Allegan Roads Aired at Heated Midnight Session

Remnants of Crowd Vote 42-36 To Increase Gas Tax Extra 2 Cents

Allegan (Special)—Allegan county roads weren't noticeably improved today, but a number of residents who attended a county forum Tuesday night felt they had taken a step toward solution of a critical situation.

About 250 persons attended a town meeting sponsored by the Allegan County Planning organization to hear state and county road officials explain why little more than "patch by patch" maintenance is in prospect for some time.

Moderated by the president, the Rev. Maxwell Brown, the session was kept lively by questions, complaints, and constructive suggestions from the crowd and finally broke up through sheer exhaustion at midnight.

The one concrete action of the evening was a 42 to 36 vote (taken after some persons had left) approving a motion urging the state legislature to vote a two-cent increase in the gasoline tax to be re-distributed to counties on a mileage basis.

There were pleas from A. O. Cuthbert, engineer director of the County Road association of Michigan, Jack Schaub, representing state highway commissioner Charles Ziegler, and Homer Ward, county road engineer, to understand the financial impossibilities involved in putting the roads in shape.

They cited the 37 per cent increase in revenue since the war compared to the 108 per cent increase in road maintenance and last spring's "worst break-up in history" as the underlying cause of the desperate situation.

To the local complaints and charges of employee loafing, County Engineer Ward invited personal conferences with the road commission and himself.

To the crowd's enjoyment, George Smith of Pullman claimed his road was getting too much care.

"The scrapers are going up and down all the time, wearing out the little gravel we've got," he declared. The trouble is, we've got ditches that are 10 inches higher than the road.

Poor drainage was the basis for many a gripe, to which Ward replied. It was a long range project requiring funds.

"We're not magicians, but we're still trying," he answered. He explained that the county is allowed $58 or slightly more at times for maintenance of county roads, including snow removal and placing of culverts.

Township residents came armed with a petition of 700 names asking replacement of the Williams bridge south of Allegan, a bridge which has been out two years. No action was taken.

3 Auto Mishaps Reported in City

Three traffic accidents were reported to city police Wednesday. No one was injured.

Charles Van Lente, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Van Lente, 433 Columbia Ave., was riding his bicycle when struck by a car driven by Joe Marfia, 32, of route 1, Fennville at 12:45 p.m. at 14th St. and Columbia Ave.

The Van Lente boy was bruised but otherwise unhurt, his mother said. Marfia said he didn't see the boy as he was making a left hand turn.

Care driven by Mrs. Harvey Bock, 22, of 34 West 22nd St., and Elmer De Frely, 20, of route 5, collided at the corner of 32nd St. and Columbia Ave. at 7:11 a.m. The Bock car received $150 damages, and the De Frely vehicle $200 damages police said.

Clarice Keel, 17, of 355 Harrison Ave., was the driver of a car which struck a vehicle driven by Edwin D. Roels, 16, of 143 West 20th St. at 12:05 p.m. at the corner of 16th St. and Pine Ave. Miss Keel was given a ticket for failure to yield right of way to through traffic. Her car received $150 damages, and the Roels car $125 damages, police said.

Park Attendance Dips During Cold Week-End

Attendance at Holland state park dipped during the week-end, according to figures revealed Monday by park director Clare Broad.

A total of 17,800 visitors entered the park Saturday and Sunday, Broad said. Of these, 9,800 came Sunday, and 8,000 Saturday.

"The picnic tables weren't used much," Broad said. Water temperatures Saturday of 50 degrees also discouraged any swimmers.

Air temperature today stood at 54 degrees, and water temperature was 54 degrees.

Storms Flood Streets; Olive Center Barn Hit

A barn was struck by lightning and destroyed in Olive Center during a severe thunderstorm Friday afternoon, but otherwise the Holland area suffered little damage in the intermittent thunder and rain storms which swept the area Friday.

Total rainfall of .98 inch was not excessive, but the periodic outbursts and heavy downpours flooded Holland streets at times and sent anxious persons inspecting their properties when lightning cracked dangerously near.

The Board of Public Works said

no power lines were damaged and the Bell Telephone Co. had only routine calls for repair service.

Lightning struck a large barn on the Cornie M. Vanden Bosch farm a quarter mile east of the Olive Center town hall at 4 p.m. Friday. The barn and its contents which included a huge supply of baled hay, all the farm tools, three heaters and 150 chickens were lost in the resulting blaze.

The Olive-Blenden fire department, which is housed at Borculo, responded and kept the blaze from spreading to other structures. A fortunate shift of wind kept the house safe. Earlier cloudbursts had made the yard soggy and one of the two fire trucks bogged down in the mud. It had to be emptied before it could be moved.

Mrs. Vanden Bosch was nursing a daughter ill of measles in one of the bedrooms on the opposite side of the house when the bolt hit the barn and did not see the fire. Albert Meengs, a neighbor, was the first to notice the fire and spread the alarm.

Also lost in the blaze was a child's new bicycle. Three horses were in a pasture nearby and had to be restrained from running to the burning barn. Losses will probably exceed $5,000. The family carried insurance.

At 8:45 p.m. Friday, lightning hit the Southside Christian school at 28th and Central. There appeared to be no fire, but the fire department answered a still alarm and investigation revealed the bolt had come through the soil pipe, resulting in two small holes in the plaster in a washroom.

Perhaps the least of anyone's worries was the final passing of the tulips. The last of the blooms were unable to withstand the beating rain storms, according to park department personnel.

Larceny Witness Demands Hearing

Ervin O'Connor, 97 Spruce Ave., demanded an examination when brought before Park township Justice C. C. Wood Monday on a charge of perjury. Hearing was set for June 20 at 2 p.m., and O'Connor posted $2,000 property bond.

The perjury charge, preferred by Prosecutor Wendell A. Miles, grows out of testimony in a larceny case at Grand Haven circuit court in April.

Also appearing before Justice Wood Monday was Blas Duran, of Hudsonville, who pleaded guilty to stealing a watch. The offense occurred Saturday in Georgetown township.

The watch was recovered and returned to its owner, Duran paid $30 fine and $8.20 costs.

In Municipal Court Saturday, Ray Trevan, of Muskegon, pleaded not guilty to an assault and battery charge. Trial was set by Judge Cornelius vander Meulen for June 9 at 10 a.m.

Trevan was released on his own recognizance. Albert Streu signed the complaint.

Three-Car Accident Reported Wednesday

Nobody was injured in a three-car accident at 17th St. and River Ave. at 9:05 p.m. Wednesday.

Leslie Hill, 37, of 230 West 21st St., was driving through the intersection with the green light, and James G. Van Valkenburgh, 30, of 192 East 31st St., was stopped to make a left turn.

A 1934 car driven by Orin F. Hall, 16, of route 1, ran the red light hitting both cars. Hall told Holland police his brakes wouldn't work. He was given a ticket for driving with defective brakes and for running a red light.

Hope Alumni Get Set For 50-Year Reunion

Six members of the Hope college class of 1900 will answer the school bell at Alumni day June 13 during commencement week.

The class of 1900 originally had 16 members. But, just eight are living. The two who will not attend the reunion live in the states of Washington, and each blames his non-attendance on his wife's health—she can't travel that far. "But if they happen to drop in, we'll be glad to have them," Judge Cornelius vander Meulen, who arranged the get-together said.

Those planning to attend are the Rev. Sears F. Riepma of Springfield, Mo.; the Rev. Harry P. Boot, 408 College Ave., Holland; the Rev. Abraham D. De Young, 432 River St., Allegan; Gerhard J. Dinkeloof, of Highland, Ill.; the Rev. John H. Straks, of Sanborn, Iowa; and Judge vander Meulen, 198 West 11th St.

The other two living members of the class of 1900 are the Rev. Henry Huenebaum, of Lynden, Wash., and the Rev. A. B. Van Zante, of Seattle.

"I think that's pretty good," the judge said. "I heard from all eight of the surviving members, and 75 per cent of them will be here."

The program for the day is simple. At 11 a.m., they will meet at Grave's library and take a short drive through town before luncheon at the Homestead. After lunch, the party will adjourn to the vander Meulen home to visit and reminisce. To top the day, the class will attend the annual alumni dinner at Temple hall at 6:30.

It is interesting to note that six of the surviving class members are ministers. Of the 16 original group, 10 became ministers or missionaries.

Deceased members of the class were:

The Rev. Albertus Brook, who served in eastern churches and is buried in Holland; Dr. Almon T. Godfrey, who taught at Hope and whose widow lives here; the Rev. Gerrit Hondelink, who served in eastern churches; the Rev. Leonard L. Legers, a former missionary in the southwest; the Rev. S. C. Netting, former president of Western seminary and whose widow lives here; Prof. William Rinck, who taught at Calvin college in Grand Rapids; John D. Tanks, another former teacher; and the Henrietta (Zwemer) Worthington, the only female member of the class, a sister of Mrs. Netting, and wife of a missionary.

Editors Schedule Re-Dedication At Plymouth Rock

Idea Is to Focus Attention of Nation On Basic Freedoms

Chicago (UP)—Some 500 weekly and small daily newspaper publishers from over the nation plan a pilgrimage to Plymouth Rock this month to re-dedicate themselves to the "simple virtues" of the Pilgrims.

The trek to the famed rock on the Massachusetts coast will be made June 26 after the conclusion of the 65th annual convention of the National Editorial association. The convention will be held at Providence, R. I., June 16-20.

The NEA plans two post-convention tours for members, one through New England and the other to Nova Scotia.

But the spotlight will be focused on ambitious plans for what the NEA hopes will be a national re-dedication program during the month of June.

The association said that its members are urging state governments to issue proclamations for the occasion, and that 25 chief executives have responded, including Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

The pilgrimage, the NEA said, is designed to "focus the attention of the entire nation on the fundamental philosophy of the Pilgrim ancestors who came to an unknown land to establish the basic freedoms which were to become the foundation stones of a new nation."

It said that the idea of the rural press re-dedicating itself to the ideals of the nation's founding ancestors came from Guy Easterly, publisher of a weekly paper at LaFollette, Tenn., who made the proposal at a fall meeting of the NEA last November. The organization promptly adopted a resolution outlining its re-dedication plans.

NEA president Joe T. Cook of Mission, Tex., appointed Lester Williams, publisher of the Columbia Progress of Columbia, Miss., and Howard N. Fowler, editor of the Mansfield, Mass. News as co-chairmen of a committee to arrange the Plymouth Rock program.

Present plans call for Alan MacIntosh, publisher of the Luverne, Minn., Rock County Star-Herald, to deliver the re-dedication address at the rock.

State Clears Up Fees for Parks

Lansing (Special)—Moving to spike incorrect reports, the conservation department's parks division states there is no admission or parking charge collected at any one of the 60 state parks and recreation areas.

Several new accounts referring to the 50-cent camping charge—which becomes effective June 15 in those parks where tent or trailer camping is available—have led many persons to believe that fees would be collected from park users. For the average park user, park officials emphasize, there are absolutely no charges with which to contend.

To help meet park operating costs, the conservation commission recently approved a camping charge for tent and trailer camp users of 50 cents-per-day per camp.

Planning Session Set For Extension Program

Allegan (Special)—Recommendations for the county extension program for the coming year will be made at a meeting of the five program planning committees and the extension staff Wednesday night, June 7, in Griswold auditorium.

Changes in the 1950 and 1951 program will be necessary due to the transfer of assistant agent Earl Haas to Oceana county where he will become county agent, Allegan county agent A. D. Morley said. The program will have to be curtailed somewhat until an appointment is made to fill his place here.

At Wednesday's meeting, an executive committee will be selected to co-ordinate the entire extension program for this and next year.

Camp Reservations Flowing in Early

Reservations at two Boy Scout summer camps are coming in early, according to Lewis Kimball, camp committee chairman.

Camp Ottawa on Pettit lake is more than half filled for each of its three periods, and Camp Shawanodoc on Duck lake has filled several of its seven periods. Enrollments already on file at the Grand Valley council office surpass the total enrollment of the 1949 season, Kimball said.

A total registration of more than 1,200 scouts is expected in the two council camps.

The phaeton with the fringe on top—vintage 1900 but still operating in 1950—rolled through Holland streets Wednesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Hub Boone, of route 2, plan to be using this conveyance quite a bit this summer for pleasure driving. The wagon is 40 years old. Boone said that everybody gives them plenty of time and room on the highway. "Cars pull up behind us and don't want to pass," he said. "They want to look a while." The Boones are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary June 21 with an open house. "The rig reminds us of our younger days," Boone said. Incidentally, this is not a survey; it is a phaeton. (Sentinel photo)

Former Resident Dies as Lightning Hits Chair Spring

Accidents Linked With Thunderstorms Late Friday Evening

A Holland man was killed in an auto crash near Grand Rapids Saturday and a former Holland man was killed by lightning Friday night in his Grand Rapids home.

The dead are Carl Meyer, 36, of 46 East 20th St., Holland, and John Eding, Jr., 36, of 3445 Birchwood S.W. Grand Rapids, who had lived in Holland until 12 years ago.

Both fatalities were associated with the lightning and thunderstorms which swept western Michigan, accompanied by heavy intermittent rains.

Meyer was killed when his 1946 model car went out of control on a slippery curve on M-21 in the vicinity of the Wyoming park gravel pits and struck a tree while it was raining at 2 a.m. He was traveling alone and returning to Holland. The car was a total wreck. Wyoming park city police investigated.

The accident occurred near Burlingame Rd. and Chicago Dr. Meyer was born Feb. 14, 1912, in Holland. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Meyer and was employed as steward for the Eagles.

Surviving are the wife, the former Evelyn Pathols of Holland; a son, Billy, 9; a sister, Mrs. Joe Huff of Holland and his parents.

Eding was killed instantly when a bolt of lightning flashed down the telephone wires of his home, blew the phone from the wall and jumped to the springs of a lounge chair where Eding was reading. He had been listening to the baseball game and had just moved to the large chair. His wife, Frances, who was in another room, was uninjured.

Eding was born in Zeeland and grew up in the Holland area. He moved to Grand Rapids some 12 years ago and was employed by General Motors.

Surviving are the wife, two brothers, Arthur Eding, 22, West First St., Holland, and Alfred of Grand Haven, and four sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Gilbert of 105 Columbia Ave., Ave., Holland, Mrs. Henry Slighter of Grand Haven, Mrs. A. W. Johnson of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. Harold Samsen of Northford, W. Va.

His father, John Eding, Sr., died last February.

Christian School Drive Advances

Results after two nights of campaigning show a total of $115,000 already contributed or pledged to the Holland Christian high school expansion drive, it was announced today by campaign officials.

The goal for the week-long campaign is $185,000. Although there is no official figure on the percentage of the returns already received, officials point out that the "big" nights of the campaign have been totalling.

Eighteen churches in the Holland-Zeeland area and more than 650 workers are taking part in the campaign. The funds for the drive are slated to be used for an addition to the present high school.

Workers and captains are reporting each night this week through Friday when the final returns are expected to be compiled.

Dog Hailed to Court; Draws Probation Term

There's a certain collie dog in Holland who will have to watch his step for a while—or rather, watch his barking. He's on probation from Municipal Court for creating a nuisance.

Neighbors signed a complaint charging the collie with "loud, frequent and habitual" barking causing a "serious annoyance."

Collie himself didn't go to court, but his mistress and her six children did. Their pleas to Judge Cornelius vander Meulen brought the probation sentence instead of a less drastic one. "After all," the judge said, "who wants to take a children's pet away from them."

The family will have to keep the dog from barking and annoying neighbors under conditions of the probation, which is indefinite.

Incidentally, officers had a little trouble serving the warrant. The writ was made out to the father of the family as owner of the dog. But one member of the family held that the warrant should have gone to the dog. After all, she reasoned, he was doing the barking—not the father.

Changes Plea

Benjamin Karsten, route 2, Zeeland, changed his plea to guilty on a charge of failure to slaughter cattle bought for that purpose within the 10-day limit, and paid $10 fine and $7.70 costs in Municipal Court Tuesday. The case was brought at a Beldon township session April 15. Karsten originally pleaded innocent.

Allegan Welfare Boy Threatens Agent With Gun

Allegan (Special)—A 15-year-old boy who threatened the county welfare agent with an unloaded gun will be given a probation order hearing June 16, Judge Harold Weston said today.

The judge said the youth had been placed on probation earlier for incorrigibility, and would be charged with breaking that probation.

Psychiatrists who tested the youth Monday reported the lad mentally responsible for his acts, although a playmate earlier told Judge Weston the boy had ambitions one day to become a missionary, and the next, a gangster.

Helen Miles, welfare agent in the probate office, said that when she called at the boy's home to check on his reported truancy from school, he pointed a .38 caliber automatic pistol at her and ordered her to get in the back seat of her car.

He told his friend to drive the car, but when the pal refused, the youth got behind the wheel himself. Meanwhile, Miss Miles slipped out of the car while the boy drove into some sand and got stuck. He came back and asked the agent to get the car out, but she instead walked to a neighbor and telephoned for sheriff's officers.

Before deputies could reach the scene, the boy hitchhiked into town and gave himself up.

Holland Christian Opens Campaign To Enlarge School

Expansion Program Lists New Rooms At 20th St. Site

Communities in the Holland-Zeeland area officially launched their $185,000 Holland Christian high school expansion campaign at a "kickoff" banquet held in the Christian high gym Friday night. A total of 500 men crowded into the gym for the dinner. These workers along with 150 additional men will solicit funds this week—designated as campaign week.

The campaign to be conducted in Holland, Zeeland and surrounding areas will attempt to raise funds for an addition to the present high school on 20th street. Included in the proposed addition will be music rooms, vocational rooms, a study hall and other rooms.

Supt. Bert P. Bos, speaking on the need, said, "We must build this addition to eliminate present over-crowded conditions, to provide for a constantly increasing enrollment . . . and to reduce the size of other academic classes as required by the University of Michigan and the North Central association of Colleges and Secondary schools."

Feature address of the banquet was given by the Rev. Peter Eldersveld, radio minister of the Christian Reformed churches in America and Canada. Speaking on the subject, "What's Going On Here," he cited evidence of trends in the world that turn to religion.

He said, world leaders are "having a change of mind" and are looking to Christianity for answers to their problems. In a challenge to the workers, he said, "A campaign such as this is the answer to these problems." He went on to emphasize the importance of the campaign saying "it is one of the biggest projects that you men can undertake."

William Boer, chairman of the school finance committee, served as chairman of the meeting. In his opening remarks, Boer spoke briefly on the campaign slogan, "Forward in Faith." Benjamin Staal, chairman of the campaign organization, introduced team captains and workers from the various churches.

He said that 18 churches in this area are taking part in the campaign. In a brief ceremony, Staal also officially welcomed the large delegation of Zeeland workers as "co-laborers" in the local school drive, with the assurance that they are considered an integral part of Holland Christian high school.

It was also announced that the Monica Aid school society donated the first check of the campaign, amounting to $100. The amount represented the profits of serving the banquet. The dinner was donated by private individuals.

Other numbers on the program included vocal and instrumental elections. Cornie Karsten of Zeeland led in group singing. The Rev. Louis Voskuil, president of the board of trustees, gave the invocation and the Rev. Oliver Breen, vice president led in closing prayer.

Note from Mayor Of Rotterdam Reaches Holland

Letter Thanks Legion For Kindness Shown Sending Children Toys

Do you remember the drive for toys sponsored by the American Legion just after Christmas last year?

The Legion conducted the drive for toys to be sent to European children as a supplemental example of democracy in action. Legion officials sought to reach the children with kindness. All toys collected in Holland were earmarked for the Netherlands.

And did you ever wonder if the toys you gave reached the Netherlands?

Commander Harry F. Kramer received a personal letter from P. J. Oud, burgemeester of Rotterdam, thanking him and the Legion for the "Tide of Toys." The letter reads in part:

"An attractive subject forces itself on me, namely the care taken by the United States of the children in Europe, particularly the children in the Netherlands.

"The aid rendered in accordance with the Marshall plan, though of a temporary nature, is intended for the future as well. For its object is to help the Netherlands in order to enable it to help itself economically and to offer a decent living for its numerous population. Children do not know of this either; they fail to understand a great part of it.

"But the idea of the American Legion has immediately met with response. The toys were extremely welcome and for the young ones, they were a tangible proof of the favorable disposition toward Europe so many times shown by the United States. Therefore I am highly pleased that I may thank you once more in the name of the children of the Netherlands.

"Please accept also my sincere thanks for the token of friendship offered to me. I appreciated it very much.

A pair of wooden shoes was sent to Mayor Oud by the Holland Legion post.

One ton of toys was shipped from Holland, Kramer said. He also pointed out that a similar Tide of Toys will be conducted again this year.

Other Deer Take Part in Holland Wildlife Drama

The deer that visited Holland Monday were by no means the only actors in the little wildlife drama in and about the local area. Additional stories cropped up after the adventures of the pair that swam Lake Macatawa to return to the wild were printed in Monday's Sentinel.

Perhaps the most dramatic was the story of the chase for a third such animal at Montello park.

It appears a third deer ambled into the area shortly after the first pair was seen in the vicinity of the Boter home. The young spikehorn, however, did not follow the others and after jumping over the wash in the Ray Scholten yard, somehow got trapped in the fence of the Montello park school yard.

Excited youngsters took chase and eight-year-old Dickie Topp managed to grab hold of one hind leg before the young buck took over the fence dragging Dickie part of the way and tearing his shirt. The buck bounded over to Dunn's woods, and a crowd of about 50 youngsters with ropes and BB guns took off in wild pursuit. They found the tracks, but no deer.

Lou Por, living east of Holland on 16th St. near the cemetery, said two very young deer went through his orchard Monday morning.

Ray Van De Vusse, living at Virginia park, saw four deer the same morning. Gerrit Bax, mail carrier, saw two deer this morning near his home in Waukazoo.

The individual star of the meet was big Ron Van Dyke of Lincoln, who scored a grand slam in the class A boys division. He ran the 40 yard dash in 5.6 seconds; high jumped 4' 7"; and threw the softball 185 feet for his best performance of the day.

The softball throw is the best ever recorded in the 20 years these meets have been held. Keith Ter Beek of Van Raalte, crowded Van Dyke in two events but fell behind in the dash and did not place.

Other first place winners for class B and C respectively were: Daah—James Moss, Lincoln and George Volmer, Froebel; ball throw—Charles Hill, Lincoln and George Volmer, Froebel; and high jump—Bill Kraai, Washington and Bill Winter, Longfellow tied in class B and Dale Dams of Van Raalte.

Individual certificates for placing in the city track meets as well as ribbons for the teams will be presented to the winning schools during their assemblies. Letter certificates based on a testing program will be awarded. This testing program culminated with the all-city track meets. Awards will be presented to bar, hopscotch, marbles, softball and kickball champions.

The Need for Repentance
Zephaniah 1:12-18; 3:16-20
By Henry Geerlings

Zephaniah like Habakkuk will be found to have points of resemblance to the prophet Jeremiah; and this not merely in the fact that the Chaldeans are the enemy of both, but also in their setting forth the blessedness reserved for Jerusalem when the judgement of Jehovah shall have been executed upon the nations. But there is a difference between the two lesser prophets; and it is this that Zephaniah in treating of the glory of God is much more external while Habakkuk dwells far more on the exercises of heart with God's answer to his people than later. Jeremiah's prophecy abounds in internal exercises of heart and here Habakkuk resembles him; we see his grief and hear his complaints and laments to Jehovah when evil was allowed to prevail. On the other hand he shows us the divine execution of judgement which will set aside the Gentile nations and reduce the people of God to their true place in order being abased in heart they may be exalted outwardly.

Another fact adding significance to the messages of these prophets is that during the reign of Josiah there was a great revival and information among the people. When he was only sixteen years old he began to seek after the Lord. He purged the land of idolatry, repaired the temple, restored the worship and taught the people the law. On the surface it looked as if the nation had received a great spiritual lift the effects of which would last a long time. But it proved to be superficial and temporary.

The topic that is given us for this lesson is the need for repentance. And considering the state of Judah at this time the topic is exceedingly pertinent. The prophet does not use the word repent but he shows the need and urges the people to seek the Lord in a right heart. And that leads us to believe that a brief study of the Bible meaning of repentance will be profitable and timely now. This doctrine like all Bible doctrines is to be studied in the light of the whole Bible.

One meaning of the word is sorrow for something done but sorrow after the deed, but sorrow after the deed, regret. The regret may be of a godly sort leading to true repentance, or it may be a regret that leads to no moral change. The other word means a change of mind, a change of thinking, a change of conception. It means that a new direction is given to the moral life. The word repent does not primarily refer to the emotional life, though popularly it is supposed to. It is first of all an intellectual activity. Light comes first; truth is apprehended and assented to, a decision is made and a settled purpose is pursued.

A further illustration of the meaning of repentance as a change of mind is found in the book of Romans. Paul shows that there are two minds that can dominate the life of a person. They are the mind of the flesh and the mind of the spirit. We are subject to either one, depending on our choice. And the word mind here means a moral choice and purpose. We are born with the mind of the flesh. When we repent and change our minds we have the mind of the spirit.

In preaching repentance and in looking for its appearance in the lives of men we must not expect to find that it follows one set rule. In the Scriptures we have the records of many notable men of God who differed widely in their experiences. Repentance with some may be accompanied by a sudden revolutionary crisis; with others it may be so slow that it is almost imperceptible. Take the case of Moses. When he was born his parents saw that he was a proper child. They brought him up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. His crisis came when he decided to leave the court of Pharaoh and join his brethren. But that was a decision for service. He had a robust faith in God at that time. No record of repentance though he had certainly changed from the mind of the flesh to the mind of the spirit. And in the same category we can place Joseph, Samuel, David, Timothy and many others.

On the other hand we have records of sudden cases of repentance in the Bible. Paul's change of mind was sudden. The moment that Christ was revealed to him, his mind was changed and the whole manner of his life and service was reversed. His repentance was sudden, complete and permanent. Zaccheus was another whose conversion was sudden and sincere and effective. He was a self-confessed sinner. He was curious to see Jesus. The moment Jesus called to him he responded with haste and received Jesus into his house joyfully.

We generally associate the idea of repentance with the sinner in his first contact, savingly, with God. But the saint may have occasions to repent too. He may through ignorance, weakness or perversity embark on a wrong course of life, not according to the walk or conduct of a Christian. When he comes to himself or when his fault is brought to his attention he must change his mind and his conduct. David was such an example. And we all have occasions to repent and turn to God again and again.

Two Deer Visit Holland And Create Sensation

Two visitors—four legged and fleet of foot — visited Holland Monday and created quite a sensation.

The two young deer were first reported seen near the Boter home on South Shore drive, headed for Holland.

The next telephone call (and the Sentinel always welcomes such calls) placed the visiting pair in the vicinity of Bohn Aluminum plant. The next call placed them east of the Heinz warehouse headed north.

The next spotting point was near the former Sugar Beet Co. and the deer were headed straight for Kollen park.

At that point, the Sentinel assigned photographer Art Sas to try to get a shot of the deer. The next good friend of the Sentinel to place a call reported that the deer were at Kollen park and had gone into the water about 30 feet.

By the time Sas arrived at the park with his camera, interested fishermen reported the two deer had taken off into the water somewhere in the vicinity of the Harrington docks and swam across Lake Macatawa. In the crossing, they were about a short city block apart.

Next calls came from the Beechwood area where the deer had landed, and gone through the woods and crossed a clearing near the school.

Photographer Sas picked up the trail at the woods but couldn't find the deer which by then had headed north into less populated areas.

Even the police were rung into the act—but on a wrong note. At 9:32 a.m. headquarters received a call from a woman saying three deer were loose on West 22nd St., and were headed for town. Officer Dennis Ende and Deputy Clayton Forry kept a watchful eye from their cruiser for wandering deer—but found neither deer nor steer.

There was one other minor sensation this morning—a jet plane whizzed over Holland leaving a white smoky trail which remained in a wide arc for a long time.

Last week the Sentinel received a call about a huge rainbow ring around the sun.

News of Interest to Western Michigan Farm Operators

Water Rights Must Be Defined to Save Irrigation in State

Use of Lakes, Streams As Source Is Growing Concern to Farmers

Irrigation may involve Michigan farmers in a maze of legal entanglements in future years unless the legislature acts to define water rights, according to Raleigh Barlowe, agricultural economist at Michigan State college.

Barlowe says there is "a growing concern among farmers investing in costly irrigation equipment." Those who pump water from sub-surface sources are on pretty safe ground. But 60 per cent of the irrigators use surface sources such as lake or streams, he reports. Their rights are much more questionable.

"The only basis we have to go on now is the record of court action," Barlowe pointed out, "but a study of Michigan court decisions indicates that the surface water rights question is still far from settled."

Such uncertainty is unfair to the farmer who has already invested or who is considering investments in irrigation equipment. The farmer "deserves to know" whether he will be able to use this equipment once he buys it.

The farm irrigator now faces these three risks, listed by Barlowe:

1-Michigan has no laws regarding irrigation. The farmer has no assurance of how courts will decide a new case—if they will recognize irrigation as an acceptable use of lake and stream water at all.

2-The irrigator is subject to court action started by other water users who might seek injunctions against the use of stream or lake waters for irrigation on the ground that this use is detrimental to their own activities.

3-There is no system of priorities. Even if irrigation is sanctioned by the courts, an irrigator may be without water if someone upstream draws the water for his own use.

Marketing Poultry Poses Problems

When is the best time for a producer to market poultry?

This question comes often to A. D. Morley, Allegan county agricultural agent. He cites some information from Henry Larzelere, agricultural economist at Michigan State college, to help answer the problem.

Marketing poultry—chicken in particular—involves two aspects, the economist points out. One is the sale of hens ready for culling and the other is the sale of young males. The sale of these males has expanded with development of the broiler industry.

Wise poultrymen will remember that the prices for fowls are usually lower in the last seven months of the year than in the first five, he says. It is advantageous to cull more closely in the spring months. Having early hatched chicks will help keep the flock in a profitable condition.

Postal Receipts Rise During May

May receipts totaled $33,876, an increase of $1,156 over similar period in 1949, which adds up to $32,720. The gain was 3.5 per cent.

The first five months of 1950 show a 14.2 per cent gain over the first five months of last year. This year's total was $170,166, a gain of $21,155 over 1949's figure of $149,011.

Although the gain isn't as large for May as for previous months, Postmaster Harry Kramer pointed out, it is still a "healthy gain."

Navy Blue Now Used For Home Furnishings

Navy blue, long a favorite in the apparel field, is currently winning wide acceptance from home furnishings stylists.

The particular shade used for decorative fabrics and rugs is a clear, bright hue of navy, and combines beautifully with grays, beiges, yellow, lighter shades of blue, flame, tangerine, certain shades of green, and, of course with white.

Contemporary in feeling it is especially effective when used with light woods. Practical and a "good-mixer," navy is here to stay.

Grass Day Set For Area Farmers

Grass Days are conducted to bring farmers up-to-date on the establishment, management, harvesting, and utilization of higher yielding forage of better quality.

Allegan County Publishes Map Naming All Roads

House Numbering Plan Scheduled; Sign Posts Too Costly at Present

Allegan (Special)—After last week-end rural Allegan county residents are able to figure out within seconds their new address by number, street, avenue or road. With the publishing of a new county road map Friday, each road in the county is identified for the first time.

The new map, the first published since 1939, has numbered each north-south road at half-mile intervals by streets, starting with First St., and ending on the lake-shore with 74th St. East-west roads are avenues, starting 101 and with 147th Ave. bordering the northern county line.

Diagonal roads have names, some of them the old familiar terms now adopted officially, and some with brand new names selected from a list of early residents.

Now, for instance, a farmer living in section 27 in Martin township, may find his address is 410 114th Ave.

Before the plan is complete, however, signposts must be erected on the roads, a project the county road commission considers too costly. A few townships already are planning to put up signs, and others probably will follow. The power company which serves many rural areas is scheduling a house-numbering plan for its use which will greatly aid travelers as well.

The map, drawn by Ralph Johnson, county road assistant engineer, assisted by Joe Van Arnum, formerly with the Allegan Chaussee of Commerce, shows a few changes other than the road numbering. The state forest is definitely outlined; swampy areas are identified by special markings; townships have stronger boundaries shown.

Each lake is identified by name. Benheim in Overisel township has been added as a town, but Monteth near Martin, Kellogg Station and Flak, both north of Otsego, were dropped.

Just before going to press, the road commission checked on the official status of famed Singapore road, near Saugatuck. Litigation over the question of whether the road is county property or a private lane belonging to David A. Bennett, is waiting a decision from Circuit Judge Raymond A. Smith. Since his opinion is not filed, Singapore road remained on the map.

Lacking any definite term for a number of diagonal roads, Johnson chose to use president's names—picking short ones for short roads; longer ones for longer highways. Thus the length of the highway crossing the county from Holland to Plainwell has become Lincoln Rd. Washington Rd. goes from Saugatuck to Holland on US-31. From South Haven to Saugatuck it will be known as Adams Rd.

Combine School Date Announced

L. R. Arnold, Ottawa county agricultural agent, has set June 13 for the open-air pre-harvest combine school. It will start at 1 p.m. at the Berlin Fair grounds. In case of rain, buildings will be available to discuss various subjects.

The program is as follows: 1. The crops specialist will discuss time of harvest, simple methods of testing for moisture, characteristics of moisture damage, storage management, and the influence of clipping of clover on seed production.

2. The agricultural engineering specialist will discuss the principles of combining, general care and operation of the combine, grain losses, trouble-shooting of grain losses, and harvesting of small seeds.

3. For this portion of the program, local farm implement dealers are invited to participate by bringing a combine, either new or used, to the meeting and have a local shop man, blockman, or company representative available to discuss care, operation, and adjustment of that particular make of machine.

Power Rate Up At Grand Haven

Grand Haven — Grand Haven power users face a five to 10 cent per month increase on their bills as result of an overall increase in electric rates approved by the Board of Public Works Friday.

More revenue is needed to meet increasing basic operating costs, Supt. J. Bryan Sims said. It was estimated the increase will be two per cent of the gross revenue, and will net the city $8,000. Wage increases granted employees in May will absorb most of it, the board reported.

The adjustment has been divided as follows: power $2,454, commercial lighting $1,179, and residential consumption $4,312.

The new rate needs approval of City Council, which meets tonight, and probably will become effective June 1, and applied to billings due July 20.
