by Isaac Jappinga Monday morning in his yard on East Ninth street. The Brakeman Tom Coeling of a P.

M. freight received a severe scalp wound last Friday afternoon, his head striking a switch board which the train was passing. Dr. Mersen dressed the wound and Coeling was removed to his home in Grand Rap-

George Andrews of Grand Haven left Monday for Annapolis, where he will enter the United States Naval Academy, by virtue of winning the competitive examination arranged by Congressman Diekema some months ago. Recently he passed successfully the examination required for entrance to the academy. Now all that remains of the ordeal is the physical examination, which the young man has good reason to believe he will pass successfully. His presence at the school is required June 16 and the greater part of the summer will be spent on board a training ship.
The scholastic work begins in October.

The Muskegon saloon men have subscribed to a fund to be used in testing the constitutionality of the law recently passed by the legislature against the providing of free lunches in saloons. Muskegon attorneys have assured then, that the law will be found to be unconstitutional. There are many other attorneys of this belief, and to the layman it looks as if the law went pretly far along the road of interfering with matters that are not legitimately a cause for legislative concern.
It is likely that the law will be tested within the year, and there appears to be a strong possibility that the courts will throw it on the junk heap.—Marquette Journal.

a daring holdup. As she passed thinking to report the robbery until she reached there, thus giving the man plenty of time to escape.

Making a timely trip to the boat house of his yacht "Idella," Will Orr arrived in time to see a man drop out of a window and hurry away with a number of valuable articles.
He gave chase, but the burglar escaped up Eighth street. A phone message resulted in capture by Officer Kieft. The burglar pleaded guilty before Justice Miles, giving

Frank J. Kuite a well known Holland citizen, became very brave last Thursday evening and started in to "clean up" on three peaceably inclined young men. They, Charles Berg, Russel Van Ry and John Ri-gaud by name, highly disapproved of his proceedings which resulted in a general melee which Kuite still regrets. One of the young men land-wounds which were not serious and he was taken home. No complaints were sworn out so the matter has been dropped.

store was struck by lightning setting it on fire. Benj. Williams with the assistance of Will Hardie shinned up the pole trying to put the fire out

While repairing an auto in the rear of his home Monday night, J.
G. Rutgers was overcome by the fumes of gasoline from a leaky tank.
Although his condition was at first reported as very serious he is now on the road to recovery. Rutgers went to the garage about 8 o'clock and his wife retired. About midnight she awoke and found that her husband had not returned. Making her way to the garage she stumbled over his lifeless body. A neighbor was aroused and Drs. Mersen and Winter were summoned. They succeeded in resuscitating Mr. Rutgers after half an hours work.

Van der Poel Confesses

George Vander Poel, an employe of the West Michigan furniture factory, broke down in the sweat box this morning and gave a description of the N. 7'er clothing store robbery.
While Vander Poel was not himself implicated in the affair he purchased some of the stolen property from Vern Williams. Williams is the lad who gave such a detailed description of the woman shoplifter.

Williams let himself into the store with a key according to the story of Vander Poel and helped himself to the collar buttons, two suits of clothes and many other articles of value which he deposited in a suit case. Saturday he went with the suit case to Grand Rapids, after being questioned in the sweat box three consecutive days by the police without results.

Chief of Police Kamferbeek went to Grand Rapids to search for Williams. Johnny Vos is also suspected of being implicated as he disappeared from town about the same time Williams did.

MEAL ALWAYS IN READINESS.

Believer in Corporeal Resurrection Has Table Constantly Spread Adjacent to Tomb.

One of the most curious tombs in the United Kingdom is in County Wexford. In it is laid the body of one of that curious body—the Resurrectionists. One portion of the tomb is a furnished chamber, with a table and a few chairs. On the table will be found at any time a dainty meal of considerable dimensions, with a fowl, a ham, a leg of mutton and the necessary drinkables. The departed Resurrectionist provides by his will that this meal shall be laid each fortnight, and "if the meal is untouched in the mean time, it shall be given to the poor and a fresh meal laid." So far the meal has been untouched, though eerie rumors spread round the district from time to time that in spirit form the gentleman has appeared and has enjoyed his meal. Curious stories are told of poor people to whom the ham or the leg of mutton has been given being awakened in the night by strange rappings on their doors and windows and even by demands in a grim voice for a portion of the food which had been distributed. As a consequence and probably for another sad reason, it has come to be the practice to consume the food immediately it is brought home. It is the only way to counteract the envy of the spirit, with whom apparently hunger is constantly present.

WORK FOR THE INTERPRETER

Flow of Language Used by Chinamen Involving Simple Question and Answer.

A Chinaman was called as a witness in the police court of Los Angeles in the case of a driver who had run over a dog.

"What time was it when you saw this man run over the dog?" asked the judge.

"Me no sabe," replied the witness.

"I say," repeated the judge, "what time was it when you saw this man run over the dog?"

"Me no sabe," repeated John, smiling broadly.

"We shall have to have an interpreter," commented his honor, as he realized that the witness did not understand English; and accordingly another Chinaman was hailed into court to act as interpreter. "Ask the witness," commanded the judge, "when he saw this man run over the dog."

The interpreter turned to his fellow countryman and said: "We chung lo, ho me chow lung wow, e-ho me no chow chee, loo kow so-loo bing gong tog yit ben."

To which the witness replied: "Wong lin kee, wo hoo, wing chong lung yue lee, kin sing, choy yoke coey lung lung ding wah, shing suey way san yick ling toy bing coey bow tsue, po tong po gou hung mow kim quong yuen lee chow yo ben tong." The interpreter then turned to the judge and said: "Him say two o'clock."—Lippincott's.

A Reasonable Charge.

"A tourist in Georgia stopped over night at the Palace hotel, in a little village, and expressed a desire to taste Georgia 'possum,'" said Henry S. Weaver of Atlanta, Ga. "The whole 'possum, cooked in genuine Georgia style, with 'taters on the side, was placed before him.

"Two dollars extra for the 'possum," said the landlord, when the guest came to settle.

"It's an outrage," said the guest. "It's 'cording to the way you look at it, stranger," said the landlord; "but it took me six nights' swamp wadin' to catch that 'possum, an' when I kotched him I kotched the rheumatism with him."

The Deserter.

"Do you desire to have it understood," asked the judge, addressing the lady who wanted the divorce, "that your husband deserted you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Please tell the court as concisely as you can how he deserted you."

"Two months after we had completed our wedding trip he scolded me because he thought I was so extravagant in the matter of getting clothes, and I went home to my people."

"Yes, proceed."

"Well, I waited and waited and waited for him to come and beg me to return to him, and he never did."

Life and Literature.

A young girl once asked Mark Twain if he liked books for Christmas gifts. "Well, that depends," drawled the great humorist. "If a book has a leather cover, it is really valuable as a razor strop. If it is a brief, concise work, such as the French write, it is useful to put under the short leg of a wobbly table. An old-fashioned book with a clasp can't be beat as a missile to hurl at a dog; and a large book, like the geography, is as good as a piece of tin to nail over a broken pane of glass."—Christian Register.

Interdependence.

Crime, drunkenness, each in turn, has been tracked back to poverty. Now the doctors trace tuberculosis there. It looks as if an economic clean-up is needed for the health of the race. Riches are not a protection against the ills of economic poverty, for the satin on the back of wealth may have been worked over by a consumptive seamstress. We are so interwoven with each other that the danger of one is quickly communicated and becomes the danger of all.—Detroit News.

A $30,000 Home for $1200

Thomas A. Edison has announced the completion of his scheme for building a concrete house for $1200, which, if constructed of stone in the same design would cost between $20,000 and $30,000. The fact that Edison includes in his $1200 estimate the heating and the plumbing for the house is construed by practical men to mean he has fixed his figures without having previously consulted plumbers and steam fitters, and without taking into consideration the eight-hour day and the prevailing rate of wages. The price he cites could not prevail if only a single house was to be built. That he wants to be understood clearly. What he means is that if the re-inforced concrete houses were built in block, by his design and through the use of his moulds, the cost of each house in a block would not be greater than about $1200.

He also says that figure is dependent upon the houses being built on soil which yields sand and gravel from the excavations. Even after making due allowance for these conditions, practical builders declare, according to the New York Press, that Edison would find himself in a losing game if he contracted to put up those blocks of detached one-family houses for $1200 each, with the plumbing and steam heating apparatus included.

The Edison house-building plan calls for a one family house on a lot 40 by 60 feet. The floor plan of the house is 25 by 30 feet. The front extends 8 feet and the back stoop 3 feet. Each house will contain six rooms and a bath, and the cellar will extend beneath the entire house and will contain the boiler, washtubs and coal bunker. The main living room and also the outside of the house will be richly decorated.

The decorations will be cast with the house, and therefore will come from the molds as parts of the structure, and not merely be stuck on.

The entire house will be of re-inforced concrete. That includes the walls, roof, floors, porches, bathtub and the laundry tubs. The only wood in the building will be the doors, door frames, windows and window frames. The inside walls will also be of concrete, and there will be no plaster finish. The surface will be smooth and may be tinted or painted, as the owner may desire. Edison seems to think that with his plan in working shape it will do much toward relieving the congestion which now exists in cities and practically enable every workman to own his own home or to be a tenant in a detached house at an expense—that is, for rent and car fare—not more than $9 a month.

Cast-iron molds will be used in building the houses, and they will vary in design. After the concrete foundation has been laid and hardened the molds will be set up upon it. The term foundation is not to be construed as meaning the cellar walls, but merely a base of concrete upon which the molds will rest. Edison estimates that the molds needed to begin the work of building such houses on wholesale lines will cost $25,000, and that the necessary plant will cost $15,000 more. At least six sets of molds must be used to keep the men and the plant busy.

Edison says it will take four days to set up the molds. The liquid concrete can be poured into them in six hours. The moulds will be kept in use for four days until the concrete hardens, and then it will require four days to remove them. That means the house will be finished in a fortnight. With the six sets of molds, if that schedule is adhered to, 144 houses can be built in a year. The initial costs of the cast iron molds will be comparatively great, but they may be used indefinitely. Edison says, and in the long run will be much cheaper than the wooden molds now used in which, because of their destructibility, increase greatly the expense of concrete construction.

Edison has George E. Small and Henry J. Harms, Jr., engineers, working with him now. They designed the house and molds and made the experiments. The first house will be poured in sections for experimental purposes and to discover and remedy defects. Then an entire house will be molded with one pouring. In other words, a lot of liquid concrete will be run into the molds, and when they are removed that muddy-looking mixture will have been turned into a handsome home, where a working man can live and rear his family cheaply and in comfort—that is if the Edison estimates are right.

Low Dockstader at Powers

Many local people are taking advantage of the opportunity to see Low Dockstader and his minstrels who after an absence of three years is playing at Powers theatre in Grand Rapids this week. Minstrelsy with a plot is what the comedian calls this latest production. The program opens with a meeting of the Possum Hunt club, a colored social organization of exclusive type that decides to send a representative to find the north pole. Dockstader, as Prof. Hightower undertakes the mission and uses his aeroplane in exploring the polar regions. He is successful and returns in record time with the pole on his shoulder. While he is busy accomplishing this the interval is filled with various features. Neil O'Brien, long chief assistant of Mr. Dockstader, will relate his experience in the construction of the Panama canal and undertake to manage a sanitarium called "The House of Rest."

Al Jomon, hailed as a "second Billy Emerson," will make his first appearance in Grand Rapids. Others of prominence among the members are Eddie Mazzier, Reese Prosser, W. H. Hallett, Will Oakland, Pete Detzel, Joseph Natus, W. H. Thompson, Tommy Hyde, Herbert Willison, Geo. M. Vail and Master Keegan. There is no vaudeville in the Dockstader show this season, the time being given over to songs, jokes and comedy stunts.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is a killer of catarrh germs, because when you breathe it in, its antiseptic and germicide properties reach every nook and crevice of the mucous membrane, from the mouth deep into the lungs.

Hyomei brings the Australian forests of pine and eucalyptus to your home. It is made of the active principles extracted from these trees.

No one who lives in or near these forests suffers from catarrh. No one who breathes in Hyomei the real forest air of Australia, will have catarrh for long after the treatment starts.

If you want to cure catarrh, croup, bronchitis, coughs, colds, asthma, hay fever, or relieve consumption, try Hyomei, the common sense cure, the cure that reaches the spot.

The Silver Cup

Last Friday morning an event transpired at Hope College that would be fraught with the utmost significance at any college but which contains more than ordinary interest for Hope College. It was the presenting of the silver cup, which was won in the recent relay race between Holland and Grand Rapids, to the college track team.

The cup which was donated by the Jarvis company of Grand Rapids, is the first ever won by a Hope college athletic team. The track team that won the cup was the first ever put in the field by the college. It was the first time that Hope college athletes were ever allowed to leave the city to participate in an athletic contest of any sort during a regular term. The race was the first of its kind in Michigan and the eyes of the whole state were turned on the victors, on Hope college, and on Holland.

The trophies that have been won by Hope college are few. It is not because of a lack of material that so small a number of prizes have been carried away by the men of Hope but rather a lack of opportunity. Last fall the boys at the college turned out a foot ball team that was a credit to the college and would have been the equal of other State college teams had an opportunity come to test its strength. But before the season ended the team was forced to disband as there was no money to maintain it. So too it has been in base ball and the same conditions have prevailed in athletic contests of all sorts. Basket ball alone has paid but the games played here were separate games deciding nothing as far as championships were concerned. There is no end to the speculations, as to what might have been had Hope college sent this year's Basket Ball team to the tournament at Detroit.

There is but one reason why these conditions exist and that is the lack of encouragement from the college authorities. The fact that the students are not allowed to leave Holland for athletic contests while the college is in session constitutes the chief reason why the athletic spirit is weak at Hope, but another strong factor in keeping it down is the fact that there is no endowment for athletics in the local institution. These two forces are strongly antagonistic to the growing spirit of the students who are beginning to see the value of matching brawn as well as brain against their sister colleges. The latest victory coupled with a glimpse of the handsome trophy that was won has accelerated this desire for inter collegiate athletics.

The students argue that there is nothing tangible gained by this conservative policy. Alma, Olivet, Albion and other colleges who maintain excellent athletic teams of all sorts are almost always sure to carry off the prizes in debates and oratorical contests as well. Hope has won but once in the annual state oratorical contests and her winning representative was foremost in such athletic sports as were sanctioned at that time. Because athletic prowess as well as scholarship was taken into consideration in a recent competitive examination for a scholarship in England the prize went to another although the man from Hope ranked highest in mental attainment. No matter what may be said about athletics in colleges by some writers facts speak louder than theories and when college athletics are so governed by the faculty that they can be kept clean and wholesome they are of incalculable benefit to college spirit, to the students and to the college that produces them. Let us hope that this latest incentive may be a turning point into a new direction.

New Red Can Law

State Oil Inspector Neal calls the public's attention to a few changes made by the present legislature in the so called "Red Can" gasoline act. The new law, which goes into effect September 1st next, provides that cans, buckets, barrels, etc., which are to be painted a bright red, may be "lettered" with the word gasoline instead of being "stenciled" as heretofore. It also provides that retail merchants must have the barrels or tanks in their stores, from which they sell, painted bright red and lettered thereon with the word gasoline.

The delivery to consumers and to dealers as well must be made in receptacles (cans, buckets, jugs, barrels, or whatever the delivery is made in) that are painted bright red and lettered.

The tanks or cans on peddlers' wagons must be painted and lettered and the tank wagons of wholesalers must be labeled if containing gasoline.

The person who purchases gasoline lays himself liable to a fine if he has it in anything but the proper red can. For cleaning purposes gasoline can only be sold in bottles properly labeled and not more than one quart in quantity.

Receive Heavy Fines

Several matters were disposed of this week in the circuit court, the most important of which was the case of the rock Island Plow company against the Smiths of Wyand. After a trial lasting three days the jury gave a verdict in favor of the company for $90.91 with interest at 7 per cent from Aug. 14, 1906, and the costs of the suit amounting to $17.81. William P. Wilson obtained a judgement against the Dunkley Williams company for $1,303.50. In the foreclosure proceeding of George T. Kendall vs Aaron Treat a decree was granted. The Hicks-Koopman suit has been settled out of court. John Rosa obtained a divorce from Florence Rosa on the grounds of desertion. The judge listened to the arguments in the divorce proceedings of Lewie vs Carrie Turrell and will give a decision later. The request of Pearl Slater for a divorce from Claude Slater, recently sent to Iowa for desertion, was filed and discussed but no decision arrived at. Sentences were passed yesterday morning on the Leindeckers of Saugatuck. He was fined $125 and costs of $75.61 or 90 days in the Detroit house of correction; she was fined $100 and $34.91 costs or 65 days in the same place. Two other counts against the Leindeckers were postponed to the October term of court. Edward Gutcher, guilty of violation of the liquor law, was fined $50 and costs of $50.30, and Harry Bean, convicted of assault and battery upon a neighbor's daughter in Lee, was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs of $47.60.—Allegan Gazette.

Morning Chimes

Early one morning this week the residents in a certain block were awakened in a strange manner. A young man carrying a fish pole, lunch basket, and the rest of the paraphernalia for a day's fishing trip walked along a west end residence street, stopped in front of one of the houses and started to whistle, throw gravel against a front upstairs window and call, "Jim! Jim!"

After about ten minutes a girl's voice called out from somewhere inside, "Jim lives next door." Next door went the whistler and would-be-fisherman but he went next door west instead of next door east. Here he stopped and repeated the whistling, graveling throwing and crescendo calling. Ten minutes more and his efforts were rewarded by the appearance of an old woman who angrily told him that he had better go where he belonged to do his whistling as her husband was getting up to tend to him.

Somewhat discouraged and a trifle bewildered as to just where he belonged the young man went on to the next house and still further on to the next waking the people in both in his persistent search for "Jim." In the fourth house lived a young man who knew "Jim" and in whom existed a bond of sympathy so the searcher was sent back along the street four doors. By this time the whole neighborhood was awakened, uncombed heads were popping out of windows and curious eyes were peering out of cracks in slightly opened doors and there were threats and mutterings on all sides against the disturber of early morning slumber. But with the assistance of his mother "Jim" was soon routed out.

"By George!" he said, "I set the alarm for five o'clock instead of for four as I intended and it hasn't gone off yet."

Well, anyway, the "fellows" got hold of it and "Jim" and "Casey" passed out the cigars.

Fraternal Banquet.

The last but by no means the least meeting of the Fraternals of Hope college concluded the work of the society for the year when on Friday night the Fraternals and their lady friends gathered around the festive boards of Hotel Holland to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the founding of the society in Union college, New York city.

The banquet tables were very prettily decorated and an elaborate menu, consisting of natural strawberries temptingly put up with cream of asparagus and Bechamel, lobsters a la Newburg, spring chicken and new potatoes, interspersed with numerous other dainties, was served. The service was faultless, speaking highly for the new management of Hotel Holland. Teunis Gowers, '09, president of the society for the spring term, acting as toastmaster for the evening, opened the festivities with a few well chosen remarks. Several letters from far away Fraters were read, which contributed not a little to creating the true fraternal atmosphere, and when the fraternal song had resounded through the halls, every one was in a mood to listen to the literary part of the program.

W. Wichers, '09 opened the fire by responding to the toast, "Dreams of the Future," a subject well suited to a Frater about to leave the hospital halls. Prof. J. Kuizenga '09, was unable to attend the banquet owing to the illness of Mrs. Kuizenga. John Wichers '10, responded to the toast, "The Seniors, landing the '09's as the best class in college with the exception of the Juniors." "In the Land of Single Bliss," was responded to by J. W. Warnshuis '10, who, after many vain trials to advocate celibacy, finally made the radical statement that to depart from the land of single bliss to the realms of matrimony is man's bounden duty. J. A. Dykstra '00, whiled away a few moments at "The Altar of Hymen," while A. J. Van Houten '09, incapable to express the praise of "The Ladies" in his own words, called upon the shades of Tennyson and Shakespeare to bring out their true merit. J. Venenklasen, '09, completed the enchanting atmosphere by rendering a vocal solo "Dear, when I gaze." Then Attorney C. Vander Meulen, '00, not as easily affected as his younger brethren, turned to masculine affairs, telling with sparkling wit and humor and many a scathing remark, "What it means to be a Frater." Congressman's Diekema's absence was greatly deplored. "Sparks" was the toast he was to have responded to.

The closing number of the program consisted of a brand new college song, the music of which was composed by A. J. Kohn '06 and the words by H. K. Pasma '10.

Last Wednesday evening a congregational meeting of the First Church was held in the consistory room of the church. A large attendance was present. The meeting was held to decide, by vote of the members of the church whether they should defend her case in the quo warranto suit before the Supreme Court, the hearing of which is to be on the 24th day of June. A few of the members entertained the belief that the greatest good would result from a delivery of the church into the hands of the other party—the minority—but they were only a few, and when the ballot was taken only one dissenting vote was cast against a defense of the suit. From this action it will be understood that the troubles of the First Church will again be before the public for some time to come, and once more be a source of anxiety to many of our citizens who take an interest in the matter. It would seem to us that the sooner this case is positively decided, either one way or the other, the better it will be for this city, both commercially and socially.

While the mortality rate in the city has been exceedingly moderate of late, yet this community has witnessed during the first half of the calendar year some very impressive instance, of bereavement, the latest among which is the demise of John H. Raven Contest Next Tuesday

The annual Raven prize oratorical contest will be held in Winants Chapel Tuesday afternoon June 15 at 2 p. m. This year the winner will receive the $30 prize for the Raven contest and will also have the honor of representing Hope college at the State oratorical contest which will be held in Lansing next year.

Owing to the rush of work in the oratory department it has been thought best by the faculty to combine the Raven contest and the local contest which formerly took place in February. This will have an advantage in giving the representative to the state contest a longer time to train.

The following young men will take part, Anthony Ver Hult, Jacob Heemstra, and Nelson Dalenberg from the Junior class; E. Van der Laan from the Sophomore class; and H. Yntema and Anthony Luidens from the first year class. The contest will be judged by five judges as follows: A. A. Raven, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Geo. P. Hummer, Grand Rapids; Dr. A. Vennema, Passaic, N. J.; Henry Pelgrim and Dr. J. J. Mersen of Holland.

Because so many alumni will be in the city Tuesday and will doubtless desire to attend no admission will be charged to the contest.

Prof. J. D. Mac Laren Re-elected

Dear Sir: I am re-elected Professor of Physiology and Secretary of the Medical School at an increased salary. The State University is growing even faster than this state. I enjoy my work here but I do not expect to find any other community so agreeable as Holland and Hope College. The friends and the prairies of my boyhood need my work now. Cosmos Enjoy a Launch Ride

After a very successful year of literary work, the Cosmopolitan society of Hope college wound up with its customary feature of the spring term, an enjoyable launch ride. For this purpose the steamer Mary was chartered for the afternoon and evening. Beautifully decorated with Cosmos and Hope banners and pennants the festive appearance of the boat added much to the spirit of merriment. While steaming up and down Black Lake, passing Jenison and Macatawa parks the Cosmopolitan orchestra attracted much attention. Out on Lake Michigan the sun set in all its splendor. Then a "hearty feed" was enjoyed and while riding up and down a short program was carried out. The silver ray of the moon now blended with the softly sounding music producing an atmosphere not easily to be forgotten.

The Cosmopolitan society, the only literary society of Hope college, can justly be proud of its past history. Last year's record again proved its superiority in debating, still leading the others with a standing of 1000. Next year will without doubt be a banner year, as the society then hopes to celebrate its twentieth birthday.

The salaries of the postmasters at Spring Lake and Zeeland are to be raised this year. Spring Lake will be rated at $1200 and Zeeland at $1700.

Former Holland Man in Trouble

The Detroit News of last Wednesday published a half tone of Jay P. Jennings, son of J. J. Jennings of this city with the following comment: "Mrs. May Jennings, 90 Twelfth street, yesterday applied to Justice Jeffries for a warrant for her husband Capt. Jay P. Jennings, on the grounds of desertion and non-support."

Jennings is captain of the steamer Trade R. Wiehe a lumber boat owned by the Edward Hines Lumber Co., of Chicago.

She offered as evidence a card on which were pasted the photographs of six women, which she says she found at various times in her husband's belongings. One of the pictures is of Mrs. Belle Gunness, notorious for her connection with the Gunness crimes near Laporte, Ind., two years ago and supposed to have been burned alive in the fire for which her hired man is now serving time.

Capt. Jennings is a member of the Golden Rule lodge, F. & A. M., of Chicago. He is 40 years of age and has been in the employ of the Hines company for eight years. He is regarded as one of their ablest captains.

Captains Jennings' first wife was the daughter of Mrs. V. H. Gillette who lives on a farm north of Tennessee Beach. He deserted his first wife, now Mrs. Klass Baker, who lives with her husband near Tennessee Beach, some time ago. At the time of his disappearance it was intimated by Mr. Jennings' relatives that Mrs. Gillette, whom they blamed for the troubles that led to the separation, had made away with Jennings.

"They even had officers searching about the farm to see where we had buried him," says Mrs. Gillette to a News representative the other day. "They created all sorts of unpleasant talk about me," she went on further, "but he finally turned up. I am anxious for people to know that it was not entirely the fault of the mother-in-law. This time there was no mother-in-law in the case for the second Mrs. Gillette is an orphan and was at the time of her marriage."

Prize Won Under Prof. Mast

The many friends of Prof. S. O. Mast, who for a long time held the chair of Biological Science in Hope College will be pleased to learn of his success in the Biology Department of the Women's College of Baltimore, to which college Prof. Mast went from here about two years ago. In a letter to Dr. Kollen Prof. Mast tells of the winning of the Columbia University Cartwright prize and we herewith publish the communication.

Baltimore, Md.

May 25, 1909

My Dear Dr. Kollen: We were informed this morning that the paper which has occupied our time most of the winter won the Cartwright prize of $500. The Cartwright prize is given each year by the alumni of the Medical school of Columbia University, New York city. Naturally we are very much pleased.

Dornbos Makes Another Capture

Deputy Game Warden Cornelius Dornbos is determined to put a stop to illegal fishing and is hot on the trail of all violators of the game law. Last Thursday night Dornbos accompanied by Will Norlin of this city, surprised a gang of Zealand men who were in the act of lifting a gill net which they had stretched across the river and succeeded in capturing three of them who were operating on one side of the river, those on the other side making their escape but as their names are known they will be arrested later.

The three, Herman and Henry Derks and Tony Vander Pels, were arraigned before Justice VanDuren Friday afternoon and pleaded not guilty. Their trial was set for the afternoon of June 14 and the men were released under bail to appear at that time. The ire of local sportsmen has been aroused over the repeated violations of the law and they are urging that the limit sentence be imposed in case of conviction. They are lavish in their praise of Dornbos who is doing so much to stop the practice and who has made so many captures this spring. Under his vigilant eye those who persist in illegal fishing are finding it a very unsafe proceeding.

The board of health has appointed Deputy Sam Leonard as temporary health inspector until the council shall appoint this official. There are many matters which require immediate attention so Leonard started to work serving notices on those householders who have not followed out the boards orders. He will also watch for other points where cleaning up of any sort is necessary and make recommendations to the board.

Pupils' Recital

At Winants Chapel this evening at 8 o'clock the spring term recital of the college school of music will take place. This musical promises to be exceptionally good, the program consisting of twelve numbers, including a duet in which Mr. Campbell appears. This feature will be very attractive as this favorite baritone has not been heard here for several years. A sensational feature of the program is the appearance of Master Alfred Koons of Grand Rapids, the wonderful violinist only six years of age and a pupil of Miss Conlon.

This year's work at the conservatory has proved the best in its history. Mr. Campbell's class will be doubled next year, judging from the large number of applicants. An oratoria society is in process of organization, and will be directed by Mr. Campbell, one of the and most efficient conductors in the state. The members of the city choirs will be eligible as well as musical students. The chorus will number about 100 voices. One of the great oratorios or operas will be studied, and the soloists will be obtained from away.

Admission to the recital is free and a fine treat is offered to all music lovers. The program follows:

Miss Emeline Meyer and Albert Jerry Dykhuis of Grand Haven were united in marriage Saturday by Justice Daniel C. Wachs in the presence of relatives. The couple left for Holland the same day and were the guests of Former Sheriff and Mrs. H. J. Dykhuis. Both the bride and groom are very well known in Holland and in Grand Haven. Mr. Dykhuis is a member of the Grand Haven life saving crew.

Gertrude Stephan very royally entertained a number of her friends at her home on W. 12th St. last Saturday, it being her 9th birthday. The lawn, where games and frolics were enjoyed by the little ones, was prettily decorated with drapery, flags and Chinese lanterns. Elaborate refreshments were served. Those present were Hazel Kraai, Lucile Chase, Anna Vissers, Irene Charter, Virginia VanVerst, Janet Knoll. The guests presented Gertrude with beautiful gifts.

Mrs. J. H. Raven delightfully entertained at her home on West Twelfth street, Monday and Tuesday afternoons. On Monday, a progressive game was played, prizes being won by Mrs. C. J. Dregman and Mrs. M. J. Cook. Mrs. Raven was assisted in serving by the Misses Ethlyn Metz, Lene Brusse and Floy Raven. About 30 guests were present. Tuesday afternoon nine tables of Cinch were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Preston Scott and Mrs. F. W. Hadden. The Misses Gertrude Kanters, Marguerite Leenhouts and Rena Raven assisted with the serving.

Peter Notier and Miss Theresa Van Vulpes were united in marriage in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends last Thursday evening by Rev. John Vander Meulen of Grand Haven at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brinkman, 80 W. 14th street. The bride, who wore a becoming gown of white lawn trimmed with lace and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley, was attended by Miss Georgiana Lugers who wore white batiste and carried marguerites. Joseph H. Boutrager of Mantford, Wis., was best man. They are spending their honeymoon at Virginia park and will be at home to their friends after July 1 at 76 W. 16th St.

Hope College News

The results of the heavy rainfall of the last few days were very much in evidence on the campus. A 20-foot sailboat lay quietly moored in front of Van Raalte hall on Tuesday morning securely tied to the trees and a wire fence. According to the conjectures of some the students the heavy downpour caused a violent flood which carried the unlucky vessel upon its back and put it on the dry element.

The members of the Meliphone society held their annual picnic at Saugatuck last Saturday.

The Tennyson class which Prof. Nykerk has been conducting during the last term gave an interesting Tennyson program Tuesday afternoon in Winants chapel.

From the "proceeds of "Under the Spell" the senior class has been able to present to the college a handsome set of stone steps. A dedicatory program will be carried out Tuesday afternoon, the class president making the presentation speech and Dr. Kollen answering in behalf of the college.

GROWS ASPARAGUS IN TUBES

Frenchman's Manner of Forcing Vegetable Means Work, But It Produces Results.

For some time a French agriculturist, M. Bouyer-Fonteneau, has been trying a new method of cultivating asparagus, which they grow and cook so well in France.

Starting from the principle that all cultivated vegetables, in order to obtain the best results, ought to be grown under the same conditions that they choose for themselves when growing wild, M. Bouyer-Fonteneau does not allow the banking that is usually done, which he considers harmful.

It is easy to understand that a root of asparagus buried a foot or more in the ground will push stalks towards the surface for air and light, without which it would become anaemic, or rot. It is better then, to bury it only about a quarter or a third as deep without banking, and as soon as the head appears to place over it a tube of pottery, two or two and one-half inches in diameter and about eight inches long, filled with earth.

The asparagus pushes up through this tube sheltered from the light, which is necessary, if it is to be white. When it comes out at the top it is a simple matter to take away the tube and cut the stalk with the greatest ease and without any risk of hurting the root or the other shoots.

M. Bouyer-Fonteneau states that asparagus thus treated comes to maturity nearly a month in advance of that banked in the old way. This is easily explained by the fact that the heat of the sun acts more quickly on a root near the surface of the ground than on one buried deeply. Besides, the stalk once in the tube grows faster than in the ground.

FIND RELICS IN RIVER BED.

Finely Tempered Weapons Recovered from a Channel on the Canadian Border.

While workmen were removing rock and debris from the old channel of the river between the second and third chutes to make way for the big power dam on the American side they unearthed in one of the pot holes in the rock a remarkable collection of Indian weapons and other articles, comprising tomahawks, spearheads, arrowheads, sturgeon fishhooks, etc., all made out of pure copper and hardened to the consistency of steel.

The articles are bright in appearance and are of superior workmanship, being evidently the work of the prehistoric race which fashioned the mounds, ornaments and utensils of the early days. That these people possessed the knowledge of tempering copper is evident from the specimens. How they came there is a mystery, but the general belief is that a party of Indians while endeavoring to land or make a portage lost control of their canoe and were swept over the falls, the canoe being overturned, causing the contents to go to the bottom of the river or be carried down stream.

That these articles were together is proof that they must have been tied in a leather sack or some other such receptacle. They were found packed together in the hole, which had doubtless been caused by centuries of swirling waters and gravel.—Fort Frances Correspondence Minneapolis Journal.

The Willy Giraffe.

Perhaps the most difficult of all wild animals to capture is the giraffe. In addition to being very rare, giraffes are exceedingly timid and are very swift-footed.

There is no special way to capture a giraffe, as almost every way has been tried, and all have been almost equally unsuccessful. The method which has occasionally resulted in a capture is by using a long cord at each end of which is a round weight. This cord is thrown by the hunter in such a manner as to wind around the animal's legs, either bringing it to the ground or rendering it incapable of escaping before it is made prisoner. Most of the giraffes in captivity have been caught by chance when young.

French Compromise.

An amusing story of compromise is mentioned in a Paris contemporary. It seems that the law of France requires parents to name their children either after the saints in the calendar or from a personage in history. A citizen of Troyes went to the registrar to inscribe the name of his little daughter, whom he wished to be known as Marianne. The registrar adjusted his spectacles, scratched his head, and then declared it was impossible. Marianne did not comply with either of the requirements. Finally the matter was arranged to the satisfaction of both the parents and the registrar. To the child was given the name of Marie Anne. To the parents it was almost what they wanted, and the law was satisfied.

The Table Manners (?) of the Turk.

Should you dine with a Turk, you will observe many peculiarities, to some of which you will find it hard to accustom yourself. The host and his guests, squatted upon little mats, await the servants who, bringing a tray, place it before the company upon a low stool. On this tray, in several shallow bowls with round covers, are the viands. Forks and spoons being dispensed with, each man, stretching out his right hand, deeply scoops up, with thumb, first finger, and middle finger held together, one or two mouthfuls from each bowl. At the conclusion of the dinner the guests file out one by one, to make their ablutions at the fountain.—Nicholas Adopides, in Colliers.

Mrs. M. Van Houten, 287 W. Thirteenth Street, Holland, Mich., says: "For several years kidney trouble clung to me and was a source of great annoyance. The pains in the small of my back and under my shoulder blades were almost unbearable and it was only with a great effort that I was able to stoop or lift. When I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and caused the secretions to become disordered. None of the remedies I tried helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. I have no hesitation in recommending this preparation after all it has done for me." (Statement given December 12, 1906.)

FARMER HAS DESPERATE BATTLE WITH RODENTS

ACCIDENTALLY LOCKED IN GRANARY WITH DOG, HE IS SERIOUSLY WOUNDED.

Old Zionsville, Pa.—David Steinberger, residing on the road leading from Zionsville to Dillinger, had a frightful experience recently. He entered an old and long disused granary in his barn, when the wind slammed the door shut and the latch caught on the outside.

Mr. Steinberger had a little rat terrier with him, and the door had hardly closed when the man, in the dim light, saw that the place was swarming with rats. His dog immediately tackled one of the rats, and the latter, cornered, put up a desperate fight, and in a few minutes both man and dog were fighting for their lives, particularly the man.

Mr. Steinberger had nothing with which to defend himself, and they swarmed all over him, some even trying to get at his throat, and all he could do was to grab them with his hands, throw them down on the floor and stamp on them.

Fortunately for himself he wore heavy top boots, with his trousers tucked inside. Finally his cries were heard, and a member of the family came to his relief and opened the door, when Steinberger staggered out, nearly exhausted, and bleeding from over a dozen wounds. The dog also was badly torn and bitten, but still game. Between them they had killed 14 rats.

PERFORMS AN AMAZING FEAT

Doctor Swings Baby by Heels While Rushing Through Gotham Streets in Auto, Saving Life.

New York.—By treatment so heroic that many persons who saw it thought the surgeon was demented, Dr. Burke of Bellevue hospital recently saved the life of Evan Killeen, nine months old. The baby was choking to death slowly from a jack which he had attempted to swallow, and which had lodged in his windpipe. Seated in an ambulance which was going through the east side streets at a 50-mile clip, Dr. Burke seized the baby by the heels, swung him head downward several times, and then began swirling him about his head. When the ambulance reached Twenty-third street and First avenue the surgeon heard something strike the bottom of the ambulance with a metallic ring. He also heard the baby give a gasp of relief.

Pausing in the heroic treatment which he was practicing, the surgeon looked toward the bottom of the ambulance, and was delighted to see the six-pronged piece of iron lying there. Then he took the baby tenderly in his arms and endeavored to make up by soothing treatment for all the necessary rough usage to which he had subjected the youngster since the race against death started. Little Evan was almost exhausted. The surgeon knew, however, his patient's life was saved, and that in a few hours he would be all right.

Play Indian; Burn Girl at Stake.

New York.—Little Annie Mackie, a pretty girl of six years, was burned terribly and will die because of the attempt of her chum, Johnny Mydosh, seven years old, to play Indian and see a paleface burned at the stake in Bayonne, N. J. The children were playing in the yard of Annie's home. Johnny played the part of a brave and claimed Annie as his captive. He crowded the child into a corner of the fence and held her with one hand and with the other struck a match. He applied the flame to the hem of her skirt, and in a moment the little one was a mass of flames.

A woman employed in the house heard the shrill cries of terror from little Annie and rushed to her with a bucket of water which she had picked up in the kitchen.

By this time Annie's clothes had been burned from her body, and her hair, which had been hanging loosely about her shoulders, had been burned off also.

The little one was hurried to the Bayonne hospital, where the physician said there was no chance of her recovery.

CHOOSSES PRISON TO SAVE SISTER

YOUNG TEXAN REFUSES TO BE SAVED AND DEMANDS PENITENTIARY SENTENCE.

KILLS RICH, CRUEL FATHER

From Judge to Jury, All Try to Set Slayer Free, But He Pleads Guilty to Prevent Humiliation of Girl.

Fort Worth, Tex.—Stephen Beasley began the serving of a five years' sentence in the Texas state prison the other day for the slaying of his father.

He need not have gone to prison, for every man, from judge to jury, who sat in judgment on him tried to set him free. But he chose the prison to save his sister the disgrace of telling why he slew his father.

The slaying was done in the older Beasley's cotton field a short time ago. It ended 20 years of such parental cruelty as has been seldom known in a civilized land.

Beasley, the father, was immensely wealthy. His cotton and yam fields extended for miles along the outskirts of Fort Worth.

But he never hired a man to till them. He forced his wife and five children to be his farmhands, and since they could first hold a hoe not one has remembered a day when he or she was not fayed to work by the blacksnake whip or the whiffletree. Three of these children were girls and on these Beasley vented his tyranny even more than on the boys.

Neighbors had known for years that none of them came home from the fields at night without a whipping at the hands of their brutal father, and screams issuing from the house in the night told plainly the story of a wife and mother beaten with the rawhide because she had been caught doctoring the wounds of her offspring after the father had sent them bleeding to bed.

The climax was approached recently when Beasley's wife was forced to flee for shelter to a neighbor, and when the young son, Stephen, ran away from the torture to take work with another farmer near-by. The next day one of the daughters, and yet 15 years old, escaped from the father's watch upon her and, staggering to the farmhouse where her mother was living, told a frightful tale of cruelty at her father's hand.

Deliberately Shot the Father Dead.

The mother got news of this to Stephen, her son, and the next day he had taken down his rifle and walked to his father's farm, where he hid behind a wall.

When Beasley appeared, riding a horse, his son raised his gun and deliberately shot the father dead. That same afternoon he gave himself up, declaring himself guilty of slaying his father.

A grand jury was impaneled and Stephen was indicted and brought to trial. There was not the slightest doubt of Stephen's acquittal. The crowd in the court room was there simply to cheer him and proclaim him a hero when he was set free.

But at the last moment Stephen heard that his sister would be forced to take the stand, and to save her humiliation he broke from the officers as he was brought into court, thrust aside his lawyer and shouted:

"I killed my father. I plead guilty to manslaughter, and I want to be sentenced to prison without a trial."

The judge, astonished, advised the prisoner to recall his plea.

"You are throwing away a chance of freedom," he said. "All of us know the story of this case. I think you would not be convicted if you put in a plea of not guilty."

"I plead guilty," persisted the boy. "I don't want to go to trial, and I demand a sentence."

Forced to accept the plea, the judge sent out the jury with an order to bring in a verdict of guilty. When the jurors came in their eyes were streaming.

"I sentence you to five years' in state's prison," pronounced the judge, "but I will be the first to sign a petition for your immediate pardon."

Hundreds of Fort Worth's best citizens cheered the lad as he started for the prison. It is believed he will be set free within a short time.

Max and Joe Brown have installed at the Ottawa Iron and Metal Co., a contrivance for cutting metal into sizable bits for the market. The machine is in the shape of a huge pair of shears which are operated by a seven and a half horse power electric motor. Small bits of metal can be stored in less space than larger ones and are also more convenient for the smelters.

A recital program was rendered as follows: Overture to William Tell, by the society orchestra; vocal solo, John Warnshuis; vocal duet, "O that we two were Maying," Miss Helene Keppel and Martin Dykema; piano solo, Miss Henrietta Warnshuis; humorous songs by Ray Hardy; piano solo, Arthur Huisinkveld; violin solo, Edward Steketee.

Aldermen Van den Berg, Dyke, and Lawrence, Otto P. Kramer and J. B. Hadden, the special city hall commission left Monday morning for a trip through some of the Michigan cities to inspect the various styles of architecture and interior plans of city halls throughout the state. Some of the cities which the committee plans to visit are Ionia, Lansing, Flint, Ann Arbor, Bay City and Saginaw. City Attorney A. Van Duren is accompanying the committee on the trip.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Leonard arrested Lee Smith an employe of the local shoe factory charging him with burglary and grand larceny in connection with the resort robberies which were reported this spring. The clue was a peculiar fishing rod which Deputy Leonard saw in Smith's possession Sunday. This was one of the articles taken from the Tromp cottage. A search of the Smith home revealed other valuables taken from the cottage. Deputy Sheriff Rhoda of Saugatuck took Smith to Allegan yesterday as the cottage was located over the boundary line. Smith claims that he bought the goods at an auction sale at Macatawa Park.

In spite of the fact that a reward of $50 is offered by the sheriff and an additional $50 by Fred Stratton for the recovery of the latter's horse and information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the thief no trace of either has been found. Last Friday afternoon Mr. Stratton let out the rig to a stranger who gave his name as Smith, saying that he wished to drive over to West Olive to get his wife and child. There is no evidence that the rig even went in the direction of West Olive as inquiry made by Mr. Stratton along the way failed to net results. The horse was a gray, nearly white and the buggy was a steel tired rig with maroon gear.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Salisbury came very nearly being killed by a determined burglar-hunting citizen of Spring Lake last Saturday evening. Sheriff Andre and Deputy Salisbury were stowed away in the Spring Lake post office waiting for a gang of safe blowers who were planning on doing a job there. Citizens became aware of the presence of someone in the office and organized a posse. One of the posse, H. B. Hanson made his way into the office and pointing a gun at the deputy, demanded to know what he was doing there. It was only the official badge of the deputy sheriff and the quickness of Sheriff Andre who called out in the nick of time that kept Hanson from firing. Mr. Hanson was shocked to think he had nearly shot at an officer. The officers remained in the post office until four o'clock in the morning but the robbers had evidently been frightened away by the fracas.

All teachers are urged to see her concerning the coming convention at Kalamazoo and to make arrangements to attend if possible, as matters of great importance to the profession will come before the association at that time.

Going into a strange house and helping himself to a bed was the offense with which Samuel Habbington, stone mason from Holland was charged Wednesday morning at Grand Rapids. He was brought in by Patrolman De Young, who said that when the family living at 11 Oakes street returned home they found the man asleep in a bedroom with his clothes on. He admitted that he was intoxicated but said his memory was a blank in regard to entering the house or going to bed. He was released on suspended sentence and sent home.

In order to carry through the principal feature of the entertainment planned for the Milwaukee merchants who come here in their train tomorrow noon for a two hour visit, the committee of the Merchant association in charge of the affair has issued an appeal to the owners of autos in this city to donate the services of their machines for the occasion. It is planned to take the visitors about the city in the autos in order to see Holland and then bring them back to the McKinley club rooms for a few short speeches by the visitors, allowing them to leave the city at 1 p. m.

About thirty young women were present at the meeting in the McKinley club rooms Monday evening which was called to discuss plans for the organizing of a ladies choral club. Nearly forty women plan to attend the opening rehearsal which will be held Monday evening. The singers present not deeming it prudent to proceed to organize, a committee of five was appointed to make a special effort during the coming week and urge all those who signified their intention of joining the chorus to be present next Monday night. The following committee was named: the Misses Jennie Brower, Reka Dalman, Phila Ederle, Elizabeth Rozeboom and Ida De Weerd.

The debate which was held in Winants Chapel last Thursday evening for the fifty dollar prize offered by the faculty was won by Verne Oggel and Henry Rottschaefer, each receiving $25. This was perhaps the best debate of the year. Each of the five young men who participated was well prepared and their work presented the question of government ownership of the railroads in every known aspect. Henry Rottschaefer and George Roost upheld the negative side of the question: "Resolved that the government should own the railroads" and the other three speakers, Verne Oggel, Grant Huikamp and Jacob Heimstra, the affirmative. The judges were A. J. Helmer, Geo. P. Hummer and Prof. F. D. Dimment.

Sooy Telling Ed Van Drezer How it Happened and Jimmy Westveld injected a sufficient amount of poison dope in the ball to meet the injunctions and habeas corpus proceedings of Case Vander Meulen and Dana Ten Cate, the opposing battery, the story might have been different.

bad bungle of a grounder in the sixth was the only thing that prevented a shut out. The Manhattans of Grand Rapids are to be the opponents of the Independents Saturday. The Manhattans are fast, last year playing a 4 to 3 thirteen inning game here which the Independents won.

Law also figured prominently in the making of the final score. Mortimer A. Sooy, in the fourth inning with the score a three to three tie, managed to get around to third base. An attempt was of course made then by "our business men" to keep him there. A "motion to quash" made by the attorney for the druggists was not sustained by the court, the trial went on and the verdict was finally rendered in favor of Mr. Sooy. The jury was out less than a minute and there was a great sensation in the court room when the verdict was announced.

Stephan, Inspecting the Game

Most of the sensations were produced by the semi pros. Casey Van der Meulen ran better than he did last spring and Editor Shackleton of the Sentinel displayed a knowledge of base ball that is unsurpassed. In brief this is what Mr. Shackleton knows about the great National game:

The Winning Run

Josephus Brown playing with "our business men" created a sensation, at one time, by doing a juggling stunt that looked for all the world as if he were playing with three balls at once.

On the Losing Side

Mayor Brusse who was an enthusiastic bleacherite stated that he was confident that the red hot liner that came from the bat of Manager Patton of the Gas company was traveling at a greater rate than 25,000,000 cubic feet per year.

Billy Witt, a Fan

Mayor P. T. McCarthy, of Bird Center, hearing that a big fight was on over on the diamond came with a large force of Bird Center policemen to quell the riot. Armed with all sorts of weapons the guardians of the public peace arrived on the scene only to find a bloodless ball game. The mayor used the weapons however by promptly "shooting a rat."

Congleton Bringing Home the Money

There is some talk of another clash between the same nines. Meanwhile we all remain proud of our two ball teams. The accompanying "half-tones" are produced from snapshots taken by a staff photographer before, after and during the game.
