CITY AND VICINITY.

St. Joseph was first settled by whites in 1785.

Thursday was pension day, and brought many veterans to town.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. J. Wiebings, Fifteenth street, on Sunday—a daughter.

Prof. T. B. Beck, for years professor of Greek in Hope College, died at Oakland, Cal., May 22.

If it were only the stimulus to improve and embellish the rural cemeteries, that alone would warrant the instituting of Memorial Day.

Judging from present indications there will be no change in the date of the National Republican convention, and it will be held June 16.

It has finally been decided by Mrs.
Blaine to remove the body of her husband from Washington, where it is now interred, to Augusta, Me.

It is reported that the 19th U. S.
Infantry, the regiment with which Capt. Gardener is serving, will be transferred from Detroit to Fort Van Couver, Wash.

Surplice peas are a staple at the family board of Mr. and Mrs. G. W.
Browning this season. They are raised to order in the back lot, and help the family out in great shape.

It is conceded now by everybody that the silverites will control the Chicago national convention and dictate the platform of the party. It will be another "Chicago platform," with the fatality of 1860.

The board of public works has replaced the hydrants on Eighth street,
at the corners of River and Market,
with some of a more improved nattern, each having three hose connections, with independent shut-offs.

Fishing in Macatawa Bay was never better than the present season. A large party went down on Wednesday evening, returning early next morning, with strings of black bass, white bass, speckled bass and perch, that averaged from 25 to 45 pounds each.
Not less than 25 boats and skiffs were engaged in the sport.

From and after this week the signal for shutting off the water will be one long blast, instead of seven successive short ones, as heretofore. The board of public works have ordered this change at the request of the firemen, who upon hearing the first blast of the series would rush out of the factories, or wherever they are employed, only to find that they are not needed—just then.

In the museum at Governor's Island,
New York harbor, is a mounted horse, that was raised at Grand Rapids. It is none other than the famous war horse "Winchester," of Gen. Sheridan, which he rode in 47 battles and engagements. It stands in the midst of a pile of ordnance and ammunition, the figure of a powerful big horse with sweeping tail and mane, bridled and saddled, with right forefoot raised.
The personification of the sturdy war horse. He died in 1878, and Gen. Sheridan employed a noted taxidermist to remove the skin and mount it exactly as Winchester looked in the war days.

How the torrents of rain decorated the earth on Memorial day.

Col. Fred D. Grant is mentioned for vice-president on the Republican ticket.

A rare treat is in store for all who attend the entertainment next Thursday evening, June 11, in the Y. W. C.
A. rooms.

John H. Nichols of Roseland, Ill., while visiting here this week, bought a site for a summer cottage at Harrington's Landing.

The large shade trees upon and around the Central school grounds have been trimmed up, and it has greatly improved their appearance.

In Kalamazoo county hundreds of acres of wheat have been entirely destroyed by hail. On one tract hailstones fell to the depth of three inches.

Rev. Dr. P. Moerdyk of Chicago, was here Wednesday to arrange for the building of his cottage at Harrington's Landing. The contract was given to a Zeeland builder.

John Looman has completed his job
of moving the Markt street church.
It was a big undertaking, but he managed to do it very satisfactory, without injuring the building.

Will Bangs has determined to re-enter upon the drug business in Holland and will open in the store occupied by H. Wykhuyzen, the jeweler, who will divide space with him for the present.

In the program of the annual meeting of the state dental association, at Grand Rapids next week, we notice that Dr. B. J. De Vries of this city is

The Alumni of the Theol. Seminary

ly from New Paltz, N. Y., spoke very happily and earnestly for Hope College

For several evenings this week the export of strawberries from St. Joseph (which includes Benton Harbor) to Chicago and Milwaukee averaged 20,- 000 cases. Buyers were paying from $1.00 to $1.25 per case, so that every day's shipment brought $20,000 in ready cash to the fruit growers. In this locality many prefer raising potatoes at 7 cents a bushel. One day the shipment exceeded 25,000 cases. Says the Benton Harbor News: "All the evening, beginning early and ending late, the 'berry schooner,' light wagons, carriages and drays streamed into the Graham wharf loaded down with the fruit that has made St. Joseph famous. There seemed to be no end to the strawberries. By the time the big steamer pulled in from Benton Harbor, the dock was piled full. The loading of the berries furnished employment for a small army of carriers.
After the freight deck had been filled the spare aft and on each side of the ladies' cabin was packed full leaving only a narrow aisle for the passengers to use. The recent cold weather has had none but a good effect on the berries. They have been preserved and saved from a premature ripening.

Hollana, - - Mich.

Memorial Day Address, Delivered by Hon. G. J. Dieckma, at Holland, Mich., May 30, 1896.

Between the land of Egypt with its bondage and servitude, with its manacles and clanking chains of slavery, with its bricks without straw, with its hopelessness and its hopelessness, and the land of Canaan flowing with milk and honey, with its fertile valleys and cool mountain retreats, with its beautiful vineyards and its shady olive groves, lay the Red Sea of blood, made more crimson by the death of Pharaoh's mighty host.

This is not only a fact in history, but it is a type of the experiences of the human race. Between the Egypt and the Canaan of every nation lies a sea of blood. Between the tyranny and fury of Philip the Second of Spain with his inquisition, his flaming sword, his bloody axe and fiery stake, and the Dutch Republic with its universal liberty and humane institutions that have become models for the framers of our constitution, lay eighty years of bloody warfare. Between the despotism of King George and a realization of the inalienable rights and liberties of the Colonists, set forth in the Declaration of Independence, lay the bloody war of the Revolution. Between the spirit of Sectionalism, the theory of states rights and slavery on the one hand and the "Union Forever" with one flag and one constitution on the other hand, lay our bloody Civil War.

All religious and civil liberty, and every right held as sacred by the human race, has been purchased at the price of blood. Even the redemption of the world from its greatest enemy, sin, had to be purchased at the price of blood.

Beneath the surface of the earth lie buried the mortal remains of millions of heroes and martyrs, who willingly died that others might live. They are not dead, but live again, in our institutions of free speech and a free press, in our institutions of religious and civil liberty, in our public schools, colleges and universities, in our institutions of charity and reform, in an emancipated body, mind and soul. They are not dead, but live again in everything that makes this Nineteenth Century the pride of the ages and the hope of the future.

In studying the history of the world we find that, in obedience to a universal human sentiment, all nations have both honored their living and revered the memory of their dead heroes. Rome caused her victorious leaders to march through triumphal arches, beautifully decorated with ensigns and flowers. She placed within their hands chaplets of olive and myrtle. She caused them to sit in richly ornamented chariots, drawn by her favorite milk-white steeds. Before them were displayed in gaudy colors the magisterial insignia of Rome. Behind them followed in grand array the victorious army wearing crowns of oak leaves. Thus they marched through the streets of the eternal city. Thus Rome honored her living heroes.

But there were others, as brave, as patriotic, and as true, who had not returned from the march, and did not take their places in the triumphal ranks. Others whose spirits winged their flight away from the battle field at the moment when their comrades shouted the victor's cry. Were they forgotten? No, their funerals were most imposing. Their bodies were either buried in costly sepulchres, or the urns containing their sacred ashes were placed side by side in magnificent mausoleums for posterity to venerate.

In ancient Greece the heroic dead were carefully gathered from every battle-field, and brought with great honor to Athens. For the known and unknown alike were provided costly caskets. For three days they lay in state, receiving flowers, vases, and other tokens expressive of the esteem in which they were held. On the fourth day they were buried with great pomp. Before the caskets marched the mothers, wives and daughters of the dead, and after them the male relatives. Then followed the comrades in arms, representatives of the government, and citizens on foot and in carriages. Thus they marched to the most beautiful cemetery in all Greece. Here amid fountains and flowers, and in the midst of temples and shrines sacred to the gods they laid to rest the nation's defenders.

Other nations have sought in other ways to commemorate the deeds and preserve the names of their soldiers. From ancient rocks, crumbling tablets and broken columns dug out from under the ruins of buried cities, up to Napoleon's triumphal arch that spans the gate of Paris, we read the same story of human affection, reaching out beyond the grave; we learn the same lessons of gratitude and praise for the heroic achievements of a nation's gallant defenders. It is in obedience to this universal sentiment, that takes deeper root in the human heart as civilization advances, that we to-day have left the farm and shop, the office and counter, and have gathered here to pay our tributes to the heroes of the Civil War, through tokens of affection that will outlast marble and granite. Obit has been said, that Republics are ungrateful. The liberal policy pursued by our government toward the soldier of the late war in the building of Homes, both State and National, for the disabled veterans and their wives, and in the granting of more liberal pensions to them than those of any other nation on the face of the earth, and the setting apart of this day of tender commemoration, strongly refute this charge.

We have not come to unveil a monument erected in memory of some one great leader. No, this day is the Soldier's day. It belongs to officer and private alike. Death levels all stations. All sleep the same sleep in their silent, windowless homes; and wherever in this broad land the brave boys lie, whether under the pines or the hemlocks, whether on the hill side, in the valley, on the beautiful prairies, or in dark jungles and tangled thickets, all receive the same floral tributes of affection. We sing for all alike:

"Cover them over with beautiful flowers,
Deck them with garlands those brothers of ours,
Lying so silent by night and by day,
Sleeping the years of their manhood away,
Years they had marked for the joys of the brave;
Years they must waste in the sloth of the grave;
All the bright laurels they fought to make bloom
Fell to the earth when they went to the tomb.
Give them the need they have won in the past,
Give them the honors their merits forecast.
Give them the chapel they won in the strife,
Give them the laurels they lost with their life.
Cover them over, yes cover them over,
Parent and husband, and brother and lover,
Crown in your hearts those dead heroes of ours
And cover them over with beautiful flowers."

Swift winged time has carried us along so fast, that since the years of our fratricidal-war a new generation has already appeared upon the stage to assume the active duties, and to bear the burdens of the day. To them the war is not an experience, not a living reality, but only history and tradition. It is well, therefore, that on this day we should review the dark days of the past, in order that the treasures purchased by rivers of noble blood may not descend to ignorant, careless and ungrateful hands.

In the beginning the omnipotent Ruler of nations created a land of vast and almost boundless proportions in the far West. He watered it with great lakes, mighty rivers and roaring cataracts. He washed its coasts by the briny waters of two oceans. Its mountains He lifted high above the clouds. Its valleys He sank deep into the bosom of the earth and covered them with richest verdure. He gave to it a scenery of woods and prairies, rocks and canyons, that somewhat reflected the beauty of His own eternal home. He caused His sun to shine upon it, so as to produce within it every climate. Over its face He caused to roam a race that builded no cities, unfelled no forests. From civilized men He concealed it through the long centuries, until through war and peace, through revolution and evolution, a race could be produced with mental vision wide enough, with patriotism deep enough, and with devotion strong enough, to establish upon it one government, to waive over its wide domains one flag, and to worship within it one God. Such were the Pilgrim fathers. Such were the heroes of the American Revolution.

Heaven's choicest blessings showered down upon the land and its people. Its population increased with marvelous rapidity, while its wealth increased still faster. Its constitution became a model for free institutions. It was at peace with the world and feared no foe.

But during all this time two civilizations, entirely different and incompatible, had been growing up within its borders. In the North it was a civilization of German origin, a civilization of free labor and of personal effort. In the South it was a civilization of Spanish and Portuguese origin, a civilization of lordly estates and of slave labor.

These two civilizations were as distinct as those of the upper and lower Netherlands provinces, which finally after the strong hand of William the Silent had been laid to rest, caused them to divide into Holland and Belgium.

In the North the bound pursued the wild deer and rabbit through the forest. In the South the bloodhound pursued the African.

In the North the lash urged on the faithful ox. In the South the lash fell upon the bared back of the faithful slave.

The South had wealth, position, and the offices. The North had heart, resource, courage, rugged manhood, and determination.

The South said, grant us our requests, or we will dissolve the Union which is tied together with a rope of sand. The North answered: "What God hath joined together let not man put asunder."

Wendell Phillips, Lovejoy, Whittier, Beecher, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Lincoln, and countless other heroic men and women, fanned the flames of conscience in the North. Robert, Toombs, Wigfall, Yancey, Davys and others stirred up the hot blood of the South.

Abraham Lincoln was elected President of the United States. Then congressmen on either side of the house no longer recognized each other and refused the brotherly hand-shake. The irresistible clash between these two civilizations stared us in the face. Lincoln's message was lofty, patriotic and conciliating; but words had no longer any effect. The day of debate had passed by, slavery had become even more aggressive, and the South demanded:

1st. That every foot of national territory should be free to them and their property, including slave property, claiming that they fought for it when its price was blood, and paid for it when its price was gold, and therefore were entitled to freely occupy it with their horses, cattle, slaves and swine.

2nd. That everywhere in the United States their property, including slave property, should be protected by Federal law.

3rd. That the fugitive slave must be returned without right of Habeas Corpus, or trial by jury in the state where he was found.

4th. That those persons who traveled from state to state, stirring up sedition and unrest, should be punished under laws passed by the Federal government.

To this Abraham Lincoln said No! Congress said No! The North said No! The voice of Freedom said No! God and the Angels in Heaven said No!

Then swift came the answer, We secede. Sovereign States have this right. Try to prevent us and we will meet you with bloody hands and will welcome you to hospitable Southern graves. Boldly they fired upon Fort Sumpter, and the report of that rebel gun, like a thunderclap, shook every loyal home. War with all its horrors was upon us.

The scenes that followed no language can describe. In almost the twinkling of an eye the North became a busy camp, and the Boys in blue marched South with a steady step to the music of the Union. resolved, it needs be, to lay down their lives as a willing sacrifice on the altar of their country, in defence of the Union, the flag and the constitution. The boy of seventeen summers, with high hopes and fervid patriotism thrilling and burning in his heart, marched beside the sire whose hair had been whitened by the snows of many winters. Fathers prayed and struggled, and struggled and prayed for strength from above, to sacrifice their dearest treasures, the comfort of their declining years, their hope, their pride, their all—their boys. The patriot mother, with quivering lip, bent over the form of her pure young son, and imprinted on his brow the fond kiss of a mother's fervent love. The young husband suddenly became sober, silent and thoughtful. He dared not speak, and yet he could no longer be silent. Love bade him linger, duty bade him go. With husky voice, stammering tongue and moistened eyes, he told his wife his dread secret. He had enlisted. With pleading eyes and breaking heart she sinks beside him. Her woman's intuition tells her that he will return to her side no more forever. She pleads, but he is determined. It is his last day at home. Longingly, lovingly, he looks over the familiar scenes. The hour has come, and with hearts too full of burning anguish to speak, they embrace and then part in silence to meet no more on earth.

These were days that tried men's souls. Words fail to picture the broken heart strings, the bitter anguish of father, mother, wife and child. The days were full of dread, the nights were full of tears. But the boys marched on, away from loving wife and tender maid, to the far off sunny South. Some marched to glory and renown; some to sudden death upon the field; some to languish in the hospital; and some to suffer a thousand deaths in Andersonville and Libby Prison, where fiends ruled that had been schooled at the auction block, and with the lash and blood-bath.

Never had braver men met in deadly conflict. The foe was worthy of our steel. Tens of thousands of brave men perished in some of the bloodiest contests ever waged by man against his fellow-man. The battles of the Wilderness, of Shiloh, of Corinth, of Gettysburg, and Vicksburg, and the desperate conflicts for the occupation of the Confederate capital: the battle of Stone River under the command of Rosecrans; the fierce conflict at Chancellorsville; the battle of Gettysburg, where Thomas and his brave command rendered their names immortal; the conflict above the clouds at Look-Out mountain; the battles of Antietam and Chancellorsville; the sieges of Charleston and Atlanta, are among the most desperate military operations the world has ever seen.

Time fails to enter further into the history of the great conflict—to recount the weary marches, the long sieges, the glorious triumphs and sad defeats. Time fails to tell of the many deeds of heroism, of death upon the battlefield, of death by the way-side, of death in camp, hospital and prison, of want of food and clothing, of the cold and rainy season, of the muddy southern clay, of sickness, wounds and disease, of the bright but elusive dreams of home and fireside, with happy wife and laughing child.

But through the smoke of battle the Union at last emerged cleansed and purified, and a shout of triumph and joy ascended up to heaven, when the Boys in Gray laid down their arms before the feet of the Boys in Blue, and Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomattox.

The soldiers were mustered out of service, and their heavy tramp told us that the boys were coming back from Dixie—were coming home. Are these the fresh, buoyant, beardless sons that left with high hopes four years before? It can not be. These are old men. How pale and haggard they look! What mean those ugly scars? Where did they lose their limbs, their arms, their eyes? How few they are in number. When will the rest come home?

Friends, these are the boys that have come from the jaws of death, from the mouth of hell. These are the boys who waved not amid shot and shell, but held the Old Flag proudly aloft through a hundred battles. Their arms, their limbs, their eyes, their health they have sacrificed, that we might enjoy the heritage of peace in a united country.

Looking backward from the Canaan side of this bloody sea, let us ask the question what are the results of this mighty sacrifice? We answer:

FIRST. Upon all of our wide domains there is not left a servant, serf, or slave. We have become a nation of free men, in practice as well as in theory. There is not left a foot of soil, or a breath of air, that is not free.

SECOND. The hydro-headed dragon called States Rights with all his wicked brood, has been slain and we have become a nation with unity of purpose and of sentiment. Every state may have its own banner and constitution, but above state flags must float the stars and stripes, and the state constitution must be subordinate to the federal constitution.

THIRD. We have acquired great national heroes, such as will forever stand as types of American courage, valor, and patriotism. What David, Barak and Gideon, were to Israel: what Alexander was to Greece; what Caesar was to Rome; what Hannibal was to Carthage; what Napoleon was to France; what Maurice was to the Netherlands—that Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, and Logan, will be to the United States.

We need not point to Marathon and Thermopylae, to Austerlitz and Waterloo, to inspire courage and patriotism in our youth. We need but mention Gettysburg and Vicksburg, Shiloh and Resacca, to fire the spirits of the American boy and to cause his stout heart to beat in a courageous and patriotic breast.

FOURTH. The different sections of our country have acquired for each other that lasting friendship which can only be born from mutual respect. Before the war the Southerner with his culture and chivalry boasted that the men of the North neither could nor dared to fight, but Northern courage and valor was so well demonstrated upon many a bloody field of battle that the boast forever died at Appomattox.

FIFTH. We have demonstrated to the nations of the world that there is one flag that floats to the breeze, that needs no standing army to defend it or to protect it from insult; that when a volunteer soldier fights under the starry flag of red, white and blue, under the folds of freedom's banner, he fights like a demon, and dies like a martyr; that the American spirit of independence is not inconsistent with military discipline. Many great men there were, who fought under the command of little men, and yet who obeyed their every command. Of such, he who left his seat in congress and took his place among the ranks, brave Jack Logan of Illinois, is a type.

SIXTH. The war has demonstrated the fact that a republican form of government is strong enough to quell the fiercest internal dissensions and uprisings, as well as to subdue the strongest foreign invasions, and that at length, in this great empire, of states the dream of the poet, the hope of the philosopher and statesman, and the longings and aspirations of earth's millions of liberty-loving and oppressed, have been realized.

These are the treasures bought at the price of 250,000 lives, countless treasures and untold anguish. To accomplish for us and our children, and for the cause of freedom, liberty and happiness over all the earth, these great results, the God of battles led us to victory the Union armies. Let us then, my countrymen, on this day of tenderest commemoration, dedicate our lives to a loftier patriotism, a patriotism that is born from love of God, love of liberty, and love of virtue. By the blood of our fathers and brothers, by the tears of anguish that flowed from the eyes of our mothers, wives and sisters, by all the woe of war, a d all the horror of battle, by your love of liberty and under the folds of this starry flag, I make to you this solemn appeal for a more exalted patriotism.

Survivors of the Army of the Republic, what shall I say to you? I cannot call you comrades, for I belong to a generation that has sprung up since the war. But this generation can be grateful. You fought those battles for us. You carry those ugly scars for us. We reap where you sowed the seed in blood and tears. We thank God that you are still among us to witness the fruits of your labors. Would that we could to-day arouse for a moment, from their sleep, the silent army of the Union dead. Would that they could see Northern civilization marching South to build cities and operate factories. Would that they could witness the old flag with out a star missing from its folds, waving over the dome of every state capitol. Would that they could see the Blue and Gray mingle in social and mercantile life, each loving the other better for his deeds of heroism. Gladly would these brave boys lie down again to rest under the soil of a country made so great and prosperous by their blood.

Year after year you decorate other new-made graves. Your comrades are falling. One after another sinks beneath the burden on the wayside. Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, McClellan, Hancock, Garfield and Logan, your gallant commanders, have already met their last enemy, and silently sleep under the clouds of the valley. The answers to the roll-call will soon be few and far between. The day is not far distant when the last response will be heard in the land; but until that day comes your duties are not done. Peace hath its struggles as great as those of war. The Apostle Paul was as great a soldier in his fight against sin, satan and vice, as any that fell at Thermopylae, Waterloo, or Gettysburg, and his victor cry—I have fought to good fight, I have kept the faith, henceforth there is laid up for me a crown—was as heroic as that ever uttered by blood-stained veteran. Life is one continued struggle, and you must teach us by your example to bring to the daily round of duty in every sphere of labor that same dauntless courage, and unswerving loyalty to the eternal principles of right and justice, that marked you on the battlefield.

Against every evil in the land that tends to undermine our institutions, you must raise your venerable voices. You must impress upon the minds of your children and children's children devotion to duty, love of country and loyalty to the flag. Then your memory will be evermore blessed. Then the hallowed recollections that surround this day will grow more sacred through the ages. Then fairest maidens will continue to pluck beautiful flowers, and cast them in garlands and wreaths upon soldiers' graves, and we will remember as we see nature's fairest product fading under the rays of the sun, how the youth and flower of our land withered upon the field of battle.

"Strew then bright garlands of beautiful sheen,
Cross of Immortelles, and wreaths Evergreen,
Clusters and blossoms of exquisite hue,
Rare flowers of duty, the Red, White and Blue;
Strew the bright red for the blood they have shed,
White for the land in whose honor they bled,
And blue to attest their devotion!
Twine mid each tribute the olive of peace,
Praying that discord may everywhere cease—
And banded from ocean to ocean,
A nation delivered—a brotherhood strong,
Blood-tried in crucible, spurning the wrong,
Disenthralled and transfigured shall close up the van,
On the world's field of battle, where man dies for man."

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know

that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know

that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know

that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know

that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know

that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know

that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know

that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know

that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know

that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know

that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

An Honest Man's Story.

GREENVILLE, PA., Jan. 23, '96.

DEAR SIR:—Thank God there is a medicine that will cure catarrh. Mr. Pretzinger I used your sample box of catarrh which you sent me. The first night I used it it helped me. May God bless you for your kindness. I used the little box you sent me and about half of a 50 cent jar. They keep it in Chambersburg. I have told a great many people about your medicine. Hon. Squire Britton, brother-in-law to me, is using it; he says it is helping him very much; he has catarrh very bad. Mrs. C. D. Ludwig, daughter of me is using your medicine. I use it in the evening before retiring to bed and am feeling better now than I have for the last five years. My head is clear and I have more energy for work and my business. Before I used your medicine I felt many a time that I did not care whether I was living or dead; I had no energy; I didn't care for anything. I had catarrh over sixty-seven years; mother had catarrh and it turned into consumption; she died in her sixty-fourth year. I have a farm up at Strasburg, seven miles from Greenville. On nice days I drive up the farm and work. Mr. Pretzinger I think it would pay you to have it put in all Franklin County papers as I am a reliable, honest man, so the people say, middling well acquainted over the County.

Yours truly,
GEO. K. ZOLLINGER.

A STRANGE CASE.

Calhoun County Woman Said to Have Fasted for 100 Days.

La Porte, Ind., June 1. — Mrs. Henry Ingram, of Calhoun county, Mich., on Sunday entered upon the 100th day of her record-breaking fast. During this period she has not taken a morsel of food of any kind and does not appear to need anything to eat. Her health remains about the same, and her physicians are at a loss to account for her condition, nor are they able to break her fast, which promises only to end by death. The strange condition of Mrs. Ingram, as published in the newspapers, resulted in bringing together her two brothers-in-law, each of whom had mourned the other as dead. George Ingram, of Lyons, N. Y., found in Henry Ingram, of Detroit, Mich., his long-lost brother, and Sunday at the bedside of Mrs. Ingram they were reunited.

Carpenters Satisfied.

Detroit, May 30. — At a meeting of the striking carpenters Friday morning an agreement signed by President Helson for the Carpenter Contractors' association was submitted, and on the basis of the same the strike was declared off. The agreement states that the contractors will continue to pay the same rates, from 20 to 25 cents an hour for nine hours' work, and one-fourth more for overtime until January 1, 1897, after which date they will pay a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour for eight hours' work, and one-fourth overtime.

They Have the Vouchers.

Niles, June 3. — The shortage of 4,584 in the waterworks fund, which was discovered a week ago by an expert accountant while at work on the books and which created such a sensation in the city, was cleared up satisfactorily Monday night at the council meeting. The committee of the old council which had charge of the construction of the waterworks submitted a report showing that the money had been paid to the contractors. It also produced vouchers for the amount.

A "Scorcher" Killed.

Bay City, June 3. — Hiram Cone, the foreman in the assembly room of the National Bicycle works, while "scorching" down Madison street, ran directly in front of an electric car. He was going so fast that he could not stop in time to avoid a collision. His companion, John Large, who was also scorching, hit the car and was thrown off, receiving painful injuries. Cone's body was dragged under the wheels 50 feet and horribly mutilated. Cone leaves a family of three.

Found Dead in Her Bed.

Sturgis, May 28. — The wife of Supervisor William E. McKee, of Pawn River, residing 4½ miles southeast of Sturgis, was found dead in her bed Wednesday morning. She was a very estimable lady. Mr. McKee came to Sturgis early on business. He looked at his wife before leaving and thought her asleep. He learned of her death several hours later and is nearly prostrated with grief.

Suicide at Ionia.

Ionia, May 28. — H. J. Cable, keeper of a restaurant, corner of Depot and Front streets, committed suicide by taking strichnine Wednesday afternoon. He bought a dose of the poison at Van Allen's drug store at two o'clock, and when in front of the post office swallowed it. He was taken to his home and died within a half hour.

Say Swartz' Is Innocent.

Colon, June 3. — Starting evidence regarding the murder of Willard N. Johnson October 12, 1894, is coming to light, which tends to show that Del Swartz, now serving a life sentence in Jackson, is innocent of the crime. Just what the new developments are the officials refuse to divulge at present, but they promise a sensation soon.

Killed at St. Louis.

Muskegon, May 29. — Among the victims of the St. Louis cyclone was J. Earle Keane, of this city, who was in the Vandalla freight office as a clerk. He was to have been married next month to Miss Lottie Nichols, formerly of this city, but now of Chicago.

Sentenced for Manslaughter.

Detroit, May 30. — Michael Coleman, who killed Talbot Davis in a saloon row, and was convicted of manslaughter, was sentenced to 18 months in Ionia prison Friday morning.

HELP IS NEEDED.

Cyclone Victims Suffering for the Necessaries of Life.

Oxford, May 30. — As time passes it becomes more and more apparent that all aid which can be given the cyclone sufferers by the generous people of this vicinity will not be nearly adequate to meet the demand when divided among the many sufferers. The people throughout the state must be appealed to. Could the people generally gaze upon the destruction of the devastated district no appeal in words would be necessary. Some systematic way of soliciting aid throughout the state will doubtless be devised. The people are not only suffering for the immediate necessities of life, but they must have places to shelter their families and their stock. Help must be furnished at once to clear away the debris scattered throughout fields and to rebuild fences sufficient to protect crops from the stock. Should the farmers attempt to do this themselves they will not be able to get their ground in shape for any crops whatever this season, and fall would find them with nothing whatever to sell or live upon during the winter.

Lansing, June 2. — This state will supply to the Michigan cyclone sufferers a sufficient number of tents for temporary shelter, until houses can be erected. Gov. Rich is receiving generous donations, and is having personal charge of the distributions.

FOUND IN CHICAGO.

Plunder Stolen from a Battle Creek Store Recovered—Thief Captured.

Battle Creek, May 28. — The young man who stole silks valued at $2,500 from the Leader dry goods store and then attempted to burn the store on the morning of April 28, has been located by Deputy Sheriff King. He gives his name as Percy Bennett, is 18 years old and his parents live at Cleveland, O. Bennett left the city the following Saturday night after the robbery was committed with two packing boxes and a trunk containing the silks for Chicago. He was soon followed by King, who located where he had been stopping in the outskirts of that city, but had left for Springfield, Ill., where he did a job of the same kind, carrying out $40,000 worth of goods to the roof of the building. He was nabbed in the act by Springfield officers. The silks taken from here are in storage in Chicago.

MUST PAY $12,000.

Verdict Against Edgar Pells for Breach of Promise.

Petoskey, June 1. — A dispatch received from Medina, N. Y., states that a verdict has been rendered against Edgar Pells, of this city, for $12,000 for breach of promise. Mr. Pells spends several months every year in this city. He is proprietor of the little village of Pellston, 17 miles north of here, on the Grand Rapids & Indiana, and in the immediate vicinity of that village he owns about 20,000 acres of land. He came here in 1875, and invested largely in swamp and timber lands, and has since made a fortune in land speculation and lumbering estimated at $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. He is a smooth-faced, mild-mannered, jolly little man, about 40 years of age, and a prime favorite with the quiet bachelor set in which he moves.

Oldest Resident Dead.

Howell, May 28. — Livingston county lost its oldest resident Wednesday by the death of Henry Higgins Smith, who died at his home in this city aged 88 years. He was born in Utica, N. Y., December 8, 1807, and moved to Livingston county in 1835, taking up a claim and then returning to his eastern home. The next year he came back to Michigan and settled down where Howell now stands. He was a prominent figure in early days in this vicinity, and was known by all men as a man of unflinching integrity. He leaves a widow and two sons, and two sisters also survive him.

Murdered His Betrothed.

Chelsea, May 31. — Emma Morekel was shot and killed Saturday night by her fiancé, Fred Hydloff, who was in a jealous rage because the young woman had been escorted home by another man. Hydloff then shot himself, and not succeeding in fatally wounding himself, he tried to batter his own brains out, but he was finally controlled and taken into custody.

Attempted Assassination.

Kalamazoo, May 31. — Twelve shots were fired at Thomas McHugh, president of the Molders' union, Saturday at midnight by unknown parties. The trouble arose, as alleged, over union and nonunion molders' differences. McHugh's escape and the names of his probable assailants are much discussed.

Fell Overboard.

Detroit, June 1. — Will H. Riedy, a well-known local amateur athlete, member of the Detroit Athletic club, and the Detroit Boat club, fell overboard from the yacht City of the Straits Sunday afternoon, and before assistance could reach him he sank and was drowned.

Too Much Rope-Jumping.

Grand Rapids, May 30. — As a result of excessive rope jumping Grace Parker, a 13-year-old girl, was seriously injured about a week ago and died Friday after undergoing a difficult operation at the U. B. A. hospital.

Bitten by a Tarantula.

Kalamazoo, May 28. — Mrs. J. C. Cragin, wife of a groceryman, was bitten by a tarantula found in a bunch of bananas. The poison threw her into spasms, but it is thought she will recover.

Congressman Linton Renominated.

Saginaw, May 29. — The Eighth district republican congressional convention Thursday afternoon renominated Hon. W. S. Linton for congress by acclamation.

New Principal for Niles Schools.

Niles, May 30. — Charles S. Jewell, from the Johns Hopkins university, has been engaged as principal of the Niles schools.

"WHOSE SHOT WAS IT?"

A Difficult Question Which Often Confronts Sportsmen.

When two men are hunting together, either for large game or small, there is frequently considerable difficulty in determining to which one the dead game belongs, especially when the shots are fired simultaneously, or when shot or bullets of the same size are used by both hunters. Dr. J. W. Hall in Recreation discusses at considerable length the question: "Whose Game Was It?"

When two persons standing side by side shoot with shot of the same size at a bird the question is practically unanswerable, though if both hit the bird the number of shot in the game would, of course, have to be considered. Courtesy gives the doubtful game to the one whose bag is lightest.

An experienced hunter can usually tell when he presses the trigger whether it is a killing shot or not, and when two such men shoot together there is rarely any difficulty, as each knows whether he held on or not, and does not hesitate to say so if he feels that he missed.

When hunting with a man who claims everything it is best to quit. Some men, even if their second shell misses fire, will contend that they killed two birds rods apart. They can make marvelous shots around corners, over hilltops and through trees, and they quite spoil an honest man's sport.

GETTING A SEAT IN A CAR.

Cute Trick of a Pretty Girl—Obtained by False Pretenses.

"Have you ever noticed," said a young man about town, "the fox game that some girls work in the street cars for the purpose of getting a seat? No? Why, they've worked it on me several times during one month. The first time it happened was one night around Christmas time. I boarded a car and got a seat. The car soon filled up, with women principally, the majority of whom carried Christmas bundles. I was very tired, and, of course, I became interested in my paper to the exclusion of everything else. A moment or two later, however, I glanced up from my paper and looked around the car. A rather pretty young woman, who stood just in front of me, bowed very sweetly and said: 'Why, how do you do?' I tipped my hat, but for the life of me I couldn't place her—didn't know her at all. But she seemed to know me, and, of course, it was only proper that I should give her my seat. I did it, making some idiotic remark about the weather as she took my place. 'Oh,' she said, looking at me, critically, 'I'm afraid I've made a mistake. I took you for an acquaintance.' She turned away with a look of well-feigned embarrassment. But she had my seat and kept it."

DECLINE OF THE "BAD MAN."

The Old-Time Tough Has for the Most Part Disappeared

"In the evolution of modern civilization the bad man, namely, the desperado and tough, who gloats over killing his fellowman, disappears," said Col. F. B. Jenkins, of California. "A few years ago we heard a great deal of characters like Sam Bass, Jesse James, Ben Thompson and Rube Burrows, but to-day there is not in the United States a single individual with a national reputation for wickedness and dare-deviltry such as any of these acquired. There are a few men left who have records for desperate courage and nerve in trying emergencies, men of the Bat Masterson order, but they can be counted on the fingers of one hand. Masterson never figured as a bandit or reckless taker of human life. He is a peaceable man, and if left alone will harm no one. In Denver and all over the west and south he has a host of friends. The day of the desperado is ended, and monstrosities like Thompson, who boasted when in his cups of the number of victims he had slain, will henceforth cease to afflict humanity."

Keep Off the Grass.

It is said that the following sign is posted in a public park in England: "Notice—All persons are cautioned to keep off the grass, cattle and poultry included."

A CASE OF TELEPATHY.

The Old Lady Appeared in a Vision at the Time of Her Death.

A gentleman took a house in Ireland for six months, and was accompanied thither by his wife and daughters, says the Realm. The house was furnished, and had plenty of bedrooms. Therefore, it was decided not to use a certain large, long room, with cupboards along one side (which had all been locked and sealed up with tape), in which things belonging to the owners of the house had been put away. One evening one of the daughters, going up to her room, saw an old lady wrapped in a shawl walking along the passage in front of her. The old lady appeared to know her way and hurried on without hesitation into the unused room. The girl called her sister, and they followed the dame into the room. But all was silent; no one was there; the dust lying about showed no signs of footprints.

Shortly after the same young lady was reading on the hearthrug by fire-light. Looking up, she beheld the old lady in the doorway watching her. Greatly frightened, she sprang up and, rushing downstairs, was found fainting at the drawing-room door. At last the family returned to Dublin. One day, when a friend was calling, the curious incident which I have narrated was referred to. The young lady very unwillingly told her experience. The visitor seemed very much struck and asked for an accurate description of the old lady. "For," said she, "that house belonged to two old ladies, sisters, and when they left their house they went to reside at Geneva. One of them, answering exactly to the description you have given, died at the time you saw her appear."

SUFFERING FROM THIRST.

Feelings Described by a Wyoming Man with an Experience.

No one can conceive the tortures of a person who suffers from real thirst. A Wyoming man who was lost on the plains describes his sensations in a vivid manner. It was before noon when he began his journey over a desert strip, and before night his horse had fallen dead and he had drained his canteen. Then he laid down and tried to sleep, but he soon awoke in the agonies of thirst. "I couldn't cry out," he said, "because my tongue was numb and useless from the pain. When morning came I just beheld the outlines of a wagon in the distance. With a superhuman effort I gave a shriek and then I knew no more. When I regained consciousness I was on a bunch of hay near a fire, and two or three men were looking at me. I learned later that my scream had been heard by a party of prospectors, who were skirting the desert in order to make a short cut to the Montana cattle trail, and that at first they thought it was some wild animal, but one of the party insisted on a search, as he had heard a man make just such a noise before he died of thirst in the Mojave desert. It was weeks before I recovered completely, and I haven't been more than a mile away from water, and plenty of it, since."

THE COMETS.

Big Ones That Have Come Close to Our Sphere.

From all that is known of Perrin's comet, it does not seem, says the New York Sun, to be one of the largest of its kind. A very brilliant comet appeared in 1769 with a tail 40,000,000 miles in length, and passed within 2,000,000 miles of the earth without hurting anyone.

The comet of 1811 was computed by Herschel to be 100,000,000 miles in length and 15,000,000 in breadth. It remained visible to the naked eye for several months.

Bieha's comet, which many persons feared would strike the earth, first appeared in 1826; it came back twice afterward, and then vanished.

Donati's comet, with a tail 40,000,000 miles long, was first seen in 1858, when it was 225,000,000 miles from the earth. It nearly ran into Venus, but did not.

The great comet of 1861 traveled at the rate of 10,000,000 miles every 24 hours and many persons thought that its tail came in contact with the earth June 30 of that year, there being on that day "a phosphorescent auroral glare."

Much of the knowledge of the composition of comets is due to the late Prof. Henry Draper, who was very successful in making photographs of several of them.

ANCIENT MANUSCRIPTS.

Astor Library Has $200,000 Worth of Them—Gem of the Collection.

There are $200,000 worth of ancient manuscripts in the Astor library, but the oldest of these, says the New York World, is the Evangelistarium, which is said to have been expressly executed for Charles the Bald, the grandson of Charlemagne. He was a patron of the fine arts, and was especially fond of embellished manuscripts. This rare and precious manuscript is written on fine vellum and is an oblong quarto of 400 pages. The first four pages have splendid full-length miniatures of the four evangelists, profusely illuminated with liquid gold and emerald green, shaded with red and white on an emerald ground, the pictures covering the entire page.

This superb manuscript was secured some 15 years ago by the late Mr. Astor, from the famous London bibliophile, Bernard Quartrich, who catalogued it in 1880 at $5,000. There are more costly manuscripts in the Astor library—for instance, the Antiphonaire of Charles X., for which I am assured the late J. J. Astor paid $10,000. But this old manuscript of Charles the Bald has, as an antique, no rival.

Mammoth Rings.

In India at the time of the British occupation foliated rings were fashionable. They were so large that when worn on the second finger they covered almost all the outer portion of the hand.

Costs More Than Coffee.

THE NEW BEVERAGE IS EXPENSIVE IN SOME FAMILIES.

A gentleman while making the morning purchases in the family grocery, said he found Postum the health coffee rather expensive at his house, "we drink more of it than we used to of coffee because the children all drink it, and there are four of them, and wife and myself, that makes six using Postum, while formerly I was the only one who drank coffee; wife used it now and then, but it didn't agree with her."

"Send up two packages of the Battle Creek, Mich., Postum Cereal. We find it is food and nourishment, and for the same money we get three cups of Postum to one of coffee. The way my family drink it, however, it costs us more than coffee but we all feel well and that is something."

"The old liver trouble I used to have is gone, I suppose because I have quit using the article that caused the trouble. I don't believe much in drugs, for if nature is given a fair show it will make most anyone well."

Dr. J. B. S. King, Prof. Chemistry & Toxicology, 240 Wabash Ave., Chicago, says, "Will be glad to adopt Postum for my children as a daily beverage."

Wily grocers sometimes work in cheap imitations of Postum Cereal coffee if the customer will stand it.

Strong Testimony
Of a Prominent Citizen of Holland—No Better Proof Can Be Had.
Mr. E. J. Harrington can well be said to be one of the prominent citizens of Holland, where he has resided for nearly half a century. Almost every elective position an appreciative public could place him in has been held by Mr. Harrington—supervisor, alderman, and treasurer—and like the famous Dick Whittington, who was three times Mayor of London, he has been three times Mayor of Holland. In a business way, Mr. Harrington is well-known in many parts of the State. The Harrington Block is one of his daily reminders of business enterprise to the Holland public, and is one of the finest in the city. During the summer months, Mr. Harrington resides in his beautiful summer home, erected on his fine property called Macatawa Park Grove, which is within a stone's throw of Ottawa Beach, Michigan's famous summer resort. What better endorsement can anything have than the commendation of such a representative citizen as Mr. Harrington? This is what he said to our representative:
"I have been subject to attacks of kidney complaint more or less during past years; the slightest cold would always precipitate such an attack. I have bought lots of porous plasters and worn them trying to gain a little relief. About two months ago, I experienced a very severe attack and I was suffering acutely; the pain was across my back in the line of the kidneys. I could hardly walk, and I was entirely incapacitated for business. I found no relief in the plasters. One day I went into Doeburg's drug store to see if I could get something to help me. Mr. Doeburg recommended Doan's Kidney Pills, so I began taking them and the relief they afforded me came so quickly I was much surprised. I had been using them only a couple of days when the pain and distress in my back and kidneys was gone, and I have been feeling first-rate ever since. For the length of time used and the results gained therefrom, Doan's Kidney Pills beat anything I ever heard of for such complaints. I recommend and endorse them with the greatest of pleasure."
For sale by all dealers—price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

STREWN WITH FLOWERS.
Graves of Dead Heroes in Michigan Cemeteries Are Decorated.
Menominee, May 31.—A Memorial day was celebrated in this city by the dedication of the soldiers' monument, the only one in the upper peninsula. The services were under the direction of Lyon post, G. A. R. Many representatives were present. The parade was the largest ever witnessed here.
Kalamazoo, May 31.—Memorial day was quietly observed. Rain drove the people into the Grand opera house for the exercises for Bronson park, and Rev. W. A. Waterman, of Chicago, gave his oration Sunday in the park. He spoke briefly Saturday; also others. The speakers decried Memorial day sports.
In an address here Sunday afternoon Rev. Mr. Waterman took occasion to refer to the recent attack made by President Eliot, of Harvard, on the G. A. R., and scored the noted educator in bitter language. Dr. Waterman declared that Eliot's attack was unworthy of a patriotic citizen, and would even call for condemnation from ex-confederates themselves. He insisted that the man who thus wantonly attacked the bravery of the members of the G. A. R. was unworthy to be a citizen of the country which they fought so gallantly to perpetuate. Dr. Waterman's denunciation met with great applause.
Niles, May 31.—Memorial day was appropriately observed here by Frank Graves post, Grand Army of Republic. Rev. R. H. F. Gardiner delivered the address. In the afternoon the exercises were interfered with by rain.
Decatur, May 31.—Memorial day was more generally observed throughout southwestern Michigan than ever before, the exercises for the most part consisting of parades of civic societies, with addresses by local speakers.
Constantine, May 31.—A horse belonging to Simon Bronson ran away during decoration ceremonies. Bronson was badly injured internally and his skull was fractured. His recovery is doubtful.
Benton Harbor, May 31.—Memorial day was observed here by a procession made up of George H. Thomas post, G. A. R., Modern Woodmen, firemen and school children.
Coldwater, May 31.—Judge Gable delivered an eloquent and patriotic address at Oak Grove cemetery on Memorial day.
GIANT BISONS IN MICHIGAN.
One of the Magnificent Specimens Taken to Adrian Dies from Injuries.
Adrian, June 1.—Two four-year-old bull bisons, consigned to the Page Fence company, arrived here Saturday night from Fort Wayne. They were bred on the preserves of Mr. Bass and are wild specimens. Mr. Clement and 12 assistants were three days trying to cage them. Twice Nero, a magnificent fellow weighing 2,000 pounds, jumped a six-foot fence, and on a third attempt failed to clear it and hung suspended by his hind quarters, in which position he was secured after a hard fight. He died at noon Sunday at Page park. It is supposed death resulted from internal injuries. Prof. Stephens, of the University of Kansas, who is in the city negotiating for Prof. Kost's collection of mastodons, made a liberal offer for the body to add to the university collection, but President Page decided to have the animal preserved and properly mounted for the purpose of presenting it to the museum of Adrian college.

Ravages of the Hessian Fly.
Coldwater, June 1.—The Hessian fly and rust have ruined the wheat crop in this vicinity. Last month the prospect for more than an average yield was flattering, but now there will not be half an average crop. Some farmers are plowing up their wheat fields, while others are hoping for some favorable change in the weather that may possibly benefit them. This deplorable condition appears to be general throughout southern Michigan and northern Indiana, and wheat growers are despondent.

Death of Capt. Blodgett.
Detroit, June 1.—Capt. C. C. Blodgett, for 40 years connected with the lake marine as sailor and owner, died here Sunday from a cold contracted at Cleveland two weeks ago. He was at one time connected in business with Capt. Ward. He was born at Conneaut, O., 68 years ago. Several years ago he sold his vessel property and devoted himself to the care of his large improved property interests in this city.

Three of One Family Killed.
Almont, May 30.—Mrs. James Smiley died Tuesday evening at Whigsville from the effects of injuries received in the recent cyclone at that place. This makes three deaths in one family—father, mother and son. The triple funeral was held Thursday.

Big Wool Clip.
Dowagiac, May 31.—Fifteen thousand pounds of wool was drawn into this city by four-horse teams the other day, being the clip of Lyle Bros., near Decatur, and claimed to be the largest single clip grown in southwestern Michigan this season.

Baptists Adjourn.
Cassopolis, May 29.—The Baptist conference closed Thursday night with addresses by Prof. Gaylord Slocum, president of Kalamazoo college, and Rev. George K. McDonald, of Kalamazoo.

Discovered a Shortage.
Flint, May 29.—The expert accountants who were employed by the city council to examine the city books for two years' past, reported a shortage of $4,555 in the waterworks contract.

Blown Down.
Bay City, June 1.—During a recent storm the city electric light tower on Center avenue, 220 feet high, the highest in the United States, was blown down and wrecked.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Port Sheldon.

T. Quick arrived to day from Chicago on a visit to his family, which resides here. He contemplates staying a couple of weeks.

Pigeon River Mouth presented quite a gala day last Sunday. Several parties from Ventura, the Town line and East Olive enjoyed the pure breezes of Lake Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Bourton of Holland spent Sunday with their relatives, Mr. Cook and family, and in the afternoon drove to the burying ground on the Town line to inspect the improvements on the graves of their sisters, nephews and nieces who are buried there.

Chris B. Cook has been appointed soliciting agent for G. W. Linn & Son, commission merchants, South Water street, Chicago, Ill. This is one of the oldest commission houses in Chicago, having been established in 1859. All persons who have fruit or produce to send will be benefitted to see Mr. Cook. His father has been shipping to this firm ever since he has been in Michigan and never had any cause to complain.

Mr. Gavengood of Grand Haven was in this neighborhood on Monday with an organ to sell.

The rain on Saturday last was a great disappointment to several here, who had made preparations to visit Holland and take part in the exercises in memory of the old soldiers.

Zeeland.

Mrs. J. Van De Luyster is improving from her long illness.

J. D. Werkman and John Pyl are in the Upper Peninsula to look up land.

John D. Everhard has been appointed health officer of the township of Zeeland.

Wm. Wichers returned from Europe Tuesday of last week.

Rev. Henry Huizinga, the recently ordained missionary, conducted the English service in the First Ref. church, Sunday evening.

Memorial exercises here were held on Friday, the 29th. Geo. W. McBride of Grand Haven, delivered the oration and Rev. J. P. De Jonge spoke in the Holland language.

The Misses Kate and Hattie Schaap and Anna and Katie Rooks drove to Holland on a fishing excursion, Saturday, and returned with a big catch of perch.

Ottawa County.

Geo. W. McBride delivered the Memorial Day address at Coopersville.

Ottawa county furnished the Union armies with 1,351 men in the late war. Coopersville Observer: We will wager that there is not another town of its size in the county that has within its precincts as many retired farmers as Coopersville. When we hear that Mr. so and so has sold out and is going away, and ask, "Where is he going?" the answer will invariably be, "O, Coopersville."

In the early 60's, when Judge Littlejohn was on the bench, his circuit included the counties of Ottawa, Allegan, Muskegon, Newaygo, Mecosta, Oshtemo, Oceana, Grand Traverse, Antrim, Kalkaska, Benzie, Emmett, Otsego, Wexford and Missaukee counties.

William H. Curtis died very suddenly at his home in Hudsonville, last week. He lived in Ottawa county for nearly forty years. He represented this district at Lansing two years; was supervisor of Jamestown a number of years; also postmaster at Hanley. He leaves a widow, three sons and one daughter.

It is claimed by some enthusiasts that within five years every acre of land in Robinson township will be occupied by resident owners. Much of the land is pine barrens and until within the past few years was considered almost worthless.

Martin Walsh had nearly 100 berry pickers on his Spring Lake farm this week.

Allegan County.

The Congregationalists of Wayland have let the contract for a new church to cost $2,500.

During the thunder storm of Monday of last week lightning struck the courthouse flagstaff, splintering it a little.

The Baptist church at Allegan has a $4,000 debt. The following plan for raising a sum of money this summer towards its liquidation will be tried: Each member will devote towards the project the proceeds of an acre of land a week's work, the profits from a number of chickens, or something of the sort, and it is hoped that $1,000 may be realized by this means.

The H. C. Ref. church of Colliedown has extended a call to Rev. J. Hoekstra.

The business of the Allegan post office increased $300 the past year, not quite enough to give Postmaster Bracken an increase in salary.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Allegan County Soldiers and Sailors' association August 18, 19, and 20 were chosen as the days on which to hold the annual county reunion. Allegan was the town selected.

Henry Boezekool of East Overisel fractured his limb the other day, while logging.

Marriage licenses were issued last week to Arle Prins of Fillmore and Anna Naber, of Holland, and Berend Gort of Laketown and Hanna Heiboor of Holland.

There will be a big time for lovers of sport at Allegan on June 18 and 19, the occasion being the opening of the new park of the newly organized Allegan athletic association. A fine bicycle track has been built, and many of the cracks will be present to compete for the rich prizes.

Grand Haven.

State secretary H. W. Clark, of the Y. M. C. A., spoke at the First Ref. church Sunday evening, to a large audience.

Rev. P. De Bruyn will spend his summer vacation with friends in Sioux county, Ia.

James J. Danhof has returned from a visit to H. C. Akeley and family, at Minneapolis, Minn.

Memorial Day services were sadly interfered with by the rain. The exercises were held in the forenoon, and it began to pour in torrents, by the time the procession reached the cemetery. Says the News: "The procession was very good, the sad feature being the small number of G. A. R. men, as their ranks are becoming thinner and thinner."

Miss Helen Lecky, missionary of the English Presbyterian church in China, was the guest of Rev. and Mrs. P. De Bruyn this week.

The congregation of the Second Ref. church gave their new pastor, Rev. Mr. Collier, a reception the other evening. Among those present were Revs. H. G. Birchby and J. T. Bergen of Holland.

Our citizens are endeavoring to raise a purse of $3,000, wherewith to secure the location in this city of a warehouse of the Atlas Works (Dutch Plate Glass Co.) of Amsterdam, Netherlands. The tendency of this move would be, it is claimed, to make Grand Haven the permanent headquarters and distributing point of the Atlas Works in the United States. A public meeting was held the other evening and a large committee, representing the leading elements of the city, was appointed to make a canvass and secure the required amount.

The last hope for a government building at the hands of Congress, this season, has faded away, the committee on public buildings having decided not to report.

Three weddings this week. David E. Rose, at one time mayor of Holland, is getting to the front politically in Chicago, as he has recently been appointed one of the garbage commissioners there.

Teachers Examination.

An examination for the teachers in the Public Schools of Ottawa County, for Second and Third Grade Certificates, will be held in the court house at Grand Haven, on Thursday and Friday, June 18 and 19, 1896, beginning at 8 o'clock.

CORA M. GOODENOW
Commissioner of Schools.

Common Council.

Holland, June 2, 1896.

The Common Council met in regular session and was called to order by the mayor.
Present: Mayor De Young, Aids, Schoon, Dalman, Kuite, Habermann, Visscher, Kooyers, Takken, Lokker, Flieman and the clerk.
Minutes of the two last meetings were read and approved.

PETITIONS AND ACCOUNTS.

John Baldwin petitioned for placing building material in Cedar street in front of adjacent lot 9, block 42.—Granted.

Excavator F. Sutton and William R. Billings petitioned for licenses to keep billiard tables and other tables for sport, hire, charge or reward.—Granted.

John Serier petitioned for license to engage in the business of saloon keeping at No. 17, North River street.—Granted, subject to compliance with provisions of ordinance governing same.

Peter Bepers and eight others petitioned as follows:

Holland, May 29, 1896.

To the Honorable, the Mayor and the Common Council of the City of Holland.

Gentlemen: As Fifteenth street is about to be graded and graveled, we would petition your honorable body to move the creek between Maple street and First avenue and lead the same through Sixteenth street to River street. As the city would be as well benefitted as we, we therefore pray your honorable body to grant us this petition.

Referred to the committee on streets and bridges.

To the Honorable the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Holland.

Gentlemen: Your petitioner, who is the owner of that portion of the city of Holland known as "Haven's Island," having erected thereon dwellings and business industries, to wit: three residences and an extensive boat and launch building shop and yard, the dwellings all being occupied, and the boat building in full operation; and having in contemplation in the near future, the establishing of a large lumber yard for the accommodation of the retail trade of Holland and the surrounding country, fully realizes the urgent necessity of having suitable facilities for getting to and from my said island and its industries, with teams and vehicles of all kinds. I therefore come to your honorable body praying that you cause to be established a suitable roadway or bridge between said island and the mainland, to be used as a wagon road to and from my property. And your petitioner would most respectfully urge that this his petition be at once placed before your proper committee, with instructions to act, in order that he may as soon as possible, be profiting by the great benefits to be derived from the erection of said roadway or bridge.

Referred to the committee on streets and bridges.
