its name:

"A man died in Atchison, Kas., last week, from eating diseased buffalo meat. A clear case of suicide from cold bison."

Enter the intelligent compositor.

"This Atchison item, what is the last word?"

To him, the funny man—"Bison."

Intelligent compositor—"B i s o n?"

Funny man—"Yes."

The intelligent compositor demands to be informed what it means, and the painstaking funny man, with many tears, explains the joke, and, with great elaboration, shows forth how it is a play on "cold pisen."

"Oh, yes," says the intelligent compositor, and retires. Sets it up "cold poison."

Funny man groans, takes the proof, seeks the intelligent compositor, and explains that he wishes not only to make a play on the word "pisen," but also on the word "bison."

"And what is that?" asks the intelligent compositor.

The funny man patiently explains that it means "buffalo."

"Oh, yes!" shouts the intelligent compositor; "now I understand."

Mortified funny man retires, and goes home in tranquil confidence and growing fame.

Paper comes out in the morning "cold buffalo."

Two Smart Young Men.

Two smart young men got on a Burlington and Cedar Rapids train and laid themselves out to amuse and instruct the passengers. Very many funny things said and very many funny things did these two brilliant young men, and it did seem as though Providence had been just too kind to the other passengers to let them ride on the train with such smart young men. But presently there loomed up for them a colossal opportunity, when a lady, attended by a little girl and a little dog, came into the car. The two young men vied with each other in saying funny things about the p-up. Presently the funniest young man said, in tones of perplexity, "Well, let me see, they make dogs pay on this train, don't they?" And then the lady turned around, and said, in just the driest tones you ever heard a lady say anything, "Then you'd better get off before the conductor comes in." There was a great deal of talking and a great deal of laughter in the car between the place where the accident occurred and Burlington, but the men who were killed at the siege of Jerusalem were noisy, roaring, howling bacchanalians a week ago in comparison with those two young men for the rest of trip.—Burlington Hawk-Eye.

Population of Great Britain.

The Registrar General of Great Britain estimates the resident population of England and Wales in the middle of 1878 at 24,854,397—307,088 more than in the middle of last year; that of Scotland at 3,593,729, an increase of 33,212; and that of Ireland at 5,433,640, an increase of 97,245. The total population of the United Kingdom is stated at 33,881,966, or 437,547 more than at the corresponding period last year.

A BEAUTIFUL WOMAN.

In a little white house on a hillside green
Lives a beautiful woman as ever was seen;
In the sixty-five years that she's lived, I may say,
She's been growing more beautiful every day.
You do not believe it? Ask Susie, my sister,
She's the very first person that ever had kissed her.
And if she'd not nursed her by night and by day,
Poor Sue would have been in a very bad way.
I can bring other witnesses whom you may face,
They will tell you the same—they were in the same case.

"Has she lovers?" Yes, surely! No less than eleven!
She has seven on earth, and four more up in heaven.

Her hair is so beautiful—faded and thin,
There are beautiful wrinkles, from forehead to chin,
Her eyes are as charming as charming can be,
When she looks o'er her glasses so fondly at me,
And I know by her life, which has beautiful been,
She is like "the King's daughter"—"all glorious within."

Ah, you've guessed who it is! It could be no other,
I'm sure, than my beautiful, darling old mother.

Elopement and Murder.

Col. John Budd, aged 70, was not too old to fall in love with Ida Bruhniell; and she, although only 20, returned his passion with ardor. Budd was formerly a leading politician in Alabama, but has of late lived in Walhalla, S. C., which is the home of the Bruhniells. The girl's father forbade her to receive the attentions of her aged lover, but she was disobedient and readily assented to a proposal to elope. At night the pair mounted horses and fled. Ida's maid proved unfaithful, however, and informed the father of the flight. He armed himself with a gun and started in hot pursuit, overtaking the lovers at a creek which they were about to ford, and commanding them to surrender. The Colonel refused, and was mortally shot by Bruhniell, who at last accounts was a fugitive.

Luxuries of Life.

Compilers of statistics sometimes come into possession of singular facts, which not infrequently indicate the peculiar tastes or habits of the people. For instance, it is ascertained that the amount of teas, coffees and sugars consumed by the people affords a fair criterion to judge of the financial condition of the country. These articles are not necessities of life, but luxuries, and it is fair to presume that people wear themselves from such luxuries, in some degree at least, when the times are so pressing that necessities are difficult to obtain. Statistics show that during the year 1874 the importation of teas and coffees fell off and continued to decrease up to a few months since. A comparative statement for the eight months ending with February last exhibits the fact that the purchase of teas was increased 12,000,000 pounds over the import during an equal period of time in 1877. The value of this increased purchase is $12,002,126, against $11,175,596 in the former year. The item of coffees shows $35,554,678, against $29,341,772 in 1877. Sugars are reported at 738,000,000 pounds of imports, valued at $37,841,373—an increase of 25,400,000 pounds. These figures manifest a return to the free use of the simpler luxuries—a good sign. —Syracuse Standard.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

The secret which Williamson, the escaped convict from Sing Sing, recently convicted of forgery in London, offered to impart for the sum of $75,000, was the flooding of European ports with 250 counterfeit United States national bank currency, a large amount of which is finding its way to this country through emigrants. Another counterfeit was detected by Samuel Carpenter, General Eastern Agent of the Pennsylvania railroad. A $50 United States treasury note was offered to Mr. Hyer, General Ticket Agent, who, not liking the appearance of the bill, showed it to Mr. Carpenter, who pronounced it a counterfeit. It was sent to the bank and there also pronounced a dangerous counterfeit. —New York News.

Urged to Go Into Bankruptcy.

"Boggs," said Mrs. B., suddenly, the other evening, looking up from the paper she was reading, "why don't you go into bankruptcy, and have some style about you?"

"Go into bankruptcy!" repeated Boggs, "what for?"

"Because it is the fashion," replied Mrs. B. "Everybody who is anybody goes into bankruptcy nowadays. Our neighbors are all getting the start of us. Here's Soggs, who lives across the street, he is in the list to-day. Now we have lived in this town a good deal longer than Soggs has. Why couldn't you have got your name in the papers as well as he?"

"I don't want my name in the papers in that way," said Boggs.

"That's the way; always behind everybody else. We never could hold our own along with our neighbors."

"But we couldn't hold our own if I went into bankruptcy," persisted Boggs.

"Nonsense," cried Mrs. B. "Don't the Squiggles, who went into bankruptcy last summer, live just as well, if not a little better, than before? Now, Boggs, do oblige me by buying a file."

"Buying a file? What for?"

"So that you can file your petition. Do it this very day, and it will be in the morning papers. Then your wife and children can hold their heads up with the best of 'em. Somehow I feel that we are under a sort of a cloud now. People look at us as much as to say, 'There's something the matter with the Boggses.'"

"Mrs. Boggs, I never take advantage of nothing."

"I know it. And that's what keeps us under. But couldn't you put in a petition? You know there is a petition up stairs that we don't need. You could take it down and—"

"Woman, how foolish you talk. You don't know anything about the business."

"But I do know that we are getting left, and it won't be long, you will find, before folks give up inviting us anywhere. Haven't you any liabilities?"

"I have liabilities," replied Boggs, "but I haven't any ability to lie."

"Oh, you're too nice for anything where the welfare of your family is concerned. Tell me about your assets."

"I wouldn't have any if I did as neighbor Soggs does across the street."

"How is that?" asked Mrs. B.

"Why, the assets around all day doing nothing, and it is no wonder that he had to apply to the bankrupt court for relief." Then Boggs laughed a low, contented laugh at his little joke.

Said Mr. B., tartly, "You'll bankrupt your stock of wit if you keep drawing on it after that fashion. Then you won't become a bankrupt to maintain our social position?"

"No, I won't," said Boggs, bluntly.

"Then I give you due notice that I shall receive or make no more calls. I shall give up our pew in church and take the children out of school. I shall close up the house, give out that we have gone into the country, and we will all live in the kitchen. If we can't do like the rest of folks and be somebody, there is no use trying to live."

HORRID! Yes, it is that our habits will produce disease; but it is a certain fact that our style of eating and working will sometimes produce Heart Disease, and we must buy some remedy for its cure. We can recommend to you Dr. Graves' HEART REGULATOR as a reliable remedy, one which has been sold for twenty years, and whose merits are conceded by those who know of its use. Try it, and our word for it you will thank us for the recommendation. Among the many forms of Heart Disease are Palpitation, Enlargement, Spasms of the Heart, Stoppage of the Action of the Heart, Trembling all over and about the Heart, Ossification or Bony Formation of the Heart, Rheumatism, General Debility and Sinking of the Spirits. Send for a pamphlet of testimonials of cures to F. E. INGALLS, Concord, N. H.

The HEART REGULATOR is for sale by druggists at 50 cents and $1 per bottle.

WILSON'S TONIC.—THE GREAT FAVORITE!—The popular Chill Cure of the age! Composed of pure and simple drugs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co.'s Newspaper Advertising Bureau, New York.

THE OBJECT OF OUR ESTABLISHMENT. Our Newspaper Advertising Bureau, No. 10 Spruce street, New York, is an establishment intended to facilitate the convenient and systematic placing of advertisements in newspapers. It is conducted upon the principles which we conceive to be the right ones for securing the best results to the advertiser, the publisher, and ourselves.

We undertake to represent American newspapers, not only the newspapers of the city of New York and of all other American cities, religious, agricultural and other class newspapers, but also the small country journals. We receive regularly and keep on file the newspapers of every description throughout the land, whether issued daily, weekly, or monthly.

CONFIDENTIALITY TO NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING AND TO AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS.

We confine our transactions to newspapers, and do not accept or undertake the management of other classes of advertising, such as books, sign boards, posters, or job printing.

It is our hope that by adhering to one branch of advertising we may make ourselves masters of it.

We also restrict our dealings to newspapers published within the geographical limits of the United States and Dominion of Canada.

THE SYSTEM OF ARRANGEMENT FOR NEWSPAPER FILES.

We have a system of filing newspapers by an arrangement of shelving and partitions, separate space being accorded to each, and labeled with the printed name of the paper it is intended to accommodate, by means of which arrangement a stranger can find any paper he wishes to examine with something like the readiness with which he would find a word in a dictionary, a name in a directory, or a book in a library catalogue.

THE NATURE OF THE SERVICE WHICH IT IS OUR BUSINESS TO RENDER TO THE ADVERTISER.

We undertake to maintain an established credit with every newspaper, and to have at hand a schedule of the charges adopted by the publisher of each for advertising space in its columns; to be able to quote those rates to an advertiser who wishes to insert an advertisement in one or several, and to procure the prompt insertion of the advertisement without any extra charge for the service rendered, which service consists of quoting the price, printing or writing as many duplicates of the advertisement as may be required to furnish one to each paper to be used, forwarding the copy for insertion at our own expense for postage or messenger service, examining the papers to see that the advertisement appears when and in a manner that it ought to, checking each subsequent issue of the advertisement in each paper in a book kept for that purpose, at all times subject to the inspection of the advertiser, and marking plainly in each paper the advertisement as it appears, so when the advertiser comes (or sends) for the purpose of having the files examined (to see that the service for which his money pays has been actually rendered), the eye may light promptly upon his announcement, without the labor of searching a whole paper or page.

If errors or omissions occur, it is our duty to notify publishers, at our own expense for labor, postage or messenger, and to see to it that the publisher of the paper actually does the specified service for which the advertiser contracted.

THE AMOUNT OF MONEY TO BE EXPENDED.

Persons who have had little experience as advertisers often have a pretty clear understanding of what they would like to do, but are entirely ignorant of the probable cost.

We have made out for such a person a plan of advertising calling for an investment of $5.00, and on submitting it for approval found our customer dismayed at the magnitude of the expense, he not having contemplated an expenditure exceeding $200 or $300. In such a case labor would have been saved, if at the commencement of the negotiation the question had been asked: "How much money are you prepared to devote to this advertising?"

THE CONFIDENCE OF OUR PATRONS A MATTER OF PRIME IMPORTANCE.

It is a matter of prime importance to us, for the purpose of maintaining our influence with publishers, that it shall come to be understood among them that our statements about the advertising to be done, or not to be done, are to be relied upon; and to this end our dealing with our advertising patrons must be upon a basis of mutual confidence and respect.

OUR CUSTOMERS ENTITLED TO OUR BEST SERVICES.

Whenever we are doing the advertising for any individual or firm, we consider them entitled to our best services. If they suggest using a paper which we know to be not the best for the purpose, we say so and give the reasons. We often expend a good deal of time for very small advertisers, much more than the profits on their patronage would warrant; but as they intrust to us what they have to disburse, and influence in our direction the patronage of their friends and acquaintances, we are content.

OUR PROMISE.

We promise those advertisers who intrust their advertising patronage to our management that we will not allow them to be charged in any instance any more than the publishers' schedules; that we will procure for them the acceptance of any advantageous offer made to them definitely by any newspaper publisher, advertising agent, or canvasser of responsibility. Although we are unwilling to do work without a profit, and never offer to do so, yet in conformity with the promise made above, we sometimes find it advisable. Competitors, anxious to gain a hearing and secure attention, occasionally make offers which it would advance the true interests of our customers to accept. In such cases we hold ourselves bound to secure the bargain offered.

Extract from the New York Times, June 13, 1875.

Ten years ago Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co. established their advertising agency in New York city. Five years ago they absorbed the business conducted by Mr. John Hooper, who was the first to go into this kind of enterprise. Now they have the satisfaction of controlling the most extensive and complete advertising connection which has ever been secured, and one which would be hardly possible in any other country but this. They have succeeded in working down a complex business into so thoroughly a systematic method that no change in the newspaper system of America can escape notice, while the widest information upon all topics interesting to advertisers is placed, readily at the disposal of the public.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, &c.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON, 124 Penn Street, Williamsburgh, N. Y.

The Greatest Discovery of the Age is Dr. Tobias' Celebrated Venetian Liment! 20 years before the public, and warranted to cure Diarrhea, Dysentery, Colic and Spasms, taken internally; and Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, and Pains in the Limbs. Back and Chest, externally. It has never failed. No family will ever be without after giving it a fair trial. Price, 40 cents. DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN HORSE LIMENT, in Pint Bottles, at One Dollar, is warranted superior to any other, or NO PAY, for the cure of Colic, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, etc. Sold by all Druggists. Depot—10 Park Place, New York.

Imperial Indorsement.

Owing to the perfect purity of DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER, and its superior excellence in every respect over all other preparations, it has been adopted and used in the Royal households of the following countries, viz.: Germany, England, Spain, Russia, Denmark, Sweden, Italy and Brazil. It was long ago adopted and is to-day used by thousands of royal American households scattered all over the Western world, and the high esteem in which it is held in this country fully justifies its introduction and use as above stated.

This paper has done as much as any other to expose the worthlessness of the big pack Contention Powders, and means to keep it up, too. We know of only one kind that is absolutely and strictly pure, and that is Sheridan's.

At this season of the year the human system is liable to become disordered from the insufficient efforts of the liver to discharge the excess of bile. If nature is not assisted in her efforts, severe bilious attacks or prostrating fevers necessarily follow, causing great suffering and even death. A little timely precaution, however, will prevent all this, and may be found in that favorite household remedy SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR has been in use for half a century and there is not one single instance on record where it has failed to effect a cure when taken in time according to the directions. It is, without doubt, the greatest LIVER MEDICINE in the world; is perfectly harmless, being as carefully compounded from rare roots and herbs, containing no mercury or any injurious mineral substance. It takes the place of quinine and calomel, and has superseded those medicines in places where they have heretofore been extensively used. Procure a bottle at once from your druggist. Do not delay. Give it a fair trial, and you will be more than satisfied with the result obtained.

CAUTION.

As there are a number of imitations offered to the public, we would caution the community to buy no Powders or Prepared SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR unless in our Engraved Wrapper, with Trade-Mark, Stamp and Signature unbroken. None other is genuine.

The Canker Worm.

In answer to several inquiries Prof. A. J. Cook, of our State Agricultural College, gives the following by way of description of the canker worm, and the remedy against its ravages. "These worms which were before at Adrian, Lenawee county, Pontiac, Oakland county, and earlier still in Calhoun and Genesee counties, are now in Branch county, for a full description and exposition of this subject, with illustrations, the reader is referred to my papers in the report of the State Pomological Society for 1876, Page 85.

This is unquestionably the worst scourge that can afflict the apple orchard. Its presence is almost sure death, unless prevention is practiced. The redeeming feature in its habits is that it is very slow to spread from one orchard to another; though at Coldwater it seems to be already in three different orchards.

If in May the leaves are being rapidly destroyed in the apple trees, and the depredator is found to be a dark colored—though there may be yellowish stripes—measuring worm, which if disturbed will swing from a silken web, which it spins for the occasion, then be sure you are afflicted with this terrible pest.

Sprinkling with Paris Green is the easiest, cheapest, and most thorough and efficient remedy. The mixture should consist of one tablespoonful of the poison to three or four gallons of water. Place a barrel in the wagon, fill it nearly full of water, then add the poison. A barrel-head float on top will keep the liquid from slopping over, every few minutes the mixture should be stirred, that the green may not settle too much. Now drive on the windward side of the tree, and with a "Whitman Fountain Pump," or some syringe, sprinkle the tree well with the mixture. This will deal out death in wholesale doses to the terrible destroyers, and save the orchards, and will be quite inexpensive and very rapidly performed, if the application is made with the Whitman Pump. In these days of insect depredation this is almost invaluable to the farmer, and fruitgrower. It will throw water 30 feet high, and 60 feet horizontally, and is readily worked by a boy ten years old. It also sprinkles very uniformly and with very little waste. It is also good in case of fire, also to wash buggies and windows, and to sprinkle the garden lawn. It cost $10—or $6 by the dozen. Why should not our State Pomological Society do a very good work by keeping these pumps and selling to the pomologist at $6 and transportation? The value of the engine I think would more than warrant this course.

Every orchardist ought now to scrape his apple trees. The rough bark harbors the codling moth pupa, protects the enervating bark-house and stands in the way of the application of the great insect specific, soft soap. As soon as the rough bark is scraped from the trees rub the trunks and main branches with soft soap, be sure to do this as early as the last week of May. It will be death to all the young bark-lice, which have just hatched out and are commencing to denude the trees, and will keep at bay both those terrible-headed, the round-headed and the flat-headed borers, for the beetles like some people, have an aversion for this article, and will not come near to lay their eggs. With young orchards especially this work is very important. Soap should be used in preference to lye, as the latter, though partially efficient to destroy the lice, is no hindrance to the borers.

Now is the time to examine the foliage of all the young fruit-trees, especially plum trees, and see if there are not myriads of aphid sucking away the very life. If present they may be quickly vanquished by sprinkling with strong soap-suds, and here again the fountain pump will come to our aid. Only yesterday I used it in a grand work of carnage in some vigorous young plum trees, and have thus preserved their vigor which would otherwise have been sapped.

Guinea Hens.

We should never have had one word to say to the farmer in favor of these fowls were it not that they have shown a disposition to feed upon and destroy the potato bug. Two years ago our attention was called to the fact by a farmer, who had a small flock of these birds, who said he was not troubled at all with the bug. He said the guinea hens went some distance to the field every day, and went through the rows eating the bugs as though they liked them. Last year they did the same; and he recommends them to all who do not want the care and bother of removing these pests by hand. It will not cost much to try the experiment; and if it is true as stated, such fowls should be grown in considerable numbers.—Congregationalist.

The famine in India is slowly dying out everywhere; the survivors are recovering health and strength, and the small quantities of food imported show that the people have a sufficiency of grain.

FAVORITE PUBLICATIONS.

FRANK LESLIE'S CHIMNEY CORNER.—This beautiful periodical, the best American Family Journal, Story Paper and Home Friend, has been the successful rival of all the weekly journals for the past thirteen years. It gained a place in the minds and hearts of our people, and now the name of its patrons is Legion.

This year the Chimney Corner seem to be better than ever. Its serial stories are of the most absorbing and lively character, of great power, true to life and full of merit, taking a wide range of subjects to please every member of a household—the domestic story for the mother, the charming love-tale for the daughters, the more dramatic for the young men, the solid novel for older readers, and then we have stirring adventure for the boys and fairy-tales for the children.

Habberton, Howard, Robinson, De Forest, Benedict, S. Annie Frost, Annie Thomas, Etta W. Pierce, and other eminent writers, are its regular contributors. The subjects treated of are very varied. The illustrations are profuse and are very beautiful. Short stories extremely interesting are completed in each number, while Biographies, Adventures, Essays, Fun, Travels, Natural History, Legends, Anecdotes, Science, etc., make this publication one of the most entertaining in existence.

Exquisite steel engravings are frequently given away to its subscribers.

The Chimney Corner, sixteen pages, with eight pages of illustrations, printed on fine paper, is published every Monday, price only 10 cents; annual subscription, $4, post-paid. Address your orders to Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 537 Pearl Street, New York.

FRANK LESLIE'S LADY'S JOURNAL, 16 pages, issued weekly, contains excellent Pictures and full descriptions of the very Latest Styles of Ladies and Children's Wear; useful information on Family Topics; Select Stories; Beautiful Illustrations of Home and Foreign Subjects; Poetry; Fashionable Intelligence; Personal Chat Chat; Amusing Cartoons on the Follies and Fables of the Day; Sparks of Mirth, etc., etc. Frank Leslie's Lady's Journal is the most beautiful of all the ladies' papers. It should be found on the table of every lady in the land. Price 10 cents a copy; annual subscription, $4, post-paid.

FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY has made rapid strides as the rival of many aspirants to public favor. Its contributors are some of the best living writers. Every department of literature is represented in its columns. The amount of instruction, entertainment and amusement afforded by the articles, essays, stories, and general miscellany contained in the 128 quarto pages of each number of this publication has been well appreciated. Every copy of the "Popular Monthly" is embellished with over 100 beautiful illustrations. Being the cheapest periodical of the kind in existence, and at the same time one of the most select and universally welcome, it must continue to increase in public favor, and rank with the publishers' Sunday Magazine—the highest among all our American monthlies. It is published on the 15th of each month. Price, 25 cents a number; Subscription, $3, post paid, per year. Address your orders to Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 537 Pearl Street, New York.

FRANK LESLIE'S SUNDAY MAGAZINE is a beautiful work. It will interest educated and cultivated minds as well as the most ordinary reader. It is the only Sunday magazine published in this country. Every number has 128 pages filled with the most select and fascinating literature, ranging from the Sermon by the Editor (Dr. C. F. Deems, pastor of the Church of the Strangers), to stirring Tales, general Topics and Essays, Poetry, Music, Fun, Science, History, etc., in great variety. Each copy of this Magazine has 100 exquisite engravings of the most interesting character. It has reached a circulation and popularity such as make it one of the marvels of periodical literature. It is indeed a beautiful work. Buy it and see for yourselves. Single copies are only 25 cents, and Annual Subscription Price only $3, post paid. Address orders to

T. H. LYON, - - - Proprietor.

Special Announcement.

The undersigned desires to announce to the public in general, that he is now the sole proprietor of this well-known and popular hotel, and that he will hereafter give his personal attention to the management of the house and the wants of his guests. The house has been refitted and furnished, and now offers the best of accommodations to the traveling public. It contains 180 handsome and commodious rooms, fifty of which can be had with board at $2.00 per day, and the remainder at the usual price. Having conducted the hotel business in Grand Rapids for the past sixteen years, and thankful for former patronage, the proprietor hopes for a continuance of the same. The rooms of Sweet's Hotel are not excelled by any public house in the State, the tables are supplied with all the markets afford, and careful attention is given by all employees.

Hoping to receive a liberal patronage from the traveling public, which will be duly appreciated by the proprietor.

Chancery Sale.

STATE OF MICHIGAN: The Circuit Court for the County of Ottawa.—In Chancery.

Samuel L. Tate, Complainant, vs.
Cornelius Verduin and Janna Verduin, Defendants.

In pursuance and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Ottawa, in Chancery, made in the above entitled cause on the eighteenth day of January, A. D. 1878. Notice is hereby given, that on the eleventh day of June next, 1878, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Grand Haven, in said County of Ottawa, I the subscriber, a Circuit Court Commissioner in and for said County, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, the mortgaged premises, described in said decree as follows, to-wit: All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the County of Ottawa and State of Michigan, viz: commencing two rods west of the north-east corner of the west half of the north-east quarter of the south-west quarter, of the north-west quarter of section twenty-eight, town eight north, of range sixteen west, running thence due south eight rods, thence west four rods, thence north eight rods, thence east four rods to the place of beginning, (being a piece of land four rods wide by eight rods long, within the corporate limits of the city of Grand Haven), together with all the appurtenances thereunto belonging.

Dated this 25th day of April, A. D. 1878.

ARENDE VISSCHER,
Circuit Court Commissioner in and for Ottawa County, Michigan.

Mortgage Sale.

WHEREAS default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, made and executed on the sixth day of November, 1872, by Eli Argersinger and Melissa Argersinger, his wife, of the township of Blenden, County of Ottawa, and State of Michigan, to Stephen L. Lowing of said county and state, which mortgage was on the 26th day of September, 1873, recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Ottawa, in Liber V of mortgages, on page 180, and whereas there is now due and unpaid upon said mortgage by reason of the breach of the covenants therein contained, and as provided therein, the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars, also an attorney fee of fifty dollars, provided for in said mortgage as often as any proceedings should be taken to foreclose the same; and no suit or proceeding having been instituted either at law or in equity to recover the same or any part thereof, and the same being now due and unpaid; Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, and of the statute in such case made and provided, on Tuesday the 15th day of August, 1878, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Grand Haven, in said Ottawa county, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, the undersigned will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, to satisfy said debt, attorney fee, and costs and expenses of sale of said premises, being described as follows, to-wit: All that certain piece or parcel of land situate and being in the township of Blenden in the county of Ottawa and State of Michigan, and known and described, as follows, to-wit: The north-east quarter (1/4) of the north-east quarter (1/4) of section twenty-three (23) Town six (6) north of range fourteen (14) west, containing forty acres, be the same more or less.

Dated, Grand Haven, May 3rd, 1878.

WAKHOOD: HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

Just published, a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical cure (without medicine) of Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price in sealed envelope, only six cents. The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife, pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post-paid, on receipt of six cents or two post stamps.
