Chicago Company Buys Local Plant; Will Employ 100

W. J. Bradford Co.
Will Move Operations
To Baker Co. Building

W. J. Bradford, Paper Co. of Chicago is new owner of the Baker Furniture Co. factory building at 16th St. and Van Raalte Ave. The deal to transfer ownership was completed Monday by the First National Bank and was announced by William J. Bradford, president and owner, through the Holland Chamber of Commerce.

The Bradford company manufactures interior packing items for boxes and crates. Eventually the firm will provide employment for upward of 100 persons, Bradford said. However, the complete moving process from Chicago to Holland is expected to take almost two years, depending for a good part on world conditions.

"About a dozen key personnel will move to Holland from Chicago with the company," Bradford said. "The rest of the labor force will be recruited locally."

Machinery will be moved from Chicago and some new machinery will be built for the Holland factory, Bradford said. Also the new occupant is making and will make a few minor changes in the physical set-up at the plant, such as widening a few doors, etc.

The Bradford company has been in business for 27 years in Chicago, starting in 1924. The firm ships orders throughout the country, using motor truck facilities. That's one of the big reasons for selecting Holland as a permanent home.

Bradford will be commuting between Holland and Chicago during the next two years and his son will oversee operations in Holland as they build up to capacity. The local plant provides 35,000 feet of floor space.

Offers $2,500 for City Wading Pool

An offer from the Junior Welfare League for $2,500 to build a wading pool for children in Holland was gratefully accepted by Common Council at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

Plans for the project were outlined to aldermen by Mrs. Stuart Padnos, member of the League, who explained the League had approached the Recreation commission three months ago with the project.

Mrs. Padnos explained the League did not as yet have the entire $2,500 but that it was scheduled several projects to raise the necessary funds. The League made no specification as to the location or supervision but said it had carefully investigated construction of wading pools in Grand Rapids and believed $2,500 would be sufficient. No chlorination would be necessary, it was said.

Alderman Raymond Holwerda was enthusiastic about the offer and suggested the city manager and city engineer draw up plans immediately. Final motion endorsing the project was made by Alderman Bernice Bishop, seconded by Alderman Tony, Peerbolt.

City Clerk Clarence Greengood suggested the funds be handled through the Greater Holland Community Foundation and that if $2,500 should not be sufficient for the project, perhaps trustees could interest other persons in additional contributions.

Wednesday's meeting lasted 2 1/2 hours involved dozens of separate items of business covering a wide range of activities during a space of three weeks.

One item of business that involved dozens of separate items of business covering a wide range of activities during a space of three weeks.

One item of business that involved considerable discussion was a request from Crampton Manufacturing Co. to close Harrison Ave. between 12th and 13th Sts. to allow necessary expansion of the plant because of war contracts.

A separate petition called for closing an east-west alley in that block, signed by property owners in the area. After considerable discussion on both subjects, council voted to delay action a week to allow a special committee to investigate and report back at an adjourned meeting a week hence. The time arrangement would still allow that necessary 30 days before a public hearing set for July 18.

Alderman A. W. Hertel suggested no action be taken immediately because few aldermen were aware of how much is involved in such a project, and suggested the special committee to report back at the special session. Mayor Harry Harrington said he would appoint the committee later.

All aldermen were present. Alderman Anthony Nienhuis gave the invocation.

He married Mamie Lokker and was a druggist for several years. He was a member of the Masonic lodge at Hart and the Blue lodge.

Surviving are the wife; three daughters, Mrs. Walter Pepples of Kalamazoo, Mrs. Leary of Hastings and Mrs. Edward Teifer of Detroit; six grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Mable Wakefield of Milwaukee, Wis. and Mrs. Jennie Reynolds of Port Huron.

Contagions Reach 215 Cases During Month of May

A total of 215 cases of contagious diseases hit Holland during May, Common Council was informed Wednesday night.

According to Health Inspector Ben Wiersma, there were 162 cases of measles, 14 of scarlet fever, six of chicken pox, two of whooping cough, 28 cases of mumps and three of German measles.

The building inspector's report for May listed 73 building permits, 77 heating permits and one sign permit. The fire inspector's report listed 390 inspections and 39 warnings.

A letter from the Board of Public Works acknowledged receipt of a Council communication pertaining to the fluoridation of water. The letter said the staff has been instructed to investigate the feasibility of the project and cost of installation and maintenance.

Council approved a BPW request for awarding a contract for the turbine foundation superstructure at the new plant addition to the David L. Green Construction Co. for $19,041. The mayor and clerk were instructed to sign the contract after approval by the BPW and city attorney.

Approval was given a recommendation by the city engineer to construct sidewalks on the east side of Harrison Ave. between 19th and 20th and on the south side of 19th east from Harrison Ave., and on the north side of 20th east from Harrison Ave. to connect with walks already constructed.

The city manager and city engineer were instructed to confer with Hope college authorities in connection with removing temporary housing units which under the present arrangement should be removed on or before July 1.

The city manager was instructed to contact the Holland township board about possibilities of constructing a sidewalk on the south side of 16th St. in the vicinity of the Heinz Co. after a study revealed that a walk on the south side would be more feasible.

Alderman Anthony Nienhuis said he had received several complaints about smoke nuisance from dump fires in his ward. Manager McClintock said he had investigated dump fires along with Fire Chief Andrew Klompars and neither could recommend the proper solution. McClintock said fire smolders underneath the debris. It could be bulldozed out, or a sand layer might be placed. He suggested that a hydrant be fitted with a small hose so that maintenance men might be able to control small fires. Such an arrangement, however, requires supervision and would necessitate a new schedule.

Westrate Resigns From BPW Helm Effective June 16

Superintendent Gives Reasons for Quitting
In Letter to Council

Board of Public Works Superintendent Millard C. Westrate submitted his letter of resignation to Common Council Wednesday night.

After the letter was read, on motion of Alderman Robert Vischer, council voted to accept the resignation and file the letter.

Westrate has been superintendent on a temporary basis since the retirement of Abe Nauta May 1. Previous to that time, he was assistant superintendent for the last six and one-half years.

He will terminate his employment for the BPW June 16. Following is the complete text of his letter:

Gentlemen:
It is with mixed feelings of regret, disappointment and appreciation that I find it necessary to terminate my employment with the Board of Public Works due to circumstances beyond my control.

The appreciation is for the confidence given me by the board which has made it possible to have the authority necessary for the responsibility. Also the appreciation is for the splendid cooperation of all the employees who have made it possible to carry on the tremendous amount of work involved in operating the various utilities and giving the utmost in reliability and service.

The disappointments are the inability to complete and enjoy the projects started in the expansion of the James De Young steam plant and the improvements to the distribution system. When this construction is properly completed in the fall of 1952 the electric system will be in an excellent condition with a firm capacity of 20,000 KW and with an improved generating efficiency through the use of powdered coal.

The regret comes in spending six and one-half of the best years of my professional life diligently guiding Holland's utilities through difficult years of expansion and inflation at a reduced salary only to find that when the opportunity comes for recognition, appreciation and proper compensation, that those in authority are not concerned with the successful management of Holland's utilities but are only interested in whether the management agrees with their policies and political ambitions.

To substantiate this I wish to point out that the Common Council denied the Board of Public Works the right to pay what they considered the proper salary for their superintendent without consulting the Board or myself, without ever proving that any savings would be made and with the knowledge that the Board offered the minimum which I would accept.

In view of these facts it is concluded that at least some of those in authority preferred that I leave and be replaced by someone who does not object to Holland's utilities being made a political plum and a collector of taxes instead of an efficient business operated primarily for the benefit of the users as has been my policy and I believe the policy of the present and past Boards.

Electricity is a blessing and if low enough priced can become an ever-increasing servant. I'm sure the people of Holland know that they cannot expect something for nothing and I'm sure too that most of them prefer paying only the cost of electricity to get electricity rather than paying an extra amount for electricity in order to get other civic improvements with the false idea that they are getting something for nothing. At any rate I believe the people themselves should decide whether they prefer low rates or would rather make their utilities tax collectors. I do not believe that Common Council should make this decision nor do I believe the recent close vote on a charter change was any indication of how the people think on this issue. As a note of warning to all I should like to point out that history has shown that where cities have used their utilities to finance civic projects the utilities have suffered and usually failed. Like money to most people there is no satisfying the desire to get more.

Holland's utilities have always been to me and I believe to most people in Holland a precious heritage which should be guarded, enjoyed and passed on in as good a condition to the next generation. There are always those who would squander an inheritance, not realizing how difficult it is to earn it or ever regain it if lost.

It is with a note of warning that I leave the Board of Public Works because I would rather leave than be forced to suppress my thoughts and right of free speech. I leave it as a heritage which I have helped guard and which I pass on in better condition. I leave it with some feeling of pride and accomplishment and without any apologies for what I have done or said. I leave with the hope that the people will be told soon enough the whole truth and be given the opportunity to intelligently express themselves on the way they want their utilities to be operated—as a department of the city for the supposed benefit of the taxpayer or as in the past, a separate Board for the benefit of the user.

Millard C. Westrate

Abe Nauta Back at Work As BPW Superintendent

Abe Nauta, who retired May 1 after 49 years with the Board of Public Works, was back at his desk today as a consultant with full powers of superintendent, serving on a month-to-month basis until a permanent superintendent is hired.

James H. Klompars, president of the Board of Public Works, said action to hire Nauta on the temporary basis was taken at a special meeting of the board Wednesday noon. Such action was necessary, he said, because Acting Supt. Millard Westrate had notified the board he would leave June 16.

Wife of Former Seminary Head Succumbs at 77

Mrs. Jacob Van der Meulen, 77, of 557 Sunset Dr., Central Park, died Wednesday at 11 p.m. at her home. She was the former Anna Brinkman, born Feb. 18, 1874, to the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brinkman, who lived at Graafschap.

She attended Laketown school and Allegan Normal, and had taught at Gibson, Laketown and Lugers schools. Seven years later they moved to Fairview, Ill., where he served the Reformed church. They lived in Kalamazoo from 1911 to 1918, while he was pastor of Bethany Reformed church.

The couple returned to Holland when he became a member of the Hope college faculty. In 1920 Dr. Van der Meulen joined the Western seminary faculty, of which he was a member for 22 years. He was seminary president for four years.

Mrs. Van der Meulen was a leader of many church organizations during her lifetime. She became ill following a fall on the ice and later developed arthritis. She was a member of Third Reformed church, which she attended regularly until three years ago when she suffered a stroke.

Surviving besides the husband are two brothers, Albert H. Brinkman and John Brinkman of Holland; three sisters, Mrs. Gerrit Du Mez, Mrs. John Kronmeyer and Mrs. Abe Koeman, all of Holland, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral rites will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at Nibbelink-Notter funeral chapel. The Rev. Christian H. Walvoord and Dr. Simon Blocker will officiate. Burial will be at Pilgrim Home cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral chapel Friday from 3:30 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Does anybody need a pair of woman's spectacles?

Holland's Municipal Court is trying to find a good home for a pair of glasses that no one seems to want. They were left in court by one of the litigants in a recent civil suit for non-payment.

It seems that a local optometrist filed suit against a Holland woman charging that she hadn't paid for her glasses. So the woman appeared in court, deposited the glasses on Judge Cornelius vander Meulen's desk and declared, "Here, I don't want them. I can't wear them anyway." Then she walked out.

The judge contacted the optometrist, but he didn't want the glasses either. So they ended up on the judge's desk.

Incidentally, the optometrist was granted the judgment for $23.50 against the woman.

But the judge doesn't know what to do with the "lone" glasses in their blue case. "I can't wear them," he said. "I tried on the evidence but the glasses don't fit me."

In the meantime, the spectacles will join a couple of other unclaimed items in Municipal Court. They will be placed on the shelf beside the marriage certificate that was torn in little pieces and brought to court a while back when the husband got mad at the wife, and beside the slightly used blackjack that was confiscated from an unruly youngster upon his appearance before Judge vander Meulen some time ago.

City Manager's Break
Brings Laugh in Council

That handy little city booklet will be published again this year, Common Council decided Wednesday night.

City Manager Harold C. McCintock said he was quite impressed with the little booklet which lists all the city officials, appointments and other convenient data.

"It's a fine thing for the residents of Hutchinson . . ." he began, and then laughter interrupted him.

"I knew I'd say that sooner or later," the former city manager of Hutchinson, Kans., said.

Called to T-Barracks

Escaping steam from the boiler at the T-barracks on the Hope college grounds resulted in a call for Holland firemen at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. When firemen arrived, they turned off the steam and opened all the doors and windows. No damage was reported.

This old photo taken in 1896 showing some of the early colonists who came to Holland in 1847 was unearthed recently by Dr. J. R. Mulder, president of Western Theological seminary. Only a few were identified. The couple seated at left were Mr. and Mrs. H. Laarman and seated at right were Mr. and Mrs. Bernardus Grootenhuys. It was Mrs. Grootenhuys who volunteered to cook for the little band that first visited Holland on Feb. 9, 1847. Standing second from left is a Mr. Plagge-mars. Third in line is Teunis Keppel and fourth, Hein Vander Haar. Who are the others?

Experts Explain New Price Laws

A small group of business men gathered Tuesday evening at City Hall to hear two officials of the Office of Price Stabilization explain price regulations covering their businesses.

Addressing the meeting were W. H. Budd Leitch and M. Raymond Clark, from the Grand Rapids district OPS office. Businesses covered include commercial and personal services, as well as some amusement and recreational facilities.

Regulation number 34, which became effective May 16, has many of the fundamental features of general ceiling price rules. A new angle is that establishments must post ceiling prices by June 16 at their places of business, and with the district OPS.

The two men outlined methods to arrive at ceiling prices for both present suppliers of covered services and new business men in the field.

Businesses covered in the discussion included auto, tire, radio, shoe and appliance repairs; barber shops, bookkeeping firms, dry cleaners, laundries, parking lots, bowling alleys, skating rinks, golf courses, tailor shops, beauty shops and filling stations. Several other services are exempt or covered by other OPS regulations.

Christian High Students Get Honor Awards

Annual Assembly Held
At School as Part Of 'Senior Day' Events

Students received various awards and special recognition at the annual Holland Christian high school assembly held in the school gym Monday morning. The program was held in conjunction with "Senior Day," at the local school.

Nine students received forensic awards from forensic sponsors Hero Bratt and Marinus Pott. Heading the list was Roger Boer who received special distinction for participating in forensics for three years. Boer, active in debate and speech, received a three year pin. In addition to receiving Michigan Forensic association keys, Shirley Bouwman, Bernard Mulder, Calvin Bolt and Roger Boer also received dictionaries given by a Detroit newspaper. Others receiving the key were Jana De Weerd, Althea Vanden Heuvel, Wilbert Venema, Wallace Bratt and Roger Verhulst.

The four debaters, Bratt, Venema, Boer and Verhulst also received certificates of merit.

John De Vries of the high school science department awarded the Bausch and Lomb science medal to Bob Heetderks for outstanding work in the field of science.

Edwin Roels received the Renesaler Polytechnic award for outstanding work in the field of mathematics. Louis Damstra of the mathematics department made the presentation.

Miss Sena Greengood of the commercial department presented the various commercial awards. Receiving first year typing certificates were Betty Van Wieren and Wilbert Venema. Advanced typing and shorthand pins were given to Marilyn Walcott, Anita Le Fevre and Hazel Nyhof.

The commercial instructor also presented the "prize school" banner to the school, which was won by the school shorthand classes in the recent Order of Gregg Artists contest. Schools from all over the United States take part in the contest.

Henry J. Kuiper, faculty advisor to the student council presented pins to the four officers of the Christian student council, Edwin Roels, president; Tony Diekema, vice president; Joyce Koops, treasurer, and Marie Geenen, secretary.

Principal Raymond Holwerda announced that the faculty had selected Tony Diekema as the Holland Christian representative to Wolverine Boys State to be held at Lansing later in June. Diekema is a junior and is active in student council and sports. Holwerda also cited other students for library, clerical and newspaper work.

Marvin Bass of the music department presented three year membership pins to three seniors in the a cappella choir. They are Patricia Brieve, Leona Buscher and Marie Geenen.

Henry Vander Linde, band director, awarded three year membership pins to Milton Beelen, Ralph Bouwman, Berdella Brink, Annette De Weerd, Dale Hoffman and Vern Robbert.

Supt. Bert P. Bos led the assembly in regular chapel devotions.

Authority Okays Dock Construction

Applications for construction of two docks were approved Monday night by the Port of Holland Authority, subject to approval of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Applicants were the Jesiek brothers, on the south side of the lake, and N. B. Wright, on the north side.

Other harbor business included a request from the Tulip City Boat club for authority assistance in patrolling the area during a projected outboard motorboat race on Lake Macatawa on July 7. The authority said it would be glad to help in any way possible.

A boat has been purchased for Harbormaster Chester Kramer and is being painted and put in condition. A campaign to clean up the lake and shores is in the study stage for later this month.

Holland City Manager Harold C. McClintock and Henry Meulen of the Park township board attended the meeting.

Witteveen Poles Four Big Hits At South Haven

South Haven (Special)—Whitely Witteveen blasted a single, two triples and a homer to lead the Flying Dutchmen to their first victory of the season Saturday night over the South Haven Merchants, 6-1.

Witteveen also scored three runs in his rampage at the plate that gave Daffy Victor splendid support in his season's mound opening for the Dutch.

Victor could never be thoroughly at ease on the mound, however, as he gave the Merchants nine hits. But Daffy walked only one man and his mates committed only one bobbie afield, so that the many Merchant rallies netted them only one run.

The Dutch started the scoring by getting Schrottenboer home on two hits and a sacrifice in the second inning.

Then both teams went scoreless until the fifth, when Witteveen clouted his first triple, and scampered home when Ed Setter was safe at first on an error.

The Dutch added two more in the seventh, Witteveen driving home one and accounting for the second himself.

Then in the eighth, the Merchants got a triple and a double and it looked like Victor was headed for the showers. But he settled down and retired the next three men in order.

Two more Dutchmen ambled home in the ninth frame, but the tallies were hardly necessary. Next game for the Dutch will be Thursday when Norton Lumbermen invade Riverview Park from Muskegon. The Lumbermen at present are leading the Muskegon City league. Game time is 8 p.m.

Inspector's Report Lists 73 Permits For $430,433 Value

The month of May furnished another new high for the year on the Holland construction front when 73 building permits were issued for total estimated valuation of $430,433.50.

These figures were compiled today by the office of Building Inspector Joseph Shashagay as the regular monthly report.

The May total brought the construction value begun in Holland thus far in 1951 to more than the $1 million mark. So far this year, 237 permits have been issued for value of $1,012,040.17.

During May, 15 permits for new home were issued, for value of $138,400, along with six separate new garages for $9,750. Leading the list in value, however, was the commercial and industrial remodel, repair and addition bracket, where eight permits were issued for $262,627.

Roofing led the list in number of permits with 22 issued for value of $6,456.50. Other categories included 19 residential remodel or repair for $12,105; and three permits for asbestos siding application for $1,095.

Fees collected included $306.50 for building permits, $321 for heating permits, and $2 for one sign permit for a total of $629.50.

Size is 50 by 120 feet, and materials include frame, brick, cement and asphalt roofing. Value is $215,000, and Martin Dyke and sons are contractors. The permit was issued June 1.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Jason Boersen are living on route 3, Zeeland.

Mrs. Boersen, the former Miss Lois Jean Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Peters of Overseel, became the bride of Jason Boersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Boersen of Oakland May 16.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Marion Klaaren in the basement of Overseel Reformed church.

The award of this year's Pulitzer prize in biography to Margaret Louise Coit for her book "John C. Calhoun: American Portrait" is certain to focus renewed attention on pre-Civil War South Carolina statesman.

As a people we are now so far away from the passions of the Civil War that it is possible for us to look at the great figures of the South objectively.

Calhoun's career represents a paradox in American history. As a young man he gave promise of becoming the greatest figure in nineteenth century statesmanship. Although he is of course still worshipped in his own section, in the overall American scene he has taken a relatively minor place.

As a youthful statesman he was an out-and-out nationalist. Today his name is associated with the most outrageous sectionalism of American history.

In his thirties Calhoun seemed almost a certain future president of the United States. His mind even then was almost the best of his time; in sheer statesmanship he surpassed such contemporary figures as Henry Clay, John Quincy Adams, Daniel Webster and Andrew Jackson.

Serving as secretary of war in Monroe's cabinet, he was responsible for building up America's military strength against the bitter opposition of contemporary pacifist forces. Calhoun believed strongly that there would be a third war with England, in which America would be in great need of power.

His record in the War department landed him in the vice presidency during John Quincy Adams' administration. For a time he became the chief contender for the presidency after the Adams term.

But Andrew Jackson, in addition to being a military hero, had won over the masses by a kind of New Deal policy, although that term was of course not known at the time. So Calhoun had to wait.

But after eight years of Jackson, the wily Martin Van Buren had so manipulated patronage that he snatched the plum away from Calhoun. And by that time the agitation had opened that led to the Civil War.

That represented the second paradox in Calhoun's career. Throughout the early years of his career he was almost the only figure in the political scene who stood for and spoke for and fought for the nation as a unit.

He was advocate of the Union at a time when John Quincy Adams, Daniel Webster, Henry Clay and Andrew Jackson were representatives of sectionalism. During the closing decades of his life Calhoun became the spokesman of sectionalism, even to the extent of advocating the nullification of the constitution, then of being the most powerful political defender of secession.

The winning of the Civil War by the North has caused the American people to forget that some of those who fought for the Union had themselves been disunionists. Daniel Webster is a good example. He represented New England, and when New England interests were threatened in the twenties he was among those who advocated secession of that section from the Union. Years later, during the slavery agitation, he became one of the chief advocates of the Union, a nation that would be "one and inseparable." And there were other statesmen who stood for disunion at a time when Calhoun was the chief advocate of the Union.

He died before the Civil War opened, but it was probably in considerable degree due to his intellectual leadership that South Carolina, his native state, became the leader in the secession movement. In his paradoxical attitude toward the Union he was not markedly different from many other statesmen, like Webster for instance. The latter, largely through self-interest, chose the side that became successful, Calhoun the side that lost. That is his chief crime in the eyes of impartial history.

Zeeland Coliseum Pounces on Pelon; Hornets Take Win

Zeeland's Coliseum softball team, champs of Zeeland and Hamilton last year, played airtight ball at the Third street diamond Thursday night to thoroughly convince Pelon Sunoco of its superiority.

Pelon was the 1950 Holland champ, and the two defending championship teams met last night in the outside game of the week. Zeeland won, 7-1.

Shorty Bosch sizzled lots of pitches past Pelon's batters, and allowed only three hits, one of which was a home run by Cec Serier, Pelon shortstop. Other Pelon batters to hit singles were Jay Hoffman and Will DeNeff.

But the power and the errorless field play belonged to the invading Zeelanders, and sparked by Warren Baar and Ron Weatherbee, who each got two safeties, the Coliseum established a three-run lead in the first frame that was never threatened.

Other hitters for Zeeland were Al Veldhuis, Ike Barense, Lee Dykstra, and Pete Holstege. Holstege rapped a double with the others hitting singles.

In the first game, the Green Hornets took their first victory of the campaign by surprising the Moose with six runs to win, 6-3. The Hornets kept swatting the ball to break up a tie in the sixth inning. They maintained their lead through the final frame.

Pete Welling led the Hornets with three hits, one being a double. The only other Hornets to hit were Rich Wolters and Herm Ritterby, each getting singles.

Bob Fortney allowed the Moose a scant three hits, one a long double by his brother, Paul. The other two were singles, Walt Hudzik and Vereke each getting one.

GREATER HOLLAND COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

As might have been expected, there have been many questions about the Greater Holland Community Foundation, Inc., since its founding a short time ago. What is it for? How will it operate? What do those in charge of it get out of it? Is it a charity project? What is there in it for Holland?

Those are simple questions, and in the very nature of things they are inevitable. When something new is presented to the public, questions are sure to spring up, and not infrequently there is even a flavor of suspicion in such queries.

But the idea of community foundations is not new. Such organizations are standard for many communities right here in this section of Michigan. Some of them have been in operation for many years, and in not a few communities they have proved their value when put to the test of actual community activities.

One important fact about the typical community foundation is that the older it grows the greater its value is likely to be to the community. When it has won the confidence of the people, it grows naturally, without an effort.

When the people once understand that in a well conducted community foundation no individuals get anything out of it they learn to support it. The word "community" is important in the term "community foundation." The organization is for the purpose of advancing the interests of the community as a whole.

There are many projects whose sponsors think of the community in terms of decades rather than in terms of years.

In many communities individuals are often grateful for an outlet for their funds that can be depended upon to result in a long-term benefit for the community as a whole. The typical community foundation does not emphasize promotion efforts. It is usually regarded as an opportunity rather than as a community obligation. It normally works quietly, but through those quiet techniques it does a great deal of permanent good.

The Greater Holland Community Foundation, Inc., is young and new. It is being announced modestly and quietly, as it should be announced. But it ought to become a great asset to Holland as a community as the years pass. The officers and directors are now working on plans for an advertising and educational program that will answer all questions as the plan unfolds.

The Home Economic club met at the home of Mrs. John W. Nienhuis Monday evening. The guest speaker was Mrs. Grace Vander Kolk and she spoke on "Good Grooming." She explained that cleanliness, correct posture and learning to relax are important factors in being poised and well groomed. Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Rowhorst and Mrs. Horace Mahtman.

Gordon Hasevoort is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Kamphuis in Grand Haven for a few days this week.

Jesus and His Ministry
Luke 4:14-22; 19:10
Mark 10:45

By Henry Geerlings
The ministry of Christ included three important features—preaching, teaching and healing. He was not the first to carry on work of this character. The prophets before him were gifted in these directions. They were eloquent preachers and teachers as the written prophecies we have in the latter part of the Old Testament show. Before their words wicked kings trembled.

In some instances these holy men of God turned the stream of history in "new directions." They led hosts of people back to God whom they had forsaken for the tempting rituals of pagan deities. One can turn to almost any page of the Old Testament and see how the messengers of God made people think of the most important issues of life. We shall have to keep this in mind as we give consideration to the ministry of our Lord as it is carried forward today. It is also true that in the Old Testament we see enough of the miracles of healing to prepare us for that wonderful ministry of mercy which our Lord carried on.

By preaching we mean the proclamation of the gospel. He engaged in that work. He was the world's greatest preacher. We point to Him as the example for all others. But it did not stop with Him. That method of making the gospel known has been followed from His day to our own. For the most part He preached out of doors, while we build churches in which to preach, but the essence of preaching does not lie in the one or the other.

By teaching we mean the instruction of others and causing them to know; in this case to know what the will of the Lord is for them. The end sought is not different from that which the minister hopes to accomplish through preaching. The method is somewhat different. It is less formal. It is more conversational. It gives the pupils the opportunity to participate through asking and answering questions, and through projects of one kind or another.

We have all been taught and many of us have done some teaching. There are thousands of officers and teachers in the Sunday school. A large number of these are teaching. What an army that is! They are leading pupils of all ages into a fuller knowledge of the Lord and what His will is for them. They are opening the Scriptures Sunday after Sunday to millions of scholars. But there are many more organizations in the congregations that are carrying on definite educational work. All leaders are teachers in a real sense. They are causing others to know through instruction or activities or experiences.

Parents are teachers too, whether they think so or not. It must give all of us a deep satisfaction to know that we may have some small share in helping others to know more about the Bible, about Christ and duty.

By healing we mean all those acts of mercy which are directed toward those who are suffering in mind or body. We do not have the power to heal as Christ healed because He has not given us that power. But the real question is, do we have the love He had? Do we have the tenderness, the sympathy, the compassion that were in His heart? These He will give us, and these are the essential things. The individual who has the mind that was in Christ will never want for opportunities to serve others in the name of Jesus. It is our feeling that more people are disposed to render some ministry toward the unfortunate, the sick and the infirm than they are to work in any other field of service. If we shut our heart of compassion toward these, how can the love of God dwell in us?

The purpose of these three forms of service and ministry is to lead men and women, boys and girls into loving fellowship with Christ. Certainly that is the purpose of preaching and teaching the gospel; and it should be no less that of serving love.

In the volume entitled "Re-thinking Missions," the authors are of the firm opinion that when our medical missionaries in foreign fields try to lead their patients to Christ while they heal their bodies, they are dealing unfairly with them; that they are taking advantage of their condition of weakness and suffering to take away from them their old religion and to give them a new one. But that argument does not carry, very much weight, and it cannot if we believe that Jesus is the world's only Savior. It would be unnatural and an act of disloyalty if we did not seek to make Christ real to those to whom we seek to bring healing of body.

The ideal would be to have every Christian actively engaged in this threefold ministry of our Lord. In this way we would all be closely identified with Him in the work He did while He was on the earth and committed to His church to carry on when He went away. It must be evident that we are not doing all we can. There are opportunities of service so near our doors that we need not go out of our way to find them. What we need and the only thing we need is to have the love of Christ in our hearts. The remainder will take care of itself. If we are His, He will show us something to do.

Are Public Employees Puppets for Washington?

By Julius B. Wood
Washington, D. C. (Special)—"I took an oath to defend my country against all enemies. I put duty to my country above that to any individual."

That is what the young Navy lieutenant, (j.g.), told Francis P. Matthews, secretary of the Navy. Three days later, May 28, his commission was revoked and he was discharged from the service. The order specified that the discharge was "honorable," possibly in deference to the constitutional questions involved.

The career of one American in only one step above the lowest commission grade may be a small incident in the fortunes of several million men and women in our armed services. It also may be overshadowed, certainly in the public furor, by the similar forced retirement of a five-star general, Douglas MacArthur. However, the parallel cases put a question squarely before the American people: "Are the services of public employees, civil or military, for the people or are they exclusively for transitory elected and appointed officials?"

This young man, William H. Evans, Jr., who now has retired to civilian life at Edgewater, Md., is a graduate of the naval academy at Annapolis, class of 1948. After less than a year, active service he resigned to go into the naval reserve and to take post graduate studies at the University of Maryland. He specialized in political economy, a particularly live subject since our involvement in global affairs but banned in military circles unless the high ranking military conversationalist has reached ambassador or cabinet level.

In December 1950, he had returned to the service and was assigned to the USN Rogers, a 2,200 tons picket destroyer, off the coast of Korea.

Relaxing from his duties as assistant navigation officer on March 16, Lt. Evans wrote to Alfred Kohlberg of New York City. Kohlberg, an old China hand, is the extremely active head of the American-China Policy Association. Evans said his letter could be made public and, two weeks later, copies were going out to the association's extensive mailing list, also to newspapers who received it with gusto.

Evans did not say much which others have not said without being kicked into outer darkness. He had some pertinent suggestions on the long delayed and now being considered Japanese peace treaty—give the Kurile and Sakhalin islands to Japan instead of the Soviets, not assess an indemnity as the United States would pay it in the end and other features debated by the United Nations.

He also made pungent comment on the dubious success of the late President Roosevelt and the present President Truman at the Yalta and Potsdam conferences, the policies of Secretary of State Acheson and his predecessors. It was an excellent demonstration of too much knowledge being a dangerous thing, especially for anybody in uniform.

Evans, now a civilian, held a well attended press conference, Thursday, a novelty for one of his modest rank in Washington teeming with admirals, top flight generals and fancy titles. He is a stocky blue eyed lad with a crew hair cut. His only Navy regalia were white shirt and tan shoes. To please the clamoring photographers, he placed the Navy uniform cap and service ribboned jacket into a suitcase—"Goodbye to Uncle Sam." He told his story simply and without heroics.

The official lightning was slow in striking as the radio message to report in Tokyo was not received until Apr. 25. He was ordered to Sasebo, Japan, the following week, where a hearing was held. He was the defendant but on the last day, his status was changed to witness. From there he was sent to Washington for a board of inquiry which started on May 11.

Both inquiries, also Secretary Matthews in the later audience, emphasized that he was not being tried for the contents of the letter but for violating regulations in making it public. Navy general order No. 16, specifies that anything for publication must go through the chain of command while "Operation Navy No. 37-50," a confidential order to officers, specifies that anything relating to diplomacy must be cleared through the State department and to military through the Defense department. Evans insists he was not shown the latter order until after the inquiry started, a month after he wrote the letter. Obviously the letter never would have seen the light of day if it had gone through channels.

Despite the insistence that he was bounced only for violating regulations, the order of Secretary Matthews says: "Revocation of Commission and Discharge from the U. S. Naval Reserve unless der honorable conditions. . . This action is taken by reason of your action in addressing and mailing a letter which contained highly intemperate criticism of the foreign policy of the United States and impugned the motives and good faith of officials in the highest levels responsible for the formulation and implementation of that policy. Your action in this respect is considered to have constituted unsatisfactory performance of duty, in that it had a foreseeable tendency to promote disunity and disaffection among other persons in and outside the Armed Forces, rather than singleness of aims and purpose in an hour of national peril. Your action was in violation of a directive of the Chief of Naval Operations, requiring advance clearance of statements concerning foreign policy by members of the Naval Service. Moreover, the contemptuous words used in your letter with reference to the present and a previous incumbent in the Office of President of the United States, and to the present Secretary of State, constitute grave misconduct on the part of an officer of the naval service."

The order's theatrical fears of possible mutiny as a result of a humble officer's letter and its reference to our "hour of national peril" contradict the official explanation that Korea casualties are "only a police action" and that runaway inflation is not a peril.

But it is a summary warning to other letter writers in uniform. The American public is to learn of its sacrifice and fate only through sugar coated press releases of high level officials.

Geese Remove Grasses In Strawberry Patch

Many Michigan strawberry growers using geese as "weeder" in 1950 were well pleased with results, reports John Tomkins of the Michigan State college department of horticulture. Geese will forage and consume large quantities of most grasses found in Michigan strawberry beds, though they do not touch most of the broadleaf weeds. Some growers obtain satisfactory results with five to seven geese per acre, while others prefer to use more geese per acre and move them to other areas every week or 10 days.

Growers considering the use of geese would provide fences approximately 24 inches high, shade, water, and a small amount of grain.

Holland Christian Baseballers Lose Finale of Season

Holland Christian's baseball aggregation ended its season on a sour note as it bowed to Muskegon Christian 8-3 on the Muskegon diamond Friday afternoon. The contest was called at the end of the fifth inning when a rain storm made the field unplayable.

The loss gave the Hollanders a season mark of five victories and four defeats. In their first meeting, the locals stopped the Vikings 6-4.

Holland started the game as if it really meant business, getting all of its runs in the first inning. After Ron Nykamp had opened the games with a single, the next two batters fanned. Bernard Mulder hit a double sending Nykamp to third. Wilbert Venema then took hold of Pitcher Bolema's fast ball and smacked it for a home run, ending three runners across.

Muskegon lost little time in getting to the local starter Ken Mast. The first three batters hit singles to put Mast in a bad spot. After the next two batters were retired, another single and a hit batsman pushed three markers in, to knot the count.

After the Maroons went scoreless in their half of the second, the Vikings began where they left off in the first. Three more hits, two errors and a walk accounted for five more Muskegon tallies. Floyd Browner came in for Mast and finally put out the fire. Feature blow of the uprising was Centerfielder Edlund's long triple with two runners on.

Both pitchers hurled scoreless ball for the final innings before the storm halted play. Muskegon collected eight hits compared to fire for the Hollanders.

Nykamp led the local attack with two hits in three trips to the plate. Bolema, besides pitching a good game was the hitting star, getting three safeties.

Telephone, Power Service Affected In Holland Areas

Lansing, Jackson Area Feels Full Brunt Of Hurricane-Like Wind

Violent thunderstorms with winds of hurricane fury battered the Midwest Friday night when a mass of cold air moving down from the northwest encountered the most severe heat wave of the season.

Southern Michigan bore the brunt of the storm, although Iowa reported a tornado and Milwaukee was hit by high winds, lightning and hail stones the size of golf-balls.

A violent storm and high winds hit Holland in the early evening, but damage was confined mostly to fallen trees, minor lightning hits and snapped telephone and power wires.

There was little or no power damage in Holland, but Consumers Power Co. crews were out most of the night restoring service over a wide area north of here. The worst break was on the Allendale circuit where power was out from 7:30 to 10:20 p.m. All power was restored by 10 a.m. Saturday.

Telephone damage was worse and early Saturday morning about 1,600 telephones were out of service because of water-logged cables. Crews were out all night and other crews reported Saturday by midmorning about 1,000 were still out, but telephone officials figured everything would be ship-shape Saturday night.

High winds heralded a sudden drop in temperatures, and a driving rainstorm yielded .84 inch in the space of a couple of hours. The temperature dropped 15 to 20 degrees in Holland. Several local streets were flooded when storm sewers could not cope with the deluge.

The storm hit the lake section about 6 p.m. and Coast Guardsmen and private operators removed 50 to 60 fishermen from the breakwaters. A large tree was uprooted on South Shore drive near the H. E. Pleasant home. The road was cleared by county men and flares set up.

Weather Affects Activity at Beach

Inclement weather held down activity at Holland State park at Ottawa Beach during the week-end, according to Manager Clare Broad.

Week-end attendance included 3,500 visitors on Saturday and 8,000 on Sunday to bring the week's total to 45,900 park visitors. The attendance to date this year reached 255,171.

Wind, fog and buffeting breezes held down activity at the beach. Quite a few trailers and some tents now are at the park, Broad said. Total camp permits issued this year stands at 85.

Park attendants treated two visitors who received cuts from glass on the beach. Neither cut was serious, Broad said. Two new rangers took up duties during the week-end. Frank Van Overbeek from Grand Rapids and Victor McElhose from Flint are the new rangers. More men are due to report for work in the near future, Broad said.

Builders Class Installs New Officers at Meet

New officers were installed at a regular meeting of the Builders class of First Methodist church Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Victor Van Oosterhout. Officers are president, Mrs. William Lindsay; vice presidents, Mrs. John Slaght, Mrs. Earl McCormick and Mrs. Charles Scott; recording secretary, Mrs. Maurice Latham; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Louis Miles; treasurer, Mrs. Van Oosterhout; leper chairman, Mrs. Budd Eastman; sunshine, Mrs. Gus Nynas; dish cloth, Mrs. Lee Fletcher; teacher, Miss Grace Thorne; assistant teacher and visitation, Mrs. Ethel Knutson; publicity, Mrs. Marvin Rotman, Mrs. John Kruid was installation officer.

Devotions were prepared by Mrs. Nynas and read by Mrs. Van Oosterhout. The business meeting was in charge of Mrs. Lindsay, president. Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. Nynas and Mrs. Van Oosterhout are the committee appointed to prepare the year book. Sunshine package was won by Mrs. Rotman.

Holland Finishes Season in Tie For Third Place

By scoring four runs in the first half of the final inning, Kalamazoo Central defeated Holland high, 11-7, in a Southwest conference baseball game Monday afternoon at Riverview park.

The Maroon Giants clinched second place in the conference standings with their last-ditch victory over the Dutch, and relegated coach Bob Stupka's Dutch diamond men to a tie for third place with grand Haven.

It was the season's finale for Holland, and left the Dutch with a conference record of two wins and three losses. Holland also lost all three non-conference battles.

On the diamond Monday, it was the same two men who dealt Holland death blows on the basketball court last winter—Bill Stuijbergen sent three runners home in the seventh inning with a long double with the bases loaded, and added a single and a triple in four times at the plate. Jackson collected a long home run and a triple in four trips.

Sophomore Dean Vanderwall, who relieved starter Roger Eggers in the fifth inning, was the loser for Holland. Ron Harder went the distance for Kalamazoo.

Kalamazoo started off in the second inning with three runs when an error and two walks loaded the bases. Harder singled to center sending in two runs and an outfield fly accounted for the third tally.

Holland came back with two runs in its half of the second. Three walks loaded the sacks before Warren Plaggenmeyer sent two men home with a single to right.

Kazoo added another in the third on Jackson's home run which cleared the fence in right center.

But the Dutch fought back in the third when Jack Kempker was safe on an error, moved to third on two infield outs and scored as Bob Tasma beat out a show in-field roller.

The boom fell on Eggers in the fifth frame. Stuijbergen tripled to deep center and scored as a Dutch gardener bobbled the relay throw. Then Jackson poled a triple to deep right. An error, a single by catcher Jack Bowen and a misjudged fielder's choice sent two men home.

When Eggers walked the next man to load the bases, Stupka waved Vanderwall in from the bullpen. Dean then struck out Harder and forced the final man into a ground-out.

Holland came back with a vengeance in the fifth. Successive singles by Max Doolittle, Kempker and Morrie Witteveen loaded the sacks. Bob Tasma then lofted a long fly to right center that fell for a double with two men scoring. Another crossed on an error, and Tasma legged it home on a single to right by Ron Bekius.

But Vanderwall sealed his own doom in the seventh. Bob Parks led off with a single and two walks loaded the bases. Canderwall walked the next man to force in the winning run before Stuijbergen lined a double to left to slam the door with three runs scoring.

In his winning effort, Harder allowed seven hits, walked three and struck out five.

Eggers gave up seven runs and six hits in his four and one-third innings of work. He fanned four and walked four. Vanderwall was touched for the final four runs on two hits and four walks. He fanned two.

Tasma led the Dutch hitters with two hits in two appearances. Hitting safely once each were Doolittle, Kempker, Witteveen, Bekius and Plaggenmeyer.

Preceding the final game at an assembly Friday morning, coach Stupka handed out 17 varsity baseball letters and one manager letter to Jim Borgman.

Seniors receiving letters were Doolittle, Witteveen, Eggers, Tasma, Bekius, Don Schutt, Plaggenmeyer and Glenn Kamper. Underclassmen who won varsity letters were Kempker, Vanderwall, Ernie Prince, Alden Klomprens, Jerry Victor, Dean King, Ron Boeve, Dick Plagenhoef and Ed Bredeweg.

City officials today inaugurated an early campaign to impress in the minds of holiday motorists the importance of caution in driving. The attack was leveled at the Fourth of July holiday, one month away.

Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff outlined a plan to save accidents: Start early if you plan an all day trip; slow down at sundown; be patient in heavy traffic; don't let annoyance make you take chances; avoid abrupt stops and turns, and be careful when passing; drive sensibly and obey legal speed limits, which are for your protection.

"Over the Fourth of July last year—a four-day holiday—a total of 793 Americans died in accidents," Van Hoff said. "This year the calendar will save lives, but even one day can exact a high cost for celebration."

Holland Woman Attends European Council Sessions

Mrs. Miles' Home Town Of Strasbourg Now Is Capital of 15 Nations

Mariette B. Miles, wife of Ottawa, Prosecutor Wendell A. Miles of Holland, has been attending sessions of the Council of Europe in her home city of Strasbourg, France.

Strasbourg has for centuries been the capital of the ancient province of Alsace, a territory much coveted by both Germans and French. Some of its ancient walls still stand. It was taken over by the Germans in 1940 from the French and was liberated by the U.S. Seventh Army and First French Army in 1944.

Since the last great war, the people of Europe have considered the need for continuous mutual discussion of their common problems, and Strasbourg was picked by the 15 member nations as the capital. A tremendous capital building in modern design has been erected there.

Mrs. Miles described the assembly at some length in letters to her husband. They said the consultative assembly of the Council of Europe is holding its third session, the first part in May and the second part in September.

She said the assembly is composed of 125 deputies representing 15 European countries, the number of representatives determined by population. France, Western Germany, Italy and the United Kingdoms each have 18 representatives and others have as few as three. They do not represent official policy of their governments, but belong to all major parties of their own countries and often they find themselves in agreement with those of another country and opposed to delegates of opposite political faith in their own country.

The council has a permanent secretariat and commission which receives problems for discussion. There is also the all-important ministry composed of delegates of the respective governments which recommend action to the assembly. The current president of the ministry is Mr. Stikker of the Netherlands. His is one of the most important offices of the council. Mrs. Miles heard him present his report to the assembly.

At the opening session of the assembly, Henri Spaak of Belgium was re-elected president of the assembly. He had been president of both 1949 and 1950 sessions.

Mrs. Miles heard the extensive debates concerning the Shuman plan, an economic plan for unification of Europe. She does not express complete optimism for the chances of a federated Europe but believes that having all European nations represented in a permanent organization is bound to benefit countries concerned.

"It is clear that the council is much more popular than it was a year ago and there is great hope for its future," she wrote.

Mrs. Miles was able to attend the sessions through arrangements of Charles Ruff, a Frenchman who was chief interpreter for Wendell Miles when he was liaison officer for the American Army in Alsace during 1945 and 1946. Ruff's wife also was an interpreter for Miles. She gave a tea for Mrs. Miles attended by wives of the American and French assistants at the American consulate. Ruff is now chief administrative assistant.

Mrs. Miles and her daughter, Lorraine, expect to sail July 2 on the French liner Liberté, formerly the Europa-German.

Zoning Code Discussed Again

The second in a series of three meetings to air opinions on a proposed zoning code for Holland township attracted an estimated 100 persons to Montello Park school Wednesday night.

A third public meeting is scheduled at 8 tonight in Holland township hall.

One citizen suggested that a zoning code could eliminate "a deplorable condition in the southwest part of the township."

Simon Borr, chairman, pointed out that persons who want to locate in industrial areas and vice-versa, can make adjustments at later meetings. These areas can be changed on the zoning map by a vote of persons living in those areas, Borr said.

Observers say township residents "seem to favor a zoning code" and predict that the proposal will be on the ballot at the next election. Any proposal must be submitted to the township board before it is placed on the ballot.

Rubber Check for $43 Passed at Local Store

Another "rubber" check has been reported to city police by a Holland merchant.

The bad check for $43.20 was passed at a local automotive store. The check passer was a woman answering approximately the same description as the female check artist active in town two weeks ago.

Details furnished by the merchants describe the woman as 32-36 years of age about five feet, five inches in height, with dark hair and weighing about 135 pounds.

Fords Down Vets; Central Avenue Edges Main Auto

Central Avenue treated previously undefeated Main Auto to some roughhouse softball at the Third street diamond Monday night, and walked off with a 5-3 victory. The victory for second place in league standings.

But Barber Fords lengthened their undefeated string to four in the second game Monday night by pummeling the Vets, 19-2. The Fords are now in first place with a 4-0 record.

Central wasted no time in the first game, getting four runs in the first frame, one in the second, and then holding on tight to frustrate the Automen.

That big first frame for Central saw, in quick succession, Lou Altana and Butts Kool get singles, Ted Schreuer walk, and George Knoll clout a double to do most of the damage Main Auto never recovered from. Knoll later scored on an error.

The final Central run came in the second when Pres Bos was hit by the pitcher and ambled home after Vern Beelen walked. Altana sacrificed and Kool pounded out another single.

The only other hit for Central was a double by Bos in the fourth frame. For Main Auto, Herb Maatman belted a homer and a triple, with Guile VanLangeveld getting a double and Ted Vandenberg a single to complete the loser's hitting.

In the second game, the Vets just couldn't get anything done the way it should be done in a softball game and went down under a 15 hit Ford attack. The Vets committed seven errors, and each cost them runs.

And along with loose fielding, the Vets were treated to one-hit pitching by Norm Boeve, who won his second start for the Fords.

In the slaughtering Barber batting attack, Just Vander Zwaag got four singles to pace his club. Close behind was Tony Bowman with two singles and a double. Walt Wlodarczyk, Chet Johnson, and Hank Prince each got two hits, with Harv VanderVeen and Boeve each getting one.

For the Vets, Ted Bos got the lone hit.

City Recreation Department Opens Junior Baseball

Boys under 18 years of age will be able to compete in three baseball leagues sponsored by the city Recreation department this summer. Joe Moran, director, announced today.

The three leagues will be divided by age groups and will open competition to boys 12 years of age, from 12 to 15 years old, and from 15 to 18 years. The leagues will be named D, C, and B, respectively.

Moran said industrial and business sponsors will provide the "B" league with caps and shirts. He said the Recreation department will provide supervision, umpires, bats, balls and facilities for the summer play in all three leagues.

Carroll Norlin will direct the C and D leagues at the 19th street diamond, the games to be played at twilight. The D league will be modeled after "little league baseball", which has become popular in other sections of the country, Moran said.

The B league will play at Riverview park, with most games slated for twilight play, but with an occasional game under the lights.

Moran said the three leagues, together with the Wooden Shoe league and the Flying Dutchmen should make it possible for an individual of any age to play baseball.

The Recreation chief directed boys who wish to enroll in the B, C, and D leagues to contact either John Ham at Holland Christian high, Robert Stupka at Holland high, or Carroll Norlin at the Junior high school to sign up. Teams are still being organized, Moran said, and openings are available.

Zuवरink Pitches Against New York

George Zuवरink pitched the top half of the ninth inning for Cleveland in a losing cause Tuesday afternoon, and allowed the New York Yankees one run and two hits.

Here's how it all happened: With the Yanks at bat, Bobby Brown stepped up and fired to right. Joe DiMaggio then ducked away from an inside pitch that hit his bat and dribbled down the first base line.

Indian first baseman Luke Easter threw wild to Zuवरink covering first, with DiMaggio taking second. It was scored as a hit and an error.

Yogi Berra then grounded out, second to first, with DiMaggio taking third. Joe Collins laid a squeeze bunt down third and beat the throw to first, with DiMaggio scoring.

Hank Bauer ended the inning by forcing Collins at second. The Yanks won, 8-2.

'Young Faithful' Spurts in Holland

Holland had its own miniature replica of the famous "Old Faithful" geyser for about 15 minutes Monday afternoon.

A delivery truck driven by Corwin Green, 20, of Grand Rapids, headed out of the alley on River Ave., just south of Eighth St., and a short turn clipped off a fire hydrant.

Rusty red water turning to white spurts about 10 feet into the air until Board of Public Works employees arrived to turn off the water.

Green was driving a truck owned by the C. W. Mills Paper company of Grandville. The mishap occurred at 2:15 p.m., and attracted a large crowd of onlookers.

Allegan County Gains Under New Road Formula

Allegan (Special) — Allegan county, with 1,871 miles of county roads to maintain, stands to gain between $60,000 to $80,000 a year under the new road money distribution formula, which has just become effective.

Where this county, mostly a farming area, lost under the old base of distribution, its extra-long mileage will now stand in its favor, Homer Ward, county highway engineer, points out.

As examples of what the added funds can do, Ward explained the sum would resal 80 miles of blacktop road; construct eight miles of new highway ready for blacktop, or put blacktop on 12 miles of road prepared for the new surface.

Autos Beat Sunoco In Pitching Duel; Hornets Win Again

A first class pitching duel between Jason Ebels of Main Auto and Case Veldman of Sunoco resulted in a 1-0 victory for Main Auto in a city league softball game Tuesday night.

In the first contest, the Green Hornets annexed a 7-5 victory over Tulip City Merchants in a see-saw battle.

In the Main-Sunoco game, each pitcher allowed just four hits. Ebels pushed third strikes past eight Sunoco batters and walked only two, while Veltman struck out four and walked one.

The lone run of the game scored in the bottom of the fourth when Herb Maatman opened up by beating out a long ball to short. He advanced to second when the Pelon infielder overthrew first and went to third on an infield out. Ebels then won his own game with a line double to centerfield, scoring Maatman.

Sunoco wasted two scoring opportunities earlier in the game. In the third, Veldman doubled to left and a walk put men on first and second. But on a hard single to left by Harry De Neff, Veldman held up at third and died there.

Again in the fourth, Willie De Neff doubled to right but held third as Jim Bagladi drilled a single to right. Those were the only two real scoring opportunities the losers had in the contest.

Others to hit safely for Main Auto were Guile Van Langeveld, who singled in the first, and Ernie Prince who lined a triple to center in the sixth. A perfect peg to the plate by Jay Hoffman on a fly ball nailed Prince who tried to score after the catch.

In the first contest, the Green Hornets combined the wildness of Merchant pitcher Earl Buscher with the hitting of Ted Welling to come out on top. Buscher issued 12 free passes to first, and Welling drove home four runs on a homer and double.

The payoff punch was in the top of the seventh when the Hornets broke a five-all tie with two runs. An error and hit batsman put men in scoring position for Welling's game-winning double.

The Merchants went ahead in the first frame when an error followed by hits by Al Doezman, Jyle Vander Meulen and Jerry Popejoy resulted in three runs.

In the second and third frames, the Hornets nudged close as Buscher walked men with the bases loaded in each inning, forcing in two runs.

The Hornets forged ahead in the fourth when Rich Wolters beat out a bunt to score in front of Welling as he homered over the leftfield fence. Tulip City tied it up in the fourth on a walk, an error and Rog Northuis' single.

Each team scored a run in the fifth to keep the score knotted and set the stage for Welling's knock-out punch. The Hornets scored on a walk, two wild pitches and an infield out. The Merchants counted as Emil Vandervelde tripled to center and scored on a wild pitch.

Bob Fortney was the winning pitcher, giving up eight hits. Northuis got two for the Merchants, while Vandervelde, Dean King, Don Sundin, Doezman, Vander Meulen and Popejoy each got one.

Al Van Iwaarden relieved Buscher in the seventh. All the hits and runs were off the portside offerings of the starting pitcher. Hitting safely were Wolters and Welling with two each and Fortney and Len Schregardus with single blows.
